'WAVERLEY'

For Sale

AT PUBLIC AUCTION!

PURSUANT to the directions of a decree of the District Court of the United States, pronounced in the matter of bankruptcy of Walter F. Jones, bankrupt, the subscriber, as Assignee in Bankruptcy of the said Walter F. Jones, will sell on Monday, the 2d day of December 1872,

at PUBLIC AUCTION, at Gloucester Court house, at 12 o'clock M., that VALUABLE ESTATE, situated on North river, in the county of Gloucester, called

WAVERLEY,

whereon Dr. Walter F. Jones now resides, containing about

1059 Acres,

and also all INTEREST of the said Walter F. Jones in another piece of LAND adjoining the Waverley Tract, called the

MEADOW,

lying on the public road and contains about

Thirty Acres.

THE TERMS OF SALE will be one-fourth of the purchase money, cash one-fourth on six, one-fourth on twelve and one-fourth on eighteen months credit. For the deferred payments bonds are to be executed with personal security in equal sums with interest from the day of sale, payable to the undersigned, as assignee, and title will be retained until the whole of the purchase money shall have been paid—but the purchaser may anticipate any or all of the deferred payments at his option by the payment of cash at any time before the bonds fall due.

WAVERLEY is well known to be one of the most desirable and valuable farms in Gloucester county. The improvements are of the best description: the

is a Large, Handsome and Commodious Brick Mansion, in good repair.

The LAND is higly improved and productive, and the neighborhood one of the best in Eastern Virginia, and in addition to the attractions of society, the county abounds in game, and the waters of North river with choicest productions of the sea.

Florida Ague Pills

A CERTAIN CURE FOR CHILLS AND FEVER.

The receipt by which these Pills are made, was obtained from a gentleman who resided in the vicinity of Tampa, Florida, where the malaria of Chills and fever prevails at all seasons. The peculiar efficacy of the

Florida Ague Pills

as a certain cure in all cases of ague, intermittent fever or dum chill, has been fully tested in this locality by numbers of responsible persons who have used them, and in no instance have they failed to arrest and prevent the recurrence of the malady.

Selected Poetry.

Consolation.

'Twill soon be over. Then why
This longing, this worry and care,
Which fret out the heart-strings with grief,
And leave only clouds of dispair?
O wherefore repine at your lot?
Though darkness o'ershadows thy way,
Believe that the morning will come,
When all will be one perfect day.

And know that the path which you tread
Is worn by the footprints of those
Who, like to yourself, have their share
Of sorrows, and heart-aches, and woes.
Your tears are but drops in the stream
That sweeps o'er yon rough rocky bed,
Where, mingled together, are tears
As bitter as those you have shed.

'Twill soon all be over. Then bow;
In quiet submission look up,
And drink, without murm'ring, your share
Of sorrow from life's bitter cup.
Perchance, by a fair angel's hand,
This cup is now offered to thee;
And when the bright morning appears,
This angel of mercy you'll see.

Burning the Escurial.

A dispatch from Madrid, Spain, states that the celebrated monastery known as the Escurial, 24 miles from Madrid, was struck by lightning on the evening of the 2d inst. The building was quickly on fire, and so rapid was the progress of devouring element that the dome and tower of the magnificent edifice soon fell. The royal palace, with its splendid library of books and paintings and rare and costly manuscripts, was in great danger, but a brigade of engineers, fully equipped with machines for use in such emergencies, left Madrid for the Escurial and succeeded in saving the library and other treasures of the convent.

The Escurial was a combined palace, convent and tomb, and for these purposes was built by Phillip II, named by the monks the "Holy Founder." His object was to carry out the will of his father in constructing the royal burial place and to fulfil a vow made by him during the battle of St. Quentin, August 10, 1559, in return for the aid of San Lorenzo, which he implored. The French were defeated with immense loss in the battle, and the colossal structure of the Escurial is said to be in proportion to the fear and piety of Phillip during and subsequent to the affray. The first stone of the building was laid april 23, in the year 1563, by Juan Bautista de Toledo, and the edifice was completed September 13, 1584, by his celebrated pupil, Juan de Herrara. On the same day of the month September 13, in the year 1598, Philip the Second expired in the building, having lived fourteen years—half king and half monk—in the vast convent.

The Escurial building was a rectangular-parallelogram of 744 feet from north to south and 580 feet from east to west. The interior was divided into courts, which represent the bars of a gridiron. On the north Linga is a subterranean gallery 108 feet long, 10 feet high and 7 feet in breadth, which was tunneled in the year 1770 by the Monk Pontones, to afford communication with the villagers during the winter hurricanes. The square of the convent building covers 3,000 feet. There are 63 fountains, 12 cloisters, 80 staircases, 16 courtyards, and 3,000 feet of painted fresco. The grand central Doric and Ionic portal was never opened except to receive royalty, dead or alive. The body of a dead monarch was borne in by three noblemen and three monks.

"CARRYING COALS TO NEWCASTLE."—That the effect of the present high prices of coal in England is being sensibly felt in the United States is evident by the fact that within a few days past the Consolidation Coal Company of Georgetown has received orders transferred from Liverpool, England, for large quantities of Cumberland coal to be shipped to Bombay, Point De Gal, Auden (East Indies), Madeira, Alexandria (Egypt), Rio Janeiro, Aspinwall, St. Thomas, Martinique, Havana, Valparaiso, and several other distant points. This circumstance is unprecedented in the history of the Cumberland coal trade. The coal will be mainly shipped in foreign bottoms from Georgetown. The American bark Orient is now loading at the Consolidation Company's wharves for Aspinwall. In a few days quite a number of foreign vessels will doubtless be in the Potomac to fill the orders referred to.

Words in the English Language.

Words derive their power, not from their number, but from the directness and intensity with which they are delivered. Max Muller says: "A well educated person in England, who has been at the public school and at the University, who reads his bible, Shakespeare, the London Times, and all of Mudie's library (i. e., nine-twentieths of all the books published in England), seldom uses more than three or four thousand words in actual conversation. Accurate thinkers and close reasoners, who avoid vague and general expressions, wait till they find the word that exactly fits their meaning, employ a larger stock, and eloquent speakers may rise to a command of ten thousand. Milton's works are built up with eight thousand, and the Old Testatament says all it has to say with five thousand six hundred and forty-two."

Sympathetic Vibrations.

At the late meeting of the American Scientific Association, Professor Joseph Lovering, of Cambridge, Mass., gave an interesting address on vibration, illustrated by an experiment. It was presumed that the members were more or less familiar with Milde's experiment with a tuning fork and vibrating thread. This optical method of Milde is very much improved by using a large bar of iron and perpetuating the motion by means of magnetic excitement, the vibration being thus maintained for any length of time. A cord twenty or thirty feet in length is thus thrown into vibration. When the first suspension bridge was building in England, a fiddler offered to fiddle it away Striking one note after another, he eventually hit its vibrating note or fudamental tone, and threw it into such extraordinary vibrations that the bridge builders had to beg him to desist. Only recently a bridge went down under the tread of infantry in France, who had not broken step, and three hundred were drowned. An experiment is often referred to of a tumbler or a small glass vessel being broken by the frequent repetition of some particular note by the human voice. It is said, and may be true, that certain German tavern keepers increase their custom by the occasional performance of this feat.

Temperature of the Polar Regions.

Professor Wheildon, of Concord, Mass. advances, in opposition to what known as the Gulf Stream theory, an atmospheric theory to account for ameliorations of climate and open sea in the polar regions. The accounts of arctic voyages, it is stated, shows sudden rises of temperature when nothing but an unlimited extent of ice is near. These changes, it is considered, could not have been consequences of proximity of open water, which, at best, would be of 29° temperature. The theory of professor Wheildon is that open water, melting ice, rain after snow, and other phenomena of the sort in arctic regions, are not cause by winds warmed by an open sea, but by a circulation of air in which warm winds descend from upper atmospheres; being a circulation by which winds heated at the equator reach the poles.

The year following the destruction of Chicago by fire has been the one which has shorn the largest transactions in trade of nearly every description ever known in that city. The population of Chicago is now greater than any time previous, and the business activity of the city surpasses all former experience. The receipts of grain during the past year exceed those of the corresponding period of 1870 by more than 22,000,000 bushels, and the total of the wholesale commerce of the the city in the various departments of business since the fire reaches the grand sum of 455,800,000, which is an increase of more than $48,000,000 over the year 1870.

The manufacturers of Chicgo also show an unexampled prosperity. In 1870 the manufactured products of the city amounted in value to more than $66,000,000; this year it will reach $103,000,000, not including building operations. It must be remembered that the work of rebuilding the city has added immensely to the volume of general business transactions; but even after taking this fact into consideration the result of the year's operations is truely surprising.

Agricultural.

Influence of Vegetable Mold on Soils.

M. Schlœsing concludes, as the result of his investigations, that vegetable mold acts favorable on all qualities of soils.—On loose sandy soils, vegetable mold has a tendency to consolidate the particles and render the soil more compact and consequently more retentive of moisture and the fertilizing gasses. On the other hand stiff, compact soils are rendered friable and mellow by a mixture with vegetable mold. The improvement in the mechanical condition of the soil may be regarded as chief effect of vegetable mold.

Utilization of Sawdust.

M. Gustave Hueze says that, though sawdust decomposes very slowly, yet it may be economically used as litter in stables, and left for several months in contact with the solid and liquid excrement of animals, which it readily absorbs. It may also be composted with quick-lime and left in a heap for about a year. Additions may be made to this heap from time to time, but, when such additions are made, the whole heap should be well stirred. It will be improved by being frequently saturated with urine or sewer-water, Sawdust thus treated may be used on partially exhausted soils with great advantage.

Clover in the South

Our regular correspondence shows the rapid increase of this crop in several portions of the South. While one variety suits one section, another is found profitable elsewhere. Clover, as a field crop, has been found a great success in large areas. It is found, also, in some locations, to be one of the best paying crops.—Monthly Agricultural Report.

Bad Financiering.

A Georgia correspondent to the Department of Agriculture, at Washington, states that the farmers in his region have in many cases mortgaged their crops for provisions for the coming year and for fertilizers A short crop of cotton will ruin large numbers of them. A correspondent in another county of this State says that the cotton mania has broken out with fresh virulence among the planters. Not less than 200 tons of guano have been already purchased, mostly on credit, for the quickening of the cotton crop. Here, also, planters are mortgaging their crops for provisions.

Farming in Iowa.

James P. Coulter, of Johnson County, raised last year 12,000 bushels of corn, 2,000 bushels of oats, 500 of wheat, 900 of timothy seed and 500 of flax seed; keeps 300 hogs, 40 cattle, 18 horses and has 640 acres of prairie land under cultivation.

Extraordinary Yield.

It is reported that of Fultz wheat sent by the Agricultural Department to Botetourt county, Virginia, Mr. Grayhill sowed 3½ pounds on the 16th of October, and harvested the crop on the 29th of of July last. It yielded 5½ bushels by measure, the whole weighigg 333 pounds.

A correspondent in Franklin county gives the following facts: April 22, he sowed one acre in Hungarian grass; by June 19 it was fit to cut; he took off the crop, and planted corn June 30, and it made 30 bushels. March 15, he sowed four acres of Norway oats; cut a very heavy crop July 1; planted the land to corn on the 12th and 13th, and made fully 30 bushels. The land on which this experiment was made had been under cultivation thirty-five years, and the season was unusually dry.

The only counties reporting cotton in Virginia, are Northampton, Southampton, King & Queen, Chesterfield, Greenville, and Patrick; and these the average of condition has declined from 101 in August to 97 in September.—Agricultural Report.

Chinese Shoemakers.

The Springfield (Mass.) Union says: "The bold experiment of C. F. Samson, a heavy shoe manufacturer of North Adams, in the importation and employment of Chinese laborers, inaugurated some twenty months ago, has proved to be a complete success. Of the original fifty laborers first set to work, forty-eight still remain, and are in all respects first-class workmen, industrious, faithful and reliable. During the time they have been employed they have so fully mastered the difficulties of their work as to be able at the present time to produce larger results every week than the same number of white hands were accustomed to do two years ago. They work steadily, ask for no holidays, and save their earnings to a miserly degree. No objection has been brought against them as being licentious or intemperate. In a word, their outward conduct and industry have been beyond reproach. Mr. Samson's success with his celestial help is likely to encourage others to make a similar experiment when in similar need."

The National Board of Trade, in session in New York, has adopted a resolution condemning the system of trade which substitutes reckless gambling for fair dealing, and calling on the banks to discourage loans to parties engaged in cornering, by exacting such securities as will confine their transactions within their means.

The greatest want of the present age is men and women healthy and vigorous in mind and body. The continued headaches, weaknesses, nervousness, and varying ailments which afflict women are generally the result of imperfect action of the stomache and other vital organs. Dr. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters, being composed entirely of vegetable substances indigeneous to California, may be taken with perfect safety by the most delicate, and are a sure remedy, correcting all wrong action and giving new vigor to the whole system.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN JURUBEBA BLOOD PURIFIER

It is not a physic which may give temporary relief to the sufferer for the first few doses, but which, from continued use brings piles and kindred diseases to aid in weakening the invalid, nor is it a doctored liquor, which, under the popular name of "Bitters" is so extensively palmed off on the public as sovereign remedies, but it is a most powerful Tonic and Alterative, pronounced so by the leading medical authorities of London and Paris, and has been long used by the regular physicians of other countries with wonderful remedial results.

DR. WELL'S EXTRACT OF JURUBEBA

retains all the medicinal virtues peculiar to the plant and must be taken as a permanent curative agent.

Is there want of action in your liver and spleen? Unless relieved at once, the blood becomes impure by deleterious secretions, producing scrofulous or skin diseases, blotches felons, pustules, canker, pimples, &c., &c.

Take Jurubeba to cleanse, purify and restore the vitiated blood to healthy action.

Have you a dyspeptic stomack? Unless digestion is promptly aided the system is debilitated with loss of vital force, poverty of the blood, dropsical tendency, general weakness or lassitude.

Take it to assist digestion without reaction, it will impart youthful vigor to the weary sufferer.

Have you weakness of the intestines? You are in danger of chronic diarrhœa or the dreadful inflammation of the bowels.

Take it to allay irritation and ward off tendency to inflammations.

Have you weakness of the uterine or urinary organs? You must procure instant relief or you are liable to suffering worse than death.

Take it to strengthen organic weakness or life becomes a burden.

Finally it should be frequently taken to keep the system in perfect health or you are otherwise in great danger of malarial, miasmatic or contagious diseases.

THE HERALD

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1872.

Whoever is not For Greeley, is For Grant.

Some half-dozen, or so, respectable gentlemen in Virginia have chosen to get upon their high ropes, and say: that because the Conservative Convention did not make a nomination that meets their peculiar preferences, that they will take no lot or parcel in the election; that they will not be forced to make a choice between evils. Some of these eccentric gentlemen are men of experience and ability; but when they make such an absurd declaration, they lose all claim to any influence they might otherwise justly exercise: For it is known to every one, that it is next to an impossibility to secure the nomination of the best man for any office, where there are many conflicting claims; and that, nearly all nominations are compromises. But in the coming election, there is at stake another and vastly more important object in view than any mere choice between individuals. The important issue which presents itself to every true lover of Constitutional Government, is not whether he wants Greeley for President, but whether, because of personal objections to Mr. Greeley, he will stay away from the polls, and thus let the Government remain in the hands of the party in power, whose sole object is to absorb into the general government all the functions and powers of the States, and to retain power for the purpose of personal agrandizement.—The whole power of the United States Treasury is being subsedized to bring every Radical to the polls, and to control the vote of the wavering and unprincipled. In this state of things, whenever a Conservative fails to vote for Greeley, he virtually casts a vote for Grant.—General Jubal Early, that proudest Roman of us all, whose fidelity to right is the sublimity of devotion, has weighed his antipathies in the scale against his patriotism, and declares to the people of Virginia that the day has come when every true Virginian should silence his likes and dislikes, and cast his to save the country from licenced pilage, corruption and ursurpation, and Virginia from the damning rule of Radicalism.

Prophets of Evil.

On the eve of every election, we hear melancholy forebodings from this class of cronic despondents, who talk about apathy, and the great necessity of rousing up the people to a proper sense of the importance of carrying each particular election, and seem to think that their mission has ended, when they have convinced some one else; that their cause is hopeless and that effort is useless. This class of people have existed in every country and in every age. We cannot expect to be exempt from their prosy Jeremiads, but we wish our readers to remember that their prophecies are ordinarily based upon very shallow information, and commonly eminate, rather from a disposition to croak, than from any special interest in the cause they profess to sustain. One croaker will tell us that this man, and another that, that man is not going to vote. It is all a mistake, every good Conservative will remember that the coming election involves not only a choice between Grant and Greeley, and between local self government and centralized usurpation, but to us the vital question of whether Virginians will retain the control of Virginia, or let it pass by default into the hands of scallawags, carpet-baggers and the misguided colored people.

Help Us, or We Sink.

Has Commissioner of the Revenue Douglass arrived from Washington? and has he brought the money-bags? This is the absorbing subject of consideration in our carpet-bag circles. Emissaries have been sent on to headquarters. Some have gone as far as Boston, all carrying the gratifying assurance: give us money and we will capture Virginia. But the Northern money-bags were deaf—or they were distrustful. They suspected that this might be a trick of carpet-baggers to fill their own fobs—that they would pocket the money, and that would be the last heard of the patriotic fund. But when the telegram announced that Douglass, one of Cameron's disciples, had been or was to be dispatched to Virginia, there was a general and live pricking up of ears all along the line. The good time was coming now—and no mistake. The carpet-baggers would now reimburse themselves for all their sufferings and humiliations, and be in condition to take their final departure with well-filled pockets.

But why does not Douglass come on? We are all hungry and impatient for his advent. Money is mighty scarce in Old Virginia, and a few hundred thousand thrown into circulation would greatly enliven business, especially among the disinterested carpet-baggars.

Mr. Grant appreciates the potency of money—Cameron judges everybody by his own standard, and believes all mankind as venal as himself. What is easier than buy up the whole State of Virginia? Are they afraid to trust their own tools with the money? What if some of it should stick—are not the carpet-baggers all patriots and Republicans? And if a little of it should fall to the rebels, who have become suddenly smitten with a sense of the immaculate virtues of Grant, isn't a convert worthy of reward—and should he not be encouraged in his efforts to reform?—Richmond Whig.

The Oyster Trade.

The exportations of oysters from Norfolk to Europe is assuming incrased proportions. The Journal, of Saturday, says that two firms in that business have more orders than they can well carry through. It appears that our English and French friends are so fond of Chesapeake bay oysters that they have given standing orders for a large quantity to be shipped forthwith. One firm is forwarding at the rate of 1,200 barrals per month, principally to France. The other is shipping at the rate of about 1,000 barrels per month to Liverpool. At present they go forward by New York, thence to destination by the English and French line of steamers, respectively.

The Journal says that the business in this line will be increased to a large extent as soon as the weekly line of Allan steamers commence to run, and when cold weather will lessen the risk of loss by decay.

The oysters before being barrelled are all culled, the long and crooked oysters being rejected, and are packed with the flat side downward, so as to retain life The single and oval shaped fat oyster is that which is especially sought after by the English and French dealers.

The Empress of Russia and Prince Nicholas intend to pass the winter at Jerusalem. They will pass through Constantinople, where the Sultan is preparing a grand reception. The Empress will probably pass the next winter in Egypt.

The population of Paris has, it is reported, decreased 400,000 in the last six years.

Perpetuity of Liberal Principles.

Truth is eternal. Neither defeat nor victory can add to or take from it.—Though all mankind reject it, the truth must ever stand firm, and in the end be triumphant. The Cincinnati Convention placed, in the form of a declaration, a statement of the actual condition of public affairs, and an emphatic assertion of the true constitutional policy of the Government. There was not an honest and intelligent man in all the broad land who did not, and who will not now, admit that the declaration made at Cincinnati was true to the letter, was truth in fact, truth in principle. Against that declaration there has been hardly a voice raised; its accusations have been admitted and confirmed, and its principles conceded to be impregnable. In support of that declaration, the best and purest men of the country, without reference to former party afflictons, have united—Democrat with Republican. Against it have united thousands of men, equally honest and intelligent, who have considered themselves under some sacred obligation to adhere to party commands. Money and offices being ranged wholly on the side of the party in power, the mercenary bands of American politics have flocked to that standard. The men who hold and control the money of the Government have offered to hire the votes of these mercenaries, and the latter have taken the money and voted for their employers. The election in the city of Philadelphia will stand forever a disgrace to that city, to the State, and to the nation. It is the first time in the history of the country that there was an open and acknowledged sale and purchase of perhaps 25,000 votes. There is not even a denial of the shameless and wholesale profligacy.

The victory in Pennsylvania has, we fear, inaugurated a new system in political machinery, a system in which money counts for more than principle, and in which the means are made altogether subordinate to the end. The union in Philadelphia of all the purchasable voters in the country, of the worst specimens of the repeaters, ballot-box stuffers, and forsworn inspectors of election, together with the honest but ignorant mass of the colored people, would be alarming as to the probable future of the country were it not that the ominous conjunction will, in time, awaken public attention to the national peril, and eventually unite the common intelligence and integrity of the country against corruption, crime, and ignorance. Though the Liberal candidates have been rejected under the excitement of a Presidential election, by the people of Pennsylvania and Ohio in 1872, the cooler judgement of the people of these States will lead them irresistably into a hearty co-operation with all others equally honest and intelligent, and in 1876 the State which has elected Hartranft, the confederate of Yerkes, will wipe out, so far as practicable, the recent terrible disgrace. Though defeated now, the Liberal party is the coming power.—Though overwhelmed for the present, it is the means destined in the next four years to rescue the Government, the country, and public liberty from the dangers and perils that now threaten them.—New York Tribune.

The greatest want of the present age is men and women healthy and vigorous in mind and body. 'WAVERLEY'

For Sale

AT PUBLIC AUCTION!

PURSUANT to the directions of a decree of the District Court of the United States, for the Eastern District of Virginia, pronounced in the matter of bankruptcy of Walter F. Jones, bankrupt, the subscriber, as Assignee in Bankruptcy of the said Walter F. Jones, will sell on Monday, the 2d day of December 1872,

at PUBLIC AUCTION, at Gloucester Court house, at 12 o'clock M., that VALUABLE ESTATE, situated on North river, in the county of Gloucester, called

WAVERLEY,

whereon Dr. Walter F. Jones now resides, containing about

1059 Acres,

and also all INTEREST of the said Walter F. Jones in another piece of LAND adjoining the Waverley Tract, called the

MEADOW,

lying on the public road and containing about

Thirty Acres.

THE TERMS OF SALE will be one-fourth of the purchase money, cash one-fourth on six, one-fourth on twelve and one-fourth on eighteen months credit. For the deferred payments bonds are to be executed with personal security in equal sums with interest from the day of sale, payable to the undersigned, as assignee, and title will be retained until the whole of the purchase money shall have been paid—but the purchaser may anticipate any or all of the deferred payments at his option by the payment of cash at any time before the bonds fall due.

WAVERLEY is well known to be one of the most desirable and valuable farms in Gloucester county. The improvements are of the best description: the

is a Large, Handsome and Commodious Brick Mansion, in good repair.

The LAND is higly improved and productive, and the neighborhood one of the best in Eastern Virginia, and in addition to the attractions of society, the county abounds in game, and the waters of North river with choicest productions of the sea.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN JURUBEBA BLOOD PURIFIER

It is not a physic which may give temporary relief to the sufferer for the first few doses, but which, from continued use brings piles and kindred diseases to aid in weakening the invalid, nor is it a doctored liquor, which, under the popular name of "Bitters" is so extensively palmed off on the public as sovereign remedies, but it is a most powerful Tonic and Alterative, pronounced so by the leading medical authorities of London and Paris, and has been long used by the regular physicians of other countries with wonderful remedial results.

DR. WELL'S EXTRACT OF JURUBEBA

retains all the medicinal virtues peculiar to the plant and must be taken as a permanent curative agent.

Is there want of action in your liver and spleen? Unless relieved at once, the blood become impure by deleterious secretions, producing scrofulous or skin diseases, blotches felons, pustules, canker, pimples, &c., &c.

Take Jurubeba to cleanse, purify and restore the vitiated blood to healthy action.

Have you a dyspeptic stomack? Unless digestion is promptly aided the system is debilitated with loss of vital force, poverty of the blood, dropsical tendency, general weakness or lassitude.

Take it to assist digestion without reaction, it will impart youthful vigor to the weary sufferer.

Have you weakness of the intestines? You are in danger of chronic diarrhœa or the dreadful inflammation of the bowels.

Take it to allay irritation and ward off tendency to inflammations.

Have you weakness of the uterine or urinary organs? You must procure instant relief or you are liable to suffering worse than death.

Take it to strengthen organic weakness or life becomes a burden.

Finally it should be frequently taken to keep the system in perfect health or you are otherwise in great danger of malarial, miasmatic or contagious diseases.

Are again offered to the Public.

Use the Preventive and you will not Need the Cure.

Are you suffering from disease of the Liver or Spleen?

Hon. BEVERLY TUCKER, late Law Professor of William & Mary College, says: "Fourteen years ago I was left by a most malignant fever, with a diseased liver, a disordered digestion, and a constitution in ruins. My physicians permitted me hope, that with care and prudence I might have a few years of precarious existence, and assured me that the least indiscretion would be fatal. Two years ago I met with your Anti-Dyspeptic Pills, and confiding in the accompanying cirtificates of responsible gentlemen, whom I happened to know, I took them according to directions. The result is, that I now eat what I please, sleep soundly, and enjoy life as much as any man living. For this, it gives me pleasure to say, you have my thanks, and to add the assurance of my high regard." These Pills Contain no Mercury or other Mineral Substances, they are purely a Vegetable Compound.

HOME AFFAIRS.

Our Friends will confer a favor upon us, and enhance the ability of the paper to interest its subscribers, if they will, as convenient, communicate to us any items of local news which they may judge to be of interest to the public.

At the request of many of my comrades that I, as senior surviving officer of the Confederate Army in this county, would designate a day upon which the officers and soldiers of the "Lost Cause," —now citizens of Gloucester—shall assemble in general meeting for the purpose of organizing an association to provide the means for erecting a monument at the County seat, to the memory of our fallen comrades, I designate the 28th day of this month, being the 1st day of the October Term of the Circuit Court, for the purpose indicated, and earnestly request my fellow-soldiers to assemble on that day.

William B. Taliaferro.

Conservative Supervisors of Election.

Judge Underwood, of the district Court for the Eastern District of Virginia, by authority delegated to him by Judge Bond, has appointed supervisors of registration and election, on the recommendation of M. F. Peasants, chief supervisor of the Eastern District of Virginia. The following gentlemen ars appointed supervisors for Gloucester:

Gloucester C. H., T. C. Cooke; Trevilian's Store, J. W. Brookin; Dragon Ordinary, M. Glenn; Woods X Roads, F. H. Wolfe; Cappahosic, S. Bland; Clay Bank, J. C. Hughes; Hickory Fork, R M. Page; Rowe's Store, J. A. B. Thornton.

Oysters—Important Decision.

We have been informed that the second day of the present term of the Circuit Court of Mathews county, now in session, was occupied by an able and elaborate discussion of the constitutionality of the Act of Assembly of March, 1871 (which is identical with the Act of 1872), imposing a tax on oysters. The Grand Jury, some months ago, presented a number of owners of small boats and canoes engaged in the business of taking and selling oysters, who had refused to pay the tax prescribed, to the inspector.

The Parties, at the calling of their cases in the County Court, demurred to the indictment on the ground that the law was in conflict with the Federal and State Constitutions. After a very protracted discussion, Judge Kemp overruled the demurrer, and decided that the law was constitutional.

Uriah Morgan, one of the parties, was subsequently put upon trial, found guilty, and fined. He appealed to the Circuit Court, and the other causes were continued to await the decision of Judge Jeffries.

At this term the case was fully argued by Messrs. John T. Seawell, M. B. Seawell, J. B. Donovan and James N. Stubbs, for the plaintiff in error, and by Messrs. Montague and McCandlish, Gen. Wm. B. Taliaferro and G. Taylor Garnett, Esq., for the Commonwealth, and resulted in the decision of Judge Kemp being fully sustained by Judge Jeffries, and the law pronounced constitutional.

SPECIFICATIONS FOR A JAIL.

In pursuance of an order of the Board of Supervisors of Gloucester County, entered at a meeting of said Board, held on the 27th of September last, I am directed to advertise for sealed proposals to build a County Jail for the County of Gloucester, according to the following specifications and dimensions:

Building 32x16, pitch 20 feet, 2 stories, 2 rooms on a floor, two of the rooms (one below and the other above), to be built on an iron grating, with bar-iron running horizontally and pierced by rod-iron running perpendicularly, spaces between the grating not to exceed four inches, the walls of the intire building to be two bricks thick, a passage and stairway running through the middle of the building, taking up, including partition walls, eight feet, stairway to be iron, each room to have an earth closet and two windows, each window to be doubly iron-grated, all the doors to be double, the inside doors to be iron-grated with an opening to pass meals, &c.; and the outside doors to be covered with sheet iron, the whole building to be heated by a furnace, the roof to be slate and fire-proof, floors of oak, the entire building to be completed by the 15th day of June, 1873.

Proposals will be received up to the first day of December next. The money will be fully in hand before the contract is let out.

THE

Gloucester

Herald!

A FIRST-CLASS

FAMILY NEWSPAPER!

Devoted to the material interests of Tidewater Virginia, and the cause of Conservative Reform in the politics of the Country.

THE HERALD,

after an experience of two years as a newspaper, is now, it may be hoped, an institution of this section of the State, and, profiting by that experience, it bids fair to be even more efficient in the future than in the past.

ITS EDITORIALS,

while breathing the spirit of courtesy toward all, will be uncompromisingly Conservative and thoroughly Virginian, and will deal unsparingly with all offendors against its tenets of political truth.

ITS LOCAL NEWS

we hope to make a most interesting feature of the paper. With efficient correspondents at every important point in this section, we expect to more than rival the city papers in giving those items which are of special interest to our people.

ITS LITERARY DEPARTMENT

will be carefully guarded from the intrusion of anything that is not of first-class literary merit, and we hope the articles in this department will always be found worthy of the most attentive perusal.

ITS NEWS SUMMARY,

we shall endeavor to make in the future a special recommendation of the Herald. Whilst the numerous Weeklies, made up from the city Dailies, contain only certain articles culled from a large mass of material, we hope, by careful editing, to give the cream of all the news of the week—giving "much in little," instead of little in much.

AS AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM

our paper offers decided advantages. To give the city merchants some idea of the advantages of advertising in the Herald, we will state that in the county of Gloucester alone there are about 60 stores, which average annually the sale of about $160,000 worth of dry goods, $60,000 worth of hardware and farming utensils, $68,000 worth of liquors, and other goods in proportion. This is in Gloucester only—how much more can be done in adjoining counties. The Herald goes regularly to more than 100 stores.

BECKWITH'S Anti-Dyspeptic PILLS!

THESE VALUABLE PILLS
Are again offered to the Public.

Use the Preventive and you will not Need the Cure.

Are you suffering from disease of the Liver or Spleen?

Hon. BEVERLY TUCKER, late Law Professor of William & Mary College, says: "Fourteen years ago I was left by a most malignant fever, with a diseased liver, a disordered digestion, and a constitution in ruins. My physicians permitted me hope, that with care and prudence I might have a few years of precarious existence, and assured me that the least indiscretion would be fatal. Two years ago I met with your Anti-Dyspeptic Pills, and confiding in the accompanying certificates of responsible gentlemen, whom I happened to know, I took them according to directions. The result is, that I now eat what I please, sleep soundly, and enjoy life as much as any man living. For this, it gives me pleasure to say, you have my thanks, and to add the assurance of my high regard." These Pills Contain no Mercury or other Mineral Substances, they are purely

Gloucester Herald!

A FIRST-CLASS

FAMILY NEWSPAPER!

Devoted to the material interests of Tidewater Virginia, and the cause of Conservative Reform in the politics of the Country.

THE HERALD,

after an experience of two years as a newspaper, is now, it may be hoped, an institution of this section of the State, and, profiting by that experience, it bids fair to be even more efficient in the future than in the past.

ITS EDITORIALS,

while breathing the spirit of courtesy toward all, will be uncompromisingly Conservative and thoroughly Virginian, and will deal unsparingly with all offendors against its tenets of political truth.

ITS LOCAL NEWS

we hope to make a most interesting feature of the paper. With efficient correspondents at every important point in this section, we expect to more than rival the city papers in giving those items which are of special interest to our people.

ITS LITERARY DEPARTMENT

will be carefully guarded from the intrusion of anything that is not of first-class literary merit, and we hope the articles in this department will always be found worthy of the most attentive perusal.

ITS NEWS SUMMARY,

we shall endeavor to make in the future a special recommendation of the Herald. Whilst the numerous Weeklies, made up from the city Dailies, contain only certain articles culled from a large mass of material, we hope, by careful editing, to give the cream of all the news of the week—giving "much in little," instead of little in much.

AS AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM

our paper offers decided advantages. To give the city merchants some idea of the advantages of advertising in the Herald, we will state that in the county of Gloucester alone there are about 60 stores, which average annually the sale of about $160,000 worth of dry goods, $60,000 worth of hardware and farming utensils, $68,000 worth of liquors, and other goods in proportion. This is in Gloucester only—how much more can be done in adjoining counties. The Herald goes regularly to more than 100 stores.
