

CARL BRYCE REDDING

Bryce,

From the day you entered our lives, we have been blessed by your spirit, your sense of humor, and your presence. We hope you can find as much enrichment in your life as you have brought to ours.

As you have faced challenges and enjoyed successes in your life we can see how you have grown as a person and a man. Whether being part of a championship team or testing yourself as an individual, you have come to understand what it takes to be successful.

You have achieved something great by graduating from William & Mary, and you will find it gives you a solid foundation for attacking your goals in life. Combine this success and the W&M experience to add another chapter to your book of life. Go forth and build on this success. And always remember to take time to do the things that bring joy to your life.

Our joy and pride in being able to call you our son is immeasurable. We love you and wish you all the best!
