

The Throne

News and Services from Swem Library at The College of William & Mary • Summer 2011

What are these people doing?

They're relaxing on a 16-seater Roman latrine waiting for the next issue of The Throne. Your editors are taking a little time off, but we'll be back in August to welcome you back.

Photo courtesy of the Vindolanda Trust. Used with permission.

The communal toilets, with their own flushing mechanism, are part of the Vindolanda fort along Hadrian's Wall in northern England.