Peyroux for the 1st number of his Annales Philosophiques, to which he asks leave to become a subscriber. he has time to read but little, but from a view of the heads treated on, he finds they are all interesting; and from a preceding acquaintance with what M. Peyroux has written he is assured they will be treated to the satisfaction of the reader. all articles on the subject of Louisiana will be particularly acceptable to the American reader. he salutes M.
