

Monticello Sep. 22. 19.

Mr Jefferson presents his compliments, & his thanks to Mr Pickering for the copy he has been so kind as to send him of his essay on the pronunciation of the Greek language. he had had the pleasure of perusing it before thro' the kindness of Mr Adams, in a letter to whom he expressed his sense of it's merit, which letter, communicated (as he understands) to Mr Pickering, will have informed him of his high estimation of it. he salutes Mr Pickering with assurances of great esteem. &c.

Pickering Idm, Sep. 22. 19.

Manuscript Sep 22 19

The following presents his compliments to his friends to Mr. Pickering for the copy he has been so kind as to send him of his copy on the pronunciation of the Greek language. He has had the pleasure of perusing it before this the receipt of the volume, in a letter to which he expressed his great esteem for the author's communication (to be understood to Mr. Pickering) and has informed me of his intention to send it to the printer to be published in the next issue of the Journal.

Messrs DeBure frères

Libraires à Paris.

recommandés to the care of Mr Deasly Comue of the U.S.

at Havre

