takes advantage of an opening of the ice this morning in consequence of a rain, to go out, and is this moment getting under way, so that I must end here.

Jan. 10. 1792. 8. a'clock A. M. The Senate has been constantly on the subject in my cyphered letter, there is no decision as yet. we have been constantly in expectation that each day would finish it
