FIRST AND 10

William and Mary and 16th-ranked Northeastern meet Saturday in an Atlantic 10 conference game at Zable Stadium. It is the 11th all-time meeting between the schools, with W&M leading the series 8-2. The Tribe has won two-straight and is coming off a 42-6 victory over VMI at home last weekend, while the Huskies opened their A10 slate with a 27-3 win at Towson on Saturday night. Northeastern is the second ranked opponent W&M has faced this season, after beating 10th-ranked UNH, 9-7, on Sept. 18.

Quick Slant

Saturday will be the sixth meeting between NU and W&M in Williamsburg, with the Tribe having won the previous five meetings.

ALL-AMERICAN CANDIDATE

LANG CAMPBELL

THE CAMPBELL FILE

Senior, QB, 6-3, 205

Hometown: Winchester, Va.

High School: Handley

Major: History and Economics

Honors/Awards: Preseason honorable-mention All-American by I-AA.org, preseason first-team all-conference, third-team all-conference in 2003, two-time academic all-conference selection (2002, 2003, A-10 Offensive Player of the Week Sept. 4.

Note of the Week: With 3,537 career total offensive yards, Campbell needs 170 total yards to crack the College's top 10 career list.

CAMPBELL'S 2003 CLIPS

- Led the A-10 in passing yards per game (229.6) and pass efficiency (152.1) in 2003.
- Threw for over 200 yards in each of the Tribe's final seven games last year.
- Finished '03 as the Tribe's second-leading rusher with 300 yards.
- Twenty-two TD passes in '03 matched fifth-best single-season total in W&M history.
- Threw at least one TD pass in all 10 games.

Campbell's Career vs. NU

Campbell has played in only one game against Northeastern, starting last season's 48-14 loss in Boston. In that game, Campbell threw for 175 and a pair of TDs on 13-for-23 passing, but was picked off twice.

vs. Northeastern - 2003
23-13-2, 175 yards (2 TDs)
4 att., 3 yards

The senior from Winchester, VA emerged with a breakout season last fall and has continued to impress in his second season as a starter.

In the season-opener at UNC, Campbell threw for a career-high 322 yards, surpassing the 300-yard mark for the first time in his career. He completed 23 of 41 attempts and threw a pair of TD passes and added two rushing scores. He became the first Tribe quarterback to run and pass for two TDs in a game, since David Corley, Jr. did it in 2001.

Slowed by heavy rains and poor field conditions, Campbell was efficient at UNH, throwing for 148 yards on 11 for 23 passing and running for 42 yards on 14 attempts.

On his 23rd birthday against VMI, Campbell went 11-for-15 through the air for 160 yards and a pair of TD passes, before handing the quarterback duties over early in the second half.

For more notes on Campbell see page 5.

CAMPBELL'S 2004 CLIPS

- Thrown at least one TD pass in 12 of 13 career starts.
- Surpassed 3,000 career yards with 160 vs. VMI on Sept. 25
- Ranks 9th on the W&M career passing yards list (3,136).
- Moved into eighth place on W&M career TD pass list with 28.
- Has been intercepted only once in last 190 pass attempts, including 119-straight w/o one.
- At UNC, became first W&M QB to pass and run for two TDs since David Corley did it vs. Maine in 2001.
- Ranks third in A10 in total offense (234.0).

Personal: Son of Shep and Nancy Campbell... Brings a cumulative GPA of better than 3.3 into senior campaign... Enjoys playing sports, listening to music and reading in his free time... Born September 25, 1981.

Silver Linings: Jimmye Laycock is in his 25th season as the Tribe's head coach. The school's all-time winningest coach, Laycock has compiled a 161-111-2 career record at W&M. He ranks fifth on the A-10 career victories lists (59), only two behind former Richmond and Massachusetts coach Jim Reid. W&M has made seven postseason appearances under Laycock and posted winning ledgers in 17 of the past 21 seasons.

Good Company: Tribe head coach Jimmye Laycock, in his 25th season on the W&M sidelines, ranks third among all current Division I-A and Division I-AA head coaches in terms of most years at their current school. The two coaches ahead of Laycock are Penn State's Joe Paterno (37 years) and Florida State's Bobby Bowden (26 years).

Quotes from Monday's A-10 Coaches Conference Call...

On the Tribe's Defensive Play against VMI.

The best thing I saw was defensively we were running to the ball and we're not having many missed assignments. We're getting to where we need to be and then our front line guys led by junior defensive end Adam O'Connor are getting a pretty good push. So we're improving and getting better and we need to keep on going.

1. What do you see out of #16 Northeastern's defense when looking at them from your offensive perspective?

I haven't looked at all of it yet, but they play extremely aggressively. They look like they've got guys that can run very, very well. They give you very good looks to keep you guessing. They play hard and run to the football, so that's the biggest thing that jumps out at me right now.

2. All-American candidate Lang Campbell surpassed the 3,000-yard passing mark in only his 13th game as a starter. Can you talk about his proficiency at the quarterback position?

Lang is a very efficient quarterback. He runs the show out there the way I like a quarterback to do it. He is very much in control, and he makes very good decisions about what to do with the football and where to move it around. Even if his decisions seem a little bit off to me at the time, he usually has a very good reason for why he did what he did and he's usually right. Also he's a very fine athlete with good vision and a live arm. He certainly has improved every year as a quarterback. He's playing at the level that I would expect him to be playing at now.

3. With the game well in hand early in the third quarter, what did you see from the guys that had an opportunity to get some time who normally aren't in the rotation?

It was good to get redshirt freshman Mike Potts, our backup quarterback, in for a lot of the second half. He made some really nice throws especially to sophomore receiver Cory Davis for a long pass and to sophomore wide receiver John Taylor, who's pushing for playing time, for a nice touchdown. Defensively, we got a number of people in, and these guys are practicing and putting in the time and effort on the practice field so it's good to get them in and see what they can do in a game. Certainly as the season wears on, more and more of those guys are going to be playing because of whatever situation.

4. Can you talk about turnover margin and if that was a point of emphasis going into the season?

It always is a point of emphasis for us because I think it is the most telling stat if you go back and ask coaches after a ballgame. You don't want to give up the ball, and defensively, you want to find ways to get the ball. When teams are balanced and you're playing good teams, that usually will make the difference between winning and losing. So far as doing anything specific to prevent them or force them, no, but it's doing things the right way as far as fundamentals and techniques.

5. Can talk about quarterback Shaun Brady and what he brings to Northeastern?

He's a very efficient quarterback. He certainly has a knack for running the football, and he spreads the football around very well. He has great presence, he plays with a lot of confidence and even though it's a new staff and new coaches he certainly seems like he's under control. He doesn't force things, and he can keep you honest with the run.

6. Liam Ezekial has gotten all of the preseason ink for Northeastern. What kind of problems does he present?

He's a heck of a player. If you didn't know anything about anybody and you turned on a tape of Northeastern you would want to know who Ezekial was. He's all around the football, and he plays with a great deal of intensity. He's a heck of a linebacker.

7. When you put a game plan together can you avoid a guy like him?

I don't know if there's a way to avoid him. I haven't gotten that one figured out yet.

W&M GAME NOTES

vs. #16 NORTHEASTERN OCT. 2, 2004

Blown Away: With the 2004 hurricane season producing one misery after another in the southeastern US, the severe weather the Williamsburg area experienced last season is tame by comparison. Never the less, few associated with the 2003 Tribe program will forget the dizzying days just before, and after, the team's September visit to Northeastern. With the evacuation of the campus just three days before the scheduled departure to the Boston area, the team practiced just twice with the full roster (Monday and Tuesday). After an abbreviated Wednesday practice with the travel squad, the program bunkered down for the thrashing that Hurricane Isabel brought to the area on Thursday evening.

Only a tremendously coordinated effort by the team's coaches and travel administrators got the team on its charter late on Friday afternoon. The team arrived too late for a Friday practice. Saturday, the Tribe was handed its second thrashing in less than 48 hours, delivered by another powerful force, the Northeastern football program.

The Huskies 48-14 victory was the most decisive win in the series since the first game between the two schools (a 53-6 Tribe win in 1993). In fact, the game stands as the Tribe's most lopsided loss to a conference foe since joining the league in 1993.

Honorary Alumni?: The Huskies program was probably begging to feel like alumni, as it has played in the Tribe's Homecoming contest three times in its last four visits to Williamsburg (2002, 2000 and 1996).

In what can be considered a small consolation, this season's match up occurs on the College's Family Weekend.

Setting the Stage: With a win on Saturday over 16th-ranked Northeastern, the Tribe can reach several team milestones. The following are some of the more interesting possibilities if the Tribe were to pull off the upset.

With a win over Northeastern, the Tribe would have ...

- It's best start since going 3-1 over the first four games of the 2001 season.
- A six-game conference winning streak

(dating back to last season) it's -longest since winning five-straight in 2001.

- Two wins over top-15 teams in its last three games.
- Defeated two ranked opponents in the same season for the first time since 2001.
- Extended its record over the Huskies to 6-0 in Zable Stadium.
- Its 60th win as a A10/Yankee Conference team, a total that would move head coach Jimmy Laycock within one of fourth-place on the conference's all-time victory list (Jim Reid, UMass/Richmond, 61).
- A crucial win as it prepares to play three of its next four games on the road (at Liberty, vs. URI, at Delaware and at Towson).

On the Defensive: After starting the season with a difficult task at Division I-A North Carolina, the Tribe's defensive unit has come together and put together two very solid, back-to-back outings. In limiting the then 10th-ranked University of New Hampshire to just 226 total yards and VMI to a meager 197 yards, W&M defensive coordinator Jim Pletcher's charges have provided the back bone for a pair of wins.

The following is a quick point-by-point look at some of what the College's defenders have accomplished over the first three games of the season.

The Tribe Defense has ...

- Created eight turnovers (four fumbles and four interceptions). Of those eight turnovers, six have turned into Tribe scoring drives (three each vs. North Carolina and VMI). For a closer look, please see the Tribe's season scoring drives on page 19.
- Not allowed a touchdown over the last seven quarters of action (last touchdown yielded came on opening drive of game vs. UNH). One has to go back to the 1995 season to find the last time W&M was so stingy, when the Tribe blanked Northeastern and New Hampshire in back-to-back contests.
- Yielded less than 250 yards of total offense in consecutive games. The last time this feat was accomplished by the Tribe came in the 1996 season, when the Tribe featured the nation's second-best defensive corps (in terms of total yardage allowed/gm) and limited four-straight opponents to under 250 yards of offense.

- Allowed only three plays of 15 yards, or more, in last two games (23-yard completion vs. VMI, 24-yard run and 21-yard pass vs. UNH).
- Yielded just over 5.0 yds/pass attempt to opposing offenses in last two game (50 attempts have produced just 251 passing yards and no touchdowns).

Take It Away: The Tribe defense forced four turnovers in the season-opening loss at North Carolina on Sept. 4, a feat that had not been accomplished since a season-opening loss to Division I-A Indiana in 2002. W&M ensured it would not be another two years before it happened again, forcing VMI into four turnovers in Saturday's 42-6 win. Sophomore linebacker Ryan Nickell had two interceptions, while James Miller also picked off a pass and Jonas Watson recovered a fumble forced by Larry Pendelton.

Youth is Serving: As promising as the 2004 defensive unit seems to be through the first three games, one has to wonder what the future could hold as only four seniors appear among the top 22 players (with DT Mike McCarthy as the only starter) on the defensive two-deep for this week's game with Northeastern.

Special Order: Many have called football the ultimate team game, and the 2004 edition of the College's gridders certainly seem have taken to the team concept. The Tribe's defense and offense have all made major contributions in the team's first two victories on the season, but it has been the team's specialty units that have turned in the most impressive performances.

Through three games, the Tribe's kick coverage unit, led by fearless sophomore linebacker Leonard Muldrow and redshirt freshman T.J. O'Neil, have limited opponents to just under 14 yards a kick return and is ranked second in the conference. Against VMI, the College allowed the Keydets just 12.6 yds/kick return. On the season, the Tribe has allowed only one return of greater than 25 yards (vs. UNC).

Returning all-conference punter Mike Mesi has continued to be a valuable asset in helping turn field position into the Tribe's advantage. He'll enter this weekend's action, coming off one of his better afternoons, as he averaged 44.0 yds/punt on six attempts vs. VMI, including his career best effort of 64 yards. While his season average of 38.4 yds/attempt is off his career average of 40.1, he was one of the team's MVP's in the upset of New Hampshire, as he managed to bludgeon a rain and mud soaked ball seven times for 33.6 yds/attempt. THE LAST MEETING

No. 4 Northeastern 48, William & Mary 14

BOSTON, MA (9/20/03) - Just days after Hurricane Isabel affected life in and around the Williamsburg area, the W&M football squad ran into another power, this time the force of No. 4 Northeastern. The Huskies broke open a close game in the third quarter and pulled away for a 48-14 win over the Tribe.

W&M spotted NU a 3-0 advantage but took the lead when junior quarterback Lang Campbell connected with senior All-America candidate Rich Musinski on a 25-yard touchdown pass with just over eight minutes remaining in the first quarter.

W&M closed a 17-6 halftime margin to within three points at 17-14 in the third quarter on a TD pass from Campbell to Danny Wade. That's when Northeastern did its own imitation of Hurricane Isabel, as the Huskies scored on a seven-yard run by Anthony Riley, and added a safety and two more touchdown runs in the third quarter to take a 41-14 lead into the final stanza.

with Mesi's strong left leg is an aggressive coverage team that is led by starting wideout/gunner Dominique Thompson, TE Matt Trinkle, Thad Wheeler and Travis McLaurin. McLaurin, Trinke and Wheeler all have three tackles on punt coverage this season. This unit is limiting opposing returners to less than four yards a punt return.

While the loss of solid return specialist and starting wide receiver Josh Lustig has created a void, several talented athletes have stepped up and continued the standout work Lustig had started on the kick return. The Tribe is averaging better than 21 yards a return on the season and has consistently put the offense in solid starting field position.

King of Consistency: While all areas of the Tribe's specialty units have been worthy of note, none has been more outstanding than the field goal unit led by two-time all-conference kicker Greg Kuehn. This past weekend, Kuehn put himself in the Tribe's record books when he fired true on his first of six successful extra point attempts on the afternoon. His first attempt marked the 51st-straight conversion for the junior, breaking former all-American Brett Sterba's school-record of 50, set between the 1999 and 2000 seasons. Kuehn has now booted 56 consecutive extra points and has not missed a point after since the 2002 season (vs. NE).

The College's success in the kicking game has been well documented over the years, as a Tribe place kicker has been named to the all-conference team in each of the last seven years. Kuehn has earned the honor each of the past two years and seems to be on track for a third in 2004. He earned him the Atlantic 10's Special Teams Player of the Week honors by producing all the team's points in a rain swept win at UNH (9/18). This effort also pushed his career field goal total to 31, making him only the fourth place kicker in school history to pass the 30 field goal mark. The game stands as the fourth time Kuehn has connected on three field goals, with the last time coming in a 37-24 victory over Rhode Island on Oct. 25th of last season.

Kuehn is poised to break into the A10's all-time top 10 for career field goals as he is currently just three FGs from Villanova's Mark Kiefer's career total of 34 (1994-97, see complete listing on page

The Tribe's school record for career field goals is held by current NFL stand-out, Steve Christie, who hammered out 57 career three-pointers. Two-time all-conference performer, Brian Shallcross is second with 48 treys, while former All-American Brett Sterba sits in third with 46. Shallcross and Sterba currently hold the first and second positions on the A10's career field goal chart, respectively.

With at least eight games remaining in his junior season, Kuehn seems on track to make a run at Christie's career mark, as he'll enter Saturday's game averaging better than one FG/start (31 FGs in 23 career games). For perspective's sake, Christie and Shallcross entered their senior seasons with 36 and 33 field goals, respectively.

Not in a Giving Mood: While the W&M defense has been aggressively forcing handouts from opposing offenses this season (in the form of turnovers), the Tribe offense has been particularly stingy on returning the favor. Through three games, the College has coughed up just one offensive giveaway (a botched snap at UNH) and one fumbled punt. The result has been a league best turn over ratio of +6 (+2.0/game). The next closest competition in this front is upcoming opponent, Northeastern, who has encountered just four miscues on the year (three INTs and a fumble), while producing eight takeaways (+4). William and Mary remains the only team in the conference not to have thrown an interception.

Ball Hogs: Certainly, there are many positives to be gained by not turning the ball over, but one of the greatest in the season's early (and hottest) months is the simple fact it keeps the offense on the field and the defense rested. The Tribe is one of the league's finest at controlling the clock and currently averages better than 33 minutes a game in possession time.

In the win over New Hampshire, William and Mary's offense used up nearly 20 minutes of the second half clock (19:09) and kept the explosive Wildcat offense sitting in the one place it had no chance of striking a decisive blow, the bench. Against VMI, the Tribe scored only one TD in the third quarter, but it came after a punishing 10-play, 5:37 drive. Overall, Virginia Military's defense was on the field for nearly 10 minutes (9:38) in the third quarter.

Campbell Keys Offense: With the Tribe centering its attack on establishing a running game, All-American candidate, QB Lang Campbell's numbers were less than eye-catching (by his standards), as he was an efficient 11 for 15 for 160 yards and two scores in leading the College to a 42-6 win over Virginia Military. After suffering third down sacks on the Tribe's initial two possessions, Campbell led the Tribe to the endzone on four of its next five possessions in what turned out to be a 28-point second quarter that effectively put the game out of reach. Just as an exclamation point to his afternoon, he took the Tribe on a 10-play, 5:37 scoring drive to start the third quarter, and end his afternoon.

Despite the limited work, Campbell still managed to break the 3,000-yard barrier for his career, as his 20-yard completion to redshirt freshman wide out Joe Nicholas in the first quarter pushed him over the milestone. The following is a point-by-point look at some of what Campbell has achieved in just 13 career starts.

- He currently is in ninth-place on the College's all-time top 10 passing yardage listing, with 3,116 (just edging Dave Murphy's ninth-place total of 3,087 set in 18 starts between the 1980 and 1983 seasons). He needs 246 yards to move into eighth place (3,361, Dan Darragh, 1965-67) (for a complete listing see page 10).
- Now tied for eighth-place on the College's all-time TD pass listing (28), just and five scoring connections from seventh (see listing on page 10).
- Currently second on the College's all-time completion percentage listing (.626, 242 of 387 attempts).
- Needs just 175 yards of total offense to move into the College's all-time top 10. He has amassed 3,537 (3,087 passing, 401 rushing) for his career (see chart on page 10).
- With 10 more completions, he will move into the College's all-time top 10 in that area as well, pushing past John Brosnahan's two-year total of 251 rolled up between the 1987-88 seasons. He still remains more than 50 attempts from the Tribe's top 10 in that category.

Command Performance: One of the biggest positives Campbell brings the Tribe offense is his complete familiarity and control of all the subtleties of the intricate Tribe attack. Aside from the obvious statistics, such as passing yards and completion percentage, some more subtle numbers make a case for him being one of the best signal callers in the nation, especially in terms of decision-making.

One of the most telling numbers is his ability to avoid interceptions. He currently is the only signal caller ranked in the national top 25 in pass efficiency (with more than 50 attempts) not to have thrown at least one pick on the season. He has not been intercepted in his last 119 attempts, and only once in over his last 190 attempts. He carries a career TD to INT ratio of 1 to 4 (28 TDs to 7 INTs).

While his lack of interceptions speaks for his decision-making abilities, another stat that shows his field vision is the fact that he averages completions to over seven different receivers for his 13 career starts. He has never connected with less than six receivers in any career start.

His ability to maneuver the offense is especially telling when it comes to finishing drives. In 13 ventures into the opponent's red zone this season, Campbell and the offense has converted nine of the opportunities into TDs, while the final four visits resulted in field goals.

All this being said, Saturday's match up with Northeastern should prove to be an outstanding test of his skills, as the Huskies roll into Williamsburg as the league's best pass defense. NU has allowed only 24 completions (for 250 yards) in the first three games and has not yielded a touchdown via the air. For good measure, the crew from Boston also tied for the conference lead in interceptions with six. Last season against the Huskies, Campbell had what arguably could be called his most difficult afternoon as a starter as he threw a pair of interceptions in completing 13 of his 25 attempts for just 175 yards.

Among his Peers: On the season, Campbell is currently third in the conference in total offense, averaging 234.0 yds/game, and fourth in passing yards with an average of 210.0 yds/game. He is the only QB in the league with more than 20 attempts not to have thrown an interception.

Making Their Mark: Defense isn't the only side of the ball receiving contributions from players who are underclassman. Five offensive players have made their first career receptions (for the College) so far this season (redshirt freshman receiver Joe Nicholas, sophomore running backs Elijah Brooks and LeVince Parrott and sophomore receivers John Taylor and Corey Davis). Nicholas and Davis are not only new to catching passes but even lining up at the receiver position, as Nicholas is a converted defensive back and Davis a converted quarterback.

Three of these players, Nicholas, Brooks and Taylor, found the endzone for the first time in a Tribe uniform against VMI. Nicholas and Taylor were on the receiving end of touchdown passes while Kent State transfer Brooks notched his first score on a six yard, second quarter run.

O'Connor is Overpowering: Junior defensive end Adam O'Connor has been wreaking havoc on opposing offensive lines through the season's first three games and Saturday's win over VMI was no different. O'Connor recorded five tackles in the game, but more importantly registered a sack, forced fumble and three quarterback hurries.

On the season, O'Connor has 11 total tackles, 1.5 sacks and five quarterback hurries to his credit. He tallied half of a sack with Jonas Watson at UNC, in addition to a pair of quarterback hurries. At UNH, he registered three tackles and consistently pressure freshman quarterback Ricky Santos into hurried throws and swatted one Santos pass down at the line of scrimmage.

We Got Next: If all-conference linebacker Travis McLaurin and Chris Ndubueze were the team's leading tacklers with only six stops, you might assume it was a long day for the Green and Gold defense, however that was not the case Saturday against VMI. With a comfortable second-half lead, defensive coordinator Jim Pletcher was able to dip into his defensive depth chart and rest the regulars.

Among those to take advantage of increased playing time were linebacker T.J. O'Neil (five tackles), William Turner (four tackles), Cedric Slye (two tackles, PBU), Craig Patterson (two tackles, PBU) and Watson.

Though his playing time has been limited in the early going, when Watson has seen the field he has produced. In a reserve role, Watson has tallied six total tackles, including 3.5 in the opposing backfield for a total loss of 18 yards and 1.5 sacks for a total loss of 15 yards.

Fool Me Once...: Sophomore linebacker Ryan Nickell recorded the first two interceptions of his career Saturday against VMI, but more intriguing was the fact they came on consecutive VMI offensive plays from scrimmage. The first came with just under five minutes remaining in the second quarter after O'Connor hurried VMI quarterback Josh Lyle's throw, and two plays later W&M converted the turnover into seven points on Campbell's first TD pass of the game. On the Keydets' ensuing possession, Lyles lofted a pass to his left on the first play from scrimmage, which Nickell corralled in midair for his second pick. Three plays later, the Tribe led 28-3 on another Campbell TD pass.

Backing the Line: While Nickell's performance Saturday garnered much of the attention, fellow linebackers Travis McLaurin, Chris Ndubueze and T.J. O'Neil each had solid performances against the Keydets. Ndubueze and McLaurin each recorded a team-high six tackles in the contest, which marked the second-straight game that Ndubueze has led or tied for the team-lead in tackles. At UNH, the all-conference candidate made a career-high 16 tackles, and Ndubueze now ranks second on the team with 25 total stops this season, just one behind James Miller.

McLaurin, a preseason all-conference selection, is third on the squad with 21 total tackles, including 13 solo stops, and is tied for second in the league with two fumble recoveries, which both came in the season-opening loss at Division I-A North Carolina.

O'Neil has made the most of his limited playing time this season and has shown great potential in the linebacking corps. O'Neil was in on five stops against the Keydets Saturday, bringing his season total to 11.

No Fly Zone: Perhaps even more impressive than the play of the Tribe's linebackers, has been the consistent effort from the secondary. The W&M defensive backs have put together back-to-back outstanding performances against UNH and VMI. After surrendering 234 passing yards to UNC in the opener, the secondary's play over the last two games has been a major factor in limiting the Wildcats and Keydets to an average of 125.5 yards through the air.

Free safety James Miller is the team's leading tackler with 26 total stops on the year, and he recorded his first interception of the season in Saturday's victory. Junior corner Stephen Cason has continued to shake off the rust from missing last season and has provided some big plays in the Tribe's first three games, including a forced fumble against the Tar Heels.

High School Connections: William and Mary senior defensive tackle Mike McCarthy attended Mechanicsburg, PA's Cumberland Valley High School with Northeastern senior tight end Kevin Lawlor. W&M linebacker Chris Ndubueze and tailback Elijah Brooks were teammates of NU linebacker Rold Louis and running back Anthony Riley at DeMatha High School in Maryland. Gaithersburg High School in Gaithersburg, MD is the alma mater of NU's Richard Orah and W&M's Richard Riley. W&M offensive tackle Michael Grenz and NU freshman linebacker Chris Zambelli are both products of Wayne Hills High in Wayne, NJ.

State Lines: The Huskies' roster features only one student-athlete from the Old Dominion, sophomore reserve punter and wide receiver Jared White, who hails from Daleville, VA and Lord Botetourt High. Similarly, the Tribe roster has only one entry from Massachusetts, redshirt freshman linebacker T.J. O'Neil, a product of Tabor Academy in Duxbury, MA.

Coaching Connections: Between 1981 and 1983, current Tribe defensive coordinator Jim Pletcher held the same title and coached the defensive backs at Northeastern. In 1981, one of his Huskie defenders led the nation in interceptions, and in 1982, NU had the country's best pass defense and was ranked 12th in the nation in total defense.

Pletcher also served an 11-year stint from 1985 to 1995 as the defensive coordinator at James Madison, where first-year NU offensive coordinator Eddie Davis spent the previous five seasons.

Joe Nicholas scored his first career TD Saturday against VMI.

2004 WILLIAM AND MARY GAME-BY-GAME RESULTS

UNC 49, W&M 38

CHAPEL HILL, NC (9/4/04) -- Despite career days from Lang Campbell and Josh Lustig and four first-half turnovers, the Tar Heels used three fourth-quarter TDs from Ronnie McGill to rally past the Tribe, 49-38, at Kenan Stadium.

Campbell had the Division I-A North Carolina defense on its "heels" most of the afternoon, throwing for a career-high 322 yards and two TDs, including a 46-yard strike to Lustig to open the scoring. Lustig hauled in a career-best 112 yards on six catches. Campbell added a pair of rushing TDs in the first half and Greg Kuehn booted a 21-yard FG as time expired, as the Tribe built a 10-point halftime lead.

Stephen Cason and Alan Wheeling each forced a fumble in the first half, Travis McLaurin recovered two fumbles in the first half, including one he returned 33 yards and Wade Harrell returned his third-career interception 37 yards to set up Kuehn's FG, as W&M forced four turnovers in a game for the first time since 2002 (IU). James Miller, who also recovered a fumble, led the Tribe with 15 tackles.

Dominique Thompson, a NC native, caught six passes for 83 yards and a TD, while Jon Smith added a 2-yard TD run.

W&M 9, #10 UNH 7

DURHAM, NH (9/18/04) - All-conference kicker Greg Kuehn connected on field goals of 27, 35 and 21 yards and the Tribe defense held the Wildcats' high-powered offense in check, as W&M won its conference-opener, 9-7, over 10th-ranked New Hampshire at rained-soaked Cowell Stadium.

Playing in heavy rains from the remnants of Hurricane Ivan, W&M held UNH to 226 offensive yards, nearly 150 below its average, after yielding 575 yard to North Carolina two weeks prior. It was the fewest yards allowed by a W&M defense since yielding 141 to Massachusetts in the 2001 season-opener.

All-American candidate Lang Campbell and the Tribe offense were efficient in the treacherous conditions, as Campbell threw for 148 yards on 11 for 23 passing and ran for 42 yards on 14 attempts. With 148 passing yards, he moved into 10th place on the W&M career passing list. Senior Jon Smith churned out 63 yards on 23 carries.

Kuehn kicked three field goals for the fourth time in his career, with the last coming in a win over Rhode Island on Oct. 25, 2003.

Chris Ndubueze paced the defense with a career-high 16 tackles, including 10 solo stops. Junior Larry Pendleton tallied seven tackles and a sack, while sophomore Josh Wright, who made his first career start, also recorded a sack.

The win gave W&M its first victory over a ranked opponent since knocking off 15th-ranked Northeastern in Williamsburg on Oct. 26, 2002.

W&M 42, VMI 6

WILLIAMSBURG (9/25/04) - All-American candidate Lang Campbell threw for 137 yards and a pair of touchdowns in the first half to surpass the 3,000-yard mark for his career, as W&M used four second-quarter touchdowns and another outstanding defensive effort to knock off state-rival VMI, 42-6, in front of 8,101 fans at Zable Stadium.

Playing on his 23rd birthday, Campbell went over the 3,000-yard plateau in the first quarter and went on to complete 11-of-15 passes for 160 yards to move into ninth place (3,136) on the College's career passing yards lists. With two TD passes, Campbell also moved into eighth place (28) on the career list at W&M.

The Tribe defense forced four turnovers for the second time this season (UNC) and held the Keydets to 197 total yards, the first time a W&M defense surrendered fewer than 200 total yards since a season-opening win at UMass in 2001 (146). Dating back to a 9-7 win at UNH on Sept. 18, W&M has not allowed a touchdown for over seven consecutive quarters, a feat that has not been accomplished since 1995.

Sophomore linebacker Ryan Nickell recorded interceptions on consecutive VMI offensive plays from scrimmage, while all-conference linebacker Travis McLaurin and Chris Ndubueze each had six tackles and defensive end Adam O'Connor recorded five stops, a sack and three quarterback hurries.

Senior tailback Jon Smith led the Tribe ground game with 52 yards and two TDs, as he inched closer to 2,000 rushing yards for his career (1,899).

WILLIAM AND MARY FOOTBALL HONORS CANDIDATES

LANG CAMPBELL

QB, Senior
Winchester, VA / Handley

Campbell, an All-American candidate, was a third team all-conference performer in 2003 and was named to the preseason First Team All-Atlantic 10 squad this year. Campbell earned A-10 Offensive Player of the Week honors for his efforts at UNC, where he completed 23 of 41 passes for a career-high 322 yards and two TD passes. In addition, Campbell added a pair of rushing TDs and was the Tribe's second-leading rusher with 35 yards on six carries. Please see page 3 for more on Lang Campbell.

TRAVIS McCLAURIN

LB, Junior
Wilmington, DE / Thomas McKean

McLaurin was a Third Team All-Atlantic 10 performer in 2003 after recording 120 total tackles, which ranked second on the team. A preseason first team all-conference selection, McLaurin was the Tribe's second-leading tackler at UNC, making seven stops. He also recovered two Tar Heel fumbles, including one he returned 33 yards to set up a Tribe TD. At UNH, he made eight tackles, including one for a loss.

ADAM BRATTON

TE, Junior
Montoursville, PA / Montoursville

Bratton was named to the preseason first team all-conference squad and is poised for a breakout season after a solid spring game and off-season workouts. He caught seven passes for 77 yards in 2003. At UNC, Bratton got off on the right foot, catching one pass for 18 yards.

GREG KUEHN

PK, Junior
Potomac Falls, VA / Potomac Falls

Kuehn is a two-time all-conference performer and has led the Tribe in scoring in each of the last two seasons. A preseason Second Team All-Atlantic 10 selection, Kuehn connected on a 21-yard field goal at UNC as time expired in the first half. At UNH, he provided all of W&M's scoring with field goals of 27, 35 and 21 yards. He ranks seventh in the league in total scoring and is first among kickers.

ADAM O'CONNOR

DL, Junior
Greensboro, NC / Ragsdale

O'Connor was a standout performer last fall in his first season as a starter for the Tribe and is an all-conference candidate entering the 2004 campaign. O'Connor has been a dominant pass rusher this season with 1.5 sacks and five quarterback hurries through three games. He forced a fumble and registered one of his sacks against VMI Saturday.

JAMES MILLER

DB, Junior
Norfolk, VA / Lake Taylor

Miller has evolved into one of the Tribe's top defensive contributors. He had a 15-tackle effort at UNC in the season-opener in which he also broke up a pass and recovered a fumble. Against UNH, Miller was the Tribe's second-leading tackler with nine total stops. He recorded his first INT of the season against VMI on Saturday.

PATRICK MULLOY

OL, Junior
West Chester, PA / Salesianum

Mulloy has started most of the last two seasons and will anchor the offensive line at the center position. One of the top returning blockers in the league, Mulloy is the team's strongest lineman with 440 lb. bench press. After missing the first three games of 2003, Mulloy returned to start the final seven and played a major role in the offense's late-season surge. Mulloy, along with the rest of the offensive line, had a solid effort at UNC against a bigger Tar Heel defensive front, as the W&M o-line did not allow a sack.

MATTHEW WITHAM

OL, Senior
Newark, DE / Tatnall School

Witham is the Tribe's biggest offensive lineman and has started every game over the last two seasons (21). He participated in 605 snaps in 2003, the most on the offensive line. Witham was named the coaching staff's offensive player of the week for his efforts in the 59-21 win over Richmond in the season finale. Witham and the rest of the offensive line were key components of Campbell's outstanding performance at UNC. The o-line was again solid in terrible field conditions at UNH.

CHRIS NDUBUEZE

LB, Junior
Lanham, MD / DeMatha

Ndubueze was one of the Tribe's top defenders in 2003 and is emerging as a potential all-conference performer. He recorded a career-high 16 tackles in the Tribe's win at New Hampshire, including 10 solo stops. Ndubueze is the team's second-leading tackler with 25 stops on the year.
