First and 10

W&M begins its 112th season of football on Saturday evening with a visit to Division I-A Maryland. Saturday's opener will mark the fifth consecutive season the Tribe has started the year at a Division I-A opponent and the ninth-straight in which the College has faced a I-A team. W&M leads the all-time series with Maryland, 2-1, but the teams haven't met since 1946, when both were members of the Southern Conference. The Terps are coming off back-to-back below par 5-6 seasons, the only two losing marks under sixth-year head coach Ralph Friedgen, who served as W&M's offensive coordinator in 1980 under then first-year head coach Jimmye Laycock. Twenty-six seasons later, Laycock, the school's career leader in victories (175), and the 2006 edition of the Tribe are looking to bounce back from a disappointing finish to the 2005 season which saw W&M drop its final four contests and post a 5-6 record, just the fourth sub-.500 season under Laycock since 1983. The Tribe welcomes back 13 starters, including eight from an offense that ranked third in the Atlantic 10 in scoring (32.5) last year. If history is any indication of how W&M will bounce back this fall, the Tribe faithful could be in-store for another banner year, as the last two times the Tribe won only five games, W&M went on to win the A-10 title and gain a berth in the I-AA playoffs the following year (2001, 2004).

The William and Mary Football Radio Network

The W&M Athletics Department announced a new partnership for the Tribe Radio Network. The Notice of Intent to Award issued by the College designates two local stations, 92.3 FM "The Tide" and 107.9 FM "WBACH", as the network's Co-Flagships for the coming athletics season.

"We are extremely excited to be teaming up with Tribe Athletics," said Tom Davis, the President of Davis Media LLC. "We look forward to enhancing the broadcasts and broadening the reach of the games to the many fans throughout Tidewater Virginia."

The new partnership provides the College with solid coverage of the peninsula, as the station's combined footprint reaches from eastern areas of Richmond to the western parts of Norfolk. Tribe fans in Richmond will also be able to catch the action on 1450AM WCLM, which returns for its second season as an affiliate. Also, as usual, long-standing network member WBRG, AM 1050 of Lynchburg is back to carry all the action for 2006.

In addition to the radio coverage, all broadcasts can be heard live on the web at www.TribeAthletics.com.

Despite the new locations on the dial, the College's long-standing broadcast team of team of Jay Colley and Bob Sheeran remain in place to deliver all the action of Tribe football over the airwaves.

Maryland Series Notes

Remember When?

The last time W&M and Maryland squared off against each other on the gridiron was in 1946, when both were members of the Southern Conference. After a 13-3 loss at Miami in the Orange Bowl on Sept. 27 in the season's second game, W&M ran off five consecutive victories with the Maryland win extending the streak to five. A week later, W&M fell to eventual Southern Conference Champion North Carolina, 21-7, in Richmond, the College's only other defeat in an 8-2 season under Rube McCray.

The Laycock-Friedgen Connection

Maryland head coach Ralph Friedgen was Tribe head coach Jimmye Laycock's first offensive coordinator at W&M in 1980. Friedgen spent one year at W&M before moving on to become an assistant head coach at Murray State the following year, then starting his first stint at Maryland in 1982. The pair were also members of the same coaching staff at The Citadel under Bobby Ross in 1973, a staff that also included Virginia Tech coach Frank Beamer along with former VMI head coach Cal McCombs.

All-conference running back Elijah Brooks led the Tribe rushing attack with 944 yards in 2005. Brooks, one of 10 Maryland natives (Largo) on the 2006 Tribe squad, opens his senior season in his home state Saturday.

W&M vs. The Atlantic Coast Conference

Since the league was formed in 1953, W&M has gone 10-31

(.244) against opponents from the ACC, including a 49-38 setback at North Carolina in the 2004 season-opener. If games against current ACC members Virginia Tech, Florida State and Miami before they joined the league are taken into account, the Tribe's all-time record against current ACC teams is 17-60-1 (.224). Prior to the loss in Chapel Hill, the last ACC team W&M faced was N.C. State in 1999. The last ACC team the College defeated was state-rival Virginia, 41-37, in Charlottesville in 1986.

Did You Know?

The last time the College hosted an ACC opponent in Williamsburg was in 1980 when the Demon Deacons of Wake Forest paid a visit to Zable Stadium's friendly confines and laid a 27-7 defeat on the Tribe.

An Old Line State Homecoming

For several of the Tribe's student-athletes, the Sept. 2 opener in College Park will serve as a homecoming of sorts as they make the trip back to their home state. Players hailing from Maryland include staring all-conference running back Elijah Brooks (Largo), starting linebacker Josh Rutter (Union Bridge), all-conference linebacker Chris Ndubueze (Lanham), starting corner Richard Riley (Gaithersburg), offensive linemen Luke Hiteshew and Chris Ilardo (Baltimore) and defensive lineman Cortenous Herbert (Germantown) among others. Both Brooks and Ndubueze were all-league selections for coach Bill McGregor at DeMatha. On beginning his senior season in his home state, Brooks said, "I couldn't ask for anything else, but to go home and play in front of friends and family and be so close to my high school. It really is a dream come true."

Team NotesOpening Day 2006

On Saturday, William and Mary begins its 112th season of football, visiting Maryland in College Park. The College holds an all-time record of 509-491-41 (.509), ranking 18th in Division I-AA in total games. W&M's 509 all-time victories rank tied for 23rd with fellow A-10 member Massachusetts in I-AA history.

Since the first Tribe football season began in 1893, W&M is 57-51-3 (.527) in season-openers, including 11-15 under Laycock. But, when looking at Laycock's ledger in season-opening games, you must take into account the fact W&M has started a season against a Division I-A opponent 11 times under Laycock.

In fact, the Tribe has traveled to a Division I-A opponent to start each of the last four seasons. In Laycock's 26 seasons at the helm, W&M has opened the year at home only seven times, winning each time. The last time the Tribe opened the season at home was in 1997, when W&M crushed Hampton, 31-6.

Preseason All-American Cody Morris and the Tribe open at a Division I-A opponent for the fifth consecutive season at Maryland on Saturday.

A Win vs. Maryland Would ...

- Mark the Tribe's first win over a Division I-A team since defeating Temple, 45-38, in Philadelphia in 1998.
- Stand as the team's first win to start a season since 2001, when W&M recorded a 31-10 win at UMass. The team has won only five of its 13 season openers since 1993. In that span, the Tribe is 5-2 vs. I-AA competition and 0-6 vs. I-A teams
- Stand as the first win over an Atlantic Coast Conference opponent since 1986, when the Tribe defeated the University of Virginia, 41-37 in Charlottesville. Since that game, W&M has gone 0-9 vs. the ACC, with six of those losses coming in Charlottesville.
- Snap the Tribe's current four-game losing streak. The College has not lost five-straight games under Laycock since the 1998-1999 seasons, when the Tribe fell in the final two contests of '98, then dropped the first three games of the '99 schedule.

Tribe vs. Maryland on TV

Fans of William and Mary's football program will have the opportunity to see all the action of the season-opener by either watching the action live on ESPN360, or seeing the game on tape-delay on Comcast SportsNet.

ESPN360 is a video content player that can be found at ESPN360.com. The program only fully works through Internet service providers who have signed up and paid ESPN for the programming. Viewers from non-subscribing ISP's only can see a preview (roughly 3-5 minutes of taped content), although there are occasions where ESPN360 is "all access" and permits all individuals to access the site. These periods are advertised on the ESPN family of networks.

Talent for the ESPN360 broadcast will consist of Charlie Neal on play-by-play, while Bob Chmiel will provide the color commentary.

Comcast SportsNet will broadcast the game on a tape-delayed basis on its Baltimore/Washington based network, which will include the Virginia peninsula. The game will be shown in its entirety starting at 7:00 p.m. The familiar voice of the Washington Wizard's, Steve Buckhantz will handle the play-by-play, while Kevin Kiley provides the color commentary. Chick Hernandez will be the sideline reporter.

W&M Announces Ground Breaking Ceremony for Laycock Center

William and Mary Athletics Director Terry Driscoll announced that a special ground breaking ceremony for the state-of—the-art Jimmye Laycock Football Center is schedule to take place at 5:30 p.m. on Friday, September 15th on the future site of project.

The ceremony, which will take place on the northeastern corner of the team's Montgomery Family Practice Field, will be attended by President Gene R. Nichol, Athletics Director Terry Driscoll, head coach Jimmye Laycock and prominent alumni, including Walter J. Zable, a 1936 graduate of the College and the person whom the Tribe's football stadium is named after.

The Jimmye Laycock Football Center will be located at the northwest corner of the stadium on what is now the Tribe's football practice field at a cost of $11 million. The entire funding of the project will be provided by private gifts. (For more information on the Laycock Center see page 12).

The public is invited to attend the ceremony, which will take place on the eve of the team's home-opener with Maine.

Top-Notch Competition

With Saturday's opener at Maryland, the 2006 campaign will mark the ninth consecutive season W&M faces a Division I-A opponent, which is the longest current streak in the Atlantic 10. In the last 20 years, the Tribe has faced over 25 I-A opponents, including 21 from the current BCS conferences. The last W&M win over a I-A opponent was in 1998, when the Tribe downed Temple, 45-38. Here is a quick look at W&M's last 11 games against a I-A opponent:

Mike Cook leads the 1998 Tribe to a 45-38 victory at Division I-A Temple.

Take A Closer Look

The 2006 season stands at the fifth-straight season the College has opened the year on the road at a Division I-A opponent.

In the four previous goes at I-A schools, the Tribe's offense has averaged a very respectable 25.8 points a contest. The College's defense has had its hands full, though, allowing an average of 41.5 points over the four games.

In three of the previous four games vs. I-A opponents, the Tribe has either been in the lead, or tied, in the third quarter with the only exception being against Western Michigan in 2003. Last season at Marshall, the Tribe led the Herd, 24-23, late in the third quarter and were threatening to extend the lead before a miscue by W&M turned into a quick 70-yard scoop-and-score by Marshall. The Herd tacked another TD on in its next possession and pulled out the 36-24 win.

In 2004, behind Payton Award winning quarterback Lang Campbell, W&M led North Carolina, 31-28, entering the fourth quarter of the season-opener, before the Tar Heels used a deep bench and powerful offensive line to outscore the Tribe, 21-7, in the fourth quarter and post a 49-38 victory.

Atlantic 10 Football Conference vs. Division I-A

Besides producing three I-AA national champions and multiple playoff teams annually, one of the hallmarks of the A-10 is the conference membership's strong play against the upper echelon of college football. An A-10 team has defeated a Division I-A team in three of the last four seasons, and the conference will look to add to that figure as a league record-tying nine schools face I-A teams in 2006. In addition to the Tribe's battle at Maryland, four other A-10 teams will square off against I-A competition on the opening weekend of the season, including Rhode Island visiting Connecticut on Thursday night. In 2004, UNH knocked off Rutgers, 35-24, and Maine defeated Mississippi State, 9-7, in Starkville. Here is a list of the A-10 vs. Division I-A in 2006:

| Date     | Match-up   |
|----------|--|
| Aug. 31  | Rhode Island at Connecticut  |
| Sept. 2  | William and Mary at Maryland, Northeastern at Virginia Tech, Richmond at Duke, |
|          | Villanova at Central Florida   |
| Sept. 9  | Hofstra at Marshall, New Hampshire at Northwestern, Massachusetts at Navy      |
| Sept. 30 | Maine at Boston College  |

Two-Deep at a Glance

As the team moves into game week for the first time in 2006, the Tribe's two-deep starts to take shape for the coming season. A quick glance will show the most significant changes coming on the defensive side of the ball.

Starting in the summer, the Tribe's defensive unit lost a projected starter with departure of senior linebacker Ryan Nickell, who chose to forgo his redshirt senior season to pursue an opportunity in military flight school. The first significant injury of fall camp was to senior projected starting safety, Zach Stout, who sustained a knee injury during non-contact drills about a week and a half into practice. With his absence, senior team quad-captain Alan Wheeling made the switch from corner to free safety and has shown well in the new role. Wheeling's departure from the corner position opened the door for two promising true freshman to make an impact, as both Max Harris and David Caldwell will be part of the official travel party and will be expected to see game action.

There were far fewer changes on the offensive side of the ball, as the most significant loss in camp came at the reserve receiver position, where senior H-back John Taylor suffered a broken hand last Wednesday (August 23rd) and will be out of action this weekend. His status for the next contest, Sept. 16th vs. Maine has yet to be determined. In the meantime, talented redshirt freshman R.J. Archer moves into his role in the offense. Archer has continued to be impressive in practice after switching to receiver from quarterback during the spring.

Team Offensive Notes

Quick Slant

The College returns all 4,158 yards of total offense (rushing and passing yards) and 38 of 41 touchdowns it racked up in 2005, as eight starters return from the unit. The following are some quick offensive notes on the 2005 team:

- Averaged 32.5 points and 378 yards per contest.
- The unit scored points of some variety in 38 of the 47 total quarters on the season, including three OT periods.
- Had five games of 40 or more points, which is tied its for the third most in school history.
- By scoring 358 total points, became just the fourth team in school history to break the 350 point barrier in an 11-game regular season.
- Converted 42 of 49 red zone scoring opportunities into points (34 TDs, 8 FGs).

Did You Know?

William and Mary was the least penalized team in the A-10 last season, as the squad had just 39 total penalties for an average of just 30.8 yds/game. The Tribe has been the least penalized team in the conference six times in the last seven years, with the lone exception being the 2002 season, when it finished third with an average of just over 50 yds/contest.

Long Time Coming

The Tribe's first field goal or extra point of 2006 will be a milestone of sorts, as it will mark the first time someone other than the graduated Greg Kuehn has attempted a placement kick for the College in four years. Kuehn, a four-time all-conference selection, handled all place-kicking duties, including kickoffs, since first stepping on the field as a redshirt freshman for the first game of the 2002 season.

Kuehn graduated as the school's all-time leader in total points (343), field goals (59) and extra points (166). He graduated as the Atlantic 10's all-time career leader in field goals and his 343 total points ranks third all-time amongst all I-AA kickers.

Individual Offensive Notes

Brooks Back For More

Quad-captain and starting tailback Elijah Brooks is a returning all-conference performer looking to post a strong follow-up to his break-out junior season, which saw him post 1,080 yards of total offense, including a team-high 944 yards rushing.

He comes into the season needing just 567 yards to break into the College's top-10 rushing list, as he has accumulated 1,605 yards in 25 career games with the Tribe, an average of 64.2 yards per game. Brooks' total of five career 100-yard rushing contests with the College ties him for eighth place in the school's record books, just three shy of passing Michael Clemons for seventh.

Brooks transferred to William and Mary after playing his redshirt freshman season at Kent State, where he was the Golden Flashes' second leading rusher with 409 yards in his lone season. All totaled, Brooks has accumulated 2,014 total rushing yards as a collegiate back.

Coming into this season, Brooks has proved to be extremely durable, as Saturday's action will mark the 38th consecutive game he's seen action in between the two schools, including 25-straight for the College.

The Largo, Md. native led all Tribe position players with 66 points last season, which included nine rushing touchdowns and a pair of scoring catches.

Did You Know?

Brooks recorded his career-best rushing performance last season in the College's opener at Marshall, when he wore down the Herd's defense for 149 yards on 28 punishing carries. He also added 27 receiving yards on three catches, including a 19-yard TD reception.

In his only other venture against I-A competition with the College, Brooks turned in a solid 45-yard effort on nine carries at the University of North Carolina in 2004. For his W&M career, Brooks is averaging better than five yards per carry vs. I-A opponents, rushing for 194 yards on 36 carries, an average of 5.4 yards an attempt.

Center of Attention

As a two-time all-conference selection for the Tribe, senior quad-captain Cody Morris has garnered his share of attention in his three seasons as a starter along the offensive front. Despite entering the year as a preseason Second-Team Sports Network All-American and All-Atlantic 10 selection, Morris might be facing his most challenging collegiate season. The 6-4, 285-pound native of Jeansville, Pa. moved from guard to center this spring and will be counted on to act as the anchor of an inexperienced Tribe offensive interior. The two-deep on either side of Morris shows less than six games of playing experience between the four likely candidates at guard.

Matt Trinkle earned all-conference honors last season after recording 21 catches for 148 yards and a TD.

A very technically sound player, Morris' vast game experience is going to be crucial in the early season, as the staff settles the talent at guard into the collegiate game.

Beginning of the End

Senior tight end Matt Trinkle enters his senior season poised to prove he is one of the top tight ends in the A-10. Standing at 6-5, the 260-pound target meshes his outstanding size with terrific athleticism and outstanding hands. He is looking to improve on what was an all-conference performance a season ago, where he earned second team honors by recording 21 catches for 148 yards and a touchdown. For the past three seasons, Trinkle has split time with another quality TE, Adam Bratton who was also a second team selection in '06. With Bratton departed, and the Tribe quarterbacks a year more experienced in the offense, the potential for a breakout season is in place.

Trinkle will carry 31 career games of experience to the field vs. Maryland. He has brought in 44 career receptions for a total of 393 yards and five scores.

Scintillating Sophomore Season In-Store?

After an offseason that saw him gain more than 20-positive pounds, sophomore quarterback Jake Phillips comes into the 2006 season looking to establish himself as one the league's elite signal callers. He started the last five games of 2005 and will look to build on the experience he gained last season.

In 10 games of action, Phillips established a W&M freshman quarterback record for rushing touchdowns (8) and finished the season ranked among the A-10's top 10 in passing average (156.4/10th), total offense (174.7/10th) and passing efficiency (145.8/4th). He passed for 1,564 yards and 12 touchdowns, which were just six shy of David Corley's freshman record set in 1999. He has accounted for at least one score in each of the last nine games he has participated, as the only game he didn't register a score in the season opener at Marshall.

Also a threat with his feet, Phillips gained 279 yards rushing over 71 attempts, finishing as the team's third-leading rusher with a net of 183 yards.

His year was highlighted when he crafted an improbable comeback at Northeastern, a game he didn't start, where he played a major role in bringing the team back from 21-point fourth quarter deficit to an amazing 44-41 double OT win. That afternoon, he threw four TD passes and ran for the deciding score in just over a quarter of playing time

But, there were also the usual growing pains associated with being a first-time starter, as he was at the helm for each of the team's four losses to end the season. This difficult finish, and his natural work ethic, powered what was a very productive offseason, where he has spent countless hours in the weight room and reviewing game footage. He has improved his size and strength, starting last season at around 195 pounds and now hovering around 220.

Twin Threat

With all the returning talent at the offensive skills positions, perhaps the brightest spot of the spring and fall camps have come in the form of two sophomore receivers with speed to burn, in Elliott Mack and D.J. McAulay. Mack stayed in Williamsburg over the summer and made significant improvements to his already athletic frame with time in the weight room. This spring, he made a handful of acrobatic grabs look routine and advanced his knowledge of the W&M attack. Last year, with limited playing time, he proved to be one of the team's most dangerous deep threats, ending the season with 21 catches for 371 yards and four touchdowns.

McAulay brings outstanding speed (10.5 100-meter clocking in high school) and a year of playing experience to the mix. This spring, he turned in several dazzling plays and showed a marked improvement in his route running and improved his general knowledge of the playbook. Look for the staff to have him more involved in all facets of the game this season.

Steady Hands

Junior receiver Joe Nicholas returns as the team's leader in receptions (52) receiving yards (731) and receiving touchdowns (5) from a season ago. This effort came on the heels of an outstanding freshman campaign that saw him contribute big play after big play down the final stretch of the season and into the playoffs.

After spending his entire freshman season almost exclusively wide, injuries and youth moved him into the slot position more often during the '05 season. This trend will continue, at least in the short term for 2006,

He enters 2006 on pace to shatter the school's career record for receptions (223) and is just three touchdown receptions shy of cracking the W&M career top 10. Nicholas also sits just 23 grabs short of entering the school's top 10 for catches and his 1,530 career receiving yards total is just 466 yards from placing him in the College's career top 10.

Air Traffic Control

One of the strong suits of the 2005 defense was its ability to cause turnovers, particularly when opponents went to the air. W&M recorded 19 interceptions in 2005, matching the sixth-best season total dating back to 1948. The Tribe's total of 19 picks was also the best mark since 1996, when the College had 22 interceptions. Eleven different defenders recorded an interception last season, and seven of the 11 are returning in 2006, including sophomore free safety Kevin Allen who led the returning group with two.

W&M last had 10 different players with an interception in 1990, and on only four other occasions, the Tribe has had at least eight different defenders with a pick. In fact, even in 1996, when W&M matched the second-best interception total in school history with 22, only seven different Tribe defenders recorded interceptions with Darren Sharper leading the way (10).

Looking into the numbers a little further, W&M tallied a pick in nine of its 11 games last season, and the Tribe registered three interceptions in a game on three different occasions (URI, VU, JMU). The Tribe's three picks at Villanova on Oct. 29 brought its 2005 season total to 14, which at the time eclipsed the entire 2004 total of 12.

W&M's 19 interceptions last fall ranked second in the Atlantic 10 and tied for fifth nationally in I-AA. New Hampshire led the A-10 and the nation with 24 picks in 2005.

The school record for interceptions in a season is 25, set in 1972. Here is a list of the top-10 interception totals in school history, again dating back to 1948:

Trevor McLaurin registered one of the Tribe's four defensive touchdowns in '05, returning an interception 14 yards for a score at Villanova.

Elliott Mack turned in a solid rookie season, catching 21 passes for 371 yards and four touchdowns.

Going The Other Way

Perhaps more significant than the total number of interceptions last season, was the fact that, more often than not, Tribe defenders were quick to turn those picks around, amassing 347 returns yards and four touchdowns (see next note) on the season. Departed linebacker Ryan Nickell led the defense in interception return yards with an even 100, including a 72-yarder for a touchdown against Towson.

The Tribe's interception return total was the third-best mark in school history dating back to 1948, and it's the second-best mark under Laycock, following 356 in 2003. The school record for interception return yards is 437 in 1948.

Here is a breakdown of the College's top season interception return totals, again dating back to 1948:

| Rk. | INT Yards (# INTs) | Year |
|-----|--------------------|------|
| 1.  | 437 (23)           | 1948 |
| 2.  | 356 (18)           | 2003 |

Josh Rutter led W&M and all A-10 rookies in 2005 with 109 total tackles.

Point Producers

Another trait of the 2005 defense Laycock and the Tribe faithful would love to see carry over was the unit's ability to produce points of its own. W&M scored four defensive touchdowns, all on interception returns, in 2005, the highest season total under Laycock.

Two of the scores came at Villanova, as returning linebacker Trevor McLaurin returned a pick 14 yards for a TD, before departed free safety James Miller added an 80-yard scoring return. The Tribe's two defensive touchdowns at Villanova marked just the second time in Laycock's 26-year tenure that W&M scored two defensive touchdowns in a game. The last time the Tribe scored twice on defense was on Sept. 3, 1994, in a 38-17 win at Rhode Island, when Stefon Moody returned a fumble two yards for a touchdown and Darren Sharper had a 34-yard interception return for a score.

In fact, the Villanova game also marked just the third time under Laycock that W&M was involved in a game that featured two defensive touchdowns, with the only other occurrence coming in a 26-21 loss to JMU on Oct. 12, 1996, when Sharper returned an interception 88 yards for a touchdown, before JMU's Tony Jordan returned the favor in the third quarter with a 94-yard interception return for a score.

The last time W&M scored three defensive touchdowns in a season was 2003, when Travis McLaurin and Adam O'Connor each scored on fumble recoveries and Miller scored on an interception return. In 1994, the Tribe also scored three defensive touchdowns, which included Moody's and Sharper's touchdowns at URI, and another Sharper interception return for a touchdown at Villanova on Oct. 29.

The NCAA I-AA record for interception returns for touchdowns in a season is seven, held by the 1985 Jackson State team and the 1996 Northeastern squad.

Historically Speaking

With 27 total turnovers gained on the season, W&M reached the 20-turnovers forced mark for the first time since 2002, when the Tribe gained 26 take-aways on 15 interceptions and 11 fumble recoveries. Under Laycock, W&M has failed to record at least 20 caused turnovers in a season only four times [2004 (19), 2003 (18), 2000 (18), 1992 (19)].

Block Party

W&M was also proficient in blocking punts in 2005, finishing the campaign with three. Prior to 2005, the most punts W&M had blocked under Laycock was two, accomplished in both 1984 and 1985. Sophomore defensive back Derek Cox recorded one of the Tribe's blocked punts last season.

Individual Defensive Notes

Are You Experienced?

While the defense loses two starters on the line and three in the secondary, second-year defensive coordinator Matt McLeod returns as many as four linebackers with starting experience, including two former all-conference backers who did not play in 2005.

The returning starter, based on the final 2005 depth chart, is sophomore Josh Rutter (109 TT), while junior T.J. O'Neill (48 TT) also started four games in the middle in 2005.

Also in the mix this fall will be senior Chris Ndubueze, a Third Team All-A10 selection in 2004, and senior Travis McLaurin, a third team all-conference pick in 2003. Ndubueze missed the entire 2005 season for personal reasons,

Secondary Concern

The area hardest hit by graduation, possibly over the entire squad, is in the secondary, where the Tribe lost three of its four starters from the final 2005 depth chart, including all-conference corner Stephen Cason and safeties James Miller and Jon Shaw. In the trio, W&M lost three of the top five tacklers from last season, a combined 221 total tackles, roughly 24% of the team's entire 2005 total. Additionally, the three defensive backs were responsible for nine of the team's 19 interceptions and three of the squad's eight fumble recoveries, with Shaw recording all three.

But, its not as if McLeod is breaking in a totally inexperienced secondary this fall, as a pair of veteran senior defensive backs return in Richard Riley and Alan Wheeling, complimenting promising sophomore corner Derek Cox, who started the final two games of 2005. Riley and Wheeling have combined to start 39 games over the past three seasons, and the pair has over 200 total tackles and three interceptions between them. Cox turned in a solid rookie season last fall, recording 19 total tackles and his first interception in the loss to JMU.

On the topic of solid rookie seasons, sophomore Kevin Allen had a nice debut for the Tribe last fall, as the free safety finished with 12 total tackles and a pair of interceptions, including one in the season-opener at Marshall.

Encore In-store?

Sophomore Josh Rutter returns in 2006 after a dynamite debut, and if the Union Bridge, Md.-product's sophomore season is anything like his rookie campaign, Rutter is well on his way to all-conference status.

In 2005, as a redshirt freshman, Rutter led the Tribe and all Atlantic 10 rookies with 109 total tackles, which included 6.5 TFL and five double-digit tackle games.

Rutter became the first Tribe freshman under Laycock to lead the team in tackles and the first underclassman to do so since Chris Stahl led W&M (94) as a sophomore in 1999. In fact, the only other first-year player to ever lead the Tribe in tackles, under Laycock, was Mark Hughes (134), who led W&M as walk-on sophomore in 1989. Rutter could become just the third defender, and first since Adrian Rich (1991-92), to lead the Tribe in tackles in back-to-back seasons.

Rutter's season-high of 16 came in the opener at Marshall, and the rookie also had 14 against Delaware later in the year. In the season finale at UR, Rutter recorded his first interception.

Rutter led the team in tackles over the first four games of the season and was the first Tribe defender, of any class, to lead the squad in tackles in four consecutive games since Martin Magerko ('01) did it over the first four games of 2001 against UMass (13), VMI (11), ECU (11) and UNH (15).

Walking the Line

A look down the Tribe's projected defensive front reveals just two returning starters, but perhaps the more concerning issue is that those two players, senior Brian Williamson and Josh Wright, are the only two on the preseason depth chart on the line with game experience. But, the two are proven veteran leaders, who will certainly be counted on to bring the young unit around in 2006.

Williamson has been a mainstay in the middle of the Tribe's defense since his true freshman season of 2003, recording 75 total tackles, including 2.5 sacks, over the past three seasons. He made eight starts in 2005 and tallied a career-high 33 tackles, including 11 solo stops.

Wright is one of the defense's most intense and explosive players looking to make an even bigger impact this fall after a standout offseason in the weight room. A two-year starter, Wright was second among the team's defensive linemen last season with a career-high 44 total tackles, which included five stops for loss. In 2004, Wright started 13 of the Tribe's 14 contests and finished with 8.5 tackles for loss, including a pair of solo sacks.

Precision Punting

A pleasant surprise for the coaching staff in 2005 was the emergence of punter Blair Pritchard, who earned the starting job and went on rank third in the Atlantic 10 in punting average (39.4). Pritchard, who will compete for the starting place-kicking duties after the graduation of All-American Greg Kuehn, was named the coaching staff's special teams player of the week on three occasions and was the main reason W&M finishing second in the A10 in net punting (35.8).

Pritchard booted a season-long 64-yarder in the win over top-ranked UNH and also downed three punts inside the Wildcats' 20-yard line. He punted eight times for 311 yards, both career-highs, in the season finale at Richmond and finished the season with 13 punts downed inside the opponent's 20.

Head Coach Jimmye Laycock

William and Mary Head Coach Jimmye Laycock

27th Season Career Record: 175-119-2 (.596)

• Jimmye Laycock enters his 27th season as the Tribe's head coach in 2006. The school's all-time winningest coach, Laycock has compiled a 175-119-2 career record at W&M.

- Among active Division I and I-AA head coaches, Laycock's 175 victories are tied for eighth in the nation. Among only active I-AA head coaches, Laycock's total is third.
- Laycock ranks fourth on the all-time A-10 career victories list with 68. Among active coaches, Laycock trails only Villanova's Andy Talley (83). However, Laycock's career A-10 winning percentage of .642 is tops among active coaches who have been at their respective schools for five or more seasons.
- In 2004, W&M won a school-record 11 games and made its ninth postseason appearance under Laycock, advancing to the NCAA semifinals for the first time in school history and finishing with a school-record No. 3 final national ranking.
- The Tribe has posted winning ledgers in 18 of the past 23 seasons under Laycock.
- The College has posted 23 consecutive seasons with five, or more, wins. While five wins may not sound all that impressive, consider that in just the last 12 years (since 1993), every current member of the Atlantic 10 has experienced at least one season of four or less wins.
- Laycock has guided the Tribe to a total of 51 career 40-plus point outings in his 296 games as the College's head coach, a number that represents more than 15 percent of his total games. By comparison, the College had seen only 12 total 40-plus point outings in the 30 seasons prior to Laycock taking the reigns of the program in 1980.
- Since joining the Atlantic 10 Football conference in 1993, a William and Mary quarterback has earned all-conference honors in nine of the 13 seasons, including seven-straight campaigns from 1998 to 2004. Going hand-in-hand with the postseason honors is the fact that in seven of the 13 seasons in league play, a Tribe QB has turned in the conference's top QB efficiency rating.
- The College has earned 128 total all-conference citations under Laycock.
- The Tribe has posted a 97-35-1 record (.733) at Zable Stadium under Laycock, which includes seven undefeated seasons in Williamsburg. In Laycock's 26 seasons, the College has failed to post a .500 or better record at home just twice (1980, 1999).
- Since joining the A-10 in 1993, W&M has gone 98-50 (.662) against I-AA opponents.
- During Laycock's 26-year tenure, 20 Tribe players have gone on to sign with NFL teams, including three-time Pro Bowl selection Darren Sharper (pictured below with Laycock).
- Laycock has mentored 30 student-athletes to All-America honors at the College, including a career-high four in 2004 that earned either Sports Network or Associated Press All-America citations (Lang Campbell, Dominique Thompson, Greg Kuehn, Adam O'Connor). Campbell was a consensus First Team All-American (AFCA, Walter Camp, AP, Sports Network) and was also the winner of the 2004 Walter Payton Award.

Making An Impact: Facility Upgrades

The Jimmye Laycock Football Center

The Athletics Department put a fitting exclamation point on what was head coach Jimmye Laycock's 25th season in 2004, announcing plans for a 30,000-square foot football complex that will bear the longtime mentor's name.

The Jimmye Laycock Football Complex will be located at the northwest corner of the stadium on what is the Tribe's football practice field at a cost of $11 million. In what could be the most exciting aspect of all, the entire funding of the project will be provided by private gifts.

The complex will provide a new home for team and coaches lockers, an athletic training room, an equipment storage area, coaches offices, conference rooms, and administrative support areas — as well as an entrance that will include a Tribe Football Hall of Fame space. The project is scheduled to be finished in the fall of 2007.

The two-story football complex was designed by Moseley Architects out of Virginia Beach and HOK Sport, an internationally renowned architectural firm based in Kansas City, Mo., whose clients include sports venues at nearly every level, including Oriole Park at Camden Yards.

Officials worked closely with the building designers to ensure the complex complements the architecture of Zable Stadium and conforms to the campus design guidelines.

FieldTurf Installation at Zable Stadium

During the spring, the W&M Athletics Department announced plans for the conversion of the natural grass playing surface in Zable Stadium to a state of the art, synthetic playing surface for the 2006 football season.

In July, the installation of the new playing surface, FieldTurf Pro, was completed, giving the Tribe one of the nation's finest playing fields. The installation, at an estimated total cost of $840,000, was performed by Ballard Sports out of Cary, N.C.

FieldTurf features a non-abrasive fiber surface that resembles natural grass blades. Its blend of specially treated Polyethylene fibers prevents abrasions, or "rug burn". Unlike traditional synthetic turf, which relied on an underlying shock pad for player comfort and safety, FieldTurf grass fibers are surrounded and stabilized by a special blend of "synthetic earth" - a mixture of smooth, rounded silica sand and rubber granules. The sand and rubber are precision layered and provide a stable, resilient, uniform, shock-absorbing surface.

The Tribe's playing field is the same surface used by 24 NFL teams, including the Detroit Lions, host of Super Bowl XL in 2006. It is a football-dedicated surface and only has markings specific to the sport.

KEEP THE DATE

William and Mary Athletics Director Terry Driscoll announced that a special groundbreaking ceremony for the state-of-the-art Jimmye Laycock Football Center is schedule to take place at 5:30 p.m. on Friday afternoon, September 15th on the future site of project.

The ceremony, which will take place on the northeastern corner of the team's Montgomery Family Practice Field, will be attended by the College's President, Gene Nichol, W&M Athletics Director Terry Driscoll, Head Coach Jimmye Laycock and prominent alumni, including Walter J. Zable.

In the Spotlight

Elijah Brooks, Senior, Running Back

Hometown: Largo, MD

High School: DeMatha Catholic High School

What was the best thing about attending DeMatha?: The lasting bonds I formed with my classmates.

How many of your classmates are Division I Athletes?: Well, Quinn Ojinnaka is an offensive tackle for the Atlanta Falcons. Then there are a couple of players with Maryland like Josh Wilson, one at UMass, one at LSU, another a Connecticut ... Really, we're all over the place.

You also played basketball at DeMatha for legendary head coach Morgan Wooten. What did you get from that experience?: Playing for Coach Wooten was probably one of the best experiences I had in high school. We played the best teams in the country and every day in practice was like getting a lesson. You never really understood his impact until you were done playing.

Do you see any similarities between Coach Wooten and Coach Laycock?: Yes. There are both coaches with a quiet demeanor that gets their point across to you in a few words. But those words have a great impact. They do a great job of getting the most out of their players.

You started your athletics career at Kent State, what precipitated the move to Williamsburg?: I came out of a program at DeMatha that was always competing for championships. It was rough at Kent State because we weren't as successful as I would have liked. I felt the move to William and Mary put me in position to be in a program, closer to home, that gave me the chance to compete for titles every season and get a first-rate education, as well.

What was your biggest adjustment in coming to W&M?: Definitely the demanding schedule, both academically and athletically.

Do you feel this challenge is preparing you for your life after graduation?: Definitely. To compete at a high-level on the field and in the classroom is a great foundation for whatever I am going to be moving onto in life. It has been a blessing to be a part of this program. Similar to DeMatha, I've created a life-time connection with a lot of people and I will have a vast network of contacts to rely on as I move into the real world.

What are your post-graduation plans?: Going to grad school for physical therapy. If I can't go on an play professional sports, I would like to stay around athletes.

What is the most interesting class you've had at W&M?: Anatomy. We worked on cadavers. It was a hands-on experience that I will never forget.

What was the hardest class you've had?: Italian. I still have nightmares about it to this day.

What is the best thing about being an athlete at W&M?: I feel like I am part of a community. Everyone cares about each other and its is a close-knit environment.

Among the running backs, who has the best organized locker?: Matt Nickerson. He is definitely the most organized.

Among the running backs, who is the best dressed?: Delmus Coley. Hands down, no questions.

What is the best summer job you've ever had?: Being a hotdog vendor at Six Flags amusement park in Ohio.

What was the worst summer job?: Landscaping with my father. There were many hot days and no set hours, we could be out there all day if he wanted. That job definitely taught me that I wanted to get a good education and get a job in an office.

What is your best, non-athletic related skill?: Public speaking. I've always done well in public speaking.

What was the last movie you've seen?: Miami Vice.

What is your favorite TV show?: 24. I love Jack Bauer.

What is one thing about you that most people wouldn't know?: I really big fan of Mel Gibson. I especially love Braveheart.

Hunthyton, WV - Joan C. Lilwards Staffun - Sant 1, 2005

HUNTINGTON, WV (9/1/05) -- Tribe junior tailback Elijah Brooks rushed for a career-high 149 yards, but Marshall used a game-breaking 70-yard fumble return for a touchdown late in the third quarter to rally for a 36-24 victory over W&M at Edwards Stadium.

The Tribe led 24-23 after a pair of touchdown tosses from sophomore quarterback Mike Potts, who made his firstcareer start, in the third period and was on the move again deep in MU territory, when Herd linebacker Matt Coach picked up a Potts fumble and raced 70 yards for a touchdown.

RICHMOND (11/19/05) -- Richmond quarterback Stacy Tutt rushed for three touchdowns to lead the 17th-ranked Spiders to a 41-7 victory over William and Mary at UR Stadium.

With the victory, UR captured a share of the A10 Championship and finished the regular season on a seven-game winning streak, while W&M dropped its fourth consecutive game, matching the College's longest losing streak since 2003, and finished with its first losing season since 2000.

In the 115th meeting between the schools, Richmond snapped a four-game losing streak in the series and posted its most decisive win over the Tribe since a 31-0 victory in 1973.

Tutt and the Spiders wasted little time in taking control of the game, as Richmond held a 10-0 lead before the Tribe offense had its first possession, and the Spiders controlled the ball for 12:05 of the opening quarter, taking a 17-0 lead on Tim Hightower's 32-yard run.

It didn't get any better from there, as Richmond held Derek Cox recorded six tackles the Tribe to 20 total offensive yards in the first half, including at Richmond in his first-career a net rushing total of minus-13 yards, and no first downs to start. build a commanding 34-0 halftime lead.

W&M managed its only points of the game on the opening drive of the second half, as redshirt freshman Jake Phillips hooked up with classmate Elliott Mack on a 15-yard scoring pass with 9:04 remaining in the third.

Phillips finished 9-for-19 for 78 yards but was intercepted twice in the second half, as Richmond held the Tribe scoreless the rest of the afternoon.

W&M redshirt freshman Josh Rutter and senior Jon Shaw each had interceptions for the Tribe.
