FIRST AND 10

The "Oldest Rivalry in the South" is renewed on Saturday afternoon, as William and Mary makes the short trip up Interstate 64 to the University of Richmond Stadium to face the 17th-ranked Spiders at 1 p.m. Saturday's game will mark the 115th meeting in the series that dates back to 1898, the fourth-oldest rivalry in Division I-AA. W&M has come away victorious in its last three visits to UR Stadium, and the Tribe has won seven of the last eight meetings in the capital city. The College is coming off a 22-21 setback to Delaware last weekend, W&M's third consecutive loss overall and second-straight by a single point. Redshirt freshman quarterback Jake Phillips established career-highs for completions (24), attempts (34) and yards passing (289) and added a pair of 1-yard rushing scores, his seventh and eighth of the year, in the loss. Richmond is one of the Atlantic 10's hottest teams, as the Spiders have reeled off six consecutive victories to improve to 7-3 overall. UR has also won its last six A10 games, after dropping its season-opener to UMass back on Sept. 1. UR has already clinched the league's Southern Division title, and the Spiders can claim at least a share of the A10 Championship with a victory Saturday. Spiders' quarterback Stacy Tutt is the reigning A10 Offensive Player of the Week, after the senior passed for a pair of scores and rushed for two touchdowns in UR's 48-14 pounding of Towson on Saturday.

TRIBE HEAD COACH JIMMYE LAYCOCK

The following few quotes were taken from Laycock during Monday's Atlantic 10 football coaches conference call. For the complete transcript, log on to www.TribeAthletics.com.

Comments on the 22-21 loss to Delaware on Saturday.

It came down to the end. It was a close one like all of our games against Delaware have been. They played hard. They hung in there and kept coming back. I don't think we took advantage of some scoring opportunities we could have had in the second half. They stayed with it and made plays down the stretch, and we did not.

Was there any hangover from the [30-29 loss to James Madison on Nov. 5]?

I don't think so. I think it was another tough game. Some parts of the game, we played very well, and other parts, we were not as good. I think our players practiced well during the week. We played alright, but we did not come up with a few plays here and there. It was a fine line. When you compete in this league, you better be cranking on all cylinders or you are taking a chance, and we were not clicking on all of them on Saturday.

Comments on Senior All-American place-kicker Greg Kuehn's three missed FGs.

I think that is one factor in the loss, but there were other things. I do not want to pin the whole loss on the fact that Greg missed some field goals. It is very uncharacteristic of him, obviously, missing three field goals, but it happens. There were a lot of other things we could have done to pull out a win. We just have to play a little bit better.

Is there any common denominator between the close games that you have lost this season, and why you have not lost them in the past?

I think it is a matter of making a play. That's all it comes down to, picking up one more first down here, and preventing another one there. That is usually what it comes down to. I have not analyzed it that closely, but one play, for or against you, can sometimes be the difference.

Does that make it easier, or more difficult, of a loss when there are only one or two plays determining a game?

I don't think there is anything easy about taking a loss. I guess it makes it more difficult, because when it is a real close game like the ones we have had, it is obvious to point out a play that would have easily changed the outcome. Once you start doing that, you drive yourself crazy. You better get back to work and focus on the next game, and we have to focus on a very good team this week in Richmond.

Comments on the team morale after losing two straight game by one point.

We did not get with the players yesterday, only the coaches met. The coaches are all professionals and understand the need to keep working hard. We evaluate what we did, and we look at the mistakes that were made. As we talk as a staff, it is not just the players we evaluate, it's coaches too. We have to do a better job coaching them and designing ways to help them improve.

Comments on this week's match-up with 17th-ranked Richmond.

I think Richmond is a very good football team. They play very hard. They are making plays on both sides of the ball. I think it is going to be a challenge for us to play with them. They are having a heck of a year, and are doing a good job.

Comments on UR's improvement from last season [3-8 in 2004].

They have good coaches and good players, and they are playing well. They are making plays. I am not surprised at all. I expected them to play well, and they have done a nice job.

In your consideration of scheduling Division I-A games, do you ever consider the effect they could have on your playoff situation?

Yes, but I also think about the experience it provides the student-athlete. [The experience] really overshadows it. I think it is an opportunity to play on the highest level, and I think that is something that our players have always looked forward to and realize that challenge. You still have the opportunity to make the playoffs, you still have opportunities to win other games, and you still have other ways to get into the playoffs. So, I do not look at it as something like that [hurts our playoff chances]. I look at the big picture. When our players come back 10 to 15 years later, they are going to be talking about the North Carolina game, the Virginia game, or the East Carolina game. Those are the things they are going to remember.

You have been involved in the Richmond rivalry [115th meeting] for a long time. What are your thoughts about the rivalry, and is there a game, or two, or a moment that sticks out in your mind?

There are a lot that stick out. It is something that I think is very good to have in college football, a big rivalry game at the end of the season. It is always something that you can point to and another reason to play hard at the end of the year, whether you are having a great season like Richmond, or you are having a struggle like we are. It is always something that the players can point to, and something that alumni and fans can point to. I think that is the great thing about college football, having the natural rivalry game at the end of the year.

What makes this such a good rivalry?

A lot of things. Obviously, we have been playing for a long time and we are so close. I think we are a very similar type of program and a very similar type of school. All of those factors go into it.

WILLIAM AND MARY GAME NOTES

Game 11 - vs. Richmond - Nov. 19, 2005

TEAM NOTES

For Old Times' Sake: Saturday's game between William and Mary and Richmond will mark the 115th meeting between the two schools in the "Oldest Rivalry in the South." The Tribe leads the all-time series 59-50-5. The teams first met in 1898, when Richmond shut out W&M, 15-0. W&M took last year's meeting, 38-14, in Williamsburg. The Tribe's last visit to Richmond, saw the College end its 2003 season with a 59-21 win, marking the most lop-sided victory in the series history, since the Tribe's 49-7 victory in 1991.

Storied Rivalry: Only three other Division I-AA series have a longer history than that of William and Mary vs. Richmond. In fact, the Tribe and Spiders have met just as many times as the longest I-A series, Minnesota vs. Wisconsin. Saturday's game will be the 115th meeting between the schools.

Here is a look at the longest series in Division I:

Rivalry	Games	First Met
Lafayette-Lehigh	139	1884
Yale-Princeton	126	1873
Yale-Harvard	120	1875
W&M-Richmond	115	1898
*Minnesota-Wisconsin	114	1890
*I-A teams

Fan Appreciation: By drawing 8,709 fans for Delaware this past Saturday, William and Mary ended the season averaging 9,162 fans over its five game home schedule. This figure is the top mark for the team since the 1997 saw the Tribe draw an average of 9,306 over five games. Included in the 2005 total was a near sellout of the season-home opener vs. Liberty (11,741) and a standing room only crowd of 12,287 for James Madison.

Razor's Edge: The Tribe has fallen in consecutive weeks by a single point (30-29 vs. James Madison; 22-21 vs. Delaware). The Tribe had lost a total of three one-point games in head coach Jimmie Laycock's previous 25 seasons at the helm of the program, with the last one coming in the 1991 season prior to this year. Overall, Laycock is 3-5 in games decided by a point.

A Win Over Richmond Would ...

- Secure the College's 19th winning season in the last 23 years.
- Stand as the 13th-straight year the Tribe has won at least four conference games and finished with no worse than a .500 league mark. Every other current A10 team has suffered at least one losing conference season since the Tribe joined the league in 1993.
- Extend the Tribe's winning streak at UR Stadium to four games. The Tribe's last loss in Richmond came in 1998, when the Spiders laid a decisive 42-17 loss on the College. That win broke what had been a nine game William and Mary winning streak in the series. Since that win, Richmond has won two of the last five games vs. the College (both wins have come in Williamsburg; 2000 and 2002).
- Count as Tribe Head Coach Jimmie Laycock's 20th win over the Spiders in 26 total contests. His 19 total wins over Richmond are the most he has recorded against any league opponent. The only program Laycock has authored more wins against is Virginia Military Institute (23).

Junior RB Elijah Brooks needs 88 yards rushing this weekend at Richmond to reach the 1,000-yard mark. He ranks fourth in the A10, averaging 91.2 yards per game.

Some History: Since the two teams started meeting as conference opponents in 1993, the Tribe holds a solid 9-3 overall record vs. Richmond. William and Mary has won five of the six conference games played at UR Stadium. In the 12 total games the two have played as A10 foes, the College has never scored less than 10 points, while scoring more than 21 on eight occasions. Conversely, the Spiders have failed to score 21 points eight times, and have been held to less than 10 in two contests.

This Saturday will be the fourth time in the previous 13 games vs. the College that Richmond has carried a national ranking into the contest (compared to seven times for W&M). The Spiders are 2-1 in those games, having won the past two. Richmond has capped both of its previous two playoff seasons with wins over the Tribe (1998 and 2000).

Swing Game: Richmond has had three opportunities in the last seven years (1999, 2000 and 2003) to relegate the Tribe to a losing season. William and Mary avoided the losing ledger on two of the three occasions (1999 and 2003).

Unusual: The Tribe is currently in the midst of a very uncharacteristic three-game losing skid. The Tribe has seen only two such streaks in the previous 12 seasons (1999 and 2003). While the Tribe did suffer through four consecutive losses in the 2003 season, one has to go back to 1982 to find the next W&M team which had lost four-straight.

The last time the College lost four-straight to end a season was 26 years ago, in Laycock's first year at the helm (1980).

Uncharacteristic: The Tribe's difficult 22-21 loss vs. Delaware last Saturday featured some unusual miscues by the College.

The team had a season-high six penalties, allowed a season-high tying five sacks (including the first safety since 2003) and failed to gain a turnover of any variety for the first time in 10 games. Also, the team came away empty of two of its final three red zone opportunities after having entered the game converting 38 of its previous 42 ventures inside the opponent's 20-yard line into points of some variety (92%).

Milestone: The win over Towson stood as the 175th in Laycock's 26-year career at the top of the program.

In his 293 career games, Laycock currently sports a 175-117-2 record, making him the winningest coach in school history.

The College has now posted 23 consecutive seasons with five, or more, wins. While five wins may not sound all that impressive, consider that in just the last 12 years (since 1993), every current member of the Atlantic 10 has experienced at least one season of four or less wins.

A Winner: William and Mary Head Coach Jimmye Laycock enters this Saturday's contest as the A10's active career leader in conference winning percentage, sporting a mark of .648 (68-37). Delaware's K.C. Keeler is second, as he has fashioned a .636 winning clip (21-12) in his four seasons at the helm of the Blue Hen program.

Sel fish: Despite being one season removed from setting the NCAA's 11-game single season record for fewest turnovers (7), the Tribe has actually improved its turnover margin from a season ago. The biggest factor for this has been a defense that is among the league's finest in forcing turnovers. Coming off a four turnover effort vs. James Madison, the team's 24 forced miscues already surpassed the team's 14-game total of 19 from a year ago. By allowing 16 turnovers, the Tribe is second in the conference, and tied for 15th nationally, with a +8 turnover margin, an average of 0.80 a game.

Poll Watching: On the heels of Saturday's loss to Delaware, W&M fell out of the Sports Network Top 25 for the first time this season. It snapped W&M's streak of 20 consecutive appearances in the poll dating back to Oct. 4 of last season, including the 2004 final rankings and the 2005 preseason. The Tribe will face just its second ranked opponent of the season Saturday, in No. 17 UR. Last season, W&M went up against a ranked team eight times, posting a 6-2 ledger. With its 42-10 win over No. 1 New Hampshire on Oct. 8, the Tribe is now 7-2 in its last nine games vs. ranked opponents.

Did You Know?: W&M's four interception returns for touchdowns are the most in a season under Laycock, and the Tribe's four defensive touchdowns are the most scored in a season in Laycock's 26-year tenure.

W&M's previous season-high for touchdowns scored on interception returns was two (2002, 1995, 1994), while the Tribe notched three defensive touchdowns in a season on only two other occasions (2003, 1994).

Did You Also Know?: W&M's five non-offensive touchdowns, including Stephen Cason's kickoff return against UNH on Oct. 8, is the highest single-season total under Laycock.

In 2003, W&M scored four non-offensive touchdowns (three defensive, one punt return), and the Tribe also accomplished the feat in 1994, also on three defensive scores and one punt return for a touchdown.

TEAM OFFENSIVE NOTES

... And Counting: Through 10 games, William and Mary has scored an impressive 351 points. This marks just the seventh team in program history W&M has broke the 350 point barrier. Making the performance even more impressive is the fact the Tribe has become just the fourth team to accomplish the feat in 11 regular season games (also done in 1990, 1993 and 2004).

THE LAST MEETING

#6 William and Mary 38, Richmond 14

WILLIAMSBURG, VA (11/20/04) - Paryton Award winning quarterback Lang Campbell threw for a then school-record 174 yards and three touchdowns in the third quarter, as sixth-ranked William and Mary defeated archrival Richmond, 38-14, in the 114th meeting between the schools.

With the victory, the Tribe earned a share of the Atlantic 10 Conference Championship and secured the league's automatic bid to the NCAA I-AA Playoffs.

The Tribe reeled off 24 straight points in the third period to turn a 14-point halftime lead into a 38-0 advantage heading into the final quarter.

Campbell completed 21 of 28 passes for 291 yards and four touchdowns, which matched his career-high set earlier this season at Delaware. His three third-quarter TD passes matched a W&M single-quarter record, also set at Delaware this season.

Junior tight end Adam Bratton caught two of Campbell's scoring passes in the third, and redshirt freshman Joe Nicholas pulled in his third touchdown reception of the season in the frame.

Junior defensive end Jonas Watson led an inspired defensive effort for the Tribe, sacking UR quarterback Stacy Tutt twice. W&M recorded five sacks in the game and limited the Spiders to 150 yards through the air.

With 291 passing yards, Campbell established a W&M 11-game, regular season record with 3,037 passing yards, while also setting an 11-game, regular season record for total offense (3,238).

points in an 11-game regular season was the 1993 squad (which tallied 414).

It All Adds Up: If the Tribe offense produces more than 350 total yards this weekend vs. Richmond, it will end the season averaging more than 400 total yards a game. This would make it the eighth team in the school's history to achieve the feat. All the previous seven have come in the previous 25 seasons that Jimmy Laycock has been the head coach.

Call It a Wash: The College is averaging exactly 30 minutes a game in time of possession, which obviously, means it has shared the ball equally with its opponents.

Impressive: In nearly 300 attempts (292) on the season, Tribe QBs have thrown just seven interceptions, compared to 18 touchdowns. Only Delaware (307 attempts, six ints) has more passes with fewer interceptions.

Of the 1053 passes William and Mary quarterbacks have attempted over the last three seasons, only a total of 19 have been intercepted (2%, or one out of every 55 attempts). By contrast, those same 1053 attempts have generated 70 TDs (7%, or one out of 15 attempts).

In the Zone: One week removed from being six for six against James Madison in red zone scoring chances, the College was slightly off its game against the Blue Hens, as it ended the afternoon by scoring on just three of its five opportunities. As was covered previously, the Tribe misfired on two of its final three red zone opportunities. Despite the slight drop in production, the College remains the league's most efficient squad in converting inside the opponent's 20-yard line. After its effort vs. Delaware, the Tribe has now turned 41 of its 47 red zone opportunities (.872) into points, including 33 touchdowns.

The ability to find the end zone paid its largest dividends in the extra frames against Northeastern, as the Huskies were forced to settle for a field goal on its second of two overtime possessions, while the Tribe found the end zone on both.

There was a very similar pattern in the Tribe's success over then top-ranked UNH. The Wildcats came into the game featuring the league's stingiest red zone defense, but at the end of the day it was W&M's ability to finish drives, as five of six ventures inside the UNH 20 yielded touchdowns, and its defense's success in keeping New Hampshire out of the end zone, as UNH converted just two of its five opportunities, that helped pave the way for the upset.

Scoreboard Watching: By putting up 21 points against Delaware on Saturday, the Tribe's season scoring average sits at 35.1 points a contest. This average is second in the A10 behind New Hampshire's 40.7 average and is 15th nationally.

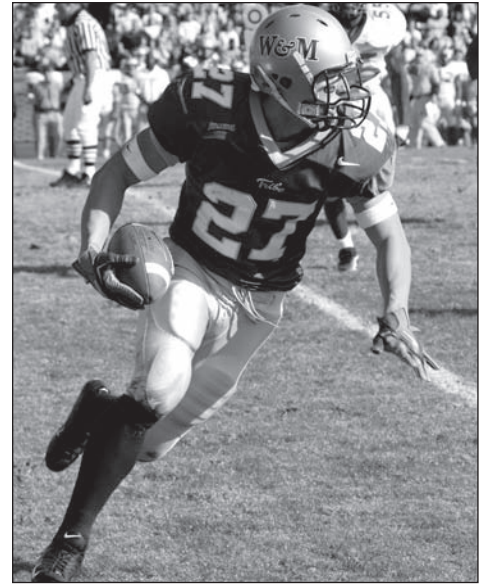

The Tribe has scored 40-plus points in all five of its victories on the season and has outscored its opposition by a count of 227 to 71 in those games.

Record Numbers: By scoring 44 points in the win over Towson on Oct. 22, the 2005 Tribe squad tied the school record for consecutive games with 40-plus points with four.

The record for 40-plus points in a season is six held by both the 1946 and 1993 squads. The Tribe currently has been over the 40-point barrier five times this season.

No team in the College's history has ever scored more points over the first six games of the season than the 280 put on the board this season.

The Tribe's record for single-season scoring average is 36.8, set in 1993. The College would have to score 54 points on Saturday vs. Richmond to tie the mark.

Sophomore WR Joe Nicholas pulled in eight catches for a season-high 121 yards Saturday vs. Delaware. It was his fourth 100-yard game of the season.

While on the Subject: Laycock has guided the Tribe to a total of 45 career 40-plus point outings in his 294 games as the College's head coach, a number that represents more than 15% of his total games.

By comparison, the College had seen only 12 total 40-plus point outings in the 30 seasons prior to Laycock taking the reigns of the program in 1980.

Did You Know?: Over the last 27 games, dating back to the last three games of the 2003 season, the Tribe has scored 35, or more, points 17 times. In this same span, the College's 9-7 win at New Hampshire in 2004 is the only game the team has failed to reach at least 21 points.

The Tribe's record over this span is 19-8.

For What Its Worth: The Tribe has scored points of some variety in 37 of the 43 total quarters on the season.

INDIVIDUAL OFFENSIVE NOTES

Last Kicks: Saturday will mark the end of one of the most successful kicking careers in the College's long football history, as senior All-American place-kicker Greg Kuehn will be making his final appearance in the Green and Gold. Certainly, last week's efforts vs. Delaware were very uncharacteristic of the three-time all-conference performer, who has been amongst the most reliable place-kickers in the nation the past four seasons.

Already the school's record holder for career points (342), the reigning league Special Teams Player of the Year has now converted 13 of his 21 field goal attempts on the season and is 4-for-5 from beyond 40 yards. His 13 field goals tie him for the second highest mark in the league, while his average of 8.1 points per game leads the league's kickers and is third among all A10 players.

For the Tribe faithful, nothing has become so automatically taken for granted than the point after touchdown, as Kuehn has all but taken the drama out of the task, hitting on 42 of his 43 attempts this season and an impeccable 165 of his 170 (98%) for his career.

The following are just some bullet point highlights of what has been a remarkable four-year career for the Potomac Fall, VA native.

- His 342 career points is the third-highest total among all kickers in NCAA Division I-AA history. He already is the A10's all-time leader in points by a kicker, surpassing former Tribe great Brian Shallcross, who amassed 272 points between the 1994-97 seasons. The Tribe was not in a league during Christie's playing career, so he passed Christie's previous school career record of 279 points, set between the 1985-89 seasons, by hitting for three field goals at Rhode Island earlier this season.
- With 59 field goals in his 88 career attempts (67%), Kuehn is three FGs from gaining a share of seventh-place on the NCAA's career listings. The NCAA career record for field goals is 72, set by Nevada's Marty Zendejas' between the 1984-88 seasons.
- Kuehn already has become the Atlantic 10 Conference's all-time leader in career field goals this season, as his total of 59 broke Hofstra's Chris Onarato's one-year old record total of 50, set between the 2000-04 seasons.
- Kuehn has been strikingly consistent in his three-previous years as the team's starting place-kicker, as he has never hit on less than 67% of his field goal attempts in any single season. He has a career conversion rate of .670 (59 of 88).
- His conversion rate on extra points is even more impressive, as he has knocked through 98% of his career attempts (165 of 170), including 145 of the last 147.
- With 42 extra-points already this season, he moved his career total to 165 and is second on the league's all-time listings [former Delaware kicker Sean Leach holds the record with 167]. His fourth extra-point vs. VMI in the season's second game moved him past Shallcross and into first place on the Tribe's career PAT listings.
- He already is the College's career record holder for consecutive extra points, as he had run up 99-straight PATs without a miss until hitting the upright in the team's NCAA Quarterfinal win over Delaware.
- He has made three field goals in one game on three separate occasions this season and has accomplished the feat nine times on his career.

What to Watch: The next record that is within Kuehn's formidable reach is the Atlantic 10 Conference's career extra point mark, currently held by former Delaware standout Sean Leach (167). Kuehn needs just three more successful conversion attempts to surpass Leach's record total.

Chasing 1,000: With 43 yards vs. Delaware (on 12 carries), junior tailback Elijah Brooks pushed his season total to 912 yards. He sits just 88 yards from becoming the first Tribe back in eight years to break the 1,000-yard barrier. Hameen Ali ('01) is the last Tribe back to turn the trick, as he gained 1,022 over 11 games in 1998. Brooks' 912-yard 10-game total stands as the Tribe's highest single-season rushing total since Ali's breakout 1998 campaign.

Brooks is currently fourth in the league, with an average of 91.2 yards a game, while his 11 total touchdowns (nine rushing, two receiving) ties him for the third most in the conference.

Brooks earned the league's Player of the Week honors in the season's fourth week by rushing for 135 yards and four TDs on a career high 32 attempts vs. New Hampshire.

Brooks is also an extremely valuable asset in the passing game, as he has contributed 168 yards receiving on 19 catches this season and his average of 108.0 all-purpose yards a contest ranks him 10th in the league.

Did You Know?: If Brooks is able to amass 171 rushing yards in the season ending contest at Richmond, he will move into the Tribe's all-time top 10 for single season rushing yards. He currently trails Ali's 11th-place total of 1,022 and Tyrone Shelton's 1,082-yard total, which places him in 10th in W&M history.

Hybrid Halfback: The Tribe has slowly worked redshirt freshman DeBrian Holmes into a larger role with the team's offense. This past weekend vs. Delaware, the speedy native of Fort Eustis, VA accounted for a career-high 154 all-purpose yards by doing a little bit of everything, as he ran for 66 (on just eight touches), gathered a career-high seven passes for 52 yards and returned two kickoffs for a total of 36 yards.

While Brooks has been the team's work horse (as he has accounted for .500 of the team's total carries – 197 of 396), Holmes has proven more than able in his limited opportunities to shine. The first extended look at Holmes the Tribe faithful received came in the team's Homecoming win over Towson, where Holmes rushed for a career high 76 yards on 13 attempts while subbing for a hobbled Brooks in the second half.

For the season, Holmes is averaging an impressive 5.6 yards a carry over his 54 rushing attempts. He is currently second on the squad with 303 rushing yards and fourth with 534 all-purpose yards.

Filling You in On Phillips: Tribe redshirt freshman Jake Phillips established career highs in attempts (34), completions (24), yards (289) and tied his career high for rushing TDs (2) vs. Delaware. By also throwing a two-yard TD pass to fullback Matt Otey, Phillips has now thrown for at least one score in his last eight appearances. Despite being dropped a season-high five times by a relentless Blue Hen defense, Phillips still managed to finish with positive rushing yards, as he offset 28 yards lost on sacks by gaining 31 on his six remaining rushing attempts.

The following is a brief list of some of accomplishments of the Warm Springs, VA native to this point in the season:

- By reaching 11 TDs for the season, he joins David Corley, Jr. as just the second redshirt freshman to record double-digit TD passes in the 26 years Laycock has been at the helm of the Tribe program. Corley set the school's freshman record for TD connections at 18 during the 1999 season.
- Of his 11 TD passes this season, eight have been from 17 yards, or longer.
- His QB efficiency rating of 153.25 is currently third in the conference and 12th in the nation.
- His eight rushing touchdowns smashes the record for a Tribe freshman QBs (breaking Corley's record of four, set in 1999), and is the most for a freshman, at any position, since Jon Smith rushed for 13 scores during his redshirt freshman season in 2001.
- By being responsible for 19 total touchdowns in just nine appearances, he sits four TDs from tying Dave Corely's school freshman record of 23 (18 passing, four rushing, one receiving).
- With 275 passing yards vs. Richmond, Phillips will break Corely's W&M freshman passing yardage record. Currently, Phillips has thrown for 1486 yards (on 114 completions and 173 attempts).
- His season completion percentage of .659 currently is the third best single-season total in school history (amongst quarterbacks with a minimum of 150 attempts).
- Phillips 270 positive rushing yards (without yards loss due to sacks) and 185 net yards ranks him third on the squad in both categories.
- Has earned the league's Rookie of the Week honor

Redshirt freshman TB DeBrian Holmes rushed for 66 yards on eight carries Saturday and added 52 yards receiving on seven receptions, both career-highs.

on two occasions this season (at VMI and at Northeastern) and has also been named league's Offensive Player of the Week (at Northeastern).

Special Day: Phillips earned the league's Offensive and Rookie of the Week honors for playing a critical role in helping the Tribe rally for a remarkable 21-point fourth quarter comeback in the Tribe's 44-41 double overtime win at Northeastern (Oct. 15).

With W&M trailing 31-10, Phillips entered the game with just under six minutes remaining in the third quarter and rallied the Tribe to a 44-41 double-overtime victory, throwing for four touchdowns and taking in the game-winning score from eight yards out in the second extra period.

Phillips completed his first eight throws and went on to complete 16-of-18 attempts for 231 yards and three touchdowns, all of which came in the fourth quarter, in regulation to force overtime, before tossing a 20-yard touchdown pass in the first overtime and running for the game-winner in the second extra frame. He finished the day 18-for-20 for 256 yards and four touchdowns, both career-highs, and added 32 yards rushing on nine attempts.

Phillips had scoring passes of 30, 22, 27 and 20 yards, becoming the first Tribe quarterback to throw for four touchdowns in a game since Lang Campbell ('05) accomplished the feat against Richmond in last year's regular season finale.

The performance was the third of four times this season that Phillips passed and ran for at least one score, having also done it against VMI, Liberty and Towson.

The following are just a few highlights from Phillips' performance at Northeastern.

- By completing 18 of his 20 total attempts (.900), he established the school's single-game record for completion percentage for a QB (with a minimum of 20 attempts).
- His 231 yards passing in the fourth quarter on 16-for-18 passing smashes the school's single quarter record for passing yards, which was held by 2004 Payton Award winner, Lang Campbell, who passed for 159 yards in the first quarter of the Tribe's 31-28 loss at Delaware last season.
- With touchdown passes of 30, 22 and 27 yards in the fourth quarter, he became just the third quarterback in W&M history to throw for three TDs in a single quarter, matching the accomplishments of Campbell (vs. UD in '04) and Shawn Knight (vs. Maine in '93)

- The total of 256 passing yards ranks as the third highest single-game total for a freshman, trailing only a pair of gems by David Corley in 1999 (259 yards vs. James Madison and 258 yards vs. Villanova).
- Phillips' four TD passes also ties Corley for the Tribe's single-game record for a freshman, a feat Corley accomplished twice (as do his five total TDs responsible for).

Streak Stopped: Last Saturday's loss at James Madison saw a streak that stretched out over 10 seasons and 103 games come to an end when no Tribe running back caught a pass vs. the Dukes. It has been since the 10th game of the 1995 season (a 23-20 loss at Delaware) that a Tribe back has failed to make at least one reception.

Nicholas Nice: Sophomore receiver Joe Nicholas grabbed a season-high eight passes for 121 yards vs. Delaware. The performance stood as his fourth 100-yard afternoon of the season and sixth of his career. He currently is tied for sixth on the Tribe's all-time 100-yard receiving game listing and his next 100-plus yard afternoon will move him into fifth (see chart on page 20 of this release).

With 107 yards vs. Richmond, Nicholas will better his 14-game total of a season ago, when he established the school's freshman record for receiving yards with 799.

Overall, Nicholas leads the squad with 47 catches for 693 yards and five TDs. For his career, the Sugarloaf, PA native has brought down 113 passes for 1,492 yards and the 11 scores.

Mighty Mack: Redshirt freshman wide out Elliott Mack has steadily emerged as one of the team's better deep threats as the 2005 season has evolved. He had a breakout afternoon vs. Delaware, as he established career highs for catches (7) and yards (106).

For the season, his average of 18.6 yards a catch is the top mark amongst all Tribe players with 10, or more, catches. His 353 receiving yards ranks him second on the squad, while his 19 receptions sits as the team's fourth highest mark.

Did You Know?: The Tribe will not graduate a single player who threw a pass or gained a rushing yard this season. In fact, all of the team's 4051 yards of total offense returns for the 2005 season. The only players whom the Tribe will lose that advanced the football for the offense this season is senior receiver Josh Lustig (37 catches for 470 yards and three TDs) and senior tight end Adam Bratton (13 catches for 181 yards).

TEAM DEFENSIVE NOTES

Block Party: Sophomore defensive back Brandon Burrow's punt block against Delaware Saturday was the Tribe's third punt block of the season, which is the highest total recorded during Laycock's 26-year tenure.

Redshirt freshman Derek Cox registered the first punt block of the season at VMI back on Sept. 10, and junior Leonard Muldrow blocked a New Hampshire punt on Oct. 8.

Prior to this season, the most punts W&M had blocked under Laycock was two, accomplished in both 1984 and 1985.

By Chance: Despite having already been on the field for nearly 10 minutes in the fourth quarter Saturday, the Tribe defense, with the aid of two time outs, forced a Blue Hen turnover on downs in the final minute that at least gave W&M a chance to pull out a last-minute victory.

Senior DE Jerome Griffin makes a stop Saturday vs. Delaware. Griffin recorded a solo sack for a 6-yard loss on the Hens' first offensive snap.

The late stand was actually the fifth Delaware drive that did not produce a first down against the Tribe defense, as W&M recorded four three-and-outs over the course of the afternoon.

In total, the Tribe forced eight Delaware punts, an opponent season-high, on the afternoon, including the aforementioned punt that was blocked by Burrow, which gave W&M possession at the Blue Hen 10-yard line.

Four's Company: For the first time this season, W&M had four different players record double-digit tackles in a game Saturday against Delaware. Red-shirt freshman linebacker Josh Rutter led the way with 14 stops, while seniors Stephen Cason (11), Jon Shaw (11) and Thad Wheeler (10) all reached double-figure tackles. It marked the first time the Tribe had four in double-digit tackles since a 27-24 win at JMU last season [Ndubueze (12), Miller (11), Cason (10), Nickell (10)].

W&M has twice had three players in double-digit tackles, the last coming at Villanova on Oct. 29. Senior James Miller registered 16 total stops, while junior Ryan Nickell added 15 and Rutter finished with 12.

The Tribe first had three in double-digits at Northeastern with Shaw (11), Jonas Watson (10) and Rutter (10).

Air Traffic Control: Saturday's loss to Delaware marked just the second time this season W&M failed to intercept at least one pass. The only other game the Tribe did not record a pick was at Northeastern, a 44-41 double-overtime victory.

With three interceptions in the loss to JMU on Nov. 5, W&M brought its season total to 17, which is the highest total since the Tribe also picked off 17 passes in 2001. It was W&M's third game this season with three interceptions and second in as many weeks. The Tribe's three picks at Villanova on Oct. 29 brought its season total to 14, which eclipsed last season's entire total of 12. W&M's 17 interceptions are tied for the A10 lead with UNH and UMass, and the total ranks tied for seventh in Division I-AA.

The Tribe's 17 interceptions is the eighth-best single-season total in school history, dating back to 1948, which is as far as we could effectively research. The school record for interceptions in a season is 25, set in 1972. Here is a list of the top-10 interception totals in school history, again dating back to 1948:

Turning It Around: On its 17 interceptions this season, the Tribe has amassed 325 total return yards, led by Ryan Nickell's even 100. The Tribe's interception return total is the fourth-best mark dating back to 1948, which is again as far as effectively possible to research it. It's the third-best mark under Laycock, following 356 in 2003 and 346 in 1996. The school record for interception return yards is 437 in 1948.

Incase you were wondering, the NCAA I-AA record for interception returns yards in a season is 689, set by North Carolina A&T in 2001. Here is a breakdown of the College's top season interception return totals, again dating back to 1948:

Rk.	INT Yards (# INTs)	Year
1.	437 (23)	1948
2.	356 (18)	2003
3.	346 (22)	1996
4.	325 (17)	2005
5.	279 (14)	1966
6.	276 (21)	1995
7.	263 (17)	2001
8.	249 (16)	1990
9.	221 (19)	1963
10.	204 (15)	1992

Streak Snapped: W&M also failed to recover a fumble vs. Delaware Saturday, marking the first time this season the Tribe did not gain a turnover. W&M had gained at least one turnover in all nine games leading up to Saturday, its longest stretch of games with a forced turnover since the Tribe caused a turnover in 16 consecutive games from 2001 to 2003.

Spreading the Wealth: With redshirt freshman Derek Cox's pick vs. JMU, 10 different defenders have combined to tally the Tribe's 17 interceptions this season, which is the highest total number of players with at least one pick since 1993, when 10 different Tribe defenders also recorded an interception. Senior Stephen Cason added his team-leading fourth pick vs. JMU, while four other players (Jon Shaw, Kevin Allen, Ryan Nickell and James Miller) each have two. Miller also had an interception against the Dukes. Including Cox, six defenders have registered the first interception of their respective careers this season (Allen, T.J. O'Neill, Richard Riley, Jerome Griffin, Trevor McLaurin, Cox).

W&M also had 10 different players with an interception in 1990, and on only four other occasions, the Tribe has had at least eight different defenders with a pick. In fact, even in 1996, when W&M matched the second-best interception total in school history with 22, only seven different Tribe defenders recorded interceptions with Darren Sharper leading the way with 10.

Historically Speaking: With 24 total turnovers gained on the season, W&M has reached the 20-turnovers forced mark for the first time since 2002, when the Tribe gained 26 take-aways on 15 interceptions and 11 fumble recoveries. Under Laycock, W&M has failed to record at least 20 caused turnovers in a season only four times [2004 (19), 2003 (18), 2000 (18), 1992 (19)].

Table Setters: The Tribe was able to capitalize on two of the defense's turnovers for points vs. JMU, as W&M got a field goal after Cox's interception and scored a touchdown after Jerome Griffin forced a fumble. W&M has now directly, or indirectly, scored off 14 of its 24 caused turnovers this season. The Tribe returned two interceptions for touchdowns in the loss at Villanova, with Trevor McLaurin and James Miller turning the tricks in the second half.

The defense has provided four direct scores, all on interception returns, while the offense has taken advantage of gained turnovers on 10 occasions with six touchdowns and a pair of field goals.

Although turnovers on downs and a blocked punt aren't statistically recorded as forced turnovers, W&M has also gone on to score three touchdowns after the defense gained a W&M possession off downs, and the Tribe also scored a touchdown after Leonard Muldrow's blocked punt against UNH.

The Tribe defense, or special teams, has "set the table" for at least one score, directly or indirectly, in every game this season.

Rare Occurrence: The Tribe's two defensive touchdowns in the 35-21 loss at Villanova marked just the second time in Laycock's 26-year tenure that W&M scored two defensive touchdowns in a game. The last time the Tribe scored twice on defense was on Sept. 3, 1994, in a 38-17 win at Rhode Island, when Stefon Moody returned a fumble two yards for a touchdown and Darren Sharper had a 34-yard interception return for a score.

In fact, the Villanova game also marked just the third time under Laycock that W&M was even involved in a game that featured two defensive touchdowns, with the only other occurrence coming in a 26-21 loss to JMU on Oct. 12, 1996, when Sharper returned an interception 88 yards for a touchdown, before JMU's Tony Jordan returned the favor in the third quarter with a 94-yard interception return for a score.

Point Producers: W&M's two defensive touchdowns at Villanova brought the Tribe's season total to four defensive scores, the highest single-season total recorded under Laycock.

The last time W&M scored three defensive touchdowns in a season was 2003, when Travis McLaurin and Adam O'Connor each scored on fumble recoveries and James Miller scored on an interception return. In 1994, the Tribe also scored three defensive touchdowns, which included Moody's and Sharper's touchdowns at URI, and another Sharper interception return for a touchdown at Villanova on Oct. 29.

W&M's four interception returns for touchdowns this season are a school record under Laycock, as the Tribe had previously scored on two interception returns in a season three other times (2002, 1995, 1994).

The NCAA I-AA record for interception returns for touchdowns in a season is seven, held by the 1985 Jackson State team and the 1996 Northeastern squad.

Redshirt freshman all-conference candidate Josh Rutter leads the Tribe with 102 total tackles on the season. He has five double-digit tackle games and ranks sixth in the A10 in tackles per game (10.2).

Here is a quick look at the Tribe's last 10 defensive touchdowns:

Not That We Needed To Write It: But, obviously, with four interception returns for touchdowns being a school record under Laycock, W&M has never had four different players score on interception returns, or have four different players record a defensive touchdown for that matter, in a season.

The last time W&M had two different players return interceptions for touchdown in the same season was 1995, when Darren Sharper and Jim Simpkins each found the end zone on INT returns.

INDIVIDUAL DEFENSIVE NOTES

On the Campaign Trail: Senior Stephen Cason has continued to bolster his case for postseason recognition with another solid outing, as the all-conference corner recorded 11 total tackles against Delaware Saturday, including seven solo stops.

In his last two games, Cason has recorded 20 total tackles and an interception. Against JMU on Nov. 5, Cason finished with nine total tackles and an interception. Cason had four solo stops on the night and added an assist on a tackle behind the line of scrimmage. Cason returned his pick 25 yards, bringing his season total to 82 return yards on four interceptions.

Cason's career-high four interceptions lead the team and rank second in the Atlantic 10 and 16th in Division I-AA, while the total is the best for a Tribe defender since 2002 when Billy Parker recorded five interceptions.

Against top-ranked New Hampshire on Oct. 8, Cason, a second team All-Atlantic 10 selection in 2004, returned the opening kickoff 92 yards for a touchdown, his first career return for a TD. It bolstered his season average to 29.6 yards per kickoff return and earned A10 Special Teams Co-Player of the Week honors.

Defensively, Cason tallied a team-high nine total tackles against UNH, including six solo stops, and added his third interception of the season by picking off the league's top passer in the W&M end zone for a third-quarter touchback, as the Tribe held the nation's top offense scoreless in the second half.

Cason continued his solid play against Towson on Homecoming, recording five total tackles, four solos, and returning four kickoffs for 87 yards, including a long of 27 yards.

On the year, Cason has tallied two touchdowns, including a 57-yard INT return for a score at VMI on Sept. 10. Cason is fifth on the squad with 60 total tackles. He ranks fourth in the league in kickoff return average (23.1).

Running Mate: Joining Cason on the postseason awards campaign trail is redshirt freshman linebacker Josh Rutter, who has undoubtedly made a strong case for all-conference honors in his rookie season. Perhaps the most consistent producer on the defensive side of the ball this season, Rutter leads the team with 102 total tackles and has now recorded double-digit tackles in five games and led the Tribe in tackles in six contests, after registering a team-best 14 total stops vs. Delaware Saturday.

Rutter's 14 tackles were two shy of his season and career-high of 16 set in the season-opener at Marshall. He added a solo stop behind the line of scrimmage to bring his season TFL total to 6.5. Rutter is now averaging 10.2 tackles per game, which is tied for sixth in the A10. He is tied for fourth among the league's linebackers and leads all A10 rookies.

Against JMU, Rutter produced his fourth double-figure tackle game with 10 total stops, including five solos.

At Villanova, Rutter tallied 12 total tackles for his third double-digit performance. Against Towson on Oct. 22, Rutter led the team in tackles, tying Jon Shaw with seven total stops. Rutter also recovered a fumble in the victory, his second of the season.

After leading the squad in tackles in the first four games of the year, Rutter added a 10-tackles effort at Northeastern. It was the second time this season Rutter reached double-digit tackles, with the first coming in the season opener at Marshall where he registered a career-best 16 stops in his first collegiate game. Against UNH on Oct. 8, he finished with eight tackles, second on the team, recovered a fumble, the first of his career, and added one solo TFL for a loss of yard.

Rutter was the first Tribe defender, of any class, to lead the squad in tackles in four consecutive games since Martin Magerko ('01) did it over the first four games of 2001 against UMass (13), VMI (11), ECU (11) and UNH (15).

Career Fair: Another Tribe defender with a strong case for all-conference consideration is senior defensive end Jonas Watson, who ranks tied for fourth in the Atlantic 10 with 6.0 sacks and tied for seventh in the league in total tackles for loss with 10.0.

With an assist on a tackle for loss against JMU, Watson established a career-high for TFLs in a season at 10.0, surpassing last season's total of 9.5. It was Watson's fifth consecutive game with at least a 1/2 TFL and seventh overall this season. Watson recorded six total tackles against Delaware Saturday, but saw his streak of games with a TFL come to an end.

Perhaps his finest effort came at Northeastern, where Watson's career-high 10 tackles against the Huskies matched his entire freshman season total and surpassed his sophomore year total of seven.

In his last five games, Watson has 29 total tackles, including 5.0 TFL, one sack, and a forced fumble. He leads all of the Tribe's defensive linemen with 47 total tackles on the season, which ranks sixth on the squad overall.

Finishing Strong: As his career winds down, senior free safety James Miller has continued to provide standout performances for the Tribe defense. Hampered by a wrist injury sustained against JMU, Miller shook off the pain and turned in a spirited effort, providing several big hits in the secondary and four total tackles on the afternoon against Delaware.

Against JMU on Nov. 5, Miller led the squad with 11 total tackles, his second-straight double-digit tackle outing and ninth-career, and recorded his second interception in as many games. Miller added a solo stop for loss and also intercepted the Dukes' two-point conversion attempt in the fourth quarter that preserved a 29-27 Tribe lead at the time.

Miller broke out with a career-high 16 tackle performance at Villanova three weeks ago, which included an 80-yard interception return for a touchdown.

It was Miller's second-career interception return for a touchdown, with the first coming in the 2003 season finale at Richmond when Miller returned a pick 77 yards for a score at UR Stadium. Miller's return at Villanova was the longest INT return for a touchdown by a Tribe defender since Darren Sharper ran a pick back 88 yards for a score in a 26-21 loss to James Madison on Oct. 12, 1996. Miller now has seven career interceptions for 289 yards and two touchdowns.

Miller's previous career-best for tackles was 15, set in last year's opener at North Carolina. Miller also led the squad in tackles for the first time this season at Villanova, after pacing the defense on three different occasions in 2004. It also marked the eighth time in Miller's career he recorded double-digit tackles.

Miller ranks third on the squad with 62 total tackles this season, to go along with 2.5 TFL and four pass break-ups.

Getting Started: Redshirt freshman corner Derek Cox started his first game on Saturday vs. Delaware and turned in a solid performance, recording three total tackles on the afternoon to go along with a recovered blocked punt. Cox played his way into the starting line up with a tremendous performance against JMU on Nov. 5, as the rookie was steady in the secondary all night and recorded his first interception against the Dukes (see next note).

First Timers: Junior linebacker Trevor McLaurin, a converted running back, and senior defensive end Jerome Griffin each recorded the first interception of their respective careers at Villanova on Oct. 29, and redshirt freshman corner Derek Cox followed suit against JMU with the first interception of his career.

Cox picked off JMU quarterback Justin Rascati in the second quarter and pulled off a wild cross-field return for 19 yards. As previously mentioned, Cox is the sixth different Tribe defender to register the first interception of their careers this season.

Griffin made an outstanding play on a deflected pass at the line of scrimmage at Villanova, diving back to haul in the fluttering pass at the VU 29-yard line.

McLaurin gave the Tribe a spark it desperately needed in the third quarter, returning his INT 14 yards for a touchdown to score W&M's first points of the game and cut the deficit to 28-7.

McLaurin has steadily earned more playing time at outside linebacker, after moving over to the defensive side of the ball earlier this season. He's been a steady contributor on special teams as well covering kicks. McLaurin has 16 total tackles on the year after recording five stops against JMU.

Finishing Strong II: Another senior who is making his presence felt over his final games is defensive end Jerome Griffin, who, as mentioned, recorded his first interception against Villanova on Oct. 29. Saturday against Delaware, in his first start of the season, Griffin sacked UD quarterback Sonny Riccio on the Blue Hens' first snap from scrimmage, resulting in a 6-yard loss and eventual three-and-out. Griffin finished with three total stops on the afternoon.

Griffin's efforts followed his outstanding game against JMU, as he was credited with three total tackles, a forced fumble and a pass break-up. Griffin's forced fumble on Rascati in the third quarter eventually led to the Tribe's final touchdown, and the pass break-up came on a Rascati pass Griffin batted down at the line of scrimmage. It was Griffin's third PBU of the season.

Road Blocks: Coming into the 2005 season, one of the few question marks surrounding the Tribe defense was at the tackle position, where W&M lost a pair of starters to graduation after the 2004 campaign. But, the solid play of senior Larry Pendleton and junior Brian Williamson, along with the entire tackle rotation, has sured up the position.

Pendleton matched his season-high with four total tackles against UD Saturday, the second time in as many weeks he has reached the mark. Pendleton has recorded at least one stop in all 10 games this season.

Williamson has posted nine total tackles in his last three games, including a season-high five stops at Villanova on Oct. 29. He added three against JMU, including a solo stop behind the line of scrimmage. Against Towson on Oct. 22, Williamson broke through the line of scrimmage and turned in a solo sack in the fourth quarter for a 9-yard loss. He has at least a 1/2 TFL in three of his last four games for a season total of 3.5. Williamson is fourth among the squad's defensive linemen with 29 total tackles on the year.

Junior Blair Pritchard is third in the Atlantic 10 in punting, averaging 39.1 yards per punt. Pritchard has downed 12 punts inside the opponents' 20 this season, including six in his last three games.

Getting Stronger: Senior strong safety Jon Shaw continued his solid play with another good effort against UD on Saturday, finishing with a career-high tying 11 total tackles, including three solos. It was Shaw's second double-digit tackle game of the season.

In his last six games, Shaw has now recorded 52 total tackles, 24 solos, two fumble recoveries and three PBUs.

Against JMU, Shaw tallied six total stops a fumble recovery and a pass break-up. At Villanova, Shaw was credited with nine total tackles, including an assisted TFL. Against Towson on Oct. 22, Shaw tied Josh Rutter for the team lead with seven total tackles.

That came on the heels of a standout performance at Northeastern on Oct. 15, as Shaw led the squad with a career-high 11 total tackles. Shaw eclipsed his previous personal best of 10 tackles, which was set in the season-opening loss at Marshall. Before that, Shaw's personal best stood at nine tackles, set last season against Hampton in the first round of the NCAA I-AA Playoffs and again matched two weeks later in the semifinals against JMU.

Shaw was credited with eight solo tackles against the Huskies, in addition to 1.5 TFL and one pass break-up.

Precision Punting: With W&M's nearly flawless offensive performance against Towson on Oct. 22, junior punter Blair Pritchard received his second "off-week" of the season, as the Tribe did not punt vs. the Tigers. Pritchard was also not called to duty in the Tribe's 56-0 pasting of Liberty on Sept. 24, which was the first time that W&M did not punt in a game since a 49-6 victory over VMI on Oct. 2, 1993 in the Oyster Bowl at Foreman Field in Norfolk.

Pritchard, however, has been called in to work on a much more consistent basis in the last three weeks, as he punted seven times for 285 yards, both career-highs at Villanova, before punting five times for 182 yards against JMU. He averaged 40.7 yards per kick at VU, including a long of 47, and downed four punts inside the Wildcats' 20-yard line to earn the coaching staff's special teams player of the week award.

He punted three times for 108 yards Saturday vs. Delaware, an average of 36.0 yard per kick, and downed one inside the Blue Hens' 20-yard line. Pritchard has down pinned an opponent inside its 20 at least once in the last three games, including a season-high four times at Villanova on Oct. 29. On the year, Pritchard has downed 12 punts inside the 20.

Pritchard has been emerging as one of the league's top special teams weapons as a solid candidate for all-conference recognition, as he now ranks third in the Atlantic 10 in punting averaging (39.6). W&M's net punting average has improved to 35.9, which also ranks third in the A10.

Against UNH on Oct. 8, he punted six times for a then career-high 256 yards. His efforts were one of the main reasons UNH had an average starting field position at its own 28-yard line, as Pritchard downed three punts inside the Wildcat 20 and had another kick downed at the 20-yard line. Working in sloppy field conditions, Pritchard blasted a career-long punt of 64 yards and also uncorked a 57-yarder in the first half. For his efforts, Pritchard was named the coaching staff's special teams player of the week.

Award Winning Performance, The Sequel: Linebacker Ryan Nickell was named the Atlantic 10 Defensive Player of the Week for his efforts in the Tribe's 44-13 win over Towson on Oct. 22, as the junior returned an interception 72 yards for a touchdown in the third quarter and twice sacked Towson quarterback Sean Schaefer, forcing fumbles on each hit, while adding a pair of pass break-ups and six total tackles.

At Villanova, Nickell continued his recent strong play with a career-best 15 total tackles, including five solos. He surpassed his previous career-high of 11, set in the NCAA quarterfinal victory over Delaware last season and reached double-digit tackles for just the third time in his career.

The 72-yard INT return against Towson was Nickell's second pick of the season and fourth career interception, and the first touchdown of his career.

Nickell was the second Tribe defender to earn Defensive Player of the Week honors this season, as senior Stephen Cason received the citation on Sept. 11 after returning an interception 57 yards for a touchdown at VMI. Nickell's score marked the first time W&M had two different players return an interception for a touchdown in a season since 1995.

The Yorktown, Va., product leads the team with 100 interception return yards on the season, and his two picks are tied for second on the squad behind Cason's three. Nickell third on the squad 61 total tackles, which includes 5.5 TFL and two sacks.

Rare Gem: When Cason took the opening kickoff back for 92-yards and a score three weeks ago against UNH, he not only set the tone for what turned out to be a ground-breaking afternoon of football for the College, but also accomplished a feat that had never been done in Jimmie Laycock's 290 career games on the Tribe sideline. As far back as the Tribe Sports Information Staff could effectively research it, no Tribe player has returned the opening kickoff for a touchdown since Laycock took the helm in 1980.

Possible Career: Real Estate, similar job to former captain Wade Harrell ('05)

Which Teammate would you have fix your car?: [Junior full back] LeVince Parrott

Which Teammate would you have fix your computer?: [Junior linebacker] Ryan Nickel

Who on defense hits the hardest?: Any of the defensive backs

What is the Bird Gang?: It started as the name of the defensive backs, but then it was incorporated to include the entire defense. It symbolizes our unity and ferocity, similar to Alfred Hitchcock's The Birds.

Who is the founding member of the Bird Gang?: [Senior free safety] James Miller

Many players this year were split between you and [senior strong safety] Jon Shaw for being the best dressed. Who would you give the nod to: Shaw, but [redshirt freshman defensive back] Derek Cox is getting close.

Most Organized Locker of the defensive backs: [Junior] Alan Wheeling is a complete neat freak. He has all the products to keep everything super clean.

Who do you pattern your style of play after?: Champ Bailey, Deion Sanders

Who will have the most interesting job in 10 years and what will it be: [Sophomore wide receiver] Paris Jackson. He will probably be a stand-up comic or an actor some day.

Which foreign country would you want to visit and why?: France, because I want to see the beauty of it, and I know the language.

How do you feel about the increased student support at Zable Stadium over the last two years?: It has been phenomenal. It went from nothing when I got here [in 2001] to sell out crowds the last two years. It means a lot to the players because we feel we are playing for more than ourselves. It makes us play even better.

How does it feel playing your last collegiate game in your hometown?: It's going to be awesome because a lot of family will be there. I know a lot of the guys on the Richmond team, and I have never played in UR Stadium [after missing entire 2003 season (W&M's last visit to Richmond)]. And, Richmond was my second choice when I was choosing colleges.

Cason ranks fifth on the squad this season with 60 total tackles and leads the team with four interceptions.

WILLIAM AND MARY GAME-BY-GAME - 2005

MU 36, #9 W&M 24

HUNTINGTON, WV (9/1/05) -- Junior tailback Elijah Brooks ran for a career-high 149 yards, but Marshall used a game-breaking 70-yard fumble return for a touchdown late in the third quarter to rally for a 36-24 victory over William and Mary at Edwards Stadium.

The Tribe led 24-23 after a pair of touchdown tosses from sophomore quarterback Mike Potts, who was making his first-career start, in the third period and was on the move again deep in MU territory, when Herd linebacker Matt Coach picked up a Potts fumble and raced 70 yards for a touchdown.

After W&M's next drive stalled, the Herd put it away with an 11-play, 84-yard drive capped by Bernie Morris' third touchdown pass of the contest, a 12-yard hook-up with Hiram Moore.

Brooks gained 149 yards on 28 carries, surpassing his previous career mark of 120 set last season at Towson and hauled in a 19-yard scoring reception from Potts that pulled W&M with 23-17 at the 10:29 mark of the third.

After junior linebacker Ryan Nickell recovered a fumble at the Herd 30-yard line that was forced by senior defensive end Jonas Watson, Potts connected with redshirt freshman Tony Viola for an 18-yard touchdown pass, the first of Viola's career, to give W&M its first lead of the game.

Redshirt freshman linebacker Josh Rutter, in his first career start, paced the defense with 16 total tackles, while classmate Kevin Allen recorded the first interception of his career in the first half.

WILLIAMSBURG (10/8/05) -- Senior Stephen Cason returned the game's opening kickoff 92 yards for a touchdown, and W&M never looked back in upsetting top-ranked New Hampshire, 42-10, at Zable Stadium.

Junior tailback Elijah Brooks churned out 135 yards and four touchdowns on a career-high 32 carries, and the Tribe held UNH's high-scoring offensive attack scoreless in the second half to pick up W&M's first win over a No. 1 team.

Wildcats' kicker Connor McCormack hit a 33-yard field goal as time expired in the opening half to cut the deficit to 28-10, but that was a close as UNH would get.

Brooks scored a 15-yard scamper, that was set up by junior Leonard Muldrow's punt block, in the third quarter and plowed into the end zone from four yards out with 4:26 remaining to set the final margin.

W&M caused four turnovers in the game, including two interceptions, one each by Cason and sophomore T.J. O'Neill, and three times stopped UNH on fourth down conversion attempts.

Cason paced the unit with nine total tackles, and the pick was his third this season. O'Neill finished with eight total stops, including seven solo stops to go along with his first-career interception.

VILLANOVA, PA (10/29/05) -- Villanova built a 28-0 lead and withstood two Tribe interception returns for touchdowns to post a 35-21 upset win over W&M at Villanova Stadium.

Wildcats' quarterback Frank Jankowski threw for 325 yards and three touchdowns, and tailback Moe Gibson rushed for a career-high 176 yards and a touchdown as Villanova piled up 540 yards of total offense, to the Tribe's 232, to snap W&M's four-game winning streak.

Junior linebacker Trevor McLaurin returned an interception 14 yards for a touchdown to cut the Tribe's deficit to 21-7 in the third quarter, his first career pick and return for a score.

Redshirt freshman Jake Phillips hooked up with senior Josh Lustig on a 37-yard scoring pass to make it 28-14 midway through the fourth, before senior James Miller stepped in front of a Jankowski pass and raced 80 yards for a touchdown with 2:05 remaining to get W&M within a score.

After a failed onside kick attempt, W&M was able to force a Villanova punt, and the Tribe regained possession at its own 3-yard line with 1:32 left, but Phillips' second pass on the drive was intercepted and returned 15 yards for a touchdown by Rodney Badger to seal the Wildcats win.

Miller's and McLaurin's touchdowns gave W&M two non-offensive touchdowns in a game for the first time since the 2003 season finale at Richmond, when the Tribe had a defensive and special teams score. It was Miller's second-career interception return for a touchdown.

Lustig finished with five grabs for 92 yards, and junior tailback Elijah Brooks added 78 yards rushing on 14 attempts.

JMU 30, #16 W&M 29

WILLIAMSBURG (11/5/05) -- James Madison's Paul Wantuck kicked a 44-yard field goal with three seconds remaining to give the Dukes a 30-29 victory over 16th-ranked William and Mary at sold out Zable Stadium.

In the first regular season night game in the 70-year history of Zable Stadium, JMU won its third consecutive game on the Tribe's home field and snapped W&M's 10-game, regular season home winning streak.

The Dukes gained possession after a W&M punt with 1:43 remaining, and JMU quarterback Justin Rascati moved JMU 53 yards on nine plays to set up Wantuck's game-winning kick.

W&M had taken a 29-21 lead with 13:31 remaining in the game on redshirt freshman Jake Phillips' 17-yard touchdown pass to sophomore Joe Nicholas, but the Dukes trimmed the lead to 29-27 on Rascati's 14-yard run with 4:39 on the clock.

Phillips threw for 202 yards and a touchdown on 15-for-28 passing and added 57 yards rushing and a touchdown on 15 attempts.

Senior place-kicker Greg Kuehn booted three field goals (30, 26, 33) to break the W&M career record for field goals, which now stands at 59. Kuehn surpassed Steve Christie's (1986-89) previous standard of 57.

Seniors James Miller and Stephen Cason, and redshirt freshman Derek Cox each had an interception for the Tribe, which recorded three picks in a game for the second time this season. Miller paced the defense with 11 total tackles, and redshirt freshman linebacker Josh Rutter added 10.

WILLIAM AND MARY GAME-BY-GAME - 2005

UD 22, #24 W&M 21

WILLIAMSBURG (11/12/05) -- Delaware quarterback Sonny Riccio threw a 6-yard touchdown pass to Aaron Love with 4:17 remaining, and the Blue Hens turned away two late W&M possessions to knock off the 24th-ranked Tribe, 22-21, at Zable Stadium.

Despite out-gaining UD, 393-339, and forcing eight Blue Hen punts, W&M dropped its third consecutive game and the second-straight by a single point.

The Tribe took a 21-14 lead on redshirt freshman Jake Phillips' 2-yard scoring pass to sophomore Matt Otey with 11:30 remaining in third, but UD sacked Phillips for a safety early in the fourth to pull within 21-16, before Riccio's game-winner to Love.

Phillips set career-highs in pass attempts (34), completions (24) and passing yards (289) and added a pair of 1-yard rushing scores, his seventh and eighth of the season.

Sophomore wide receiver Joe Nicholas was Phillip's top target, hauling in eight catches for 121 yards, his fourth 100-yard game of the season. Red-shirt freshman Elliott Mack tallied 106 yards receiving on seven grabs to give the Tribe two receivers over the 100-yard mark in a game for the second time in 2005.

Redshirt freshman DeBrian Holmes paced the Tribe ground attack with 66 yards on eight carries and added 52 yards receiving on a career-high seven receptions. Junior tailback Elijah Brooks churned out 43 yards rushing on 12 attempts.

Redshirt freshman linebacker Josh Rutter recorded 14 total tackles to lead the defensive effort, his fifth double-digit tackle game of the season. It also marked the sixth time Rutter has led the squad in tackles.
