The Tribe returns to action Saturday following an open week, hosting fourth-ranked Massachusetts at Zable Stadium in the school's 79th Homecoming game. W&M is 46-32 all-time and 7-1 in its last eight Homecoming contests. The Tribe had a seven-game win streak on Homecoming weekend snapped last season with a 35-31 loss to Villanova. Prior to the open week, W&M won at Maine, 21-20, to improve to 2-2 in CAA play. UMass, which has won two-straight, including a 24-7 decision over Northeastern on Saturday, is one of two remaining unbeaten teams in league play at 4-0. The Minutemen have won two consecutive games in the series, a 48-7 victory in Amherst last season and a 24-14 win at Zable Stadium in 2003 in their last visit to Williamsburg. UMass leads the all-time series, 6-4, and has won four of the last five meetings. Saturday's game marks the first contest at Zable Stadium for the Tribe since it defeated Towson, 27-22, back on Sept. 29. The contest features one of the league's top offenses, as W&M leads the CAA in passing (304.4) ranks sixth in scoring (31.0) and total offense (425.1), against one of the league's top defenses, with UMass leading the conference in scoring defense (17.4) and ranking fourth in total defense (316.9). Tribe quarterback Jake Phillips leads the CAA in passing average (282.6) and ranks second in total offense (293.3). UMass corner Courtney Robinson is tied for the league lead with three interceptions.

The William and Mary Football Radio Network

The W&M Athletics Department is in its second year of a partnership for the Tribe Radio Network with local stations, 92.3 FM "The Tide" and 107.9 FM "WBACH", as the network's Co-Flagships.

"We are extremely excited to be teaming up with Tribe Athletics," said Tom Davis, the President of Davis Media LLC. "We look forward to enhancing the broadcasts and broadening the reach of the games to the many fans throughout Tidewater Virginia."

The partnership provides the College with solid coverage of the peninsula, as the station's combined footprint reaches from eastern areas of Richmond to the western parts of Norfolk. Tribe fans in Richmond will also be able to catch the action on 1450AM WCLM, which returns for its third season as an affiliate. Also, as usual, long-standing network member WBRG, AM 1050 of Lynchburg is back to carry all the action for 2007.

In addition to the radio coverage, all broadcasts can be heard live on the web at www.TribeAthletics.com, free of charge.

The College's long-standing broadcast team of team of Jay Colley and Bob Sheeran remain in place to deliver all the action of Tribe football over the airwaves.

Massachusetts Series Notes

First Meeting Came in the Postseason

The first time William and Mary and Massachusetts met on the gridiron was in 1990, when the Tribe defeated the Minutemen, 38-0, in the first round of the NCAA I-AA Playoffs in Williamsburg. That UMass squad was coached by Jim Reid, who currently is the head coach of VMI and a former-Richmond front man. Fullback, and current Indianapolis Colts' defensive backs coach, Alan Williams rushed for three touchdowns and scored on a 73-yard pass from Chris Hakel for the Tribe, and W&M kept UMass off the scoreboard despite allowing 291 total yards, 20 first downs and over 35 minutes of possession for the Minutemen.

O'Neill The Lone Connection to the Bay State

Senior T.J. O'Neill (Duxbury) is the only player on the 2006 W&M roster from Massachusetts. However, UMass features five players on its roster from Virginia, including Ke'Mon Bailey (Richmond/Huguenot), Darryn Fenner (Hampton/Fork Union), Brandon Freeman (Ruther Glen/Caroline Count), Joe Sanford (Charlottesville/Monticello) and Sean Smalls (Richmond/Huguenot).

The Last Meeting - #10 Massachusetts 48, William and Mary 7

AMHERST, Mass. (10/7/06) -- Steve Baylark rushed for 187 yards and two scores, and Tony Nelson added three rushing touchdowns to lead 10th-ranked Massachusetts past William and Mary, 48-7, at McGuirk Alumni Stadium.

Baylark and Nelson each scored twice in the first half as UMass built a comfortable 28-0 lead at the half. Nelson finished with 69 yards rushing, and Liam Coen passed for 275 yards, completing 12 of 17 attempts, and a touchdown as the Minutemen gained 596 total yards of offense.

Mike Potts completed 27 of 50 passing attempts for 244 yards and provided the Tribe's only points of the contest on a 35-yard touchdown pass to Joe Nicholas in the third quarter. Nicholas finished with five catches for 62 yards and recorded his fourth consecutive game with a scoring reception.

Potts guided the Tribe on a 10-play, 78-yard drive to get W&M on the board. Potts completed passes to eight different receivers on the afternoon in his first start of the season, recording then career-highs on attempts and completions.

D.J. McAulay had four catches for 47 yards, and tight end Matt Trinkle had four receptions for 27 yards.

Elijah Brooks rushed for 30 yards on 10 carries, but the Minutemen's stout defense held the Tribe to a net of 30 yards rushing and a 6-for-19 effort on third downs.

Team Notes

A Win Over Massachusetts Would ...

- Stand as the highest ranked opponent the College has beaten since dropping then No. 1 ranked New Hampshire, 42-10, at Zable Stadium in 2005. The last time the College beat a ranked opponent came last season, when the Tribe traveled to Towson, Md. and downed the then-No. 21 Tigers, 29-28.
- Serve as the Tribe's first win over UMass since 2001 (31-10 in Amherst). Overall, Massachusetts has won four of the last five meetings, including the past two at Zable. The Tribe has not beaten UMass in Williamsburg since 1996.
- Snap the Minutemen's current 12-game conference winning streak. UMass has not lost to a league opponent since the final game of the 2005 season (Hofstra). The team has won 13-straight games against conference foes, overall, counting the school's win against UNH in the quarterfinals of the NCAA Playoffs last season.
- Give the College back-to-back wins in conference play for the first time since the 2005 season (at Northeastern and vs. Towson).
- Be the Tribe's eighth win on Homecoming weekend in the last 10 years. The game will be the third-straight W&M has played as part of a Homecoming weekend this season, as the College was the Homecoming opponent for both Villanova (L, 63-24) and Maine (W, 21-20).
- Secure a winning home record for the season. W&M is currently 2-1 in home contests. Last season's 1-4 mark in Zable was the first, and only, losing home record the program has posted since joining the league in 1993.
- Move the College's record to 5-3 on the season, which would be a two-win improvement over last season's 3-8 final mark. A win would also improve the program's league mark to 3-2, which would also stand as a two-win improvement over last year's 1-7 league slate.
- Mark Head Coach Jimmye Laycock's 72nd career league victory (vs. 47 losses) and 183rd all-time win. It would also stand as his 101st career win within Zable Stadium.
- Improve Laycock's record against Don Brown coached squads to 3-2. Last season's 48-7 loss in Amherst was the only meeting between the two while Brown has headed the Minuteman program. Laycock was 2-1 against Brown's Northeastern squads.

Welcome Back

Saturday's contest will mark the 79th Homecoming in the Tribe's football history. Traditionally, the squad has thrived on this special weekend, as it sports a 46-32 all-time record in Homecoming games. More recently, William and Mary has greeted its alumni with dominating performances as the program has won seven of its last eight Homecoming tilts, including six by double-digit margins. Offensively, the team is averaging nearly 33 points during the span.

Including last season's final minute, 35-31, loss to Villanova, William and Mary has only disappointed Homecoming crowds three times in the last 18 events (1997, 1998, 2006).

As an alum, head coach Jimmye Laycock has excelled in front of the home crowd, as he sports an 18-9 all-time Homecoming record.

The Tribe's first Homecoming game was held in 1926, a 14-0 win over George Washington University.

Formidable Foe

The Homecoming crowd will get to see the Tribe match up against one the nation's elite teams. The Minutemen are ranked fourth in the national polls and are coming off an appearance in the national championship game last season against Appalachian State. Again, UMass is also riding a 12-game conference-winning streak. Head coach Don Brown's program gave Boston College, ranked second in this week's BCS standings, a four-quarter battle before eventually falling 24-14 on Sept. 29. In its six games against fellow FCS competition, UMass has simply been dominant, winning five of its six games by double digits. Three of its four league wins on the year have been by 17, or more.

Looking to Rebound

Included in the 12-game conference win streak run by the Minutemen was a dominating 48-7 win over the Tribe last season. The 41-point margin of defeat is the largest in the College's 15-seasons of league play. UMass out rushed the College by 240 yards (278-30) and scored at least 10 points in each quarter.

One bright spot for the Tribe was the play of quarterback Mike Potts, who stood tall in the pocket in throwing a career-high 50 times with 27 completions for 244 yards and a score. Senior Joe Nicholas was Potts' primary target last season, pulling in five receptions for 62 yards and the lone touchdown against the Minutemen. R.J. Archer also had two catches for 54 yards in last season's meeting.

Passing Interests

The College has remained at, or near, the top of the league in passing offense the entire season. Currently, the Tribe's average of 304.4 yards passing per game is the CAA's top figure. Led by junior all-conference candidate, quarterback Jake Phillips, the College's offense is averaging better than 31-points a contest.

UMass will counter with the league's stingiest defense, in terms of points allowed, as it is yielding a paltry 17.4 points per contest. The Minutemen, who are tied for the league lead in sacks with 22, have allowed opponents an average of just over 202 yards per game passing, while recording seven interceptions in seven games.

Last Time Out

The 21-20 win at Maine snapped a three-game losing skid against the CAA's Northern Division. The College bounced back from a 14-point first-half deficit to score 21-straight points against the Black Bears. Once the offense gave the College the lead, the defense maintained it, as the young unit turned in a spirited effort in holding Maine to only two fourth-quarter field goals.

The Tribe's defensive unit yielded just two conversions on 10 Black Bear third down attempts. It was the team's second best effort on third downs this season with the top coming in the team's 63-16 win in Lexington when it limited VMI to just two conversions in 12 attempts.

The offense was able to establish its season high in time of possession, as it held the ball for 33:09. This number was bolstered significantly by the fourth quarter performance the unit put together, as the team ground 10:08 off the clock in the crucial period. Included in this was a game clinching, 10-play, 49-yard drive that featured nine rushes by senior tailback Tony Viola, two third-down conversions and three total first downs. The methodical march ran off the final 4:46 of the game clock to preserve the one-point win.

Crowded

Saturday's game will be one of the many events the campus is providing as part of its Homecoming activities. A large crowd is expected. Last season's game on Homecoming weekend against Villanova drew 10,629, 87% of capacity. If this year's contest draws a five-figure crowd, it will mark the eighth time in the last 10 home games that W&M has gone over the 10,000 mark.

Of the Tribe's top 10 crowds since 1997, when the College readjusted its capacity figure for Zable from 15,000 to 13,279 – then reduced further to its current 12,259, six have occurred over the past two seasons.

Currently, the Tribe's average attendance of 10,354 over its first three home contests ranks second to last year's average of 10,645 since the 1997 season.

Hard Road

Including Saturday's game against 6-1 UMass, the College's remaining four opponents have a combined record of 23-5. Each are currently ranked in the FCS' top-15 (No. 4 UMass, No. 6 James Madison, No. 14 Richmond and No. 15 Hofstra). Additionally, of the remaining opponent's five losses, three of those defeats were to FBS teams.

The Last Time

One has to go back to the 2001 season to find the last time W&M has won the last five games of a regular season. That year, the season-ending surge propelled the squad to a share of the Atlantic 10 Title and an NCAA postseason bid.

That year, a dominant Homecoming performance over an 18th-ranked Maine squad set the stage for what turned out to be an exciting final three-game stretch. The 42-10 win vs. the Black Bears was the second of the five wins in the final stretch.

Big Start

The 42 combined first quarter points Villanova and W&M scored was a school-record for the Laycock era. The previous record was 37, set in 1985 when Temple ran out to a 28-9 lead after the opening stanza.

The single quarter record for the Laycock era came in the 1988 season, when the College combined with Georgia to score 45 points in the second quarter. The Bulldogs accounted for 35 of those points in what became an eventual 59-24 win over the Tribe.

The NCAA record for first quarter points is 49, set between Portland State and Delaware State in 1990. The record for points in any quarter is 50, set between Alabama State and Prairie View in 1991.

Did You Know?

Coming into this season, in 11 total victories since the beginning of the 2005 season only one had come with the Tribe scoring fewer than 27 points, a 14-13 win at Liberty in 2006.

This season, the College has doubled that number in just seven games, as it has won 21-20 at Maine and 27-22 against Towson.

Taking that one step further, the College has won and scored fewer than 27 points only four times in its last 34 victories, dating back to the 2002 season.

Wave That Flag

W&M continues to be the least penalized team in the CAA, as the Tribe average of 40.1 penalty yards per game is the lowest in the league. W&M has been penalized a league-low 34 times in seven games.

Offensive Notes

Quality Quarterback

Junior quarterback Jake Phillips continued his standout play on what is shaping up to be an all-conference caliber season for the College. In helping the College to the victory over Maine, Phillips completed 23 of his 37 attempts for 255 yards and two scores.

The following are some bullet points, highlighting a few of his achievements to this point:

- The performance vs. Maine was his sixth 240-plus yard effort in seven games this season.
- He has now thrown for two, or more, touchdowns in six of seven games. The only game he didn't achieve the number was at Virginia Tech.
- Overall his total of 1,978 passing yards is the top figure in the CAA and is seventh nationally.
- His total of 14 touchdown passes is second in the league and ties him for 12th nationally.
- Phillips' average of 293.3 yards per game of total offense is second in the league and 11th nationally.
- He established the school's single game record for passing yards in the season's first contest, by throwing for 433 yards in the loss to Delaware.
- On the season, just 30 of his 125 completions have gone for less than 10 yards. Phillips' average of 15.82 yards per completion is the top figure among FCS quarterbacks who have connected on 65, or more, passes on the season and the third-highest figure among all quarterbacks ranked in the top 100 in total passing yards (the national leader is averaging 22.9 yards on just 63 completions).
- He reached the 1,000-yard mark in just three games, making him the quickest to the figure in school history. The previous record was four (done many times).

Productive

With the pair of touchdown passes at Maine, Phillips has now accounted for 17 total touchdowns (14 passing and three rushing) on the season and his average of 14.57 points responsible for a contest ranks 15th nationally.

For his career, he has produced a total of 43 total scores (31 passing, 12 rushing) in just 24 appearances, an average of nearly two touchdowns (1.9) per appearance.

Protective

Through seven games and 214 attempts, Phillips has thrown just four interceptions. The numbers are even more impressive when looking at games against fellow FCS competition, as three of his picks came at Virginia Tech. Against FCS teams, Phillips has yielded just one interception in 174 attempts with 14 touchdown passes.

Chart Climbing

Phillips' 255-yard effort on Saturday evening moved his career total to 4,305 passing yards, the eighth highest figure in school history. He now rests 234 yards from passing Chris Garrity and his seventh place total of 4,536 yards set between 1979-81.

Phillips' two touchdown tosses against the Black Bears moved his career total to 31, which vaulted him into the eighth position on the career listing, past Dan Darragh's 30, set between 1965-67.

Phillips' 280 yards of total offense in Orono moved his career total to 4,630 yards and past Bill Deery (4,589, 1972-74) into eighth place on the all-time listing.

He also ranks eighth and ninth in the school's pass completions (318) and passing attempts (547) all-time listings, respectively. (See complete listing on page 10)

Crystal Ball

If Phillips were to maintain his current average of 282.6 passing yards per game, he would become just the fourth quarterback in school history to eclipse the 3,000-yard passing mark in a season. Only two Tribe quarterbacks, former All-Americans Mike Cook (1995-98) and Lang Campbell (2002-04), have accomplished the feat during an 11-game regular season. Campbell holds the school's 11-game standard, as he threw for 3,037 yards during the 2004 regular season, on his way to winning the Payton Award. Cook's 1998 total of 3,028 passing yards sits second on the school's 11-game record books. Phillips' current average would put him at 3,146 yards.

Viola Valuable

Senior tailback Tony Viola got only his second touch of the game at Maine at the 11-minute mark of the fourth quarter. But he made the most of his opportunity, as he pounded out a 3-yard touchdown run which gave the College its first lead, 21-14. His next carry wouldn't come until 4:46 remained and the Tribe was clinging to a tenuous 21-20 lead. At this point, the staff had committed to the idea of pounding out the final minutes of the game going head-to-head with Maine's eight and nine-man fronts. The 6-1, 216-pound Viola was the obvious hammer for the heavy work that loomed and he responded to the challenge by carrying the ball eight times for 37 yards on what was a 10-play, 49-yard drive that resulted in three Tribe first downs and ran all of the remaining time off the clock to secure the victory for the College.

The call to fourth-quarter carries is nothing new to Viola this season as 161 of his 201 rushing yards have come in the fourth quarter of games. He is averaging 4.4 yards a carry in the fourth quarter over his 37 attempts. All three of his rushing touchdowns have come in the second half of contests, with two of the three being fourth-quarter scores.

Viola ended the game with 10 carries for 44 yards at Maine, 40 of which came in the fourth quarter and stood as his second largest fourth quarter effort on the year. His top performance came in an equally tense win over Liberty, in which Viola carried 13 times for 54 yards between the fourth quarter and both overtime periods. -Continued on next page-

Tribe Football Honor Roll

CAA Defensive Player of the Week

Derek Cox - Oct. 1

CAA Special Teams Player of the Week

Brian Pate - Sept. 17

CAA Rookie of the Week

Cameron Dohse - Oct. 15

SME Network Weekly Stars

Drew Atchison (TE) - Sept. 4, Sept. 18

Viola is currently second on the team in rushing yards, trailing redshirt freshman Courtland Marriner's total of 262 yards (on 59 attempts).

Dohse's Debut Impressive

Redshirt freshman wide receiver Cameron Dohse continued what has been a break out season, as he established career highs in both receptions (7), receiving yards (123) and touchdowns (2) against Maine. The performance earned him the CAA's Rookie of the Week honors.

It was the second consecutive outing that Dohse breached the 100-yard receiving mark, as he set short-lived career highs in catches (6) and receiving yards (117) at Villanova on Oct. 6. Also included in his evening was a slick 24-yard touchdown grab.

Few could have predicted that the 6-0, 186-pound product of Centreville High (Clifton, Va.) would have much of an opportunity to make an impact coming into the season, as the College appeared to be loaded at the position. But, a preseason injury to one incumbent starter, senior Joe Nicholas, and then a season ending injury to another featured receiver (D.J. McAulay) in the team's first game provided an opportunity that Dohse grabbed with both hands.

Dohse is averaging an impressive 19.9 yards per catch over his 21 receptions on the season for a total of 417 yards and has a team-high five touchdown receptions. Amazingly, each of his scoring grabs has been over 20 yards (22, 24, 27, 31 and 33).

While Joe Nicholas' freshman school records for receptions (66) and receiving yards (799) seem to be slightly out of reach with just four games remaining, Dohse does have an outside chance of making a run at former Tribe great Dave Conklin's freshman record of nine touchdown receptions.

Perspective

The last Tribe player to record back-to-back 100-yard receiving games was All-American wide receiver Dominique Thompson, who went for 118 and 185 yards in back to back games against Hampton and Delaware in the first and second rounds of the 2004 NCAA Playoffs.

Multiple-time All-American Rich Musinski was the last Tribe player to record three-straight 100-yard receiving games, as he put up four consecutive 100-yard efforts between the sixth and ninth games of the 2002 season.

Elliott Mack Also Enjoying Breakout Season

While Dohse has been a steady presence in the receiving corps, speedy junior Elliott Mack has the ability to provide the spectacular for the Tribe's attack. He currently leads the Tribe in receiving yards (446) and his 24 catches and four touchdowns rank second.

On Oct. 6 at Villanova, Mack went over the 100-yard receiving mark, with a three-catch, 105-yard effort. His evening against the Wildcats was highlighted by an impressive 73-yard touchdown catch and run.

With the aforementioned injury to McAulay, Mack is now the team's most dangerous deep threat. He has turned in scoring plays of 73 and 61 yards already on the year, making him the first Tribe player since All-American Dominique Thompson (2004) to score on a pair of 60-plus yard touchdown plays in the same season.

Steady Archer

Sophomore wide receiver R.J. Archer continues to make plays for the Tribe offense. Archer hauled in four receptions for 29 yards in the victory at Maine, one game after he brought down five receptions for 57 yards at Villanova. Archer has raised his season total to a team-high 25 catches for 305 yards. Archer extended his streak of consecutive games with at least one catch to 18, which accounts for every career appearance. He has caught at least two passes in 14-straight appearances, including three, or more, in the last four games. Against Towson, Archer recorded three receptions for 30 yards, and at Virginia Tech, Archer recorded three receptions as well for 39 yards.

After seeing action in all 11 games of the 2006 season as a wide receiver, Archer concentrated his entire spring, summer and the great majority of his fall camp work outs competing for the starting quarterback position. But, Archer stepped back into the starting line-up at receiver in the season opener due to injuries at the position and didn't miss a beat, contributing five receptions for 58 yards in the season opener.

Elite Atchison

While tight end Drew Atchison's 6-7, 255-pound frame and good hands have attracted the attention of NFL scouts, the senior has also attracted the attention of opposing defenses. Over the last three games, Atchison has been limited to just four receptions for a total of 38 yards. At Maine, Atchison had two receptions for 14 yards, a week after being held to one catch for 21 yards at Villanova.

Atchison's imposing presence, and the resulting attention defenses give him, has opened up the field for the rest of the offense, especially the Tribe's receiving corps (see notes above).

Atchison could become only the second tight end in Laycock's 28-year tenure to lead the team in either receptions or receiving yards. Glenn Bodnar (1982-84) did both in 1984, establishing team position records for both single-season receptions (69) and receiving yards (757). The position record for single-season touchdowns is held by Mike Leach (1998-99), who had six touchdowns to go along with 58 catches for 653 yards in 1998.

Atchison has two 100-yard receiving games against Delaware (139) and Liberty (103). He contributed several big plays in the team's double overtime win vs. Liberty, but none bigger than his 15-yard, diving touchdown catch in the first overtime period. In fact, five of his six catches against the Flames were for 15-yards, or more. He also had one of the team's biggest offensive plays in the season opener with Delaware, as he brought down a 50-yard touchdown catch and run. His 139-yard effort stands as the best single-game performance for a Tribe tight end since Glenn Bodnar set the school's position record with a 183-yard performance vs. Colgate in 1983. Atchison's six-receptions against the Blue Hens are the most for a Tribe tight end since 1999, when current Denver Bronco, Mike Leach, had seven receptions for 64 yards in a 30-20 loss to James Madison.

Atchison has now caught a pass in 12 straight contests for the College. His last game without a reception came in the sixth game of last season at Liberty.

Tribe Tidbits

- Redshirt freshman wide out Eric Roberston made the most of his first opportunity at extending playing time, as he made five catches in the second half of the game at Villanova. The five grabs were the first of his career and were good for 56 yards.
- As a team, the College is average a very impressive 14.8 yards per reception over 144 total catches. Last year's squad averaged just 11.9 yards on 190 chances. Overall, the College has 14 touchdown receptions in just seven games, compared to last season's 11-game total of 16.

Defensive Notes

Strong Second Half Helps Tribe Win at Maine

The defensive effort in the second half played a huge role in the Tribe's 21-20 win at Maine on Oct. 13. Despite a tough first half, the defense buckled down in the second half and allowed only a pair of late Black Bear field goals to secure the victory. Taking into account Maine had first downs inside the Tribe 25-yard line on both field goal drives, the defensive stands were even more critical.

After W&M took the lead 21-14 in the fourth, Maine reached the red zone on its next possession and had a first down at the Tribe 16. A key sack by Adrian Tracy on third down though left the Black Bears with only a 32-yard field goal. On the Tribe's next possession, a fumbled punt snap gave it right back to Maine at the W&M 24-yard line. Maine managed only five yards on three plays, thanks in part to a key pass break-up by Derek Cox on second down, and again settled for a field goal, before the Tribe ran out the clock on offense.

W&M allowed only 132 total yards in the second half, and the Black Bears were just 1-for-5 on third down conversions after halftime. Also, only 51 of Maine's 125 yards passing came in the second half.

Maine was also denied on a fourth-down conversion attempt early in the third quarter, a stop that helped swing the momentum in the Tribe's favor. Facing a fourth-and-one at the W&M 11-yard line leading 14-7, Maine running back Jamal Fluellen was stacked up for no gain by linebackers Josh Rutter and Wes Steinman, resulting in a turnover on downs. W&M went on to tie the game on its ensuing possession.

Defense Gets Two Fourth-Down Stops At Maine

Along with the big fourth quarter stop mentioned in the previous note, the defense also had a key fourth down stop in the first half at Maine. Already trailing 7-0, the Tribe was again faced with a daunting situation when Maine handed the ball off five-straight times to Fluellen and reached the W&M 34-yard line. Fluellen, who rushed for 197 yards in the game, had his number called one more time on fourth-and-one, but tackle Derek Toon and others greeted Fluellen in the backfield for a 2-yard loss and turnover on downs.

Third Down Success A Winning Trend

Maine's lone successful third-down conversion in the second half matched its total from the first half, as the Black Bears were just 2-for-10 on third-down tries against the Tribe in the game. In the Tribe's four victories this season, opponents have converted 30.2% of their third-down attempts (16-for-53). Conversely, in the Tribe's three losses, opponents have had a 47.7% success rate on third downs (21-for-44). For the season, opponents have a 39.1 success rate on third down, which ranks sixth in the league.

Getting Better Late

Discounting the Villanova game which got away from the Tribe early, the defense's strong second half in the win over Maine also continued another growing optimistic trend. Prior to Maine, in the victory over Towson on Sept. 29, the Tribe also turned in a strong second-half performance. After allowing points on three of Towson's first four possessions in the first half, W&M settled in and surrendered only six points over the final 30 minutes. In fact, after the Tigers took a 13-0 lead, the Tribe surrendered only 204 total yards the rest of the afternoon, 84 of which came on the final Towson touchdown drive early in the fourth quarter, forced three turnovers and allowed only two first-down conversions on 10 Towson attempts.

Going back to the Virginia Tech game on Sept. 22, the Hokies, Towson and Maine were a combined 4-for-20 on third down conversion attempts. Virginia Tech was 1-for-8. In those same three games, W&M has surrendered only 15 points in the second half.

Pass Defense Leads the Conference

On the strength of holding Maine to 125 yards passing, W&M continued to lead the CAA in pass defense in this week's statistical report. The Tribe is allowing a league-low 169.4 yards passing per game. Opponents are averaging 6.6 yards per completion against the Tribe, a figure that is third-best in the league. In fact, after a solid effort at Maine for the young unit, the Tribe's ranking for total defense jumped to eighth in the league (389.6).

Youth Movement on Defense

A look at the Tribe's roster reveals only three seniors on the defensive side of the ball, while a glance at the two deep shows nine redshirt or true freshmen and an additional eight redshirt or true sophomores. This season, seven defensive players have made their first career start, including most recently true freshman tackle Michael Stover who started at Maine. An additional 10 players have seen the playing field for the first time this season. Six sophomores have started, and the 10 players to see their first collegiate snaps this season are redshirt freshmen Evan Francks (LB), Michael Alvarado (DB), Bryan Jean-Pierre (DL), Derek Toon (DL), Carl Watts (DL), Nick Dewispelaere (LB), Wes Steinman (LB) and Ben Cottingham (DB) and true freshmen Terrell Wells (DB) and Stover.

Tribe Among CAA Statistical Leaders

Sophomore strong safety David Caldwell is sixth in tackles per game in this week's CAA stats report, averaging 9.3 stops per game. On the strength of his nine-tackle effort against Towson, Caldwell leads the team and has the league's top mark for an underclassmen with 65 total tackles. Junior linebacker Josh Rutter was also in the top 15, ranking 13th with an average of 8.3 tackles per game. Classmate Michael Pigrum (7.4) was 19th and sophomore Robert Livingston wasn't far behind, ranking 21st with 7.3 tackles per game. With three interceptions, Derek Cox is tied for the league lead in both total interceptions and passes defended.

Caldwell Leads Tribe In Tackles

Sophomore strong safety David Caldwell is building a case for postseason honors, turning in another strong performance in the win over Maine. Caldwell shared the team lead against the Black Bears with nine total tackles.

This season, Caldwell leads the Tribe with 65 tackles, including a team-best 35 unassisted stops. He has 4.5 stops behind the line of scrimmage, one forced fumble and an interception.

He recorded a career-high 15 total tackles, including 1.5 for loss, earlier this season in the win at VMI, surpassing his previous career mark of 10 set last year against Richmond. Caldwell's 15 stops were the highest single-game tackle total since former safety James Miller ('06) recorded 16 at Villanova in 2005. Caldwell also forced a fumble against the Keydets and broke up a pass.

Tracy Gets Back on Track

Sophomore defensive end Adrian Tracy continued his recent strong play with a seven-tackle effort in the win at Maine. Included in the performance was Tracy's second solo quarterback sack of the season, a key play in the fourth quarter that came on a third down situation. For his effort, Tracy was named the coaching staff's defensive player of the week.

Tracy turned in an impressive effort at Virginia Tech on Sept. 22, collecting a game and season-high 3.0 tackles for loss and finishing with six total tackles in all, including five unassisted stops. He continued the resurgence the following week against Towson with six unassisted tackles, including a solo TFL, and then led team in tackles at Villanova on Oct. 6 with nine total stops. Tracy, who led the Tribe and all league rookies in 2006 in tackles for loss (15.5) and quarterback sacks (6.0), grabbed his first passer sack of the season against the Hokies and brought his TFL total to 6.5 against Maine.

Cox's Performance Gains League Award

Junior Derek Cox was named the CAA Defensive Player of the Week for his effort in the Tribe's win over Towson, becoming the first Tribe player to earn the award since Stephen Cason (2001-05) in 2005. Cox recorded a pair of interceptions against the Tigers, becoming the first Tribe defender to accomplish the feat since 2005 and added an additional three pass break-ups.

With opponent's offensives often directing their attack away from Cox, the junior was putting together a solid, but rather quiet season, up until the Towson game. Since then, Cox was credited with four solo stops at Villanova and followed with a game-high eight unassisted tackles in the victory at Maine. Though he wasn't credited with a pass break-up, Cox had a hand in forcing a key incompleting in the fourth quarter that helped hold the Black Bears to a field goal. Cox leads the CAA in total interceptions with three and is also tied for the league lead in passes defended per game (1.14).

Rutter Continues Solid Play

Junior linebacker Josh Rutter has been a key leader and consistent contributor for the young Tribe defense this season, ranking among the team leaders in nearly every statistical category. His return to form this season, after missing eight games in 2006 due to a knee injury, has been a welcome boost. Rutter shared the team lead with nine total tackles in the victory at Maine and broke up a pass. He is second on the squad with 57 stops and has four pass break-ups, one sack and two fumble recoveries.

Rutter led all league rookies as a redshirt freshman in 2005 with 109 total tackles and tallied 6.5 tackles for loss that season. He has seven career double-digit tackle games, including two this season. After missing the final eight games of 2006, Rutter came back strong this fall with 11 total tackles in the season opener against Delaware. At Virginia Tech, Rutter accomplished a first, recording a quarterback sack against the Hokies. It was one of a season-high four sacks for the Tribe. In the win over Liberty, Rutter recorded 15 stops, one shy of his career-mark set in 2005 against Marshall.

Rutter is averaging 8.3 tackles per game, which is 13th in the CAA. He also is second in the league with two fumble recoveries.

Defensive Quick Hits

- True freshman Michael Stover made his first career start at defensive tackle at Maine and recorded four total tackles.
- Stover is the seventh defensive player to make his first career start this season.
- Redshirt freshman tackle Derek Toon recorded a career-high four total tackles at Maine, including an unassisted TFL.
- Sophomore Fred Johnson was credited with a season-high four total tackles, including two solos, at Maine.

Comments From Monday's CAA Football Coaches Conference Call:

• You've bounced back well from a couple of tough losses this season, winning two in a row after Delaware and then beating Maine after the loss to Villanova. How good of a job is this team doing, especially considering their youth and being resilient this season?

JL: Well, I think I see it where they come back and don't hang their heads. They practice well, and they're attentive and that's all you can ask for. You try to make corrections.

Sometimes, games get away from you. But, we're getting better in some areas, and I hope we continue that.

• You've been around this league a long time, looking at a schedule now where you close out the season with four nationally ranked teams, how tough is this schedule coming down the stretch?

JL: It's a very strong league from top to bottom and you're going to have people competing for national rankings and playoffs, a lot of teams will be competing for the league championship. We're going to be facing good teams every week and a great team this week in UMass.

• With the bye week, did you get some guys healthy?

JL: Well, hopefully a lot of guys got themselves back healthy. I know we got rid of some shoulder injuries, some sore knees, things that had been bothering a few guys. With [defensive tackle] Sean Lissemore, I don't know whether or not we'll have him back this week. We'll have to see how practice goes. I think having an open day this late in the season, you can approach it in different ways, and we approached it with the idea we've got to work hard to get better and then give them some days off to see if they can heal up a bit. We'll practice tonight and see how they are.

• How helpful is it to come off a bye week going into a match up like this?

JL: I'll tell you in about a week. This is a tough one, whether you're coming off a bye week or a win or whatever. It doesn't change that this is a very good team we're facing. A team that we had a lot of trouble with up there last year, and they've been playing very well. They're very physical, very talented, very well coached. None of that changes. Again, we hope we're getting better, we hope we've improved, and then we hope we get a little spring back in our step at this stage in the season and we'll go from there.

• Can you talk about some of [UMass]' guys. Does their defense concern you?

JL: Their whole defense concerns me. The way they play, coach Brown does a great job with their defense so far as mixing it up and giving you so many different looks. David Burns, the defensive end, he's quick and he can play. He's a good player. They've got a lot of good players. Miles in the secondary is quick around the football, makes a lot of plays. You could just name them all really. I'm really impressed with the intensity of which they play.

• How has defensive coordinator Bob Shoop changed the way you guys are approaching defense?

JL: I think he's put his mark on it so far as game wise and being solid about it and how we do things. I think he's done a very good job.

• On the subject of the bye week, practice-wise was it moving around, was it scrimmaging?

JL: We had a good week, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. We didn't scrimmage, but we went pretty hard. We really took the approach of backing off and working with ourselves, meaning not so much game planning, as going back and checking technique and fundamentals and that's what we really worked on. Thursday, we had a nice rain storm during practice which gave us the chance to work on a wet ball which we haven't had at all this year, so we practiced pretty good in the rain on Thursday which we hadn't done so that helped us I hope.

• UMass quarterback Liam Coen has been banged up a little bit lately, is there a way to prepare to play against him and then [back-up] Scott Woodward, or do you just prepare for one quarterback?

JL: We just try to play and then adjust as the game goes on. Their scheme is very solid and with Coen in there he runs the show very very well. He knows how to move the ball around to the open receivers, he gets good protection and they have such a good running game too. The offensive line is solid. There's a reason why they're one of the top teams in the nation. They're very solid. They're very good.

In the Spotlight

Matt Otey, Senior, Fullback

• Where are you from?

Hershey, PA.

• Have you ever worked at the chocolate factory or had anything to do with it?

No. But, you get your fair share of it just living in the town of Hershey. When they say the town smells like chocolate, they're not kidding. We're out there doing two-a-days in the summer for high school football and the smell overwhelms the town when they're making the chocolate.

• Obviously with such a landmark in your hometown, you never have to explain where you're from, right?

Well, I have a little bit of a problem, because I was only in Hershey for three years. My dad works for Norfolk Southern Railroad and we moved around a lot. I was actually born right down the road here in Norfolk. Then, I spent anywhere from four to five years in various places. I started in Norfolk then went to Bluefield, Va. to Forrest, Va. right outside of Lynchburg, and then from there to Salem, Va. right outside of Roanoke. I was there for four to five years, and then from there to Hershey for my last three years of high school.

• That covers a lot of ground . . .

Yeah, I have a lot of connections in a lot of different places. All my family is from the Roanoke area and my grandparents still live there, my mom and dad went to high school there. Holidays, thanksgiving and Christmas, that's where you'll find us.

• Did you do any non-sports related activities in high school?

I was involved in a lot of different things. The kind of stuff you get drawn into just being in high school. I was involved with different programs like FCA, German National Honor Society, and there were a lot of community activities that we did through the football program.

• What was one that stood out in your mind?

My father was the rec league football coach in Hershey and myself and some guys on the team would help coach and run camps for the kids in high school over the summers. Just being able to work with the younger kids brought back memories of my being in that stage of my life. I really enjoyed that opportunity.

• Do you think coaching might be in your future?

Definitely. I love football so much that I know once I'm done here it won't just leave. My dad had such a great impact on me, coaching me all the way through rec league. I don't know if I work with coaching professionally, but at some level I'd love to be able to work with young kids.

Kinesiology. I am getting a Bachelors of Science in Kinesiology and hoping to turn that into a doctorate of physical therapy. I am applying to programs right now.

• Where did your interest in the profession begin?

I got introduced to it through a high school football coach in Hershey. A guy named Luke Dreier, he owned his own physical therapy business. He really turned me on to the profession and really sparked my interest in it.

• Unfortunately in your time here you've had a couple of reasons to have a first hand introduction to it.

Yeah, starting all the way from freshman year of high school, the first injury I remember was snapping my hamstring doing the triple jump in the regional finals. I started doing some physical therapy then, very next year I moved to Hershey and snapped my other hamstring. They never were the same; I did a lot of physical therapy with them in Hershey. And that really got it started for me. Once I got here, I've had injuries with ankles, ribs, and just some other common things that come with playing football. You really gain a great appreciation for the athletic trainers and therapists that are there to help you get back to where you want to be and to bring you back to the type of player you were before the injury. There is a very mental and emotional aspect to rehab; if you don't have good people working with you it makes your rehabilitation process that much harder. Which made it very important to me to have good people around and I value that a lot and I'd like to be able to bring that other athletes in a similar situation.

• You feel like you'll have a perspective on the business going into it?

Absolutely. I have a really good perspective, just from personal experience. Being around it and seeing things that I felt were done well and things I didn't think were done well. Just being an athlete and being a patient, you learn a lot. I think the experience will really help me coming in from the provider's point of view.

• As a redshirt freshman in 2004 you made an impact on one of the College's greatest teams. Tracking your career from there, you have been in and out of the lineup fairly regularly, basically due to injuries.

Well, it's a lot to do with injuries and some to do with our personnel. As a program, you want to put your best 11 on the field all the time. In my redshirt freshman year I had the chance to get out there and help. We had a great tailback in John Smith and of course we had Lang Campbell who was obviously the captain of that offense and to be able to get out there and do my small part to help the team was great. Then when you mix in guys like Adam Bratton and Matt Trinkle, who were great tight ends, you can't not have those guys on the field. We also had good wide receivers, so I kind of got bumped back a little bit. I still got my chance to get in there and make an impact with what I do well, which is lead blocking. It definitely took some patience because as a competitor and an athlete you want to be out there as much as possible, not only for yourself but for your team. It definitely takes a lot of patience and self-discipline to be able to bide your time and just wait for your opportunities. Injuries, of course, make that even harder. Knowing what you feel like you're capable of and then not being able to come through on the other end because of physical things that are holding you back.

• Walk us through some of the injuries you've had here.

I've had a pair of high ankle sprains, sprained a ligament in my knee and broke two ribs last season. That kept me out for five games. It's just been a variety of things that have added up. I've been lucky in the fact that I've never had a real serious surgery. I've been lucky in that regard that I've never lost a whole season, but it's been a lot of little things that have kind of just slowed me down and never really let me go full speed.

• You're at full speed right now. How important do you think it is to your class, and this program, to come together for these last four games and finish strong?

It's definitely very important for us. Especially when we had the really good season in 2004, then 2005 and 2006 were not up to our expectations. We felt like we were better teams than what our records were showing. The one thing you learn from day one in football is that having fun is really important, but what people are going to judge you on is what happens in that win-loss column. Although we had a great group of guys in the past two seasons, people aren't remembering that, they're remembering 3-8 and 5-6. We want to make it, especially as a senior class, so that we can sit there and say not only do we have a great group of guys that worked their tails off to be a good football team but we can show it in the win-loss column as well. Right now, we're 4-3. We could end up being 4-7 or we could be 8-3. That's a huge difference in the legacy you leave behind. It's going to take a lot of hard work and focus for each game, we take it one at a time and just put everything we have into every single week. You get a much better perspective when you're a fifth year. Because you know those four games are the last four games of your life. You're not going to have anything left after that. If it means anything to you, which I think it means a lot to everyone in this fifth-year class, we're going to give everything we've got and put everything into it.

• Do you think there's something about the makeup of this team that we're able to rebound from some disappointments to come together?

I think it's the team attitude of just knowing that we have good players. We have guys that work hard and knowing that has just put us in the mindset that we're not going to accept less than our best. And if we sit there and we have a bad game, say the offense has a bad game and the defense plays great, the defense expects us to pick it up and vice versa. We feel a certain responsibility to each other. Fighting for the man next to you knowing that when that guy is out there playing great, really working his tail off, and I have a responsibility to live up to my end of the deal which is to be out there playing my butt off and working hard, too.

• Does the fact this weekend's game vs. UMass is Homecoming add anything extra?

Definitely... I wouldn't want to say there is any added pressure, but motivation would be the word. Being here five years, all the guys you've played with before are gone, and they're the ones in the stands sitting there watching you on the field seeing what you're doing. And they'll remember how it was when they were there with you and now they want to see how it is when they're not there. It's definitely motivation to go out and be like 'Hey, we're holding this down even though you're not here any more. You showed us the way, now we're here showing these guys the way.' And it's just the circular pattern of being there and then leaving. I mean next year I'll be coming back and seeing how the guys are doing. It's one of those things you want to make those guys you played with proud and be proud to be apart of Tribe tradition and Tribe football.

• What do you think is going to be the first thing that goes through your mind when your senior season is finished?

That's tough. It's probably going to be surreal for me. I don't think it'll sink in until the next football season rolls around or until spring ball rolls around and I'm not the one out there. I've been playing football since I was in first grade. It's always been there. There were plenty of times where I was like, 'Man I don't know if I can do this, I don't know if I can keep it up.' The one thing that kept bringing me back was that I can't imagine going through a year without having football in my life. Playing football and being out there with the guys and just doing it... it's going to be tough. At the same time, that's the reason you go out there and do it. If it wasn't going to end at some point then it probably wouldn't be as meaningful to you.

I'm big into music. I play guitar, and I play piano. In middle school, I was in the band, I played trumpet and baritone. I sang in a church choir and I enjoy that aspect of life probably because it is very different from football. Football is very physical and very aggressive, and music is more about being able to express yourself through a totally different medium. I think music sometimes is a whole lot harder for me than football, but once you learn to play a song to be able to write lyrics to a song and to be able to do something and have someone, without saying a word, being able to relate to what that guy was feeling or thinking. I think that's a tremendous thing. I'm always learning and trying to get better.

• Have you written your own stuff?

Yeah I've written a couple of my own things. I'm very self critical in that area though.

Game 7

William and Mary 21, Maine 20

Oct. 13 | Orono, Maine | Alfond Stadium | 3 p.m.

ORONO, Maine (10/13/07) -- Tony Viola's fourth-quarter touchdown run, and a strong defensive effort in the second half helped William and Mary hang on for a 21-20 victory at Maine.

Jake Phillips passed for 255 yards and two touchdowns, both to Cameron Dohse, and engineered two long second-half scoring drives, but it was Viola's late hard running and the defense limiting Maine to two fourth-quarter field goals that secured the Tribe's second CAA win.

Viola finished with 44 yards rushing with 36 of those yards coming on nine fourth-quarter attempts. Viola's 3-yard run with 11:13 remaining capped a 90-yard, 13-play drive that gave W&M its first lead, 21-14.

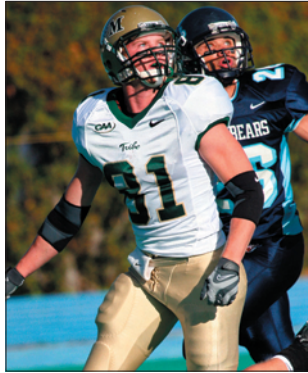

Maine, which managed only one first down on five third down tries and 132 total yards in the second half, reached the Tribe 12-yard line on its next possession but settled for a 32-yard field goal after Adrian Tracy sacked Adam Farkes on third down.

A fumbled punt snap after a three-and-out gave it right back to Maine deep in Tribe territory at the 24-yard line, but the Black Bears would again settle for three points after a big defensive stand.

Dohse finished with seven receptions for 123 yards, both career highs, and scored on receptions of 31 and 33 yards. It was the second-straight 100-yard receiving game for the redshirt freshman.

Elliott Mack finished with five receptions for 53 yards, and R.J. Archer had four catches for 29 yards. Thomas Schonder rushed for 34 yards on carries, and Courtland Marriner ran for 33 yards.

Josh Rutter paced the defensive effort with 9 total tackles, and Derek Cox recorded eight unassisted stops. Adrian Tracy recorded a solo pass sack, and Derek Toon had an unassisted tackle for loss on a fourth down play in the first half.

Cameron Dohse had seven catches for 123 yards and two touchdowns at Maine.
