SCOUTING DREXEL

Drexel had its seven-match winning streak snapped last week as it dropped both its CAA contests over the weekend. The Dragons fell to Hofstra, 1-0, at home and at Northeastern, 2-0. Drexel is currently second in the CAA at 6-2, while holding an overall record of 9-4-2.

The Dragons have been one of the top defenses in the CAA for most of the season and rank among the national leaders. Drexel ranks 33rd nationally in shutout percentage, having blanked seven of their 15 opponents, and 31st nationally in goals against average at 0.76.

Anthony Bafile leads the Dragons in scoring with 14 points on five goals and four assists. Nate Baker is second on the team in points (8) and goals (3) to go along with two assists. Fabio Assumpcao (1g, 3a), Thiago Assumpcao (1g, 3a) and Leland Raum (2g, 1a) each have five points for Drexel.

Cory Robertson has stated 10 games in goal for the Dragons and ranks 12th nationally in goals against average (0.56) and 27th in save percentage (0.833). He has 30 saves on the year to go along with five shutouts.

The Tribe has never lost to the Dragons, owning a 7-0 mark. W&M is 2-0 in Philadelphia. Last season, the Tribe rolled past Drexel, 4-0, in Williamsburg. Price Thomas assisted on the game-winner, while Doug Ernst tallied a pair of assists and Ryan Overdevest scored a goal.

SCOUTING DELAWARE

Delaware enters the weekend with a 2-11-2 overall mark and a 2-5-1 league ledger. The Blue Hens are coming off a weekend in which they tied Northeastern, 1-1, and fell in overtime to Hofstra, 2-1. UD's victories this season have come against James Madison, 1-0, and Georgia State, 2-0.

The Blue Hens have struggled to score goals, ranking among the NCAA's worst at 0.44 per contest. Delaware has only scored multiple goals in a game on one occasion in 2007 and been shutout nine times.

Demar Stephenson leads the Blue Hens in scoring with five points on two goals and an assist. Paul Danaher is tied with Stephenson for team-high scoring honors with two. Ben Rodkey, Tal Blau and Jon Scheer have also scored this season for UD. Tolu Olowolafe leads Delaware in assists with two. Taylor Thames has started every game in goal for Delaware. He has a goals against average of 1.83 to go along with 73 saves and three shutouts.

W&M leads the all-time series with Delaware at 7-1-1, including a 3-0-1 mark in Newark. Last season, the Blue Hens tallied their first win against the College with a 2-0 victory in Williamsburg.

IN THE NATIONAL RANKINGS

The Tribe defense has proven to be one most stout in the CAA this season, and those numbers have translated nationally as well. The College has shutout eight of its 17 opponents this season, which ranks 29th nationally for shutout percentage.

Redshirt freshman goalkeeper Andrew McAdams ranks among the national leaders in goals against average, saves per game and save percentage. His CAA-leading .847 save percentage ranks 14th nationally, while he is 23rd in saves per game. His goals against average of 0.85 ranks 44th nationally. Sophomore striker Price Thomas also ranks among the national leaders, ranking 90th in goals per game.

STOUT DEFENSE

The College has made it difficult for opponents to find the back of the net this season, especially over the last few weeks. W&M head coach Chris Norris said his team set a goal of 10 shutouts prior to the 2007 campaign and the squad is well on its way to achieving that goal. W&M has registered eight shutouts so far this season, including five in CAA play.

The Tribe's five CAA shutouts are the most ever for a W&M team, equaling the mark set by the 1987, 1998 and 2005 squads. The College leads the league in shutouts overall and in conference play, while ranking second in the CAA in goals against average during league play at 0.60.

As the season has worn on, the Tribe defense has gotten stronger. Over W&M's last 12 matches, the Tribe has shutout seven opponents and registered a goals against average of 0.62. Over that stretch, W&M is 6-3-3.

The Tribe has registered three straight shutouts heading into this weekend's matches against Drexel and Delaware. The school record for consecutive shutouts is six established in 1986.

KILLER COMBO

Heading into the 2007 campaign, W&M head coach Chris Norris was unsure of who would play the forward position for the College and where the goal-scoring production would come from. Consider both those questions answered in the form of the striker duo of sophomore Price Thomas and redshirt freshman Alan Koger.

Neither player started the season opener for the College, and Thomas actually started the season at his normal attacking midfield position. But with W&M struggling to score goals, Norris switched Thomas to forward and started Koger along side him beginning with the ODU Stihl Soccer Classic. The pair have provided W&M with the scoring punch it has needed ever since.

Over the Tribe's last 14 matches, Thomas and Koger have combined for 29 points on 12 goals and five assists. The pair comprises 66.7 percent of W&M's goal scoring and 52.7 percent of its point production. They have scored six of the College's eight game-winning goals this season and ranks first and second in points, goals and shots.

UNDER RATED, BUT NOT UNDER APPRECIATED

Junior Doug McBride has been one of the Tribe most consistent players throughout his career. One thing that can always be expected from the 5-9 dynamo is his all out effort in the middle of the pitch. That effort is starting to translate over to the stat sheet as well.

W&M head coach Chris Norris has called his co-captain holding midfielder the most under rated player in the CAA. McBride has an engine that never quits, and he is the calming influence that anchors the Tribe's defense and is integral in starting the transition from defense to attack.

After registering just one assist in his first two seasons with the Tribe, McBride has four points on a goal and two assists this season. In each of the College's last two matches, McBride has registered an assist, including the game-winning helper with 1:47 left in the College's 1-0 win over Georgia State.

KOGER NAMED CAA ROOKIE OF THE WEEK

Redshirt freshman forward Alan Koger was named the Colonial Athletic Association co-Rookie of the Week on Oct. 29 following his pair of goals in Tribe victories over Georgia State and UNC Wilmington. It marks the second time this season that Koger has been honored by the CAA, but the first rookie of the week accolade for the Spencer, Va., native. He was named the CAA Player of the Week on Sept. 17 after earning All-Tournament honors at the ODU Stihl Soccer Classic.

In the Tribe's 1-0 win over Georgia State, Koger broke a scoreless tie sending a header to the far post with just 1:47 remaining. It was his second game-winning goal of the season. Against UNC Wilmington, Koger added an insurance goal for the College in the 79th minute. The rookie striker ranks second on the team in points (13), goals (5) and assists (3).

DEFENSE CHANGES

W&M head coach Chris Norris tinkered with his defensive lineup over the opening part of the regular season, and if recent results are any indication, Norris has pushed the right buttons. The first change came prior to the ODU Stihl Soccer Classic moving redshirt freshman goalkeeper Andrew McAdams into the starting XI. The changes continued a week later as the fourth-year Tribe headman moved junior Brock Jones to center back in an attempt to solidify the backline prior to the North Carolina match.

The moves have paid dividends as W&M has posted a 7-4-3 mark to go along with a 0.74 goals against average in the 14 games since the initial change. The College shutout ACC foe North Carolina on the road on Sept. 19, before holding the nation's No. 7-ranked scoring offense, Virginia Tech, to only one goal in 110 minutes of play. W&M also has clean sheets against American, Hofstra, VCU, George Mason, Georgia State and UNCW.

To make the Tribe's defensive strides more impressive is the influx of youth in the back third of the field. The W&M lineup not only sports a first-year goalkeeper in McAdams but also includes true freshmen Nick Orozco and Michael DiNuzzo in the back along with sophomore Roger Bothe. The trio of Orozco, DiNuzzo and Bothe has started nearly every match this season for the Tribe.

In the Tribe's CAA opening wins over Hofstra and Northeastern, freshman back Derek Buckley stepped in for an injured Brock Jones in the back. The starts were the first of Buckley's W&M career.

LOOKING INTO HIS CRYSTAL BALL

W&M head coach Chris Norris has been spot on each of the last two seasons when noting Tribe players on the verge of a breakout season. Last season, Norris said he felt it was time for midfielder Doug Ernst to step to the forefront for the College, and the Alexandria, Va., native went on to lead the CAA in assists with nine. This season, Norris said he expected big things from sophomore Price Thomas, and the Charlottesville, Va., native has followed suit.

With W&M limited at the forward position this season, Thomas has stepped in to fill the void alongside blossoming redshirt freshmen striker Alan Koger. Thomas, who started 17 of 19 matches as a true freshman in the midfield, is starting to establish himself as one of the more dangerous players in the CAA with the ball at his feet. He leads W&M in scoring with 16 points on seven goals and two assists. Thomas has tallied four game-winners for the Tribe's, scoring the decisive goal against American on Sept. 25, in the CAA opener versus Hofstra on Oct. 5, vs. VCU on Oct. 14 and against UNCW on Oct. 28. He has a seven-match point streak from Sept. 22 through Oct. 14. He also scored goals in four straight matches to open the CAA portion of the schedule.

Thomas ranks among the CAA leaders on points, goals and game-winning goals. He leads the league in game-winning goals with four, while ranking third in goals (7) and sixth in points (16).

FAST CAA STARTS

The Tribe started the CAA portion of its schedule winning its opening two contest. The 2-0 start marked the College's best since the 2002 when W&M opened the conference season with a 5-0-1 record before dropping its first league match of the season.

The Tribe's 2-0 start marked the seventh time in the Tribe's 23-year history in the CAA that W&M has opened the CAA 2-0. The Tribe has started 2-0 in the CAA during the 2002, 1996, 1994, 1989, 1987 and 1986 seasons. On four of those occasions, the College went on to win the CAA regular season championship.

YOUTH MOVEMENT

A glance at the Tribe roster will bring about one common theme, youth. The W&M roster features 17 of 25 players, who are underclassmen (freshmen, redshirt freshmen and sophomores). Head coach Chris Norris has wasted little time not only putting the Tribe's youth movement on display, but relying on it to win matches for the College.

In its CAA opening wins over Hofstra and Northeastern, the W&M lineup featured six freshmen. It marked the first time in school history that six freshmen have started together in a match. In fact, in each of the Tribe's last 14 matches, five or more freshmen have started. The Tribe is 7-4-3 over that stretch.

Against Hofstra on Oct. 5, the Tribe starting XI featured redshirt freshmen Andrew McAdams and Alan Koger along with true freshmen Nick Orozco, Michael DiNuzzo, Derek Buckley and Nathaniel Baako. The youth movement didn't stop there as nine of the 11 starters were underclassmen with sophomores Roger Bothe, Price Thomas and Jeremy Harris joining the fold.

In the College's season-opening win over Elon, the starting XI featured four true freshmen (Nick Orozco, Michael DiNuzzo, Nathaniel Baako and Ian Stowe). It marked the first time in 15 years that four true freshmen started the same game. The last time a W&M starting lineup included four true freshmen was Nov. 14, 1992 when Chris Scrofani, Tim Pricso, Bill Owens and Greg Richards started the Tribe's First Round NCAA Tournament victory over West Virginia. The 1992 campaign was also the last time five freshmen started at least one game during the season as Andrew Petty started eight games as well as the four players who started the NCAA Tournament affair.

McADAMS GARNERS CAA ROOKIE OF THE WEEK HONOR

After helping the Tribe register a pair of ties against Atlantic Coast Conference foes North Carolina, 0-0, and current No. 9 Virginia Tech, 1-1, redshirt freshman goalkeeper Andrew McAdams was named CAA Rookie of the Week on Sept. 24. McAdams became the first Tribe rookie to earn the CAA weekly honor since Brennan Wergley garnered the accolade in 2005.

In the Tribe's 0-0 stalemate at North Carolina, McAdams tallied his first career shutout making 10 saves in just his third career start. The Palm Harbor, Fla., native came up with the biggest save of the game in the second overtime period. After W&M was whistled for a foul in the box, McAdams denied Scott Campbell's penalty kick with a kick save in the 105th minute of play to preserve the shutout. His 10-save performance was the best by a W&M goalkeeper since Kris Rake had 10 stops against then-No. 1 Maryland on Sept. 22, 2004.

McAdams followed that performance with a seven-save effort allowing only one goal to the nation's No. 7-ranked scoring offense in Virginia Tech. The Hokies came into the match averaging three goals a game over their five-match win streak, but could only muster a single score in a 110 minutes against the Tribe. For the week, McAdams finished with a goals against average of 0.41 against a pair of teams who have been in the national top-25 or receiving votes throughout the 2007 season.

KOGER NAMED CAA PLAYER OF THE WEEK

Redshirt freshman men's soccer player Alan Koger was named the Colonial Athletic Association Player of the Week on Sept. 17. Koger scored three goals for the Tribe at the ODU Stihl Soccer Classic on his way to earning All-Tournament team honors. Koger became the first Tribe men's soccer player this season and the 26th overall to win the CAA weekly honor.

In the College's 3-1 win over Temple, Koger earned his first career start and responded by providing a vital scoring punch for the Tribe. The Spencer, Va., native tallied goals just 2:16 apart in the opening 20 minutes of the play to stake the Tribe to a 2-0 advantage. W&M's first marker came in the 17th minute of play as Koger jumped on a rebound, heading the ball into the back of the net for the goal. At the 18:46, Koger struck again to give the Tribe a little breathing room at 2-0 as he beat the Owl goalkeeper to the ball on a service from junior midfielder Brock Jones.

Koger notched his third goal of the weekend in the Tribe's 2-1 loss to Dartmouth. The 6-2 striker scored on a breakaway following a through ball from fellow rookie Nathaniel Baako in the 30th minute of play. On the weekend, Koger registered eight shots, including six on goal.
