2007-08 TRIBE MEN'S TENNIS

CHAMPIONSHIPS

Over the last several seasons, the William and Mary men's tennis program has enjoyed a large amount of success. In 2005, the Tribe won its third CAA crown.

During the fall of 2006, Colin O'Brien and Alex Cojanu won the ITA Mideast Region Championship. The College went on to enjoy one of the best seasons in school history during the 2007 fall season. The Tribe earned its highest ITA Ranking in school history at No. 31 and garnered an at-large spot in the 2007 NCAA Tournament.

Following its at-large berth in the NCAA Tournament in 2007, the Tribe have participated in the post-season 10 times in school history.

FRIENDS OF WILLIAM & MARY TENNIS

The primary purpose of "Friends of William and Mary Men's tennis" is to raise funds to support the men's tennis program. Be a part of the Tribe's success!

"The Friends of William & Mary Tennis have enabled us to reach standards, and achieve a travel schedule that has put us into position to compete at the national level," head coach Peter Daub said. "Through the generous support of many parents, alumni, and Williamsburg supporters, we are able to give these student-athletes an experience that they will cherish for a lifetime, through our travel and different cultures we'll visit."

For more information about how you can help support the W&M men's tennis team, please contact William and Mary's head mens' tennis coach Peter Daub by phone at (757) 221-3383 or by e-mail at pbdaub@wm.edu.

TRIBE TENNIS OFF THE COURT

- During their careers, W&M men's tennis players travel extensively throughout the country for individual tournaments and team matches.
- In 2007-08, the Tribe will have trips to Tulsa, Oklahoma; Tampa, Florida; Athens, Georgia; Montgomery, Alabama; Boston, Massachusetts; Boise, Idaho; and South Bend, Ind.
- In just the past four years, the Tribe has had extended stays in Hawaii, the Boston area, Florida, California, Tennessee, Kentucky, Texas and Idaho.
- In the spring of 2004, W&M spent nearly a week in sunny Hawaii and California, followed by three days in the snow-capped mountains of Idaho.

SEASON PREVIEW

Tribe

Senior Alex Cojanu

The William and Mary men's tennis program enjoyed record-setting season in 2006-07, setting the stage for even greater success. The Tribe reached its highest ranking ever in the Fila/ITA National Rankings and earned an at-large bid to the 2007 NCAA Tournament. The College will look to push beyond those milestones in 2007-08 and continue the momentum with the team's mantra of "Finish Strong."

"Our goal as a program is to be a great team year after year," head coach Peter Daub said. "We have a solid foundation, and we feel we can build on that with five freshmen that can challenge the players we have coming back. Hopefully, this can be a break-through year mentally and emotionally with our ability to believe in ourselves and develop the confidence needed to enhance last season's performance."

The College returns all but one player from its 2007 roster and adds a diverse and talented quintet of rookies. Seniors Alex Cojanu and Kavi Sud will lead the Tribe both on and off the court in 2007-08.

"We have strong leadership at the top with Alex (Cojanu) and Kavi (Sud), and we have five freshman who are going to battle for a position in the top six," Daub said. "Our 2007-08 team will have the most depth of any team that I have coached in my 14 years at William and Mary."

Cojanu is the College's top returning player having seen action at both the No. 1 and No. 2 positions in singles and heading up the Tribe's No. 1 doubles effort. The Hallandale, Fla., native was one of a handful of players who were ranked in the top 35 on two different doubles teams at the conclusion of the 2007 campaign. Cojanu and Colin O'Brien finished the year at No. 21 after becoming the first Tribe duo in over 50 years to earn a spot in the NCAA Doubles Championship. Cojanu also finished the year ranked No. 34 nationally with sophomore Keziel Juneau.

In 2007, Cojanu earned both First-Team All-CAA and VaSID All-State honors in both singles and doubles. He enters his senior campaign ranked sixth on the Tribe's career doubles wins list with 79 and is only 12 singles wins shy of moving into the top 10. Cojanu carried over his collegiate success to the pro circuit during the summer, garnering ATP points in both singles and doubles to earn World Rankings in both.

Sud's impact on the Tribe will be felt in all phases of the Tribe program. He equaled a career high in singles victories with 15 during last season, while notching a personal best with 17 doubles victories.

Juneau enjoyed a stellar freshman campaign with the Tribe and in the eyes of Daub was the best freshman he has had in his 14 years at the helm of the Tribe program. Those sentiments were echoed by others outside the program as the Repentigny, Quebec native reeled in numerous honors in 2007. He was named the VaSID State Rookie of the Year along with earning Second-Team All-State honors from the organization in both singles and doubles. Juneau was a First-Team All-CAA choice in doubles and a third-team honoree in singles. He led the Tribe in singles victories during the 2006-07 season with 23.

The junior trio of Dominic Pagon, Marwan Ramadan and Alex Zuck look to provide the Tribe with more experience and depth during the 2007-08 season. Pagon has battled injuries during his two years at W&M, but has shown the ability, when healthy, to compete at a high level.

Over the summer, he gained valuable experience competing for Jamaica in the Pan-American Games in both singles and doubles.

Perhaps no player showed more improvement on the Tribe's roster than Ramadan. He displayed his grit by helping the Tribe to late season victories that ensured its at-large bid in the NCAA Tournament. In the Tribe's 4-3 upset of then-No. 23 Old Dominion, the 6-2 left-hander came through in the clutch, clinching the win with a come-from-behind effort. He displayed the same determination again in the CAA semifinals against ODU tallying a come-from-behind win at the No. 4 singles slot. After playing in only six matches as a freshman, Ramadan tied for second on the team in singles victories with 19.

Like Ramadan, Zuck also ranked second on the team in singles wins with 19. The Toms River, N.J., native provided important victories throughout his sophomore campaign. He clinched the College's win over Brown, before notching singles victories in tight Tribe wins over the-No. 49 Louisville, then-No. 34 Middle Tennessee State at the Blue Gray Classic and then-No. 39 Middle Tennessee State at the Rice Invitational. In his first two seasons with the Tribe, Zuck has tallied 40 singles victories.

Sophomore Richard Wardell was solid during his rookie campaign for the Tribe. The Fort Myers, Fla., native tallied 19 singles victories and 18 doubles wins during the 2006-07 season. He clinched a trio of matches with singles victories during his first season in the Green and Gold.

The College adds a group of five talented freshmen in the form of Sebastien Vidal, Ben Gullickson, Kunal Pawa, Varun Pandit and Ben Wirth. The quintet has experience both internationally and on the junior circuit.

Vidal has represented Guatemala both at the Pan-American Games and in Davis Cup action. He was also ranked as high as No. 153 in the ITF Combined Junior Rankings. Pawa was ranked as high as No. 886 in ITF Combined Junior Rankings and was one of the top 20 players in Singapore.

Gullickson was ranked No. 11 in the Northwest region and No. 8 in Washington by the Recruiting Tennis Network. Pandit won a district championship in singles in high school and was ranked in the top 20 in the Texas Junior 18U Boys Rankings. Pandit participated in the USTA Junior National Championship and played six years in the USTA Super Championship level.

Wirth adds a local flavor to the mix as he is from Virginia Beach. He advanced to Virginia AAA semifinals in singles three times during his high school career, amassing a career mark of 94-4 in singles play. He became the first player in 17 years to win three district and regional championships and was 72-1 against regional opponents.

The 2007 season saw the Tribe advance to the NCAA Tournament for the second time in the last three years as well as put together a five-week run in the national top 40. The Tribe also sent a doubles team to the NCAA Championships in 2007. With the experienced core returning and a stellar five-member rookie class, even more could be on the not too distant horizon for the Tribe.

"Coaches coach and players play, however, my goal is to prepare them well enough so that we can send the team, a singles player and a doubles team to the NCAA Championships in Tulsa in 2008," Daub said.

2007-08 TRIBE MEN'S TENNIS

The Tribe men's tennis program has not only produced successful student-athletes in the business world, but in the professional tennis ranks as well. Currently, two former W&M players in Colin O'Brien (a 2007 graduate) and Stephen Ward (a 2006 graduate) are playing on the professional circuit and a total of three (with Alex Cojanu included) are ranked in the ATP Doubles Rankings. Former Tribe players Trevor Spracklin (a 2001 graduate) and Jeff Kader (a 2005 graduate) played professionally following their days at W&M. Kader is currently the assistant men's tennis coach at North Carolina State, while Spracklin retired from the circuit following a career that included ATP World Rankings as high as No. 734 in singles and No. 319 in doubles. He won more than 10 doubles titles in his career.

THREE CURRENT OR FORMER TRIBE MEN'S TENNIS PLAYERS EARNED ATP POINTS IN 2007 AND ARE RANKED IN WORLD DOUBLES RANKINGS.

Colin O'Brien started his ATP career with Futures events in Ireland following his graduation from the College in 2007. A three-time All-CAA selection at W&M, he enjoyed success immediately. O'Brien's ATP World Ranking in doubles rose to as high as No. 791, while his singles ranking was No. 1494. He advanced to the finals of the Futures doubles event in Ireland along with Barry King and moved into the quarterfinals in two other Futures doubles competitions. During the summer of 2007, O'Brien also represented Ireland in the World University Games.

"William and Mary offers everything a student-athlete could want in a collegiate experience. I enrolled at William and Mary with the intention of obtaining a top quality education along with the aspiration of improving my tennis to a level where I could compete on the pro tour after graduation. I can safely say that William and Mary provided a springboard for me to be able to achieve both of these goals. The College provides a great balance of academics and athletics for student-athletes. One can benefit fully from both elements of the experience without having to sacrifice one in place of the other.

The quality of my tennis experience at William and Mary has allowed me to pursue my goal of playing professional tennis. The William and Mary tennis program offers a committed and professional coaching staff, top quality facilities and a superb support staff of strength and conditioning and medical professionals. Playing against one of the toughest schedules in the country also ensures that players are pushed to the limit competitively.

My time at William and Mary provided me with the physical and mental attributes necessary to be able to compete on the pro tour. I can now give my all to a professional career in tennis safe in the knowledge that I have an excellent education to fall back on in the future."

"The conditioning, technique development and on-court strategy that we employ at William and Mary allows our players to grow to the pace and quickness of college tennis, and sets them on a path, if they desire, to play at the professional level after graduation. (Associate Head Coach) Marcos (Asse) and myself spend a tremendous amount of time each week with private lessons and personal enhancement of each player's game. Our structure and demanding conditioning program helps players understand what is required of their bodies and minds to compete at the highest level of tennis."

- Head Coach Peter Daub -

Stephen Ward began playing professionally in the French Federation of Tennis (FFT) upon his graduation from the college. An All-CAA selection during his four years at W&M, Ward won his first USTA Pro Circuit championship, taking home the doubles title at the Laguna Niguel Pro Futures Classic. It was just his third event playing on the USTA Futures circuit. During the 2007 season, Ward advanced to the semifinals of a pair of Futures events and is currently ranked No. 874 in the world in doubles.

"The College of William and Mary was a great preparatory platform for my goal to play on the professional tennis circuit. I came into the program with a lot of athletic potential but through my four-year career I was able to channel that ability into production and results. Many factors contributed to this success including an extremely hard working, but more importantly, caring coaching staff, world-class facilities and a great medical treatment staff. Furthermore, the schedule my teammates and I were facing was the creme of the crop. Coach Daub was always trying to put us up against the best players and teams he could in order for us to challenge ourselves and see where we had room to improve.

The concepts and mentalities I learned to develop at the collegiate level were a great start to what is expected of you on tour. The players at the next level are extremely talented and hard working. Fortunately for me, I was able to carry forward the strategies I learned from my college coaches and bring home a professional doubles title in my first attempt. The tennis tour is extremely demanding, but I am glad I have my William and Mary background as a base."

NCAA Regional, Chapel Hill, N.C.

The 2006-07 season brought numerous milestones to the William and Mary men's tennis program. The College finished the year at 16-12, earning an at-large bid to the NCAA Tournament as part of a CAA-record four schools earning a spot in the tournament. It marked the 10th time in school history and the second time in the last three seasons that the College earned a spot in the NCAA Tournament.

The hits didn't stop there either as the College garnered its highest ITA ranking in school history. On April 10, the Tribe moved up to No. 31 on the strength of its 4-3 upset of then-No. 23 Old Dominion on April 3. The Tribe spent a program-best five straight weeks ranked in the top 40 nationally and finished the year at No. 45 in the final poll. The Tribe tallied eight wins over ranked competition during the season and all 12 of the W&M losses were to teams ranked No. 34 or higher in the final national rankings.

Head coach Peter Daub eclipsed a career milestone of his own during the 2007 spring campaign. Daub tallied his 200th win at the College on March 9 as the Tribe defeated George Washington, 7-0, in its first outdoor home match of the season. Daub became only the eighth W&M head coach in any sport to win 200, or more, contests at the institution.

The College brought home numerous honors during the 2007 campaign as well. W&M totaled six CAA weekly honors, the most in a single season for the Tribe. Keziel Juneau earned CAA Singles Player of the Week honors on two occasions, becoming one of only two players to accomplish that feat in a single season. He also teamed with Alex Cojanu to earn CAA Doubles Team of the Week honors on a trio of occasions, becoming only the second Tribe doubles pair to take home three weekly honors in a season. Colin O'Brien and Richard Wardell joined the parade as well earning CAA Doubles Team of the Week honors on March 18.

W&M placed a trio of players among the All-CAA teams as Cojanu headlined the group, earning first-team singles honors after garnering third team honors during the previous season. O'Brien was a second-team selection in singles, while Juneau was a third-team singles honoree. All three players were First-Team All-CAA in doubles as the College was the lone team to place two pairs on the first team. Cojanu and O'Brien were First-Team VaSID All-State selections in doubles, while Juneau was a second-team honoree in both disciplines. Juneau did however take home the VaSID Rookie of the Year honor as the top first-year player in the state of Virginia.

O'Brien and Cojanu became the second W&M doubles team in the last 50 years to earn a spot in the NCAA Doubles Championship. The pair started off the year in dramatic style, capturing the ITA Mideast Regional Doubles Championship in November. O'Brien and Cojanu continued their stellar run, defeating the No. 1-ranked doubles team nationally in John Isner and Louis Flores of Georgia in the teams' dual-match on Feb. 4. The tandem advanced to the NCAA Round of 16 before falling to the eventual national champions from Middle Tennessee State. They finished the year at 20-8 overall and ranked No. 21 nationally. Cojanu and Juneau also finished the season ranked nationally at No. 35.

The College of William and Mary's 1946-47 men's tennis team posted the finest record in Tribe history when it claimed the team title at the National Intercollegiate Tournament in Los Angeles, in June of 1947. The netters, coached by Dr. Sharvey G. Umbeck, tallied 10 points to clinch first-place honors. Leading the way for the Tribe was Gardner Larned, who won the national singles title that same year by defeating Vic Seixas of North Carolina 6-3, 9-11, 4-6, 6-3, 6-1. Other members of the 1947 team included Tut Bartzen, Fred Kovaleski, Bob Doll, Bren Macken, Howe Atwater, Lyman Chennault, Dick Randell, Jim Macken, George Fricke, Bill Ozenberger and Bob Galloway.

In 1948, Kovaleski and team captain Bartzen, returning as the nation's fourth- and fifth-ranked players, guided the Tribe to its second-straight national team title. In addition, the duo captured the national doubles championship, a feat that has yet to be repeated in William and Mary men's tennis history.

W&M Men's Tennis National Championships

- 1947 Team
Gardner Larned (singles)
- 1948 Team
Bernard Bartzen/Frank Kovaleski (doubles)

The 1947 men's tennis team (above) was the first team in W&M history to win an NCAA Championship. In 1948 (below) the Tribe repeated that achievement.

Did You Know?

W&M is one of just five schools to have won more than one NCAA Division I men's tennis titles.

2007-08 TRIBE MEN'S TENNIS

MARK MCCORMACK TRIBUTE

William and Mary lost a favorite son on May 16, 2003, with the death of Mark Hume McCormack, a 1951 graduate of the College. McCormack had been in coma since January after suffering a heart attack. Named by ESPN as one of the century's most influential people in the business of sport, he revolutionized the world of sports marketing with the founding of International Management Group (IMG).

A devoted and dedicated supporter of Tribe athletics, he and his wife, Betsy Nagelsen founded W&M's McCormack-Nagelsen Tennis Center, endowed a tennis scholarship and were continuing sponsors of the ITA Women's Tennis Hall of Fame. Also a member of W&M's Board of Visitors, McCormack chaired the College's fund-raising campaign in 1993 that raised $153 million and was the honorary chair of a campaign for William and Mary, which raised over $500 million for the College.

Mark McCormack with W&M's Director of Special Projects Millie West and former president Timothy J. Sullivan.

WILLIAM AND MARY REFLECTS ON THE LIFE OF MARK MCCORMACK

"Mark McCormack was truly an honored son of the College. Few individuals in the course of their lifetime have the chance to see and feel and know the influence they have had on the quality and character of an institution. Mark's influence on William and Mary can be seen not only in the physical buildings he made possible by his generosity, but in the highest level of excellence he expected from his alma mater and from those of us fortunate enough to call him a friend."

—Former W&M President Timothy J. Sullivan

"Obviously his loss is enormous, to both the athletics department and the general campus community. He was an icon and a founder of an industry and his generosity touched many within the W&M community. What made Mark even more special was, despite his hectic schedule, he always found the time to show a special interest in the lives of our student-athletes and took the time to establish lasting personal relationships."

—W&M Director of Athletics Terry Driscoll

"There is no way that I can adequately express the loss of a person like Mark McCormack. He was a devoted contributor of time, resources and talent to the College of William and Mary, and especially the men's and women's tennis programs."

—W&M Director of Special Projects Millie West

"Personally, the area that impressed me most about Mark McCormack was that he always wanted to blend in and not stand out. He came to the tennis center he built for our program and would just want to watch, he wasn't out to call attention to himself or make himself look impressive. Professionally, he was the W&M men's tennis program. He donated the money and vision to build the best tennis center in the nation, but he also gave the program much more in terms of his time and interest in its progress and success."

—W&M Head Men's Tennis Coach Peter Daub

"There are not enough words to describe what Mark McCormack has done for me and the W&M women's tennis program. His generosity and support played a direct role in all of our team's successes. One of the many traits that I truly admired was his ability to treat everyone with respect and make them feel special and appreciated."

—Former W&M Head Women's Tennis Coach Brian Kalbas

Mark McCormack provided the funding for the McCormack-Nagelsen Tennis Center, one of the finest indoor college tennis facilities in the nation.

ATHLETIC SUCCESS

The 2006-07 season was another strong year for the College, as Tribe teams added four more CAA titles to bring the school's all-time league-leading total to 88.

The men's cross country squad won its seventh consecutive CAA crown in the fall, while the women's cross country team won its fourth straight. The women's swimming team won its first CAA Championship, while the women's tennis team added its 19th all-time CAA crown in the spring.

Individually, the women's tennis doubles team of Megan Moulton-Levy and Katarina Zoric reached the title match of the NCAA Doubles Championship, earning All-America honors. Katie Radloff became the first female swimmer to advance to the NCAA's since 1983. Additionally, Keith Bechtol raced to a 14th-place finish in the 10,000m, while Bonnie Meekins placed 16th in the heptathlon at the NCAA Track and Field Championships.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

The Tribe's athletic accomplishments do not come at the expense of its student-athlete's academic responsibilities.

This year, the NCAA honored 13 W&M teams as recipients of its public recognition award. The Tribe teams recognized are baseball, men's and women's cross country, football, men's and women's golf, men's and women's gymnastics, men's and women's indoor and outdoor track and field and volleyball.

Additionally, in the latest NCAA graduation rate reports, three Tribe teams posted 100% graduation rates, including football, women's basketball and women's cross country/track.

Since 1992, 39 student-athletes have been designated Academic All-Americans, including three in the past academic year. Keith Bechtol (men's track) was a First-Team selection, Ryan Overdeest (men's soccer) was a Second-Team selection and Anna Young (women's soccer) was a Third-Team selection.

In 2002-03, the CAA created a Scholar-Athlete of the Year Award in each of its sports, and not surprisingly, W&M has set the pace with 22 winners. Bechtol was the CAA Scholar-Athlete of the Year in both cross country and track and field, bringing his career award total to five. Meghan Bishop (women's cross country) earned her fourth CAA Scholar-Athlete of the Year award in the fall in cross country.

In addition, four of W&M's five Rhodes scholars participated in varsity sports.

Terry Driscoll Athletics Director

Under the steady guidance and watchful eye of Terry Driscoll, the William and Mary Athletics Department has solidified its standing as one of the nation's preeminent broad-based programs. As Driscoll enters his 12th year as athletics director, he has overseen an unprecedented era of improvement in terms of funding and facilities while also maintaining the College's rich history of producing well-rounded student-athletes.

Driscoll oversees a program that William and Mary President Gene Nichol proclaimed "The nation's gold standard" when it came to balancing academic demands with athletic success. One of the department's stated goals each year is to finish among the top 100 in the annual Director's Cup rankings, which has happened in all but one of the years that Driscoll has been the director.

In the last four years alone, the Tribe's program has combined for a total of 19 Colonial Athletic Association (CAA) titles. This past season, W&M claimed four CAA titles (Men's and Women's Cross Country, Women's Swimming and Women's Tennis). In 2004-05, the Tribe captured five CAA championships and an Atlantic 10 Football title. As recently as 2002-03, W&M had a school-record 10 teams compete in the NCAA Tournament, with four teams winning conference titles and six that finished in the top 25 at the end of their respective seasons. Overall, no team in the CAA can claim more all-time league championships than the 88 William and Mary has earned.

As impressive as the athletic accomplishments have been during Driscoll's tenure, the program's academic successes have been even greater. In the NCAA's inaugural (2004) APR rankings, a measurement of academic progress based on academic eligibility, retention, and graduation of student-athletes, W&M was fourth in the nation overall and first among institutions offering athletic performance-based scholarships. Additionally, the Tribe football team has twice posted a 100 percent graduation rate, while the majority of the program's squads have consistently ranked among the nation's finest in terms of graduation. In 2002, the CAA started recognizing Scholar-Athletes of the Year for each of the 22 sports it sponsors, and the College has had a conference-high 22 individuals receive the honor.

Despite the many academic and athletic successes, Driscoll's impact on the program has been equally impressive in terms of physical and financial improvements. Since taking over as athletics director, Driscoll has overseen the construction of more than $20 million in new facilities, including Plumeri Park (baseball), Albert-Daly Field (soccer, lacrosse) and the Busch Courts (tennis). The total increased significantly when Driscoll announced plans to build the $11 million, 30,000-square foot Jimmie Laycock Football Center at Zable Stadium, which is scheduled to open in time for the 2008 season. This impressive structure follows closely on the heels of the installation of a $650,000 permanent lighting system (2006) and an $840,000 state-of-the-art Field Turf Pro artificial playing surface (2006) inside the stadium. Yet another significant upgrade will be unveiled inside the venerable structure for 2007, as the department will install an $800,000-plus brand new video scoreboard by the season opener.

In addition to the physical structures, Driscoll has also worked with the Associate Athletics Director for Development, Bobby Dwyer, to increase the annual fundraising totals for non-capital projects from $1.36 million in 1995 to the current annual total of approximately $2.7 million.

A true student-athlete himself, Driscoll's leadership skills were developed during his collegiate years. As a student-athlete at Boston College, Driscoll captained the basketball team to the National Invitation Tournament Finals as a senior, and was named the tournament MVP. In addition to being named an All-American, his success in the classroom as a biology major garnered him an Academic All-America honor.

After graduating from BC, he was the fourth overall pick of the 1969 NBA Draft, selected by the Detroit Pistons, just three spots after the Milwaukee Bucks chose UCLA's Lew Alcindor, later to be known as Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. Driscoll chose to play a year in Italy first, but then returned to the U.S. to play for the Pistons, Washington Bullets and Milwaukee Bucks before going back to Italy as a player and then coach until 1980.

Driscoll then entered the corporate world in 1980, working for Kazmaier Associates, Inc., an international sporting goods sales and sports marketing firm. After Kazmaier purchased Bike Athletic in 1986, KSG Inc. was formed with the objective of becoming the first, and only, national sales agency in the sporting goods industry. By 1987, Driscoll was president of the company and had expanded the agency to all 50 states just two years later. In early 1990, Driscoll's contribution to a marketing research project for the NCAA was the initial step moving him from product marketing and sales to sports marketing and management. The result of the project was a joint venture between Kazmaier Associates and Host Communications - with Driscoll being named managing director and chief operating officer of NCAA International.

In 1993, Driscoll diversified his experience in the athletic world by working as the executive director of the 1994 World Cup site in Boston. In September of that year, Driscoll was again enlisted to launch a new business, Eagle International Group, an event management and services company. As vice president, Driscoll worked with Hawaii Pacific Sports to organizing the Women's World Volleyball Grand Prix competition in Honolulu.

Driscoll resides in Williamsburg with his wife, Susan. The couple has two children - Keith, a 1997 graduate of Holy Cross, and Leslie, a 2001 graduate of William and Mary.

Barbara Blosser Senior Associate Athletics Director

Few names in the William and Mary Athletics Department are as familiar, or respected, as that of Senior Associate Athletics Director Barbara Blosser. Since first arriving on campus in 1978, Blosser has touched the lives of thousands of Tribe student-athletes.

She has held her current title since April of 2004, after spending the previous 12 years as the associate athletic director. In each role, Blosser has served as an integral part of nearly every facet of the department's daily operations.

Blosser started her career at William and Mary as the head women's basketball coach in 1978 and guided the Tribe to a VAIW crown in her first season with a then school-record 16 wins (16-13). Her 1980 Tribe team (11-14) placed third, while the 1981 squad (16-16) was VAIW runner-up. She was also at the helm during the 1984-85 season when William and Mary made the jump to NCAA Division I. Overall, she finished her coaching career with 115 wins, 84 of which came at William and Mary.

When the College's men's and women's athletic programs merged in May of 1986, she moved to administration, first serving as the assistant to the associate athletics director. Over the past 17 years, her administrative responsibilities at W&M have included the monitoring of financial aid matters, coordinating the scheduling of athletic facilities, supervision of coaches and staff and, currently, serving as the person primarily responsible for administering the day-to-day operations of the department.

From October 1992 to June 1993 and August 1995 to July 1996, Blosser also served as acting athletics director in an interim capacity. For her efforts, she was named the first recipient of the John Randolph Inspiration Award. Blosser has served on various committees such as the NCAA Strategic Planning Committee and the Colonial Athletic Association Competition Committee.

Blosser began her coaching career at the helm of the women's basketball program at Ashland College in Ohio. During two seasons there, she led the Eagles to successive 15-7 and 16-8 ledgers. Her 1977 squad won the AIAW Region V Championship, while her 1978 team took the OASISW Small College title.

A former three-sport standout at Ohio State, Blosser graduated Cum Laude in 1975 with a Bachelor of Science degree in physical education. At OSU, she was selected to both Phi Beta Kappa and Mortar Board. She competed in basketball, field hockey and tennis and captained both the basketball and field hockey squads her senior year. She went on to earn her master's degree from the University of North Carolina Greensboro in 1978.

Gene R. Nichol President

Gene R. Nichol became the 26th president of the College of William and Mary on July 1, 2005.

Before returning to Williamsburg, where he taught two decades ago, Nichol was Burton Craige Professor and Dean of the law school at the University of North Carolina. He served as Law Dean at the University of Colorado from 1988 to 1995, and as James Gould Cutler Professor and Director of the Institute of Bill of Rights Law at William and Mary from 1985 to 1988. Nichol was also a faculty member at the University of Florida and West Virginia University. He founded the Byron R. White Center for the Study of American Constitutional Law at the University of Colorado (1990) and the Center for Civil Rights at Sandra Day O'Connor, one of the most distinguished jurists in the history of the United States Supreme Court—and its first female justice—addressed the most profound legal issues of her age with wisdom, courage, and skill. After a long career in public service, including nearly a quarter century on the nation's highest court, she retired in 2006.

the University of North Carolina (2001).

Nichol teaches courses in constitutional law and civil rights. He is the co-author of Federal Courts: Cases, Comments, and Questions (West, 2000) and a contributor to Where We Stand: Voices of Southern Dissent (NewSouth Books, 2004). Nichol has published articles and essays in the Harvard Law Review, the Yale Law Journal, the University of Chicago Law Review, the University of Pennsylvania Law Review, the Michigan Law Review, the California Law Review, the Virginia Law Review and an array of other leading legal journals. From 1998 to 1999, he was a political columnist for the Rocky Mountain News and the Colorado Daily. From 1999 to 2005, he was a regular op-ed writer for the Raleigh News & Observer. He has also written for The Nation and other periodicals.

Nichol has been significantly involved in public affairs. He has testified before a number of committees of the United States Congress and various state legislatures. In 1991, he was appointed special master by a three-judge federal court in Colorado to mediate a redistricting dispute between the governor and the legislature. The accord was ratified by statute. A year later he helped head the Colorado Reapportionment Commission. In 2004, Nichol led the North Carolina Bi-Partisan Commission on Lobbying Reform; legislation was passed enacting com-

Justice O'Connor spent her childhood on an isolated cattle ranch in southeastern Arizona tending to a variety of ranch chores, raising farm animals, and reading voraciously. After completing school in El Paso, Texas, she journeyed west to continue her education at Stanford University, where her professors inspired and challenged her to make a difference in her nation and the world.

Justice O'Connor earned a B.A. in economics (magna cum laude) from Stanford University and a LL.B. from Stanford Law School. She was an editor of the law review and graduated third in her law class—two spots behind her friend and future colleague, the late Chief Justice William Rehnquist.

After being admitted to the bar, Justice O'Connor served as Deputy County Attorney of San Mateo County, California, from 1952 to 1953, and as a civilian attorney for the U.S. Army Quartermaster Market Center in Frankfurt, Germany, from 1954 to 1957. From 1958 to

In 2003, Nichol won the American Bar Association's Edward R. Finch Award for delivering the nation's best Law Day address. Two years later, Governor Michael Easley inducted Nichol into the Order of the Long Leaf Pine, the state of North Carolina's highest civilian honor, and the national judicial access organization, Equal Justice Works, named him outstanding law school dean of the year.

At the College of William and Mary, Nichol has markedly increased access for students of color. He also created the Gateway William and Mary program, an innovative financial aid program that puts a quality education within the reach of all Virginians, regardless of their ability to pay.

Nichol attended Oklahoma State University, where he received a degree in philosophy and played varsity football. He obtained his J.D. from the University of Texas, graduating Order of the Coif in 1976. He is married to Glenn George, a scholar of employment and labor law and a member of the faculty at the William and Mary's Marshall-Wythe School of Law. They have three daughters: Jesse (19), Jenny (18), and Soren (14).

1960, she practiced law in Maryvale, Arizona, and served as Assistant Attorney General of Arizona from 1965 to 1969. She was appointed to the Arizona State Senate in 1969, and was subsequently reelected to two two-year terms, during which she served as Majority Leader. In 1975, she was elected Judge of the Maricopa County Superior Court and served until 1979, when she was appointed to the Arizona Court of Appeals.

President Reagan nominated her as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, and she took her seat September 25, 1981. She succeeded the Honorable Henry A. Kissinger as Chancellor of the College of William and Mary in 2005. In the year since her investiture, she has visited the College several times, visiting classes, talking with students, and addressing two academic conferences.

She is married to John Jay O'Connor III, whom she met in law school. They have three sons: Scott, Brian, and Jay.

2007-08 TRIBE MEN'S TENNIS

THE COLLEGE

For more than 300 years, William and Mary has been a symbol of academic distinction in America. Now, in its fourth century, the College is prepared to educate the leaders of the 21st century.

The College of William and Mary was founded in 1693 by King William III and Queen Mary II of England. Four Presidents of the United States received their education at the College - George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, James Monroe and John Tyler.

William and Mary was the first college to institute an honor code of conduct. The premier academic society, Phi Beta Kappa, was founded by William and Mary students in 1776. The Society of the Alumni, founded in 1842, is the sixth oldest alumni group in the nation. Now the College is designated as a "Public Ivy", and ranks sixth among all public universities (U.S. News and World Report).

• W&M FACTS •

- W&M is the best small public university in the nation in terms of commitment to teaching, according to an analysis by U.S. News and World Report.
- W&M ranked sixth among all public universities in the analysis.
- W&M ranked tied for 31st overall among the nation's best universities.
- W&M ranked 17th in graduation rates.
- The average SAT score of William and Mary's incoming first-year students is higher than that of any other Virginia institution.
- William and Mary earned the five-star (highest) academic ranking awarded by the Fiske Guide to Colleges, edited by the former New York Times education reporter.
- The College's student/faculty ratio is approximately 12/1.
- Over 42% of the classes at W&M have less than 20 students.
- The maximum enrollment for freshman seminars is 15 students.
- Over 20,000 internships are posted on the school's web site.
- 10,722 high school students applied for 1,349 spots in the freshman class for the 2006-07 school year.
- The retention rate for freshmen who entered in the fall of 2005 was 95%.

Athletics Department Goals

We take pride in the many achievements of William and Mary athletes, both in the classroom and on the playing fields. These support services and many others are in place to help each student-athlete achieve their goals. It is our hope that at the completion of their undergraduate career they can reflect upon:

1. An academic experience that prepared them for a successful career.
2. An athletic challenge that brought many rewards.
3. A feeling of loyalty and pride in identifying themselves as a varsity athlete with a degree from the College of William and Mary.

Sports Psychology

Deidre Connelly, Ph.D., is the College's full-time sport psychologist. All consultations are confidential and all student-athletes, teams or coaches are welcome regardless of the issues they wish to discuss. Consultation is available for sport psychology education, performance enhancement skills training, strategies for dealing with stress or injury, or for personal issues that may affect performance.

Compliance, Academic Support

As members of the Colonial Athletic Association and the NCAA, the College is committed to full compliance with all NCAA and conference regulations. The department has a full-time Director of Compliance, Pamela Mason, who is committed to assisting students, staff and coaches through education and monitoring of compliance issues.

The department offers a variety of study, life and career building skills programs, but holds firm to the concept of self-determination—each student must take responsibility for his or her collegiate experience. Our goal is to ensure that there is a support system in place to assist students to make positive and informed decisions.

Speed, Strength, Conditioning

Tribe Athletics is very proud of the Joseph W. Montgomery Strength Training Center, a 5,000 square foot weight training facility. Under the guidance of the Head Speed, Strength and Conditioning Coach John Sauer, each sport is provided with a program designed to enhance individual strength and flexibility development specific to the skills and movements required for their sport. Individuals are educated on proper lifting techniques and workouts are monitored to ensure safety at all times.

Sports Medicine

The Division of Sports Medicine provides a comprehensive health care program for the department of intercollegiate athletics. The staff consists of Assistant Athletics Director for Health Services, Steve Cole, a team physician, seven full-time certified athletic trainers, two graduate assistant athletic trainers and medical specialists from the local community. The team physician has overall responsibility for supervision of the sports medicine program. Tribe athletes have the luxury of rehabilitating and treating injuries in a state-of-the-art athletic training facility.
