BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

Professor M. B. Jones was awarded the Ph.D. degree in Business Administration by the University of North Carolina this summer. His thesis was entitled "Wage Structure Theory and Its Implications For Job Evaluation". The main purpose of the study was "to synthesize what is known concerning wage structure theory into a systematic and meaningful whole from which implications for job evaluation can be drawn".

The Bureau of Business Research, headed by Dr. Algin King, is conducting a research study this summer on Virginia's economy and hopes to publish the results of this study in a brochure in September, 1961.

The Virginia Business Index published by the Bureau of Business Research stated in its June report, "May business and economic activity in Virginia reversed its sharp downward trend of April, and most components registered year-to-year increases over May of 1960."

The Williamsburg Business Index stated in its June report, "The Williamsburg Business Index registered 127.77 for June, 1961. This represents a 27.7% increase in business activity over the same month in the base period (1956). Business activity showed a healthy gain over June of last year, up approximately 9.4%. There appeared to be a sizeable increase in the tourist sector.... The June 1961 figure was, however, still below that set during the month of June in the festival year of 1957."

EDUCATION

Dr. Armand J. Galfo has been serving as consultant to the Navy Training Command, Atlantic Fleet, in conducting a study of missile training. The Command recently published his interim report, and the complete study is scheduled for publication early this fall.

LIBRARY

WILLIAM & MARY

Dr. Roderick Ironside spoke to the Hampton Council of the International Reading Association on June 7, 1961. His topic concerned the subject of study skills for school children with major emphasis on their search for ideas and information.

Dr. Paul Clem spoke at the commencement exercises of Windsor high school Monday, June 5. He told the members of the graduating class that they should select a desired goal and then determine if their qualifications and abilities make them suitable for the career chosen. Commencement should not be considered as the end of high school but rather as a beginning of a new life, he said.

Dr. Deore Cannon is chairman of the Summer Institute in Counseling and Guidance at the College this summer. This Institute, which lasts from June 19 to July 28, is being attended by 26 currently-employed secondary-school counsellors. It is organized under the provisions of the National Defense Education Act of 1958 and the Federal Government pays almost the complete cost of the Institute.

ENGLISH

Joseph Garrison, Donald Ball, and Wallace Jackson are serving as judges for the annual short story contest sponsored by the Tactical Air Command, Langley Air Force Base. The winners of the contest will receive prizes and the winning stories will compete later in a contest sponsored by the Air Force.

Donald Ball reviewed Form and Fable in American Fiction by Daniel Hoffman for the June 11 issue of the Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Dr. Carl Dolmetsch is an instructor in the American Studies Program headed by Dr. Harold Fowler. Dr. Dolmetsch is conducting the course, American Literature in A Divided Land, 1849-1867.

EVENING COLLEGE

Thirty-five courses will be offered by the Evening College this fall. Admissions interviews are scheduled for September 5-9 and 11-13 with registration slated for Tuesday, September 19.

Evening College Bulletins will be available in a few days.

The Evening College faculty will benefit by the action of the Board of Visitors in increasing compensation to $150 per credit hour beginning with the current fiscal year. Tuition rates have been raised to $12 per credit.

FINE ARTS

Dr. Howard Scammon is directing the 1961 version of the Common Glory, now in its 15th season.

July 10 he spoke to the members of the Williamsburg Community Theatre. The subject of his lecture was "The Actor".

Albert Haak is Technical Director for the Common Glory.

GOVERNMENT

Dr. I-Kua Chou is chairman of the Teachers' Summer Institute on Government at the College this summer. This program has included the following speakers: Alpheus T. Mason of Princeton, Abram Bergson of Harvard, Samuel Sharp of American University, Joseph Cropsey of the University of Chicago, and Morton J. Frisch of the College of William and Mary. Forty-eight Virginia teachers participated in the three-week program.

HISTORY

Dr. Bruce T. McCully received a summer grant to continue his study of Francis Nicholson.

Dr. L.W. Towner will be a Research Fellow at the Center for the Study of the History of Liberty in America, Harvard University, for the 1961-62 session.

Dr. Ludwell H. Johnson was awarded a summer research grant by the University Center in Virginia but declined the grant in order to teach in the American Studies Program. He is conducting the course, "America in Crisis, 1830-1877."

Dr. Harold L. Fowler is chairman of the American Studies Program at the College this summer. The program has included the following speakers: Marshall Fishwick, professor of American Studies at Washington and Lee University; Roy Nichols, Dean of Graduate Studies and Vice-Provost at the University of Pennsylvania; C. Hugh Holman, chairman of the Department of English at the University of North Carolina; and Hennig Cohen, associate professor of American Studies at the University of Pennsylvania. Twenty-five teachers from Maryland, Massachusetts, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Virginia are participating in this program.

INSTITUTE OF EARLY AMERICAN HISTORY AND CULTURE

A grant of $20,000 was appropriated by the board of trustees of Colonial Williamsburg, Inc. to continue the publications program of the Institute of Early American History and Culture. This program has produced some of the most distinguished and scholarly publications bearing upon the early years of this country's development. It has sponsored research activity and manuscripts of great value to the understanding of the colonial and early Federal periods. The Institute's publications program has been largely supported by generous grants from the Lilly Endowment since 1957.

Alfred A. Knopf, internationally-known book publisher, has presented a $5000 grant to the Institute. The presentation of the $5000 grant, which Knopf said will be used in the discretion of the Institute, coincided with the publisher's retirement from the Council of the Institute following 13 years of service.

LAW

Professor Arthur W. Phelps was awarded a grant for the summer to enable him to revise and bring up to date Cohen's Divorce and Alimony in Virginia and West Virginia. The revision will be published by the Michie Company of Charlottesville next fall.

Professor William F. Swindler is the author of a review-essay on three recent studies of The Federalist papers, which will appear in the fall issue of the American Journal of Public Law.

MUSIC

With a final concert by the junior division presented July 15, 1961, in the Wren Courtyard the Ninth Annual Summer Band School, under the direction of Professor Charles R. Varner, came to a close. Organized in senior and junior divisions, the students were drilled in the techniques and repertoire of good band performance practice and literature. In addition to the full band rehearsals and concerts the students participated in sectional rehearsals and theory classes. During the last week the band school was host to the United States Army Band in a concert presented at Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall on Wednesday, July 12.

Dr. Carl A. Fehr is serving as Director of Music and organist for the 1961 summer production of the Common Glory.

In addition to his duties on the summer staff of the College, Professor Alan C. Stewart is the violist for the String Trio which plays nightly at the Williamsburg Inn.

Mr. Steven P. Paledes is in Washington, D.C., this summer at the American University completing his work toward a Masters' Degree.

Of importance to the Music Department and its acting head, Dr. Frederick D. Truesdell, was a visit to Williamsburg by Dr. Howard Hanson, director of the Eastman School of Music of the University of Rochester, June 12 and 13. Dr. Hanson addressed the Fifth Annual Williamsburg International Assembly on the topic, The Written Note. As one of America's outstanding educators in his field, as a forceful and effective creative artist and as an important contributor in time and energy to United Nations and United States governmental agencies as well as numerous national musical organizations, including the nationally-recognized accrediting body for music, the National Association of Schools of Music, Dr. Hanson's visit was timely and fortuitous.

Members of the music department are engaged in preliminary preparations during the summer months for the recitals and concerts to be presented during the following academic session. Professors Fehr and Varner are so engaged with regard to the instrumental and singing organizations, while Professors Stewart and Truesdell are likewise involved with regard to individual recitals.

PHILOSOPHY

Professor John Lachs has received a summer grant to study George Santayana's naturalistic philosophy of science.

Professor Lachs was awarded the Doctorate by Yale University last June; his dissertation was a study of Santayana's philosophy of mind.

PSYCHOLOGY

Dr. Peter Derks received a summer grant for research in the field of the effect of run length on binary prediction.

Dr. Eugene Rae Harcum received a grant from the National Institute of Health for research concerning perceptual factors relating to reading. The grant lasts from June 1, 1961, to the following May. This is Dr. Harcum's second year to receive the grant.

SCHOOL OF MARINE SCIENCE

By resolution of the Board of Visitors of the College of William and Mary, the Department of Marine Science on July 1, 1961, became the School of Marine Science. In the same action, the office of Department Head was changed to Dean, a position now occupied by Dr. William J. Hargis, Jr.

Sixteen students and professors of biology are currently being sponsored in summer research activity at the School of Marine Science by the National Science Foundation. Ten undergraduates and six college teachers constitute the group now actively engaged at the Gloucester Point marine laboratory. These, plus eight regular graduates and five special students, make a total student complement of 29.

Dr. William J. Hargis announces the addition of Mr. Langley Wood and Mr. Dana Eldridge to the Laboratory's scientific staff. Eldridge will work under Dr. J. D. Andrews in the Malacology Department and will be responsible for culturing bivalves for use in experimental work. Wood is the first of the newly established Physiology Department and will begin work on the ecology and physiology of marine invertebrate animals. The Physiology Department will involve two other members before the end of the current fiscal year.

Robert S. Bailey, head of the Department of Information Education at the School of Marine Science participated in the Conservation Education Short Course at Virginia State College in Petersburg June 28-30. He plans to participate in the same course to be held at the College of William and Mary in early August.

Instructing marine biology courses at the School of Marine Science this summer are visiting professors Dr. Heil C. Culings and Dr. Willis G. Hewatt of the Texas Christian University Biology and Geology Department.

SCIENCE

Dr. Melvin Pittman is chairman of the Summer Science Institute at the College this summer. The Institute received the sixth-largest ($118,000) grant in the United States from the National Science Foundation. 110 persons are attending the Institute which offers courses for high school teachers in chemistry, physics, biology and mathematics. Speakers for the program are: Deitrich Bodenstein, chairman of the department of biology at the University of Virginia; Allan T. Gwathney of Cobb Chemical Laboratory at the University of Virginia; Captain W.J. Maddocks, assistant director of the "Polaris" missile program; Col. George C. Cox of Charleston, West Virginia; H.A. Borthwick of the United States Department of Agriculture, July 24; Miss Ida Rhodes, a computer mathematician from the Bureau of Standards in Washington, July 31; a traveling space science demonstration unit from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Washington, August 1; Andre Mercier from the University of Berne, Switzerland, August 7; and George Frid of the American Optical Company, August :8. All lectures are in Rogers 100 at 11 a.m. and are open to the public.

August 1961 issue was not published.

INAUGURATION OF PRESIDENT PASCHALL

Formal ceremonies of inauguration for Dr. Davis Y. Paschall as the twenty-third president of the College of William and Mary in Virginia will be held Friday, October 13, in the College Yard. Since early summer, a committee under the general chairmanship of Dr. W.G. Guy has been preparing for the event, which will come on the 1961 Homecoming weekend.

Nearly 200 representatives of colleges and universities, learned and professional societies, will participate in the program. Two unusual features of the ceremonies will be the formal introduction of the Queen's Guard, a 60-man unit within the ROTC, and the presentation of the coronation portrait of Queen Anne given to the College by the Draper's Company of London. Sir Ernest Pooley, former master of the Draper's Company and a member of its Court, is being sent to Williamsburg especially for the presentation, which will take place in the Great Hall of the Wren building.

FACULTY MEMBERS ACT AS DELEGATES TO THE INAUGURATION

Twenty faculty members will serve as delegates to the inauguration of President Paschall. A delegate is a person representing a college, university, or learned society and all delegates will march in the academic procession at the inauguration. Among the 20 are: Grace J. Blank, Maryville College; Mitchell A. Byrd, Society of Sigma Xi; James L. Cogar, University of Kentucky; James W. Coke, Indiana University; Thomas Arthur Duke, Jr., Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas; and Frank B. Evans, Amherst College.

Others are: Armand J. Galfo, University of Buffalo; Wayne F. Gibbs, American Accounting Association; Dexter S. Haven, University of Rhode Island; D.J. Herrmann, American Personnel and Guidance Association, College of Education, University of

All concerts will be held in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall at 8 p.m. and tickets are available at the auditor's office at the College.

COLLEGIANS CAPTURE SLOW PITCH LEAGUE CITY CHAMPIONSHIPS

The Collegians, a softball team composed of members of the William and Mary faculty and administration, has won the city slow pitch league championships for the second successive year with a tally of 10 wins and 1 defeat. Members of the infield included Dennis Cogle, pitcher; William B. Chambers, first base; William A. Horwood, second base; Carson H. Barnes, Jr., short stop; and Robert P. Hunt; third base. The outfield consisted of Eugene Rae Harcum, Peter Derks, Harry R. Groves, and Milton L. Drewer, Jr. Floyd E. Whitaker and Mont Linkenauer were managers of the team. The softball league is a part of an overall city recreation program directed by Chambers.

CONTINENTAL CLASSROOM OFFERED AT THE COLLEGE

William and Mary, joining with an estimated 200 colleges and universities throughout the country, is offering Continental Classroom's televised course, "The Structure and Function of American Government," for credit this fall. The two-semester course, consisting of 160 half-hour sessions, is being televised in color Monday through Friday from 6:30 a.m. to 7 a.m. (EDT, at the beginning). The program began September 25.

MORTON RECEIVES AWARD OF MERIT

The American Association for State and Local History at its recent annual meeting in San Francisco voted an Award of Merit to Richard L. Morton's Colonial Virginia. Morton, professor emeritus of history at the College, was head of the history department before his retirement.

DEPARTMENTAL NEWS

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

The Williamsburg Business Index, published by the Bureau Business Research under the direction of Algin B. King, registered 134.44 for August 1961. This represents a 34.4% increase in business activity over the same month in the base period (1956). Most of the firms reporting to the index registered increases over their volume in the base period. The August figure, however, fell short of that set during the festival year of 1957.

EDUCATION

Paul Clem participated in the Sussex County Pre-School Conference for Teachers and Principals. His subject was on the "Interpretation and Use of Test Results in Improving Instruction".

Armand Galfo addressed the Surry Virginia Parent Teacher's Association on the topic "Recent Trends in the Teaching of Arithmetic".

Carl W. McCartha attended the dedication services of the Louise Luxford Elementary School in Princess Anne County. He also participated in the opening workshop activities of the York County Schools.

ENGLISH

Donald L. Ball has reviewed two books for the Richmond Times-Dispatch: John Bunyan, by Ola Winslow, which appeared August 20, and Mark Twain's Letters to Mary, edited by Lewis Leary, which appeared September 10.

John Beston has had published in Speculum (July 1961) a review of A.J. Bliss's edition of Sir Launfal. The review studies differences between Chester and his sources, finding Chester concerned with moral questions.

HISTORY

Richard B. Sherman's article, "Augustus Peabody Gardner: The Conservative as Insurgent," will be published in the October issue of the Essex Institute Historical Proceedings.

A review of R.P. Masani, Britain in India, by Bruce T. McCully will appear in the October issue of the American Historical Review.

HOME ECONOMICS

Thelma Miller attended a Housing and Home Management Workshop at Virginia Polytechnic Institute July 10-22. Staff members for the workshops represented many of the leading universities of the United States, well-qualified personnel from the fields of architecture, law, banking and specialists from the staff of Virginia Polytechnic Institute. Students attending the workshop came from many states.

LAW

The Seventh Annual Tidewater Tax Conference sponsored by the Law School will be held on the campus of the College in Williamsburg Saturday, December 2, 1961. The Chief Judge of the Tax Court of the United States, the Honorable Norman O. Tietjens, will be the principal speaker.

At the request of the Conference of Local Government Officers August 28 at Charlottesville, Thomas Conner Atkeson addressed the Conference on the subject of "A Current Payment Tax System for Virginia." As vice-chairman of the Tax Study Committee of Virginia State Chamber of Commerce he also participated in a number of conferences with the committee in the preparation of a report to be issued on the Virginia Tax System prior to the next meeting of the General Assembly. September 14 Atkeson addressed a meeting of internal revenue service officials in Washington on the subject of "Tax Administration Planning" as a part of the Service's executive development program.

Joseph Curtis attended the meeting of the Southeastern Regional Conference of the Association of American Law Schools held in New Orleans in August. He participated in the program, speaking on the subject of "Practical Training for the Practice of Law."

Arthur W. Phelps represented the Law School at the annual Judicial Conference of the Fourth Judicial Circuit held in Asheville, North Carolina, in June. Phelps also represented the School at the annual meeting of the Virginia State Bar held at White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia, in August.

James P. Whyte has published an article entitled, "Some Dilemmas in the Injunction Against Recognition Picketing," appearing in 3 William and Mary Law Review 15, and a book review of Wildeblood's Against the Law, appearing in 47 American Bar Association Journal 723. In addition he has been appointed a member of the Association of American Law School's Committee on Continuing Legal Education for 1962.

MARINE SCIENCE

William J. Hargis, Jr., attended the meeting of the Southern Water Resources in Richmond, September 12. The meeting was sponsored by the Virginia Institute of Marine Science.

Hargis and Dexter Haven attended the Interstate Commission on Potomac River Basin and presented papers there September 21-22.

"Monogenetic Trematodes; Their Systematics and Phylogeny," B.E. Bychowsky, translated by Hargis, Dean of the Department of Marine Biology, and Pierre C. Oustinoff of the modern language department of the College, will be published in November by the American Institute of Biological Sciences under a grant from the National Science Foundation.

Enrollment in the Department of Marine Science graduate studies is the largest on record with sixteen students for the fall term.

Willard A. Van Engel was invited to talk at the Interstate Seafood Seminar, "Contaminants, parasites, commensals and fouling of blue crabs".

Bernard C. Patten has been invited to participate in the 10th annual symposium of the Houston Neurological Society. The subject of the symposium is "Information Storage and Neural Control". Patten will speak on information storage and transfer in ecological systems.

John L. Wood attended the Marine Sciences Conference, jointly sponsored by American Society of Limnology and Oceanography and Instrument Society of America Marine Science Division at Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution, Woods Hole, Massachusetts September 11-15.

Two new members have been added to the scientific staff at the Virginia Institute of Marine Science: Langley H. Wood, Associate Marine Scientist, Physiology Department, and Dana W. Eldridge, Research Assistant in the Malacology Department.

PHYSICS

MUSIC DEPARTMENT ANNOUNCES COLLEGIUM MUSICUM SERIES, FACULTY RECITAL

The Music Department is pleased to announce a Collegium Musicum Series for the academic session 1961-1962. In cooperation with the Committee on Lectures, Arts, and Music, Bruton Parish Church, the Norfolk College of William and Mary, and the Visiting Scholars Program of the University Center in Virginia, five events have been scheduled, all of which will take place at the Campus Center Little Theatre at 8 p.m. of the scheduled date. The series is offered to the College and the community as a part of the Music Department studies in the history and literature of music. There is no admission charge.

- November 16 Two Renaissance court performances: The "Ballet Comique de la Reine" (Paris 1581) and the "Intermedi fatti per la Commedia" (Florence 1589). Jean Jacquet, French musicologist. Illustrated lecture.
- January 9 Late Baroque Solo and Ensemble Program: Alan Stewart, violist; Ann Rowe, Mezzo-Soprano; and James S. Darling, harpsichordist.
- March 29 18th and 19th century chamber program: The Feldman String Quartet, Op. 59, No. 3.
- April 10 Renaissance Vocal Program featuring works of Bach and Handel: Norfolk College of William and Mary Madrigal Singers - Eliot Breneiser, director. Featuring Victoria's "Missa Quarti Toni".
- April 18 Early Baroque Chamber Program: The English Consort of Viols - Marco Pallis, founder and leader. Featuring works of John Jenkins.

The first event of an expanded music calendar for the season 1961-62 is scheduled for Tuesday, October 31, at 8 p.m. at the Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. Alan Stewart, violist, will appear in a faculty recital assisted by Mrs. Jacqueline Stewart at the piano.

An unusual feature of the program will be the performance on unaccompanied viola, taken from one of the cello suites, "The Suite Number 1 in G Major" by Johann Sebastian Bach. Other works on the program are the "Concerto in B Minor" by Handel, "Sonata in C Minor" by Tartini, and the popular "Ciaccona" by Vitali.

Stewart has been teaching at the College of William and Mary since 1944, having earned his A.B. degree from Union College and M.A. degree from Columbia University. He is active professionally on the peninsula and in Norfolk as a member of various performing groups including the Feldman Chamber Music Society, the Peninsula Orchestra Society, the Norfolk Symphony, the Palace Concert Group, the Regency Trio, and others.

Mrs. Stewart is a graduate of the Yale School of Music with a Bachelor of Music degree. She is a local teacher of piano.

VISITING SCHOLARS PROGRAM OFFERS TWO MORE SPEAKERS

The Visiting Scholars Program is sponsoring two more speakers this semester, French musicologist Jean Jacquot and Talcott Parsons, according to Carl Dolmetsch, chairman of the program. Jean Jacquot will lecture on the "Place of Music and Fine Arts in the Renaissance Theatre" November 16 in the Campus Center Little Theatre at 8 p.m. At the same hour and location November 29, Talcott Parsons will speak on "American Politics and Social Change". Jacquot is director of the Centre National de la Recherche Scientifique and Parsons is a professor of sociology at Harvard University. Earlier this semester the Visiting Scholars have included Colin Wilson and Henry Eyring. All lectures are free and open to the public.

SPEAKER CHOSEN FOR PHI BETA KAPPA PUBLIC MEETING

L.E. Dostert, Director of Mechanical Translation Research and Language Projects, will be the speaker for the public meeting of Phi Beta Kappa December 5. The celebration of the 185th anniversary of Phi Beta Kappa, the program will also include the initiation of the members-elect.

Dostert was founder and director of the Institute of Languages and Linguistics at Georgetown University, 1949-1959, and wartime interpreter to former President Eisenhower. He has had wide experience in intercultural and language communication, including development of simultaneous interpretation systems at Nuremburg and the United Nations. He will speak on "The Promises of Mechanical Translation."

BURGESSES DAY TO FEATURE WREN BUILDING AWARD

The annual Burgesses Day will be held October 28, at which time the Regional Director of the National Park Service, Elbert Cox, will formally designate the Wren Building as a National Historic Landmark. The presentation will take place in a brief ceremony at noon in front of the Wren Building. The "College" has been designated to receive this citation by a National Committee for the U.S. Department of the Interior, and Elbert Cox will present to President Davis Y. Paschall a certificate confirming the honor. The program will be open to the public.

FELLOWSHIPS AVAILABLE FOR SCIENCE FACULTY

The following fellowships are available for science faculty:

1. Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development. Senior visiting fellowships. Study abroad 8 weeks - 6 months. Closing date, January 5, 1962.
2. North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Postdoctoral study abroad for one year. Closing date, December 18, 1961.
3. National Science Foundation. Postdoctoral fellowships. One year U.S. or foreign. Closing date, December 18, 1961.

The National Science Foundation also has in existence a program in "research participation for college teachers".

To consider for the future: NSF Science Faculty Fellowships and NSF Senior Postdoctoral Fellowships. The closing date for applications for next year has passed.

For further information, contact Bryant Harrell, department of chemistry.

VIRGINIA HUMANITIES CONFERENCE MEETS HERE

The Virginia Humanities Conference held its annual meeting Saturday, October 21, in the Campus Center. About forty-five delegates from colleges and universities in the State attended. Richard K. Newman of the department of fine arts served as one of four panelists on the program. Professor Neiman, professor of English, was elected secretary-treasurer of the organization. President Paschall welcomed the delegates on behalf of the College at a luncheon. Others of the faculty in attendance were Frank A. MacDonald, Alexander Kallos, Marcel Reboussin, Cecil M. McCulley and Frank B. Evans, who was in charge of local arrangements.

During its business meeting the Conference adopted a statement of purpose intended to broaden the scope of the organization by including all liberal arts and sciences. The motion to this effect, introduced by the William and Mary delegates, defined the organization's purpose as "to foster in Virginia the concept of humane learning in the liberal arts and sciences." This concept was interpreted to mean that "The various scholarly disciplines, as interdependent expressions of the human mind and spirit, are mutually necessary components of an education directed toward the ideal of human excellence."

COLLEGE MEMBERS PARTICIPATE IN YORKTOWN CELEBRATION

The Yorktown celebration was assisted by members of the William and Mary Theatre. The setting of the tableau was on board the ship Ville de Paris of DeGrasse. This setting was designed by Russell T. Hastings who also portrayed the role of DeGrasse. The tableau was directed by Howard Scammon. Peter Derks of the psychology department took the role of General George Washington and Charles Varner of the music department recorded the tape used in the show.

ANCIENT LANGUAGES

Leon Golden has had an article entitled "Zeus, Whoever He Is..." accepted for publication in Volume 92 of the Transactions of the American Philological Association. The article is scheduled to be read at the winter meeting of the American Philological Association in Detroit. Golden will read the article at that conference.

George J. Ryan lectured to Humanities 201 on Homer's Iliad.

A. Pelzer Wagener, former Chancellor Professor of Ancient Languages, served as guest professor in Classics at Ripon College October 6-18. He is the first in a series of guest professors to be selected for teaching assignments in the humanities. During his two-week appointment as guest professor at Ripon, Wagener led discussions on the Aeneid and the Odyssey in two courses, Great Works of Western Literature and Greek Literature in Translation.

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

The Bureau of Business Research, under the direction of Algin B. King, has published a comparative analysis of nine selected business and economic indicators in thirteen Virginia cities based upon the past five years. The monograph, consisting of 50 pages with over 100 illustrative charts, presents a detailed analysis of each of the 13 cities: a comparison of the nine business and economic indicators in each city with the State Index average; a comparison of the nine selected business and economic indicators in 1959 and 1960 to the base period (1956-58); and the growth pattern of the 13 city indices in 1959-1960.

This program of research was begun in 1959 and during a period of some 18 months, personnel of the Bureau contacted trade associations, government agencies and businesses throughout Virginia, soliciting their cooperation and participation. The primary objective of the research program was to publish a monthly report on Virginia's economy, and to accomplish this objective a sampling technique was used. Nine business and economic indicators in 13 cities were chosen.

In this study on Virginia's economy, it was found that the rate of growth in the economy of the Old Dominion generally compared favorably with comparable indicators for the U.S. economy. Also, a steady growth in the nine indicators was evident over the 5-year period. From the comparison, a conclusion was drawn that there appears to be a fairly close relationship between the rate of growth of the economy of Virginia with that of the U.S.

economy as measured by these particular economic indicators.

Single copies of the monograph may be obtained without charge from the Bureau of Business Research.

In its Virginia Business Index Report for September, the Bureau of Business Research stated that business and economic activity in Virginia during September continued the trend set in August, as five of the nine components surveyed ran behind levels set in September of 1960. However, in year-to-year comparisons, the city indices generally showed positive gains in September, with only four cities registering losses from September 1960. In comparison with the base period (1956-58) all components and all city indices showed gains.

EDUCATION

Paul Clem attended the Virginia Education Association-sponsored state-wide guidance conference at Natural Bridge, September 29-30. The place of guidance in instruction was the topic for study.

Roderick Ironsides and R.W. Copeland, Jr., served as consultants for the Hampton Public Schools. Ironsides worked with reading diagnosis, and Copeland served as consultant for junior high mathematics.

ENGLISH

G. Glenwood Clark acted as one of the two judges for the short story contest sponsored by the Burlington Writer's Club of Burlington, North Carolina. The second judge was Miss Marion Ives of Winter Park, Florida. This is the third successive year that Clark has served as judge in this annual contest of the Burlington Club.

Charles E. Davidson is currently serving as editorial consultant to Technical Operations, Inc., Fort Monroe, Virginia.

October 21, the University of North Carolina Press published, under the auspices of the Virginia Historical Society, The Poems of Charles Hansford, edited by James A. Servies and Carl R. Dolmetsch. The announced price is $5.00.

This volume contains four long poems in heroic couplets (approximately 2,000 lines in all) written by an elderly blacksmith in York County, Virginia, in the late 1740's and early 1750's which were found in manuscript in the papers of the Blow Family of "Tower Hill," Sussex County, Virginia, now in the College Library. Three of the four poems are religious in nature, and in this respect they are virtually unique in the poetic literature of the southern colonies. The fourth poem, entitled by the editors "On My Native Land," is of the original manuscript. In all, the publication of this volume adds a new dimension to our knowledge of poetry in Colonial Virginia.

Servies has written a Preface for the volume, giving genealogical data and biographical information about Charles Hansford as well as the provenance of the manuscript. Dolmetsch has contributed a critical Introduction, setting the poems in their colonial literary contexts, delineating their sources and influences, and giving bibliographical information concerning the text. The two collaborated in editing the manuscript and in providing a large number of annotations and glosses.

The book has been splendidly printed for the University of North Carolina Press by the William Byrd Press of Richmond.

EVENING COLLEGE

Registration in the Evening College shows a 17.7% increase over the fall of 1960 with 419 students enrolled. This is the largest number since the Evening College was established in 1952. Of the total, about 30% are school administrators and teachers from Tidewater areas.

Faculty members may be interested in the academic status of the evening student body:

Hold one or more degrees . . . . .	209
Have 60 credits or more . . . . .	66
Have 3 to 60 credits . . . . .	106
First time in college . . . . .	38

John S. Quinn, director of the Evening College, will serve on a panel on Evening College problems at the annual meeting of the Association of University Evening Colleges at Cleveland beginning November 6. Quinn is a national director of the association.

LAW

Arthur Briggs Hanson of the Law Offices of Elisha Hanson, Washington, D.C., is planning a series of Saturday morning Conferences at the College at which prominent guest speakers will talk informally with the law students about their various specialities and the work of the various agencies, both State and National, with which they are associated in one capacity or another.

The Labor Policy Association, Inc., has announced that one of last year's law graduates, John M. Court, has been awarded a $7,500 prize in national competition for the best student paper on the topic "The Problems of Union Power." The purpose of the award is "to encourage study, constructive thinking, and understanding of one of the most widely discussed and least understood domestic issues of our day." Mr. Court's paper will be published in book form next month under the title, "The Problems of Union Power, Vol. 1, 1960-61."

The Marshall-Wythe School of Law was host to the Southeastern Chapter of the American Association of Law Libraries at its annual meeting October 26 and 27. Thirty representatives from law school libraries, state law libraries, bar association law libraries and firm libraries from the southeast states attended the conference.

The program consisted of a talk by W.F. Swindler on "Legal History - Unhappy Hybrid" and one by James A. Servies on "Not in the Law Alone". The latter speech was a survey of early legal research and education. Dudley W. Woodbridge delivered a 20-minute history of Williamsburg at the dinner Thursday.

MARINE SCIENCE

A Shallow Water Conference, convened by the National Science Foundation, was held at the Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, October 20 and 21. Those attending were: William J. Hargis, Jr., Morris L. Brehmen, Jay D. Andrews, Dexter S. Haven, Maynard Nichols and Ernest Warinner.

The Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Commission met in New York City October 23-27. William J. Hargis, Jr., and Edwin B. Joseph attended.

The next Seminar to be held at the Virginia Institute of Marine Science will meet Tuesday, November 14, at 7:30 p.m. The subject of the seminar is: Mass Mortalities of Estuarine Organisms and Red Tides: A confusing picture. Panel Members will be B.L. Patten, M.L. Brehmen, J.L. Wood, Sr., S.R. Mulford, and W.J. Hargis, Jr., moderator. Special comments will be given by John Norcross, "Aerial observation of red tides"; D.S. Haven, "Red tides and oyster experiments"; and W.A. Van Engel, "Red Tides and crabs".

Maynard M. Nichols has been appointed staff Oceanographer for the Virginia Institute of Marine Science. He received his M.S. degree in Oceanography at Scripps in 1957 and completed all academic requirements for his Ph.D. at UCLA this year.

Virginia Institute of Marine Science, Virginia Fisheries Laboratory, will be host to the Atlantic Estuarine Research Society meeting to be held at the Chamberlain Hotel November 9-10. Anyone of the faculty, not a member, but interested in attending, should notify William J. Hargis, Jr.

MATHEMATICS

Thomas L. Reynolds has been asked by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, W.W. Wilkerson, to serve on a state-wide Mathematics Curriculum Study Group for the purpose of revising the present curriculum guide for mathematics, grades 1-12.

R.D.H. Jones has been notified by the Mathematics Magazine that his article on Matrices and Plane Sections of a Quadric has been accepted for publication in the fall.

MODERN LANGUAGES

E. Lewis Hoffman and Alexander Kallos will attend the thirty-first annual meeting of the South Atlantic Modern Language Association which was held in Atlanta, Georgia, November 9-11. Hoffman will give a report on "The Pastoral Drama of Jose Trinidad Reyes" and Kallos will report on "Re-evaluation of the Cain-Abel Relationship by Baudelaire, Unamuno, and Hesse".

An article by John A. Moore entitled "Is Truth Relative for Cervantes?" has been accepted for publication in the December issue of Hispania.

Pierre C. Oustinoff, James D. Carter, Jr., Robert L. Maniey, and Marcel Reboussin attended the Yorktown Celebration October 19.

Alexander Kallos addressed the Junior Chamber of Commerce September 26.

MUSIC

The William and Mary Choir under the direction of Carl Fehr has performed on three occasions during October. On Saturday, October 7, the Choir presented a short concert for the convention of the Virginia Industrial Management Clubs at the Williamsburg Lodge; on Friday, October 13, the Choir participated in the inaugural ceremonies for President Paschall; and on Wednesday, October 25, the Choir sang for the Autumn Honors Convocation.

On Friday evening, November 3, the William and Mary Choir will be featured in a short concert at the Mosque in Richmond in connection with the annual convention of the Virginia Educators Association.

The first of a new series of Music Department Convocations was held Tuesday, October 24, at 7 p.m. in the Music Department Recital Hall, Ewell 100. Professor and Mrs. Stewart discussed and played some of the music on their program scheduled next week. It is planned to announce future convocations in advance. Interested faculty and students are cordially invited to attend. The meetings will dismiss promptly at 7:50 p.m.

PHILOSOPHY

The annual meeting of the Virginia Philosophical Association was held at Sweet Briar College October 19 and 20 and was attended by John Lachs, Frank A. MacDonald and Peter Tapke of the philosophy department.

CHOIR AND CHORUS TO PRESENT CHRISTMAS CONCERTS

The annual Christmas concerts of the William and Mary Choir and Chorus will be given Tuesday and Wednesday, December 12 and 13, in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall at 8 p.m. with Carl A. Fehr directing.

SIMMONS TO SPEAK AT PHI BETA KAPPA INITIATION

Dr. Ernest J. Simmons, critic and biographer of Russian writers, will speak on "Pasternak and the Crisis in the Soviet Literature" at the Phi Beta Kappa initiation ceremonies Tuesday, December 5, at 8 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. Simmons is replacing Dr. L.E. Dostert who has been delayed in England on United States government business. The program also marks the 185th anniversary of the founding of Phi Beta Kappa.

Simmons, formerly professor of Russian literature and chairman of the department of Slavic languages at Columbia University, has written studies of Tolstoy, Dostoevski and Pushkin and is presently at work on a volume dealing with Chekhov. He spent the summer of 1958 in Russia doing research under a grant from Columbia's Russian Institute. This was his sixth trip to the U.S.S.R. since 1928; in 1947 he was sent there on a cultural mission by the American Council of Learned Societies.

After receiving his Ph.D. from Harvard, Simmons joined the faculty and taught English and Russian literature there for ten years. He went to Cornell University in 1941 and became chairman of the department of Russian literature in 1942. Later he directed the intensive Russian language program and Cornell's study of contemporary Russian civilization.

Simmons is on the Board of Editors of the British Slavonic and East European Review and is general editor of the series Columbia Slavic Studies. He has contributed articles to many popular magazines and learned journals and is the author of Through the Glass of Soviet Literature, Continuity and Change in Russian and Soviet Thought, and Russian Fiction and Soviet Ideology.

DYER-BENNET TO APPEAR IN CONCERT SERIES

Richard Dyer-Bennet, tenor and guitarist, will present an evening of folk songs, ballads and art songs at Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall Thursday, November 30, at 8 p.m. This will be Dyer-Bennet's third appearance at the College in a decade - a record for artists on this Series - and he appears under the aegis of impresario S. Hurok. As customary with Dyer-Bennet, the program will be announced from the stage.

THEATRE TO FEATURE MUSICAL

The musical "Where's Charley?" will be presented by the William and Mary Theatre December 7-9 at Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall at 8 p.m. Written by Loesser and Abbott, the show ran for 729 performances and includes such familiar songs as "Once in Love with Amy". Howard Scammon directs the play and Stephen Paledes directs the orchestra accompaniment.

TRUESDELL TO DISCUSS SAMUEL BARBER

The third music department convocation will feature a discussion by Frederick Truesdell on the music of Samuel Barber with particular attention to his Piano Sonata, Op. 26 which Truesdell will play during the program. This piece will also be the feature work on Truesdell's piano concert scheduled for January 5. The convocation will be held Thursday, December 14, at 7 p.m. in Ewell 100. It was recently noted in the New York Times' music section that Samuel Barber is currently at work on another Piano Concerto which will be premiered by pianist John Browning with the Boston Symphony Orchestra next season. This issue of the Times, dated November 12, 1961, further stated that "this is Barber's first major work since his Piano Sonata of 1949 (Op.26). In view of the success of the sonata, there will be considerable advance excitement over the concerto, especially since it is Barber's first concerto for this particular instrument."

ANNUAL TAX CONFERENCE SCHEDULED FOR SATURDAY

The Seventh Annual Tidewater Tax Conference will be held in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall Saturday, December 2. The purpose of the conference, which is open to the public with a $5.00 registration fee per person, is "to make available to students, accountants, attorneys, and other professional and business groups in the Tidewater area timely and important factual material relating to Federal and State tax returns, tax procedures and tax policies." The Marshall-Wythe School of Law is one of the sponsors of the conference.

MARINE SCIENCE INSTITUTE TO CONDUCT OPEN HOUSE

An open house celebration has been scheduled at the Laboratory of the Institute of Marine Science for Sunday, December 3, 2-5 p.m., and all interested persons in Virginia are invited to attend. Groups will be conducted on a tour of the various departmental laboratories and research boats. The research vessel "Pathfinder" will also be displayed along with its collecting gear and instruments used in offshore and estuarine investigations. A special open house preview has been scheduled for Saturday with state and local officials, college officials and instructors, and marine scientists from other state and federal research groups invited to attend.

ANCIENT LANGUAGES

J. Ward Jones, Jr., has had an article, "Virgil as Magister in Fulgentius", accepted for publication in a festschrift honoring Dr. B.L. Ulman. This festschrift will be published in Italy early in 1962.

George J. Ryan, J. Ward Jones, and Leon Golden attended a meeting of the Virginia Classical Association in Richmond. They were accompanied by seven majors in the ancient languages department who participated in the program.

J. Ward Jones presented an illustrated lecture at the monthly meeting of Eta Sigma Phi November 14. The lecture was entitled, "Pompeii: An Ancient Tragedy?"

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

Business and economic activity in Virginia during October ran ahead of October, 1960, and October of the base period (1956-58), reversing the trend of the last two months, according to the Business Index Report published by the Bureau of Business Research under the direction of Algin B. King.

William T. Reece addressed the governmental department heads and their assistants of the City of Williamsburg during their training program in Municipal Finance Administration. The theme of his lecture held November 8 was "Municipal Accounting", and November 15 he lectured on "Cost Accounting".

Max B. Jones represented the department of business administration at the annual conference on collegiate education for business at the Southern Economic Association meeting in Memphis, Tennessee, November 9.

Jones also gave an address entitled "What Has Happened to Economic Training in Business" at the Fifteenth Semi-Annual Meeting of the American Petroleum Institute, Training Directors November 17 at the Motor House in Williamsburg.

President Paschall and Dean Jones spoke at a joint dinner meeting of the Wayne F. Gibbs Accounting Club and the Richmond Control of the Controllers Institute of America at the campus center November 21. Membership of the Richmond organization comprises the chief financial officers of leading Richmond industrial firms.

The program also featured a panel discussion on the expectations of the firm and the graduating senior in initial employment. Speakers included: W.T. Brunot, controller of Reynolds Metals Company; C. Raymond Hailey, comptroller of Albemarle Paper Company; and William A. Winfree, Jr., treasurer of Universal Leaf Tobacco Company; all of Richmond Control. Student members of the panel were Arthur Vandroff, Philip Booker, and Bobby Irby, seniors in the accounting program. John S. Quinn acted as moderator of the panel.

EARLY AMERICAN HISTORY AND CULTURE

Lester J. Cappon, Jack P. Greene, Winthrop D. Jordan, and M. Eugene Sirmans represented the Institute at the annual Southern Historical Association meeting in Chattanooga, Tennessee, November 9-11.

At the November 11 session entitled Negroes and Mulattoes in Colonial America, Sirmans read his paper, "The Development of Slavery in South Carolina". The subject of Jordan's paper was "The Status of Mulattoes in the American Colonies". Both Sirmans and Jordan are instructors in the department of history at the College and fellows of the Institute.

ECONOMICS

Anthony L. Sancetta has accepted an invitation to serve on the Research Committee of the Southeastern Virginia Regional Planning Commission, Norfolk. This committee will prepare materials and plans for the Comprehensive Plan for the Development of Southeastern Virginia.

EDUCATION

Carl McCartha participated in the Virginia Education Association meetings of Supervisors and Principals November 1-3.

H.K. Holland addressed the Virginia Association of School Administrators at their Richmond meeting November 1, and he gave the dedicatory address at the opening of the Olive Branch Elementary School in Portsmouth November 9.

Richard Copeland spoke to teachers at Matthew Whaley Elementary School on the subject of arithmetic Wednesday, November 15.

Roderick Ironside spoke to York Elementary School PTA November 8 on current "teaching machines" possibilities in elementary schools, and he related the machine programming to somewhat similar textbook methods in the 1800's. He also participated in a PTA panel at Jefferson Davis Jr. high school in Hampton November 27 by describing the merits and problems in establishing a complete reading program in a junior high school; and he attended a conference at the University of Virginia November 18 on improvement of reading at the college level.

Deore J. Cannon attended the Invitational Conference on Testing Problems sponsored by Educational Testing Service. The Conference was held October 28 at the Hotel Roosevelt in New York City.

ENGLISH

Cecil M. McCulley spoke to the English department of Warwick high school Tuesday, November 14; his topic was "Teaching Writing to the Pre-College Student."

From Sunday, November 19, through Wednesday, November 22, McCulley participated in an evaluation of Princess Anne high school, Lynnhaven, Virginia, conducted by the State Department of Education. As a member of a committee he evaluated and made recommendations concerning the English department, and he also participated in the evaluation of the library.

Frank B. Evans won the Raft Debate sponsored by the Philosophy Club Tuesday, November 28. The winner was decided on the basis of audience applause. Imagining that the debators were on a raft in the ocean and only one could be saved, they gave their reasons for believing that they should be saved and not one of the other three debators. Evans argued for the humanities; R.D.H. Jones, the natural sciences; Leon Golden, anti-intellectualism; and Peter Derks, the social sciences.

FINE ARTS

HISTORY

Lester J. Cappon, Jack P. Greene, Ludwell H. Johnson, Winthrop Jordan and M.E. Sirmans attended the meetings of the Southern Historical Association in Chattanooga, November 9-11. Jordan read a paper on "The Status of Mulattoes in the American Colonies" and Sirmans presented a paper on "The Development of Slavery in South Carolina" at the same session. Johnson was a discussion leader in another session dealing with the 19th century.

Harold L. Fowler will serve on the Manuscripts Awards Committee of the Council of the Institute of Early American History and Culture for the session 1961-62.

HOME ECONOMICS

Thelma Miller attended the district meeting of the Virginia Home Economics Association in Williamsburg Saturday, November 11. The main topic of the program was "The Safety of Milk" or the effect of fall-out on the milk supply.

November 11 Alma Wilkin took students of interior decoration to visit Shirley, Berkeley, Westover Church and St. Peter's Church. The interest in church design and decoration had been stimulated by the part students took in assisting with the selection and installation of the drapes for the balcony rail and the covers for the altar table in the Wren Chapel.

Thelma Miller and Alma Wilkin attended a meeting in Williamsburg of home economists with representatives from Yorktown, Charles City and Williamsburg Friday, November 17. The study of "Fact Sheets" on home planning and electrification, prepared by the Virginia Farm and Home Electrification Council, led the group to plan for the establishment here of a council on housing.

The council is to be composed of specialists in building materials, electrification, electric equipment, plumbing, heating and efficient planning. Information from these specialists on problems most often encountered in building will be compiled and filed and made ready for use for immediate answers, by home economists, to urgent questions by the homemaker.

LAW

The second conference of the Legal Horizons series was held November 11 and was led by E. Barrett Prettyman, Jr., the son of Judge Prettyman, Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals, District of Columbia Circuit. Prettyman is now associated with the firm of Hogan and Hartson. He has been a law clerk to Justices Jackson and Harlan of the United States Supreme Court and is the author of a recent book, "Death and the Supreme Court", which is being widely reviewed at the moment.

R. Granville Patrick, Jr., has resigned from the faculty of the law school to assume the position of assistant to the Honorable C. Vernon Spratley, Jr., United States attorney for the eastern district of Virginia.

MARINE SCIENCE

J. Ernest Warinner recently attended the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies at Oak Ridge, Tennessee, to receive instructions on new uses of radioisotopes in oceanographic research.

MODERN LANGUAGES

The following members of the modern language department attended the meeting of the Modern Foreign Language Association of Virginia November 4 at the Hotel John Marshall in Richmond: P.C. Oustinoff, E.L. Hoffman, Alexander Kallos, Robert L. Maniey, John A. Moore, Jean Scammon and Howard Stone.

Scammon, Tournament chairman, gave a report on the Modern Language Tournament of 1961 in which 103 schools and 3477 students participated.

Kallos was elected secretary of the Comparative Literature Section of the South Atlantic Modern Language Association.

Howard Stone's Spanish Reader was accepted for publication by Ginn Company.

MUSIC

Stephen P. Paledes will direct the orchestra for the William and Mary Theatre production, "Where's Charlie?"

Alan C. Stewart will be playing in a number of performances in the next few weeks. November 30 he will perform as a member of the Peninsula Orchestra, December 3 he will be a member of the String Ensemble in a performance of the Schutz Christmas Story at Bruton Parish Church, and December 6 he is to be the assisting artist with the Feldman String Quartet in a chamber music program in Norfolk.

Tuesday, November 28, the music department held its second departmental convocation of the current year, presenting a number of students in recital. Included in the program were piano selections by Mrs. JoAnn R. Simonson, Miss Jacqueline Crebbs and Miss Elizabeth Hamilton. Miss Janice Bailey played the violin and solos were sung by Mrs. Margaret Kirk and Miss Phyllis Atwood. Stephen Paledes instructs Mrs. Simonson and Jacqueline Crebbs; Carl A. Fehr, Phyllis Atwood and Mrs. Kirk; Alan Stewart, Janice Bailey; and Frederick Truesdell, Elizabeth Hamilton.

Frederick D. Truesdell attended the annual meeting of the National Association of Schools of Music in Denver, Colorado, November 23-25. This association is designated by the National Council on Accreditation as the agency responsible for accreditation of music to a regional association throughout the nation. The deliberations of this agency affect the course of music education in professional and non-professional programs in colleges and universities.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION FOR WOMEN

Martha Barksdale attended the meetings of the Tidewater Conference

On The Handicapped, which was set up at the request of the Nemours Foundation and sponsored by Virginia Council on Health and Medical Care. The conference met in Norfolk November 8.

PSYCHOLOGY

An article entitled, "Detection and Radial Localization of Eccentric Spots of Light", by E. Rae Harcum, has been accepted for publication in the January issue of the Virginia Journal of Science. The article is concerned with the accuracy with which observers can detect the presence of a tachistoscopically presented spot of light on a simulated radar scope-face as a function of the radial location of the spot of light. Also, the accuracy with which the observer can correctly report the radial location of the light is reported as a function of the actual radial location.

When the observers are looking at the center of the scope-face, the detectability of targets is greatest for targets to the right and left of the focus of regard and poorest for targets above and below the center of the scope-face. On the other hand, the accuracy with which the observers can report the radial position of the targets is generally equally good for targets above, below, right and left of the point of regard, but poorer for targets on the oblique radii. These results supported the experimental hypothesis which was derived from theoretical argument.

An article by E. Rae Harcum and Dorothy W. Dyer (formerly of William and Mary) entitled "Monocular and Binocular Reproduction of Binary Stimuli Appearing Right and Left of Fixation", has been accepted for publication in the March 1962 issue of the American Journal of Psychology. The study involved the perception of spatial patterns in which individual elements of the patterns appeared in the right and left visual fields. Eye dominance and cerebral-hemisphere dominance were simulated for the observers, and the effects on the distribution of errors for different parts of the patterns were determined.

The conclusion was that for most observers a learned tendency favors the elements of the left with the pattern, and this tendency ordinarily supersedes all effects of eye and hemisphere dominance. Eye and hemisphere dominance may be important if the left-superiority has not been strongly established.

SOCIOLOGY AND ANTHROPOLOGY

Nathan Altshuler delivered a paper on Anti-Culture before the annual meeting of the American Anthropological Association in Philadelphia November 16. Altshuler was recently elected as a Fellow in Anthropology.

Edwin H. Rhyne has been appointed chairman of the section on Political Sociology for the next meeting of the Southern Sociological Society.

Wayne Kernodle attended a meeting in Charlottesville, along with other members of the Division of Social Science, to discuss qualifications of social science teachers in the secondary schools.

He was recently elected vice-chairman of the Tidewater Mental Health Clinic.

David Gray has had an article entitled "Sociology as a Science: A Dysfunctional Element" accepted for publication in the American Journal of Economics and Sociology.

JAMESTOWN ISLAND PASSES AVAILABLE

All members of the faculty and staff of the College may pick up passes to Jamestown Island in Mr. Cogle's office, Marshall-Wythe 101.

STUDENT-WRITTEN PLAYS OPEN TO PUBLIC

The William and Mary Theatre will produce two one-act plays written by students in the playwriting class, Fine Arts 323, taught by Frank Staroba. These plays, "The Rose Garden" by Stephen Bellon and "The Green Field" by William F. Smith, will be produced in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall at 3 p.m. Sunday, February 11. After the performance, an informal discussion will be held by the director, Frank Staroba. Following the discussion, coffee will be served. These plays are free to the public.

THEATRE TO PRESENT 'JOHN BROWN'S BODY'

In recognition of the Civil War Centennial, the William and Mary Theatre will present John Brown's Body, by Stephen Vincent Benet in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall at 8 p.m. February 22-24. Stephen Paledes of the music department is directing the chorus which is an integral part of the production. The overall direction is under Howard Scammon, Russell Hastings is in charge of designing costumes, and Albert Haak is the technical director.

JOHNSON TO LECTURE ON BACKGROUND OF 'JOHN BROWN'S BODY'

Ludwell H. Johnson of the history department will give a lecture on the backgrounds of John Brown's Body. Sponsored by Theta Alpha Phi, national honorary dramatic fraternity, Johnson will speak in the Dodge Room, Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall, Wednesday, February 14, at 4:30 p.m. This meeting is open and free to the public. It is expected that people planning to attend the performance of John Brown's Body will also want to attend this lecture.

AUDUBON FILMS TO INCLUDE 'TETON TRAILS'

"Teton Trails," the third film of the Audubon Film Series, will be presented in Washington 100 at 8 p.m. February 10. The magnificent Teton Range which lifts abruptly from the valley to a height of over 7,000 feet, bordering Jackson Hole, Wyoming, provides the backdrop for this color film produced and narrated by Charles T. Hotchkiss of Homestead, Florida, and co-sponsored at the College by the Clayton-Grimes Biological Club and the National Audubon Society. The film includes intimate visits with unusual birds and other animals plus a climb up the Grand Teton, the highest peak in the range. Single admission for adults and students is $1.25 and for children, $.50. Tickets may be obtained from J.T. Baldwin.

CONCERT SERIES TO FEATURE LISA DELLA CASA

Metropolitan Opera soprano Lisa Della Casa, famed for her beauty as well as her great voice, will perform at Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall Friday, February 18, at 8 p.m. as the third presentation of the Concert Series. She will sing a program consisting of songs by Schumann, Schubert, Tchaikovsky, Ravel and Richard Strauss and operatic arias from Handel's "Julius Caesar," Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro," and Puccini's "Madama Butterfly." She will be accompanied at the piano by Arpad Sandor.

Born and reared in Switzerland, Mme. Della Casa became a leading member of the Vienna State Opera in 1947 and, after adding a number of the other leading opera houses of Europe to her roster, made her American debut in 1953 as the Countess in the Metropolitan Opera's production of Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro." She has since sung this role in virtually every opera house of the world, and in succeeding seasons at the Met she has added to her high reputation with memorable performances as the Marschallin in "Der Rosenkavalier," Donna Elvira in "Don Giovanni," Eva in "Die Meistersinger," Elsa in "Lohengrin," Cio-Cio-San in "Madama Butterfly," and Mimi in "La Boheme," as well as her famous portrayal of the title role in Strauss' "Arabella."

Since her arrival at the Met and the beginning of her American concert tours in 1957, Lisa Della Casa has become a great favorite with American radio and television audiences and her numerous recordings have been constant best-sellers in the operatic field. She has appeared many times on the "Voice of Firestone" and the Ed Sullivan Show on TV, and most recently starred in the Bell Telephone Hour December 22.

Miss Della Casa will be accompanied to Williamsburg by her husband, Dragon Debeljevic, an art expert and historian, who fled his native Yugoslavia after World War II and settled in Zurich. They have a ten-year-old daughter, Wesna, who remains at school in Switzerland.

Reserved seat tickets are now available at Schmidt's Music Shop for $3.00 each and will be on sale at the box office in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall from 3-5 and 7-8 p.m. February 16. Tickets may be ordered by mail by making checks payable to Vernon Nunn, Auditor of the College.

COLLEGE RECEIVES NSF GRANT

The National Science Foundation has awarded a $119,000 grant to the College for the establishment of a Summer Science Institute in 1962 offering eight-week courses in biology, chemistry, mathematics and physics for high school teachers. This is the tenth largest grant in the nation for this purpose.

The grant makes a total of $391,600 received by the College from the National Science Foundation in the last four years for the operation of Summer Science Institutes. All four Institutes have been under the direction of Melvin A. Pittman. It is expected that, from an anticipated 1500 applications, 120 teachers will be selected to attend the summer program.

QUINN SCHEDULES EVENING COLLEGE REGISTRATION

John S. Quinn has announced that registration for Evening College, spring semester, will be Tuesday, February 6, 7-9 p.m. in the Marshall-Wythe building. Classes will begin Wednesday, February 7. Enrollment for the past semester was the largest ever recorded in Evening College; 419 students participated.

PHI BETA KAPPA HONORS FOUR ON DECEMBER 5TH

Leon Golden of the ancient languages department received the annual Faculty Award for the Advancement of Scholarship from Alpha of Virginia of Phi Beta Kappa December 5 at its 185th anniversary meeting. Lester J. Cappon and A. Lawrence Kocher were elected honorary members of the association, and Thomas V. Brabrand, chairman of the Weapons System Test Group at the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, was named an alumnus member.

EXTENSION COURSES TO BEGIN IN TWO WEEKS

Extension courses will hold their first meetings the week of February 5. Registration is conducted at the first meeting of the class, and no one may register after the second class meeting. Further information may be obtained from E. Leon Looney, assistant director of extension.

ANCIENT LANGUAGES

An article by Leon Golden has just appeared in the January issue of "Classical Philology." It is entitled "Zeus the Protector and Zeus the Destroyer" and was first presented at a meeting of the American Philological Association.

A. Pelzer Wagener, professor emeritus of ancient languages, spoke informally to the Latin 405 class (The Teaching of High School Latin) December 12. His subject was extracurricular activities of the Latin teacher. J. Ward Jones is the instructor of this course.

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

According to the Virginia Business Index Report published by the Bureau of Business Research under the direction of Algin B. King, business and economic activity in Virginia during November ran ahead of the same month last year. The economy of the Old Dominion appeared to experience a year-end upward surge with all nine components surveyed showing year-to-year increases over November, 1960.

EARLY AMERICAN HISTORY AND CULTURE

Lester J. Cappon is one of the twelve contributors to the newest University of Kentucky Press publication, Research Opportunities in American Cultural History. Cappon's essay, entitled "The Colonial Period Re-examined," is the first essay and deals with the English along the Atlantic seaboard.

The twelve essays are the outcome of a two-day round-table conference at Washington University, St. Louis, in October, 1959. Revised by their authors in the light of the discussion that followed their original presentation, they have been edited for this volume by John Francis McDermott, associate professor of American cultural history in the department of English at Washington University, who was also host for the meeting.

ECONOMICS

Clifford F. Owen's article entitled "Investment Company Taxation - A Study in Changing Public Opinion" appears in the November - December 1961 issue of the Canadian Tax Journal.

In his article, Owen maintains that the proposed changes in the taxation of investment companies contained in the Canadian supplementary budget of December 1960 do not constitute as revolutionary or new a transformation as might be immediately concluded. The article analyzes the several changes which have previously been made in the taxation of investment companies and examines the implications for the companies concerned.

EDUCATION

Howard K. Holland represented the faculty of the College at the semi-annual meeting of the Southern Conference held in Greenville, South Carolina, on December 7 and 8.

Paul Clem spoke to the West Point, Virginia, Kiwanis Club, January 9 on the subject of "Public Relations in Club Work."

Margaret Winder and Carl McCartha attended a State Board of Education conference designed to improve the teaching of the Social Studies in the public schools. The conference was held at Kings Grant Elementary School, Princess Anne County, on December 9.

D.J. Herrmann attended the annual meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools in Miami Beach December 3-7.

ENGLISH

Donald Nunes addressed the Sociology Club Thursday, January 11, on "The Tragic Hero as Society's Offspring."

The April issue of Texas Studies in Literature and Language will carry LeRoy Smith's article "Fielding and Mr. Bayle's Dictionary."

Dr. and Mrs. Carl R. Dolmetsch represented the College at the festivities last month dedicating the new J.D. Eggleston Library at Hampden-Sydney College.

Dolmetsch also represented the College at the fifth annual conference of the Association of College and University Concert Managers at the Hotel Barbizon-Plaza, New York City, December 18-20.

He has reviewed The Poems of Gov. Thomas Burke, ed. by Richard Walser, in the current winter (January) issue of The Virginia Magazine of History and Biography. This book is the first publication from manuscript sources of the poems of the first governor of independent North Carolina (1779-81) from the State Department of Archives of North Carolina. Many of the poems were written while Burke was a resident of Virginia and some were first published in The Virginia Gazette before the Revolution and are reprinted here for the first time.

Joseph M. Garrison, Jr., had his dissertation, "John Burroughs as a Literary Critic: A Study Emphasizing His Treatment of Emerson, Whitman, Thoreau, Carlyle, and Arnold," approved December 15. This completed all his work for the Ph.D. in English. Duke University will, therefore, confer the doctorate upon him at its next formal convocation.

G. Glenwood Clark delivered a talk on "Brazil, Land of Contrasts," before the Brotherhood of the Williamsburg Presbyterian Church January 24.

Clark has recently joined the book reviewing staff of the Greensboro Daily News, Greensboro, North Carolina. His review of High On a Hill by Lucy Daniels was published in the December 3 issue of the News.

FINE ARTS

Albert Haak is designing special scenery for the two one-act plays which will be presented in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall February 11. These are special units which can be used in a variety of ways to suggest various types of interior as well as exterior settings.

Peter Derks of the psychology department appeared in one of the scenes performed in Theatre 4 O'Clock, January 11 in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. These scenes are directed by members of the Fine Arts 421 class. Derks will also appear in the role of Paul in the original one-act play, "The Green Field," February 11.

Marcel Reboussin of the modern language department appeared in two scenes from "The Miser," Theatre 4 O'Clock, February 12.

GOVERNMENT

Morton J. Frisch has been invited to serve as a Visiting Professor at the Pennsylvania State University in University Park, Pennsylvania, for the summer session in 1962. He will conduct a graduate seminar on the political philosophy of Hegel, Marx, and Lenin.

HISTORY

Jack Greene's article, "The Role of the Lower Houses of Assembly in 18th Century Politics," appears in the current issue of the Journal of Southern History.

Ludwell Johnson has a review of Gunderson's, Old Gentlemen's Convention: Washington Peace Convention, 1861, in the Journal of Southern History.

Lester J. Cappon, William L. Blackwell, James M. Smith, Jack P. Greene, Marion E. Sirmans, Winthrop Jordan, Harold L. Fowler, Ludwell Johnson, Richard B. Sherman, and Thaddeus W. Tate attended the meetings of the American Historical Association in Washington December 26-28.

Lawrence W. Towner, on leave of absence this year, read a paper at the AHA meetings on "Fondness of Freedom: Servant Protest in Colonial Massachusetts." William L. Blackwell read a comment on two papers in a session dealing with Russian Bureaucracy in the 19th century.

James Smith, editor of publications at the Institute of Early American History and Culture, has been appointed to a three-year term on the Albert J. Beveridge Award Committee of the American Historical Association. The committee awards the highest scholarly prize of the Association, a sum of $1,500 for the best unpublished manuscript in the field of American History.

Smith is also serving on the program committee of the Mississippi Valley Historical Association for its annual meeting in Milwaukee, April 26-28.

The Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New York presented its 1961 Annual Award to Richard L. Morton, Chancellor Professor of history, Emeritus, for his two-volume work, Colonial Virginia. The Award, which consists of an inscribed bronze medallion of the seal of the Society of Colonial Wars, was presented at their "General Court" in December. A Citation accompanying the Award describes Colonial Virginia as "a work of outstanding excellence in the field of American Colonial history."

This work, covering the period 1607-1763, previously received three other awards: a citation for excellency in design and printing in the Ninth Annual Southern Books Competition of the Southeastern Library Association, the New York Employing Printers Association Certificate of Merit for 1960, and the Award of Merit from the American Association for State and Local History. It was published in 1960 by the University of North Carolina Press.

Dr. Morton's first volume describes the founding of Virginia, and it provides a lively picture of the world of the early settlers up to the time of Governor Alexander Spotswood in 1710. Volume two takes Virginia history to the eve of the Revolution. Colonial Virginia is planned as the first portion of a history of Virginia covering the entire period from Jamestown to the 1960's.

LAW

Thomas C. Atkeson served as program chairman of the Symposia on "Reappraisal of Business Taxation" conducted under the auspices of the Tax Institute of Princeton, New Jersey, which was held in New York City December 7-8.

The Seventh Annual Tidewater Tax Conference sponsored by the Marshall-Wythe School of Law was held on the Williamsburg campus December 2. Conference attendance numbered 163.

Joseph Curtis has written the section on contracts for the Annual Survey of Virginia Law of the Virginia Law Review. It appears in the November 1961 issue, Volume 47, No. 7.

MARINE SCIENCE

The Virginia Institute of Marine Science has received two grants from the National Science Foundation for an Undergraduate Research Participation Program and a Research Participation for College Teachers Program for the summer of 1962.

William J. Hargis, Jr., director of the Virginia Institute of Marine Science at Gloucester Point, has recently received a copy of "Monogenetic Trematodes" from his publisher. Hargis is the editor of this English translation of a 627-page monograph on little-known flatworms written by the Russian scientist B.E. Bychowsky.

In the translation of the Russian monograph Hargis worked with Pierre C. Oustinoff, chairman of the department of modern languages, who did the basic translation. Mrs. Reinaldo Morales of the Virginia Institute of Marine Science transcribed, typed and assembled the manuscript.

MATHEMATICS

T.L. Reynolds, B.R. Cato and Sidney Lawrence are attending the national meeting of the American Mathematical Society and Mathematical Association of America in Cincinnati, Ohio, January 22-26.

MODERN LANGUAGES

E. Lewis Hoffman will read a paper at the 1962 Kentucky Foreign Language Conference to be held at the University of Kentucky April 27-28. The paper is entitled "Cloth and Clothing in the Quijote."

Gordon B. Ringgold's French Verbs can be Easy! was released at the beginning of the year by J. Weston Walch, Publisher, Portland, Maine. This is a study of the structure of French verbs, stemming from a blackboard lecture on the subject which the author has used in his classes for many years.

Add Color To Your French, by Gordon Ringgold and Nicolette Ringgold, being produced by the same publisher, is expected very shortly. This is a gathering of more than 2,200 idiomatic expressions illustrated in sentences, together with a number of pin-pointed studies on special words, idioms or subjects, such as the vocabulary needed for playing bridge in French; all in a 250-page manual-type book, 8½" x 11". Divided into Elementary, Intermediate and Advanced sections, it can be used either as a reference book or for class assignments.

Eugenia Vassylkivsky's Ukrainian translation of Jean Anouilh's Antigone with illustrations and jacket by the Ukrainian artist Yuri Soloviy and a preface by the translator is being published in Munich, Germany.

MUSIC

The second program in the new Collegium Musicum series January 9, sponsored by the music department, was moved from the campus center little theatre to the ballroom to accommodate some 300 people who attended. Frederick D. Truesdell, Alan C. Stewart, James S. Darling and guest contralto Ann Rowe presented a program of early English songs in addition to Baroque arias and instrumental pieces for viola and harpsichord. The harpsichord in use for the occasion was a Chickering on loan from Colonial Williamsburg, Inc.

Frederick Truesdell was recently notified of his election to the office of Chairman-elect for a two-year period in the College Section of the Virginia Music Educator's Association. The next meeting of this group is planned for February 23-24 at Madison College, Harrisonburg, Virginia.

The Norfolk College of William and Mary has invited Truesdell to play a piano recital Friday, February 9, at 8 p.m. The program will be the same as that presented at Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall January 5, featuring the Piano Sonata, Opus 26, by Samuel Barber and including works by Baluppi, Scarlatti, Bach, Beethoven, and Debussy.

Stephen Paledes continues his progress toward the degree, Master of Arts in Music, at American University. In December, he passed the comprehensive examinations. He is preparing the chorus of 20 voices which will sing a cappella the music composed by Fenno Heath for John Brown's Body, performances of which are scheduled by the William and Mary Theatre February 22-24.

Rona Sande performed as soloist and group member in the dance concert presented by Pola Nirenska and Dance Company December 9 at the Roosevelt Auditorium in Washington, D.C.

PHYSICS

The following members of the physics department staff are attending the Annual Meeting of the American Physical Society in New York January 24-27:

F.R. Crownfield, Jr., R.L. Kernell, J.L. McKnight, J.D. Lawrence, H.S. Sandhu, M.A. Pittman and R.E. Smith.

PSYCHOLOGY

An article by J.J. Ayres (1961 graduate of William and Mary) and E. Rae Harcum entitled, "Directional response-bias in reproducing brief visual patterns," is scheduled to appear in the February issue of Perceptual and Motor Skills. The article shows that individual differences in the distributions of errors in perceiving tachistoscopic binary patterns are produced by idiosyncratic perceptual processes, rather than by sequential motor response-indicators.

MAIL SERVICE AVAILABLE TO DORMITORIES

Members of the college community are reminded of the mail service offered by the College by which mail may be sent directly to students by addressing it to the student's dormitory address and giving it to the Marshall-Wythe mailroom. This mail is delivered to the Dean of Men and Dean of Women who in turn have it delivered to the student. The Business Office requests that this method of delivery be used rather than addressing the mail to the student's post office box and mailing it through the college mailroom.

THEATRE TO OBSERVE CIVIL WAR CENTENNIAL

The William and Mary Theatre production of John Brown's Body opened for a three-day run February 22. This drama is being presented in observance of the Civil War Centennial. The William and Mary Theatre is the first organization in Williamsburg to present any feature in recognition of this Centennial.

In addition to the regular staff of the William and Mary Theatre, Howard Scammon, Russell T. Hastings, and Albert Haak, the assistance of Stephen Paledes, music department, should be recognized. Paledes is directing the chorus of 20 voices in John Brown's Body, which is being presented February 22-24 in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall at 8 p.m.

TRUESDELL ANNOUNCES THIRD MUSIC DEPARTMENT FACULTY RECITAL

The third in the 1961-62 series of Music Department Faculty Recitals is planned for Friday, March 2, at 8 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall, combining the talents of four members of the music department staff. Works will be heard featuring the clarinet, viola and piano, as performed by Alan Stewart, Charles Varner, Stephen Paledes, and F. Donald Truesdell.

Featured in the program is the Mozart Trio in E-flat Major, K. 498, one of few works written for this particular combination of instruments. It is an attractive work with the last movement Rondo ranking high among Mozart's finest.

Included in the program are the Sonatina No. 1 in D Major, Op. 137 for viola and piano, the Sonata in E-flat Major, Op. 120, No. 2 for clarinet and piano, and the "Premiere Rhapsodie" for clarinet and piano.

The Mozart Trio will have had several performances prior to the Phi Beta Kappa event, having been included in the third Music Department Convocation held Tuesday, February 13, in the Music Department Recital Hall, Ewell 100; and on the Young People's Program, Sunday, February 18, at the Colonial Williamsburg Auditorium.

FELDMAN STRING QUARTET TO APPEAR IN COLLEGIUM MUSICUM SERIES

The Feldman String Quartet will appear in a varied program of chamber music March 29 at 8 p.m. in the campus center ballroom. This event is the third in the Collegium Musicum series. The third Rasoumovsky Quartet of Beethoven will be performed along with works by Schumann and Ernest Bloch. The unrestrained exuberance and dramatic climaxes of the final movement of this work add to the joy and excitement of one of Beethoven's finest works in this medium. The Trio in D minor, Op. 63, No. 1 by Robert Schumann is the first of three trios for violin, cello and piano which he wrote about mid-19th century.

An especially strong work in contemporary chamber music literature is Ernest Bloch's Quintet for Piano and Strings. The Hebraic character of his work is often noted. However, his music springs from a source deeper than the Jewish sounding melodies which are sometimes woven into his compositions but which he did not regard as authentic.

Members of the Feldman Quartet are Dora Marshall Short, first violin; Lawrence Mednik, second violin; Ronald Marshall, viola; and Janet McCarron, cello. Assisting the Quartet will be Gloria Whitehurst Phillips at the piano.

BRITISH CANON TO SPEND FIVE DAYS HERE

The Rev. Bryan Green, Canon in the Church of England and one of the outstanding speakers of the Anglican Church, will be at the College for a series of lectures on religion for five days beginning Sunday, March 4.

The series will begin Sunday with an address at 7 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall and will continue with a series of public lectures on "Basic Christianity" in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall Monday through Thursday evenings at 8. Another lecture series on "Love, Friendship and Marriage - a Basis for Sex Morality Today" will be given at the campus center at 4 p.m. Monday through Wednesday. The first lectures of this series will be the one scheduled Sunday at 7 p.m. Numerous other sessions with the students have been scheduled for various times and places on campus.

Canon Green was born in London in 1901 and graduated from London University. He was ordained in 1924. By 1928 his speaking ability was recognized and he was sent throughout Great Britain to lecture. In 1931 Canon Green, because of his facility with college students, was appointed chaplain at Oxford University.

In 1936 he began to come to the United States and Canada to conduct missions and has been here many times since then. He has given lectures at Penn State, Yale, Columbia and Stanford Universities, among others. He has also spoken in India, Australia, the Gold Coast, Nigeria, South Africa, Scotland and North Ireland. His lectures are so popular that he had to be scheduled over a year in advance of his appearance at William and Mary.

Green was appointed rector of Birmingham, the second largest city in England, in 1948. His church, St. Martin's-in-the-Bullring, is in the middle of Birmingham's slums, so much of his work is with the poor. He spends nine months a year in his parish and three months traveling around the world preaching. He writes for some of England's largest daily papers, appears on TV and radio and has written several books, among which are Christians Alive and Being and Believing.

VISITING PHI BETA KAPPA SCHOLAR TO SPFAK TUESDAY

Marshall Clagett, director of the Institute for Research in the Humanities at the University of Wisconsin, will speak at the College Tuesday, February 27, at 8 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. He will discuss "The Classical Heritage of Modern Science."

A Visiting Phi Beta Kappa Scholar, Clagett is being sponsored by the local Phi Beta Kappa chapter and the united chapters in Washington. In addition to the public lecture, he will also meet with interested faculty and students at three scheduled occasions to discuss Medieval Physics (at a 12:30 luncheon Monday, followed by informal discussion with the Philosophy 321 class, interested faculty and students), the problems in the History of Science, especially those problems of interest to classicists (at an informal discussion with invited members of the faculty and students following a 6:30 dinner Monday), and Euclid's Elements (at a 2 p.m. meeting of the Mathematics Club Tuesday).

Well-known in his field for his contributions to present-day knowledge of the scientific ideas of the Middle Ages, Clagett is first vice-president of the History of Science Society and a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. He received his A.B. and M.A. from George Washington University and his Ph.D. from Columbia University. He has served on the faculties of Columbia University and the University of Wisconsin, and during 1958-59 he was a member of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton.

He is the author of Archimedes in the Middle Ages, Giovanni Marliani and the Late Medieval Physics, The Medieval Science of Weights (with Ernest Mody), Greek Science in Antiquity, and Mechanics in the Middle Ages.

FRENCH COMPANY TO PRESENT SARTRE AND IONESCO WORKS

Le Treteau de Paris Theatre Company, a French company of professional actors, will present Jean-Paul Sartre's famous Huis-Clos (No Exit) and Eugene Ionesco's "anti-play," La Cantatrice Chauve (The Bald Soprano), under the production of Jean de Rigault Saturday, March 10, in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall at 8 p.m. Launching its fourth tour of university and college theatres in the United States, the Treteau de Paris Theatre Company has acquired exclusive authorization to perform the two plays in a double-bill.

Produced by Jean de Rigault (the agent who first brought Marcel Marceau to America) under the patronage of Mr. Edouard Morot-Sir, Cultural Counselor to the French Embassy in this country, no detail has been overlooked to make this Treteau de Paris production a striking presentation. Tania Balachova has been called upon to direct Huis-Clos, a play in which she herself has appeared hundreds of times since creating the role of Ines in the original Paris production of 1944. As for La Cantatrice Chauve, Nicolas Bataille, who directed Ionesco's first attempt at playwriting, will direct the new Treteau de Paris production in accordance with the original spirit of Ionesco's creation.

Jacques Noel, one of France's foremost designers for the stage, has designed entirely new sets and costumes for the two plays, while the grand couturier Pierre Cardin will dress the two feminine leads in Huis-Clos. Jean-Francois Calve, one of the most promising male leads of the French stage and screen, will make his American debut in a major role, that of Garcin in Sartre's classic.

More than thirty-eight universities and colleges from coast to coast are playing host to this first-class professional ensemble, whose cultural visit to this country is also sponsored by the French Government.

Tickets, which are $1.50, may be ordered by mail from Marcel Reboussin. The box office in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall will be open on the day of the performance from 3-5 and 7-8 p.m.

COLLEGE RECEIVES OUTSTANDING PRINTING COLLECTION

A collection of approximately 1,000 books, pamphlets and other items relating to the history of hand printing and related typographic crafts in the United States has been given to the College Library. The collection is the gift of Mrs. Ralph Green of Chicago, in memory of her late husband, one of the nation's foremost students of the subject.

The typographic collection, supplemented by the College's existing materials on the printing crafts, places William and Mary among the few institutions owning a collection of primary materials on American printing, according to James A. Servies. Two hand-made presses, designed and built by Mr. Green, are also among the items in the collection and have proved useful to the Library in the printing of special bookplates and announcements. One of the most valuable features of the collection is the comprehensive file of photographs, blueprints and drawings of hand presses known to have been built and used in the United States.

Mr. Green served as a consultant to Colonial Williamsburg, Inc., in reconstructing the shop of the colonial printer in the restored city. His blueprints and specifications for the equipment now used in this shop are among his many note books now in the Library collection.

JUDITH ANDERSON TO APPEAR IN MARCH

Judith Anderson will perform "Medea" and Lady Macbeth in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall at 8 p.m. March 12. Tickets are $3.00 each.

CONCERT SERIES TO FEATURE PIANIST-VIOLINIST DUO

Noel Lee, pianist, and Paul Makanowitzky, violinist, will appear in concert at Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall at 8 p.m. March 9. Although new to American audiences, the Duo has performed widely throughout Europe since 1956 and is recognized there as the most outstanding piano-violin team of our day.

Noel Lee was born in China, grew up in Indiana, and studied at Harvard University and the New England Conservatory of Music. Following World War II he made his home in Paris, and has spent most of his time in Europe, performing and composing. He has studied composition with Walter Piston and Nadia Boulanger, and his works have won a number of prizes, including an award from the American Academy of Arts and Letters in 1959.

Paul Makanowitzky was born in Stockholm and educated in Paris, where he made his debut at the age of nine. His teachers included Ivan Galamian, Jacques Thibaud, and Nadia Boulanger. He has concertized throughout Europe and in North Africa, Israel, Canada, Cuba and the United States, and has appeared as soloist with orchestras under such famous conductors as Monteux, Mitropolous, Paray, Cortot, Koussevitzky, Sargeant and Mitchell.

Carl Dolmetsch is chairman of the faculty Committee on Lectures, Arts and Music which sponsors the Concert Series.

AUDUBON SERIES TO FOCUS ON NOVA SCOTIA

"Nova Scotia - Land of the Sea," the fourth of the Audubon Film Series, will be presented in Washington 100 at 8 p.m. March 20. Single admission is $1.25. The film is in the form of a trip through Nova Scotia, following a tiny stream from its woodland source along its passage to the sea, where lapse-time photography brings in the famous Minas Basin tides with a variety of sea life. The film is in color.

MARSHALL-WYTHE SYMPOSIUM FEATURES SIX SPEAKERS

Six speakers have been invited to lecture to the 1962 Marshall-Wythe Symposium, which will consider The Problems of National Security with special emphasis on policy alternatives other than military preparedness. John A. Thomson, first secretary of the British Embassy, lectured February 16 on "The Common Market and the Future of the Atlantic Community."

William T. R. Fox of Columbia University will speak March 23 at 4 p.m. in Washington 200. His topic is to be announced. Other future speakers and their scheduled lecture dates are: F. Haydn Williams, Acting Assistant Secretary of Defense, March 30; John G. Stoessinger of Hunter College, April 13; Adam B. Ulam of Harvard University, April 20; and Henry Roberts, director of the Russian Institute of Columbia University, May 4.

I-kua Chou of the government department is in charge of the Symposium this spring.

EUROPEAN HISTORIAN TO DISCUSS LAFAYETTE AND NAPOLEON

European historian Louis Gottschalk, chairman of the department of history at the University of Chicago, will speak in the campus center little theatre at 8 p.m. March 21 on "Lafayette and Napoleon." He is sponsored by the Visiting Scholars Program, directed by Carl Dolmetsch of the English department.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT CONVOCATION FEATURES HARP DEMONSTRATION

The Fourth Departmental Convocation in the 1961-62 series is set by the music department for February 27 from 7-7:50 p.m. in Ewell 100. Students and faculty will participate in a program which features a discussion and demonstration of the harp by Mrs. Judith Kernell. She will show how the harp is tuned, what the function of the pedals is, and some of its possibilities in special effects. She will play the Minuetto from Don Giovanni, and the Glissando Waltz, both by Mozart, as well as Music Box, by Poenizt. Following the program, Mrs. Kernell will welcome questions and inspection of the harp.

Also included on the program is the Sonata in Eb Major, Op. 120, No. 2 for Clarinet and Piano, by Brahms, as performed by Charles Varner and F. Donald Truesdell. The two sonatas for clarinet and piano, Op. 120, were written in 1894, and with the piano pieces, Op. 116-119, the Clarinet Quintet, the Four Serious Songs, and the Organ Choral Preludes, they may be counted among the composer's most mature works.

Mrs. Kernell is a graduate of the Pleasantville high school of Pleasantville, New Jersey. She is a major in music at William and Mary, and a student of harp and organ. She sings in the William and Mary chorus. Her husband, Robert Kernell, is assistant professor of physics.

There will be Music Department Convocations scheduled every several weeks during the spring semester, all of which will be held from 7-7:50 p.m. in the Recital Hall, Ewell 100, on Tuesday evenings. Although they are primarily intended as an outlet for performance of students in Applied Music, the Convocations will occasionally include faculty performances and lectures. About fifty persons attended the February 13 event, which was encouraging to those participating. All faculty and staff, as well as students, are welcome to attend.

BIOLOGY

Grace Blank has returned to the College from the Medical College of Virginia following a one-year leave of absence. Under a National Science Foundation Faculty Fellowship Award, she initiated studies on growing pathogenic fungi in tissue culture.

Mitchell A. Byrd has received a grant of $4,485 from the National Institutes of Health to continue for an additional year his studies of the ecology of digenetic trematodes of marine fishes.

Robert Pedigo's paper, Effects of Ionizing Radiation on Pinus taeda, appears in the proceedings of the First National Symposium on Radioecology. The symposium was held in September at Fort Collins, Colorado.

J. Rodgers Eyrd and Mitchell A. Eyrd attended the Eleventh Annual Science Conference at the University of Virginia February 10. The conference consisted of discussions of the new American Institute of Biological Sciences Secondary School Biology Curriculum.

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

Algin B. King represented the College at the annual winter meeting of the American Marketing Association held December 27-29 at the Biltmore Hotel in New York City.

M.B. Jones attended the Annual Meeting of the American Academy of Management held in New York City December 27-29.

In its annual report, based on data contributed monthly by more than 200 organizations, the Bureau of Business Research stated that business and economic activity in Virginia continued in 1961 to show modest gains in year-to-year comparison with 1960, while comparisons to base period levels (1956-58) indicate steady growth over the long run.

EARLY AMERICAN HISTORY AND CULTURE

Lester J. Cappon is author of the recently published pamphlet American Genealogical Periodicals: A Bibliography with a Chronological Finding-List published by the New York Public Library.

Jack P. Greene has an article entitled "The Opposition to Lieutenant Governor Alexander Spotswood, 1718" appearing in the current issue of the Virginia Magazine of History.

EDUCATION

Richard W. Copeland attended the American Science Conference, School of Education, University of Virginia, Saturday, February 10.

Armad J. Galfo visited the Missile Training School in Orlando, Florida, at the invitation of the Commander, 4505th Missile Wing, Tactical Air Command. In connection with the visit, Galfo observed the preparation and firing of a MACE-B missile at Cape Canaveral.

As a consultant to the Navy Training Command, Atlantic Fleet, Galfo represented the Command during his four-day observation of the training facilities and methods used by the Air Force.

Roderick Ironside attended the Hampton Curriculum Council February 8. The address was "Curricular Changes for Slow Learners" with suggestions for textbook changes, teacher qualifications, and administration policies regarding slow learners from grades 1-12. February 15 he consulted with staff of the Newport News Hebrew Day School regarding a program for enhancement of reading skills and appreciations.

Margaret Winder attended the Elementary Teachers Association Forum Discussion in Richmond February 12. The main speaker was May Hill Arbuthnot, Associate Professor Emeritus of Education, Western Reserve University, Cleveland, Ohio, who spoke on "Fantasy and the Modern Child."

Leon Looney attended the Second Army's General Education Development Workshop-Conference held at Fort George G. Meade, Maryland, January 9-11. The Conference was attended by Education Directors and Advisors from 20 centers in the Second Army. Representatives from George Washington University, the University of Maryland, the University of Virginia, the University of Kentucky and the College of William and Mary were invited to attend. These schools participate in the Adult Education programs conducted on military posts throughout the Second Army. The theme of the Conference was "Quality Soldiers Through Quality Education."

ENGLISH

Dr. and Mrs. Carl Dolmetsch are among those cited "with grateful acknowledgment" for "their alert interest and assistance" by author Anya Seton in her new novel, Devil Water, published today (February 23). This historical novel deals, in part, with the family of William Byrd II, of Westover, and takes place in and around Williamsburg in the 1720's. During her research, Miss Seton made several trips here to work with Mrs. Dolmetsch in the College Library and she sought information from Dr. Dolmetsch concerning his specialized studies of Byrd as a literary figure.

Others at the College who are similarly recognized in Devil Water for their contributions to the book are Thad Tate of the history department, Professor Emeritus Richard G. Morton and Librarian Emeritus E.G. Swem.

The novel has been published by Houghton Mifflin Company and will be condensed this spring in The Readers' Digest and distributed also by the Readers Digest Book Club.

Fraser Neiman has been asked to serve on the Program Committee for the Victorian Group of the Modern Language Association for 1962.

Carl Dolmetsch addressed the Williamsburg Rotary Club at their dinner meeting February 22 in the Williamsburg Lodge on "The Role of the College in the Cultural Life of Williamsburg." He explained the present programs of the faculty Committee on Lectures, Arts and Music - of which he is chairman - and discussed their significance to the community at large as well as to the students of the College. He briefly reviewed the long history of College-community relationships in cultural activities and pointed to some future possibilities in this area.

FINE ARTS

Thomas Thorne is displaying his oil painting "Boy with Fowl" at the 16th Irene Leach Memorial Exhibition of contemporary Virginia and North Carolina painting held February 4 through March 4 at the Norfolk Museum of Arts and Sciences. The purpose of the biennial exhibition is to encourage oil and water color painters. Eighty-two paintings are now on display at the museum.

The first bill of new student-written plays was presented Sunday afternoon, February 11, at 3 p.m. by the William and Mary Theatre. Both plays, by Stephen Bellon and William F. Smith, were very well received by the audience of more than 250. The discussion following the performance was particularly successful, bringing out many perceptive observations from the audience. Further such programs are being planned by the Theatre staff.

Frank Staroba took members of Fine Arts 402, "Theatre in the Twentieth Century," to the College Drama Festival February 17. This festival was held in the Theatre of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts.

February 28 the William and Mary Theatre will be host to District E, Group 3, Virginia High School League for the One Act Play Festival. March 8 Group II, District 1, of the Virginia High School League will present its plays. These two events will be held in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Debators from Fordham University took first place honors in the Marshall-Wythe Debate Tournament held here February 9-10. Affirmative and negative teams from 16 schools participated in the event, debating "Resolved: That labor organizations should be placed under the jurisdiction of anti-trust legislation."

The University of Richmond took second place, Capital University of Columbus, Ohio, scored third, and Wake Forest, fourth. The top affirmative team was from George Washington while Fordham had the top negative team. Follow-up affirmative teams were from Richmond, Duke and Capital. Runners-up among the negative teams were, in order, the University of Pennsylvania, Capital and Wake Forest. Dave Noteware of Pennsylvania was named top speaker, Tom Cardwell of Duke was judged second and Bill Goddard of William and Mary, third.

In addition to the colleges mentioned above, the College of Wooster (Ohio), Georgetown University, Pennsylvania State University, Princeton University, the University of Florida, the University of South Carolina, Wayne State University (Michigan), and the U.S. Military Academy (West Point) also participated.

Donald L. McConkey, assistant professor of speech, has conducted the Tournament annually since he joined the faculty in 1954.

HISTORY

Jack P. Greene's article, "The Opposition to Lieutenant Governor Alexander Spotswood, 1718," appears in the January issue of the Virginia Magazine of History and Biography.

LAW

Arthur W. Phelps has been reappointed for a three-year term as a member of the Joint Committee on Continuing Legal Education of the Virginia State Bar and the Virginia State Bar Association. He has also been reappointed as a member of the group advisory to the Committee on the Virginia Bar News, having served on this group since the establishment of this publication.

C. Harper Anderson, James P. Whyte and Arthur W. Phelps will attend a meeting of the Virginia Trial Lawyers Association to be held in Charlottesville, February 17. This meeting is being held in cooperation with the School of Law of the University of Virginia and the Joint Committee on Continuing Legal Education of the Virginia State Bar and the Virginia State Bar Association.

Several hundred volumes have been added to the law library through gifts of five donors during November and December. The contributions came from Florida, Michigan, New Jersey and Virginia. Many of the books, ranging from early nineteenth-century state law reports to current statutory compilations, have long been sought by the School of Law to fill gaps in its legal materials from other states.

Colonial Williamsturg, Inc. presented the school with the law library of Vernon Spratley, Jr., upon his resignation from CW to become U.S. District Attorney for the eastern district of Virginia. An alumnus, Richard Withington, Jr., now practicing in New Jersey, contributed a current set of the annotated New Jersey statutes. Dr. Hobart Coffey, director of the law libraries of the University of Michigan, sent an extensive set of early nineteenth-century Michigan law reports, and a Florida attorney, Russell McCaughan, made a gift of a number of Florida session laws of the early twentieth century. An additional gift of Michigan materials was made during the Christmas holidays by F.C. Standiford of Hanford Hall, Matthews, Virginia. Standiford is the son of the late Judge Charles A. Standiford of Michigan, and the books were selected from his father's professional library.

MARINE SCIENCE

J.L. Wood and J.D. Andrews attended the 4th Annual Shellfish Mortality Conference in Solomons, Maryland, January 22-23.

Both presented papers concerning the state of MSX and disease of oysters in Virginia, also one on the new disease of oysters found only on the seaside of Eastern Shore described as a new species Haplosporidium costale, written by Wood and Andrews. The latter paper, describing new specie, has been accepted for publication in "Science."

Michael Castagna was recently appointed as new head of the Wachapreague Laboratory replacing Dick Hoese who has returned to Texas to resume advanced studies under the noted ichthyologist Clark Hubbs.

AEC recently renewed its $20,000 grant for the continuation of study of the role of filtre feeding marine organisms in removing radioactive wastes from river and bay waters. The studies, begun in 1961 with an initial $20,000 grant, are conducted by Dexter S. Haven and Morris L. Brehmer.

MATHEMATICS

Former William and Mary professor Robert Carl Yates appeared on the television program "Meet the Professor" February 4. Yates is presently professor of mathematics at the University of South Florida in Tampa. The "Meet the Professor" program is produced by the Public Affairs Office of ABC News in cooperation with the Association for Higher Education, NEA. Expanded to include 25 shows this year, "Meet the Professor" features a different professor from a different locale every Sunday, 2:30-3 p.m., EST.

MUSIC

Performing for the College Women's Club on February 5 were Alan Stewart, violist, and F. Donald Truesdell, pianist, among others, in a varied program of vocal and instrumental music. On February 9, Truesdell repeated performance of his January recital program at the Library of the Norfolk College of William and Mary.

Today and tomorrow Truesdell, Stewart and Charles Varner are attending the College Section of the Virginia Music Educator's Association at Madison College in Harrisonburg. Truesdell was recently elected chairman-elect and treasurer of this group.

PHILOSOPHY

Frank A. MacDonald delivered the Irene Leach Memorial Lecture on January 19 at the Norfolk Museum of Fine Arts on the subject: Ethical Codes and Moral Principles.

SOCIOLOGY AND ANTHROPOLOGY

Nathan Altshuler spoke to the quarterly meeting of the Williamsburg Mental Health Association February 1 at the Community Center. His subject was the Role of Churches in Mental Health Programs.

David Gray spoke to the Baptist Student Union in January on the Sociologists' View of Religion.

Gray has had his article on "Scientific Universalism and Familial Particularism - A Comment on Contemporary Family Sociology," accepted for publication in the Southwestern Social Science Quarterly.

Assisted by Barbara Beaumont and Fran McCampbell (sociology majors), Gray presented a form discussion on high school fraternities and sororities for the Thomas Jefferson PTA in Richmond February 13.

Wayne Kernodle gave two lectures to the Residents in Psychiatry Training Program at Eastern State Hospital.

He has accepted an invitation to address the annual meeting of the Virginia Conference on Social Work to be held in Roanoke in April.

VARNER ANNOUNCES SPRING BAND CONCERT

The annual Spring Concert by the William and Mary Concert Band, under the direction of Charles Varner, will take place at Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall, April 26, at 8 p.m.

COLLEGIUM MUSICUM SERIES TO PRESENT FINAL TWO EVENTS

The last two events of the 1961-62 Collegium Musicum Series are scheduled for April 10 and 18.

LIBRARY
WILLIAM & MARY

The Norfolk College of William and Mary Madrigal Singers, under the direction of Eliot Breneiser, will present some of the high lights of the Renaissance vocal literature, Tuesday, April 10, at 8 p.m. in the campus center ballroom. The group of thirteen selected voices specialize in the sacred and secular literature of the sixteenth century. They were organized ten years ago and have performed extensively locally as well as around the state. Their program will feature the "Missa quarti toni" by the Spanish composer, Victoria, of which four movements will be sung. Madrigals and chansons of Italy, England and the lowland countries are included. Of special interest is a brief love song composed by King Henry VIII.

Wednesday, April 18, at 8 p.m. in the campus center ballroom, the Collegium Musicum Series will conclude with the appearance of the English Consort of Viols, under the direction of its founder and leader, Marco Pallis. The group of six players of treble, tenor, and bass viols comes to this country through the efforts of Dr. Henry Hood, professor at Elizabethtown College, Elizabethtown, Pennsylvania. Their program is drawn from the early baroque period and includes works by Matthew Locke, John Jenkins, Henry Purcell, and William Laws.

Viols were played in Europe during the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries and possibly even further back into the Middle Ages. Towards the end of the sixteenth century in England there occurred a sudden awakening to the fuller, individual possibilities of the consort viol and the first two-thirds of the seventeenth century witnessed an extraordinary flowering of pure chamber music, which was unique in Europe in its own day and may be compared both as regards to output and quality with the violin string quartet writings of more recent times. Made in four sizes, they are all held between the knees. Apart from the bass, which can have seven strings, they have six strings tuned in fourths, with the third in the middle, giving two octaves between the top and bottom open strings.

From the close of the seventeenth century until our own time, the viols were practically extinct. It is through the efforts of Arnold Dolmetsch that there has been a revival. The founding of the English Consort of Viols was an eventful outcome of Arnold Dolmetsch's example. Three of its members were, in fact, personal pupils of his. Carl Dolmetsch of the English department is a distant cousin.

The ballroom of the campus center has proved to be an ideal place in which to hold musical events of an intimate nature - in size, acoustics and appearance - according to Frederick Truesdell. The primary purpose of the series is to supplement the studies in music history and literature courses with lectures and performances of a specialized nature. However, the series is offered as additional cultural enrichment for the college and community. There is no admission charge and all interested persons are cordially invited to attend.

HAYDN WILLIAMS TO ADDRESS MARSHALL-WYTHE SYMPOSIUM

Dr. F. Haydn Williams, Acting Assistant Secretary of Defense, will speak to the Marshall-Wythe Symposium today at 4 p.m. in Washington 200. The topic of the Symposium this year is "Problems of National Security," and Dr. Williams will discuss United States defense policy.

Educated at the University of California at Berkeley and the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, Dr. Williams has served in the field of education as assistant professor at the University of Washington in Seattle, assistant and associate dean at Fletcher, and assistant and associate professor at Fletcher.

In the government field he acted as a consultant to the United States' government from 1952-58, at which time he became deputy assistant secretary of defense for the National Security Council affairs and plans. He is currently Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Regional Affairs, which is a part of the office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense for International Security Affairs. He also served three years in the Naval Reserve.

NATIONAL SCIENCE, WOODROW WILSON AND DANFORTH FOUNDATIONS ANNOUNCE GRANTS

Robert L. Kernell of the physics department has received a National Science Foundation Cooperative Fellowship for graduate study during the 1962-63 session. Graduate fellowships were awarded to seniors John Lewis Detch, physics, and Gerald Watkins Bracey, psychology, while Stephen M. Friedman, psychology, Rebecca Shiras Elliott, mathematics, Joseph S. Blinick, physics, and William H. Hunt, physics, received honorable mention. The graduate fellowships carry an annual stipend of $1,800 to be applied toward graduate study at any nonprofit American or foreign institution of higher learning. The Foundation awarded 1760 such grants throughout the nation this year with six other Virginia students receiving them, one from the University of Virginia and five from Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

Three William and Mary seniors, Gerald Bracey, Dennis F. Thompson, philosophy, and Simeon M. Wade, Jr., history, received Woodrow Wilson Fellowships for 1962-63. Honorable mention went to John Detch, Jr., Stephen M. Friedman, Dorothy M. Heid, sociology, William H. Hunt, and Marvin D. Wingfield, sociology. Since the program's inception in 1945, William and Mary has produced 27 recipients, more than any other institution in Virginia. Each of the 1,058 awards given this year covers a full year's tuition and fees at a graduate school of the Fellow's choice and a living allowance of $1,500.

James Ellison Thomas has been awarded a Danforth Fellowship which pays tuition and fees at any school plus living expenses up to $1,500. Thomas, a philosophy major, plans to attend Harvard School of Divinity to get his Bachelor of Divinity and Ph.D. in Philosophy of Religion. This fellowship is given annually to 100 men in any field who are planning to enter teaching in some way. These fellowships are usually renewable for as many as four and sometimes six years, until the Fellow achieves the degree he seeks.

COLLEGE RECEIVES WELSH BIOGRAPHY

The Honourable Society of Cymmrodorion of Great Britain has presented the College with the English edition of the Dictionary of Welsh Biography.

The volume, specially bound in red leather, was accepted by Dr. Paschall in a brief ceremony held March 18 in the Great Hall. The presentation was made by the Rev. Canon Selwyn Gummer on behalf of the Society. Canon Gummer is the Rural Dean of Gravesend, England, and was in Williamsburg in 1957 for the Jamestown Festival. It is at his church that Pocahontas is buried.

Previously, in 1957, the Society of Cymmrodorion presented a plaque to the College in memory of Goronwy Owen, an eighteenth century poet and prose writer. Owen was Master of the Grammar School of the College from 1758 to 1760.

BERNARD HUNTER DONATES LIBRARY TO COLLEGE

Bernard F. Hunter, of Berkeley Springs, West Virginia, has donated his private library to the College. Included were a number of early volumes owned by "Porte Crayon" (David Hunter Strother) and a wide variety of printing equipment, including an early press, cases of type and equipment, used in Harper's Ferry after the Civil War.

Mr. Hunter was the author of an article, "Some Notes on Berkeley Springs, West Virginia," originally published in the second series of the William and Mary Quarterly. The springs were a popular gathering place for celebrities throughout the Colonies. George Washington's name appears among the purchasers of lots.

The early press donated by Mr. Hunter dates from the 1880-1890 period. Commonly known as "the Baltimore jobber," this platen press seems to have been widely used around the turn of the century, although few are still in use today. Since it was made entirely of cast iron, a number of its parts were broken or missing, and James Servies gives sole credit for its resurrection to E.L. Johnson, Jr., of Williamsburg, and S.F. Royal, of Newport News, Virginia, two friends of the Library who took the press apart piece by piece, repaired what was needed, and then reassembled it. For lack of space in the Library, it resides, temporarily, in the Librarian's garage.

The printing apparatus will ultimately go in the new Library, together with the Ralph Green collection of books and other materials on the history of printing in the United States.

COLLEGE JOINS RENSSELAER IN COOPERATIVE PLAN

The College has become the 19th liberal arts institution to affiliate with Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, New York, under a cooperative plan offering engineers and architects a broader base of general education than is available in the usual four-year course.

William and Mary students wishing to participate in the plan will take three years of liberal arts with science emphasis before entering Rensselaer. Those entering engineering will then study for two years in one of Rensselaer's eight specialized fields to complete the work for both the liberal arts degree in a science or mathematics from William and Mary and the engineering degree from Rensselaer. Those entering architecture will require three years at Rensselaer to earn the degree.

QUEEN'S GUARD TO ESCORT CHERRY BLOSSOM QUEEN

The Queen's Guard has been chosen from scores of entries to be the official escort for the queen of the Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington, D.C., April 7. The parade will include princesses from 50 states and floats and bands from all parts of the nation.

In addition to marching in the parade, the Queen's Guard will also appear in other official functions of the week-long Festival which is sponsored annually by The Greater National Capital Committee in cooperation with the Conference of State Societies and National Capital Parks. The unit will be featured in the nation-wide television coverage of ABC, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., April 7.

Approximately 35 of the 40 riflemen in the unit will cut short their spring vacation in order to participate in the Festival, which marks the fiftieth anniversary of the planting of the first cherry trees, a gift from the Japanese government.

COLLEGE TO OFFER SUMMER GUIDANCE INSTITUTE

An eight-week Guidance and Counseling Institute will be conducted by the College, under the direction of Paul N. Clem, from June 18 to August 10. The Institute, conducted under contract with the United States Office of Education, is set up to accommodate 30 enrollees, chosen from the personnel of public and non-public secondary schools throughout the nation.

The staff of the Institute will include Charles Devonshire, professor of psychology and guidance at the College of San Mateo, California; Dr. Arnold Form, associate professor of education at Central Michigan University; Dr. Edwin C. Lewis, assistant psychology professor at Iowa State University; Miss Ellen Lyles, State Director of Guidance Services, Columbia, South Carolina; and Dr. Walter F. Johnson, professor of education at Michigan State University and a Diplomate in Counseling Psychology.

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

Consumer spending at the retail level in Virginia, according to the Bureau of Business Research, outpaced that reported for the nation during January, as national sales increased 6.3% over January 1961 and Virginia retail sales increased 16.9%. This, plus year-to-year gains by the other eight components reporting, explain the substantial business and economic activity increase in Virginia as compared with January of last year. All of the fourteen cities contributing to the Business Index also registered increases in business activity.

Business continued to increase in February as substantial increases in new car registrations and a decided improvement in newspaper advertising lineage offset small decreases in bank debits and building permits in Virginia as compared with February of 1961. Seven of the nine indicators contributing to the survey showed substantial improvement over the same month last year, and this increase resulted in a large percentage gain for almost all of the fourteen cities included in the report.

EARLY AMERICAN HISTORY AND CULTURE

Jack P. Greene read his paper entitled "The Wilkes Fund Dispute in South Carolina" at the 13th Conference on Early American History sponsored by the University of South Carolina, Columbia, South Carolina, Friday, March 23.

Winthrop D. Jordan's article "Modern Tensions and the Origins of American Slavery" is appearing in the February issue of the Journal of Southern History.

EDUCATION

Armand Galfo gave a lecture to the James Blair chemistry classes March 7 on the topic "Nomenclature and Structure of Various Organic Compounds."

Margaret Winder attended March 12 the Forum discussion arranged for Richmond elementary teachers. Key speaker for this occasion was Dr. Leland Jacobs, specialist in children's literature at Columbia University.

ENGLISH

Carl Dolmetsch has been engaged by Twayne Publishers, Inc., of New York (John Ciardi, executive editor), to contribute a critical biography of William Byrd II to its United States Authors Series. This series, which is much like the American Men of Letters biographies published by Sloane Associates a decade ago, will eventually have 150 titles, each by a specialist well-known in his subject field, and will thus be the largest and most extensive undertaking of its kind in American literary history. The books will be issued in both hard cover and "quality" paperback editions.

John T. French published his original poem, entitled "Alice Revisited," in the Quarterly Review of Literature, current issue, Vol. X, No. 4. The Quarterly Review of Literature is affiliated with Bard College, Annandale-on-the-Hudson, New York.

The following passage is extracted from a letter sent to G. Glenwood Clark under date of March 15 by Mr. Amon H. Kim of Kwang Ju City, Korea:

"Dear friend Clark:

...."Also yesterday I received your fine books in English and in Korean. I am very happy to send you a message about your book. Your Korean version of Thomas Alva Edison was selected as among the best books for children and young boys. This selection was sponsored by the Education Ministry (of Korea). The result was reported in most of the newspapers published in Korea. Here I am sending you a clipping in which you can find the fact that your book was selected. Can you send me some copies of this book with hard covers? I will distribute these books to the Minister of Education of Korea and the Education Inspector of Chonam province and the nation-wide exhibition of good books which is slated to be held in Kwang Ju from May 16, 1962 to June 15, 1962 for a month that is to celebrate the first Anniversary Day of our Military Revolution which broke out last year under the direction of General Jung-hi Park who is the chairman of the Supreme Council for National Reconstruction....Also I need two somewhat large pictures of yourself in order to display with your book at the books exhibition....Anyway I am very happy to have you as my real friend and my fine senior. And I am always proud of yourself to my friends in Korea...."

EVENING COLLEGE

John S. Quinn participated in the Invitational Leadership Conference on Adult Education sponsored by the Center for the Study of Liberal Education of Adults. The Conference was held in Chicago early in March.

FINE ARTS

Robert Ames has been selected to serve as a juror for the Paris Prize Competition at the School of Architecture, Hampton Institute. He was also a juror for the annual Alcoa Aluminum Design Awards Competition earlier in the year.

Students at the College training to become teachers had an opportunity to participate in a ceramic workshop March 28-29. Arrangements for the workshop, held in the television studio of Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall, were made by the fine arts department.

Presented by the American Art Clay Company of Indianapolis, the purpose of the workshop is to provide practical experience related to the teaching of pottery craft and to introduce new materials and methods. Students participated in forming and decorating clay shapes following a demonstration of wheel throwing, hand methods of pottery making, glazing, decorating and other ceramic techniques.

Justin Brady, a graduate of Indiana and Alfred Universities, conducted the workshop. Prior to joining the staff of the American Art Clay Company in 1953, he taught ceramics at Indiana University and New York State College of Ceramics. For several years much of Brady's time was spent in the Amaco ceramic research laboratory. Now he conducts the workshops during the school year, and during the other three months he is an instructor in the Amaco Summer Workshops in Ceramics and Metal Enameling held in Indianapolis.

HOME ECONOMICS

Alma Wilkin will attend the annual meeting of the Virginia Home Economics Association at the Cavalier, Virginia Beach, April 5-7.

Thelma Miller and students enrolled in home management and home and family living courses attended the first meeting of the Home Planning Workshop in The Community Center the evening of March 8. Speakers and panel members on the program March 8 included Mrs. Ocie J. O'Brien, house planning specialist; Mr. Wheary, engineer on the staff of Virginia Polytechnic Institute; an architect-contractor; Mrs. Wilkins, who is in charge of home mortgages for Peninsula Bank and Trust Company; an electrical engineer; and a member of a plumbing supply company.

The Home Planning Workshop is sponsored by the Home Economics Extension Department. Mrs. Miller and all home economists in this area have served on the planning committee.

MARINE SCIENCE

The Virginia Institute of Marine Science has recently received from Mr. M.F. Maury Werth a gift of the table and stools used by Commodore Mathew Fontaine Maury while working as Superintendent of Charts and Instruments, the forerunner of today's U.S. Naval Observatory and Hydrographic Office. Mr. Werth is the grandson of Maury.

The Mariners Museum has donated to the Institute a bust of Maury modeled by Edward V. Valentine in 1869. It is displayed in the Library of the Institute along with the table and benches donated by Mr. Verth.

The field laboratory at Wachapreague has been completed and is now occupied by a staff of four under the direction of Michael Castagna. Its dormitories and other facilities are available to investigators from the College as well as from the Institute.

William J. Hargis, Jr., appeared on a panel discussion of "Chesapeake Fisheries" March 12 at the Smithsonian Institution. This was the seventh of a series of programs on "Conservation of human and natural resources in the Great Washington Region" sponsored by National Parks Association of Washington, D.C.

Wyman Harrison, who has been on the faculty of the Norfolk Division of the College of William and Mary, will become a member of the staff of the Institute April 1. Harrison will serve as geological and physical oceanographer.

Bernard C. Patten presented a paper at a symposium "Information Storage and Neural Control" sponsored by the Houston Neurological Society and Baylor University College of Medicine March 9 at Houston. The paper, "Some aspects of information-gathering behavior in plankton" to be published as chapter 7 of the symposium volume, discusses the application of information theory to work on the ecology of York River plankton.

Eight college teachers from eight different Colleges and Universities from Virginia and four other states have been accepted into the NSF-Research Participation for College Teachers program to carry on marine-oriented research for twelve weeks this summer.

Ten undergraduates from six states besides Virginia will also be given the opportunity to gain experience in conducting marine research under the NSF-Undergraduate Research Participation program at the Institute from June 11 to August 31.

MATHEMATICS

Thomas L. Reynolds attended the 15th Annual Conference for Mathematics Teachers in Charlottesville March 24 as a member of a State-wide Mathematics Curriculum Study Group working on a revision of the Mathematics Curriculum for grades 1-12 in Virginia. This conference was designed for the purpose of presenting the revised curriculum to the mathematics teachers of Virginia and the committee acted as panel members for discussion groups.

MODERN LANGUAGES

March 10 the Department of Modern Languages sponsored the production of two French plays (Sartre's "No Exit" and Ionesco's "The Bald Soprano") which were presented at the Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium by a group of Parisian players, Le Tretreau de Paris. It was the first time in the history of the French theatre that modern French plays were presented to American audiences. Marcel Reboussin made most of the arrangements for this outstanding cultural event.

An article in Spanish entitled "El teatro naciente de Hispano-america" by E. Lewis Hoffman has just been published in Mexico. This article is included in Iberoamerica, an anthology of papers, by American professors, relative to Spanish America.

Hoffman attended the Conference of Foreign Language Teachers of Virginia held at Natural Eridge, March 16-17.

Eugenia Vassylkivsky published six poems and seven translations from French and English poets in the annual Ukranian review, "The New Poetry, IV," 1962. One of her own poems was recently published in "Arena" (No.3), the London PEN (Poets, Essayists, Novelists) publication.

MUSIC

The Feldman String quartet, with assisting artist Gloria Whitehurst Philips, presented a chamber music program March 29 as the third event in the Collegium Musicum Series under the auspices of the music department and the Committee on Lectures, Art and Music. Next month the Series will present its last two events for the season.

Stephen P. Paledes was one of three judges in the District Bland Music Contest sponsored by the Lions Club in the Colonial Williamsburg Auditorium, Sunday, March 18.

Charles R. Varner was one of the judges at the Music Festival held at Yorktown High School, Friday and Saturday, March 16 and 17.

Carl A. Fehr attended the convention of the American Choral Directors Association and the Music Educators National Conference in Chicago, March 13-17.

THE FACULTY NEWSLETTER

SERVIES-DOLMETSCH BOOK RECEIVES A.I.G.A. AWARD

The American Institute of Graphic Arts has selected The Poems of Charles Hansford, edited by James A. Servies and Carl R. Dolmetsch (University of North Carolina Press, 1961) for an award as one of the "Fifty Best Books of 1961." The criteria for selection to this list are typographical excellence, outstanding format and design, the high quality of the binding and ornaments, and the beauty of the book as an example of the printer's and designer's art. The book was designed, following editorial requirements, by Willis A. Schell, Jr. and printed under his supervision at the William Byrd Press in Richmond.

Books selected for this "fifty best" list are displayed by the Institute in special exhibits throughout the country in major libraries and galleries and made available to smaller libraries in travelling exhibitions, especially during National Book Week.

Mr. Fletcher has recently been the alternate Henry Higgins in the Broadway production of "My Fair Lady" taking the part in over 200 performances. He has acted in leading roles in over one hundred plays since his youth at Stratford-upon-Avon. Fletcher, who has starred on both the London and New York stage, is noted for his characterizations in plays of Christopher Fry, Shakespeare, and T. S. Eliot.

SENIORS COP HONORS

Dennis Thompson and Dot Young will study abroad next year under the auspices of the Fulbright Act. Thompson, a philosophy major from Hamilton, Ohio, will continue study of philosophy at King's College, University of Cambridge, England. Dot, a government major from Rumford, Maine, will concentrate on international affairs while studying at the University of Strasbourg, Institut d'Etudes Politiques in France. Both students will graduate from the College in June.

Diane Zehfuss will be an assistant teacher of English at the Lycée Michelet in Marseille, France for the coming academic year, 1962-63. Senior Diane's appointment was made by the French government. Diane is a French major from Alexandria. She spent her junior year at the Institute for American Universities in Aix-en-Provence, France.

Student Body President Tom Johnson has been named the Exeter Exchange Student for the coming year. Johnson is a senior math major from North Muskegon, Michigan. The Exeter University Exchange Program between the British University and William and Mary allows for one of the British students to come here while one from William and Mary studies for a year there.

INSTITUTE NAMES NEW COUNCIL MEMBERS AND OFFICERS

Five new members of the Council of the Institute of Early American History and Culture were elected at the annual meeting, according to Lester J. Cappon, director.

Whitfield J. Bell, Jr., American Philosophical Society; Francis L. Berkeley, Jr., Alderman Library, University of Virginia; Alfred A. Knopf, New York publisher; Edmund S. Morgan, Yale University; and Robert R. Palmer, Princeton University were named to three-year terms on the 15-member Council.

Walter Muir Whitehill of the Boston Athenaeum was reelected chairman of the Council. Other new officers are Wesley Frank Craven of Princeton University, vice-chairman and Page Smith, University of California, Los Angeles, secretary. The new executive committee is composed of Whitehill, Craven, Knopf, Stephen T. Riley of the Massachusetts Historical Society, Frederick B. Tolles, Swarthmore College and the Friends Historical Society, and ex officio members Carlisle H. Humelsine, president of Colonial Williamsburg, Inc. and Davis Y. Paschall, president of the College.

'FLAT HAT' RECEIVES PACEMAKER AWARD

The college newspaper, The Flat Hat, has been named one of the five Pacemaker college newspapers in the country by the American Newspaper Publishers Association and the Associated Collegiate Press. The award is given to the top paper in each class for general excellence. The Flat Hat competes with other weeklies at colleges which have an enrollment between 2001 and 4000. The Flat Hat also rated as an All American newspaper for the fifth consecutive semester according to the Associated Collegiate Press critics who read each issue of the paper and compare it with others of similar classification. Other Pacemaker awards went to BU News, Boston University; The Brown and White, Lehigh University; The Michigan State News, Michigan State University; and The Torch, Valparaiso University.

The Institute's Director also spoke before the Williamsburg Kiwanis Club on April 4, regarding "Virginia's Complex Marine Problems."

Bernard C. Patten attended the Conference on Self-Organizing Systems at the Museum of Science and Industry, Chicago, May 22-24. The symposium was sponsored jointly by the Information Systems Branch of the Office of Naval Research and the American Research Foundation of the Illinois Institute of Technology. Patten will attend a summer institute in radiation ecology at the Oak Ridge Institute for Nuclear Studies, June 18-August 3, under joint sponsorship of the National Science Foundation, Atomic Energy Commission and the Ecological Society of America.

The National Science Foundation has provided funds for the summer operation of the Research Vessel LANGLEY.

Dr. Edwin B. Joseph, Senior Marine Scientist, head of the Ichthyology department has been awarded a grant by the National Science Foundation for $16,500 for the study of the ecology of the pelagic embryos and larvae of marine fishes.

MUSIC

Carl A. Fehr was conductor of the Sussex County choral workshop and clinic on May 11-13. This clinic consisted of high school students from Wakefield, Waverly, Stony Creek and Jarratt. The clinic was culminated with a concert Sunday afternoon, May 13, in the Stony Creek High School.

The William and Mary Choir tour along the Eastern Seaboard was very successful according to the many letters of commendation received recently, Carl A. Fehr reports. The Choir sang at Groveton High School, Alexandria; Merion War Tribute House, Philadelphia; Our Saviour's Lutheran Church, Brooklyn, New York; Northumberland High School, Pennsylvania; and Bel Air High School, Maryland. Their spring concert was presented here May 4 and 5.

PHYSICS

George W. Crawford and Robert E. Smith attended the annual meeting of the Virginia Academy of Science held in Norfolk on May 11.

Fifty Virginia High Schools were represented at the Fourteenth Annual Science Contest held at William and Mary on April 27-28, with a total of 169 contestants participating. Examinations were given by the biology, chemistry, mathematics and physics departments. As a result of the examinations first place scholarships of $500 and second place scholarships of $300 have been awarded in each of the fields taking part. The Mathematics Department participated in the contest for the first time this year. George W. Crawford served as chairman of the contest.

PSYCHOLOGY

A number of students from the Psychology Department attended sessions of the Virginia Academy of Science on Friday, May 11, in Norfolk. Research papers were read by two undergraduate students. John Baldino read, "Perseveration of Traces in the Tachistoscopic Recognition of Words," and George Skryzpek read a paper entitled, "The Effect of Various Schedules of Reinforcement on Two-Choice Behavior in Human Subjects." Both graduate students in the department also read papers. The title of Wesley Westman's paper was "The Effect of Field Illumination Upon Exploratory Behavior in the Rat." The paper by John Williams was "The Effect of Pronunciability and Mode of Presentation on Acquisition of CVC Trigrams." Two members of the staff and faculty also read research papers. Mary Ellen Finkel read "Tachistoscopic Recognition of Words and Their Minor Images." Peter L. Derks presented a paper on "The Effect of Various Event Run-Lengths on Human Binary Prediction."

Mr. Derks also served as the chairman of one paper-reading session, and E. Rae Harcum served as chairman of another session.

Stanley B. Williams served in his capacity as a member of the Executive Council of the Academy.

Mr. Harcum was re-elected as the Secretary-Treasurer of the Psychology Section of the Academy.

FACULTY TO NOMINATE SENIORS FOR FELLOWSHIPS

Nominations of seniors for Woodrow Wilson National Fellowships must be made by October 31. Any member of the faculty may nominate by sending the candidate's name, address, college, and proposed field of graduate study to the Regional Chairman, Dean I. B. Cauthen, Jr., University of Virginia, Charlottesville. The fields supported are the humanities and social sciences, and the natural sciences and mathematics if the candidate has a clear interest in college teaching. Professor Frank B. Evans is the local campus representative of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation.

PHYSICS DEPARTMENT RECEIVES RESEARCH GRANT

The National Science Foundation has just awarded an undergraduate research grant to the Department of Physics under the direction of Melvin A. Pittman. The amount of the grant for this school year is $11,060 and the National Science Foundation has indicated a larger amount for the two additional years.

SLOW-PITCH TEAM WINS THIRD CHAMPIONSHIP

The College slow-pitch softball team went undefeated to win the league championship, as well as the playoffs, during the past summer, making a total of three such championships in as many years. The slow-pitch league is sponsored by the Williamsburg Recreation Department.

The College team, called "The Collegiates," was composed of faculty and staff members from the Athletic Department, the Departments of English, Physical Education, Psychology and Sociology, as well as from the Offices of the Alumni, Dean of Admissions, Dean of Men, Extension, and Personnel.

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

Charles L. Quittmeyer has been appointed a member of the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce Committee on Travel Promotion, 1962-63.

Anthony Sancetta and Charles Quittmeyer have completed a feasibility study of the Intercoastal Steel Corporation, a new electric steel facility in the Norfolk area.

John Quinn has the Evening College under way as its director.

William Reece has completed another season as manager of the box office of "The Common Glory."

Algin B. King will shortly publish Retail and Wholesale Distribution Patterns in Virginia. He also has expanded the Virginia Business Index Report to four pages.

Rosemary MacLellan has undertaken the Economics 103 course in the Evening College in addition to the day session.

EDUCATION

Roderick Ironside has begun weekly consulting work in reading for the Hampton City Schools. He will conduct workshops for teachers, grade by grade, and later in the semester will study and make recommendations for reading instruction in the junior high schools.

Paul Clem gave the Commencement address to the graduating class at Mathews High School, Mathews, Virginia on June 5, 1962.

August 28, Carl W. McCarthy worked with the teachers in the Shenandoah County Schools Pre-School Conference and presented the key note speech to the school personnel. The title of his address was "What Makes a Good School Day."

He also was a consultant in the Pre-School Conference of the York County Schools, August 30 and 31.

Deore Cannon served as a visiting consultant to the N.D.E.A. Counseling and Guidance Training Institutes held at the University of Puerto Rico, Rio Piedras, Puerto Rico and at Hampton Institute, Hampton. He also was a visiting professor at Marshall University, Huntington, West Virginia this past summer.

Cannon was co-author of a paper read at the annual conference of the Western Psychological Association. The title of the paper was "An Investigation of Certain Changes of Self-Concept During a N.D.E.A. Counseling Institute."

ENGLISH

G. Glenwood Clark has just been informed by his publisher, E. P. Dutton, that the French translation rights of his book, Thomas Alva Edison, have been sold to a Parisian publisher. The book, when translated, will circulate in the new African nations that have emerged from the former French colonial empire. French is the twenty-fifth language into which the book has been translated.

Carl R. Dolmetsch, Mrs. Dolmetsch and sons travelled 9,000 miles by car this summer to California, Mexico and points west, spending several weeks at the Henry E. Huntington Library and Art Gallery, in San Marino, Calif., where Mrs. Dolmetsch did research on early maps and prints for Colonial Williamsburg and Dr. Dolmetsch pursued his research on a critical biography of William Byrd II for the Twayne United States Authors Series. While at the Huntington Library, he discovered a manuscript of anonymous poems and dialect letters, written in Williamsburg in the 1750's, which he has received permission to edit for book publication next year.

Dr. Dolmetsch contributed a review of Jerome Buckley's Tennyson: A Critical Study (Harvard, 1961) to the July issue of Books, a new monthly "broadside" of book reviews and commentary.

Fraser Neiman has contracted with the Twayne Press to do the volume on Matthew Arnold that will appear as a part of the Twayne English Author Series.

The Twayne English Authors Series (TEAS), like the Twayne American Authors Series (TAAS), which is already appearing, will be an extensive collection of critical books on major authors. It is under the general editorship of Professor Sylvia Bowman of the University of Indiana.

Dabney Stuart's manuscript "Fair" was awarded the 1962 Harvard Summer Poetry Prize. Mr. Stuart read from the winning poem on August 8 as part of Harvard's summer series of poetry readings and recorded a substantial part of it for Widener Library's collection of recorded poets. Two of Mr. Stuart's other poems appear in the current issue of "The Lyric," Virginia's poetry magazine.

FINE ARTS

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Roseberg toured the continent, Scandinavia and England during July. Mr. Roseberg will have about 1500 new slides to show his students.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Thorne toured England, Scotland and France during August. Mr. Thorne worked at the British Museum and the National Portrait Gallery in London on identification of colonial works of art.

During the summer, a workshop production was given of a new drama which might replace "The Common Glory." Mr. Haak was technical director, Russell Hastings designed the setting, and Howard Scammon directed the play which was given for a select audience.

"Lying Valet," the Colonial Williamsburg 18th century play, acted by members of the William and Mary Theatre, opened to rave reviews, Friday, September 21. The play is given every Friday night through the first Friday in November, except for October 26. The show begins at 8:15 and is given in the Colonial Williamsburg Auditorium. A prologue to introduce the show and an intermission featuring songs by the members of the cast are innovations this year.

The play, written by David Garrick, was first presented in Williamsburg in April of 1772 and was performed by the William and Mary Theatre in 1936.

During Homecoming, the William and Mary Theatre will have a theatre exhibit in the East and West Lobbies of Phi Beta Kappa Hall. In addition, pictures of practically all of the Theatre productions since 1926 will be mounted outside the Green Room area.

A brief scene, "After the Surrender," written by two alumni of the College, James and Benjamin Bray ('47) will be performed in Yorktown October 19 to celebrate the surrender of Yorktown. Cast members for the scene to be directed by Howard Scammon are: Dr. Peter Derks, Judith Davis, Charlotte Edmonds, Tobey Sindt, and David Sherman and James Babb.

The members of the Fine Arts Department participated in the production of "The Common Glory" this past summer. Frank Staroba played the leading role of Thomas Jefferson. Russell Hastings acted the part of Lord Dunmore and also was photographer for the Jamestown Corporation. Al Haak was the technical director for the drama directed by Howard Scammon.

HISTORY

Lawrence W. Towner accepted the position of Librarian in the Newberry Library, Chicago, Illinois, and took up his duties in Chicago, September 1. Dr. Towner had been a member of the faculty of the College and Editor of the William and Mary Quarterly since 1955. William W. Atbot, formerly on the faculty of the College and Book Review Editor of the Quarterly, presently in the Department of History in Rice University and Managing Editor of the Journal of Southern History, will return to Williamsburg in February to assume the editorship of the Quarterly and rejoin the faculty of the College as associate professor of history.

James M. Smith is dividing his time between Durham, North Carolina and Williamsburg this first semester. Mr. Smith will combine his duties as Editor of Publications in the Institute with those of Visiting Professor of History in Duke University.

MARINE SCIENCE

Thirteen new graduate students arrived for the fall semester, September 14. This brought the total student number to twenty-two. The graduate program usually takes two to two and one-half years for completion, although a student could finish in a year and a half.

MARSHALL-WYTHE SCHOOL OF LAW

Effective August 31, 1962, Chancellor Professor of Law Dudley Warner Woodbridge retired from the Deanship of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law. In commemoration of his distinguished service as Dean and his outstanding contribution as a teacher, he was honored at ceremonies held at the Wren Building on Burgesses Day, September 22, 1962.

On this occasion the Rector of the Board of Visitors, the Hon. Sterling Hutcheson in a commemorative address, reviewed the historical significance of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law. Following this he presented to Dean Woodbridge a copy of the Resolution adopted by the Board of Visitors accepting his resignation from the Deanship and expressing its appreciation for his distinguished service to the College and its pleasure in his continuing to teach in the Law School.

On behalf of the College, President Davis Y. Paschall accepted a portrait in oils of Dean Woodbridge by the artist, Tommy L. Grooms. The portrait was presented by the President of the William and Mary Law School Association, David O. Williams, Jr., on behalf of the Association.

Joseph Curtis represented the Law School at the Southeastern Regional Law Teachers Conference held in Atlanta in August. Mr. Curtis participated as a member of the Steering Committee.

Thomas C. Atkeson was appointed by the Secretary of the Treasury to serve on the Secretary's Committee on the Internal Revenue Service's Training Program. The purpose of the committee is to review the training policies of the revenue service. Meetings of the Committee were held in Washington on August 13 and 14 and on September 13 and 14, with several others scheduled during the year.

Mr. Atkeson attended the Seventeenth Annual Conference of the Tax Executives Institute, Inc., which was held at the Greenbrier, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., on August 26-30.

Dean Dudley Woodbridge attended the conference with the Virginia State Bar Examiners held in Roanoke following the June Bar Examination.

During the summer, James P. Whyte served as Arbitrator in labor disputes involving the Teamsters Union and trucking industries in Martinsville, the Award for which appears in 62-3 ARB P8833, and in Galax, the Award for which appears in 62-3 ARB P8875.

As a member of the Naval Reserve, he was one of 200 Army, Coast Guard, National Guard, Marine and Naval Officers selected to attend the National War College for a defense strategy seminar.

MILITARY SCIENCE

Captain William C. Sanders, II, has recently been assigned to the Military Department as Assistant Professor of Military Science. He is a graduate of the North Georgia College which is one of the seven essential military colleges in the United States. He is a Regular Army Officer commissioned in March of 1956. Since then he has served at Fort Knox, Ky., Fort Bliss, Texas, Fort Carson, Colo., and Augsburg, Germany. Prior to coming here he was at Fort Knox where he completed the Armor Officer's Career Course.

The Captain and his wife reside at 218 Thomas Nelson Lane in Skipwith Farms here in Williamsburg.

MODERN LANGUAGES

The August issue of Ellery Queen's Mystery Magazine contained a translation by Gordon Rhinggold of a nineteenth century mystery story by Erckmann-Chatrian, "The Mysterious Sketch." Shortly after its appearance the editors of Practical English, a classroom magazine for high school students, published by Scholastic Publications, Inc., requested and received his permission to reprint the translation.

Pierre Oustinoff addressed Foreign Language Teachers of the Suffolk Public Schools on the subject of pre-school planning in the effective use of electronic equipment, August 28.

MUSIC

The Music Department of the College was host on Saturday, September 8, 1962, for the semi-annual meeting of the Virginia Band and Orchestra Directors Association, John G. Perkins, President. Approximately fifty directors from all around the state were in attendance at the business meetings and music reading sessions, many of whom were on the staff or participants in connection with the Summer Band Camp. Charles R. Varner, William and Mary director of bands, served as coordinator and F. D. Truesdell, head of the music department, greeted the Association on behalf of the department.

The first event in the Collegium Musicum Series for 1962-63 is scheduled at the Campus Center Ballroom, Sunday, October 28, 1962. Miss Marian Harding will be featured in a harp demonstration and recital.

Miss Harding was appointed lecturer in Music last year to teach Harp for the Music Department. A Philadelphian, Miss Harding has studied at the Philadelphia Musical Academy and, as a scholarship student, at the Curtis Institute of Music with the late Carlos Salzedo. She has toured under Columbia Community Concert Artists management as a member of the Angelaires Harp Quintet, as well as in solo appearances.

Her program will include compositions by Johann Sebastian Bach, Francois Couperin, Arcangelo Corelli, Claude Debussy, Salzedo and others. The public is cordially invited to attend.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The National Physical Fitness Test score results recently tabulated for 562 students in the required physical education program during the second semester of '62 indicate significant improvement over previous testings. Five new William and Mary records in individual events were established. The mean score was increased by 52 points over that of 1962. Six of our students ranked in the 97th percentile with twenty-four in the 95th percentile nationally.

The battery of events in this test with William and Mary College Records as of September 1962 are as follows:

EVENT	RECORD	STUDENT HOLDING	ESTABLISHED

PHYSICS

John L. McKnight attended the 10th International Congress for the History of Science on August 27th to August 31st, at Ithaca, New York.

Melvin A. Pittman and George W. Crawford attended the Symposium on Molecular Structure and Spectroscopy at the Ohio State University in Columbus, Ohio, June 11-15, 1962

PSYCHOLOGY

E. Rae Harcum has been appointed for another year to the Vision Committee of the National Academy of Science--National Research Council.

An article entitled, "Recognition vs. Recall of Tachistoscopic Patterns," by E. Rae Harcum has been accepted for publication in Perceptual and Motor Skills. The article demonstrates that superior perception in the left visual hemifield for elements of binary visual patterns flashed across fixation is obtained even though the observer has merely to recognize the correct pattern, instead of having to recall the pattern without any aid to memory. This result suggests that the superiority of perception to the left is not caused by the sequential reproduction of the elements of the pattern from left to right, which is usual when the pattern must be reproduced from memory.

An article by E. Rae Harcum and Mary Linda Jones, a 1962 graduate in Psychology, has been accepted for publication in Science. The article, entitled, "Letter-recognition Within Words Flashed Left and Right of Fixation," provided inferential evidence that the relative accuracy in perceiving English words flashed entirely to the right or left of fixation is determined by eye-movement tendencies which have been established through experience in reading English from left to right.

SOCIOLOGY AND ANTHROPOLOGY

David Gray attended a conference on Political Economy this summer, sponsored by the University of Wisconsin. He also attended the American Sociological Association meetings held in Washington in early September.

Nathan Altshuler also attended the National and International Sociological meetings in Washington. He was recently named Consultant to the Adolescent Process Section of the National Institute of Mental Health.

James Shuster, under a grant from Health, Education and Welfare, was recipient of the Arabic Languages Fellowship Award at Harvard University during the past summer.

Wayne Kernodle was reappointed to the staff of the Residency Training Program in Psychiatry at Eastern State Hospital for the current year.

Edwin H. Rhyne's article on "Racial Prejudice and Authoritarianism: An Alternative Approach" has been accepted for publication and is scheduled to appear in the October issue of Social Forces.

RAGO AND KENYON TO BE FEATURED AT PEK OPEN MEETING

Miss Dorothy Kenyon and Henry Rago will be the speaker and poet, respectively, at the 186th anniversary convocation of Phi Beta Kappa, December 5. The public meeting, beginning at 8 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa, will follow the initiation of the 18 members-elect.

Miss Kenyon, a former New York City Municipal Court Judge and President of Women in World Affairs, Inc., will speak on "Constitutional Law" in conjunction with the 175th anniversary of the signing of the United States Constitution in September.

Mr. Rago, editor of Poetry Magazine will read some of his poems, one an original for this occasion. His latest book of poetry, A Sky of Late Summer and Other Poems, will be published early in 1963 by Macmillan.

"UNDER MILK WOOD" OPENS DECEMBER 6

"Under Milk Wood," The Dylan Thomas play to be presented by the William and Mary Theater, will open December 6 at 8 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium. The performance will be given on December 7 and 8 also.

The play, completed just before Thomas' death in 1953, presents a day in the life of a tiny Welsh village named Llareggub, which nestles between the sea and the nearby forest of Milk Wood. Beginning with their early morning dreams, it follows the colorful villagers through a day of work, gossip, plans and carousing into the night.

The twelve performers will act on a system of ramps and platforms in a production whose style is similar to last year's "John Brown's Body."

Tickets for the performance are available at the box office, Monday through Saturday from 3-5 p.m., and from 7-8 p.m. on days of the performance.

The Post-Dramatem for the play will be held Sunday, December 9 in the Dodge Room, Phi Beta Kappa, at 4 p.m. Coffee and tea will be served and all audiences are invited to discuss the play.

STEVE SKJEI AWARDED DRAPERS' SCHOLARSHIP

Senior economics major, Steven Skjei of Norfolk, has been awarded the Drapers' Exchange Scholarship for the coming two-year period, 1963-65. He plans to study at the University of London, School of Economics. He will hold the third Drapers' Scholarship since the Exchange Program was established in 1958.

A member of Eta Sigma Phi, and Sigma Phi Epsilon, Steve has also been a dormitory manager and the William and Mary economics department representative to the Virginia Banker's Association Conference.

The Drapers' Scholarship pays a student's tuition, fees, room and board for a stipulated two-year period.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be supported by a valid receipt or invoice. This ensures transparency and allows for easy verification of the data.

In the second section, the author outlines the various methods used to collect and analyze the data. This includes both manual data entry and the use of specialized software tools. The goal is to ensure that the data is both accurate and easy to interpret.

The final part of the document provides a detailed breakdown of the results. It shows that there has been a significant increase in sales over the period covered by the report. This is attributed to several factors, including improved marketing strategies and better customer service.

MARSHALL-WYTHE OFFICES ARE CHANGED

Following the removal of the President Davis Y. Paschall's offices from Marshall-Wythe to Ewell Hall, a flurry of office-changing has taken place. The Bursar's Office now occupies the one vacated by Dr. Paschall. The Personnel Office, headed by Dennis Cogle, now is located in the old Bursar's Office. Kenneth Green and Mrs. Bernice Sykes are now located in the office vacated by Personnel.

DEBATE TOURNAMENT BEGINS NEXT WEEK

The 9th annual Marshall-Wythe Debate Tournament sponsored by the College Debate Council will open with registration Thursday, January 31. The invitational tournament offers some of the best debating and strong competition in the country, according to Donald McConkey, faculty advisor. Thirty-five schools are scheduled to take part in the tournament including University of Utah, Brigham Young, Illinois State University, Southern Illinois, Wayne State University (Detroit), University of Florida, Dartmouth, Pennsylvania State University, University of Pennsylvania, Ohio State University, Ohio University, Wooster College, University of Tennessee, University of Kentucky, Duke, Wake Forest, University of Richmond, University of Massachusetts, George Washington University, and the Naval Academy.

The debates are open to the public and will be held in the Campus Center on Friday and Saturday, February 1 and 2.

FINE ARTS FILMS TO BE SHOWN

Four movies studied in Fine Arts 242 will be shown during the second semester to any interested students or faculty members, Al Haak, Associate Professor of Fine Arts, has announced. The movies will begin at 8 p.m. and will be shown in the Campus Center Little Theater Tuesday nights: "Birth of a Nation," February 12; "Le Million," March 19; "Life of Emile Zola," April 23; and "Brink of Life," May 21.

SORORITY WOMEN WANTED

The College Pan-Hellenic Council needs the help of two faculty women or faculty wives during the two week period beginning February 4 and ending with the conclusion of formal rush. The two women will serve as a judiciary committee, if needed, and would be called upon occasionally at night for about an hour. The two women should be sorority women from sororities not represented on campus. Any women interested in helping the Pan-Hellenic Council are asked to call President Judy Liddle at the Kappa Kappa Gamma House (Ca 9-4622) immediately.

FOREIGN FILM SUBSCRIPTIONS NOW ON SALE

Subscriptions for the Campus Center Foreign Film Festival are on sale now at the campus center main desk for $3.00. The ticket sale ends Tuesday, February 5. This year's festival will include "The Nights of Cabiria", "Bicycle Thief", "Rocco and his Brothers", "World of Apu", "Viridiana." "Nights of Cabiria," the first film, is an Italian film, directed by Fellini, the director of "La Dolce Vita." It will be shown Tuesday, February 26 in Washington 100 at 8 p.m. Single admissions to each show will be $1.00 each.

BOYD TO SPEAK AT CHARTER DAY, FEB. 8; AWARD TO BE ANNOUNCED

Dr. Julian P. Boyd, editor of the multi-volume collection of the Papers of Thomas Jefferson and professor of history at Princeton University, will deliver the Charter Day address "The Enduring World of Thomas Jefferson" at the annual convocation, February 8. Ceremonies at 11 a.m. in Blow Gymnasium will mark the 270th anniversary of the granting of the college charter by King William and Queen Mary. Dr. Boyd is a member of the advisory council of the Institute of Early American History and Culture, a research agency jointly administered by the College and Colonial Williamsburg, Inc.

His topic was chosen in connection with the Thomas Jefferson Award to be announced at the convocation. The award, to be presented annually to a faculty member of the College who "best exemplifies the ideals of Thomas Jefferson," is for $500 and is financed by a gift from the Robert Earll McConnell Foundation of Florida.

ALBENFRI TRIO TO PERFORM FEBRUARY 8

The third concert on the annual William and Mary Concert Series is scheduled for Friday, February 8 at which time the Albeneri Trio will perform. The group, credited with having revived interest in the piano trio as a form of chamber music, will be heard at Phi Beta Kappa at 8 p.m. The Trio is noted for its performances of the entire cycle of Beethoven Trios which it has done in New York, Chicago, Washington, D.C. and on many college campuses. Tickets are now on sale at Schmidt's Music Shop for $2.00.

FOUR OF FACULTY RECEIVE RESEARCH AWARDS

Carl R. Dolmetsch, Ludwell H. Johnson, Richard B. Sherman and Dabney Stuart, III, have been named recipients of the Willett Research Prize Awards. The awards, made possible through the generosity of Howard L. Willett of Chicago, are in the amount of $1250 each.

Mr. Willett, president of the Willett Company, provided the funds to create these awards for the purpose of permitting young scholars on the faculty of the College to pursue their research or creative work. He previously has created similar awards at Skidmore College, Northwestern University, and for public school teachers in Chicago.

Dolmetsch, of the English department, will pursue his projected "A Literary Biography of William Byrd II," scheduled for publication in April, 1965.

Johnson will continue work on his monograph on "Contraband Trade in the Civil War." Sherman will continue his study of the political significance of mass migration of negroes from the South to the large Northern cities during and immediately following World War I. Johnson and Sherman are both in the history department.

Stuart, also of the English department, will complete a long poem to be entitled "Fair."

COLLEGIUM MUSICUM FEATURES ORGANIST

The fourth Collegium Musicum Series concert for 1962-63 will be presented Friday, February 22 at 8 p.m. in the Bruton Parish Church. James S. Darling, organist, will be featured in the concert which will also include the William and Mary Chorus, directed by Carl A. Fehr, the William and Mary Chamber Players, directed by Alan C. Stewart, and Ann Rowe, contralto.

Numbers on the program are Henry Purcell's Trio Sonata in A Minor; Psalm 29, Bringet dem Herrn, Heinrich Schutz; Geistliches Wiegenlied, Johannes Brahms; Flute Quartet in A Major, K. 298, Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart; Fragments from the Mass, Mary Lou Diemer; Ave Maria, Zoltan Kodaly; "My Spirit, Be Joyful" from Cantata No. 146, Johann Sebastian Bach; Magnificat, Ralph Vaughan Williams; Toccata and Fugue in D Minor, Johann Sebastian Bach.

INSTITUTE RECEIVES NSF GRANTS

The Virginia Institute of Marine Science has received three grants for special training of students during the summer of 1963 from the National Science Foundation. The grants total $45,725. This sum will support 7 college teachers in a Research Participation for College Teachers Program, 10 students in an Undergraduate Science Education program, and 15 students and 3 teachers in a Cooperative College-School Science Program.

The latter program will be conducted by Dr. Harold J. Humm of the Department of Botany, Duke University at Norview High School, Norfolk.

LIBRARY RECEIVES RARE BOOKS

The College Library has received an unusual gift of rare books from a former professor of English at Drake University in honor of two of his former students who are now members of the College community.

Dr. Thomas F. Dunn, of Stillwater, Okla., retired head of the Drake University English Department, has presented the Library with six rare editions of books and bound periodicals "because of the College's good treatment of my former students, Prof. and Mrs. Carl Dolmetsch."

Dr. and Mrs. Dolmetsch received their B.A. degrees in English from Drake in 1948 and Dr. Dolmetsch completed his M.A. studies under Dr. Dunn in 1949 before going on to his doctoral work at the University of Chicago. He taught in Dr. Dunn's department from 1956-1959 prior to coming to William and Mary. Mrs. Dolmetsch worked in the William and Mary College Library for two years before taking her present position in the Research Department of Colonial Williamsburg, Inc.

Included in the gift are Richard Verstigan's The Restitution of Decayed Intelligence (2nd Ed., 1634); Some Ancient Christmas Carols, collected by Davies Gilbert (London, 1822); The Poems of William Dunbar (2 vols., London, 1839); The Leipzig Edition (1829) of James Thomson's The Seasons, with collected commentary; W. ## THE FACULTY NEWSLETTER

PRESIDENT PASCHALL NAMED CHAIRMAN OF FACULTY SALARY SCALE STUDY

At a recent meeting of the Virginia Council of Presidents of State Institutions of Higher Learning, a committee of the Presidents was formed for the purpose of making a study of needed revision in the Faculty Salary Scale for the next biennium, and to confer with the Governor regarding this matter. President Paschall was named Chairman of the committee which includes the presidents of the University of Virginia, Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Medical College of Virginia, Madison College, Longwood College, Virginia State College, Mary Washington College, Old Dominion College and Virginia Military Institute.

COLLEGIUM TONIGHT AT BRUTON PARISH

The fourth Collegium Musicum Series program includes James S. Darling, organist; Ann Rowe, Contralto; the William and Mary Girl's Chorus, Carl A. Fehr, Director; and the William and Mary Chamber Players, Alan C. Stewart, Director.

Planned in conjunction with the meetings of the Virginia Music Educators Association, College Section, the concert will begin at 8 p.m. in Bruton Parish Church tonight. The program will include compositions by Purcell, Mozart, Brahms and J. S. Bach.

ORIGINAL PLAY TO BE PRESENTED TOMORROW

"Liberty Mill," an original play by senior Jack Peet is being presented by the William and Mary Theater tomorrow at the Virginia College Drama Festival in Richmond. Written in Frank J. Staroba's play-writing class, the play will be one of many presented at the Virginia Museum Theater. Based on the restoration of a town, the play is being directed by Staroba. Criticism by Robert Lewis will be given on all original productions at the Festival. In addition to the presentation of the plays, Edward Albee, author of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?", will speak at the meetings.

KENDALL TO GIVE PRE-PERFORMANCE LECTURE

Mr. Donald Kendall, English department, will lecture on "The World of Bertolt Brecht," as a pre-production feature of the forthcoming "Threepenny Opera." The lecture, sponsored by Theta Alpha Phi, will take place at 3:30 p.m., February 24, Sunday, in the Dodge Room of Phi Beta Kappa, and is open to the public.

Kendall has done extensive research on Brecht and will deal with the background of Brecht's career in his lecture. Brecht's original contributions to modern theater will be discussed as well as theatricalism, alienation effect and other Brechtian principles of epic and "learning" drama. Many of these ideas are being incorporated into the William and Mary production of "Threepenny Opera," February 28, March 1 and 2. After the lecture, coffee and tea will be served by Theta Alpha Phi, national honorary dramatics fraternity.

ROBERT BLACK RECEIVES NATIONAL SCIENCE FOUNDATION GRANT

Robert E. L. Black of the biology department has received a National Science Foundation research grant in the amount of $28,200 for support of work entitled "Enzyme Systems in Marine Embryos." The grant, to cover a period of approximately two years, will according to Dr. Black "provide summer salary and equipment for a continuation of studies on the biochemistry of the developing embryo. The grant also provides support for undergraduate and graduate students who are interested in obtaining research experience in this area of biology."

Black continued, "The major part of the research on this project will be carried out in the department of biology of the College of William and Mary, and at the Virginia Institute of Marine Science in Gloucester Point. In addition, the grant provides for research to be undertaken at the Bermuda Biological Laboratory during a part of the coming summer."

SYMPOSIUM SPEAKERS DISCUSS CAPITALISM

"Capitalism and the American Economic System" will be discussed by speakers at the Marshall-Wythe Symposium lectures this spring. The lectures, all open to the public, are given in Washington 200 at 4 p.m.

Mrs. Walt W. Rostow, associate professor of history at American University and a trustee of Sarah Lawrence College, will speak on "The Changing Tasks of American Capitalism" Friday, March 1.

The second March lecture will be on "Latin American Comparisons and Contrasts to the American Economic System." The speaker, Congressman Armistead I. Selden, Jr. of Alabama is a member of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs. He will lecture Friday, March 15.

Other lecturers include Charles E. Summer, Jr., April 12; Thomas C. Cochran, April 26; and Wilbert E. Moore, May 10. This year's Symposium is directed by Charles L. Quittmeyer, head of the department of business administration.

Tickets for the third William and Mary production "Threepenny Opera" may be obtained from the Box Office, Monday through Friday, February 25-March 1, from 3 to 5 p.m. The Box Office also will be open from 7-8 p.m. on the evenings of performances, February 28, March 1 and 2. The phone number is 229-3000, ext. 272.

Director Howard Scammon has announced that no one will be admitted to the performance during the Prologue, which features "Mack the Knife." The curtain will rise promptly at 8 p.m., and "if anyone wishes to hear 'Mack the Knife', he should be there on time" Scammon stated.

A post-dramatem will be held Sunday, March 3 at 3:30 p.m. in the Dodge Room to discuss the production. Coffee and tea will be served and all audiences are invited to come. A suggestion box will be placed in the lobby for suggested topics of discussion about the production.

MUSIC FACULTY TO PERFORM IN MARCH

Two music department faculty recitals are on the calendar for March. The first, Friday, March 8, will feature F. Donald Truesdell, pianist, in a program including works by J. S. Bach, Mozart, Chopin, Brahms, Paul Hindemith and Samuel Barber. The concert will begin at 8:00 p.m. at Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium.

Professor Emeritus Andrew Haigh will be featured in a piano recital, Sunday, March 17 at 4:00 p.m., in the Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium. Included on his program will be compositions by J. S. Bach, Beethoven, Chopin, Rachmaninoff and Bela Bartok. Both concerts are open to the public with no admission charge.

FRENCH CLUB FEATURES TWO PRODUCTIONS

The French club, Cercle Francais, will present two interesting programs within the next month. The first, Tuesday, February 26, is a celebration of Mardi Gras at 7 p.m. in the Campus Center Little Theater. Entertainment will include variety acts and a film, and crepes suzettes will be a part of the special refreshments.

The second program is a production, in French, of Marivaux's Arlequin Poli Par L'Amour, an 18th century comedy-fantasy with music. It will be presented Friday and Saturday evenings, March 8 and 9, in the Little Theater of the Campus Center at 8 p.m. Admission for the play is free, but seats must be reserved in advance. Reservations may be obtained by contacting Miss Jean Scammon, Washington 315, phone extension, 293.

NO BUSINESS AFTER HOURS

The Cashier's Window, in the Auditor's Office, is open only from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. No business will be transacted through the window at any other time.

CLASS FILMS OPEN TO FACULTY, SENIORS

Films to be shown to Fine Arts class 242 during the second semester will be open to seniors, faculty members and former class members, Al Haak, class instructor, has announced. The programs will begin at 1:40 p.m. in the Little Theater of the Campus Center. One film, "Le Million," will be shown again at 8 p.m., March 19, for the entire college community. Films to be seen this month are: "What Price Glory," February 26; "Cabinet of Dr. Caligari," March 5; "Potemkin," March 12; "Le Million," March 19; and "Hotel Imperial," March 26.

VISITING SCHOLAR SPEAKS ON "PRACTICAL REASON"

Visiting Scholar Brand Blanshard will speak on "Practical Reason," Thursday, March 7 at 8 p.m. in the Campus Center Theater. The lecturer is professor emeritus of philosophy at Yale University, having retired in 1961 as chairman of the department and the Sterling Professor of Philosophy. Following his retirement in 1961, he attended Wesleyan University's Center for Advanced Studies. The author of The Nature of Thought, rated as one of the ten outstanding works on philosophy produced in the United States since 1900 by the Philosophical Association committee, Blanshard will publish a three-volume work on reason in London this year.

In 1952-53 he gave the famous Gifford Lectures in Scotland, and in 1959 was named the Paul Carus Foundation Lecturer, thus sharing with John Dewey the distinction of being the only American philosophers who have ever held both the Gifford and Carus lectureships.

Blanshard received degrees from the University of Michigan, where he held his first faculty appointment in 1921, Columbia University, Oxford University and Harvard University. He was a Rhodes Scholar from 1913-1915, and again from 1919-1920.

GYMNASTS EXHIBITION TICKETS ON SALE NOW

Advance tickets are available from the Men's Physical Education Department in Blow Gymnasium for the gymnastic exhibition by the Springfield College Team, Sunday, March 17. The 34 men and 34 women will perform in Blow Gymnasium at 8:00 p.m. Admission at the door will be $1.50, ($1.00 for students). Advance ticket prices are $1.00, and $.50 for students. The entourage is world-reknown for their gymnastic skill.

STRAVINSKY TO PERFORM HERE

Soulima Stravinsky, pianist-composer, will give a recital, Sunday, March 24, at 4 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium, the fifth program in the Collegium Musicum Series at the College. He will include works by Scarlatti, Mozart and Igor Stravinsky, his father, on his scheduled program.

CONCERT SERIES PRESENTS TENOR

Cesare Valletti, operatic tenor, will be presented by the William and Mary Concert Series, Friday, March 22, at 8 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium. Valletti, noted as a recitalist as well as for leading roles in the world's great opera houses, has been featured as one of few lyric tenors in such operas as "Don Giovanni," "The Barber of Seville," and "Traviata."

The Roman-born tenor made his debut as Alfredo in "La Traviata" in 1947 and since that time has traveled in Scandinavia, Western Europe and Israel fulfilling recital and operatic engagements.

ORCHESIS TO EXPLAIN CHOREOGRAPHY

The annual Orchesis concert "An Evening of Dance" will be given March 27 and 28 at 8 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium.

This year the program will be different from those in previous years. The first half of the program will consist of a narrative and illustrations or examples from dances to be shown in the second half of the program. The club hopes to answer the many students and faculty members who have asked, "Just how do you choreograph a dance?". An answer to this question is the goal of the first half of the program.

Included during the beginning of the concert will be a technique demonstration since the choreographer must have trained bodies with which to work. There will be an explanation of the types of movements required to express a choreographer's idea. There is movement for pure form, movement to sound effects, and movement to express an idea or character.

The second half of the program will consist of the finished dances from which the examples have been taken in the first half. The numbers will cover a variety of subjects from jazz to dramatic dance.

The Institute received a third consecutive $20,000 grant from the Atomic Energy Commission to study the role of filter feeding organisms in removing radioactive wastes from marine waters. Morris L. Brehmer and Dexter S. Haven continue to head the study.

Jay D. Andrews, head of oyster disease research at the Institute, presented a paper showing the current status of the disease MSX on oysters in the Chesapeake Bay system to the Fifth Annual Shellfish Mortality Conference held January 28 and 29 at Oxford, Maryland. John L. Wood accompanied him to the meeting.

William H. Massmann resigned as staff and faculty member at the Institute on January 27 to become Assistant Executive Vice-President of the Sportfishing Institute, Washington, D. C. Massmann was a member of the fishery research department for the past fourteen years. He is a graduate of the marine training program of the College of William and Mary, receiving his Master's Degree in 1952. His new duties call him to Washington, D. C., where he will reside.

Edwin B. Joseph presented a paper "Spawning Success and Larval Transport in Virginia Coastal and Estuarine Waters" to the Annual Meeting of Menhaden Fishery Processors at the Hotel Chamberlin, February 12. William J. Hargis, Jr. and John Norcross attended the meetings with him.

FRISCH TO TEACH IN SWEDEN UNDER FULBRIGHT GRANT

Morton J. Frisch of the College government department has been selected as Fulbright Professor of Political Science at the University of Stockholm in Sweden for the coming academic year.

Frisch, who has been at the College since 1953, will be on leave from the College for that period. He will be accompanied by his wife and three children.

The Fulbright program's basic purpose is to increase mutual understanding between the citizens of the United States and those of other countries through exchange of students, lecturers, and research scholars.

Frisch, who has been a visiting professor at the University of Minnesota and at Pennsylvania State University, was a Rockefeller fellow in political ideology at Harvard University during the summer of 1956. He is now preparing a book-length study of the statesmanship of Franklin D. Roosevelt and he recently published an article "Roosevelt the Conservative: A Rejoinder to Hofstadter."

STUDENT PLAY TO BE PRESENTED HERE

"Liberty Mill," which received favorable criticism from drama critic Robert Lewis at the Virginia College Drama Festival, will be presented in Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium on Sunday, April 28 at 7 p.m. The play, written by Jack Peet, was written in Frank J. Staroba's play-writing class. The plot, based on the restoration of a town, will be enacted by members of the William and Mary Theater under the direction of Staroba.

NUNES TO LECTURE ON THOMAS DEKKER

Donald Nunes of the English department will give a pre-performance lecture on Thomas Dekker and "The Shoemaker's Holiday" on Sunday, April 14 at 3:30 p.m. in the Dodge Room of Phi Beta Kappa. The presentation will be sponsored by the national honorary dramatics fraternity, Theta Alpha Phi. Coffee and tea will be served later.

APRIL 1 IS THE DATE FOR HARVARD GLEE CLUB CONCERT

The Harvard Glee Club, under the direction of Elliot Forbes, will give a concert of numbers ranging from opera to folk songs on Monday, April 1, at 8:30 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium. The group, who will stay in homes and on campus, will include an African Veld Song, "Marching to Pretoria"; "Sit Down Servant," arranged by J. W. Work; and "March of the Peers" from Iolanthe in the final portion of the concert.

TWO SYMPOSIUM SPEAKERS ADDRESS CAMPUS IN APRIL

Charles E. Summer, Jr., Associate Professor of Management, Columbia Graduate School of Business, and Thomas E. Cochran, Professor of History at the University of Pennsylvania, will address the Marshall-Wythe Symposium on April 12 and April 26 respectively.

Summer, who is speaking on "Efficiency, Freedom and Organization Structure," received his A.B. from the College of William and Mary, graduating Phi Beta Kappa. He received his M.B.A. from Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania, and his Ph.D. from Columbia. In addition to teaching at Columbia, he has taught at Wharton School and Lamar Technological Institute. He is presently engaged in research in relating business policy cases with ideas from social sciences under a Ford Foundation Grant.

Cochran received his B.S. from New York University where he later taught. He attended graduate school at Columbia and received his Ph.D. from the University of Pennsylvania where he was Harrison fellow in history in 1927. He is the author of many books, the most recent of which are Entrepreneurship in Argentine Culture, 1962; Puerto Rican Businessman, 1959; A Basic History of American Business, 1959; and The American Business System, 1957. He will speak on "The Historical Role of the Entrepreneur in Economic Development."

Both lectures will be at 4 p.m. in Washington 200, and are open to the public.

SEVENTEEN SENIORS ARE TAPPED FOR PHI BETA KAPPA

Seventeen members of the class of 1963 have been tapped for membership in Phi Beta Kappa and will be initiated on Tuesday, April 30. The new members-elect bring this year's class to a total of 35. Students tapped are: Bonnie Jane Barr, Patricia A. Brombach, James A. Cochrane, R. Bruce Douglass, Julia A. Kneen, Felicia E. Landis, Kathleen M. Miller, Wyley L. Powell, James Letcher Tucker, Howard R. Lloyd, Jr., John B. McMillen, Marilyn Jane Sterner, Douglas Scott Wood, Susan Elaine Meador, Bonnie Susanne Sherman, Paul W. Shumate, Jr., and Stephen S. Skjei.

"THE SHOEMAKER'S HOLIDAY" WILL OPEN APRIL 18

The fourth and final William and Mary Theater production for the 1962-63 season will open Thursday, April 18, and run through Saturday, April 20. "The Shoemaker's Holiday" by Thomas Dekker will be given at 8 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. Box office hours for the play will be from 3-5 p.m. Monday through Friday, April 15-19, and from 7-8 p.m. each evening of performance.

Following the performance on Sunday, April 21, will be a post-dramatam at which time discussion will cover questions about the play, its performance and interpretation. Coffee and tea will be served following the discussion which begins at 3:30 p.m. in the Dodge Room.

THEME FOR MERMETTES SHOW IS "THE BEST OF BROADWAY"

The annual Mermettes show, which will be given April 22, 23 and 24, will feature numbers from popular Broadway shows of the past ten years. "The Best of Broadway" will include 12 numbers, plus a grand finale, in which all costumes will be designed to approximate the actual costumes used in the Broadway productions. Soloist Jancy Schrup will perform to "Love Look Away" from The Flower Drum Song. Jay Anthony, a former member of the swimming team, will join Fran Marshall in a duet to "If Ever I Would Leave You" from Camelot.

The other numbers in the program will be "Cool" from West Side Story, "I'm Here to Entertain you" from Gypsy, "Oklahoma" and "Sound of Music" from the shows of the same name. Also to be shown are "The Night they Invented Champagne" from Gigi, "I Could have Danced All Night," from My Fair Lady, "March of the Siamese Children" from The King and I, "Standing on the Corner" from Most Happy Fellow and "Summertime" from Porgy and Bess. The fitting finale will be "Give my Regards to Broadway."

SENIORS RECEIVE FELLOWSHIPS FOR GRADUATE STUDY

Three Woodrow Wilson Fellows and one Fulbright Fellow have been chosen from the June graduating class at the College. Raymond G. Frey, Valerie J. Simms and Stephen S. Skjei have received Woodrow Wilson Fellowships. Joan Lee has been named a Fulbright Scholar. Frey, Miss Simms and Miss Lee are all philosophy majors. Skjei is an economics major from Norfolk. In addition to his Woodrow Wilson Fellowship, he holds the Drapers Exchange Scholarship for the coming year. Miss Lee and senior Penny Stenbo received honorable mention in the Woodrow Wilson competition.

MASTER OF ARTS IN TEACHING NOW OFFERED

The academic departments offering graduate work and the School of Education at the College are now offering a Master of Arts in Teaching, designed for recent college graduates who hold Bachelor's degrees in one of the subject fields taught in secondary schools and who have not previously prepared for a teaching career.

The program includes 18 semester credits in the teaching field, 15 semester credits in professional development, and one semester of full-time teaching internship. Study is offered in the areas of Ancient Languages, biology, English, history, mathematics and physics. Virginia Graduate Teaching Fellowships in the amount of $1,700 are available to students qualified who intend to teach in the Virginia public schools.

AMOR MUSICAE TRIO WILL PRESENT BAROQUE MUSIC, APRIL 16

The Amor Musicae Trio, founded by Claudio Lyon, recorder player, with Reba Paeff Mirsky at the harpsichord, and Sterling Hunkins playing the viola de gamba, will offer a program of Baroque music, Tuesday, April 16 at 8 p.m. in the Campus Center Ballroom. The program is the sixth concert in the Collegium Musicum Series. The concert program will include Trio Sonatas by Telemann and LeClair, the Sonata in F major by Barsanti, the Sonata in A minor for viola de gamba and harpsichord, and Kuhnau's rarely heard Biblical sonata "David and Goliath" for harpsichord. Mrs. Mirsky will also play one-movement sonatas by Padre Antonio Soler and Mateo Albeniz on the harpsichord.

The next Collegium Musicum Series concert will be Sunday, April 28, at 4 p.m. in the Campus Center Ballroom when the Randolph-Macon College Glee Club, under the direction of Ronald Ward, will present its program.

CLASS FILM SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED FOR APRIL, MAY

Al Haak, Fine Arts 242 instructor, has announced the remaining film schedule for the second semester. All class films are open to seniors, faculty members and former class members. Programs begin at 1:35 p.m. in the Little Theater of the Campus Center. "A Day at the Races" with the Marx Brothers, Allan Jones, and Maureen O'Sullivan, April 23, and "Brink of Life," by Ingmar Bergman, May 21, will be shown at 8 p.m. also.

Other films are "Where Mountains Float," written and directed by Bjarne Henning-Jensen, April 9; "Life of Emile Zola" with Paul Muni, April 16; "L'Atalante" with Jean Vigo, April 30; "How Green Was My Valley" directed by John Ford, with Walter Pidgeon, Donald Crisp and Maureen O'Hara, May 7; and "The Magnificent Ambersons" produced and directed by Orson Welles, with Joseph Cotton, Agnes Moorehead and Anne Baxter.

WILLIAM AND MARY BAND PRESENTS CONCERT APRIL 25

The William and Mary Band will present its annual concert Thursday night, April 25 at 8 p.m., in Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium. Tickets for the concert are $1.00 for adults and $.50 for students.

SYMPOSIUM MEETS TODAY, AGAIN ON MAY 10

Thomas C. Cochran, professor of the history of the people of the United States, University of Pennsylvania, will address the Marshall-Wythe Symposium this afternoon at 4 p.m. in Washington 200. The topic for the fifth meeting is "The Historical Role of the Entrepreneur in Economic Development."

Cochran, who received his Ph.D. from the University of Pennsylvania, is the author of Entrepreneurship in Argentine Culture and A Basic History of American Business.

The final lecture of the series will be given May 10 by Wilbert E. Moore, Professor of Sociology at Princeton University, who will speak on "Managerial Ideologies." Moore received his Ph.D. from Harvard and has taught at Pennsylvania State University and held visiting professorships at Harvard and New York University. Two of his books, Social Change and Man, Time, and Society, are scheduled for publication this spring.

RANDOLPH-MACON GLEE CLUB PRESENTS SEVENTH COLLEGIUM MUSICUM, SUNDAY

The twenty-seven member Glee Club from Randolph-Macon College will present the seventh program in the Collegium Musicum Series sponsored by the music department, Sunday, April 28 at 4 p.m. in the Campus Center Ballroom. The men, under the direction of R. D. Ward, associate professor of music, will perform a composition commissioned especially for their use in spring concerts, "The Wisdom of Sirach", by Dr. John Diercks, Head of the Music Department at Hollins College.

MARCUSE TO LECTURE ON "MARXISM AND CONTEMPORARY SOCIETY"

Professor Herbert Marcuse, of Brandeis University, will speak on "Marxism and Contemporary Society" at the Philosophy Club annual Titmus Fund Lecture. Marcuse, the author of Eros and Psyche, Reason and Revolution, and Soviet Marxism, will speak at 8 p.m., Sunday, April 28, in the Campus Center Ballroom.

"LIBERTY MILL" TO BE PERFORMED APRIL 28

Jack Peet's original play, "Liberty Mill", will be given Sunday, April 28 at 8 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium. The play, written in Frank J. Staroba's play-writing class, received favorable criticism from drama critic Robert Lewis at the Virginia College Drama Festival. Members of the William and Mary Theater will enact the drama which revolves around the restoration of a town.

CHOIR AND CHORUS PRESENT SPRING CONCERT ON MAY 3 AND 4

The William and Mary Choir and Chorus, under the direction of Carl A. Fehr, will present their annual spring concert, Friday and Saturday, May 3 and 4, at 8 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Auditorium.

The mixed choir will sing Copland's "In the Beginning," featuring Dorothy Tudor as soloist. They will also perform "Psalm 100" by Schuetz, "Agnus Dei" by Pergolesi, "Sicut Cervus" by Palestrina, and "Exultate Deo" by Palestrina. The girls chorus will present Diemer's "Fragments from the Mass", Kodaly's "Ave Maria", Bach's "My Spirit be Joyful from Cantata No. 146", Lecuona's "Malaguena" and Ravel's "A Blossom Falls."

The concluding number will be selections from Leonard Bernstein's "West Side Story."

AUTHORS TO PRESENT READINGS, THURSDAY, MAY 2

John French, David Jenkins and Dabney Stuart, three young members of the English department, will present an evening of readings from their works, Thursday, May 2, at 8 p.m. in the Campus Center Ballroom under the auspices of the Student Committee on Lectures and Concerts.

French will read a recently completed short story, "The Horst Wessel Lied", which he describes as one "written for this occasion." Stuart will read selections from his narrative poem, "Fair", as well as two earlier poems and a few recent compositions. One of the latter, he says, "is about the (or one of the) hostesses in Colonial Williamsburg."

Jenkins will conclude the program with reading of several short pieces of his published and unpublished poetry and prose.

CHAMBER PLAYERS TO PERFORM ON MAY 5

The William and Mary Chamber Music Players will present a concert, Sunday, May 5, at 4 p.m. in the Campus Center Ballroom. The group, directed by Alan C. Stewart, will play Mozart's "Flute Quartet in D," K. 285; Haydn's "String Quartet No. 41, in D," Op. 76, no. 2; and Mozart's "Clarinet Quintet in A," K. 581. Two exchange students will perform with the group, Andre Harries, violin, and Ann Biddick, cello. Others are Richard Voss, violin; Philip Shephard, flute; John Cochran, III, clarinet; and Mr. Stewart, viola.

The Chamber Players have performed previously this year at Bruton Parish Church, the Collegium Musicum Series, Good Friday Services and the recent performance of Judas Macabeus.

COLORADO SENATOR TO ADDRESS "LAW DAY" MEETING

The annual Marshall-Wythe School of Law "Law Day" is being held this year in conjunction with the meeting of the William and Mary Law School Association. Senator Gordon Allott, the senior Senator from Colorado, will address the group in an open meeting at 2:30 p.m. in the Campus Center Theater. He is being jointly sponsored by the College Student Bar Association and the Williamsburg Bar Association.

Preceding the speech, there will be a business meeting and luncheon. There will be a reception following Senator Allott's speech at the Williamsburg Lodge. Alan Owens is President of the Student Bar Association; Russell Carneal is President of the Williamsburg Bar Association.

PIANIST SELMA EPSTEIN TO GIVE CONCERT, MAY 19

The eighth program in the 1962-63 Collegium Musicum Series will be presented Sunday, May 19, at 4 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium with pianist Selma Epstein. Miss Epstein, who specializes in performances of contemporary piano works, brings a high degree of interpretative authenticity to her performances since she is personally acquainted with most of the composers represented on her program. At the College, she will play "The Willows are New" by Chou Wen Chung; "Ricercare Fantasia" by Vittorio Fellegara; "Eclipse" by David Burge, which he dedicated to Miss Epstein; and "Einleitung und Lied" by Paul Hindemith.

NSF GRANT GIVEN TO COLLEGE FOR IN-SERVICE INSTITUTE

The National Science Foundation has awarded a grant in the amount of $8,850 to the College for support of an "In-Service Institute in Mathematics for Junior High School Teachers of Mathematics" to be conducted under the direction of Richard W. Copeland, education department, during the 1963-64 academic year.

The purpose of the grant is to improve instruction in mathematics for junior high school teachers of mathematics in Tidewater Virginia.

Participants will be selected by the College on the recommendation of local supervisors, principals and superintendents. Criteria for selection will be that these teachers be willing and able to lead in-service study programs in their respective school systems in the same area.

COURTYARD CONCERTS BEGIN WEDNESDAY, MAY 8

The William and Mary Band, Choir and Chorus outdoor concerts will begin Wednesday, May 8 and be held for the next two weeks, May 15 and 22, in the Courtyard of the Wren building. All concerts begin at 7 p.m. The program for the first will include "Great is Jehovah", "Ave Maria," "Oh Rise, Shine!" and selections from "The Sound of Music."

BACKDROP CLUB PRODUCTION SET FOR MAY 16, 17, 18

"Bye, Bye, Birdie", the annual student-directed and produced Backdrop Club production, will open Thursday, May 16, with laughs, dances and songs spoofing the rise of a popular recording artist. The play, which just recently closed on Broadway after a two-year run, is full of brassy, rollicking antics of Albert Peterson (Dick Westlake), the manager of "pop" star Conrad Birdie (Bob Soleau), and his secretary Rose Alvarez (Judy Davis), who wants Albert to "stop all this nonsense" and become an English Teacher.

Box office hours for the show are from 3-5 Monday, May 13-Friday, May 17; and from 7-8 on the evenings of performances, May 16, 17 and 18. Tickets are $1.00 each.

Denny Bing, a senior from Williamsburg, is directing the production assisted by Terry Kester. Susan Stitt is in charge of costumes; Jim Perry, set design; Robert Mullis, choreography; Michaelle Hatcher, music. Other Club officers are Tobey Sindt, President; Judy Davis, treasurer; Cynthia Moore, secretary; and Blake Newton, publicity.

LOCAL MADRIGALS TO PERFORM

The William and Mary Theater is presenting the Williamsburg Madrigal Singers to the public, Saturday, May 25 at 8 p.m., in Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium. The locally-known group will perform several madrigals at no admission cost. The eleven members are Robert Betts, Herbert Deppe, Pat Deppe, Mary Gonzales, Ed Harris, Ellen Ironside, Roderick Ironside, Beverly Kelly, Ann Rowe, Virgil Rowe, Stuart Wheeler and Marian Wilson.

MUSIC STUDENTS TO GIVE RECITALS

Two student recitals are planned for the next month. The first, April 30, at 7 p.m. in Ewell Hall, will feature Jackie Crebbs, Lloyd Duck and John Tedman at the piano. Betty Lane will perform on the viola as will members of the Chamber Players: Alan C. Stewart, and Helen Rountree, clarinet; Andre Harries, violin; and Ann Biddick, cello.

The second concert will be presented by two members of the June graduating class, Ed Sung and Kitty Canady, May 21 at 8 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium. Mr. Sung is a pianist. Miss Canady will receive her Bachelor of Arts in music education in June.

INTERESTED SLOW PITCH PLAYERS SEE PERSONNEL DIRECTOR

Due to the increased interest displayed in the 1962 community Slow Pitch Softball League, it has been suggested that the College enter two teams during the coming summer. Any employees, faculty or staff, who are interested should contact Mr. Dennis Cogle in the Personnel Office before May 10. At least 25-30 men are needed to field two teams consistently during the summer. The College team has won the league championship for the three years of slow pitch competition.

Leon Golden's review of L'Evolution du Pathetique d'Eschyle Euripide by Jacqueline de Romilly was published in the April issue of Classical Philology.

George Ryan attended meetings of the Classical Association of the Middle West and South in Chicago, April 17-20. He read a paper entitled "A Study of Helen in Homer"; it was a critical and comparative study of Helen in the Iliad and Odyssey. The conclusion was reached that on the basis of close similarity of her character in both, the Iliad and Odyssey must have been written by a single poet.

On April 20 and 21, J. Ward Jones, Jr. and Edwin Floyd served as graders of examinations submitted by participants in the annual high school Latin Tournament of Virginia. The department of Ancient Languages was host to a number of graders from other colleges. Mr. Jones acted as general supervisor.

Leon Golden talked at the Presbyterian Church on the "Nature of Man in Classical Civilization."

Jones, Golden, and Floyd plan to attend the meeting of the Virginia Classical Association on May 4. They will take several departmental majors with them.

ECONOMICS

K. Abdul-Magid will attend the conference sponsored by the Middle East Institute held May 2-4 in Washington, D.C., which will discuss the economic development of Middle Eastern countries.

Anthony L. Sancetta will read a paper on "Non-Market Aspects of Oligopoly" at the annual meeting of the Virginia Social Science Association in Lynchburg on May 4.

EDUCATION

Carl W. McCartha attended the Virginia Education Association meeting on the "Reluctant Learner" as a representative of the College on March 21-23 at the John Marshall Hotel in Richmond.

An article by Roderick Ironside, entitled "Treading on Trends", appeared in the March issue of Communique, quarterly publication of the VEA Language Arts Section. It concerned discernable current trends in school reading instruction.

Mr. Ironside read a paper and led a discussion at the annual convention of the College Reading Association, held on April 5-7 in College Park, Maryland. The topic was current attempts to assess flexibility in reading rate, including an analysis of several standardized tests.

He also was a discussion leader at the VEA Teacher Education Department meetings held here on April 19 and 20.

ENGLISH

Fraser Neiman attended the Fifth Conference on the Humanities, sponsored by the Graduate School of Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio on April 5-6. The topic of the conference was "The Romantic Achievement." The Conference comprised discussions of European Romanticism, an exhibition of Romantic prints and painting, and a performance of Schumann's "Manfred."

Carl Dolmetsch will give the address at the annual spring banquet of the Summer Literary Society at Hampton Institute, Hampton, on Tuesday, May 14 on the subject "H. L. Mencken and the Literary Twenties."

David Jenkins will be a guest at Yaddo, Saratoga Springs, New York, for a month during July and August this summer. Yaddo is a working community for writers and artists, endowed by the Trask family in 1926. The Corporation invites guests on the basis of work submitted and a proposed project.

HISTORY

Ludwell Johnson's article, "Contraband Trade during the Last Year of the Civil War," appears in the March issue of the Mississippi Valley Historical Review.

Mr. Johnson has a review of Joseph H. Parks' General Leonidas Polk, C.S.A.: The Fighting Bishop, in the same issue.

He has received a grant from the American Philosophical Society to support his research during the session 1963-64.

The Council of the Institute of Early American History and Culture will hold its annual meetings in Williamsburg, May 3-4. Mr. Fowler will attend, completing his three-year term.

INSTITUTE OF MARINE SCIENCE

The semi-annual Atlantic Estuarine Research Society meetings will be held on April 26-28 at the Holiday Inn, Hampton. The Institute is the host for these meetings.

Bernard C. Patten recently lectured on "Information Theory in Ecology" at the AEC Savannah River Plant, Savannah, South Carolina, and the University of Georgia, Athens, Georgia.

The Coast Guard Auxiliary of Hampton is conducting a course in Seamanship at the Institute.

Twenty members of the American Institute of Fisheries Research Biologists heard of crab research and pollution studies by Virginia's marine scientists during regional meetings held recently at the Institute. They also toured the Gloucester Point research facilities during the afternoon.

At a meeting of the American Geophysical Union held in Washington, D.C., Friday, April 19, Wyman Harrison of the Institute, and Dr. R. J. Malloy of the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, Washington, D.C., presented to the geologists a joint paper entitled "Reconnaissance Geological Echo Profiler Survey in Lower Chesapeake Bay."

Robert S. Bailey, Director of National Science Foundation programs for the Institute, has announced that two students from the biology department have been admitted to the NSF-USE program for the summer. Brian F. Chabot will pursue studies in estuarine productivity under the supervision of Bernie Patten, and Karin Foelsche will assist George Moskovits in his studies of marine bacteria. Ten students from eight colleges and universities will participate in research at Gloucester Point from June 10 through August 16.

Seven college teachers from five states, and the District of Columbia, will pursue research of their own choosing from June 10-August 30 at the Institute. Dr. R. L. Ellison from the University of Virginia and Dr. William Scott of Virginia Polytechnic Institute will be the two Virginian participants in this program.

Wyman Harrison just received from the press his latest publication "Pages from the Geologic Past of Marion County," 1963. Indiana of Conservation Geological Survey, Cir. No. 9.

MODERN LANGUAGES

The meeting of the Virginia Chapters of Teachers of French, Portuguese and Spanish was held on April 20 in the Campus Center. Lewis Hoffman was the chairman of the event. President Davis Y. Paschall welcomed the delegates. Marcel Reboussin spoke on "The Teaching of French Literature." Pio Sanchez lectured on "Educational Infiltration in Cuba."

Alexander Kallos addressed the Greek Comedy Seminar on "La Comédie larmoyante in Lessing's Works."

Marcel Reboussin's review of J. H. Donnard's book Les Réalités économique et sociales dans La Comédie humaine appeared in the March issue of Modern Language Notes.

MUSIC

The William and Mary Choir presented concerts on tour, April 17-21 in Virginia cities as follows: April 17, Highland High School and the Fine Arts Center in Lynchburg; April 18, E. C. Glass High School and Yorktown High School; April 19, Waynesboro High School; and April 20, Halifax High School.

On March 30, Carl A. Fehr was an adjudicator for a regional choral festival in Richmond.

Members of the William and Mary Chamber Players participated in special music presentations at Bruton Parish Church, April 12, 21 and 22. Alan C. Stewart judged the district finals of the Bland Music Talent contest sponsored by the Lions Club on April 21. On April 25, he assisted in the annual career-day program at York High School.

PHYSICS

The College has received a grant in the amount of $25,000 from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to enable Frederick R. Crownfield to continue some of his work on "Radio Frequency and Microwave Spectroscopy of Magnetized Plasmas." The period of the grant is one year and the funds are to be used for graduate assistantships, summer salaries, travel, and purchase of equipment.

D. E. McLennan of the department has been selected to attend a summer conference on the teaching of the Theory of Relativity. This conference which is sponsored by the National Science Foundation takes place at Cornell University from July 29-August 23.

John L. McKnight attended the annual meeting of the History of Science, Bloomington, Indiana, April 5 and 6.

On April 22, Mr. Crownfield and Maurice T. Raiford, a graduate student, presented a paper entitled "Microwave-Cavity Measurement of the Faraday Effect in a Magnetoplasma" at the spring meeting of the American Physical Society in Washington, D.C.

This work, and additional papers entitled "On Magnetic Field Homogeneity with Air Core Coils", and "Plasma Oscillations and Conduction Phenomena in a Penning Ionization Gauge", both by Mr. Crownfield, will be presented to the Astronomy, Mathematics, and Physics Section of the Virginia Academy of Science on May 3, in Roanoke.

PSYCHOLOGY

Virgil McKenna will be a Visiting Fellow of the Personality Research Group at Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey for the summer months. He will work on "Personality Organization in Cognitive Controls and Intellectual Abilities," a project supported by the National Institutes of Mental Health, Samuel J. Messick, Principal Investigator.

He will also attend a conference on "Measurement of Structural Variables in Personality," sponsored by the Office of Naval Research and Harold M. Schroder of the Department of Psychology, Princeton University.

Peter Derks read a paper to the Eastern Psychological Association on April 13 in New York City.

Professor Wolfgang Kohler spoke on April 19 and had dinner with members of the department and psychology club afterward. He is one of the three founders of Gestalt Psychology.

Ray Harcum's research grant has been renewed for two years, at approximately $15,000 per year.
