ABOUT THIS NEWSLETTER

The primary purpose of this newsletter is to promote internal communication -- to inform members of the faculty and staff about the activities of their colleagues. It will also include announcements of a general nature concerning college activities, or concerning national news of particular interest to staff and faculty. Miss Joan Davidson, editor of the news bureau, will contact the chairmen of all departments to remind them of the deadlines for news items. However, all staff and faculty members are urged to submit any information that might be of interest. The newsletter will be published on Fridays, approximately every two weeks during the regular academic year.

THREE FACULTY MEMBERS IN WHO'S WHO OF AMERICAN WOMEN

Dr. Birdena E. Donaldson, dean of women and associate professor of history, Dr. Althea Hunt, professor of fine arts, and Miss Grace J. Blank, associate professor of biology, are among those listed in the first edition of Who's Who of American Women, just published by Marquis-Who's Who, Incorporated. The book, which contains biographical information on living Americans outstanding as women among women, was compiled, according to the publishers, in recognition of the growing participation of women on the contemporary scene.

GIBBS TO RECEIVE NATIONAL FRATERNITY HONOR

Lambda Chi Alpha social fraternity's Order of Merit, a biennial recognition of outstanding contributions to individual chapters and to the national fraternity, will be presented to Mr. Wayne F. Gibbs, chairman of the department of business administration, at a banquet in the Colony Room tomorrow night. Mr. Gibbs was one of ten men chosen to receive the honor at the general assembly of the fraternity in Montreal last summer, in acknowledgment of "unselfish, painstaking, and intelligent service."

EDUCATIONAL FELLOWSHIPS ANNOUNCED

Four fellowships for research on problems of higher education are available through the Southern Regional Education Board, it was recently announced by Dr. John K. Folger, SREB associate director for research. The fellowships are for the period from September 1, 1959 to August 31, 1960, and carry stipends of $5,000 to $7,000. Applications, which must be filed before February 1, 1959, may be obtained from the office of Dr. W. Melville Jones, dean of the faculty.

NEWS FROM THE DEPARTMENTS

Ancient Languages

Dr. George J. Ryan read a paper entitled "Homer and Ares" at the meeting of the Southern Section of the Classical Association of the Middle West and South held in Nashville, Tennessee, November 26-28.

Dr. Talbot R. Selby is preparing a paper on "Art and the Aeneid," which he will read at the meeting of the Classical Association of the Middle West and South to be held in Milwaukee, April 2-4. Dr. Selby also has an article in the current issue of Renaissance News, Volume II, Number 4. It is entitled "Filippo Villani and his "Vita" of Guido Bonatti."

Dr. Leon Golden attended the meeting of the American Philological Association held in Cincinnati, Ohio, on December 28-30.

Biology

Dr. Mitchell A. Byrd, who is making a special study of the fleas that occur on mammals throughout the state of Virginia, spent a part of the Christmas recess trapping small mammals in Cumberland and Buckingham counties.

Dr. John T. Baldwin, Jr., attended a number of meetings of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in Washington, D. C., December 27-30.

Miss Grace W. Blank visited the Oak Ridge National Laboratory, Oak Ridge, Tennessee, in December.

Business Administration

Mr. Wayne F. Gibbs has been made an honorary member of the Hampton Roads Sales Executives Club in Norfolk.

Mr. John S. Quinn delivered a paper entitled "Net Operating Loss for Corporations," at the Fourth Annual Tidewater Tax Conference in Norfolk on December 13. Mr. Quinn passed the Virginia C. P. A. examination last May and has been awarded his certificate by the Virginia State Board.

Mr. Algin B. King, whose work with the Bureau of Business Research in compiling the Williamsburg Business Index has received much attention in newspapers throughout the Tidewater area, delivered a paper on "Some Interesting Facets of the Marketing of Petroleum Products in Virginia at the Wholesale Level" before the Twenty-eighth Annual Conference of the Southern Economic Association in Atlanta, Georgia, November 21-22. Mr. King also represented the college at the Sixth Annual Southern Conference on Problems in Collegiate Education for Business, also held in Atlanta, on November 20.

Chemistry

The department has just acquired a 1.5 Bausch and Lomb grating spectrograph for use in staff research.

Dr. Alfred R. Armstrong presided at the Virginia section of the American Chemical Society meeting at Hopewell on January 9, thus beginning his term as chairman of the section for 1959.

Dr. William G. Guy attended the national meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in Washington, D. C., on December 27-28.

Economics

Dr. and Mrs. Abraham Hirsch are writing an American-type text on principles of economics specifically designed to be used by Turkish students. The project has been undertaken with the financial support of the Rockefeller Foundation under the auspices of Robert College, Istanbul, Turkey. Dr. and Mrs. Hirsch spent the 1956-57 and 1957-58 academic years at Robert College.

English

Attending the meeting of the Modern Language Association of America in New York, December 27-30, were Mr. G. Glenwood Clark, Dr. Cecil M. McCulley, Dr. David Jenkins, and Mr. Ronald Emma.

Dr. Fraser Neiman's book review of Letters of the Brownings to George Barrett, edited by Paul Landit, appeared in the winter 1958 issue of American Scholar. Dr. Neiman participated in a panel discussion on the Victorian period at a meeting of the South Atlantic Modern Language Association in Augusta, Georgia, November 5-6.

Fine Arts

Mr. Thomas Thorne will speak to the "Colonial Dames" of Virginia Beach on "William Byrd -- The Black Swan," January 20; he will discuss "Colonial Painting in Virginia" before the Women's Club of South Norfolk on January 26. Mr. Thorne recently spoke before the Women's Club of Richmond, his topic being "The Black Swan -- A Virginia Connoisseur."

The Williamsburg Restoration, Inc., has purchased two paintings by Mr. Thorne -- "The Jamestown Churchyard" and "Deep Creek" -- for use in decorating the new addition to the Williamsburg Lodge.

School of Law

On November 25, Dr. Thomas C. Atkeson was elected vice-president of the Tax Institute, Inc., a research organization at Princeton, New Jersey. He was also recently appointed academic advisor to the Committee on Education of the Tax Executives Institute, an organization comprised of the tax officials of leading corporations.

Mr. William T. Prince attended the administrative law section of the American Bar Association in Washington, D. C., December 11-12.

Mr. James P. Whyte addressed the Nineteenth Annual Meeting of the Association of Commonwealth's Attorneys of Virginia on December 19. His talk dealt with the history of the grand jury system in Virginia, and included discussion of the advantages and disadvantages of the grand jury as a means of initiating prosecution of felonies in Virginia courts.

Dean Dudley W. Woodbridge is a member of the committee of the Virginia State Bar, which is planning a national ceremony to commemorate the advent of the common law to British America. An appropriate plaque will be placed in the Old Church at Jamestown next May 17 in a program which will be held at Jamestown and in Williamsburg.

Dr. William F. Swindler attended the meetings of the Association of American Law Schools and the American Society for Legal History in Chicago December 28-30.

Mr. Joseph Curtis spoke on "Tax Gift Pitfalls in Establishing Trusts" at the Seventeenth Institute on Federal Taxation held under the sponsorship of New York University in December.

Modern Languages

Dr. J. Worth Banner, Dr. John A. Moore, Dr. Pierre C. Oustinoff, and Mr. Reino Korpi attended the meeting of the Modern Language Association of America in New York City, December 27-30.

Philosophy

Dr. Elizabeth J. Stucky's engagement to Mr. David Reed has just been announced. Mr. Reed, formerly an instructor in philosophy at William and Mary, is now assistant professor of philosophy at Muhlenberg College, Allentown, Pennsylvania.

Dr. Frank MacDonald attended the meeting of the Eastern Division of the American Philosophical Association at the University of Vermont in Burlington during the Christmas recess.

Physical Education for Men

Mr. Robert Gill attended the Virginia College Health and Physical Education Conference held at Natural Bridge, Virginia, December 7-9. Mr. Gill served on the pre-planning committee and was chairman of the physical education section.

The William and Mary chapter of Sigma Delta Psi, national physical education fraternity, has been reactivated under the chairmanship of Mr. Harry Groves. This reactivation is in line with the nationwide focus on physical efficiency as promulgated by the President's Council on Physical Fitness.

Physical Education for Women

Miss Marian Stoerker attended the meeting of the Women's National Aquatic Forum at Hollywood, Florida, December 23-30. Miss Stoerker is treasurer of the organization and served as visual-aids chairman for this year's meeting.

Miss Grace Matz attended the Virginia College Health and Physical Education Conference held at Natural Bridge, Virginia, December 8-9. Miss Matz is secretary of the Tidewater Field Hockey Association, having been elected to office at a general meeting of the organization on November 1.

Psychology

Dr. Peter Guthrie attended the meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in Washington, D. C. December 27-28. Dr. Guthrie recently completed a series of six weekly lectures at Eastern State Hospital as part of the training program for residents in psychiatry. Previous lectures in the program were delivered in October by Dr. Stanley Williams.

Dr. Williams traveled to Washington, January 9-10 to serve on a panel of the National Science Foundation to evaluate research proposals submitted to the organization's Undergraduate Research Participation Program.

Department of Sociology and Anthropology

Dr. R. Wayne Kernodle has been appointed to the Advisory Board of the Tidewater Guidance Clinic by the City Council of Williamsburg and is serving as a member of the board's budget and personnel committee.

Dr. Ira Reiss has been made chairman of the family section for the 1959 meeting of the Southern Sociological Society.

Faculty and staff members who are incurring expenses on advanced degrees will be interested in the following, extracted from the Senate Finance Committee Report No. 1983.

The Internal Revenue Service long held that relatively few educational expenses were deductible as business expenses, or as expenses incurred in the production of income. Generally, the Service had held that for such expenses to be deductible they must be required as a condition to the retention, by the taxpayer, of his present employment. On April 4, 1958, however, the Treasury Department in a news release announced that it was issuing final regulations which were more liberal than the regulations previously in force, in that the expenses incurred by a teacher for education could be deducted even though they were incurred voluntarily and even though the courses taken carried academic credit or resulted in an increase in salary or in a promotion. The news release also indicated that this change was made in order to remove the distinction previously drawn between self-employed persons and employees, such as teachers. The final regulations issued on April 5, 1958, provided that expenditures made by a taxpayer for his education are deductible if they are for education (including research activities) undertaken to maintain or improve skills required by the taxpayer in his employment or in his trade or business. These new, and more liberal, regulations were made effective for years to which the 1954 Code is applicable, or generally back to January 1, 1954, but credits or refunds can be made only if the years involved are still open.

For further explanation see "Educational Expenses, pp. 39-41, Your Federal Income Tax, 1959 Edition.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry must be supported by proper documentation, such as receipts and invoices, to ensure the integrity of the financial data. The text also highlights the need for regular audits and reconciliations to identify any discrepancies or errors in the accounts.

The second part of the document provides a detailed overview of the company's financial performance over the reporting period. It includes a comprehensive analysis of the income statement, balance sheet, and cash flow statement. The analysis shows a steady increase in revenue, driven by strong sales performance in key markets, and a corresponding increase in profit margins. The balance sheet reflects a healthy level of liquidity, with sufficient cash and marketable securities to meet the company's operational needs.

The third part of the document discusses the company's strategic initiatives and future outlook. It outlines the key areas of focus for the upcoming year, including expanding into new markets, investing in research and development, and strengthening the company's financial position. The management team is confident in the company's ability to achieve its long-term goals and deliver value to its shareholders.

The final part of the document provides a summary of the key findings and conclusions. It reiterates the company's commitment to transparency and accountability in its financial reporting and expresses confidence in the company's future prospects. The document concludes with a statement of appreciation to the board of directors and the company's management team for their leadership and dedication.

TWO DISTRIBUTION REQUIREMENTS MODIFIED

At its January meeting, the Board of Visitors authorized the President to implement two recommendations of the faculty relating to modification of distribution requirements in the social sciences and in foreign languages. Commending the faculty for the time and effort expended on the 1956 curriculum recommendations in general, the Board further authorized the President to appoint such committees from the administration and teaching staff as necessary to review thoroughly the remaining portions of the 1956 curriculum recommendations, as well as the existing curriculum and such related factors as "the rapidly changing educational situation, the curriculum of secondary schools, the paucity of available faculty, and the needs of a growing institution."

In the distribution requirements for the social sciences, the Board authorized the inclusion of Sociology 201-202 with the subjects presently stated under that heading -- Economics 201-202, Government 201-202, and History 101-102. In the foreign languages, the Board authorized introductory courses in Greek and Latin to meet four hours per week, and introductory courses in French, German, and Spanish to meet five hours per week. The Board also authorized that special provisions may be made in the case of students presenting advanced work in languages from their high schools.

DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM FOR NEW LIBRARY

This month, which marks the centennial of the fire of 1859 which destroyed the Wren building and the existing library, will also mark the beginning of a drive to raise $2,000,000 toward the total cost of construction of a new library building. The last regular session of the General Assembly appropriated $1,000,000 for a William and Mary library, but has held back the money until the college raises the $726,000 originally believed sufficient for the complete building. After thorough study of campus, community, and national use of the collections, as well as the prospect of future growth, the college has determined that a building of more than 100,000 square feet, and costing about $3,000,000, will be required.

PHOENIX SOCIETY RE-ESTABLISHED

Interest in the re-establishment of a traditional campus literary group, the Phoenix Society, brought together a number of faculty and students for an organizational meeting in the Great Hall of the Wren Building last night. For many years before World War II, the Phoenix Society provided a forum for students interested in discussing literary and philosophical topics and served as a means for bringing about closer contact between the student body and the faculty. Highlight of last night's program was a showing of the film "W. B. Yeats -- A Tribute," which records scenes of the poet's life in Ireland and includes reading of excerpts from the poet's own works. All members of the faculty desiring to participate in the programs of the organization have been invited to do so.

NEWS FROM THE DEPARTMENTS

Ancient Languages

Translations by Dr. George J. Ryan will appear with two Latin orations in Essays and Reviews by Matthew Arnold, edited by Dr. Fraser Neiman of the English department and accepted for publication by the Harvard University Press.

Biology

The department reports installation of a war-surplus autoclave for sterilizing soil, to be used primarily in connection with work in plant physiology.

It also reports the acquisition of forty new microscopes, which will be employed in the introductory laboratory courses, replacing instruments that are thirty years old.

Chemistry

Dr. Alfred R. Armstrong spoke at a meeting of high school science teachers from the Newport News school system at Warwick Junior High School, January 30. His topic was "Environmental Material in the Teaching of Chemistry and Physics."

Economics

Dr. Albion G. Taylor, chancellor professor emeritus, has accepted an appointment as visiting professor at Hollins College for the spring semester.

Education

Mr. Rufus Tonelson, principal of Maury High School, Norfolk, has assumed responsibility for the general supervision of the greater college extension program. He will work on a part-time basis, replacing Dr. Roderick J. Britton, who has accepted a position as director of research for Henrico County schools.

Education (cont'd.)

Dr. Donald J. Herrman and Miss Merle Davis met with teachers from King William and King and Queen counties at a combined mid-year meeting at King William High School, February 5. General topic of discussion was "The Evaluation of Educational Ideas."

Dr. Howard K. Holland and Miss Davis served as educational consultants at the mid-year conference of teachers from the Newport News school system January 29-30.

At the December meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in Louisville, Kentucky, Dr. George J. Oliver was elected to the general executive committee of the organization and to membership on the executive committee of the commission on research and service.

Dr. Oliver, Dr. Herrmann, Dr. Holland, and Dr. Armand J. Galfo are working -- in a planning and consultative capacity -- with a committee of citizens of Henrico County who have undertaken a survey of the high school curriculum in their area. It is hoped that the survey will help to develop modifications of the curriculum in line with current national emphases in secondary-school education.

English

The Harvard University Press has accepted for publication Essays and Reviews by Matthew Arnold, edited by Dr. Fraser Neiman. The volume, to include forty articles, will contain some fourteen essays and reviews that were published anonymously or under pseudonyms in the Pall Mall Gazette and (in one instance) in the London Quarterly Review, and whose authorship by Arnold was recently established by Dr. Neiman.

Mr. G. Glenwood Clark reviewed Ishbel Ross' First Lady of the South, a biography of Mrs. Jefferson Davis, before the Woman's Club of Newport News, January 30. He discussed Lion Feuchtwanger's latest novel, Jephta and His Daughter, for the Junior Woman's Club of that city on February 4.

An article by Dr. David C. Jenkins on "Dylan Thomas and Wales Magazine" appears in the February issue of Trace, literary magazine issued by Villiers Publications in London. Containing a listing of "little" literary magazines, the February issue will be widely distributed among libraries in Britain and in America.

Fine Arts

Mr. Howard Scammon has delivered two lectures on "Voice and Its Characteristics" to public-contact personnel of the Division of Presentation at Colonial Williamsburg.

Mr. Scammon will serve as judge of the high school drama festival to be held at Charles City High School February 19.

Fine Arts (cont'd)

The William and Mary Theatre will travel to Richmond to participate, for the third consecutive year, in the college drama festival to be held at the Museum Theatre, Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, February 28.

Mr. Carl A. Roseberg attended the meeting of the College Art Association in Cleveland, January 28-31. Also in attendance was Mr. Howard Dearstyne, a former member of the department, who is now at the Illinois Institute of Technology Graduate School.

History

Dr. Ludwell H. Johnson's recently published book, The Red River Campaign, has received very favorable reviews in a number of national media. The New York Times commented, "It is an ugly tale and except piecemeal -- in diaries, memoirs and chapters in other books -- not before fully told. Ludwell H. Johnson's book is thorough, scholarly and moving."

Dr. H. L. Fowler's review of Essays on the Later Stuarts, by Godfrey Davies, appears in the current issue of the William and Mary Quarterly.

Mr. Robert D. Higgenbotham's review of The War for Independence: A Military History, by Howard H. Peckham, appears in the current issue of the Pennsylvania Magazine of History and Biography.

Dr. Richard Morton's review of Conradie Webb of Hampstead by William T. Hastings appears in the current issue of the North Carolina Historical Review.

Mathematics

Dr. Robert C. Yates served as a consultant in mathematics at the mid-year meeting of teachers from the Newport News school system, January 29-30.

Music

Mr. Alan C. Stewart will perform with the Feldman String Quartet at the third concert of their current chamber music series in Ewell Hall, 8 p.m. on February 24. He will play a viola part in Beethoven's String Quintet in C, Op. 29, popularly called the "storm" quintet.

Mr. Charles R. Varner has been invited to direct the Virginia All-State Band, a high school group, which will perform for the Southern Division of the Music Educator's National Conference in Roanoke, April 4-5.

1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions.

2. It is essential to ensure that all receipts and invoices are properly filed and indexed for easy retrieval.

3. Regular audits should be conducted to verify the accuracy of the records and to identify any discrepancies.

4. The use of modern accounting software can significantly improve the efficiency and accuracy of record-keeping.

5. It is also important to establish a clear policy regarding the retention and disposal of financial records.

6. Finally, ongoing training and education for staff members is crucial to ensure they are up-to-date on best practices.

7. The second part of the document provides a detailed overview of the various types of financial statements used in business.

8. These statements include the balance sheet, income statement, and cash flow statement, each of which provides a different perspective on the company's financial health.

Philosophy

Mr. Frank A. MacDonald has been elected to serve a third term as a member of the Feldman Chamber Music Society of Norfolk.

Physical Education for Men

The department recently completed compilation of results of a physical efficiency test which was administered -- in line with recommendations of President Eisenhower's Council on Fitness -- to 574 students during the first semester. The test battery included ten different strength and motor efficiency items, and rank order listing and top three scores made on each test item have been tabulated and posted.

School of Law

Dr. William F. Swindler has been advised that his paper, "News: Property Right vs. Public Right," has been accepted for publication in the Tenth Annual Symposium on Copyright Law, to be produced by the Columbia University Press. The book is an annual collection of approximately five essays chosen in a national competition sponsored by the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers.

CALENDAR OF COMING EVENTS

- February 13 - Marshall-Wythe Symposium, Patrick Murphy Malin, executive director of the American Civil Liberties Union, "The Struggle for Civil Liberties." Room 200, Washington Hall, 4 p.m.
- February 13 - Dance, sponsored by the junior class. "Little Gym" of Blow Gymnasium 8 p.m.
- February 14 - Basketball, William and Mary vs. Washington and Lee, Blow Gymnasium 8:15 p.m.
- February 14 - Jazz concert, sponsored by the junior class. "Little Gym" of Blow Gymnasium, 10 p.m.
- February 21 - Talent show, proceeds of which are to be given to the Campus Community Chest. Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall, 2:30 p.m.
- February 24 - The Feldman Chamber Music Society of Norfolk. Room 100, Ewell Hall, 8:30 p.m.
- February 25 - Lecture by Miss Marvine Howe, "Which Way North Africa?" Room 200, Washington Hall, 4 p.m.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be supported by a valid receipt or invoice. This ensures transparency and allows for easy verification of the data.

In the second section, the author details the various methods used to collect and analyze the data. This includes both manual and automated processes. The goal is to ensure that the information gathered is both reliable and comprehensive.

The third part of the document focuses on the results of the analysis. It shows that there is a clear trend in the data, which suggests that the current strategy is effective. However, there are some areas where improvement is needed, particularly in the way resources are allocated.

Finally, the document concludes with a series of recommendations for future work. These include the need for more frequent data collection and the implementation of more advanced analytical tools. The author believes that these steps will lead to even better results in the future.

COLLEGE GETS $6, 175 IN FEDERAL STUDENT LOAN FUNDS

Under the provisions of the 1958 National Defense Education Act, $6, 175 has been made available for loans to students of the Greater College of William and Mary during the second semester. Approximately $3,745 of this amount can be distributed to full-time students in good standing at the Williamsburg campus. The NDEA, administered by the Office of Education, stipulates that borrowers must be in need of the amount of the loan requested and that they must be willing to furnish any required evidence of such need. Students pursuing any course of study are eligible; however, special consideration will be given to (a) students with a superior academic background who express a desire to teach in elementary or secondary schools and to (b) students whose academic background indicates a superior capacity or preparation in science, mathematics, engineering, or modern foreign language. Faculty and staff members knowing of well-qualified students who must have financial aid to continue in school might wish to call their attention to the loan program. Full details are available from Mr. John Bright, secretary to the scholarship and student employment committee.

RESEARCH REPORT BEING COMPILED

A review of published research by the faculty members in the William and Mary System is being compiled for publication at the end of the current academic year. Because no such report has been published in recent years, this current compilation will cover representative materials appearing in periodicals or in book form during the 1948-1958 decade. It will include reports from staff members on the Norfolk, Richmond, and Williamsburg campuses as well as from the Virginia Fisheries Laboratory at Gloucester.

Staff members who have not yet completed the blanks sent out earlier in the school year, requesting information for this report, are asked to send the data to the Office of Development by Saturday, March 14.

COLLEGE BULLETIN SERIES

The research report mentioned above will appear as No. 7 in the current Volume 53 of the Bulletins of the College of William and Mary. Because a number of persons have expressed an interest in, and a lack of information on, the bulletin series, the subject matter and publication dates of the numbers for 1959 are reprinted herewith:

- No. 1 Summer School announcement (January)
- No. 2 Summer School catalogue (February)
- No. 3 Summer Session clinics and workshops (March)
- No. 4 Orientation clinic, counselors' conference (March)
- No. 5 Summer Bank School announcement (March)

GRANTS FOR FOREIGN STUDY AVAILABLE

Notice of research fellowship programs for work in Europe and Asia and of lectureships in Latin America have been received at the college. Application blanks and additional information concerning the programs, listed below, may be obtained by interested faculty from the Conference Board of Associated Research Councils, Committee on International Exchange of Persons, 2101 Constitution Avenue, Washington, D. C.

North Atlantic Treaty Organization Research Fellowship Program--Grants amounting to the equivalent of 200,000 French francs a month and approved travel expenses will be available to a limited number of scholars for research in one or more NATO countries in 1959-60. Awards will be limited to fellows working on projects of particular interest to the Atlantic Community and on subjects pertaining to historical, political, economic and social problems.

South-East Asia Treaty Organization Research Fellowship Program--Grants providing a monthly allowance of $400 and travel expenses will be available to a limited number of scholars to study in SEATO countries and the territories of Asian members. The applicant's project be of interest to SEATO and, preferably, to two or more SEATO member countries.

Latin American Lectureships--Lectureships ranging from six weeks to three months for U. S. scholars and specialists for whom suitable lecturing programs can be arranged at Latin American universities from about March to Dec. 1, 1959 are available under the 1959 educational and cultural exchange program of the Department of State. The program also makes available an increased number of grants for Latin American scholars who have received invitations to lecture in U. S. universities. U. S. lecturers must be fluent in Spanish. Persons interested in 1959 appointments should inquire immediately to the Committee.

PLEA MADE FOR EARLY PURCHASE OF BRUBECK TICKETS

Mr. Gabriel Wilner, president of the Student Body Government, has issued an appeal--to all faculty and staff members as well as to students--for the early purchase of tickets for the Dave Brubeck jazz concert. This concert is to be held in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall at 2 p.m. on March 8. Mr. Wilner explained, "The Student Body Government has run into an emergency situation, owing to the fact that it borrowed Dance Committee funds to help defray the advance expenses of the concert. No plans for the traditional spring dance can be made until at least $1,000 of the borrowed money has been returned to the treasury. The spring season is a busy one, and the Dance Committee must be enabled to contact the best bands before their schedules become too crowded."

NEWS FROM THE DEPARTMENTS

Biology

Dr. John T. Baldwin discussed "Boxwoods" before a meeting of the Southern Shade Tree Association at the Williamsburg Lodge earlier this month.

Business Administration

Mr. Wayne F. Gibbs has been appointed to the committee on accounting and auditing procedures of the Virginia Society of Certified Public Accountants. He has also been named chairman of the committee on education of the Peninsula Chapter of the Virginia Society of Certified Public Accountants.

Mr. Fred A. Engle, Jr., and approximately fifteen members of the William and Mary Chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management attended the dinner meeting of the Senior Chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management in Richmond, February 24.

Mr. Gibbs will attend the meeting of the Southeastern Division of the American Accounting Association in Tallahassee, March 5-6.

Mr. John S. Quinn attended the "World-Wide Education Conference" for educational personnel from the armed services and representatives of colleges participating in the government-sponsored tuition-aid program, in Baltimore, February 19-20.

Economics

Dr. Frank Cwen has been informed that his Ph.D. thesis, "Business Financing and Taxation Policies," will be published by the Canadian Tax Foundation. The study analyzes the effects of tax innovations introduced by the Canadian Federal Government on Canadian financial institutions and industrial companies. It also examines the international tax factors influencing the flow of United States funds into Canada.

English

Professor Toshikazu Ueki of the Kobe University, Japan, has just completed a translation into Japanese of an article written by Dr. Donald M. Foerster, "Homer, Milton and the American Revolt against Epic Poetry," originally published in Studies in Philology, January, 1956. When published, this translation will be used in Japanese universities.

History

Dr. Lester J. Cappon's "Genealogy, Handmaid of History," originally read at the annual dinner of the National Genealogical Society in Washington, D. C., December, 1955, and then published in the March, 1957, issue of the National Genealogical Quarterly, is now available in a revised pamphlet edition from the Society. It is number 17 of the special publications series of the Society.

Mathematics

Mr. R. E. Smith is attending the meeting of the American Mathematical Society currently being held in New York City.

Military Science and Tactics

Lt. Col. James M. Carson spoke before the Williamsburg Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, February 3. His topic was "Your Son's Military Obligations."

Lt. Col. James M. Cake is attending a two-week orientation course on "Special Weapons" at the Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. This course, required periodically of field grade officers, covers latest developments in the field.

College of William and Mary

THIS WEEK'S DEVELOPMENTS ON LIBRARY DRIVE

"The Gift of Kings... & Gentlemen," a 16-page brochure outlining the role of the William and Mary Library in college, community and nation, and documenting the need for a modern physical plant, came off the presses this week. Copies will be available to interested faculty members. The brochure is being distributed to members of the continuing committee on development for the college, to interested friends and alumni, to various foundations, agencies, and prospective donors.

The executive committee of the development program, with the raising of an additional $2,000,000 for the library as its first objective, will hold its initial meeting on the campus tomorrow. The committee consists of the following persons: President A. D. Chandler, Mr. H. H. Sisson, Jr., Mr. James S. Kelly, and Dr. William F. Swindler, from the college; Mr. Roy Charles, Norfolk; Mr. John R. L. Johnston, Jr., Wilmington, Delaware; Mr. T. G. Pullen, Catonsville, Maryland; Dr. Robert D. Calkins, Washington, D. C.; and Mr. J. Malcolm Bridges, Richmond. Personnel of the Virginia and national committees for the development program will be announced later.

GENERAL DEVELOPMENT PLAN: PROGRESS REPORT

The library drive described above is the primary objective in a general developmental plan for the William and Mary System, which will cover not only prospective growth of the physical plant ("brick and mortar" phase) and enhancement of the capital endowment ("bread and butter" phase), but also the enrichment and strengthening of the academic program (intellectual phase).

Since it began operations last September, the Office of Development has marked off the following preparatory steps in getting itself into orbit: (1) Reestablishment of a full-time communications or informational service for the college, now embodied in the News

Bureau; (2) laying out the campaign for the library building fund, which has reached the stage described in the item above; (3) correlating this campaign with the overall, continuing plan for the systematic development of the potentials of the William and Mary System; and (4) selecting personnel for the continuing committee on the development program.

FACULTY RESEARCH GRANTS ANNOUNCED

The Board of Visitors, at its meeting last Saturday, recommended that grants for research during the 1959-60 academic year be made to twelve faculty members.

Those receiving the awards will be Mr. Richard G. Canham (chemistry), for work on the dissociation constants of pyrophosphoric acid; Dr. Frederic R. Crownfield (physics), determination of the lifetime of free radicals by means of their magnetic rotation spectre; Dr. Charles E. Davidson (English), satire in Chaucer's "Friar's Tale" and "Summoner's Tale"; Dr. Donald M. Foerster (English), twentieth-century criticism of epic poetry; Mr. E. Lewis Hoffman (modern languages), the Pastorales of Jose Trinidad Reyes; and Dr. Ludwell H. Johnson (history), the influence of political and pressure groups on the conduct of the Civil War.

Also, Dr. Bruce T. McCully (history), studies in British Imperial history and American historiography; Dr. Pierre C. Custinoff (modern languages), critical edition of Diderot's comments to Catherine II on Russia's proposed code of civil law; Mr. Edwin H. Rhyne (sociology), appraisal of recent research in the field of racial and ethnic prejudice; Dr. Ira L. Reiss (sociology), comparative investigation of functional narcotics in three religious groups; Dr. Leroy W. Smith (English), influence of seventeenth- and eighteenth-century English and French theories of the effect of emotions on English novelists, 1700-1760; and Dr. Harold A. Waters (modern languages), two articles on Marcel Proust.

FLAT HAT TO INTENSIFY NEWS COVERAGE

The Flat Hat is in the process of establishing a more intensive system of covering news of all William and Mary activities. The paper's news staff intends to send a reporter to every public meeting and club meeting whenever possible, and to call upon each department head and administrative office at least once a week for news of campus interest. This news coverage will be additional to that provided by the college News Bureau and will be different in emphasis in that it will seek out information of interest primarily to the college community rather than to the general public.

SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR THE WILLIAM AND MARY QUARTERLY

Dr. Lawrence W. Towner, editor, has called attention to the fact that a special faculty-staff rate of $1.00 a year is available for subscriptions to the William and Mary Quarterly and that it is still possible to begin subscriptions with the January issue. Rates for students are $2.00 a year; for regular subscribers, $4.00 a year.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be supported by a valid receipt or invoice. This ensures transparency and allows for easy verification of the data.

In the second section, the author outlines the various methods used to collect and analyze the data. This includes both manual and automated processes. The goal is to ensure that the data is as accurate and reliable as possible.

The third part of the document provides a detailed breakdown of the results. It shows that there has been a significant increase in sales over the period covered. This is attributed to several factors, including improved marketing strategies and better customer service.

Finally, the document concludes with a series of recommendations for future actions. It suggests that the company should continue to invest in its marketing efforts and focus on building long-term relationships with its customers.

The lead article in the January issue is a psychological-historical analysis of Sir Henry Clinton, British Commander-in-Chief during the American Revolution. The principal article in the April issue will be by Dr. Julian Boyd of Princeton University, editor of the Papers of Thomas Jefferson.

NEXT ISSUE OF FACULTY NEWSLETTER

Owing to the spring recess, there will be no issue of the newsletter on March 27, two weeks from today. The next issue will come out on April 10.

NEWS FROM THE DEPARTMENTS

Ancient Languages

Dr. A. P. Wagener attended a symposium on "The Liberal Arts in an Age of Transition" at Randolph-Macon College, Ashland, March 9-10. Other faculty members in attendance were Dr. Warner Moss, Jr., chairman of the department of government; Dr. Andrew C. Haigh, chairman of the department of music; and Dr. William George Guy, chairman of the department of chemistry.

Economics

Miss Barbara G. Simpson, who took over Dr. Abraham Hirsch's classes while he was on leave at Robert College, Istanbul, Turkey (1956-1958), has accepted an invitation to return to the college as an instructor in economics. Miss Simpson is currently studying at the London School of Economics and Political Science at the University of London, England.

Dr. C. Frank Cwen has been awarded a Ford Foundation Fellowship for participation in a research seminar in economics to be held at Princeton University this summer. The seminar, sponsored by the Foundation, will deal with problems of public finance and fiscal policy.

Education

Dr. George J. Cliver attended the two-day conference of the Virginia Education Association in Natural Bridge, March 5-7.

Dr. D. J. Herrmann presided at the annual meetings of the Virginia Personnel and Guidance Association at the Hotel Roanoke, March 5-6. Dr. Herrmann, elected president of the organization in March, 1958, will serve until March, 1960.

Dr. Howard K. Holland served as a consultant for a panel discussion on "Teaching Practices of College Professors" at a meeting of the Southeastern District Convention of Kappa Delta Pi honorary education fraternity in late February.

Dr. Paul N. Clem, currently on the faculty of Michigan State University, will join the department next year as associate professor. Dr. Clem, a graduate of Bridgewater College, received his Ph.D. from Michigan State.

English

Miss Joann Slaughter has assumed sponsorship of an "extra-curricular" student literary society which will meet regularly to study selected master works. The members of the group may also submit original work for discussion and criticism.

Dr. Carl R. Dolmetsch, who has been a member of the faculty at Drake University, Des Moines, Iowa, since 1956, will join the department next September as assistant professor. Dr. Dolmetsch, who holds a Ph. D. from the University of Chicago, is a specialist in the field of American literature.

Fine Arts

An abstract oil painting, "Figuration 1958" by Mr. Thomas Thorne and a piece of sculpture, "Daphne," by Mr. Carl A. Roseberg are on display in the 1959 Virginia Artists Exhibition at the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts in Richmond.

Another of Mr. Thorne's abstract paintings, "Ruin," is being displayed in the Fresh Paint Exhibit at the Norfolk Museum of Arts and Sciences.

An exhibit of design silhouettes, model sets, and photographs of William and Mary Theatre productions--prepared by Mr. Russell Hastings--went on exhibit at Wesleyan University, Middletown, Connecticut, yesterday. Later this spring the exhibit will be sent on a tour of colleges and universities in New England and in the Midwest.

Government

An article--"John Marshall's Philosophy of Constitutional Republicanism"--by Dr. Morton J. Frisch has been translated and published in a Vietnamese political science journal. The article appeared originally in the January, 1958, issue of the Review of Politics.

Another article by Dr. Frisch, "On McClosky's Conservatism and Personality," appeared in the American Political Science Review, December, 1958.

Mr. Edwin W. Webber will attend the conference of the American Society for Public Administration in Washington, D. C., April 1-4.

History

Mr. Peter Czap, a specialist in Russian history, will join the department next September as assistant professor. Mr. Czap, a graduate of Rutgers University, studied for a year at Oxford University, England, and is currently a candidate for the Ph. D. at Cornell University.

Home Economics

Miss Alma Wilkin delivered a lecture entitled "Modern Textiles for Modern Living" before a meeting of the Bruton District Woman's Club of James Terrace, March 4. She also served as a judge of handwork by members of the organization exhibited at the meeting.

Modern Languages

Two new instructors will join the department next September. They are Mr. Edward J. Neugaard, who will teach Spanish and German; and Miss Jean E. Scammon, who will teach French and Spanish. Mr. Neugaard, a graduate of Jamestown College, received his M. A. from the University of Wisconsin. Miss Scammon, who holds a B. A. from MacMurray College and a M. A. from Western Reserve University, is working for a Ph. D. at the University of Kansas.

Music

Mr. Edwin E. Flath and Mr. Milton Wright, a senior majoring in music, will present a piano and violin concert at Hampton Institute, March 16.

Dr. Carl A. Fehr will serve as judge of a district choral festival to be held at Manchester High School tomorrow, March 14.

Physical Education for Women

Miss Marion Reeder attended the recent meetings of the Southern Association for Physical Education of College Women and the Southern District of the American Association for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation in Houston, Texas.

CALENDAR OF COMING EVENTS

- March 13 - Lecture by Dr. Hubert N. Alyea, "Atomic Energy: Weapon for Peace." Room 100, Washington Hall, 8 p.m.

College of William and Mary

FOUR FACULTY MEMBERS RECEIVE SUMMER FELLOWSHIPS

Four faculty fellowships for academic study and research during the summer of 1959 have been awarded at William and Mary by the Southern Fellowships Fund, an agency of the Council of Southern Universities, Incorporated. The recipients are Mr. Richard G. Canham of the department of chemistry; Mr. E. Lewis Hoffman of the department of modern languages; and Mr. Charles R. Foster and Mr. Edwin W. Webber, both of the department of government. Mr. Canham will do research on the dissociation constants of pyrophosphoric acid; Mr. Hoffman, on the Pastorales of Jose Trinidad Reyes; Mr. Foster, on the German political party system; and Mr. Webber, on the International Boundary and Water Commission.

PRACTICAL POLITICS WORKSHOP, APRIL 16-17

Approximately forty businessmen from the Richmond area are registered for the workshop on practical politics which will be held at Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall next week. The workshop is being sponsored by the Richmond Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the Effective Citizens Organization of New York, a non-profit foundation devoted to promoting greater citizen participation in government. Previous workshops have been held at Yale, Princeton, Stanford and Southern Methodist universities, and at Carleton and Beloit colleges.

Dr. Morton J. Frisch of the department of government, and Mr. Edwin H. Rhyne of the department of sociology and anthropology, will be among the lecturers at the seminar. Dr. Frisch will speak on "The American Party System," and Mr. Rhyne on "Party Constituencies and the Independent Voter."

JUNIOR SCIENCE DAY TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Over 100 young scientists and teachers from high schools throughout the Tidewater area are expected on campus tomorrow for Junior Science Day, an annual event jointly sponsored by the college and the Virginia Junior Academy of Sciences.

The day's activities will center about an exhibition of research projects prepared by individual high school students and by student organizations. Mr. Richard G. Canham of the department of chemistry is serving as chairman of the event.

The projects will be judged by a committee consisting of Miss Grace Blank of the department of biology; Dr. Louis Goodfriend of the department of chemistry; Dr. Robert L. Kameil of the department of physics; Mr. Robert E. Smith of the department of mathematics; Dr. Peter M. Guthrie of the department of psychology; and officials from local industrial and scientific installations. Faculty and staff have been invited to view the exhibits, which will be displayed in the laboratories of the chemistry department (Rooms 213, 215, and 209, Rogers Hall).

SURVEY OF TIDEWATER HIGHER EDUCATION NEEDS

A team of experts from the U. S. Office of Education, under a contract with the State Council on Higher Education, has undertaken a comprehensive survey of prospective needs for higher education in Tidewater. The survey will attempt to project the trends in population, including college-age young people, and in general economic development of the region, as a means of identifying probable needs for general, professional and technical training beyond high school. Dr. S. V. Mortorana, chief of the state and regional organization division of the Office of Education, is in charge of the survey. The team of experts has held extended conferences with administrators and department heads of the William and Mary System, with particular reference to its extension work and the plans for the Norfolk Division.

ALUMNI FUND AIMS AT ENDOWED CHAIR

The Jefferson Chair of Government and Citizenship will be added to the scholarly functions of the college if the 1959 Alumni Fund realizes its goal. H. I. Willett, president of the Society of the Alumni, has announced that the society will undertake to raise $15,000 annually to finance such a position, in addition to the contributions to the college program already made by previous annual fund drives.

One of the significant priorities of the college has been training for effective participation in, and understanding of, politics and government, Mr. Willett pointed out in an open letter to William and Mary alumni. In 1779, Thomas Jefferson was the major influence in establishing the first chair of "law and police" at the college. Mr. Willett's letter goes on: "in harmony with the best traditions of William and Mary and the early leadership of Mr. Jefferson, your Alumni Board is proposing that the Society sponsor the creation of a chair of government and citizenship from which will emanate the understanding and imagination for which our College won renown. This proposed chair of government will be in honor of the alumnus who penned the Declaration of Independence. It will be known as the Jefferson Chair of Government, and it will be created with the expectation that it will serve as the first step in gaining the experience and the initiative necessary to found and perpetuate an institute of government and citizenship."

APRIL 26 DEADLINE FOR EXETER EXCHANGE SCHOLARSHIP APPLICATIONS

Faculty and staff members have been urged to remind all qualified sophomores and graduating seniors that April 26 is the deadline for applications for the 1959-60 University of Exeter Exchange Scholarship. Under the exchange agreement, an outstanding student from the College of William and Mary is sent abroad each academic year for study at the English institution, and a student from Exeter comes here for the same period. Mr. Michael Alembik, a 1958 graduate of William and Mary, has been the 1958-59 representative of the college at Exeter while Miss Gillian Tinperley has been the representative of the English institution here. Full details with regard to application are available from Dr. W. G. Guy of the department of chemistry.

"CONTINENTAL CLASSROOM" FACTS AND FIGURES

A survey of 131 institutions participating in the first semester of "Continental Classroom," NBC-TV's early morning course in general physics, reveals the following statistics:

- about 3,000 students were enrolled for credit; 2,000 as auditors
- of the credit students approximately 70 per cent completed the course satisfactorily, 5 per cent received failing marks, and 25 per cent dropped out before the end of the semester

Personal interviews with 12 per cent of the students enrolled disclose the following further information:

- 50 per cent of the group interviewed are teachers
- as a result of the course, 54.2 per cent are changing their teaching methods to use more and better demonstrations; to modernize their courses; to use new approaches and plans; to assign more "pertinent" homework
- of those who dropped out before the completion of the course, 24 per cent listed as their reason not enough time; 6 per cent, not enough background; 6 per cent, illness; 4 per cent, not wanting to attend campus sessions; 6 per cent, dislike of course
- listed disadvantages of the class included the lack of opportunity to question and too fast a pace
- advantages included the excellent equipment possible for demonstration and superior teaching

Mr. Charles Woodliff, television coordinator for the William and Mary System, reports that a total of six persons enrolled to take the first-semester "Continental Classroom" course at William and Mary. Three of these completed the course to receive undergraduate academic credit; one, a high school senior, was merely auditing; and two dropped out before the completion of the semester. Ten persons have enrolled for the second-semester offering in atomic and nuclear physics. Others are registered for the credit at R. P. I. and at the Norfolk Division.

NEWS FROM THE DEPARTMENTS

Ancient Languages

Dr. Talbot R. Selby attended the annual meeting of the Classical Association of the Middle West and South in Milwaukee, April 2-4. While there, he delivered an illustrated lecture entitled "Roman Art and the Aeneid."

Biology

Dr. John T. Baldwin and Miss Grace J. Blank attended a conference on "College Science Teaching" at the Medical College of Virginia, March 20-21. Sponsored by the National Science Foundation, the conference brought together representatives from the science faculties of colleges throughout the state of Virginia.

Business Administration

Mr. Algin B. King has been asked to write a chapter on "Channels of Distribution" for inclusion in a new Principles of Marketing textbook to be published by the Pitman Company of New York later this year.

Chemistry

Dr. W. G. Guy attended the conference on "College Science Teaching" at the Medical College of Virginia, March 20-21.

Education

Miss Merle Davis attended the meeting of the committee on professional standards and teacher education of the Virginia Education Association in Richmond, March 13-14.

Dr. Donald J. Herrmann and Dr. Deane J. Cannon participated in the program of the meeting of the American Personnel and Guidance Association in Cleveland, Ohio, March 22-25.

An article by Dr. Howard K. Holland on "What Parochial and Public School Teachers Can Learn from Each Other" appears in the April issue of the Catholic Education Review.

Dr. Carl W. McCartha attended the annual meeting of District D of the Virginia Education Association in Petersburg on March 7. He addressed principals and supervisors of that district on the problem of "Gearing Instruction to Meet the Needs of the Individual."

Dr. George J. Oliver attended a meeting of directors of evening school programs called by the University Center in Virginia, in Richmond, April 3. The discussion centered about methods by which the Center could help to promote the evening adult-education programs of the several institutions represented.

Mr. G. Glenwood Clark has just received from Ahmedabad, India, the translation into Gurgjati, of his biography of Thomas Alva Edison. This is the eighteenth foreign tongue into which the book has been translated.

Dr. Cecil M. McCutley addressed the Quill and Scroll Literary Society at the Warwick High School on March 26. His topic was "The American Short Story."

Dr. Leroy Smith served as a consultant to a meeting of the English department of Princess Anne High School on March 12. Principal topics of discussion were outside reading and the writing of themes by high school students.

Mr. Richard Bullock was speaker at the annual banquet meeting of the Warwick High School Quill and Scroll Literary Society at the Williamsburg Lodge, April 4.

Fine Arts

The cover of the May-June issue of the Garden Club of Virginia Journal will feature a painting of the church at Jamestown by Mr. Thomas Thorne.

Government

An article by Dr. Morton J. Frisch on "The Architecture of American Political Theory," which originally appeared in the April, 1955, issue of Ethics, will be included in a book of readings in political theory to be published by The Thomas Y. Crowell, Co., early in 1960. Arnold A. Rogow of Haverford College is editor of the volume.

Mr. Charles Foster and Mr. Edwin W. Webber attended the national conference of the American Society for Public Administration in Washington, D. C., April 1-4.

History

Dr. Louis L. Tucker attended a symposium on "Pietistic Thought in Eighteenth Century America" sponsored by Moravian College, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, on March 14.

Home Economics

Miss Alma Wilkin and Mrs. Thelma Miller attended the annual meeting of the Virginia Home Economics Association at the Roanoke Hotel, March 13-14.

Physical Education for Women

Miss Grace E. Matz and Miss Martha Barksdale attended the meetings of the Virginia Association for Physical Education at Natural Bridge, March 20-21.

Psychology

Dr. Stanley Williams attended the conference on "College Science Teaching" at the Medical College of Virginia, March 20-21.

Secretarial Science

Miss Edril Lott has been asked to contribute a chapter on advanced business letters to a textbook on College Typewriting, currently under preparation by the Pitman Publishing Company of New York.

Sociology and Anthropology

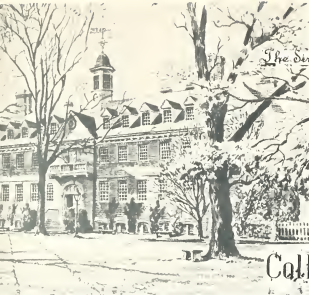

Dr. R. Wayne Kernodle and Dr. Ira Reiss will attend the annual meeting of the Southern Sociological Society to be held in Gatlinburg, Tennessee, April 16-18. Dr. Reiss will be the chairman of two sections dealing with the family. Dr. Kernodle will read a paper on "The Implications of the Homogamy-Complementary Needs Controversy for Sociological Theory."

MORTON SCHOLARSHIP DRIVE BEGUN

A committee of six undergraduate history majors has undertaken to raise funds for scholarships to be named in honor of Dr. Richard L. Morton, whose retirement as professor and chairman of the department of history was announced last week. The goal of the committee is $5,000, which will be turned over to the William and Mary Endowment Association, with the stipulation that the money be used to aid deserving graduate and undergraduate students in history. If the goal of $5,000 is reached, only the interest will be used for the scholarships; if it is not realized, the corpus of the money received will be expended in annual grants until funds are depleted.

Members of the committee heading the drive are Mr. John Grantier, Mrs. William Molineux, Mr. Alan McCracken, Mr. Barry Martin, Mr. Allan Harbert, and Miss Barbara Hoss. The group has sent letters describing the scholarship plans to every history major at the college since 1921, the year when Dr. Morton was promoted to the position of chairman of the department, and to all members of the faculty and staff.

Checks or pledges for future payment may be addressed to the Richard Lee Morton Scholarship Committee, Box 711, Williamsburg. All contributions, the committee points out, are tax deductible.

CHEMISTRY DEPARTMENT RECEIVES GRANT-IN-AID

An unrestricted grant-in-aid of $2,400, to be expended at the discretion of the chairman of the department of chemistry, has been received from the Hercules Powder Company of Wilmington, Delaware. The money is part of a total sum of $100,000, which is being distributed by the company to nearly thirty colleges and universities throughout the country--among them, Harvard, Johns Hopkins, Swarthmore, the California Institute of Technology, and the University of Virginia. Seven of the grants are being made to chemistry departments, eight to chemical engineering, five to mechanical engineering, and the remainder to a miscellaneous group including engineering physics and business administration. Suggested uses include subsidizing faculty research, bringing outside speakers to the campus, buying equipment, and sending representatives to scientific conferences. According to Dr. William G. Guy, no final decision has yet been made as to the manner in which the local grant will be employed.

SCIENCE DEPARTMENTS TO PARTICIPATE IN ACADEMY PROGRAM

Seven faculty members from the departments of chemistry, mathematics, physics, and psychology are scheduled to deliver papers at the thirty-seventh annual meeting of the Virginia Academy of Science, to be held in Charlottesville, May 8-9. They are Dr. Bryant Harell (chemistry); Dr. Robert C. Yates (mathematics); Mr. Robert L. Kerneil, Dr. John L. McKnight, and Dr. Frederic R. Crownfield (physics); and Mr. Peter M. Guthrie and Dr. E. Rae Harcum (psychology). Twelve students, all taking advanced courses in the departments, are also slated to participate in the program.

The Virginia Academy was organized at Williamsburg in May, 1923, and is affiliated with the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the Science Clubs of America, and the Southern Association of Science and Industry. Its purposes are to encourage scientific research and to arouse public interest in science.

COMPETITION FOR SCIENCE SCHOLARSHIPS

Approximately 140 young men from high schools throughout the state of Virginia are expected on campus this weekend for the Eleventh Annual Science Contest of the College of William and Mary. On the basis of competitive written examinations in biology, chemistry, or physics, two scholarships ($500 for the first-place winner and $300 for the second-place) will be awarded in each of the fields. Good only at William and Mary, the scholarships are renewable annually for three years, bringing their total value to $2,000 and $1,200, respectively. Mr. John H. Long of the department of physics is serving as contest chairman.

Events of the weekend will include an open house of the departments of chemistry and physics, to be held tonight from 7 to 9 p.m. in Rogers Hall, and a public meeting of the Virginia Section of the American Chemical Society, to take place in Room 200, Rogers Hall, tomorrow at 4:15 p.m. At the latter, Dr. William T. Lippincott of the University of Florida in Gainesville will show excerpts from a new filmed course in high school chemistry. Faculty and staff have been invited to attend both affairs.

SPECIAL RATES FOR MUSEUM MEMBERSHIPS

Full-time faculty members at the College of William and Mary are eligible for annual membership in the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts at a special teacher's rate of $5.00. This membership includes free admission to the museum and the artmobile; invitations to all previews and receptions; use of the club rooms, garden, and theatre; use of the reference library and the art-loan materials; and a year's subscription to the monthly illustrated Bulletin and to the Museum Collection series. In general, each member is permitted to bring one guest to each of the special affairs. All applications and inquiries should be addressed to the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, Boulevard and Grove Avenue, Richmond.

NEWS FROM THE INSTITUTE

Dr. Lester J. Cappon, director, has announced the winners of the 1958 competition for the second annual Institute Manuscript Award. Top prize of $500 plus assurance of publication by the Institute went to Jackson Turner Main of San Jose State College in California for his study of the Antifederalists in American politics between 1781 and 1787. Honorable mention was given to Lynn W. Turner, president of Otterbein College in Westerville, Ohio, for his biography of William Plumer, a New Hampshire Federalist leader in the era of Thomas Jefferson.

The Council of the Institute will hold its annual meeting in Williamsburg, May 1-2, at which time there will be an election of five new members for terms of three years each.

The Institute, in conjunction with the Jamestown Foundation, has announced the establishment of a special prize competition for the best unpublished book-length manuscript about seventeenth-century America. The annual prize will consist of $1,000, plus assurance of publication. Manuscripts should be submitted not later than December 1, 1959, to Dr. James M. Smith at the Institute.

Education

Dr. Donald J. Herrmann delivered a lecture on "Life is Not Two Plus Two," a discussion of the complexities facing education today, at the meeting of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs in Virginia Beach, April 16.

English

Mr. G. Glenwood Clark participated in the Fort Monroe Post Library celebration of National Book Week, speaking at the library on "Magic Carpets, or the Usefulness of Books," April 13.

Mr. Richard D. Bullock is the author of "What's the Matter with a Newspaper Job?" which appears in the April issue of the Nieman Reports of Harvard University's Nieman Foundation. The article is a condensation of an address delivered before the Virginia Press Association earlier this year.

History

Dr. Richard L. Morton, who will retire this June, was honored at a dinner given by the Institute of Early American History and Culture at the Williamsburg Inn, April 16. Highlight of the evening was the presentation to Dr. Morton of a specially-prepared, calf-bound copy of the April issue of the William and Mary Quarterly, which is dedicated to him in recognition of his service to the journal as editor, contributor, and member of the board of editors. "His retirement in June of this year," reads the dedication written by Dr. Lawrence W. Towner, editor, "gives us occasion to discard the mask of impersonality we regularly wear and to express our deep devotion to him as colleague and friend. . . . we wish to share our sentiments with the scholarly world through these pages."

Dr. and Mrs. Morton are co-authors of "George Washington: Landscape Gardener," which will appear in the May-June issue of the Garden Club of Virginia Journal.

The Royal Governors of Georgia, 1754-1775, by Dr. W. W. Abbot, currently on leave of absence to teach at Northwestern University, is scheduled to appear tomorrow. The book, a history of Georgia as a colony of the British Empire, is being published by the University of North Carolina Press for the Institute of Early American History and Culture. It is the twenty-third book to appear under the publishing program of the Institute.

Mathematics

Mr. Robert E. Smith and Dr. Joseph R. Lee are attending the spring meeting of the American Mathematical Society, being held at the Hotel New Yorker, New York City, today and tomorrow.

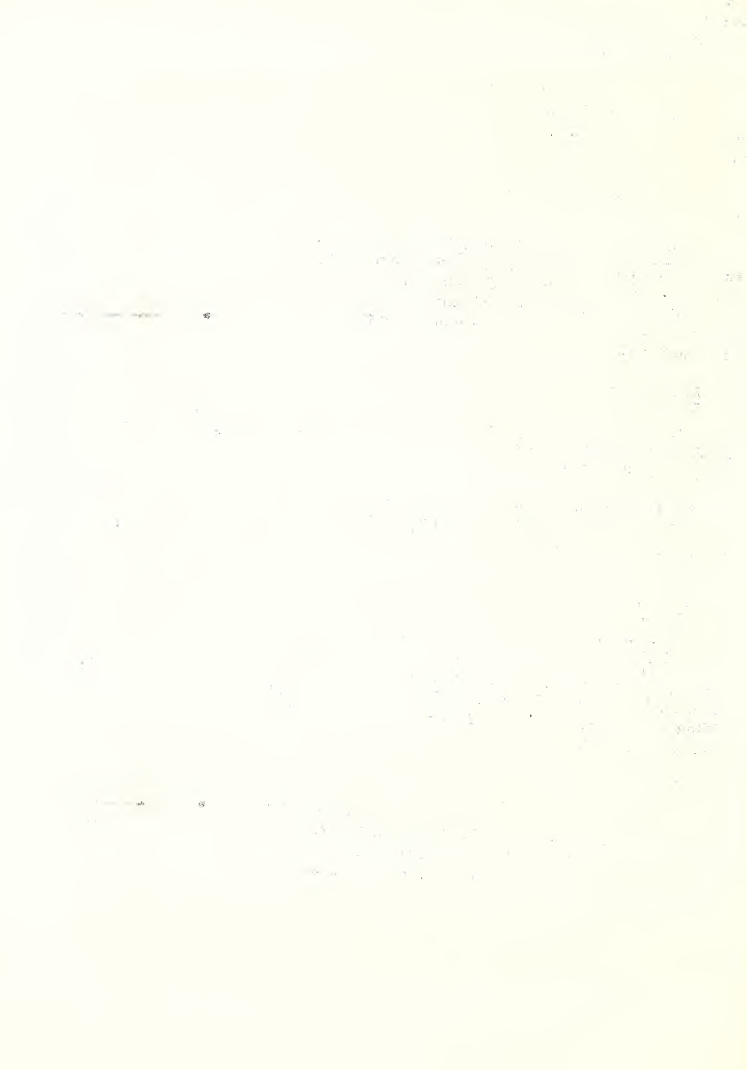

Mr. Benjamin R. Cato was elected external vice-president of the Williamsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce at a meeting held on Tuesday, April 14. At the same time, Mr. Overton Amos Durrett, acting dean of men, was elected to the board of directors.

Psychology

Dr. E. Roe Harcum participated in a symposium on visual search techniques held at the Smithsonian Auditorium in Washington, D. C., April 7-8. He presented a paper on "Detection vs. Localization Errors on Various Radii of the Visual Field" and, with Dr. H. R. Blackwell and J. G. Chmura of Ohio State University, a report on "Field and Simulator Studies of Air-to-Ground Visibility Distances." The symposium was sponsored by the Armed Forces--NRC Committee on Vision.

School of Law

Dr. William F. Swindler has completed a "data book" on the subject, "The Common Law in America," for the Virginia State Bar. Designed to provide background information to speakers, editors, and bar association groups in connection with the May 17 ceremony commemorating the advent of the common law at Jamestown, the data book is being distributed to every bar group and law school in the English-speaking world. It provides a brief layman's definition of common law, traces the history of its development in the colonies, and its progress in the growth of the United States to the admission of Alaska and Hawaii.

The freshman round of the annual moot court competition will begin this week, under the direction of Professor James P. Whyte. Oral arguments, before a panel of three faculty judges, will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday evenings for the next two weeks, in Room C, Bryan Hall. Members of the college faculty are welcome to attend any of the moot court meetings. Upperclass rounds of the competition are held in the fall.

Secretarial Science

Mr. John Bryant, president of the Pitman Publishing Company of New York, recently met with Miss Edril Lott and Mr. Algin King of the department of business administration at the Williamsburg Inn, to discuss contributions they are making to textbooks on typewriting and marketing.

Sociology and Anthropology

Dr. Ira L. Reiss delivered a paper at the Groves Conference on Marriage and the Family, held at the University of North Carolina, April 7.

ADVENT OF COMMON LAW--JAMESTOWN 1607

Ceremonies commemorating the establishment at Jamestown of a permanent settlement functioning within the general framework of English legal and political institutions will be held in Williamsburg and at Jamestown on Sunday, May 17. The Williamsburg ceremonies will begin with a convocation conducted by the College of William and Mary in the "colonial yard" in front of the Wren Building (or in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall in the event of rain). At this convocation the college will confer honorary degrees upon Sir Harold Caccia, British Ambassador to the United States; the Hon. J. Lindsay Almond, Jr., governor of the Commonwealth; and Mr. Ross L. Malone, national president of the American Bar Association.

A delegation from the college, including Dean Dudley W. Woodbridge of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law, will attend the dedication ceremonies on Jamestown Island, where the ambassador, governor, and bar association president will speak and where a plaque will be unveiled in the old church attesting to the coming of English common law to the New World. The William and Mary Choir will provide the vocal music for the Jamestown program.

POGO AND THE COMMON LAW

Walt Kelly, creator of "Pogo," is expected on campus May 17 for the ceremonies commemorating the advent of the common law in America. A reception in his honor has been arranged in the Brafferton Lounge at 3 p.m., and all faculty and staff members who would like to attend are asked to contact the News Bureau. Mr. Kelly, it might be noted, has included references to the common law in the "Pogo" strips scheduled for publication on May 10, 17 and 24.

DR. OLIVER NEW R. P. I. PROVOST

As announced in the press last week, Dr. George J. Oliver, Professor of Education, Director of Extension, and Coordinator of Branch Activities for the William and Mary System, has been approved by the Board of Visitors as Provost for the Richmond Professional Institute, succeeding Dr. Henry H. Hibbs, who is retiring at the end of the current academic year. Dr. Oliver, who has been at the Williamsburg campus since 1945, will meet with a Richmond citizens' advisory committee this afternoon, at the R. P. I. campus.

LAW ALUMNI TO MEET

Members of the William and Mary Law School Association will convene in Williamsburg on Saturday, May 16, for the group's seventh annual meeting. Copies of the Law Alumni Directory, published by the Association, will be available for distribution at that time. This Directory will include an alphabetical listing of all graduates of the school since it reopened its doors in 1923 and a listing by geographical areas. Introductory notes will cover general information about the law curriculum from 1779 to the present, and there will also be a list of all lawyers who have received honorary degrees from the school, among them four presidents of the United States.

1958 NEWS REVIEW IN LIBRARY LISTENING ROOM

The Columbia Broadcasting System has presented the college with a two-record album of "The Big News of '58," a recording of an 85-minute summary of the year's news by Walter Cronkite and fifteen other CBS news correspondents, which was broadcast on December 28, 1958. The album includes recordings of the voices of General Charles DeGaulle at the time of his accession to power, President Eisenhower broadcasting from the satellite in orbit, Radio Moscow denouncing Boris Pasternak's Nobel Prize, and other affairs of last year. The album is in the listening room of the college library.

CHOIR ON THE AIR

During its recent concert tour of the Northeast, the William and Mary Choir, under the direction of Dr. Carl A. Fehr, made a video film which was played Saturday, April 25, on WFIL-TV in Philadelphia. A copy of this film has been ordered for the college library and will soon be available for showings. Mr. Hugh DeSamper, College of William and Mary '51 and a member of the public relations staff at Colonial Williamsburg, was instrumental in arranging both for the TV appearance and for the procuring of the tape.

While in New York, the Choir also planned a series of radio tapes to be played over NBC-Radio's "Monitor" program. These recordings were made at the college radio studios last Sunday evening and have been sent to New York. It is expected that the first group of songs will be heard on "Monitor" this Sunday afternoon, as part of the special programming for Mother's Day.

The Choir's appearances in Philadelphia, New York, and Boston and on "Monitor" were arranged by area alumni chapters.

PHONORAMA

Mr. James Kelly, alumni secretary, reports that this year the average alumni gift to the William and Mary Fund, A Program of Annual Giving, shows every sign of being larger than it has ever been in the past. Mr. Kelly attributes the increase partly to a new plan of telephone solicitation, "Phonorama," whereby prospective contributors receive personal calls. This solicitation began approximately a month ago and to date about $10,000 has been pledged to the Fund. The average pledge gift is $17, as compared to an average gift of $8.98 last year.

COUNCIL OF INSTITUTE ELECTS NEW OFFICERS AND MEMBERS

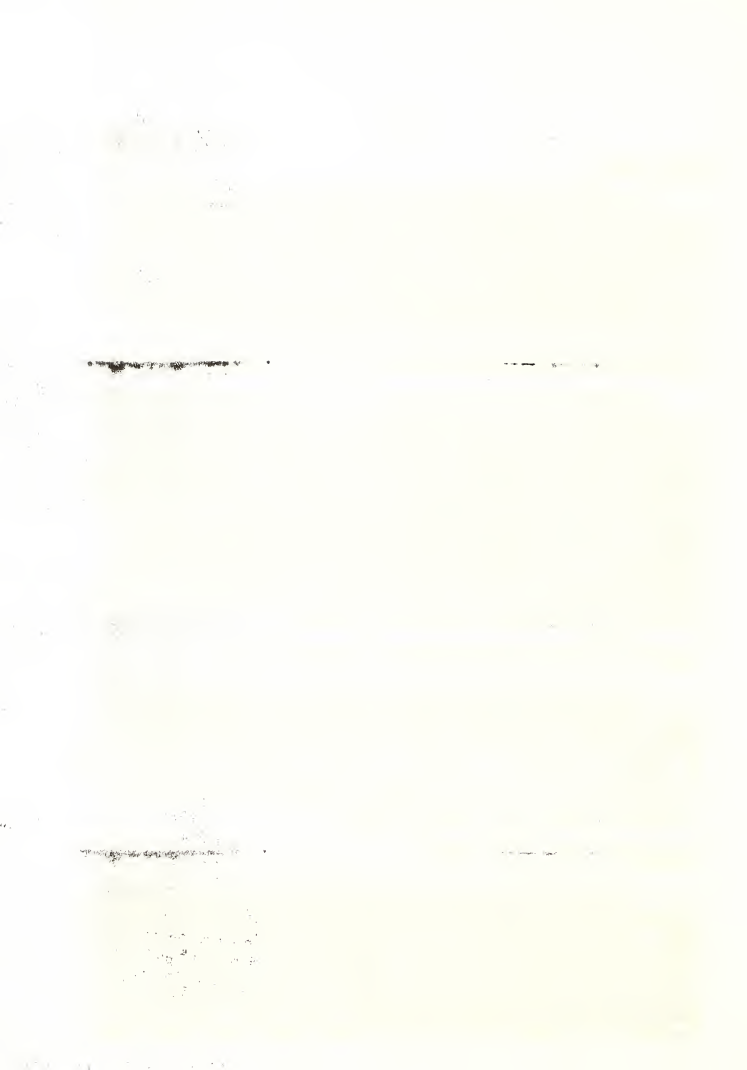

The Council of the Institute of Early American History and Culture, meeting in Williamsburg last week, elected as chairman Dr. Louis B. Wright, director of the Folger-Shakespeare Library in Washington, D. C.; Dr. Edmund S. Morgan of Yale University was chosen vice-chairman; Dr. Richard B. Morris of Columbia University, secretary. In addition, five new members of the Council were selected: Dr. Julian P. Boyd of Princeton University; Dr. John R. Alden of Duke University; Dr. Bernard Bailyn of Harvard University; Howard H. Peckham, director of the William L. Clements Library at the University of Michigan; and Irving Brant of Washington, D. C., biographer of James Madison. The Council also passed a resolution honoring Dr. Richard L. Morton, chairman of the department of history and a member of the group, who will retire this June. The college was commended for its "splendid development of plans for a new library."

WILLIAM AND MARY REPRESENTATIVES AT SCIENCE MEETING

Among those attending the current meetings of the Virginia Academy of Science in Charlottesville are the following faculty members from the College of William and Mary: Miss Grace J. Blank, Dr. Mitchell A. Byrd, Mr. Richard G. Canham, Mr. Benjamin R. Cato, Dr. Frederic R. Crownfield, Mr. Peter Guthrie, Dr. William G. Guy, Dr. E. Rae Harcum, Dr. Bryant Harrell, Mr. Robert L. Kemell, Dr. John L. McKnight, Dr. Melvin A. Pittman, Mr. Robert E. Smith, Dr. Stanley Williams, and Dr. Robert C. Yates.

LEADERSHIP AWARD ANNOUNCED

The Fund for Adult Education, established in 1951 by the Ford Foundation, has announced three awards of $1,000 each for speeches or articles on public leadership. The prize-winning articles and speeches will eventually be published in a single volume either by the Fund or by a commercial firm. To be given in each of the years 1959 and 1960, the awards are designed to further investigation on the nature of public leadership and on ways in which more adequate education can be provided to help prepare American leadership on every level of social, economic, and political organization. To be considered for an award, a copy of the article or speech should be sent to the Office of Information, The Fund for Adult Education, 200 Bloomingdale Road, White Plains, New York.

NEWS FROM THE DEPARTMENTS

Ancient Languages

Dr. Talbot Selby addressed the Classical Association of Virginia meeting in Lexington on "Roman Art and the Aeneid," May 2. He was accompanied by two student majors in the department--Miss Lynn Everard and Mr. William Perrine.

Economics

Dr. Clifford Frank Owen is the author of an article entitled "Oil in the Western Hemisphere," which appears in the May-June issue of the Harvard Business Review. The current situation, he points out, demands "new attitudes by American businessmen to match the new policies emerging among the new types of political leaders. . . . the occasion is now more propitious than in the past for a favorable solution of oil issues in Latin America." Improvement of economic relations with Latin American countries, he further states, "could have considerable significance for U. S. diplomatic relations--especially in the light of recent Soviet trading successes in the area."

Education

Dr. Deore Cannon is one of fifty industrialists, educators, and businessmen participating in the Joint Civilian Orientation Conference currently being held at Fort Benning, Georgia. Members of the group were invited to witness the Army phase of the conference by General Bruce Clarke, General, United States Army, Commanding.

English

Dr. Donald Foerster recently completed his second book, The Fortunes of Epic Poetry, which has been accepted for publication by the Catholic University of America Press. The work is a comprehensive study of the rapidly changing reputations of important epic poets such as Homer, Virgil, Dante, and Milton from 1750 to about 1950 in both England and America. It suggests, on the one hand, the principal reasons why epic poetry, regarded for more than two thousand years as one of the chief types of literature, has been attacked so widely by critics during the past two centuries; why and how the lyric, novel, and drama have gradually displaced it; why Milton in particular has been singled out and assailed by many nineteenth- and twentieth-century critics. On the other hand, Dr. Foerster discusses the values--aesthetic and philosophical--which a number of major critics

Dr. G. Glenwood Clark spoke on "The Male Student and Literature" at the April 20 meeting of the Tidewater Affiliate of the Virginia Association of Teachers of English, held at Cradock High School, Portsmouth.

Mr. Clark acted as sole judge of the literary contest recently sponsored by the Arts Association of Alamance County, Burlington, North Carolina. Awards are to be made to the three ranking contestants during the annual Arts Festival being held at Burlington this week-end.

Fine Arts

Mr. Thomas Thorne is one of twenty scholars invited to participate in a seminar on "Approaches to the Study of American Art," to be held at the Henry Francis DuPont Winterthur Museum, Winterthur, Delaware, May 28-30. Similar meetings have been held at Winterthur for the past several years, on topics such as connoisseurship and the various aspects of museum operation.

Mr. Charles M. Woodliff reports that the Federal Communications Commission on April 29 announced an authorization for the construction of a non-commercial, educational FM radio station at the college. This means, Mr. Woodliff explains, that the station can go on the air just as soon as call letters are assigned. It is expected that some broadcasting will be done this spring, on a limited basis.

Government

Dr. Morton J. Frisch and Mr. Charles R. Foster attended the meeting of the Midwest Political Science Association at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, April 30-May 2.

Mr. Foster also attended the "Conference on India and the United States," sponsored by the Committee for International Economic Growth, in Washington, D. C., May 4-5.

Dr. Warner Moss will be one of the principal speakers at a meeting tomorrow of members of the Virginia Section, International City Managers' Association. The group, convening in Williamsburg this week-end, will be guests of the college at lunch, at which time President A. D. Chandler will officially extend the college's welcome.

Mr. Edwin W. Webber and Dr. I-Kua Chou attended the annual meeting of the International Law Association in Washington, D. C., April 30-May 1.

Library

Mr. James A. Servies recently traveled to Warrenton, to set up a display of materials dealing with Chief Justice John Marshall for the Fauquier County Bicentennial Celebration, April 30-May 1.

Modern Languages

Mr. Lewis Hoffman, Mr. Reino Korpi, Dr. John A. Moore, and Dr. Harold A. Waters attended the joint meeting of the Virginia chapters of the American Association of Teachers of French and the American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese at the University of Virginia, May 2. Dr. Henri Peyre of Yale University and Dr. Salvador de Madariaga of Oxford University were among the speakers.

Music

Dr. Carl A. Fehr is in Dinwiddie County today, conducting a choral clinic for the Dinwiddie, McKenny, and Midway schools.

Physical Education for Men

Promotional efforts of the department for focusing campus attention on "National Fitness Week"--May 3 through tomorrow--as proclaimed by President Dwight D. Eisenhower included special lectures by staff members and the showing of a film entitled "Physical Fitness--The Search," produced by Dr. Thomas Cureton of the University of Illinois. The completion on May 1 of the physical proficiency testing program, which was emphasized in all required classes throughout the current semester, was so timed as to emphasize further the importance of the presidential proclamation.

School of Law

Dr. William F. Swindler is the author of an article on "Censorship" in the 1959 yearbook edition of the Encyclopedia Americana. Dr. Swindler is also the author of an essay, "News: Property Right vs. Public Right," which will appear in the Tenth Annual Copyright Law Symposium, sponsored by the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers (ASCAP) and published by the Columbia University Press.

Mr. James P. Whyte will have an article on the historical evolution of the grand jury in the next issue of the Virginia Law Review, published by the University of Virginia.

COMMENCEMENT--1959

Events of graduation week-end this year, according to Mr. Carl Roseberg, chairman of the special events committee, will follow traditional lines, with only one major exception noted. The commissioning ceremony for R. O. T. C. officers will be held at 3 p. m. on Saturday, June 6, rather than during the actual commencement exercises as in the past. Brigadier General Hal Cushman Pattison of Alexandria, who is himself an R. O. T. C. graduate and whose son, Mr. Hal Woodworth Pattison, is a member of the senior class, will deliver the principal address at this time.

The commencement ceremonies will be held at 5:30 p. m. on Sunday, June 7, in the College Yard in front of the Sir Christopher Wren Building--weather permitting, of course. Governor J. Lindsay Almond, Jr., who was recipient of an honorary degree of doctor of laws at the May 17 convocation here, will be the main speaker. Dr. W. Melville Jones, dean of the faculty, will present the candidates for the degrees of bachelor of arts, bachelor of science, master of arts, and master of education and will also announce the names of the recipients of special awards and prizes. Dr. Dudley Warner Woodbridge, dean of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law, will present the candidates for bachelor of civil laws. President A. D. Chandler will preside and confer the degrees.

For the first time in the 266-year history of the college, a group of candidates for the bachelor's degree--students who have successfully completed the special programs established in the departments of history, English, psychology, government, modern languages and sociology and anthropology at the beginning of the current academic year--will graduate "with honor."

The Right Reverend William A. Brown of Portsmouth, retired bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Southern Virginia, will deliver the sermon at the baccalaureate service, to be held at 10:45 a. m. on Sunday, also in the College Yard.

COMMENCEMENT SIDELIGHTS

It's a Family Alma Mater

Seven members of the graduating class will be second-generation alumni of the College of William and Mary. Three of these--Miss Elizabeth Rueger, Mr. Daniel Dechert, and Mr. Roger Pollard Smoot--report that both parents graduated from the college. The mother of Miss Elaine Rankin and the fathers of Mr. Richard C. Grizzard, Miss Dorothy Leonard Gill, and Mr. Junius Winston Camp are also alumni.

Mr. James Hardy Dillard's family tree is covered with William and Mary personalities. His maternal grandfather, Dr. Van F. Garrett, was for many years a professor of natural science here; his paternal grandfather, Dr. J. H. Dillard, for whom Dillard University in New Orleans was named, served as rector of the board of visitors; an uncle, the Reverend Van Francis Garrett, Jr., is a graduate of the college; and an aunt, Mrs. Suzanne Garrett Montague of Hampton, is currently serving as a member of the board of directors for the Society of the Alumni.

The Wedded Scholars

Fifty-five of the seniors are married, ten of them to their fellow classmates. Walking down the aisle together--this time to receive degrees--will be Mr. and Mrs. Michael F. B. Richardson; Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Lee Law; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Knight; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Perry, and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen V. Topp.

Legal Statistics

Of the fifteen men receiving a B.C.L. from the Law School, ten have already passed the Virginia State Bar Examination, and the remaining five plan either to take it in June or to take an exam in another state. Three in the graduating class have received fellowships for further study in law: Mr. John Randolph Batt at Yale University; Mr. Theodore Harold Focht at Columbia University; and Mr. Paul Thomas Wright, Jr., at Southern Methodist University. Nine of the graduates are veterans, thirteen are married; and the other two are engaged.

A Forward Look

An informal survey, taken by contacting the various department heads, indicates that approximately 65 of the 350 candidates for A.B. and B.S. degrees plan to go directly into graduate school. Another 40 plan to enter the service, either with R.O.T.C. commissions or as draftees.

Mr. John Bright, director of student aid, reports that about 230 seniors have registered with his office for help in job placement after graduation. He adds that the greatest number of openings seem to be in sales and allied promotional work and in general business training programs.

The first part of the report deals with the general situation of the country. It is noted that the population is increasing rapidly, and that the government is making every effort to improve the living conditions of the people. The report also mentions the progress made in the various branches of industry and agriculture.

In the second part, the author discusses the financial situation of the country. It is stated that the government has managed to maintain a balanced budget, and that the public debt is being gradually reduced. The report also mentions the progress made in the various branches of industry and agriculture.

The third part of the report deals with the social situation of the country. It is noted that the government is making every effort to improve the living conditions of the people. The report also mentions the progress made in the various branches of industry and agriculture.

The fourth part of the report deals with the political situation of the country. It is noted that the government is making every effort to improve the living conditions of the people. The report also mentions the progress made in the various branches of industry and agriculture.

In the fifth part, the author discusses the foreign relations of the country. It is stated that the government is making every effort to improve the living conditions of the people. The report also mentions the progress made in the various branches of industry and agriculture.

The sixth part of the report deals with the military situation of the country. It is noted that the government is making every effort to improve the living conditions of the people. The report also mentions the progress made in the various branches of industry and agriculture.

The seventh part of the report deals with the educational situation of the country. It is noted that the government is making every effort to improve the living conditions of the people. The report also mentions the progress made in the various branches of industry and agriculture.

In the eighth part, the author discusses the health situation of the country. It is stated that the government is making every effort to improve the living conditions of the people. The report also mentions the progress made in the various branches of industry and agriculture.

The ninth part of the report deals with the cultural situation of the country. It is noted that the government is making every effort to improve the living conditions of the people. The report also mentions the progress made in the various branches of industry and agriculture.

The tenth part of the report deals with the general situation of the country. It is noted that the government is making every effort to improve the living conditions of the people. The report also mentions the progress made in the various branches of industry and agriculture.

BOARD OF VISITORS MEETING

The following is a summary of actions taken by the board of visitors during their annual meeting at the Norfolk Division, Saturday, May 23.

Department Heads

Approval was given to the appointment of three chairmen of departments: Dr. Pierre C. Oustinoff (modern languages), Dr. Harold L. Fowler (history), and Dr. Howard K. Holland (education). Dr. Oustinoff will replace Dr. J. Worth Banner, who has resigned to accept a position at Rollins College in Florida; Dr. Fowler will take over for Dr. Richard L. Morton, who is retiring; and Dr. Holland will replace Dr. George J. Oliver, who was recently appointed provost of the Richmond Professional Institute.

Dr. Don J. Herrmann will assume the duties of director of extension, when Dr. George J. Oliver leaves the college next month to take over the position of provost of the Richmond Professional Institute.

Promotions

Promoted from the rank of associate professor to that of professor were Dr. I-Kua Chou of the department of government, Mr. J. W. Lambert of the department of psychology, and Mr. John S. Quinn of the department of business administration. A similar promotion for Mr. Algin B. King of the department of business administration was made at the March 7 meeting of the board.

The following assistant professors were moved up to the rank of associate professor: Dr. Mitchell A. Byrd of the department of biology; Mr. Peter M. Guthrie of the department of psychology; Mr. Albert E. Haak of the department of fine arts; Dr. Alexander Kallos and Dr. John A. Moore, both of the department of modern languages; and Mr. Robert McMurry of the department of education.

Promoted from the rank of instructor to that of assistant professor were Dr. James W. Coke of the department of modern languages and Miss Gladys Warren of the department of physical education for women.

Leaves of Absence

Granted leaves of absence during the 1959-60 academic year were Mr. Richard D. Bullock, instructor in English and advisor to student publications, who has received a fellowship enabling him to pursue doctoral studies at the University of Minnesota, and Mr. Felix Costa, instructor in physical education, who will continue graduate study at Columbia University in New York City.

Mr. John H. Willis, Jr., instructor in English. B.A., 1951, University of Virginia; M.A., 1959, Columbia University.

SUMMER SCHOOL

This year's summer session, according to Dr. Don J. Herrmann, director, will offer essentially the same program as those of the past--with the additions of classes in speech and an Institute for High School Teachers of Science and Mathematics, which is more fully described below. It is expected that a total of 57 faculty members, three more than during the 1958 session, will comprise the staff. An enrollment of approximately 800 students is anticipated, and graduation exercises will be held at 1:30 p.m. on August 15.

Among the features of the program will be the summer band school, directed by Mr. Charles Varner of the department of music; a conference for elementary school principals, coordinated by Miss Merle Davis of the department of education; a workshop in art for teachers, conducted by Mr. Russell Hastings of the department of fine arts; and a studio workshop, taught by Mr. Thomas Thorne of the department of fine arts. Special courses for teachers will cover the problems of visiting instructors, special education techniques, and the problems of school librarians. In addition, there will be a workshop on life in early Virginia and one on the conservation of Virginia resources.

Members of the summer session faculty are asked to report for a brief preregistration meeting at 8:30 a.m., June 15, in Marshall-Wythe 202.

SUMMER INSTITUTE FOR HIGH SCHOOL TEACHERS

Dr. Melvin A. Pittman, director, reports that the college's Institute for High School Teachers of Science and Mathematics, one of 350 scheduled by the National Science Foundation, was swamped with applications from all parts of the United States. Over 500 requests for information were received and about 300 completed applications were submitted. Of the 60 teachers chosen to participate, 35 are from Virginia schools, while the rest are from out of state.

The $53,000 awarded to the college by the foundation will pay all expenses of the institute--faculty salaries, tuition, fees, stipends, and allowances.

In addition to Dr. Pittman, the staff of the institute will include Dr. Don J. Herrmann of the department of education, Dr. John T. Baldwin of the department of biology, Dr. Benjamin R. Cato of the department of mathematics, Dr. William G. Guy of the department of chemistry, Dr. A. J. Galfo of the department of education, and Mr. Robert L. Kernell of the department of physics.

All participants in the institute will take one course in science or mathematics in addition to a special seminar, which will include conferences, lectures, panel discussions, movies, and field trips. Among those scheduled to deliver special lectures as part of the seminar are Dr. Robert C. Yates of the department of mathematics and Dr. John L. McKnight of the department of physics. Dr. McKnight's talk on "Philosophical and Cultural Implications of Recent Developments in the Natural Sciences" will be given on July 2 and will be open to the public. Dr. Yates' lecture, "Complex Numbers and Regular Polygons," will be presented on July 13 and will be limited to those taking the course. Dr. Galfo is acting as coordinator of the seminar.

OBITUARY

Word has been received of the death on May 15 of Dr. Katharine R. Jeffers, who from 1947 to 1952 served as dean of women and faculty member in the department of biology at the College of William and Mary. Dr. Jeffers, who became dean of Jackson College of Tufts University after leaving William and Mary, was a graduate of the University of Missouri. She received her Ph.D. from Bryn Mawr College.

NEWS FROM THE DEPARTMENTS

Ancient Languages

Dr. George J. Ryan is the author of the lead article in the May issue of The Eleusis, quarterly magazine of Chi Omega social sorority. His work is entitled "Eleusis."

Dr. Talbot Selby, working under a grant received from the college, will do research on the history of Florence and the lives of its famous citizens during the summer months.

Business Administration

Mr. Wayne F. Gibbs will attend the Mid-Atlantic States Accounting Conference at the Shoreham Hotel in Washington, D. C., June 7 and 10. He will also attend the American Accounting Association Conference at the University of Colorado, Boulder, August 23-25.

Economics

Dr. Anthony Sancetta delivered a paper dealing with economic tests in merger cases at the meeting of the Virginia Social Science Association held at Washington and Lee University, Lexington, May 16.

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry should be supported by a valid receipt or invoice. This ensures transparency and allows for easy verification of the data.

Additionally, it is noted that regular audits are essential to identify any discrepancies or errors early on. This proactive approach helps in maintaining the integrity of the financial statements and prevents any potential issues from escalating.

The second section focuses on the role of technology in modern accounting. It highlights how software solutions can streamline various processes, from data entry to report generation. This not only saves time but also reduces the risk of human error.

Furthermore, the use of cloud-based systems allows for real-time access to financial data, enabling better decision-making and collaboration among team members.

In conclusion, the document stresses that a combination of strict adherence to accounting principles and the effective use of technology is key to successful financial management. By following these guidelines, organizations can ensure their financial records are accurate, reliable, and up-to-date.

Finally, it is recommended that all staff involved in financial reporting receive regular training to stay updated on the latest industry practices and regulations. This continuous learning approach is vital for maintaining the highest standards of accuracy and compliance.

English

Mr. Louis F. Thompson passed "with distinction" his oral examination on his Ph.D. dissertation at Lehigh University, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, May 9. The title of his work is "Artistry in Chaucer's Troilus and Criseyde."

Government

Mr. Edwin W. Webber, working under a grant from the Southern Fellowships Fund, will travel this summer to the El Paso-Juarez (Mexico) region to work within the records division of the International Boundary and Water Commission of the United States and Mexico. The results of his work will be used to complete a study on the practices of the commission, established by the United States and Mexico in 1944.

Dr. Morton J. Frisch delivered a paper entitled "Franklin Delano Roosevelt and the Problem of Presidential Succession" at the meeting of the Virginia Social Science Association held at Washington and Lee University, Lexington, May 16.

History

Dr. Lester J. Cappon leaves today for Europe, where he will study new methods in the acquisition and preservation of manuscript records at the county level in Great Britain. He has received a grant from the American Philosophical Society for this purpose.

Dr. Michael G. Hall, who is completing a three-year term at the Institute of Early American History and Culture, plans to be at the University of Texas next fall. He has received a grant from the American Philosophical Society to complete the editing, begun here, of Increase Mather's unpublished biography.

Dr. Louis L. Tucker left on May 25 to spend the summer in England and Scotland, where he will conduct research on "The Transmission of the Enlightenment to Colonial America." He too will be working under a grant from the American Philosophical Society.

Dr. Lawrence W. Towner will be acting director of the sixth annual Institute on Historical and Archival Management, to be jointly sponsored by Radcliffe College and the department of history at Harvard University during the summer.

Dr. Richard L. Morton is currently engaged in the writing of a series of seven articles for the Encyclopaedia Britannica, on such subjects as Virginia, Yorktown, Williamsburg, and other Virginia cities.

Mr. Robert D. Higginbotham's review of Knight Errant of Liberty: The Triumph and Tragedy of General Charles Lee, written by Samuel White Patterson, appears in the April issue of The William and Mary Quarterly.

The following table shows the results of the experiment conducted on the 15th of June 1954. The data was collected from the field observations and laboratory tests. The results are presented in the following table:

Time (min)	Temperature (°C)	Humidity (%)	Wind Speed (m/s)	Direction
08:00	22.5	65	1.5	SE

Home Economics

Miss Alma Wilkin plans to attend the workshop in textiles to be held at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Blacksburg, from July 23-August 5. Consultants at the meeting will include textile specialists from the University of Virginia, the Carnegie Institute of Technology, the Office of Home Economics Education, and the United States Department of Agriculture.

Physics

Dr. Melvin A. Pittman, Dr. John L. McKnight, Mr. John H. Long, and Mr. Robert E. Smith were initiated into the newly reactivated chapter of Sigma Pi Sigma, physics honor society, on May 20. Dr. Frederic C. Crownfield and Mr. Robert L. Kemell were already members of the organization, having joined with it at institutions with which they were formerly associated.

School of Law

Dr. Joseph M. Cormack recently addressed the Kiwanis Club of Newport News on the subject of the fall of Roman civilization.

Dr. William F. Swindler attended the annual meeting of the American Law Institute held at the Mayflower Hotel, Washington, D. C., May 20-23.

Sociology

Dr. Wayne F. Kernodle was recently appointed as chairman of the family section for the 1960 meeting of the Southern Sociological Society.

Dr. Ira L. Reiss has received notification from the Free Press (Glencoe, Ill.) that his book on Sexual Standards of the Unmarried has been accepted for publication. The volume is expected to appear in the spring of 1960.

Mr. Edwin H. Rhyne intends to do research this summer on "An Appraisal of Recent Research in the Field of Racial and Ethnic Prejudice."

College of William and Mary

GREETINGS

It is a sincere pleasure for us to join the staff of the College of William and Mary, and we are glad to be able to reestablish the Faculty News Letter, following a short lapse after the newsletter was inaugurated last year by News Bureau Editor Joan Davidson.

The Faculty News Letter has been created for the faculty, in order to provide a channel of communication between the academic departments of the College, and to help keep all faculty members aware not only of the activities of their own, but all departments.

Let us know what you have done, what you are doing, and what you plan to do in your respective departments. Meetings attended, papers or talks delivered, articles or books published, grants received, new equipment obtained, and the like are matters of particular interest.

Simply call the news bureau (Ext. 226) or contact your department head concerning news items, so that he will have the information when we make our regular news checks with him. We plan to distribute the newsletter on alternate Fridays, and the deadline for news will be 5 p.m. the Monday preceding publication. (The deadline for the next edition will be 5 p.m. Monday, December 14.)

REGISTRATION SET

Dr. W. Melville Jones, dean of the faculty, has announced that second-semester registration will take place in Marshall-Wythe Hall December 9-11. All students were to have made appointments with their advisers for registration by 4:30 p.m. today. The new registration schedule replaces the pre-registration and the February registration which were fixtures in past years.

PHI BETA KAPPA 183RD ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

Leslie Cheek, Jr., director of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, and Randall Jarrell, poetry consultant to the U. S. Library of Congress, will be orator and poet, respectively, at the 183rd anniversary celebration of the founding of Phi Beta Kappa. The public gathering will be held at 8 p.m. Saturday, December 5, in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

Cheek will speak on "The Well-Adjusted Viewer," and Jarrell is expected to read from his own poetry. During the preceding afternoon, members-elect of Virginia Alpha of Phi Beta Kappa at William and Mary will be initiated, and an alumnus initiate will be named.

REPUBLIC STEEL CLINIC

Forty-five department and division heads from the various plants of the Republic Steel Corporation will gather here December 7-11 for a clinic on the basic elements of American political organization. Five William and Mary speakers will be among the 13 discussion leaders in the five-day clinic. They are Dr. Morton J. Frisch and Dr. Edwin W. Webber of the department of government; Dr. Anthony L. Sancetta of the department of economics; James P. Whyte of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law; and President Alvin Duke Chandler.

Other discussion leaders will come from Rutgers University, Yale University, the Brookings Institution and several federal offices in Washington, D. C.

TIDEWATER TAX CONFERENCE

The College of William and Mary will play host to the fifth annual Tidewater Tax Conference to be held in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall December 12. The conference is co-sponsored by the college and Norfolk Division of William and Mary, in cooperation with the Newport News Bar Association, the Peninsula Chapter of the Virginia Society of Certified Public Accountants, the Hampton Bar Association, the Norfolk-Portsmouth Bar Association, and the Tidewater Chapter of the Virginia Society of Certified Public Accountants.

Principal speakers will include J. W. Hornsby, Jr., of Saunders, Carlton and Hornsby, Newport News on "Short Term Trusts"; Robert L. Freeman of Daniels, Turnbull and Freeman of Newport News, "Multi-Corporate Vs. Subchapters Corporation"; Lester I. Bowman of Petersburg, "Tax Effects of Divorce, Marital Separation and Support Agreements;" William T. Flumb of Hogan and Hartson, Washington, D. C., "Federal Tax Liens;" and David Boyd Chase of J. K. Lasser and Co., New York, "Current Cases and Rulings."

Registration will be held at 9 a.m. Saturday, December 12. There will be a registration fee of $5.00.

ANNIVERSARIES

The College notes this month the anniversaries of the founding of its chairs of law and political economy. Both chairs were the first to be established in the United States, a testimony to William and Mary's pioneer work in both fields.

The chair of "law and police," established at William and Mary in 1779, stands as the second oldest in the English-speaking world, while the course in political economy, introduced in 1784, was preceded in the world only by that taught at the University of Naples.

NEWS FROM THE DEPARTMENTS

BIOLOGY

Dr. Robert E. L. Black is pursuing a research project on respiratory metabolism of marine embryos, under a three-year, $17,500 grant awarded to the College by the National Science Foundation.

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

Wayne F. Gibbs attended a conference of the Southeastern Division of the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business in Jacksonville, Florida, November 20-21. While in Jacksonville, Professor Gibbs also attended a session of the Southern Economics Association.

The Bureau of Business Research, under the direction of Algin B. King, this week inaugurated its Virginia Business Index Report--a monthly report designed to reflect business and economic activity throughout Virginia. Data secured from 13 cities strategically located around the state provides the basis for the index. Professor King traveled some 3,500 miles last summer in contacting the more than 100 organizations which furnish information for the monthly report.

The cities which make data available for the report are Alexandria, Bristol, Charlottesville, Danville, Fredericksburg, Lynchburg, Newport News, Norfolk, Richmond, Roanoke, Staunton, Williamsburg, and Winchester. The Bureau of Business Research previously has distributed a monthly business index for Williamsburg, and plans to continue this project.

Mr. John S. Quinn has been named a director and a member of the executive committee of the Association of University Evening Colleges.

CHEMISTRY

Dr. William G. Guy, Dr. Alfred R. Armstrong, and Dr. Bryant Harrell plan to attend a meeting of the Virginia Section of the American Chemical Society in Hopewell today. Dr. Armstrong is chairman of the Virginia Section of the ACS.

All members of the department attended the Southeastern Regional meeting of the ACS in Richmond in November. Dr. Armstrong presided at the session.

ECONOMICS

Dr. Anthony L. Sancetta has received word that his article, "Merger and the Rule of Reason: The Pillsbury Case before the Federal Trade Commission," will be published in the Spring, 1960 issue of the Duquesne Review. The article stems from a Ford Foundation summer grant for research in the field of government regulation of business.

Dr. Frank Owen's study, "Business Financing and Taxation Policies," was published by the Canadian Tax Foundation in November. The publication is the first in a new series developed by the Foundation to encourage advanced study of Canadian fiscal and taxation problems at the university level.

FINE ARTS

The exhibition, "Prints for Young Collectors," opened in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall this week. Furnished by Ferdinand Roten of Baltimore, the exhibit includes original prints of Daumier, Picasso, Rouault, and other artists of the French School. The prints--more than 70 in number--will be on sale for prices ranging from $4 to $45.

Thomas Thorne was chairman of the judging committee for the hobby exhibit held by the National Park Service at its meeting here this week. Members of his committee included James L. Cogar, lecturer in history, and A. Lawrence Kocher, retired member of the College faculty.

Howard Scammon has been active during the past month presenting a reading of Shakespeare's "Macbeth" to the senior class at James Blair High School, and supervising his Speech 103 (oral reading) class in its participation in WCWM Radio's program schedule. Members of the class have been presenting readings from literature on a half-hour program at 8:30 p.m. each Thursday.

Mr. Scammon also was the principal figure in a closed-circuit television program presented to members of the Fine Arts 201 class. His program illustrated the problems of the stage director from the time the script has been chosen, through tryouts, planning the action and rehearsing the play. A scene from the play was presented and a critique of it held.

Members of Miss Althea Hunt's directing class opened their first series of one-act plays Nov. 20. Students in her acting and directing classes will participate in an "in-the-round" version of Thornton Wilder's "The Long Christmas Dinner" in the Laboratory Theatre of Phi Beta Kappa Hall on December 17, under the sponsorship of Theta Alpha Phi honorary dramatic fraternity.

HISTORY

Dr. Lester J. Cappon, Dr. Ludwell H. Johnson, Dr. Marion E. Sirmans, Dr. James M. Smith, Dr. Lawrence W. Towner, and Dr. Louis L. Tucker all attended a conference of the Southern Historical Association in Atlanta, Georgia, November 6-7.

Several department members will attend the meetings of the American Historical Association in Chicago December 28-30. Dr. William W. Abbot is a member of the conference program committee and Dr. James M. Smith will be a discussion leader for one of the sections of the meeting.

"The Adams-Jefferson Papers," edited by Dr. Lester J. Cappon and published for the Institute of Early American History and Culture by the University of North Carolina Press, appeared November 14. The two-volume edition includes all 380 extant letters exchanged by Thomas Jefferson and Abigail and John Adams.

SCHOOL OF LAW

Dean Dudley W. Woodbridge reviewed some recent decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court in a talk delivered to the Norfolk-Portsmouth Bar Association at its annual banquet, held at the Norfolk Yacht and Country Club last Tuesday night.

Professor James P. Whyte has been named to the Committee on Continuing Legal Education of the Association of American Law Schools.

Professor Whyte also coached the Marshall-Wythe School of Law team in the National Moot Court Southeastern Regional competition in Richmond November 20-21. The William and Mary contingent lost to Duke University's team by 2/3 of a point in the quarter-finals. Duke, which went on to win the regional finals, will represent the Southeastern Region in the national finals in New York.

Dr. Thomas C. Atkeson will appear as a witness before the House Ways and Means Committee December 8, at the invitation of the committee chairman. The hearings will be related to revision of current tax laws.

As a member of the Commissioner's Advisory Committee for the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Dr. Atkeson will attend the committee's sessions in Washington, D. C. on December 10 and 11.

A quick reference manual, containing statements and interpretation of Virginia rules of procedure in actions of law, has been published by Professor Arthur W. Phelps. The book, "Handbook of Virginia Procedure in Actions at Law," is the first such complete annotation of all Virginia rules of procedure. Professor Phelps worked on the book partially under a grant from William and Mary. He is currently preparing a similar volume, "Handbook of Virginia Rules of Procedure in Suits of Equity," to be published next spring.

MATHEMATICS

Dr. Robert C. Yates and Mr. Benjamin R. Cato will attend a session of the American Mathematical Association at American University, Washington, D. C., Saturday. Dr. Yates, a member of the board of governors of the association, will present a paper, "Curvatures of  $R^n = \cos n\theta$ ."

MODERN LANGUAGES

Dr. Harold A. Waters' poem, "Slouch," appears in the Autumn issue of the poetry quarterly, American Weave.

PHYSICS

Dr. Melvin A. Pittman will attend a meeting of the directors of 1960 National Science Foundation Summer institutes of science and mathematics in Washington, D. C. Thursday.

CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS

The College's Christmas recess will begin at 1 p.m. tomorrow, Friday, and will end at 8 a.m. Monday, January 4. Administrative offices at the College will be closed December 24 and 25 and January 1.

A host of Christmas season activities have been under way at the College this week. On Tuesday and Wednesday evenings the William and Mary Choir and Chorus presented its annual Yuletide concert, and yesterday Omicron Delta Kappa and Mortar Board held the traditional Yule log-burning ceremonies in the Great Hall of the Wren Building.

Other projects have included a Christmas reading by Howard Scammon in Wren Chapel, sponsored by Lambda Chi Alpha; a presentation of Thornton Wilder's "The Long Christmas Dinner" in the Laboratory Theatre of Phi Beta Kappa Hall, by Miss Althea Hunt's acting and directing classes, and sponsored by Theta Alpha Phi; and a door decorating contest held in the women's dormitories.

Student charitable activities, organized primarily under the direction of Miss Martha Barksdale, associate professor of women's physical education, and Overton Durrett, acting dean of men last year and now a full-time student in the Marshall-Wythe School of Law, have included entertainment for hospital patients and orphaned children and collecting baskets of food and clothing for needy families. All men's and women's dormitories, most of the fraternities and sororities, and a number of other service organizations have participated in these activities.

The News Bureau would like to take this opportunity to wish all of you the very merriest of Christmases and the happiest of New Years.

Barry P. Wilson

LIBRARY EXHIBIT

In observance of the anniversaries of the founding of the chairs of law and political economy at William and Mary, the College library is currently exhibiting a number of rare books, faculty records, and contemporary writings in both fields.

Law tomes include a first edition of St. George Tucker's annotation of Blackstone's Commentaries, while a 1776 edition of Adam Smith's "Wealth of Nations"--the book which laid the foundation of the science of political economy--is also on display. Other features of the exhibit are a student notebook containing lectures on political economy delivered between 1829 and 1836; a 1773 edition of Montesquieu's "The Spirit of Laws," used in both law and political economy courses; and a copy of the earliest surviving printed catalog of the college (1829-30), which lists the course in law.

A number of books on law and economics written by William and Mary professors over the past 30 years are also on display.

GE COLLEGE BOWL

Several members of the faculty are assisting in preparations for a William and Mary team's appearance on the General Electric College Bowl at 5:30 p.m. Sunday, January 24, over CBS-TV (WTAR-TV, Channel 3, and WRVA-TV, Channel 12).

Members of a selected group of 50 students will vie in a series of quiz sessions on the campus to determine the composition of a four-man team which will compete on the program. At stake in the contest are a $1,500 scholarship for the winning school and $500 for the scholarship fund of the institution which is runner-up.

William and Mary will be a challenger on the TV quiz and will meet Kansas University, Purdue University, Smith College, or the universities of Miami, Pennsylvania, or Chicago--whichever team is undefeated between now and January 24. Faculty members working with the William and Mary students are Dr. Carl Dolmetsch, department of English; Dr. Leon Golden, ancient languages; Dr. John L. McKnight, physics; Dr. C. Frank Owens, economics; and Robert E. Smith, mathematics.

PHI BETA KAPPA ANNIVERSARY

Ted R. Dalton, newly-appointed Federal judge of Virginia's Western District and twice Republican candidate for governor of Virginia, was installed as alumnus initiate of Virginia Alpha Chapter, Phi Beta Kappa, at William and Mary December 5. Judge Dalton spoke in ceremonies marking the 183rd anniversary of the founding of America's first Greek-letter fraternity on the evening of December 5. Other speakers during the exercises in Phi Beta Kappa Hall were Leslie Cheek, Jr., director of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, and Randall Jarrell, poetry consultant to the U. S. Library of Congress.

DOG GAINS REPRIEVE

That crochety canine of the College campus, "Whiskey," has gained a reprieve after being impounded by local law enforcement officers. Students launched a drive late Friday to raise funds to pay for the dog's license, rabies shots, and boarding fees, and met success when the manager of a local restaurant offered to absorb the costs and find someone to accept responsibility for the sour-dispositioned mutt. At this writing, relief was rampant on the campus.

The securing of the necessary funds made it possible for the Student Government to disband a committee which would have gone into operation should the fund drive have failed. The committee consisted of a flower arranger, digger, and pallbearers.

DEPARTMENTAL NEWS

Only 10 of 24 departments provided information for the Faculty News Letter this time, and we have a sneaking suspicion that we're missing some people or they're missing us. The next issue of the News Letter will appear on January 22, with a deadline for news at 5 p.m. Monday, January 18. The next issue after that will be published on February 12 with a news deadline of 5 p.m. Monday, February 8. Please call us with items at Extension 226, or give information to your department head so that we can collect it on our regular news checks.

ANCIENT LANGUAGES

Dr. Leon Golden will present a paper on "The Piety of Oedipus" at the annual meeting of the American Philological Association in New York December 30.

Also attending the conference from William and Mary will be Dr. George J. Ryan, chairman of the department of ancient languages, and Dr. Talbot Selby.

ECONOMICS

Dr. Frank Owen presented a paper on "Some Tax Aspects of U. S. Investments in Canada" at the Princeton University Tax Institute Symposium in Washington, D. C., December 3-4. The paper will be published in the Tax Institute's Symposium Volume.

Faculty members from Harvard, Columbia, and Johns Hopkins Universities, representatives of the legal and accounting professions, and businessmen participated in the Symposium on the theme, "The Impact of Taxation on Management Responsibility for Investments and Operations Abroad."

ENGLISH

Dr. Fraser Neiman's review of William Robbins' "The Ethical Idealism of Matthew Arnold" will appear in the spring issue of Victorian Studies.

FINE ARTS

Carl Roseberg spoke recently to a combined meeting of the Norfolk and Virginia Beach Artists groups at the Norfolk Museum on the subject, "Developments in Contemporary Sculpture." He also has exhibited a piece of welded sculpture at the Norfolk Museum in a show which included a variety of contemporary welded steel sculpture "imported" from New York.

Mr. Roseberg also presented a lecture demonstration on sculpture technique to the Fine Arts 201 class last week, over closed-circuit television in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

The exhibition, "Prints for Young Collectors," consisting of original prints of Daumier, Picasso, Rouault, and other artists of the French school, will continue in Phi Beta Kappa Hall through the month of December. The prints are on sale for prices ranging from $4 to $45.

SCHOOL OF LAW

A 20-volume collection of municipal law codes with an estimated value of $500 has been presented to the law library by David Parish, vice-president of the Michie Publishing Co., Charlottesville. The volumes include the ordinances of Williamsburg, Richmond, Norfolk, and Princess Anne County, as well as cities in California, Pennsylvania, Florida, Colorado, North Carolina, and North Dakota.

MATHEMATICS

Dr. Robert C. Yates, chairman of the department of mathematics, has resigned his post, effective next June, to assume new duties at the University of South Florida, Tampa, Florida. Dr. Yates, who came to William and Mary in 1955, will be director of the mathematics program at the University of South Florida, a state institution which will open its doors for the first time in September, 1960.

MODERN LANGUAGES

Dr. Harold A. Waters' article, "Paul Claudel and the Sensory Paradox," appears in the fall issue of Modern Language Quarterly. The article stems from a College research grant for the summer of 1958.

Articles by Augustin Maissen in German and in Swiss-Romansh appeared this fall in Switzerland. Two articles in German were published in the Kuenstler-Lexikon der Schweiz XX. Jahrhundert (Swiss Encyclopedia of 20th Century Artists) and in Buendner Kalender 1960 (Almanac of the Grisons Switzerland). Mr. Maissen also prepared the text for the Swiss Radio program, "Nadal en California Spagnola" (Christmas in Spanish California), using research materials collected while teaching in California, together with songs which came to California from Spain via Mexico.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION (MEN'S)

Harry Groves represented William and Mary and the Virginia AAU at the National Amateur Athletic Union Convention in Miami, Florida December 3-5.

SECRETARIAL SCIENCE

Miss Edril Lott entertained the members of her Secretarial Science 401 class at her home last week.

The secretarial science department has received two new transcribing machines.

SPEECH

Donald L. McConkey will deliver a paper on "The Reconstruction of Historic Debates in American History" to the convention of the Speech Association of America in Washington, D. C., December 28-30.

CALENDAR OF COMING EVENTS

College of William and Mary

CHARTER DAY CONVOCATION

Four distinguished Americans will receive honorary doctor of laws degrees from the College of William and Mary February 8, during exercises marking the 267th anniversary of the granting of the royal charter which established the Williamsburg institution.

The honorary degrees will be presented to Walter S. Robertson, retired assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs; Alired A. Knopf, publisher; Virginia Lt. Governor A. E. S. Stephens; and Admiral Jerauld Wright, Supreme Allied Commander Atlantic and Commander-in-Chief of the U. S. Atlantic Fleet.

The charter, granted on February 8, 1693 by King William and Queen Mary, joint rulers of England, provided for an institution to consist of "one president and six Masters or Professors, and an Hundred Scholars, more or less."

Principal speaker during the 10:50 A.M. gathering in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall will be Walter S. Robertson.

G-E COLLEGE BOWL

Dr. Leon Golden of the department of ancient languages will lead a four-member William and Mary contingent northward Saturday, for the college's appearance on the G-E College Bowl over CBS-TV at 6:30 P.M. Sunday. William and Mary will challenge Purdue

University, with a $1,500 scholarship for the winning school and $500 for the scholarship fund of the runner-up institution at stake.

The William and Mary team consists of Miss Vida Kenk of Alexandria; Michael A. Gluck of New York; Thomas H. Lipscomb of Westfield, N. J., and Rexford E. Adelberger of Arlington. William and Mary faculty members who have helped the group prepare for the contest are Dr. Golden; Dr. Carl Dolmetsch, department of English; Dr. John L. McKnight, physics; Dr. C. Frank Owens, economics; and Robert E. Smith, mathematics.

The program will be seen Sunday at 5:30 p.m. over WTAR-TV, Channel 3, Norfolk, and WRVA-TV, Channel 12, Richmond.

SUMMER INSTITUTE GRANT

A grant of $97,200 to support a summer institute of science and mathematics has been awarded to the College of William and Mary by the National Science Foundation. The grant represents an increase of $44,200 over the $53,000 awarded to William and Mary for the college's 1959 summer institute in science and mathematics for high school and junior college teachers.

Approximately 65 high school teachers and 10 junior college teachers will be enabled to attend the eight-week William and Mary summer institute through the increased NSF grant to the college. Applicants selected to participate, in addition to having tuition and other fees paid, will receive $75 per week and another $15 for each dependent as a living allowance. The teachers and their families may live in the college dormitories and board on the campus.

Each participant will study specialized courses in one of the four areas--biology, chemistry, physics, and mathematics.

LIBRARY APPOINTMENT

Donald G. Alexis, a 1956 William and Mary graduate, has assumed his duties as reference and circulation librarian at the college library. Alexis undertook graduate work in government at New York University and received a master's degree in library science from Louisiana State University in June, 1959.

After graduation, he worked as reference librarian in the sciences division of LSU. He succeeds Mrs. Francis H. Moltenberry at the William and Mary library.

DEPARTMENTAL NEWS

Fourteen of 24 departments provided information for the Faculty News Letter this time. Please keep digging items up for us. The next issue of the News Letter will be published on February 12 with a news deadline of 5 p.m. Monday, February 8. Please call us with items at Extension 226, or give information to your department head so that we can collect it on our regular news checks.

Business Administration

A. B. King's 3,000-word article, "Measurement of Business and Economic activity for a Small Town by a Local Business Index," has been accepted for publication in the February issue of Banking, the journal of the American Bankers Association.

Economics

Mrs. Eva Hirsch has been awarded a Social Science Research Council fellowship for further work on her study on economic development and income distribution in Turkey.

Dr. Frank Owen's paper, "Some Tax Aspects of U. S. Investments in Canada," which he presented last month at the Tax Institute (Princeton) Symposium in Washington, D. C.

will be published in the Journal of Taxation, a national journal of current news and comment for professional tax men. It will also be published in the Tax Institute Symposium Volume.

Dr. Abraham Hirsch has been appointed consultant to the Special Operations Research Office at the American University in Washington, D. C., on a project which the organization has undertaken for the Department of the Army.

Dr. S. D. Southworth, accompanied by two students, Ron J. Monark and Miss Ann D. Patterson, participated in the Graduate Studies Program sponsored by the Woodrow Wilson Foundation, Princeton, N. J., at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, N. C., December 11-13. Thirteen institutions from North Carolina, South Carolina, and Virginia were represented at the conference.

Education

Dr. D. J. Hermann has been appointed acting regional coordinator for "Project Talent," an extensive testing program sponsored by the U. S. Office of Education, and designed to determine the talent available for training in specific professional and technical occupations.

Dr. Deere Cannon has announced that William and Mary is under contract to perform testing services for students in non-public secondary schools of Virginia, in accordance with the National Defense Education Act of 1958.

Two articles by Dr. Howard Holland, "Democratic Leadership--Does It Abrogate Executive Responsibility?" and "Interior Marks of Great Teachers," appeared respectively in the November issues of School Executive and The Clearing House.

Dr. Holland gave the keynote address at the dedication of the new Francis Mallory Elementary School, Hampton, November 15. He also represented William and Mary at a convocation held in observance of the 75th anniversary of the founding of Longwood College.

Dr. Paul N. Clem and Dr. Cannon attended a regional meeting on guidance institutes sponsored by the National Defense Education Act in Charlottesville in November. The conference was sponsored by the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Mrs. Margaret Winder and Robert McMurry participated in the "interview" phase of the Harvard-Carnegie Reading Study, concerned with the preparation of prospective school teachers, December 17-19. The study was sponsored by Harvard University.

Dr. George Oliver, former head of the William and Mary department of education, was installed as provost of Richmond Professional Institute December 9. All members of the department attended the ceremonies.

English

Dr. Carl Dolmetsch's article, "Dickens and the Dead Heart" will appear in the Autumn issue of the Dickensian.

A poem by Ronald Emma will appear in the forthcoming issue of the University of Kansas City Review.

Dr. Cecil M. McCulley traveled to Princess Anne High School last week to act as departmental advisor to the school's English department. He will visit the high school two or three more times during the coming semester to assist the teachers.

History

A number of 18th- and 19th-century books were presented to the William and Mary library last month by Mrs. John T. (Margaret Sayre) Ransone of Hampton, in honor of Dr. Richmond Lee Morton, chancellor professor of history, emeritus, who retired last June. Mrs. Ransone is a former student of Dr. Morton.

Mathematics

Dr. Robert C. Yates and Dr. Joseph R. Lee will attend the meeting of the American Mathematical Society and the Mathematical Association of America in Chicago January 27-30.

Robert E. Smith acted as a consultant during a gathering of public school mathematics teachers at Southhampton High School.

Military Science and Tactics

Major Jack Montague has been selected to attend the 1960-61 session of the U. S. Army's Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

Modern Languages

Dr. Harold A. Waters' poem, "Compliments," appears in the Winter 1959-60 number of Prairie Schooner.

At the request of the editor of the University of Chicago Journal of General Education, Dr. Gordon B. Ringgold wrote a review of "Education and Military Leadership: A Study of the ROTC," by Lyons and Masland, two Dartmouth professors, which was published by the Princeton University Press. The review appeared in last July's issue of the journal.

Music

Charles R. Varner will conduct the Central Virginia Workshop Band February 4, 5 and 6 at Hopewell. He will be a judge for the Instrumental Festival, District 2A, Virginia, March 12.

Alan C. Stewart will appear as a guest artist with the Feldman String Quartet March 7 in Norfolk. He and Dr. Andrew Haigh will present a concert in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall March 17, featuring sonatas of Bach and Brahms and a Mozart concerto.

Philosophy

Frank A. MacDonald spoke on "Science and Art" for the Irene Leach Memorial Lecture January 15 at the Norfolk Museum of Art. This is the fourth consecutive year of MacDonald's participation in this series.

MacDonald will also be a discussion leader for the Williamsburg Student Burgesses, a three-day forum on problems of the democratic world, which will be attended by teenagers representing the 50 American states and 22 foreign countries. The session opens February 14.

Physics

Dr. Melvin A. Pittman, Dr. John L. McKnight, and Robert L. Kernell will attend the joint session of the American Institute of Physics and the American Physical Society in New York January 27-30.

Dr. McKnight attended an informal conference conducted by the Kunz Foundation for Integrated Education last week. The organization, which aims at the integration of the arts and sciences, met in New York.

Psychology

Dr. E. Rae Harcum has been named as a consultant for the Human Resources Research Office of George Washington University. He will be a consultant for the organization in relation to his special field of visual perception.

Dr. Peter M. Guthrie has accepted a post in the department of psychology and education at Carleton College, Northfield, Minn. He will assume his new duties next fall.

Sociology and Anthropology

Two articles by Dr. R. Wayne Kernodle have been published recently. "The Last of the Rugged Individualists" appeared in the January issue of Harper's, while "Implications of Homogamy-Complementary Needs Theories for Sociological Research" was published in the December issue of Social Forces.

Speech

Some 20 Virginia high schools were represented here last weekend when William and Mary sponsored its second annual high school debate workshop. William and Mary debaters staged an exhibition debate, led discussion sessions on debate techniques, and judged a four-round tournament Saturday. Donald L. McConkey, debate coach, and Miss Diane Pickering, student debate council president, were co-chairmen for the event.

CHARTER DAY EXERCISES

Walter S. Robertson, former assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs; Virginia Lt. Governor A. E. S. Stephens; and Admiral Jerauld Wright, Supreme Allied Commander Atlantic and Commander-in-Chief of the U. S. Atlantic Fleet, received honorary doctor of laws degrees during Charter Day exercises in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall Monday morning. Alfred A. Knopf, noted publisher, was the recipient of an honorary doctor of humane letters degree during the ceremonies.

The principal address was delivered by Walter Robertson, who reaffirmed his belief that the United States should continue to support free China, while opposing recognition of Red China and admission of that Communist nation to the United Nations.

Other speakers included President A. D. Chandler; G. Glenwood Clark, who read from the Charter of 1693; and Dr. Dudley W. Woodbridge, who read from the Royal Proclamation of 1700. The honorary degrees were presented by James M. Robertson, rector of the William and Mary board of visitors, while the invocation and benediction were delivered by the Rev. Cotesworth P. Lewis, rector of Bruton Parish Church.

About 500 people attended the event, which received news coverage from four television stations, six newspapers, and two wire services.

AMERICAN STUDIES PROGRAM

A five-week program in American studies, supported by a grant of $10,000 from the Coe Foundation of New York, will be offered by William and Mary this summer to some 25 secondary school teachers of American history.

The American Studies Program at the college, under the direction of Dr. Harold L. Fowler, has been set up tentatively in terms of three summer sessions with each term self-contained, but together forming a comprehensive program of American studies, including not only American history, but American literature, economics, sociology, political theory, philosophy, and arts. This summer's session will direct its attention primarily toward the early period of American history.

Participants in the program will receive an allowance which will cover the cost of tuition, board, dormitory room, and incidentals. Applicants must be graduates of accredited colleges or universities, and must be teachers of American history with a minimum of three years of experience.

LECTURES

Three guest lecturers who will speak during the second semester at William and Mary have been named by Dr. Fraser Neiman, chairman of the committee on lectures, arts, and music. They are Professor Charles William Hendel, chairman of the department of philosophy at Yale University, who will speak on "The Philosophy of the American Constitution: The Case of David Hume and the Founding Fathers" at 10 a.m. February 19 in Room 100, Ewell Hall; Sir Herbert Read, president of the Institute of Contemporary Arts, who will speak on "Abstract Art" at 8 p.m. April 15 in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall; and Dr. Eric Malcolm Rogers, professor of physics at Princeton University, who will discuss "The Tools of Nuclear Physics" at 8 p.m. April 27 in Room 100 of Washington Hall.

MARSHALL-WYTHE SYMPOSIUM

The names of six speakers for the 1960 Marshall-Wythe Symposium have been announced by Dr. Wayne F. Kernodle, director of the symposium. The list includes Dr. Wendell D. Hance, assistant director of the International Economic Analysis Division, Bureau of Foreign Commerce, who will speak on "The Changing Position of the United States in World Economy" today, February 12; Dr. Paul H. Hatcher, chairman of the department of economics at the University of North Carolina, who will discuss "Industrial Unrest and Strains on the American Economy" February 19; Dr. Marshall A. Robinson, research associate of the Brookings Institution, on "The Public Debts and Economic Strains" March 11; Dr. Leslie Wright, John Hay Whitney visiting professor of economics from the University of Edinburgh, on "The Plight of the Dollar" March 18; Elmer Staats, deputy director of the Bureau of the Budget, on "The Budget and Inflation Economic Competition" April 15; and Dr. Walter W. Heller, chairman of the department of economics, University of Minnesota, on "Can America Afford the American Standard of Living" April 22.

All sessions of the symposium will be held at 4 p.m. in Room 200 of Washington Hall. The talks are open to registered students, all interested faculty members, and students to whose courses of study the lectures are related. The theme of this year's symposium is "Strains on the American Economy."

CONCERTS

The Jose Limon dance company, the Vienna Choir Boys, and the Richmond Symphony will be featured among musical attractions slated at William and Mary during the spring semester. The Limon concert, originally scheduled for tonight, has been postponed until 8 p.m. Sunday, March 6, because of an injury to one of the company's dancers. The Vienna Choir Boys will be heard at 8 p.m. Wednesday, March 23, while the Richmond Symphony will perform at 8 p.m. April 28.

DEPARTMENTAL NEWS

Eleven of 24 departments provided information for the Faculty News Letter this time. The next issue of the News Letter will be published on February 26 with a news deadline of 5 p.m. Monday, February 22. Please call us with items at Extension 226, drop them in the public relations box in the registrar's office, or give information to your department head so that we can collect it on our regular news check.

Business Administration

Wayne F. Gibbs has been appointed to the education committee of the Virginia Society of Certified Public Accountants, effective Sept. 1, 1959, for a term of one year. He is also a member of the legislative committee of the Peninsula Chapter of the VSCPA.

Professor Gibbs also attended a meeting of the American Marketing Association in Washington, D. C., over the holidays.

Chemistry

Dr. George Sands, a former member of the chemistry department faculty here, will lecture today at 4 p.m. to the William and Mary affiliate chapter of the American Chemical Society on the subject, "Thermoelectric Conversion of Energy." Dr. Sands is now employed as a physical chemist at Fort Eustis.

Economics

Dr. Leslie Wright, lecturer in economics at the University of Edinburgh since 1947, has assumed duties at William and Mary as John Hay Whitney Visiting Professor of Economics this semester. William and Mary is one of eight American institutions to receive Whitney visiting professors this year.

Dr. Wright, who was a visiting professor last semester at Rice Institute in Houston, Texas, will teach courses in contemporary economic thought and international trade and policies here. He will also give a number of special lectures and will be one of six speakers in the 1960 Marshall-Wythe Symposium.

Education

Dr. Paul Clem spoke Thursday to the Parent-Teacher Association of Pleasant Hill High School, Shanghai, Va. on the subject, "How Can We Improve the Instructional Program through the Use of the Results of the Standardized Tests."

Dr. Clem also spoke that evening at Ladies' Night of the Newport News Kiwanis Club on "Guided Students: The Decisive Weapon."

"Life Is Not Two Plus Two" was the subject of a talk given by Dr. Donald J. Herrmann to the Hilton Woman's Club last month.

"Needs and Opportunities in Adult Education" was the subject of a speech given by Leon Looney to the District I Virginia Conference of Social Workers in Norfolk in January.

Dr. Deore Cannon spoke in January to the Smithfield Parent-Teacher Association on "Educating Parents" and to the Langley Air Force Base Elementary School PTA on statewide testing and guidance in the schools.

Robert McMurry was a consultant for the Newport News Elementary Social Studies Group which met January 29.

Mrs. Margaret Winder and members of one of her classes visited the Maury Elementary School in Richmond last month to observe classroom activities.

As part of the expanding student teaching program of the education department, Lee Hall Elementary School has been added to the list of schools where senior William and Mary students will do their practice teaching.

Fine Arts

Charles M. Woodliff will attend the national convention of the audio-visual department of the National Education Association in Cincinnati, Ohio, February 29 through March 4. He will be a consultant for the college and university program section.

Government

Dr. W. Warner Moss will address a section of the National Conference on Higher Education on the subject, "The Faculty and the Control of Educational Policy," when the group meets in Chicago March 7.

History

Dr. Harold L. Fowler will be a panelist on the subject, "How to Improve Higher Education," during a meeting of the Association of Virginia Colleges at the Williamsburg Lodge this weekend.

School of Law

Dr. Thomas C. Atkeson spoke on the subject of proposed new rules relating to expense account deductions to the Newport News Rotary Club last month.

Dr. Joseph M. Cormack spoke on Latin America at a meeting of the Williamsburg Kiwanis Club in January. His talk was based upon his observations during travel in all the Latin American countries except Venezuela.

A library committee, composed of Dr. Atkeson, Dr. Cormack, and Arthur W. Phelps, chairman, has been appointed by President Chandler to work with Acting Law Librarian Mrs. Anna B. Johnson toward developing plans for the improvement of the library. The purchase of all important law reviews is under way, and a plan for the survey of new books to be purchased has been adopted. New "stand-up" desks also have been designed for use in the stack area.

Joseph Curtis represented the Marshall-Wythe School of Law at a recent Richmond meeting with Edward R. Baird, president of the Virginia State Bar. Representatives of four Virginia law schools met with Mr. Baird to discuss the formulation of a program designed to stimulate the interest of better qualified students in law as a career.

Modern Languages

Reino Korpi and Dr. Jean Scammon attended a meeting of the Virginia Modern Languages Coordinators in Charlottesville February 6.

Philosophy

John Lachs' article, "Consciousness and Weiss's Mind," appeared in the December, 1959 issue of The Review of Metaphysics.

Sociology

Dr. William C. Sturtevant, noted ethnologist, will visit the William and Mary campus March 8 and 9 under the Visiting Lecturer Program of the American Anthropological Association. The program is financed by a grant of the National Science Foundation.

Dr. Sturtevant, who is associated with the Bureau of American Ethnology of the Smithsonian Institution, will lecture to sociology and anthropology classes during his stay here and will meet with faculty members and students. He will also deliver a talk on "Language and Culture" at a meeting of the Sociology Club at 8 p.m. March 9, in Ewell Hall, Room 101.

James R. Shuster of Philadelphia has joined the staff of the department of sociology and anthropology as an instructor. A graduate of Haverford College, Mr. Shuster earned an M. A. degree at Princeton University, and has also studied in France. He has also conducted research in Morocco in preparation for his doctoral degree at Princeton.

College of William and Mary

EVENING COLLEGE ENROLLMENT

The largest enrollment in three years--397--has been reported this semester by the Evening College of the College of William and Mary.

John S. Guinn, Evening College coordinator, stated that the current enrollment represented an increase of 72 students over last year. Thirty-five courses are being offered, with the most popular field teacher education, with English and business courses running second and third.

While more students in the night classes come from Williamsburg than any other community, some come from as far away as Richmond, Urbanna, and Virginia Beach. Approximately 4,500 residents of Tidewater have taken advantage of the course offerings since the Evening College was established in 1952.

RELIGION IN LIFE WEEK

Four distinguished churchmen spoke on "Religion through the Arts" during Religion in Life Week at the College this week. The speakers included the Rev. Robert E. Keighton, professor of preaching and worship at Crozer Theological Seminary, Chester, Pa.; the Rev. George E. Calvert, pastor of the Church of the Son of Man, part of the East Harlem Protestant Parish in New York; Rabbi Efraim M. Rosenzweig, director of the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation in North Carolina; and the Rev. Francis Ready, assistant pastor of St. Bede's Church in Williamsburg.

Religion in Life Week is sponsored annually by the Student Religious Union, which is composed of student representatives of the Protestant, Catholic and Jewish religious groups on campus.

W&M THEATER OFFERING

Sidney Howard's "The Late Christopher Bean" will be presented by the William and Mary Theater at 8 p. m. March 3, 4, and 5 in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

The play, which is the third in a group of four comedies which the William and Mary Theater has undertaken to produce this year, is a satire about a New England family whose natural Puritanism is overshadowed by greed when they discover that the paintings of their late boarder, Christopher Bean, have suddenly become valuable.

Howard Scammon is directing the show's nine-member cast, while Russell Hastings is designer and Albert Haak is technical director.

JOSE LIMON CONCERT

The internationally-famed Jose Limon dance company, just returned from a 92-performance tour of Europe, will present a concert in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall at 8 p. m. Sunday, March 6. Originally set for Feb. 12, the concert was postponed because of an injury to one of the dancers.

The program will be the third in the 1959-60 William and Mary Concert Series, which will be concluded this year with a concert by the Vienna Choir Boys on Wednesday, March 23.

DEPARTMENTAL NEWS

Ten of 24 departments provided information for the Faculty News Letter this time. The next issue of the News Letter will be published on Friday, March 11, with a news deadline of 5 p. m. Monday, March 7. Please call us with items at Extension 226, drop them in the public relations box in the registrar's office, or give information to your department head so that we can collect it on our regular news checks.

Business Administration

Max B. Jones represented William and Mary at the Southeastern Conference on Collegiate Education for Business held in Chapel Hill, N. C., Jan. 17-19. The conference, which was sponsored jointly by the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Foundation, was attended by representatives of 30 colleges and universities in ten states.

The conferees discussed and evaluated the Gordon-Howell and Pearson reports on business education.

English

Fraser Neiman's review of The Symbolic Rose, by Barbara Seward, appeared in the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot on February 21.

Fine Arts

A one-man exhibition of the works of Hans Moller will be on display in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall until March 7. The exhibit is sponsored by the Virginia Museum of Fine Art, which borrowed the collection from the Olsen Foundation.

Richmond Professional Institute and Norfolk Division of William and Mary will cooperate in a roundtable discussion here on abstract art, during the visit of Sir Herbert Read, president of the Institute of Contemporary Arts, in April.

Howard Scammon discussed the Honor System at William and Mary during his television appearance on the University of the Air series, "Human Relationships--Theory and Practice," which was shown recently over WFIL-TV, Philadelphia, Pa.

School of Law

Thomas C. Atkeson participated in a meeting of the National Education Committee of the Tax Executives' Institute in Washington, D. C., February 14. During the meeting plans were developed for increasing the exchange of information between the tax departments of large corporations and the law schools and graduate schools of business administration, in respect to educational programs of mutual interest.

James P. Whyte attended the first program committee meeting of the Southeastern Conference of Law Teachers held recently in Richmond. The conference will hold its annual meeting in Williamsburg late in August or early in September.

Joseph M. Cormack discussed the highlights of Roman law in a talk to the William and Mary chapter of Eta Sigma Phi, national classical fraternity, February 17. He was introduced by William F. Swindler, former national president of the fraternity.

Mathematics

Robert C. Yates has announced that Miss Rebecca S. Elliot has been selected as the recipient of the Freshman Mathematics Award for the year 1958-59. Miss Elliot, a sophomore, plans to major in mathematics.

Mr. Yates also noted that Alan J. Burger, a junior mathematics major, is co-author with David Cohen of a recent paper in The Review of Scientific Instruments, Vol. 30, No. 12, for December, 1959. The article, "Acceleration of Polarized Protons with Strong-Focusing Linear Accelerators," reports work done at the Argonne National Laboratory in Lemont, Ill., during the summer of 1959.

Music

Tracy Russell, a music major, will present his senior piano recital in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall at 8 p. m. Thursday, March 10, Andrew C. Haigh has announced. Russell will play sonatas of Mozart, Beethoven, and Hindemith, and selections by Brahms, Debussy, and Chopin.

Alan C. Stewart will appear as guest artist with the Feldman String Quartet March 7 in Norfolk.

Charles R. Varner will adjudicate the Instrumental Festival, District 2A, Virginia, on March 12.

Philosophy

Frank A. MacDonald was a discussion leader recently during the third annual Student Burgesses meeting, a scholastic-level international conference sponsored by Colonial Williamsburg.

Mr. MacDonald will also deliver a public lecture on "David Hume and Natural Religion" at Sweet Briar College March 9.

Physical Education (Women's)

Miss Gladys Warren and the members of Crchesis attended the Virginia College Dance Festival at Westhampton College, Richmond, February 20.

Psychology

E. Rae Harcum spoke on "Research on Perceptual Factors Related to Reading Performance" at a teachers' meeting at Matthew Whaley School, Williamsburg, Wednesday.

Sociology

R. Wayne Kernodle will be chairman of the family section of the Southern Sociological Society when the group holds its annual meeting in Atlanta, April 7-9. David J. Gray will read a paper during the conference, while Edwin Rhyne will participate in discussions of the theory section.

CALENDAR OF COMING EVENTS

College of William and Mary

March 11, 1960

COLLEGE RECEIVES GIFT

A block of 700 shares of stock in the Cubic Corporation, currently valued at approximately $38,000, has been given to the Endowment Association of the College of William and Mary by Walter J. Zable, president of the San Diego, Calif., electronics firm and a 1937 alumnus of the college.

Cubic Corporation has developed advanced systems used to track long range ballistic missiles such as the Atlas, Titan, and Thor, and is also engaged in the Mercury "Man-in-Space" program. Zable, a varsity football player at William and Mary, received a B. S. degree in physics and mathematics from the college in 1937.

The Endowment Association of the College of William and Mary in Virginia, Inc., recipients of the gift, uses the income from its funds to support scholarships, fellowships, and chancellor professorships, and for other general college purposes.

EXTENSION ENROLLMENT

An increase in enrollment of nearly 150 students over the fall session has been noted in the William and Mary extension program, E. Leon Looney, assistant director of extension, has reported.

With 15 centers now in operation, Mr. Looney said, enrollment has reached the 690 mark, well over the first-semester total of 543. Mr. Looney stated, however, that despite the increase, the total number of students for the year is about the same as that noted in recent years.

Centers with the largest enrollments are the Lower Peninsula Center with 129 students, the Portsmouth-Norfolk County Center with 128, and the Princess Anne Center with 115.

CAMPUS CHEST DRIVE

The annual Campus Chest drive, aimed this year at collecting funds for the Children's Unit of Eastern State Hospital, the Children's Cancer Research Foundation (the "Jimmy" fund), and the World University Service, a branch of the United Nations, began Monday.

LIBRARY
MAR 17 1960

Special features of the drive this year were a faculty- varsity basketball game Wednesday night and a variety show which will be presented at 2 p.m. Sunday in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall, ending the campaign.

VIENNA CHOIR BOYS CONCERT

The Vienna Choir Boys, billed as "the world's most beloved choir," will perform in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall at 8 p.m. Wednesday, March 23. The 22-voice group, comprised of boys ranging in age from eight to 14, will present a program consisting of sacred music, some written in the 16th and 17th centuries; a short operetta, and a series of familiar Austrian and Viennese waltzes and folk songs.

The choir, which claims Josef Haydn and Franz Schubert as distinguished "alumni," traces its history to July 7, 1498, when it was founded by imperial decree of the Holy Roman Emperor Maximilian I.

The concert will be the fourth and last in the 1959-60 William and Mary Concert Series.

DEPARTMENTAL NEWS

Thirteen of 24 departments provided information for the Faculty News Letter this time. The next issue of the News Letter will be published on Friday, March 25, with a news deadline of 5 p.m. Monday, March 21. Please call us with items at Extension 226, drop them in the public relations box in the registrar's office, or give information to your department head so that we can collect it on our regular news checks.

Chemistry

Members of the affiliates of the American Chemical Society heard a talk Monday by Mr. Sproull of the Chesapeake Corporation on "The Utilization of Trees."

Economics

Anthony L. Sancetta's review of "Personnel Management," by Chruden and Sherman, will be published in the July issue of The Industrial and Labor Relations Review.

Education

Carl McCarthy was a consultant to the York County Teachers Mid-Year Conference held at the end of January.

Mohammed Haque, a supervising principal from Pakistan, visited Matthew Whaley School and James Blair School here on February 23. Mrs. Margaret Winder introduced him to the teachers and student teachers at Matthew Whaley. Mr. Haque is visiting the United States to learn how student-teacher programs are organized at various colleges and universities.

Robert McMurry attended the conference of the Association of Supervision and Curriculum Development in Washington, D. C., March 6-9.

Armand J. Galfo gave a talk on "The Fundamentals of Electronics" to the secondary teachers of Princess Anne County March 10.

Howard K. Holland spoke to the Newport News Kiwanis Club February 15 on the topic, "Criticisms of Current Education." He also discussed "Future Challenges to Education" at the state meeting of the Elementary School Principals at the Hotel Chamberlin February 24.

English

"Essays, Letters and Reviews by Matthew Arnold," edited by Fraser Neiman, will be published by the Harvard University Press March 24. The 448-page book, which includes four linecuts, is comprised of Arnold articles not reprinted since their first publication; articles by Arnold which are out of print or available only in scattered volumes; and articles pseudonymously or anonymously written by and only recently ascribed to Arnold.

Cecil M. McCulley traveled to Princess Anne High School yesterday to conduct a panel discussion on the English reading of students in high school.

G. Glenwood Clark reviewed William Faulkner's most recent book, "The Mansion," at a meeting of the Faculty Women's Club in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall Monday evening.

Fine Arts

"Table Number Seven," from Terence Rattigan's "Separate Tables," directed by Arthur Burgess, will be presented in the Laboratory Theater of Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall at 8 tonight.

Howard Scammon was judge for the District E, Group III, Virginia High School League one-act play festival held Tuesday in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. One-act plays were presented by Middlesex, West Point, Mathews, Pleasant Hill, and New Kent high schools.

Government

W. Warner Moss spoke on "The Faculty and the Control of Educational Policy" at the 15th National Conference on Higher Education in Chicago Monday.

History

William W. Abbot will read a paper entitled "A Reevaluation of 18th Century Georgia" at a conference on early American history at Western Reserve University, Cleveland, March 25-26. Lawrence W. Towner will be a discussion leader in a program on colonial intellectual history at the same conference.

Ludwell H. Johnson and Mr. Abbot currently both are writing articles for the new edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Home Economics

Miss Alma Wilkin, with two of her students, Bama Livermon and Bart Walman, attended a lecture by Albert Ten Eyck Gardner, associate curator of American art, Metropolitan Museum, at the Williamsburg Antiques Forum February 5. Mr. Gardner spoke on "Art Masterpieces at the Metropolitan Museum."

Three students, Jonathan Hopkins, Bart Walman, and Priscilla Kreitzer, went with Miss Wilkin to the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, Richmond, February 26, to hear a talk by Buckminster Fuller on "Modern Architecture."

Students of Miss Wilkin's classes also visited the Colonial Williamsburg warehouse February 8 to view a collection of decorative textiles and ceramics.

School of Law

Robert Kramer, U. S. assistant attorney general, in charge of the office of legal counsel, will be the principal speaker at the regional meeting of the Fourth Circuit of the American Law Students' Association here today and tomorrow.

Mr. Kramer will speak at a banquet this evening. Representatives of 12 colleges and universities will meet during the two-day session, which will feature workshops, panel discussions, special talks, a banquet and a dance. Other speakers will include J. H. C. Glenn, chief patent attorney for Reynolds Corp., who will discuss "An Introduction to the Law of Intellectual Property;" Judge Alfred Whitehurst, associate justice of the Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court, Norfolk; William Lee, chief administrator of the Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court, Norfolk; Eimo Stephenson, administrator of social welfare, Newport News; and David J. Gray of the William and Mary department of sociology and anthropology.

Institutions represented at the meeting will be William and Mary, South Carolina College, University of North Carolina, Duke University, Wake Forest College, University of Maryland, University of Virginia, and Washington and Lee University.

Modern Languages

Ben C. McCary spoke on "Indian Culture in the Tidewater Area in the 16th and 17th Centuries" at a meeting of the Jamestown Foundation February 24.

John A. Moore lectured on "The Message of Cervantes" to the Humanities 202 class recently.

Marcel Reboussin discussed two of Moliere's plays earlier in the same class.

Harold A. Waters' "The Narrator, Not Marcel" appears in the Notes and Discussion section of the February French Review. This short article stems from a College research grant for the summer of 1959.

Music

Andrew C. Haigh and Alan C. Stewart will present a concert featuring the sonatas of Bach and Brahms and a Mozart concerto in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall at 8 p.m. Thursday, March 17.

Secretarial Science

Mrs. Angie Cowles of Colonial Williamsburg's secretarial department conducted a mock interview for the Secretarial Science 402 class March 3.

Sociology

R. Wayne Kernodle spoke last Saturday at the annual workshop of the Peninsula Chapter of the National Secretaries' Association, held at the Hotel Chamberlin. His topic was "Status Contradictions of Working Women."

FACULTY NEWS LETTER

March 25, 1960

SPRING RECESS

The College's spring recess will begin at 1 p.m. tomorrow, Saturday, and will end at 8 a.m. Monday, April 4.

JUNIOR SCIENCE DAY

Junior high school and high school science students from throughout the Tidewater area will gather at William and Mary on Saturday, April 9, to take part in the activities of the College's annual Junior Science Day.

The young science students are expected to exhibit a wide variety of research projects in the categories of biology, chemistry, physics, miscellaneous areas, and club exhibits. The winners will receive cash awards and will be qualified to compete at the State level during the joint Virginia Junior Academy of Science and Virginia Academy of Science meeting in Richmond in May.

Richard G. Canham, chairman of Junior Science Day, listed the schedule for the day as follows: 8-10 a.m., setting up the exhibits; 10-10:15 a.m., general meeting with introduction of judges and explanation of rules; 10:15-10:45 a.m., informal tours of William and Mary science buildings and laboratories; 10:45 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., judging of exhibits; 12:30-1:30 p.m., luncheon with participants guests of the college; and 1:30 p.m., general meeting with announcement of winners and qualifiers.

ORCHESTRAL RECITAL

"An Evening of Dance" will be presented by Orchestras at 8 p.m., April 6 and 7 in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. The program will feature group performances, including pre-classical dance forms, the gavotte and the gigue; "Spiritual and Blues"; and three fairy tale pieces, "Cinderella," "The Ugly Duckling," and "The Pied Piper."

Solo performances include "Poem by E. E. Cummings," choreographed and danced by Marilyn Sterner; "Jazz," by Madeline McDonnell; and a bongo drum arrangement by Deliaan Angel, choreographed and danced by Betty Ann Lewis. The dancers will be accompanied by Sue Sager at the Piano with the William and Mary orchestra and chorus.

NEW DEGREE SLATED

A program leading to a master's degree in teaching of science, designed to meet the needs of established secondary school teachers of science and mathematics in the age of space, will be offered for the first time this summer at the College.

The program will be implemented under William and Mary's summer institute in science and mathematics, which will be supported this summer by a $97,200 grant from the National Science Foundation. It calls for successful completion of 30 semester credits of graduate study by each candidate for the M. T. S. degree, over a period of three summers in residence.

DEPARTMENTAL NEWS

Twelve of 24 departments provided information for the Faculty News Letter this time. The next issue of the News Letter will be published on Friday, April 15, with a news deadline of 5 p.m. Monday, April 11. Please call us with items at Extension 226, drop them in the public relations box in the registrar's office, or give information to your department head so that we can collect it on our regular news checks.

Ancient Languages

George J. Ryan addressed the Baptist Student Union March 13 on the topic, "Christianity under Constantine."

Biology

A grant of $13,397 has been awarded to the College of William and Mary by the National Institutes of Health of the U. S. Public Health Service, to support a research project on parasitic worms as found in marine fishes of the Atlantic coast region. The study of digenetic trematodes will be under the direction of Mitchell A. Byrd. The grant will be effective over a three-year period.

Business Administration

M. B. Jones will accompany the Society for the Advancement of Management on a field trip to the Richmond, where the group will visit the American Tobacco Co., and the home offices of the Reynolds Metals Corp. Membership in SAM has increased by more than 50 percent since Mr. Jones became advisor to the group, and he noted that the club is providing an excellent nucleus for the business administration curriculum.

The department also reported that Wayne F. Gibbs, who suffered a cerebral hemorrhage March 3, is recovering nicely.

Chemistry

William G. Guy has announced that all applications for the Exeter College Scholarship must be received by him no later than Sunday, April 25.

Louis Goodfriend spoke on "Importance of Excited States in Biology" March 15 at the Virginia Fisheries Laboratory.

English

Carl Dolmetsch spoke on "The Unknown Mark Twain" March 24 at an open meeting of the Phoenix Literary Society.

Fine Arts

The department is currently making plans for the visit of Sir Herbert Read, president of the Institute of Contemporary Arts, to the College April 13-15. Representatives of the Norfolk Division and Richmond Professional Institute will join Sir Herbert and panelists from William and Mary in Williamsburg at 3:30 p.m. April 14 for a discussion on abstract art, and a joint exhibition of art works from the College and its divisions will be held in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. Sir Herbert also will give a public lecture on "Abstract Art" at 8 p.m. Friday, April 15, in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

History

Bruce T. McCully's article, "The New England-Acadian Fishery Dispute and Nicholson's Mission 1687" will appear in a forthcoming issue of the Essex Historical Institute Collections, Salem, Mass. The article is based on manuscripts and incorporates a document from the Blathway Papers in the archives of Colonial Williamsburg, Inc.

School of Law

As a member of the advisory committee of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Thomas C. Atkeson met with the committee March 17-19 in Washington, D. C. The discussions were concerned principally with policy questions relating to rulings and other interpretative matters.

Mathematics

Robert C. Yates is attending a meeting of the Virginia Education Association at Natural Bridge this weekend. While there he will participate in discussions on the teaching of mathematics.

Modern Languages

Harold A. Waters' poem, "Says Doctor Peabody," appears in the Winter 1959-60 issue of the New Mexico Quarterly.

Articles by Augustin Maissen appeared recently in two Swiss publications. A biography on writer-artist Roger Antoine Duvoisin is included in Kuenstler Lexicon der Schweiz, Vol. 4, while a series of photographs on the upper Rhine Valley is seen in Radioscola, Vol. 5, No. 1/1960, Swiss school radio review. Mr. Maissen's translation of Stephen Vincent Benet's "The Devil and Daniel Webster" will be published in May in Switzerland, to be used as a text at the Grisons Teachers College and other Romansh schools.

Physical Education (Men's)

Howard Smith attended the state conference of the Virginia Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation held at Natural Bridge March 17, 18 and 19. He served as chairman of the college physical education section meeting.

Physical Education (Women's)

Miss Mildred Barrett also attended the state conference of the VAHPER in Natural Bridge.

Sixteen members of the 1960 Great Britain and Ireland touring lacrosse team will visit Williamsburg April 6-8, and will play a team made up of players from William and Mary and other Virginia colleges.

Miss Gladys Warren attended a meeting of the Arts Symposium held recently at Randolph-Macon Women's College.

FACULTY NEWS LETTER

CAMPUS CENTER OPENING

Faculty, students and members of the administration will get a preview of the College's new million-dollar campus center next Tuesday night, prior to the actual opening of the facility the following day. Campus Center Director J. S. Sturgell and his staff will conduct tours through the building and explain the operation of its equipment from 7 to 10 p.m. Music for the event will be provided by bands located in the basement auditorium and the second-floor ballroom.

Announcement that the building would open April 20 was made this week by Dean of Students J. Wilfred Lambert. Located for maximum usefulness in the direct flow of student traffic, the campus center adjoins the college cafeteria, Trinkle Hall. Its three floors contain such features as a 175-seat theater-auditorium, a 250-seat dining room and snack bar, an oval-shaped ballroom, a four-table billiard room and four duckpin bowling alleys, a lounge and dining room, and offices for the student government and undergraduate publications.

CHOIR SETS TOUR

The William and Mary Choir will begin a four-day tour April 20, traveling to Charlotte and Winston-Salem, N. C., Charleston, S. C., and Atlanta, Ga. The singers, under the direction of Dr. Carl A. Fehr, are traveling South this year after a 1959 trip which took them to Philadelphia, New York and Boston.

The choir also will perform at Madison College in Harrisonburg on May 4, and will present its annual spring concert on the William and Mary campus May 6 and 7.

LECTURES SET

Sir Herbert Read, president of the Institute of Contemporary Arts, who has served as professor of fine arts at the University of Edinburgh and as Norton Professor of Fine Arts at Harvard University, will speak on "Abstract Art" at 8 tonight in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

Sir Herbert, who has been a visitor at the College since Wednesday, met with English classes today and took part in a panel discussion on abstract art yesterday with representatives from William and Mary in Williamsburg, Norfolk Division, and Richmond Professional Institute.

Dr. Eric Malcolm Rogers, professor of physics at Princeton University, will be the third speaker in the spring lecture series at the college, discussing "The Tools of Nuclear Physics" at 8 p.m. April 27 in Room 100 of Washington Hall.

"LYSISTRATA" SLATED

The William and Mary Theater will conclude its 1959-60 season April 21, 22 and 23 with its production of Dudley Fitts' version of Aristophanes' "Lysistrata." The ancient comedy, first produced in 411 B. C., has the central theme of the abolition of war, couched in broad, farcical terms.

Dr. George J. Ryan will present a lecture on "Aristophanic Comedy" at 4 p.m. Sunday in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall, as a preface to the play which will be presented the following week in the same building.

MARSHALL-WYTHE SYMPOSIUM

Elmer Staats, deputy director of the Bureau of the Budget in the Executive Offices of the President of the United States, will discuss "The Budget and Soviet Economic Competition" at 4 p.m. today in Room 200 of Washington Hall, in the fifth session of the 1960 Marshall-Wythe Symposium Lectures. All students and faculty members have been invited to attend this lecture.

Robert E. Mooney, economic analyst of the New York Times, will replace Dr. Walter Heller as the sixth and last speaker for the Symposium lectures this year. He will discuss "Can Americans Afford the American Standard of Living?" at 4 p.m. Friday, May 6, in Room 200, Washington Hall.

RICHMOND SYMPHONY

The 85-member Richmond Symphony, under the direction of Conductor Edgar Schenkman, will perform at 8 p.m. Thursday, April 28, in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. The orchestra, which was organized in 1957, will be making its first appearance in Williamsburg.

DEPARTMENTAL NEWS

Eighteen of 24 departments provided information for the Faculty News Letter this time, the best representation noted this year. The next issue of the News Letter will be published on Friday, April 29, with a news deadline of 5 p.m. Monday, April 25. Please call us with items at Extension 226, drop them in the public relations box in the registrar's office, or give information to your department head so that we can collect it on our regular news checks.

Ancient Languages

George J. Ryan will speak on "Aristophanic Comedy" at 4 p.m. Sunday, April 17, in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

Leon Golden spoke to the German 402 class recently on "Apollo and Dionysis."

Business Administration

Wayne F. Gibbs, who suffered a cerebral hemorrhage March 3, has returned home from Bell Hospital.

John S. Quinn addressed the senior class at Walsingham Academy during Career Day activities April 1, discussing "Careers in Business Administration."

Chemistry

A meeting of the Virginia Section of the American Chemical Society will be held in Rogers Hall on Saturday, April 30, with a lecture by Professor Bricker of Princeton University at 4:15 p.m. in Rogers 200. The meeting will be open to the public.

The Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society took a field trip to Dow Chemical Company Wednesday.

Economics

Abraham Hirsch visited the Center for Development Economics at Williams College during the spring recess. He was invited to discuss the problems of teaching economics to students from underdeveloped countries with members of the staff.

English

Fraser Neiman's article, "My Dear Sumner: Three Letters from Matthew Arnold," appears in the Spring 1960 issue of The Victorian Newsletter.

Fine Arts

Art students from William and Mary in Williamsburg, Norfolk Division, and Richmond Professional Institute have been exhibiting their work in the lobby of Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall during Sir Herbert Read's visit to the college.

Government

Warner Moss was elected for a three-year term to the national council of the American Association of University Professors, during the meeting of the association in Detroit April 9. Mr. Moss, a member of the local chapter of AAUP since 1939, was its president in 1958-59. He was instrumental in establishing the Virginia Conference of the AAUP and was its first president in 1956.

Morton J. Frisch recently completed a number of reviews: the first, on "The Enduring Lincoln," edited by Norman A. Graebner, appeared in the December, 1959 issue of The American Political Science Review; the second, on "The Philosophy of Abraham Lincoln," compiled by William E. Baringer, to appear in the July, 1960 issue of the Chio Historical Quarterly; and the third, a review-article of "The Political Reason of Edmund Burke" by Francis Canavan, to appear in the September, 1960 issue of the American Political Science Review.

Mr. Frisch also will appear as a panelist at the annual meeting of the American Political Science Association this September in New York on the topic, "The Impact of Crisis upon Judicial Behavior," and will serve as chairman of the political theory panel at the annual meeting of the Southern Political Science Association in Gatlinburg, Tenn., this November. The topic for his panel will be "What Justification Can Be Made for Democracy?"

Home Economics

School of Law

Arthur W. Phelps and Judge George F. Whitley, Jr., of Smithfield are collaborating on a "Manual of County Court Procedure" which they hope to complete during the coming year.

Mathematics

Robert Smith and Joseph Lee attended a meeting of the American Mathematical Society in New York April 8 and 9.

Modern Languages

Harold A. Waters' translation of a commentary on Marcel Proust's essay, "Contre l'obscurite," appears as the leading article in the March-April issue of Trace. This is the first appearance of this essay in English, as far as Mr. Waters has been able to determine.

Mr. Waters' article, "Woman's Artistic Function in the Plays of Paul Claudel," which stems from a College research grant for 1958, appears in the February Drama Critique. In addition, his poem, "No Childhood Mine," appears in the Spring 1960 issue of Carleton Miscellany, the new literary magazine of Carleton College, where Mr. Waters has accepted a position beginning next fall.

Alexander Kallos spoke recently at a meeting of Eta Sigma Phi, honorary classics fraternity, on "The Refining Influence of Horace on the Baroque." He also spoke on April 5 to the Humanities 202 class on Goethe's "Faust," with the topic, "The Will to Power."

Music

Alan R. Stewart will be guest violist April 25 with the Feldman Music Society of Norfolk. He will also play during the first week in May in the fourth of a series of musicales being held at the Jewish Community Center in Newport News.

Philosophy

Glenn Pearce, who served as an instructor in the department of philosophy at William and Mary in 1958-59, has been named a James Duke Fellow at Duke University for graduate studies during the coming year. The fellowship carries a stipend of $3,000.

Physical Education (Men's)

William and Mary served as host March 19 for 200 AAU swimmers at the "William and Mary Age Group Swimming Meet," sponsored jointly by the Virginia AAU and the Country Club of Virginia. The meet included all age groups from midget boys through the senior group, and was directed by Dudley Jensen.

Physical Education (Women's)

Miss Martha Barksdale will attend the meetings of the Southern Association for Physical Education of College Women at Miami Beach April 21-22.

Miss Marion Reeder will attend meetings of the National Association for Physical Education of College Women and the American Association for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation at Miami Beach April 23-27.

Physics

Melvin A. Pittman has announced that 83 stipends have been granted to teachers from 20 states for the 1960 summer institute in science and mathematics to be held here under his direction.

Mr. Pittman also noted that two senior physics majors have been awarded fellowships for graduate study next year. Jack White has received one for $1,800 and tuition at the University of North Carolina, while William L. Piotrowski accepted one for $2,000 and tuition at the University of Virginia.

Psychology

The National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Blindness of the National Institutes of Health has awarded a research grant of $15,000 a year for three years to E. Rae Harcum, for the investigation of perceptual phenomena which account for reading problems.

Two articles by Mr. Harcum appeared in "Visual Search Techniques," Publication 712 of the National Academy of Science-National Research Council, edited by Ailene Morris and E. Porter Hume. The articles are "Detection vs. Localization Errors on Various Radii of the Visual Field," by Mr. Harcum, and "Field and Simulator Studies of Air-to-Ground Visibility Distances," by Mr. Harcum, H. Richard Blackwell, and James G. Ohmart.

Stanley Williams noted that the April 1 issue of Science, publication of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, contains an article on "Demonstration of the Influence of Stimulus and Response Categories upon Different Limens," co-authored by George A. Cicala, who received his bachelor's and master's degrees at William and Mary in 1956 and 1958, respectively.

Sociology

R. Wayne Kernodle, Edwin Rhyne, and David J. Gray attended a meeting of the Southern Sociological Society in Atlanta, Ga., April 7-9. All three were participants in the program.

LIBRARY
WILLIAM & MARY

COLONIAL FESTIVAL

A mixture of 18th-century amusements and 20th-century music will highlight the College of William and Mary's annual Colonial Festival, starting at 1 p.m. Saturday in the college yard.

Colonial games will include a greased-pole climb, a wrestling match, bowling on the green, a greased-pole climb, and a mile-long foot race which will travel the length of Duke of Gloucester St. from the colonial Capitol to the Sir Christopher Wren Building. A two-hour jazz concert by the Dukas of Dixieland will also be featured during the afternoon, which will be brightened by the arrival of an 18th-century costumed "Dette-of-Green" and her court in horse-drawn carriages.

Other events rounding out the weekend will include the Spring Finals dance tonight and a "Greek Sing"—a choral competition between the various fraternities and sororities—from 2 to 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

The college's Colonial Festival is patterned after the country fair held on St. George's Day in Williamsburg in the colonial era. The Charter of the City of Williamsburg in 1722 provided for two annual fairs, one in December and the other in the spring.

CHOIR CONCERT

The William and Mary Choir, which has just returned from a tour which took the choral group to Charlotte and Winston-Salem, N. C., Charleston, S. C., and Atlanta, Ga., will present its annual spring concert on campus May 6 and 7.

Under the direction of Carl A. Fehr, the choir will present a program featuring the music of Vivaldi, Ravel, and George Gershwin at 8 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

THE SIGN OF JONAH

A contemporary religious drama, "The Sign of Jonah," will be presented by the Student Religious Union at 6:30 p.m. Sunday in the social hall of the Williamsburg Baptist Church. The play, written by German clergyman Guenther Rutenborn and directed by Bruce Douglas of Hamilton, O., has been ranked as one of the top five religious dramas of the 1950's.

Written in prose but with a poetic metre, the play is set in Berlin immediately after World War II, with the plot centering around a court trial to find out who is guilty of the sins of mankind.

PHI BETA KAPPA MEETING

Fredson T. Bowers, professor of English at the University of Virginia, will discuss "The Business of Teaching" at the May 3 public meeting of Virginia Alpha Chapter, Phi Beta Kappa, in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. The 8 p.m. gathering will follow the initiation of nine newly-elected members-in-course in Phi Beta Kappa at William and Mary.

CARTOON EXHIBITION

Twenty-nine large originals by cartoonist Hugh Haynie--a 1950 alumnus of William and Mary--are currently on display in the lounge of the new Campus Center. The mounted cartoons, covering a wide variety of national and international topics, include some of Haynie's most famous recently reprinted in the New York Times and Time Magazine.

Haynie, who is now political cartoonist for the Louisville Courier-Journal, yesterday received an award in recognition of his outstanding contribution to the field of journalism from Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalism fraternity on campus.

The exhibit will continue through next week.

ANNUAL SCIENCE CONTEST

A total of 136 high school juniors and seniors are gathering today at William and Mary for competitive examinations which will determine the six winners of $8,400 in scholarships.

This is the 12th year the science contest, which includes competition in the fields of biology, physics and chemistry, has been held on campus. Fifty-eight students have entered in the field of chemistry, with 42 in physics and 36 in biology.

First place awards, each consisting of a $500 scholarship to William and Mary, will be awarded in each division, with second-place winners in each category receiving $300 scholarships. The awards are all renewable for three subsequent years.

RECEIVES FULBRIGHT

Miss Jeanne Tracy, William and Mary senior from Lexington, has received a Fulbright fellowship to study in Germany during the coming academic year.

Miss Tracy plans to study German expressionistic drama between World Wars I and II at the University of Marburg, where she will concentrate particularly on the work of playwright and poet Bertolt Brecht.

JOHNSTON PAPERS

A pencil draft of the order which directed the Confederate Army of the Tennessee to surrender to Union forces under Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman has been presented to the William and Mary library.

The document, "General Order No. 18," drafted by Confederate Gen. Joseph E. Johnston (1807-1891) shortly after Gen. Robert E. Lee surrendered the Army of Northern Virginia at Appomattox on April 9, 1865, is among a collection of papers relating to Gen. Johnston which has been presented to the William and Mary library.

The 47 original letters of the prominent Virginia Civil War general, along with 11 letters written to him, were given to the college by his great-great niece, Miss Ann Mason Lee of Richmond.

BAND CONCERTS

Three outdoor band concerts have been slated by the William and Mary Band, under the direction of Charles R. Varner, on May 4, 11 and 18. The concerts all will be held at 7 p.m. in the Wren Building courtyard.

DEPARTMENTAL NEWS

Ten of 26 departments provided information for the Faculty News Letter this time, compared with 18 in the last issue. The next issue of the News Letter will be published on Friday, May 13, with a news deadline of 5 p.m. Monday, May 9. Please mail us with items at Extension 226, drop them in the public relations box in the registrar's office, or give information to your department heads that we can collect it on our regular news checks.

Ancient Languages

Talbot Selby has received word that his book, entitled, "Philippi Villani De Crigine Civitatis Florentie Et De Eiusdem Famosis Civibus, Libri Duci," will be published by Thesaurius Mundi in Padua, Italy.

Education

Armand J. Galfo's article, "The Teacher, the Administrator and the Law," will be published in the Fall issue of Overview Magazine.

English

Cecil M. McCulley attended a meeting of the Virginia Education Association at Natural Bridge April 22-23.

Fine Arts

Thomas E. Thorne will discuss "Chemistry in the Arts" at a meeting of the Chemistry Society at the Williamsburg Lodge April 30.

On Sunday Mr. Thorne will be a member of the jury at Richmond's Valentine Museum where a show based on Richmond subject matter is on exhibit.

Miss Althea Hunt's class in directing will present "Scenes from Shakespeare" at 4 p. m. Sunday, May 15, in the courtyard of Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. The scenes from "Twelfth Night," "As You Like It," and "Two Gentlemen of Verona" all deal with situations in which a woman masquerades as a man. The directors are Arthur Burgess, Richard Westlake, and Susan Kohler.

History

Ludwell H. Johnson's article, "Fort Sumter and Confederate Diplomacy," is to appear in the Journal of Southern History, probably in the fall edition.

James M. Smith, lecturer in history and editor of publications at the Institute of Early American History and Culture, has been awarded a Guggenheim Fellowship and American Council of Learned Societies grant for the coming year, to complete his study of the Kentucky and Virginia Resolutions and continue his work on the Jefferson-Madison correspondence. Mr. Smith will be on leave of absence from September, 1960, through August, 1961.

Lawrence W. Towner, associate professor of history and editor of The William and Mary Quarterly, has been awarded a $1,500 grant as research associate of the Center for the Study of the History of Slavery in America at Harvard University. The grant will enable him to take leave of absence this summer to revise his study of servitude and slavery in 17th-century Massachusetts for publication by the Center.

"Liberty and Justice," a documentary history of American constitutional development which James M. Smith edited with Paul L. Murphy of the University of Minnesota, was chosen recently as one of the top 20 college textbooks in the Twenty-First Annual Selection of Outstanding Textbooks sponsored by the American Institute of Graphic Arts. The books are evaluated in terms of their skill in presenting technical material accurately, concisely, and effectively to students and adults. The book was published in 1963 by Alfred A. Knopf, Inc.

FACULTY NEWS LETTER

JAMESTOWN DAY OBSERVANCE

President A. D. Chandler has invited members of the faculty and staff to attend the May 15 observance of Jamestown Day, commemorating the landing at Jamestown in 1607 of the first permanent English settlers in America, to be held on Jamestown Island.

Senator A. Willis Robertson will be the principal speaker at the ceremonies, which will begin at 3 p.m. The Rt. Rev. George P. Gunn will conduct ceremonies rededicating the Robert Hunt Memorial Shrine, and the Rt. Rev. David S. Rose also will speak. Music will be provided by the William and Mary Choir and the Continental Army Command Band of Fort Monroe.

Earlier in the day, at 1 p.m., a luncheon will be served in the Ballroom of the Williamsburg Lodge. College of William and Mary faculty and administration members who wish to attend the luncheon may obtain tickets at $2 per plate from Mr. Vernon L. Nunn in the Auditor's Office, cashier's window.

Jamestown Day is sponsored annually by the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities.

COMMENCEMENT DAY

Dr. Gaylord P. Hamwell, president of the University of Pennsylvania and a distinguished physicist, will be the principal speaker in William and Mary commencement ceremonies at 5:30 p.m. June 5, when more than 360 students will receive degrees.

Degrees to be awarded will include some 250 bachelor of arts, 70 bachelor of science, and 40 graduate (B.C.L., M. Ed., and M.A.). The principal address at the 10:45 a.m. baccalaureate services on Commencement Day will be delivered by Dr. J. Manning Potts, editor of "The Upper Room."

On Saturday, June 4, 36 commissions will be awarded to cadets of the William and Mary Reserve Officer Training Corps in ceremonies at 3 p.m. Lt. Col. James M. Cake, professor of military science and tactics at the college, will be the principal speaker.

"GUYS AND DOLLS"

The William and Mary Backdrop Club's production of the hit Broadway musical, "Guys and Dolls," which opened Thursday evening, will be presented at 8 p.m. tonight and Saturday in

Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

The musical, with book by Jo Swerling and Abe Burrows and lyrics by Frank Loesser, ran for two and one-half years on Broadway. The William and Mary production of the show, which is a musical fable of Broadway based on the Damon Runyon story, "The Idyll of Sarah Brown," has been directed by Richard Westlake of Streator, Ill., and has a cast of some 50 students.

BAND CONCERT

The last in a series of three outdoor concerts by the William and Mary Band will be presented at 7 p.m. Wednesday, May 18, in the rear courtyard of the Sir Christopher Wren Building. The band, conducted by Charles R. Varner, will be accompanied in the program by the William and Mary Women's Chorus, under the direction of Carl A. Fehr.

DEPARTMENTAL NEWS

Fourteen of 24 departments provided information for the Faculty News Letter this time. This is the final edition of the News Letter to appear during the current session. The next issue will appear in the early fall of the 1960-61 year.

Thank you for the cooperation which you have given the News Bureau this year. We will appreciate having your comments and criticism, with an eye toward improving the News Letter in the coming academic session.

Ancient Languages

George J. Ryan spoke on "Our Classical Heritage" at Warwick Junior High School April 28. Mr. Ryan also attended the spring meeting of the Virginia Classical Association at Randolph-Macon College in Lynchburg May 7.

Business Administration

John S. Guinn attended the regional meeting of the Association of University Evening Colleges at College Park, Md., May 6. He served as chairman of the nominating committee at the meeting.

Economics

C. Frank Owen has been selected as one of three scholars in the United States to receive North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) Research Fellowships for study of the interests and problems of NATO countries. He will study means whereby Western European nations may share to a greater degree with the United States in efforts to advance the underdeveloped nations of the world. His study will take him to Belgium, France, Germany, the Netherlands and the United Kingdom this summer to discuss with business and governmental representatives means of increasing the flow of private investment from those countries.

Education

Paul Clem, Deore Cannon, and Donald J. Herrmann attended the American Personnel and Guidance Association Conference in Philadelphia April 11-14. The theme of the gathering was "Guidance at the Crossroads of Freedom."

Carl McCartha attended the State Supervisors Conference at Roanoke April 3-6. The theme of the conference was "Quality Teaching."

Mr. Cannon will be the director of counseling and guidance for the guidance institute which will be held at William and Mary this summer. Thirty counselors will visit the college for a six-week course in which they will undergo intensive training in counseling and guidance. Mr. Cannon also attended the Directors of Counseling and Guidance Training Institute in Washington, D. C., April 4-8, and has been appointed faculty advisor to Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity at William and Mary. He spoke on "The President's Responsibilities" to the Omicron Delta Kappa Leadership Forum here May 2.

Armand J. Galfo presented in April his final lecture and demonstration on electronics to science teachers at Princess Anne High School.

Education department professors in April gave a series of lectures to instructors at Fort Eustis on the topic of evaluation, including "Purposes and Principles of Evaluation of Instruction," by Mr. Clem; "Development and Improvement of Objective Test Items," Mr. Herrmann; "Test Instruction and Item Validation," Mr. Cannon; and "Use of Standardized Tests in Evaluation," Mr. Clem.

English

Leroy Smith will attend the Faculty Summer School in Theology and Religion at Cambridge, Mass., July 25-August 26. He has been granted a fellowship to attend the session by the Church Society for College Work for the Episcopal Church.

Government

The William Volker Fund has purchased for Morton J. Frisch a zeroz reproduction of the first edition of James Fenimore Cooper's "Notions of the Americans," which originally appeared in 1828. Mr. Frisch is preparing a critical analysis of the work.

History

Harold L. Fowler has been elected to the Council for the Institute of Early American History and Culture. He was one of five historians named to the policy-making body at the annual meeting in Williamsburg.

School of Law

Arthur Phelps attended a meeting of the Integrated Bar at Roanoke May 6. The primary topic for discussion in the session was "Continuing Legal Education."

Mathematics

Robert C. Yates, Benjamin Cato, and two students attended a day meeting of the Mathematical Association of America at the University of Virginia Saturday, May 7.

Music

Andrew C. Haigh, chairman of the department, has announced his resignation, effective in June. A member of the William and Mary faculty since 1944, Mr. Haigh has headed the department of music since it was separated from the department of fine arts several years ago.

Carl A. Fehr will conduct a choral workshop for the Dinwiddie County high schools at Dinwiddie High School May 20-22. The workshop will be concluded with a concert presented by the choral groups.

Philosophy

Frank A. MacDonald spoke at the tenth anniversary dinner of Phi Theta Kappa, honorary scholastic society at William and Mary's Norfolk Division, on May 8.

Mr. MacDonald last week played the role of a professor at the College of William and Mary in one day's filming of Colonial Williamsburg's "Music in Williamsburg."

Physical Education (Men's)

Dudley Jensen gave a talk on careers in physical education at Walsingham Academy May 5.

The men's physical education department has completed tabulations of a year-long program of physical fitness tests of 622 male students. Rankings of the students have been posted and the tests were timed so that their completion coincided with Physical Fitness week as proclaimed by President Eisenhower May 1-7.

Psychology

The department of psychology, in cooperation with Eastern State Hospital, will present a seminar in the Dodge Room of Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall, 2-5 p.m., May 20. The session will include two informal talks by Dr. Frank Pattie, professor of Psychology at the University of Kentucky, on "A History of Hypnotism during the 19th Century from Mesmer to Charcot," and Dr. Winfred Overholzer, superintendent of St. Elizabeth Hospital, Washington, D. C., on "Forensic Medicine." The public is invited.

Students and faculty members from the department of psychology at William and Mary will present a number of papers today and Saturday at the fourth annual meeting of the Virginia Psychological Association in Richmond. The papers will include "Certain Time Relations in Serial Rote Learning," by Gene Wilson and Rosemary Hartman; "Individual Differences in Binary Pattern Recognition," Dorothy W. Dyer and E. Rae Harcum; "Attensity Gradients in the Perception of Binary Patters," David Camp; "Further Experiment concerning Dependency Contrast in Visual Detection and Recognition," E. Rae Harcum; "An Experimental Investigation of Forgetting and Anxiety," John H. Borghi; "Bar Press Apparatus Suitable for Consideration and Use by Students," Peter Guthrie and David Camp; and "Distribution of Practice in Concept Formation," James Crouse and Peter Guthrie.

The meeting will be held jointly with the Psychology Section of the Virginia Academy of Science.

Sociology

James R. Shuster attended a Middle East Conference May 6 and 7 in Washington, D. C. R. Wayne Kernodle will be the main speaker at Brevard Junior College in Brevard, N. C., late this month on the occasion of the retirement of three long-time professors at the junior college.

A review by Mr. Kernodle of Winston Ehrmann's "Pre-Marital Dating Behavior" will appear in the September issue of Social Forces.

LIBRARY FUND CAMPAIGN

The campaign for the $2,944,800 library for the College is now in its second phase. The first phase, conducted during the first half of the year, placed the library story before several hundred philanthropic foundations in the United States. A number of these foundations are considering the presentation and withholding action until the completion of the second phase which aims at securing pledges from alumni, friends, faculty and staff, local business men and other agencies.

An intensive canvass of more than 15,000 alumni and former students is currently in progress. The canvass has been organized into twenty areas of geographic concentration of alumni. More than 500 individual canvassers have been drawn from alumni ranks, and about 35% of the alumni will be approached by these canvassers. The remainder of the alumni, too scattered geographically to make such an approach feasible, are being canvassed by mail.

The phase of the canvass in Williamsburg, including the College community, is set for two weeks in January, the specific dates to be announced later.

Approximately $1,200,000 of the total goal has been realized.

HOMECOMING - FACULTY - ALUMNI SEMINAR

Saturday, approximately 2000 alumni are expected to storm the William and Mary Campus. These alumni will represent the classes of 1910, 1915, 1920, 1925, 1930, 1935, 1940, 1945, 1950, 1955. On Friday from 10-12 at Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Auditorium the Faculty-Alumni Seminar will be held. The topic of debate will be "Population Explosion, Technology Explosion and the American Economy". A panel of five professors, headed by Dr. Warner Moss of the Government Department and including Dr. Clifford Owen of the Economics Department, Dr. Ikua Chou of the Government Department, Dr. Wayne Kernoodle of the Sociology Department and Dr. Peter Czap of the History Department, will participate in the seminar. Registrations have been received from over 50 alumni wishing to take part. Participation requires readings from Stages of Economic Growth by W. W. Rostow, one of Senator Kennedy's "brain trusters". A luncheon will follow the seminar.

TIDEWATER TAX CONFERENCE

The sixth Annual Tidewater Tax Conference sponsored by the Marshall-Wythe School of Law will be held on Saturday, December 10, 1960 at the Morfolk Yacht and Country Club. The discussions will relate to the new tax laws enacted by the 86th Congress; new conference and appellate procedures adopted by the revenue service; the power of states to tax interstate sales; and the new apportionment formula adopted by the last session of the Virginia General Assembly. Please make a note of the date. Further information will be included in the next issue of the Newsletter.

"THE DIARY OF ANNE FRANK"

The William and Mary Theater's production of "The Diary of Anne Frank" will open October 27 at 8 p.m. at Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall and run through Saturday, the 29th. Written by Goodrich and Hackett, the play will feature one of the most elaborate sets ever produced by the Theater. The Theater is also looking forward to the Canadian Players' special performance of Saint Joan to be presented November 18.

VISITING SCHOLAR

Dr. Dexter Perkins, well known lecturer on American history and politics and Professor Emeritus of Cornell University, will speak on "American Foreign Policy at 8 p.m. this evening in the Campus Center Theater. Dr. Perkins is a participant in the 1960-61 Visiting Scholars program of the University Center. Professor Perkins retired from the Cornell faculty last February after serving six years as first John L. Senior Professor of American Civilization and is now living in Rochester.

DEPARTMENTAL NEWS

We thank you all for your cooperation and for furnishing us the information for this first Faculty Newsletter of the term. We will welcome your suggestions for improving it and hope that we will get the opportunity to be of service to you soon.

Economics

Professor F. J. Gløver spoke to the William and Mary Chapter of the American Association of University Professors on Monday, October 3rd on "British Universities and the Academic Profession". He is expected to address the Alumni meeting Friday, October 14th on "Reflections of Economic Growth".

Economics(continued)

Dr. C.F. Owen has contributed a chapter to the book, Taxation and Operations Abroad, published this year by the Tax Institute, Princeton. The Journal of Taxation, New York reported and discussed Dr. Owen's principal conclusions in its September issue. An abstract of Dr. Owen's study, "Business Financing and Taxation Policies" was printed in the September issue of the Journal of Finance, the journal of the American Finance Association.

Dr. Richard E. Neel, had a fifty-two page study, "The Taxation of Public Utilities in Ohio", published in September by the Ohio Department of Taxation. Dr. Neel also had an article, "How Vital to Defense are the Feeder Airlines?", published in the September-October 1960 issue of the National Defense Transportation Journal.

Education

Mr. A. J. Galfo published two articles in Overview: "School Transportation-- Legal Aspects of the Problem" appeared in the August edition, and "The Administrator, the Teacher, and the Law" will appear in the November issue of the magazine.

English

Mr. G. Glenwood Clark, Head of the department, has been selected by the Editorial Board of Marquis Who's Who, Inc. for inclusion in the next edition of Who's Who in America.

Government

Dr. Morton Frisch will have his article, "Cooper's Notions of the Americans: A Commentary on Democracy" published in the 1961 edition of Ethics, a journal of social and political philosophy.

Professor Edwin W. Webber had his article, "Personal Privacy--A Case of High Policy" printed in the Public Administration Review, Volume XX during the summer. This is the quarterly journal of the American Society of the American Society for Public Administration.

Law School

Dr. William F. Swindler has received word of acceptance of his article on the Federalist papers by American Heritage. The article, tentatively titled "The Letters of Publius", discusses the background to the famous essays which were written to advocate ratification of the Constitution and became a classic on American Constitutional theory. Dr. Swindler has also published an essay-review in the Indiana Law Journal, and his article on "Reviewing Judicial Review" will appear in the fall issue of the St. Louis University Law Journal.

As a member of the Advisory Committee of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Professor Atkeson met with the Commissioner and his committee in Washington on June 9-11 and again on September 8-10. On June 23, the Professor addressed the Hampton Rotary Club on "The New Expense Account Rules".

Professor James P. Whyte has been listed as a labor arbitrator by the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, and devoted a portion of his summer vacation to hearing labor grievances at various points throughout Virginia.

Professor Arthur W. Phelps has completed a supplement for his Handbook of Virginia Rules of Procedure on Actions at Law containing the statutes and cases for 1960. This is in the form of a pocket book and will be released by the Michie Company of Charlottesville soon. Professor Phelps represented the Law School at the Annual meeting of the Virginia State Bar Association at White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia, during August.

Modern Languages

Dr. Pierre C. Oustinoff has been selected by the Editorial Board of Marquis' Who's Who, Inc. for inclusion in the next edition of Who's Who in America.

NEWS OF A GENERAL INTEREST

LAW FELLOWSHIPS AVAILABLE FOR COLLEGE TEACHERS OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

Through a grant from the Carnegie Corporation, fellowships are offered to a limited number of college and university teachers in the arts and sciences for a year of study at Harvard Law School.

The purpose of these fellowships is to enable teachers in the social sciences or humanities to study fundamental techniques, concepts and aims of law so that in their teaching and research, they will be better able to use legal materials and insights which are relevant to their own disciplines.

Fellowship holders will presumably take at least two first year courses in law, in addition to more advanced courses. The year of study will not count toward a degree.

The fellowship grants will be equivalent to a teacher's current salary, plus tuition and a contribution toward the expense of moving to and from Cambridge.

Teachers of liberal arts, of any rank or age, may apply. Each must send a curriculum vitae (including academic record and list of publications), a statement explaining what he hopes to achieve through his year of study and two letters of recommendation.

Applications for 1961-62 must be submitted by January 15, 1961 to the Chairman, Committee on Liberal Arts Fellowships, Harvard Law School, Cambridge 38, Massachusetts.

FIRST FACULTY RECITAL OF THE SEASON TO BE HELD NOVEMBER 22

The first Faculty recital of the season is scheduled for Tuesday, November 22 at 8 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Auditorium. Mr. Alan C. Stewart, violinist, will appear in a concert program of Mozart, Schubert and Bloch.

WILLIAM AND MARY CHOIR TO PRESENT CHRISTMAS CONCERT DECEMBER 13-14

The William and Mary Choir and Chorus, both under the direction of Dr. Carl A. Fehr, will present their annual Christmas concerts at 8 p.m. December 13-14 in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Auditorium.

CANADIAN PLAYERS TO PRESENT ST. JOAN TONIGHT

"St. Joan", George Bernard Shaw's play, will be presented by the Canadian Players in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Auditorium at 8 p.m. November 18. The Canadian Players are actors who appeared in the 1960 Shakespearean Festival Theater in Ontario. This professional company is being brought to the campus by the William and Mary Theater. Tickets are available at the box office at Phi Beta Kappa Hall from 3-5 p.m. today.

THEATER WILL PRESENT BONUS "THE CRY OF CROWS" NOVEMBER 20

The William and Mary Theater will present a bonus to its season ticket holders. The theater group will appear in "The Cry of Crows" November 20, a Sunday, at 4 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Auditorium. All season ticket holders are cordially invited to attend this free production. Coffee will be served after the performance.

ADMISSIONS OFFICE WORKS HARD THE YEAR ROUND

There was a time in the Admissions office when the really busy days did not arrive until February or March. That time is long past, however, and Dean H. Westcott Cunningham and his staff are already hard at work on the admission process for 1961. For several months applicants for September 1961 have been visiting the College for personal interviews, and these visits have reached such proportions that the usual 8 a.m. to noon Saturday office hours sometimes stretch to 2 p.m. Mr. Robert P. Hunt, Associate Dean of Admissions, Mr. John C. Bright, Director of Student Aid, and Mr. Robert M. Usry, a member of the College staff, have been attending college day programs all over the state since the last week in September. Hundreds of students who do not come for personal interviews thus have the opportunity to hear about William and Mary, and to ask questions about our curriculum, admissions requirements, and our campus. Personal application forms have been mailed to the first several thousand applicants, and completed forms have already begun to arrive. The admission of the class of 1965 promises to produce more work and present more challenges than the admission of any other class in the College's history.

NEWS FROM THE DEPARTMENTS:

BUSINESS

Professor Algin B. King addressed the Virginia-Carolina Controllars Association on October 19 in Norfolk. He spoke on the subject of the Virginia Business Index Research Program of which he is the director. The program is a service the College provides for the businesses and financial interests in the state.

Professor John S. Quinn attended the regional meeting of the Association of Evening Colleges at Charlotte, N.C. October 14, and served as Chairman of the Nominating Committee.

The student Accounting Club and the Peninsula Chapter of the Virginia Society of Certified Public Accountants held a joint dinner meeting November 2 at which time the Club announced that it had voted to rename itself the Wayne F. Gibbs Accounting Club in honor of professor Gibbs, Professor Emeritus and former head of the Department of Business Administration. Professor Gibbs, who was honor guest at the joint meeting, was also elected to life membership in the Peninsula Chapter of the Virginia Society of Certified Public Accountants.

CLASSICS

Professors George J. Ryan and Leon Golden attended the meeting of the Virginia Classical Association in Richmond November 4. Dr. Ryan invited the Association to meet in Williamsburg next spring, and the invitation was accepted.

CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS

The College's Christmas recess will begin at 1:00 p.m. tomorrow and will end at 8:00 a.m. Tuesday, January 3. Administrative offices will be closed from noontime December 23 through December 26 and on January 1 and 2.

A host of Christmas season activities have been under way at the College this week. Tuesday and Wednesday evenings the William and Mary Choir and Chorou presented their annual Christmas Concert, and last week Omicron Delta Kappa and Mortar Board held the traditional Yule log burning ceremonies in the Great Hall of the Wren Building.

Last night Lambda Chi Alpha social fraternity sponsored a special program in the spirit of Christmas in the Wren Chapel for an invited audience of about 100 people. Howard Scammon read several seasonal selections for the occasion.

Members of the College community have participated in Christmas activities in the town as well. Last Sunday evening Professors John McKnight, Frank Evans, Harold Fowler, Warner Moss, Talbot Selby, Lewis Foster and Stanley Williams participated in a "Festival of Nine Lessons and Carols for Christmas" at Bruton Parish Episcopal Church. Patterned after a program given annually at King's College of Cambridge University in England, the Biblical readings were a tribute from the academic community to the birth of Christ.

Also last Sunday evening Dr. Carl A. Fehr directed the Baptist Church Choir, of which numerous College students are members, as it presented its annual Christmas cantata. This year the choir performed Elmore and Reed's "The Incarnate Word."

Student charitable activities, done in cooperation with a community-wide program, have been organized under the guidance of Dean Carson Barnes. Bernie Goldstein, a law student, is student leader of the activities which include entertainment for Eastern State Hospital patients and orphaned children, and the collecting of baskets of food and clothing for needy families. All men's and women's dormitories, most of the fraternities and sororities, and a number of other service organizations have participated in these activities.

The News Bureau would like to take this opportunity to wish all of you a very Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

PROGRESS OF CHRISTOPHER NEWPORT COLLEGE

At the present time, we are receiving applications for next fall and expect to have a freshman class of two hundred and fifty to three hundred students. Catalogs have been printed and distributed, and work is under way to refurbish the John W. Daniel School, which will be Christopher Newport College's home at the outset. Budgets have been submitted to the Capitol Outlay Committee of the General Assembly for the next biennium. The budget requests for building a college to accommodate twenty-two hundred students by 1970 total nearly four million dollars.

We are in the process of employing faculty and equipping the College with a laboratory and other materials.

ALTHEA HUNT MEMORIAL FUND ESTABLISHED TO HONOR RETIRING PROFESSOR

The Althea Hunt Memorial Fund has been established in honor of Dr. Hunt who is retiring from her position as Professor of Fine Arts this January. Mr. Howard Scammon, director of the William and Mary Theatre is handling the fund which will "provide a yearly income for books on, or and about the theatre to enrich our college collection in that field."

Some money has already been contributed to the fund and it has been formally established. Anyone interested in the operation and functioning of this fund should contact Mr. Howard Scammon.

PHI BETA KAPPA ANNIVERSARY

Dr. Carlos Heard Baker, professor of English at Princeton, was the principal speaker at the 184th anniversary of the founding of Phi Beta Kappa two weeks ago. Adrienne Cecile Rich, poetess, a graduate of Radcliffe, read her unpublished poem, "Readings of History."

Dr. Baker challenged the Phi Beta Kappæ initiates by remarking, "We live in a world which is much in need of restoration. It is up to you and others like you to bring about this rebuilding."

Turning to the subject of his address, "Designing Fiction," he said that the goal of fiction is the projection of ideas through a conscious design. "The main problem of presenting ideas in fiction or any other written media is communication... The explanation is that the author, writing out of his own beliefs and backgrounds, must overcome the various backgrounds and beliefs found among his audience." "Design in fiction is real, conscious, intended, and willed," he commented.

VIRGINIA BUSINESS INDEX SERVICE EXPANDED

The Bureau of Business Research has expanded its research service to include, in addition to a monthly report on statewide business and economic activity, a breakdown of this data on a city by city basis for 13 Virginia cities.

Under the direction of Professor Algin B. King, acting head of the business department, the bureau has spent two years of research in developing its program so as to be able to furnish business and economic data for 13 different cities. Over 5,000 miles have been travelled in an effort to broaden this research service of the bureau. The service may be expanded in the future to include other Virginia cities.

LIBRARY CAMPAIGN IN WILLIAMSBURG JANUARY 25--FEBRUARY 3

The canvass for the William and Mary Library, which is currently seeking support from approximately 16,000 alumni, former students, friends and associated groups, will enter its Williamsburg phase on Wednesday, January 25. The closing date for this area canvass is set for Friday, February 3.

The total cost of the new library facility is tentatively set at $2,944,800. Funds which at this date are committed to the project are as follows:

Appropriation from General Assembly	$1,000,000
Proceeds, realized or anticipated, from sale of certain lands	194,600
Pledges or gifts of money or stock, including returns to date from other canvass areas (Jan. 13, '61)	44,015
Total	$1,238,615

The Williamsburg canvass is under the direction of Robert A. Duncan, ex-'24, and Duncan Cocke, '32.

In conducting the campaign, specific memorial features of the library have been proposed. Data concerning these features may be examined in the Office of Development, 206A Marshall-Wythe. Several of these have already been tentatively subscribed to by donors whose gifts or pledges are included in the $44,015 listed above. A staff conference room, not listed among the original memorials, has been specifically commissioned by one donor.

Canvasses in Richmond, Norfolk, and Portsmouth, will begin at the same time as the Williamsburg campaign. Approximately seven other canvass areas will be active during February. It is hoped the major part of this "grass roots" phase of the total campaign will be complete about March 1. College officials in charge of the overall program thereafter expect to request a review of the projected library's case by a number of philanthropic agencies in order to complete the raising of the necessary funds.

PRO MUSICA GROUP TO APPEAR FEBRUARY 4

The New York Pro Musica, a group of 11 vocal and instrumental musicians and the world's foremost proponents of Medieval, Renaissance and Baroque music, will appear at Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium, Saturday, February 4 at 8 p.m.

The group, which originated in 1952, employs a variety of rare musical instruments, among them a harpsichord, a viola de gamba and a series of recorders.

Tickets are on sale now for this performance in the treasurer's office and at Schmidt's Music Shop. Single Admission is $2.50. Box office will be open from 3-5 and 7-8 p.m. February 4.

ROYAL CHARTER DAY CONVOCATION FEBRUARY 8

The annual Charter Day convocation commemorating the 268th anniversary of the presentation of the College's charter in 1693 by King William and Queen Mary of England will be held February 8 at 10 a.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. President Paschall will preside; senior students and faculty members will participate in full academic regalia.

Charter Day speaker will be Dean of the Faculty W. Melville Jones. There will be readings from the Royal Proclamation of 1700 as well as the Charter. The William and Mary Choir under the direction of Dr. Carl Fehr will perform the "Exultate Deo" by Poulenc.

FACULTY INVITED TO SYMPOSIUM

"Challenge and Opportunity in Africa" will be the central theme for the 1961 Marshall-Wythe Symposium. Six leading scholars, yet to be announced, will present the main topics of the theme in their Friday afternoon lectures from February 10 to April 28. Faculty and students not taking the course are invited to attend as room permits.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Dean and Mrs. H. Westcott Cunningham announce the adoption of an eight-month old daughter, Ann Westcott. Ann joined the family a few days before Christmas.

JAMESTOWN FESTIVAL PARK TICKETS

Members of the faculty and staff of the College may secure passes to Jamestown Island and to the Festival Park from Dennis Cogle in the personnel office.

GENERAL

The Michie Publishing Company of Charlottesville recently announced the publication of a book "Civil Practice in Municipal and County Courts" written by Judge Calvin W. Berry. Judge Berry, an alumnus of the College of William and Mary and the Marshall-Wythe School of Law, has been judge of the Municipal Court of Danville since his appointment in 1945. He is also a member of the Danville Bar, Virginia State Bar, the American Bar Association and the Association of Trial Justices of Virginia.

The general topic for the conference is "What Should a Nation's Purpose Be?" The panel will discuss national political goals, national social and economic goals and national cultural goals. It will take place February 28-22.

MARSHALL-WYTHE SCHOOL OF LAW

Professor James P. Whyte attended, as delegate from the Marshall-Wythe School of Law, the annual meeting of the Association of American Law Schools, held in Philadelphia, December 28-30. Highlights of the meeting were the Association's tribute to Dean Roscoe Pound in his 90th year, and the granting to the executive committee of the Association the authority to approve educational experiments in law schools, providing such experiments do not exceed six years and that the experimenting school makes a full report of the results of the experiment to the Association. Also attending the meeting were Professors Joseph M. Cormack and William F. Swindler.

Professor James P. Whyte, on appointment from the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, recently arbitrated five labor-management grievances involving United Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers in Nashville, Tennessee.

On January 6, the class in "Tax Administration and Procedure," was invited by the District Director of Internal Revenue at Richmond to observe first hand the operation of a large district office. Operating procedures and policies were explained to the class by the officials in charge of each division as it examined each divisional operation.

Professor Atkeson was appointed to the Virginia State Chamber Tax Study Committee December 27. As indicated by the Chamber the study is preliminary to a possible legislative program designed to eliminate present inequities and give the Commonwealth a broadly based tax system which will produce adequate revenues to meet the needs occasioned by our rapid and continuing growth.

MATHEMATICS

Dr. Joseph R. Lee was granted a leave of absence for the 1961-62 academic year to study at the University of California in Berkeley under a N. S. F. Science Faculty Fellowship.

MODERN LANGUAGES

Professors James Coke, Alexander Kallos, Hertha Knoll, Reino Korpi, John A. Moore, Edward J. Neugaard, Richard Otis and Jean Scammon attended the Modern Language Association Convention in Philadelphia December 27-30.

Dr. Augustin Maissen's article "Zur Geschichte des Clau-Maissen-Hauses" which dealt with biography of 17th century Romansh literature, appeared in the literary section of the Buendner Tagblatt (Swiss daily) November 15.

Dr. Pierre C. Custinoff spoke on "The Teaching of Modern Languages" at the Regional Meeting for Elementary School Principals at the Student Center Theater December 3.

MUSIC

Dr. Carl Fehr attended the regional convention of the Music Educators National Conference in Washington, D. C. from January 12-14. He was a member of a panel on choral work in the Liberal Arts College.

Dr. Frederick D. Truesdell gave an informal talk on Robert Schumann to the German Club December 14. He used recordings to illustrate some of Schumann's lieder, and rendered a few selections from Carnaval and Dauidsbundler Dances.

Dr. Truesdell will soon appear in his first public concert since coming to the College last September. The event is scheduled for 8 p.m. Friday February 17 at Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. In commemoration of the 150th anniversary of Franz Liszt, Truesdell will feature the Liszt Sonata in B Minor, a technical and tonal tour de force. Also included will be works by Mozart and Ross Lee Finney and the popular Scherzo in B-flat Minor by Frederic Chopin.

PHILOSOPHY

Professor MacDonald will return to the College February 1 to resume his duties as head of the department. He has been on leave of absence from the College and is in residence at Harvard University with a grant from that institution.

Professors Brodsky, Foster and Lachs attended the recent meetings of the American Philosophical Association at Yale University during the Christmas holidays.

Professor Lewis A. Foster will be on leave of absence from the College during the coming semester.

To The Faculty:

The staff of the News Bureau wishes to express its appreciation for a number of constructive critical and complimentary observations about the newsletter. Through judgments such as those recently brought to the attention of this office, the staff is aware of the diverse reactions of readers of the newsletter. Several faculty members have suggested that the bulletin might have more substance, and consequently more significance, if announcements of articles and books published, and papers read were accompanied by a brief description of content and thesis. If there are those of you who concur, or disagree, with this view, or who have further suggestions, the staff would appreciate your expression of these views, either by placing a note in the Public Relations Box, or by talking with one of the staff members in Marshall-Wythe 206A. Thank you.

TRUESDELL TO GIVE FIRST PUBLIC RECITAL IN WILLIAMSBURG TONIGHT

Dr. Frederick D. Truesdell, acting head of the Department of Music, will give his first public piano recital in Williamsburg tonight at 8 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall auditorium. Dr. Truesdell will interpret the music of Mozart, Ross Lee Finney, Chopin and Liszt.

BLITHE SPIRIT TO BE PRESENTED MARCH 2, 3 and 4

The William and Mary Theatre will present the three-act comedy, "Blithe Spirit," March 2, 3 and 4 in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall auditorium. Curtain time will be 8 p.m.

The play is Noel Coward's creation of a fanciful situation involving a novelist who attends a seance where his late wife is materialized. The novelist and his second wife share surprise and confusion when their home is invaded by the first wife.

Because of its hilarious and clever central plot, Howard Scammon, director of the Theatre, has commented that "Blithe Spirit" box office receipts might top those of every other production the William and Mary players have presented.

Tickets may be purchased at the box office from February 24 to March 4, 3:00 to 5:00 p.m.

RUSH NEARS CLOSE

Fraternity and sorority rush is big student news this week. The campus seems to stop and take its breath as rush parties, tired and academically unprepared students, and poor class attendance signal the taxing extracurricular demands of this hectic week. Rush will culminate in a final furious round of activities this weekend--pledgings and parties galore.

If past seasons are any indication, things should be back to "normal" next week.

PHYSICS DEPARTMENT RECEIVES RESEARCH GRANTS

The Department of Physics recently received a $40,000 research grant from the National Science Foundation. This grant will enable Dr. James D. Lawrence to conduct a research project on "The Correlation of Radio Star Scintillation with Scintillation of Satellite Signals." Dr. Lawrence and Professor Lee Kemell will be assisted by approximately four graduate students and a technician.

The department has also been awarded the following grants: General Electric Foundation Physics Grant, $2500; Atomic Energy Commission Grant, $223,000 for the construction of a physics laboratory; National Aeronautics and Space Administration Grant, $67,200 to enable Drs. Frederick R. Crownfield and Donald E. McLennan to pursue an original investigation of "Radio Frequency and Microwave Spectroscopy of Magnetized Plasmas."

TAYLOR PRESENTS SILVER TEA SET TO COLLEGE

Mr. Dwight L. Taylor of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company in Roanoke has given the College a four-piece silver tea set, including tripod, tea pot, sugar bowl and cream pitcher. Each piece in the set bears the insignia of W & M. Notable on the set's pieces are the following markings: a leopard's head signifying the London Assay Office; a lion passant indicating that the set is sterling; and the makers' mark, JTH and JHM, concerning which research must be carried out in order to identify the makers. In acknowledging the presentation, President Paschall indicated that the set will be retained as a part of the inventory of the President's House.

MAJORITY OF MALE PHYSICAL EDUCATION STUDENTS AT WILLIAM AND MARY ABOVE AVERAGE IN PHYSICAL FITNESS

Rank order listing has been compiled for 645 freshmen and sophomore male students enrolled in the compulsory physical education courses on the basis of physical fitness testing conducted during the first semester of this year.

According to the national ratings, 155 William and Mary students scored above the 80th percentile, while 99 were below the 50th percentile.

NEWS FROM THE DEPARTMENTS:

Business Administration

Professor Max B. Jones, Faculty Advisor of the William and Mary Student Chapter of the Society for Advancement of Management, moderated a management seminar entitled "Hiring the College Graduate" Saturday, February 11. Guest panelists included John Bowler, Employment Manager of Dow Chemical Company, James River Division; William A. Davis, Industrial Relations Officer of the United States Naval Weapons Station at Yorktown; Ivan J. Kovach, Representative of the Small Business Administration in Richmond; John T. Lumpkin, Branch Manager of I. B. M. in Norfolk, and Carolyn Marsh, Employment Manager of Miller and Rhoads Inc. in Richmond. Four William and Mary students participated in the panel discussion which was held in the Campus Center for businessmen of the area and students of business administration at the College.

Professor Algin B. King co-authored a chapter in a text book entitled Principles of Marketing which will be published this month by the Pitman Publishing Corporation in New York. The book was compiled under the auspices of the Committee on Marketing.

Economics

Parts of Dr. Clifford F. Owen's study on Latin America (reported in a recent Faculty Newsletter) are to be translated into German and published by the Neue Zurcher Zeitung, Zurich, Switzerland, under the title, "The New Environment for International Private Investment: Opportunity and Challenge."

English

Dr. Donald L. Ball had a review of The Selected Letters of Stephen Benet edited by Charles A. Festion, in the Richmond Times-Dispatch of January 29.

Dr. Leroy W. Smith published in the Criticism Quarterly For Literature and Art, Winter, 1961 (Vol. III, No. 1), an article entitled "Fielding and Mandeville: The War Against Virtue." In the article Mr. Smith discusses "the influence of Hobbes, Bayle and Mandeville on the thought of the novelist Henry Fielding in order to clarify Fielding's response to the 18th-century debate over the nature of man and his fitness for society." He also discusses "how Fielding resolved a personal intellectual problem: the conflict between an optimistic view of human nature and a pessimistic view of the nature of society."

Also, on January 19, Dr. Smith delivered a lecture at Bridgewater College on the subject, "Henry Fielding: Christian Moralist." The lecture was arranged by the University Center in Virginia as part of the "Visiting Lecturers from Center Institutions" program.

Dr. Fraser Neiman's review of F. P. W. McDowell's Ellen Glasgow and the Ironic Art of Fiction (University of Wisconsin Press) will appear in the spring issue of the American Scholar.

An article by Dr. Cecil McCulley entitled, "Teaching the Bible as Literature in College" will appear in the March 22 College Issue of The Christian Century. This article attempts to justify a college course in the Bible as literature on the grounds of the potential religious value of such study. He also discusses literary study as a discipline.

Dr. McCulley participated as one of five members of a panel in a discussion of the preparation of students by Virginia's public schools on January 31. The event was sponsored by the Parent-Teachers' Association of York High School. Dr. McCulley discussed the degree of college preparation necessary for high school students.

Marshall-Wythe School of Law

Dean Dudley Woodbridge was the luncheon speaker at the Virginia Trial Lawyers' Association Convention on February 11 in Williamsburg. Dean Woodbridge spoke on the topic, "Some Needed Changes in the Tort Law of Virginia." He made suggestions for substantial modifications of Virginia law with respect to the right of privacy, the duty of fathers of illegitimate children to support them, the death by wrongful act statutes, trespassing children, comparative negligence, and state and charitable immunities from tort liability.

Mathematics

Professors T. L. Reynolds and Ben Cato attended the annual meeting of the American Mathematical Society and the Mathematical Association of America in Washington, D. C. January 23 through 26

Dr. Robert M. Thrall of the Department of Mathematics of the University of Michigan will be visiting the campus March 8 to give a lecture entitled, "Mathematics and Operations Research." The lecture, which will be sponsored by the College's Department of Mathematics, will be given at 2 p.m. in Ewell 100. All interested faculty members and students are invited to attend.

Military Science and Tactics

Sergeant Philip L. Miller, an instructor of the Reserve Officers Training Corps program, retired as a Lieutenant Colonel at noon January 31 with full military honors. Miller is retiring after 23 years of service in the military, almost twelve years of which he spent at William and Mary.

These quotes from the citation read at the retirement ceremony by Major Marcus N. Gewinner indicate the calibre of his army career: "Master Sergeant Miller distinguished himself by his outstanding performance of duty at the College of William and Mary. His poise, mature judgment, military experience and professional knowledge contributed materially to the successful performance of the ROTC mission. His leadership, high sense of duty and sincere determination gained the respect and admiration of his military and civilian contemporaries."

Modern Languages

A publishing company in Portland, Maine has purchased from Dr. Gordon B. Ringgold the publication rights to his presentation of the structure or anatomy of French verbs. The work will probably be published in January 1962.

Professor Augustin Maissen is the author of "ina cronica hispanoamericana dil Grischun de 1788," an article in Gasetta Romantscha, Muster, Grisons, Switzerland, January 3, 1961. (Vol. 105, No. 1). The article is a digest and criticism of Francisco de Miranda's travel description of the Swiss Alps. It includes interesting remarks about the Romansh language. The Chamois and mountain views of the Grisons canton of Switzerland inspired de Miranda to write, "Mount Adula forms the most superb peak which the genius of Homer might have conceived." General de Miranda later became a collaborator of Bolivar and gave Colombia its name.

Dr. Maissen is also co-author of a program for the Children's Hour of Swiss Radio in Zurich (Spanish children's songs of Old and New Mexico), based on research done in Mexico and at the Library of Congress Folk Song Division.

Music

Professor Charles Varner was Guest Conductor of the Central Virginia District Allstate Workshop Band at Richmond February 10.

Dr. Frederick D. Truesdell, acting head of the department, and Professor Stephen Paledes judged contestants in the James Bland Music Competition, sponsored by the Lions Club, at the Williamsburg Lodge Tuesday, February 7.

Dr. Carl A. Fehr was Guest Conductor of the All-County Senior High School Chorus in a concert at the Bel Air, Maryland High School Monday, February 6. The concert climaxed the Harford County Schools' Mid-Winter Teachers' Conference.

The William and Mary Choir, under the direction of Dr. Fehr, will be heard on WRVA-Radio, Richmond, Sunday, February 19, at 9:20 a.m. The group's performance of the "Te Deum" by Verdi was recorded via tape in New York for presentation on the program, "Great Chorus of America." A program of William and Mary Choir music was scheduled to be broadcast Sunday, February 12, but due to technical difficulties at WRVA the program was not broadcast.

Fine Arts

The Richmond Artists' Association invited Dr. Carl Roseberg to exhibit five pieces of sculpture during the month of February in the Carillon. Dr. Roseberg is also exhibiting at the National Audubon Show in New York City. He will give a demonstration of sculpture technique at the Norfolk Museum of Arts and Sciences February 20.

Professor Thomas Thorne is exhibiting in the National Drawing Exhibition at the Norfolk Museum of Arts and Sciences. He will judge a show of Petersburg artists tomorrow.

Physical Education for Men

A physical fitness race was held February 11 which was open to any William and Mary male student. The distance run was one and one-half miles, and the event was jointly sponsored by the Men's Physical Education Department and the William and Mary Road Runners' Club. Ronald Miller won the medal with his brisk 10:42:2.

Harry Groves was recently elected vice-president of the Virginia Association of the Amateur Athletic Union.

Physics

Six members of the department attended the New York meetings of the American Physical Society February 1 through 3. Those attending were Professors George W. Crawford, Frederick R. Crownfield, Robert Lee Kernell, James D. Lawrence, Robert J. Macleay and John L. McKnight.

Psychology

Dr. E. R. Harcum visited the United States Army Aviation Human Research Unit of the U. S. Continental Army Command at Fort Rucker, Alabama January 18 through 20. He served as a consultant to the unit which is a field unit of the George Washington University Human Resources Research Office. This office operates under contract with the Department of the Army. The HumRRO unit is concerned with the task of developing methods for pilots and observers for performing certain special missions.

An article by Dorothy Dyer and E. R. Harcum, "Visual Perception of Binary Patterns by Pre-School Children and by School Children" has been accepted for publication by The Journal of Educational Psychology. The article reports the results of the research done by Miss Dyer for her Masters thesis. Observed for the study were children at Mrs. Anne Smith's Nursery School and Kindergarten, and at Matthew Whaley School. Differences between pre-school and school children were found in the patterns of errors in reproducing visual stimuli flashed on a screen, attributed to reading instructions.

Dr. Williams, head of the department, met with other members of a panel to evaluate candidates for National Science Foundation Postdoctoral Fellowships in anthropology and psychology, and for postdoctoral science fellowships sponsored by the Organization for European Economic Cooperation. The work was supervised by the National Academy of Science in Washington, D. C.

The William and Mary Theatre

The Theatre will play host to students from District E, Group III high schools at a one-act play festival March 8 in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. Schools represented will be Math Middlesex, New Kent, Pleasant Hill and West Point. Curtain time will be 1:30 p.m.

The following day the Theatre will welcome students from Group II, District I high schools. Within the group will be representatives from Deep Creek, Yorktown, Williamsburg and Gloucester. There will be performances from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Howard Scammon has cordially invited the College community to attend these high school festivals; there will be no admission charge.

From the News Bureau Staff

Reports from the departments were somewhat below average this month in that only thirteen departments reported. We attribute this to the heavy administrative work connected with the examination period, end of a semester, and beginning of a new one. We are looking forward to an increase in departmental contributions to the March publication.

In an attempt to make the Newsletter more substantial, and less a series of announcements, we will, in the future, include a brief, descriptive synopsis of each work published, or speech given. We would appreciate it very much if the author of a work would submit such a description to the Newsletter through his department head. We want to take this opportunity to thank those departments which followed this procedure for the current issue.

All Newsletters published this year are being clipped, and articles concerning the achievements of individual faculty members are filed in faculty members' public relations folders. This keeps the News Bureau informed about significant work done within the College community.

We will welcome your comments on either of the two new undertakings of our staff. We are endeavoring to increase the usefulness of this publication for the faculty, and we ask your cooperation. Thank you.

FACULTY NEWSLETTER

WOODROW WILSON FELLOWS ELECTED

With the election of five members of the class of 1961 as Woodrow Wilson Fellows, the record of the College of William and Mary in this national program continues to be outstanding. Since the inception of the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship competition in 1945, 24 graduates of this College have received awards. No other institution in Virginia has matched this record, which is exceeded in the South by only six large universities and one other college.

According to Dr. Frank B. Evans, campus representative of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, the five students whose election was announced Monday are: William Roger Earls, a mathematics major; Vida C. Kenk, a biology major; Lion G. Miles, a history major; Kenneth Simonsen, a philosophy major; and Evelyn N. Stearns, a chemistry major. Alan Brice-land, a history major, and Ann Daingerfield, a French major of the class of 1959, received honorable mention.

POLITICAL PRINCIPLES PROGRAM WINS TOP AWARD

A program in American political principles developed in cooperation with the College of William and Mary by the Republic Steel Corporation of Cleveland, Ohio, received the highest award of the Freedoms Foundation of Valley Forge last month.

The George Washington Gold Medal was presented by the Foundation to the Corporation in recognition of a program entitled "Building Political Leadership" which William and Mary organized and supervised for the benefit of more than 2000 supervisory personnel of the Cleveland Corporation. The initial stage of the training program was conducted on the William and Mary campus.

Dr. William F. Swindler, professor of law and director of development, and Dr. Anthony Sancetta, associate professor of economics, co-ordinated the program.

EVENING COLLEGE ENROLLMENT ANNOUNCED

According to John S. Quinn, associate professor of business administration and director of the Evening College, second semester enrollment in the Evening College totals 384 students compared to 356 during the fall semester. Thirty-one courses are now offered.

The largest single occupational group in the Evening College is made up of military personnel numbering 112 officers and enlisted men who comprise almost 30% of the total enrollment; 97 teachers and school administrators constitute the second largest group, or 25% of the total enrollment.

Slightly more than half of those enrolled in the Evening College hold one or more degrees, while the remaining are working toward a college degree.

Education courses attracted 37% of the total registrants; business and economics courses were second with 20% of the registrants. Most of the students taking education courses are enrolled in graduate programs.

COLLEGE DIRECTORS ATTEND EDUCATION CONFERENCE

Dr. Donald J. Herrmann, director of the program of extension of the Colleges of William and Mary, and Dr. R. C. McClelland, director of the Evening College at the College of William and Mary in Norfolk, attended the first Southern conference on higher adult education, which was held in Gatlinburg, Tennessee February 22-24.

Participants in the conference heard Dr. Turner Catledge, managing editor of the New York Times, speak on "The Responsibilities of Colleges and Universities to Provide Higher Adult Education in Terms of Today's Demands," and Dr. Robert W. French, president of the Tax Foundation, a research organization concerned with public finance and tax structure, speak on "The Changing South."

COLLEGE WOMEN'S CLUB PROGRAM

Professors Margaret Hamilton, Barbara Simpson and Richard B. Sherman were the participants in a panel discussion on the subject, "What's Ahead for the Kennedy Administration?" at the February meeting of the College Women's Club.

DEPARTMENT OF MARINE BIOLOGY CHARTS COURSE OF EXPANSION

(Editors' Note: The News Bureau staff was recently invited to Gloucester Point to see the facilities of the Virginia Fisheries Laboratory, an administrative subsidiary of the College, and its Department of Marine Biology. Dr. William J. Hargis, Jr., director of the Laboratory, conducted us through the establishment, explaining the work of the staff, research procedures and laboratory equipment. A graduate program in marine science is offered at Gloucester. VFL is one of the three most outstanding marine laboratories on the east coast.)

VFL is offering in cooperation with the National Science Foundation a Research Participation for College Teachers Program which will run for twelve weeks beginning June 22. At the same time, an Undergraduate Research Participation Program granting research experience to biology majors will be offered. Applications will be accepted by Dr. Hargis as long as there is research space available, and the quota of participants remains unfilled.

The Atomic Energy Commission has awarded $20,000 to Dr. Morris L. Brehmer and Dexter Haven of the VFL for a study of the role of filter-feeding marine organisms in removing radioactive wastes from the water and depositing them as bottom sediments. In addition to this research, Dr. Brehmer is teaching a graduate course, offered also to advanced undergraduate students, in radiobiology. The course incorporates the principles of tracer techniques and isotopes in biological research.

THIRD LECTURE OF MARSHALL-WYTHE SYMPOSIUM TODAY

Dr. L. Gray Cowan, departmental representative of the department of government and public law at Columbia University, will address the Marshall-Wythe Symposium on the subject, "New Political Movements in Africa" this afternoon in Room 100 of Washington Hall at 4 p.m. Dr. Cowan has travelled in North Africa and West Africa under the auspices of the Columbia Council for Research in the Social Sciences and the Rockefeller Foundation. He was formerly assistant director of the School of International Affairs at Columbia University.

AFRICAN FILM TO BE SHOWN MARCH 20

The award-winning film, "The Hunters," will be shown March 20 in Room 100 of Washington Hall at 7 p.m. The film is a documentary report on the bushmen of the Kalahari Desert in Africa. The New York Times hailed it as "one of the ten best non-theatrical films of 1958." The public is cordially invited to attend.

ISRAELI PIANIST TO PERFORM APRIL 12

David Bar-Illan, a third generation Palestinian, who began his professional career in 1954 and made his debut as pianist with the New York Philharmonic last January, will perform in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall at 8 p.m. April 12. Bar-Illan will interpret works of Mendelssohn, Beethoven, Paul Ben-Haim, Debussy and Schubert.

THEATRE TO PRESENT MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM APRIL 20, 21, 22

Howard Scammon will direct the performance of "Midsummer Night's Dream," a Shakespearian comedy, and last play of the William and Mary Theatre season on three April evenings at 8 p.m., the 20, 21 and 22.

The play is a complex web of inter-mingled plots concerning potions, fairies, lovers' triangles and jolly buffoonery. Scammon commented, "It will be the most exciting play of the season, both from the point of view of visual aspect and good acting."

ANNOUNCEMENT

Furnished apartments and houses are needed by students attending the National Science Foundation Institute during the two-month period beginning June 20. It is requested that faculty members having furnished quarters to rent this summer contact Dr. Ben R. Cato, assistant professor of mathematics, at extension 220.

CORRECTION

The Atomic Energy Commission Grant to the department of physics for the construction of a laboratory was $7,233 and not $223,000 as printed in the FACULTY NEWSLETTER for the month of February.

Ancient Languages

Dr. George J. Ryan, head of the department, lectured at Virginia State College in Petersburg on Aristophanes last month. Dr. Ryan described the background of the dramatist's era, the 5th century B. C. He followed this preface with an account of the important plays of Aristophanes, discussing their social, political and cultural aspects, and concluded with an analysis of the art of the playwright. The lecture was presented under the auspices of the Richmond area University Center's Visiting Scholar Program.

Business Administration

John S. Quinn, associate professor of business administration and director of the Evening College, participated in the Invitational Leadership Conference in Adult Education, sponsored by the Center For the Study of Liberal Education for Adults in Chicago March 8-10. He also attended meetings of the executive committee of the Association of University Evening Colleges of which he is a national director.

Economics

Dr. Albion G. Taylor, Chancellor Professor Emeritus of Political Economy, has just completed his award in a labor-management dispute of a trucking industry arbitration case to which he was appointed arbitrator by the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Education

Dr. Armand J. Galfo has been preparing a series of articles entitled "School Transportation--Legal Aspects of the Problem," and has been notified that the second of his papers will appear in the March-April issue of Catholic Property Administration. The articles are based upon analyses of recent decisions--at the state and national levels--dealing with the problem of providing transportation of school children. The papers present some implications which these court decisions have for administrators and boards of education in formulating school policy. The first article, which appeared in the August 1960 issue of Overview, was concerned with providing transportation for public school children, and the current piece pertains to private and parochial school pupils.

Dr. Galfo was also the guest speaker of the monthly meeting of the Tidewater Superintendents on February 13, 1961. His topic was "The New Mathematics in the High School Curriculum."

On January 26, Miss Margaret Winder served as a consultant in the teaching of reading at the mid-term educational conference for teachers in Princess Anne County. She also spoke at an in-service meeting of the Denbigh High School faculty on February 2. Her topic was "Trends in the Teaching of Arithmetic."

Dr. Donald J. Herrmann has been attending a series of conventions during the past month: March 4 he gave the keynote address at a conference of high school counselors at Virginia State College in Petersburg; March 8 he addressed a meeting of the Isle of Wight County Teachers Association at Smithfield; March 10-11 he attended the annual meeting of the Virginia Personnel and Guidance Association at the Hotel Richmond where he served on the Association's executive committee. Dr. Paul N. Clem served on the evaluation committee of the VPGA Convention.

Dr. Carl W. McCartha attended and participated in the annual State Conference of Elementary Principals and Supervisors in Roanoke March 5-8. The theme of the conference was "Education in the Elementary School."

Dr. Paul N. Clem was the guest speaker on the subject, "Elementary School Guidance," at the monthly P. T. A. meeting of Magruder School February 13. He asserted that elementary school guidance services are greatly improved through effective home-school relations, and maintained that educators should recognize the fact that no single service in elementary guidance is a panacea for problems at the elementary level, but that through the combined efforts of several services, and the cooperation of parents and teachers, the educational process at the elementary level can be improved.

English

Professor G. Glenwood Clark, head of the department, addressed the Portsmouth Junior Chamber of Commerce Wednesday, February 15 on "Empathy--The Power That Gives Us The Ability to Share with Others."

Gerald L. Dube addressed the undergraduate Classical Club on "Tennyson's Titonus: Myth as Mask" February 22. Mr. Dube also spoke to the Faust Seminar, German 404, about the distinctive conceptions of the Faust figure as entertained by Marlowe and Goethe February 23.

Fine Arts

Professor Carl Roseberg will be presented a Certificate of Distinction by the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts this evening for his ink and brush drawing, "Pine Forest." The drawing is being shown at the 18th Biennial Exhibition of Virginia Artists. Dr. Roseberg received this certificate in 1955 for a wood carving, and again in 1957 for a stone carving.

History

Dr. William Abbot will attend the eleventh Conference on Early American History to be held at the University of Michigan March 24-25. In a session devoted to an analysis of the biographical approach to history, he will present a paper in which he will attempt to marshal arguments for the writing of limited biographies dealing with political figures in early American history.

Dr. Thaddeus Tate, Jr., assistant director of research for Colonial Williamsburg, has accepted an appointment as assistant professor of history at the College. Tate will assume full-time teaching duties next fall, replacing Dr. William W. Abbot as an instructor in early American history, and as the Book Review editor of "The William and Mary Quarterly." Dr. Abbot will go to Rice University in the fall where he has accepted an appointment as associate professor of history and associate editor of "The Journal of Southern History."

Dr. Ludwell Johnson recently spoke to the Williamsburg Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy on "The Outbreak of the Civil War." Dr. Johnson is presently serving as the representative from the College on the Virginia Civil War Commission and he is the chairman of the College committee appointed to work with the Williamsburg Civil War Centennial Committee.

Marine Biology

Dr. George Moskovits, who was awarded his Ph. D. by Texas A&M in February, is a recent addition to the staff of the Virginia Fisheries Laboratory at Gloucester Point. He is assistant to Dr. John L. Wood in the Microbiology-Pathology Division, and will conduct experiments to determine the bacteria flora in the digestive system of oysters.

Mr. Richard Mulford, recently graduated from the Norfolk College of William and Mary, has joined the staff of the VFL, and is working in the Microbiology-Pathology Division with Drs. Wood and Moskovits.

Marshall-Wythe School of Law

Dr. Arthur W. Phelps, professor of law, has recently had his book, Handbook of the Virginia Rules of Equity Practice and Procedure, published by the Michie Company of Charlottesville. Professor Phelps has developed the relationship of each rule to the general scheme of Virginia equity procedure, and gives all applicable statutes and controlling cases. References are made to Lile's Equity Pleading and Practice, Burk's Pleading and Practice, and other leading Virginia publications so that the reader is instantly directed to collateral sources on any problem connected with the rules.

Dr. Phelps also had an article entitled "Pleading and Practice" appear in the 1960 Annual Survey of Virginia Law published by the Virginia Law Review.

Professor Atkeson, a member of the Board of Directors of The Tax Institute, Inc., met with the board in New York February 24 to discuss the nature of the Institute's Symposium for 1961. Areas covered by the two most recent Symposia are "Taxation and Operations Abroad" and "Management's Stake in Tax Administration." Topics tentatively considered for the 1961 program are now being reviewed incident to final selection and announcement.

Modern Languages

Professor Pierre C. Oustinoff, head of the department, has agreed to participate in the preparation of the new critical edition of Denis Diderot's works. Professor Oustinoff will deal with Diderot's writings relative to Russia.

Music

Dr. Frederick Truesdell, acting head of the department, attended the biennial national convention of the Music Teachers National Association in Philadelphia February 26-March 1. This is the private music teacher's organizational counterpart to the public school musicians' Music Educators National Conference, both of which work closely with the National Association of Schools of Music and the American Council on Education.

One of the convention's highlights was an address by Senator Jacob Javits, (R-N. Y.) concerning legislation of vital importance to American artistic and cultural development. The theme of the four-day program was "Our American Musical Heritage."

Professor Alan Stewart and Dr. Truesdell attended the spring meeting of the Virginia Music Educators Association at Radford College March 3-4 where Dr. Peter Mennin, the distinguished American composer and educator, discussed the integrated theoretical approach of the Juilliard Literature and Materials Plan. Dr. Mennin was also the guest speaker at the Formal Opening of the Fine Arts Building of Norfolk College of William and Mary March 12.

Dr. Carl A. Fehr will direct the Williamsburg Baptist Church Choir in a performance of Haydn's sacred cantata, "The Seven Last Words of Christ" Sunday, March 26 at 11 a.m. at the church.

Philosophy

Professor Frank A. MacDonald, head of the department, lectured on Mass Education at the Norfolk Museum of Fine Arts February 17. The lecture was part of the Irene Leache Memorial Lecture Series. Dr. MacDonald has just resumed his position at William and Mary following a semester's leave of absence.

Physical Education for Women

Miss Mildred Barrett attended meetings of the Southern Association for Physical Education of College Women and the Southern Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation at Atlanta, February 25-March 1.

Miss Martha Barksdale has given illustrated lectures during the past few weeks to local church groups on the Passion Play of Oberammergau which she saw presented in Germany last summer.

Psychology

Dr. Eugene R. Harcum spoke to the weekly Colloquium of staff and graduate students of the University of Virginia's Psychology department February 22. In his talk, "Research Pattern Perception at the College of William and Mary," Dr. Harcum described and discussed several experiments done at William and Mary under the sponsorship of his research grant from the Public Health Service.

Dr. Peter Derks will present an experimental report, "The Generality of the Conditioning Axiom in Human Binary Prediction," at the annual meeting of the Eastern Psychological Association in Philadelphia April 7-8.

Sociology and Anthropology

The second published volume of the Marshall-Wythe Symposium, Unsolved Issues in American Society, edited by Dr. R. Wayne Kem odle, head of the department, was reviewed in the February issue of The American Sociological Review by Dr. Morroe Berger, professor of anthropology at Princeton University. According to Dr. Berger, "It is by no means easy to deal satisfactorily with an 'unsolved issue in American society' in a brief, popular essay, but most of the contributors to this symposium have managed to do so." Dr. Berger describes the approaches to six different social issues--civil liberties, segregation, the maintenance of standards in the expansion of higher education, the role of religion in urban society, juvenile delinquency and the growing role of politics in the American economy--of Patrick Malin, Brooks Hays, Frederick H. Jackson, Milton Yinger, Joseph D. Lohman and Clair Wilcox.

The William and Mary Theatre

On March 8 the Theatre played host to four Virginia high schools in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall: West Point, Pleasant Hill, Middlesex and Mathews. These schools, which are members of District E, Group III, held a one-act play festival here. Howard Scammon acted as judge and critic of the performances, and Albert Haak supervised backstage activities.

On March 9 the Theatre welcomed the six high schools of District I, Group 2: York, James Blair, Windsor, Prince George, Portsmouth and Virginia Beach. These schools also participated in a one-act play competition.

The Theatre produced "There Are Lies Like Truth," a new play by Robert Wachs and Scott Glen, William and Mary students, Sunday evening, March 12. This one-act drama was directed by Howard Scammon; Al Haak supervised the production's lighting and technical aspects. The play will represent William and Mary at the Yale University Drama Festival March 24.

CURRENT REPORT ON THE NEW LIBRARY CAMPAIGN

As of Friday, April 7, the results of the campaign for the proposed College of William and Mary Library are as follows:

Original State Appropriation	$1,000,000
Proceeds from sale of real estate, earmarked for the library	174,900
Gifts or pledges from individuals	73,351

JUNIOR SCIENCE DAY TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Dr. Richard G. Canham, assistant professor of chemistry and chairman of Junior Science Day at the College, has announced that two Science Clubs and 50 individuals will exhibit projects tomorrow. Approximately 75 students and 15 sponsors are expected altogether. The exhibits will be open to the public from 11:00 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. The annual program which features scientific displays and models built by high school students in the Tidewater area is jointly sponsored by the Virginia Junior Academy of Science and the College.

Each entry is submitted for judging on the basis of research and scientific thought, effective presentation of research and independent creative ability and skill. This year, for the first time, a science library of 50 authoritative paperbound Mentor and Signet books will be among the awards at the competition. The books, made available by the New American Library of World Literature, Inc. in New York, are all on the recommended list of "An Inexpensive Science Library," a bibliography selected by the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

DELAWARE AND NEW YORK ON BAND ITINERARY

Concert-goers in Newark, Delaware and Ossining, New York will hear the William and Mary Concert Band perform the music of Bach, Wagner, Handel, and contemporary composers Jaromir Weinberger, Paul Dukas and William Grant Still next week. The band's tour is scheduled for April 20 - 23.

The Concert Band presented the 1961 Carl Hibbard Memorial Concert last night in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. The concert's proceeds are designated for the Carl Hibbard Band Scholarship Fund which was established in 1958 by Captain and Mrs. R. C. Hibbard in memory of their late son, a former student at the College who would have graduated with the class of 1958.

WILLIAM AND MARY CHOIR TAKES ANNUAL TOUR

Forty members of the 62-member William and Mary Choir will go on a concert tour to Lynchburg and Roanoke April 20-22. The Lynchburg performance is being sponsored by that area's alumni chapter. The Choir's concert in Roanoke will be sponsored by the Cosmopolitan Club in support of the Roanoke Valley Speech Clinic. On April 21, the Choir will appear on the "Ann Howard Program," which is broadcast over WDBJ-TV, the local Roanoke television station.

The College and Williamsburg communities will hear the Choir in concert May 5 and 6 at 8 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. This year's program features Handel's monumental work, "The Dettingen Te Deum," composed in 1743, two years after "The Messiah," to commemorate the Battle of Dettingen of The War of Austrian Succession. With a view toward variety, the program includes a number of folk songs and selections from "The Music Man."

WILLIAM AND MARY THEATRE TO PRESENT "MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM"

The fourth and last presentation of the William and Mary Theatre will be Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream" to be performed April 20, 21, 22 at 8 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

The cast and technicians have outdone themselves in giving to this romantic comedy the zest and liveliness that would have been notable when it was first presented to the "nutcracking Elizabethan" audience.

For this performance the Theatre makes use of such devices as a scrim curtain, which is only transparent when a light shines behind it, to lend a magical aura to the capricious cast, and chairs which double as rocks when the scene changes. Theatre-goers next weekend will witness the use of intricate platforms and levelled, stepped and ramped areas which instantly become settings as actors speak the arresting lines of Shakespeare.

Howard Scammon is the director of the coming production; Al Haak is technical supervisor, and Russell Hastings has designed the sets.

MANAGEMENT SEMINAR BEGINS MAY 15

A Management Seminar in Decision-Making will be sponsored jointly by the College of William and Mary and the IBM Corporation May 15 through June 8. Under the direction of Algin B. King, acting head of the Department of Business Administration, the seminar will be held in Rooms A, B, and C. of the Campus Center, and will consist of teams of participants playing simulated business games in which the business decisions of several years are made in a day.

Each team will be assigned a set of starting values, in terms of assets and share of the market. The game is divided into periods representing fiscal quarters. Based on a quarterly operating statement each team will make decisions involving the allocation of marketing and production funds as well as the pricing of the commodity. These new decisions are fed into an IBM 650 Computer which determines the interactions of all companies on the total market. The ultimate goal for each team is to put itself in a good financial position, increase assets, make a good return on the initial investment and operate under sound, long-range plans.

The staffs or and selected students from the departments of business and economics of the College and its divisions, as well as selected businessmen, bankers and military personnel in the area will be invited to attend and participate in playing the one-day game during the seminar. Each day of the seminar will constitute one complete session; new teams will play each day.

THE WILLIAM AND MARY THEATRE PERFORMS AT YALE DRAMA FESTIVAL

William and Mary was one of 12 colleges selected from 41 colleges and universities applying to participate in the Fifth Yale Festival of Undergraduate Drama which was held at the Yale School of Drama in New Haven March 24-26. The cast of "There Are Lies Like Truth," co-authored by William and Mary seniors Scott Glenn and Robert Wachs, performed Friday, March 24, in the first drama-classification, "Originals." Also presenting original plays were the theatre groups from Bowdoin and Mount Holyoke Colleges. According to Howard Scammon, director of the student production, the William and Mary group was satisfied in that "they had learned a great deal in respect to the theatre and performing in productions; it was stimulating to see the work of eleven other colleges and knowing the work of William and Mary is equal to the work being done in other places."

STURGELL TO ATTEND INTERNATIONAL COLLEGE UNIONS CONVENTION

J. S. Sturgell, director of the Campus Center, will represent the College April 16-19 at the 38th annual Association of College Unions international conference at Colorado Springs, Colo.

Approximately 325 delegates from colleges throughout the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico are expected to attend.

This year's conference theme will be "Higher Education and the National Purpose."

Ancient Languages

Dr. George J. Ryan, head of the department, spoke last month to a seminar of freshman English instructors on Sophocles' "Oedipus, The King." Dr. Ryan analyzed the play from the standpoint of a Greek audience, read numerous passages from the original drama and discussed ways of interpreting it for first-year students. The participants of the seminar took part in a lively discussion following Dr. Ryan's remarks.

Education

Dr. Howard K. Holland, head of the department, participated in a panel discussion at the annual meeting of the American Association of School Administrators in Philadelphia, Pa. March 27 through the 29.

On April 7 Dr. Donald J. Herrman sponsored a workshop at the College for those high school principals and counselors in this area who participated in "Project Talent."

Dr. Deore Cannon attended the National Defense Education Act Institute Directors Conference at Colorado Springs, Colorado March 22-25 and the American Personnel and Guidance Association Conference at Denver, Colorado March 26-29.

In the April issue of Overview is an article by Dr. Armand J. Galfo entitled, "Keep Your Staff Out of Court." The piece is based upon an analysis of court cases which have involved teachers and other school employees. It is aimed at providing school administrators with measures which may be taken to protect school employees from legal entanglements.

The March issue of the Virginia Education Journal also contains an article by Dr. Armand J. Galfo. Its title is: "The Master of Education Degree--What Kind of Graduate Study Should It Encompass?" In this article, Dr. Galfo presents a historical review of the development of the Master of Education degree, and a discussion of weaknesses in graduate education programs which have evolved. He concludes with a description of a new and promising approach to graduate work leading to the Masters of Education which has been instituted by the Department of Education, College of William and Mary.

English

Mr. Donald L. Ball has recently reviewed the following books for the Richmond Times-Dispatch: Oscar Wilde, a Pictorial Biography by Vyvyan Holland, March 19, 1961; The Philosophy of Edmund Burke, a Selection from His Speeches and Writings, edited by Louis Bredvold and Ralph G. Ross, April 2, 1961, and lastly; Children of the Mist, a True and Important Account of An Eighteenth Century Scandal, by Elizabeth Foster, April 9, 1961.

Mr. Glenwood Clark reviewed Nancy Astor: an Informal Biography, by Maurice Collis, before the James River Woman's Club in Richmond March 22.

Economics

Dr. Albion G. Taylor has returned from the Oak Ridge, Tennessee area where he recently arbitrated three federal cases involving the United Steelworkers Union.

History

Messrs. Cappon, Ferguson and Towner will attend the meetings of the Mississippi Valley Historical Association in Detroit, April 20-22.

Dr. Cappon attended a meeting of the program committee of the American Historical Association at Duke University March 31.

Dr. Ludwell H. Johnson has been appointed chairman of the College Committee for the Williamsburg Civil War Centennial.

Marshall-Wythe School of Law

Professor Thomas Atkeson met with the Education Committee of the Tax Executive's Institute in Washington March 26 for the purpose of advancing the Committee's program to increase the use of corporate tax executives as guest lecturers in law schools and graduate schools of business administration.

As a member of the Advisory Committee of the Committee of Internal Revenue, Dr. Atkeson met with the other members for a two-day discussion with Commissioner Caplin March 30-31. The agenda items involved conference and ruling policies, reversal of agent's determination by review staff, extensions of time requests for technical advice, foreign tax problems, the dividend and interest gap, a committee on interpretative policy and the tapping of the resources of universities and other institutions in solving certain basic research problems.

Dr. William F. Swindler, professor of legal history, has received a small grant from the William Volker Fund of Burlingame, California in order to acquire materials for a comprehensive annotated bibliography on American Constitutional development. The bibliography is expected to cover ultimately more than 20,000 titles.

The two-volume work, Colonial Virginia, by Dr. Richard L. Morton, Chancellor professor of history emeritus, which was printed by the University of North Carolina Press, has been recognized by the New York Employing Printers' Association with a Certificate of Merit for 1960.

Modern Languages

Professor Marcel Reboussin's article, "Giraudoux and The Madwoman of Chaillet," was published in the March issue of The Educational Theatre Journal. (See William and Mary Theatre.)

Music

Dr. Frederick D. Truesdell, acting head of the department, and Professor Charles R. Varner attended the State Conference for Music Teachers, sponsored by the State Department of Education, which was held Friday night, April 7, in Old Cabell Hall at the University of Virginia. Professor Varner gave a lecture and demonstration on "Arranging and Score Adjustment--Effective Tools for Teaching."

Professor Varner also adjudicated for the Virginia Music Educators Association District IV Music Festival, Grades IV, V and VI, at Wakefield High School in Arlington March 25. He spoke at the York High School Career Day Assembly April 11.

An article entitled, "The Selected Choir in a Liberal Arts College," by Dr. Carl A. Fehr appeared in the March issue of The American Choral Directors Association Journal. In this article Dr. Fehr discussed the organization, problems of preparation and concertizing, and the place of the selected choir in the life of a liberal arts college.

On March 25, Dr. Fehr served as adjudicator of the Choral Festival of the Eastern Region Music Conference of the Virginia Teachers Association at Hampton Institute. He attended and participated in the convention of the American Choral Directors Association in Columbus, Ohio April 5 and 6.

Last month the William and Mary Choir, under the direction of Dr. Carl A. Fehr, performed for a conference of ambassadors of the new nations which was held here by the Institute of International Education. The Choir presented a varied program, with stress on selections by American composers and American folk tunes, in the East Lounge of the Williamsburg Inn March 12.

Mr. Stephen Paledes will conduct the orchestra for the Backdrop Club Production of "Finian's Rainbow" May 11, 12 and 13. The orchestra will be largely composed of members of the William and Mary Band and Orchestra. Mr. Paledes spoke to the junior and senior classes at Bruton Heights High School on "Careers in Music" March 10.

Professor Alan C. Stewart participated as assisting artist on viola with the Feldman Chamber Music Society in Concert April 5 at Myers Hall, Beth El Temple in Norfolk.

Physical Education for Women

Misses Barksdale, Pattison, Sande and Reeder attended the meetings of the Virginia Association for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation at the Hotel Chamberlin, Ft. Monroe, March 24.

Psychology

Several members of the department will attend the meetings of the Virginia Academy of Science May 11-13 in Lexington. Papers will be read by Dr. E. R. Marcum and Miss Dyer, by most of the graduate students, and by two seniors, Read Bromleigh and Patsy Mantz.

Sociology and Anthropology

Professor Edwin H. Rhyne presented a paper to the theory section of the annual meeting of the Southern Sociological Society which met in Miami April 5-7.

Professors David Gray and James Shuster attended the meetings of the Eastern Sociological Society in New York over the spring recess.

Professors Wayne Kernodle and Nathan Altshuler recently presented a series of five lectures to the Residency Training Program in Psychiatry at Eastern State Hospital.

William and Mary Theatre

An article by M. Marcel Reboussin, associate professor of modern languages, entitled "Giraudoux and The Madwoman of Chaillot" was published in the March Educational Theatre Journal, the official publication of the American Educational Theatre Association.

The article first appeared in Seminar, April 1959, having been originally presented as a lecture to the William and Mary Theatre prior to their fall 1958 production of The Madwoman of Chaillot.

Professor Reboussin presents a brief synopsis of Jean Giraudoux's life, and the background of "The Madwoman" in order "to tighten... the bonds of communion and communication that the play creates between the authors, the actors, and ourselves." He praises Giraudoux's vital and poignant representations of goodness, honesty and justice via his characters and he notes the playwright's inventive style: "He hankers for a brilliant world in which everything is fresh from the Hand of God, and he creates it."

TO THE FACULTY:

The next Faculty Newsletter will not be released before May 20 in order to include in that last issue of the regular session all significant news concerning graduation and end-of-the-year events. We hope that you will inform us of interesting summer plans as well as pertinent activities in which you will participate this month and in May and June. Thank you.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES TO BE HELD JUNE 11

Weather permitting, traditional commencement ceremonies will be observed in the Wren Yard Sunday, June 11. Winthrop Rockefeller, chairman of the Boards of Colonial Williamsburg, Inc. and The Williamsburg Restoration, Inc., will address the Commencement gathering. Dr. Vernon Britt Richardson, Pastor of the University Baptist Church in Baltimore, will deliver the Baccalaureate sermon at 10:45 a.m. on Commencement Day. Honorary Doctor of Laws degrees will be awarded Rockefeller and Robert Edward Henley, an alumnus and noted business and civic leader of Virginia. An honorary Doctor of Letters degree will be presented to Mrs. Lawrence L. Roberts, poetess and editor of "The Lyric," Virginia magazine of poetry. The Choir will sing "Holy Radiant Light" by Gretchaninoff.

Dr. William G. Guy will be the Head Marshal for the Baccalaureate and Commencement processions which will proceed in the following order: Marshal; Choir; Colors; Dr. Fowler and Dr. Abbot, Marshals; The Official Party, preceded by the Mace; President's Aides; Dr. Kernodle and Dr. McCary, Marshals; Deans Jones and Woodbridge; Faculty in order of seniority; Candidates or Recipients of Advanced Degrees; Dr. Baldwin and Dr. Kallos, Marshals; Candidates or Recipients of the A. B. and B. S. degrees.

FOUR MEN TO RECEIVE DEGREES OF MASTER OF LAW AND TAXATION

There are four candidates for the ML&T degree this year constituting the largest number of candidates for any year since the program was inaugurated. The candidates are: Robert Sherrill Bersch, A.B. and LL.B., University of Virginia; Amos Overton Durrett, Jr., B.B.A., University of Missouri, B.C.L., College of William and Mary; Bernard Goldstein, A.B. and B.C.L., College of William and Mary; and Richard Dale Schwab, A.B., Capital University and LL.B., Ohio State University.

The ML&T degree was offered for the first time by the College in 1954. It is designed to provide intensified study of the social, economic and technical phases of taxation, and usually represents one year's work in the tax field after the baccalaureate and law degrees have been obtained.

WILLIAM AND MARY CHAPTER OF AAUP ELECTS OFFICERS

At a recent meeting, members of the College chapter of the American Association of University Professors elected officers for the 1961-62 term: Professor Frank A. MacDonald, head of the Department of Philosophy, was elected president. New vice-president is Dr. Bryant Harrell of the Department of Chemistry. Dr. Carl Dolmetsch of the Department of English and Dr. Alexander Kallos of the Department of Modern Languages will serve as the group's secretary and treasurer respectively.

SIX PROFESSORS RECEIVE UNIVERSITY CENTER RESEARCH GRANTS

Research grants of $250 to $650 have been awarded by the University Center in Virginia to six faculty members for specialized work in their respective fields.

Dr. Leon Golden, assistant professor of Ancient Languages, received a $500 grant for research on "The Role of Zeus in the Plays of Aeschylus."

Dr. Ludwell H. Johnson, associate professor of history, was awarded a $500 grant for work on "The Influence of Party Politics and Pressure Groups on the Conduct of the Civil War."

Dr. John L. McKnight, associate professor of physics, received $500 for research into "The Logic of Quantum Mechanical Observables."

Dr. Bruce T. McCully, professor of history, received $600 for the research project, "A Biographical Study of Colonel Francis Nicholson: the man, the soldier, the professional colonial administrator."

Dr. Augustin Maissen, instructor in Modern Languages, received $250 for work on "The Correspondence of F. Philipp von Segesser, S. J., Pioneer-Missionary of the Southwest, 1731-1761."

Dr. Fraser Neiman, professor of English, was awarded $650 for research on "The American Career of the Reverend Samuel Henley."

FIVE FACULTY MEMBERS ATTEND HOLLAND'S INAUGURATION AT HAMPTON INSTITUTE

Five members of the William and Mary Faculty, representing various other colleges and organizations, attended the ceremonies inaugurating Jerome Heartwell Holland as president of Hampton Institute.

Fraser Neiman represented the Colleges of William and Mary; Althea Hunt represented Allegheny College; Gordon Ringgold represented Denison University; W. Warner Moss represented the American Association of University Professors; and John T. Baldwin represented the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa at Holland's investiture.

NATIONAL HEALTH INSTITUTE AWARDS GRANT TO MARINE BIOLOGY DEPARTMENT

Dr. William J. Hargis, Jr., director of the Department of Marine Biology announced last week that the National Institute of Health awarded a health research facilities grant amounting to $27,345 to the Virginia Institute of Marine Science (formerly known as the Virginia Fisheries Laboratory). This grant will defray part of the construction cost of the new Microbiology-Pathology building now nearing completion at Gloucester Point.

ALUMNI CANVASS FOR LIBRARY FUND APPROACHING $100,000

The phase of the library canvass directed at individual alumni and friends of the College is in its final stages, and it is estimated that the total contributions will exceed $100,000. This amount is greater than the sum raised by individual gifts for Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall by approximately $70,000. With the completion of this drive, about $1.27 million will have been raised and appropriated for the construction of the new library.

In the course of the canvass special facilities have been definitely earmarked as memorials. These include: two "Century Alcoves," the Documents Reading Room, Virginia Room (tentative), one faculty office, one seminar room, library staff and conference room, eight study desks and five study carrels.

Funds have been initiated in memoriam to: The Rev. William Dawson, D.D., president of the College of William and Mary 1743-1752; Dr. Edwin Elliott Willoughby, professor of library science at the College of William and Mary 1932-35; Thomas Jefferson Stubbs, Master of Grammar School and professor of mathematics at the College of William and Mary, 1868-69 and 1888-1915, respectively; Dr. Joseph Roy Geiger, professor of philosophy and psychology at William and Mary 1916-1935; Archie Garnett Ryland, professor of French at the College 1928-1952; Dr. George B. Zehmer, associate professor of education at the College 1921-23; Channing Moore Hall, alumnus and member of the Board of Visitors 1937-1946; Dr. Grace Warren Landrum, professor of English and Dean of Women at William and Mary 1927-1947. Several others will be announced when funds are completed.

ASIAN STUDIES PROGRAM INSTITUTED

During the 1961-62 academic session the College will participate in an Asian Studies Program, initiated by the University of Buffalo, which will be coordinated at William and Mary by Dr. Ikua Chou, Professor of Government. Eight Asian scholars, representing eight different disciplines, preferably four in the social sciences and four in the humanities, will be in residence here for one month each, beginning in September. Four scholars will visit the campus each semester, and the lectures of the four visitors will constitute a regular 3-hour course. Also, a Colloquium for faculty and students will be offered for faculty and students to provide an opportunity for general discussions with the visiting scholars. The program will be simultaneously inaugurated in 7 other American colleges and universities, and is being financed by the Asia Foundation, the Department of State and the Fulbright Committee. Final details of the program are to be arranged after the representative of the University of Buffalo returns from the Far East where he will select these 8 scholars.

Ancient Languages

Dr. Talbot Selby addressed the Italian 402 class on "Earliest Biographies of Dante" last month.

Sixty teachers of Latin and Greek in Virginia high schools and colleges participated in a Classical Association meeting here May 13 at the invitation of the Department of Ancient Languages, it being the first time in several years that this meeting has been held at William and Mary. Papers were read in the morning, after which Association members attended a luncheon meeting.

Biology

Dr. R. A. Pedigo will deliver a paper at a Symposium on Radioecology at Colorado State University in the fall, September 11-15.

Chemistry

Dr. Alfred A. Armstrong spoke before the section of science teachers of the Virginia Academy of Science at their annual meeting in Lexington May 10-13. Armstrong discussed "Reactions of the College to Advanced Placement Courses" under the theme of the program, "Trends in Science Teaching."

Dr. Bryant Harrell, recently elected president of the William and Mary chapter of the American Association of University Professors, and president of the Virginia Conference of AAUP chapters, was a delegate to that organization's annual meeting in Boston April 20-22.

Economics

Dr. C. F. Owen has been informed that his article, "The New Environment for International Private Investment: Opportunity and Challenge," which was published under the title, "Nationalismus und Entwicklungshilfe" in the Neue Zurcher Zeitung, Zurich, Switzerland is to be translated into Portuguese and published by the Instituto Brasileiro de Relacoes Internacionais, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

Education

Dr. Howard K. Holland, head of the department, represented the College at the semi-annual meeting of the Southern Conference at George Washington University May 5.

Dr. Holland also attended the meeting of All-Division Superintendents in Roanoke April 17, 18, 19. At this meeting he described William and Mary's revamped Master's Degree Program for prospective school administrators.

Dr. Carl W. McCartha participated in the Career Day program at York High School April 11. He spoke to three groups on "Teacher Education."

Dr. Roderick Ironside attended the International Reading Association meeting in St. Louis, Missouri May 4, 5, 6 at which he participated in a seminar on "Perception." He also attended the College Reading Conference in Easton, Pennsylvania April 22, where the topic of major concern was "Adequate College Preparation for Teachers of Reading in the Elementary School."

Dr. Deore J. Cannon will direct a Counseling and Guidance Training Institute at the College this summer from June 19 to July 28. This program is part of the NDEA, and is designed to raise the level of counseling competence of currently employed secondary school counselors. Members of his staff are:

Dr. Cynthia Benzing, Wilmington, Delaware
Dr. Annie W. Ward, DeLand, Florida
Dr. Gordon Kingsley, University of Minnesota
Dr. William Angoff, Princeton, New Jersey
Dr. Ella Sanders, Los Angeles, California
Mr. Charles Devonshire, San Mateo, California

Dr. Donald J. Herrmann, in cooperation with the Virginia Department of Education, will sponsor an Institute for Counselors at the College this summer from June 19 to July 28.

Dr. Armand J. Galfo is currently serving as a consultant to the United States Navy Training Command, Atlantic Fleet. The Command is engaged in a research project on the training of missile systems teams.

Professor Robert H. McMurry has accepted an appointment as Elementary Supervisor in the Charlottesville Public School System. He will assume the duties of this position in July.

The Education Department is undertaking a follow-up study of its students after graduation with the intent of improving the professional education program. Over 500 classroom teachers and administrators educated at William and Mary have been located to date.

The department's instructional staff has been augmented to 15 full-time members to meet the needs of the anticipated number of teachers who will be enrolled in education courses during the summer.

English

Dr. Donald L. Ball has reviewed two books for the Richmond Times Dispatch: The Age of Reason by Sir Harold Nicholson, May 7, and George Eliot: The Woman, by Margaret Crompton, May 21.

Dr. David Jenkins has had a short story, "Summer: Sun and Shade," included in Midland, Random House, 1961. This volume, edited by Paul Engle, is an anthology of fiction and poetry selected from 25 years of work done under the auspices of The Writing Workshops of the State University of Iowa.

Government

Dr. W. Warner Moss, head of the department and a member of the National Council of the AAUP and its Committee on College and University Government, attended the annual meeting of the association in Boston April 18-23. As chairman of the committee which investigated Monmouth College (New Jersey), Dr. Moss supported the resolution condemning the administration of the college as intolerable.

Dr. Moss addressed members of the Clemson College and Furman University faculties May 5 in Clemson, South Carolina on the subject, "Faculty-Administration Relations."

Dr. Ikua Chau attended a conference in Washington May 8-10 held under the auspices of the United States Information Service. The weekend following that conference he visited the University of Buffalo to discuss the projected plan for Asian scholars to visit William and Mary.

Professor Edwin W. Webber has accepted an appointment as assistant director of the Bureau of Government Research and assistant professor of Political Science at the University of Rhode Island. He will assume the new position July 1.

History

Richard B. Sherman's article, "Foss of Massachusetts: Demagogue or Progressive?", was published in the April issue of Mid-America.

At its annual meeting in Williamsburg May 5, 6, the Council of the Institute of Early American History and Culture adopted a resolution in recognition of the distinguished service of Dr. W. W. Abbott as book review editor of the William and Mary Quarterly. The Council also elected Dr. Harold L. Fowler to its executive committee.

Dr. L. W. Towner has been appointed Research Fellow at the Center for the Study of the History of Liberty in America, Harvard University, for the coming academic year. Dr. Towner will be on leave-of-absence from William and Mary.

Home Economics

Mrs. Miller and Miss Wilkin attended the Virginia Home Economics Association meeting in Roanoke May 20-22.

Miss Wilkin took her textile design class on a field trip to Washington, D. C. May 10 to visit the Textile Museum, National Gallery of Art and Gunston Hall.

Marine Biology

Dr. William J. Hargis, Jr., head of the department, and Dr. John L. Wood appeared before the Senate Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce March 16 at the invitation of Senator Warren G. Magnuson (Washington) in support of his bill (S901) to promote marine science. Representatives from Scripps Institution of Oceanography and other major laboratories were present. Remarks by Dr. Hargis appear in the Congressional Record.

At its last meeting the Board of Administration of Virginia's marine laboratory promoted Dr. Edwin B. Joseph of the Ichthyology (fish research) Department; Dr. Morris L. Brehmer, Ecology-Pollution Department; Dr. John L. Wood, Microbiology-Pathology Department; and, Mr. Willard A. Van Engle, Carcinology (crab research) Department, to Senior Marine Scientists. Their advancement to the highest scientific ranks in the Laboratory system is a reflection of the increasing duties and responsibilities which have been placed in the hands of these men as heads of rapidly growing research departments.

Marshall-Wythe School of Law

Professor Arthur W. Phelps will work this summer on a revision of Cohen's book, Divorce and Alimony in Virginia and West Virginia; it will be published by the Michie Company of Charlottesville in the fall.

Professor and Mrs. Phelps will attend the annual conference of Federal Judges of the Fourth Circuit in Asheville, North Carolina June 26-28 as representatives of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law.

Professors Joseph Curtis and William F. Swindler represented the Law School at the meeting of the American Law Institute in Washington, D. C. last week.

Steadily increasing interest is shown by colleges, national tax societies and other groups in the policy and legal and administrative features of the Law School's tax educational program, as reflected by activities in which Professor Thomas Atkeson has been requested to participate. Some current activities are as follows:

Claremont Men's College, Claremont, California - Dr. Atkeson will serve as one of the leaders of Claremont College's Tax Seminar on Federal, State and Local Tax Policy to be held June 12-23.

Tax Institute, inc., Princeton, N. J. - As a member of the Institute's Board of Directors and program chairman of the 1961 Symposium to be held in New York December 7-8, he met with the committee in Washington May 26, for the purpose of developing the program details under the general subject for this year, "Reappraisal of Business Taxation."

University of Virginia - At the request of the Virginia Industrial Management Conference, sponsored by the Graduate School of Business Administration of the University and the Virginia Manufacturers Association, held in Charlottesville April 14-15, he led the conference session relating to "The Outlook in the Field of Taxation." A substantially similar subject was covered by him for the Cleveland Tax Club at Cleveland on April 17.

Virginia State Chamber of Commerce - As vice-chairman of the Virginia State Chamber's Tax Study Committee on the revision of the Virginia Tax Laws, he has presided over the Steering Committee of this group at several sessions held in Richmond during the past several weeks for the purpose of planning the scope, direction and content of the study, which is to be completed prior to the next session of the Assembly.

Mathematics

Professor R. D. H. Jones has been awarded a summer grant to study at the Southern Universities Conference in Statistics at Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

Military Science and Tactics

Six weeks of summer camp will begin June 18 for 56 juniors enrolled in the ROTC program. They will train this summer at Fort Bragg, North Carolina instead of Fort Knox, which has been the training site in previous years. The cadets will receive intensive instruction in troop leading procedures and weapons orientation.

Members of the Military Science staff who will attend the summer camp are Lt. Col. Duke, Professor of Military Science, Lt. Col. Gewinner and Major Jenkins, Assistants to the PMS, and MSGTs. Kloe and Patrick, instructors. The training period will terminate July 28.

Modern Languages

Dr. Jean Scammon and Dr. Lewis Hoffman attended the joint meeting of the Virginia Chapters of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese and the American Association of Teachers of French held at Longwood College April 22.

Dr. Scammon, as tournament chairman of the Virginia Modern Language Association, directed French and Spanish contests in 250 schools. About 3500 students participated. Two college scholarships, one in French and one in Spanish, 48 cash prizes and 24 medals were awarded by Miss Scammon.

An article by Dr. E. Lewis Hoffman, "El Teatro Naciente de Hispanoamerica," was selected by Hispania to be published in an anthology of articles from that journal on Hispanic-American themes written by American scholars. Publication will be next fall.

Dr. Alexander Kallos read a paper, "Ebene and Zanga, Genii of Evil" at the 14th University of Kentucky Foreign Language Conference, held in Lexington April 27-29. The speaker attempted to show the attitude of Voltaire and Grillparzer, respectively, towards the possibility of purging evil in dreams.

Music

Dr. Frederick Truesdell, acting head of the department, has accepted an appointment as Minister of Music at the Williamsburg Presbyterian Church. The Church's Music Committee is planning a summer music program which will include choral works by master composers Mozart, Palestrina, Purcell, and Bach. A feature presentation is to be a selection from Haydn's oratorio, "The Creation."

Professor Charles Varner was Guest Conductor for the Middle Peninsula Massed Band Concert April 29, 1961. He will direct the Summer Band School for High School and Junior High School students.

Dr. Carl Fehr was conductor of the Choral Workshop for the Dinwiddie County High Schools May 19, 20 and 21. He will serve as Musical Director and Organist for "The Common Glory" this summer.

Mr. Stephen Paledes expects to complete the requirements for the degree, Master of Arts at American University in Washington, D. C. during the summer.

Philosophy

Mr. Garry M. Brodsky successfully completed his final oral examinations early this month, and will receive the Ph. D. in Philosophy from Yale University in June. His dissertation topic concerned John Dewey.

Physical Education for Women

Members of the department will be engaging in the following activities this summer: Mildred Barrett will be program director for Camp Allegheny in West Virginia; Joan Pattison will attend summer school at the University of Colorado in Boulder; Marion Reeder plans to tour the British Isles with English and Scottish friends; Rona Sande will complete requirements for the M.Ed. degree at William and Mary; and Martha Barksdale will be vacationing in the United States.

Physics

Drs. James Donald Lawrence and John Lacy McKnight have been invited to Blacksburg to participate in a two-week Conference on the Physics of the Solar System and Reentry Dynamics, co-sponsored by the Virginia Polytechnic Institute and the National Science Foundation, in cooperation with the Langley Research Center of NASA. The conference, beginning July 31, will bring together 100 participants from the United States and approximately 30 internationally known specialists who will lecture to the group.

Psychology

Dr. E. R. Harcum recently attended the NAS-NRC Armed Forces Vision Committee meeting in Washington, D. C.

Several papers were read by Professor Harcum and a number of students at meetings of the psychology section of the Virginia Academy of Science at its annual meeting in Lexington May 10-13:

Patsy Mantz, a graduating senior, presented "A Study in Overcoming Boredom and Fatigue in a Monotonous Task."

Read Bromleigh, a graduating senior, discussed "The Effect of Letter-symmetry on Distribution of Errors in Tachistoscopic Letter-Targets."

Maurice Wilson, candidate for the master's degree, discussed "The Reversal of Strong and Weak Habits under High and Low Drives."

Dr. Harcum and Rosemary Hartman presented "A Serial-Learning Effect within the Perceptual Span."

Dr. Harcum and Dorothy Dyer analyzed "Error-Contours for Binary Patterns as a Function of Practice."

Mr. David S. Camp presented "The Effects of Simultaneous versus Successive Presentation on Hemifield Differences within the Perceptual Span."

Dr. Harcum served as chairman of a morning program of papers at the meeting.
