COACHING STAFF

Head coach John Daly is one of only four coaches in NCAA Division I women's soccer to win 300 games at the same school.

THE TRIBE

Senior Juli Valls and junior Kaitlin O'Connor will serve as team captains for the College in 2009.

HISTORY

W&M has won nine Colonial Athletic Association Championships and advanced to the NCAA Tournament on 23 occasions.

The William and Mary women's soccer program received a major facility upgrade in 2004 with the completion of Albert-Daly Field, an all-grass complex that gives the Tribe program the possibility of hosting NCAA Tournament matches. Named for William and Mary's long-time men's and women's soccer coaches, Al Albert and John Daly, the field is used by both soccer teams as well as by the College's lacrosse team. In its short time, Albert-Daly Field has generated a considerable home-field advantage for the William and Mary women's soccer program. The Tribe has enjoyed a 34-10-8 (.731) home record since competition began at the complex in 2004 and garnered a record of 23-2-3 (.875) against Colonial Athletic Association schools.

"I'm very, very happy," said Daly at the dedication. "I think it's badly needed for both the men's and women's soccer and lacrosse programs. Jim and Bobbie Ukrop's gift is just tremendous. It's going to help in every way from scheduling and recruiting to the perception of the program."

The previous home of the Tribe soccer teams was Busch Field, which features an artificial playing surface that prohibited the College from hosting NCAA tournament matches. W&M's women participated in 27 NCAA tournament matches in the years before Albert-Daly field was completed, and only four were held in Williamsburg, none since 1992. The completion of Albert-Daly Field, one of the top soccer venues in the region, has nullified the circumstances that prevented the Tribe from hosting in the past.

"The College has done a fantastic thing for our programs, because not only can we host NCAA games, we have also enhanced our ability to schedule quality opponents," said Albert. "Just the overall perception of our program in recruiting and talking to people will be enhanced. It's a great thing. The College took a great step when we got a home at Busch Field and now they're taking another great step with this new facility. It's one of the final pieces that we need to go all the way."

In 2006, the Tribe used their home base to catapult themselves to one of the best seasons in school history, ringing up 16 wins and four ties against a single loss and finishing the year in the NCAA tournament and among the top 10 programs in the country. At home, the Green and Gold faced 10 teams and battled through unbowed, allowing only seven goals en route to a record of 8-0-2, 5-0-1 in the CAA. The attack was just as potent as the defense, putting 23 shots into the bag, the most by a single W&M team regardless of gender.

The 2007 season was nearly as spectacular for the Tribe, as it finished the year at Albert-Daly on a six-match winning streak and went a perfect 4-0 against CAA opponents. The defense was again dominating, allowing only four goals all season, and just two after a tough 2-1 setback against Oklahoma in the first home game of the year.

Fans of the College have responded enthusiastically as it has reclaimed its prominence in the region and around the nation, setting attendance records each of the past three seasons. In 2008, the Collge drew more than 500 fans to Albert-Daly Field on three occasions, culminating with a record crowd of 711 to see the Tribe take on Hofstra in the CAA Tournament. In the 2008 season, the Tribe averaged a record 322 fans for each of its 12 home contests.

The project began in the spring of 2001, when William and Mary received a $500,000 challenge grant from Mr. and Mrs. Jim Ukrop of Richmond, Va., to build a natural grass field adjacent to W&M's baseball stadium, Plumeri Park, located at the College's Dillard complex.

As graduates of William and Mary, Jim and Bobbie Ukrop have long been generous supporters of the College and have touched the lives of thousands of students, both in the athletics department and general college community, with their philanthropy.

"The challenge grant provided us the opportunity to enhance the competitiveness of three of our very successful programs, men's and women's soccer and lacrosse," said William and Mary Athletics Director Terry Driscoll. "At the request by Mr. and Mrs. Ukrop, the facility would be named in the honor of those two coaches recognizing their long service and the success of their programs here at the College of William and Mary."

John Daly reigns among the most successful coaches in America, leading the Tribe's women's soccer program over the last 22 years. Daly ranks among the top 10 in victories (308) among his Division I peers. He has also directed W&M to the NCAA postseason 20 times, including 13 seasons in a row from 1992-2004. Overall, the College has sponsored women's soccer for 27 years with the team advancing to the NCAA Tournament 23 times.

On the field, during Daly's tutelage, 13 W&M soccer players have garnered a total of 27 All-America honors, including two National Players of the Year in Megan McCarthy (1987) and four-time All-American Natalie Neaton (1995). Daly has been named CAA Coach of the Year four times (1993, 1994, 1999, 2006) and Mid-Atlantic Coach of the Year five times (1989, 1990, 1992, 1997, 2006).

Al Albert led the Tribe men's soccer team as head coach for 33 seasons before retiring from coaching in January of 2004. He amassed a record of 401-187-64 (.664) during his tenure and became just the eighth coach in NCAA Division I history to reach 400 wins, and just the third to have earned all those wins at one school. Throughout the 1990s, the Tribe ranked as one of the top programs in the nation, placing eighth in wins (149) and 13th in winning percentage (.708).

A 1969 graduate of William and Mary, Albert's teams put together 29 consecutive winning seasons (a W&M record) and 26 straight campaigns of 10 wins or more. W&M made its 12th appearance in the NCAA tournament in 2002, when the Tribe advanced to the round of 16 with wins at Duke and Virginia. Albert was named CAA Coach of the Year a conference-record four times (1987, 1992, 1994 and 1996), and earned the South Atlantic Region's top honor in 1992, 1998 and 2002.

Tribe mentor John Daly spent time in April with two of his former standout athletes, Jill Ellis '88 (far left) and Erica Walsh '97 (next to Daly) as they assisted U.S. National Team coach Pia Sundhage (second from left) in preparing the team for three victories against Australia and Canada. Walsh and Ellis represented the Tribe as assistant coaches for the United States at the 2008 Beijing Olympics.

"It says a lot for our program that former players have chosen to pursue coaching as a career. Jill Ellis was a very skillful forward with amazing dribbling skills. At one time she held our all-time scoring record. Jill comes from a coaching family and was a pretty good bet to follow a coaching career, which she did, first at Maryland, then at Virginia and Illinois, before moving to the west coast and UCLA. My favorite memory of Jill was of her scoring a brilliant goal against George Mason on Barksdale Field. She picked the ball up on the half way line, rolled the ball back with the sole of her foot to beat a Mason defender and accelerated towards goal. She side-stepped another defender and sent a scorching shot into the upper corner of the net!

A teammate of Jill's, both on the Braddock Road Bluebellies and at William and Mary, was Julie Cunningham Shackford. Julie was a dominant center midfielder player for the Tribe and, along with Megan McCarthy and Jill, formed a formidable central combination. Julie started her coaching career at Carnegie Mellon, before taking the head coaching position at Princeton, where she managed to lead the Tigers to a College Cup Semifinal against Jill's UCLA squad. My favorite memory of Julie was during her senior year when we played Brown on Barksdale Field. We had played Central Florida the day before and lost Jill Ellis and Robin Lotze to injury. We were tied 1-1 against Brown when Julie took over the game and scored twice to give the Tribe a 3-1 victory.

Erica Walsh showed great leadership potential as a player here. Apart from the first game of her career, she started every game, captaining the team as a senior. I still rib Erica about the fact that she turned up late for her first game, which she would have started had she been on time! My favorite memory of Erica was of her turning in a wonderful performance at the Notre Dame tournament when we defeated Wisconsin-Madison 1-0. Erica had been playing in midfield and we needed her to play at the back that day. We had lost Ann Cook to injury the day before. Melissa Kenny gave us the lead in the first minute and we were up against it for long periods, but Erica marshaled the team expertly and kept the Badgers at bay. She showed exemplary unselfishness in accepting her role at the back, although she wanted to play in midfield.

Maren Rojas was an excellent goalkeeper. She was not the flashy type, preferring to stay on her feet and make good saves look easy. She developed into one of the best goalkeepers in the country and turned in many fine performances for the Tribe. My favorite memory of Maren was during the NCAA game against N.C. State her senior year. Her friend and rival, Michelle Bertocchi was in goal for the Wolfpack and kept the visitors in the game with a string of fine saves. Maren had been a spectator for most of the game, but showed her powers of concentration when Collette Cunningham for once escaped the shackles of Meghean Owings late in the game to fire in a low shot destined for the bottom corner of the net. Maren dived full length to her right to make a spectacular save. Minutes later Natalie Neaton fired home the winning goal!

Carrie Moore spent three seasons playing in the WUSA before relocating to Roanoke. Carrie is now the head coach at Hollins college. Carrie had an outstanding career at W & M, rarely receiving the recognition she deserved. She was one of those players who made a team tick. My favorite memory of Carrie was her running on to a through-ball from Missy Wycinsky to score the winner against Richmond in the CAA Final.

Not only do we have former players heading up very successful programs, but we also have former assistants who have gone on to lead their own programs. Former National Team coach April Heinrichs started her coaching career at William and Mary after completing her playing career at the University of North Carolina. She brought an intense will to win to the team in 1987, relishing the victory over UNC at WAGS that year. Former N.C. State head coach Laura Kerrigan also spent three years here as an assistant.

Former Tribe players currently serving as assistant coaches on their own paths to the head coaching ranks include Lindsey Vanderspiegel at Hofstra and Whitney Paynter at James Madison, and Ann Cook, who is assisting Erica Walsh at Penn State."

John Daly, August 4, 2008

"I have so many wonderful memories from my days at William and Mary and nearly all of them involve Tribe Soccer! My coaches and teammates had a profound effect on making my four years in Williamsburg an amazing experience. I arrived on campus my freshman year anxious and uncertain about my future. I left with the confidence that my experiences and education would facilitate my journey."

Jill Ellis '88, Head Coach at UCLA

"People ask me all the time about my time at W&M and whether or not I enjoyed it. The best compliment I could pay the school and my coach is having now worked at several different colleges for the past 14 years, I would choose to go to William and Mary again without a second's hesitation. My fondest memories all blend together as a collage of smells and sounds of grass, teammates, students and professors and the occasional dog because our games and practices on Barksdale would stop everyone going to and from classes. With the beauty of campus surrounding us, it felt like the center of the world and we Tribsters got to be a special part of it for one brief moment."

Maren Rojas '94, Head Coach at Bowdoin

"The more I discover about the inner workings of college soccer the more proud I am of my William & Mary education. We had to work for the degree and along the way we fought for a national championship. Each year we believed it could be our year. That belief stemmed from JD's passion for us, William & Mary soccer, and the game itself. At the time I thought everyone around the country was getting about the same experience, but I have since come to learn that the passion we feel for our program is unique. We are a family. We are Tribe Soccer."

Erica Walsh '97, Head Coach at Penn State

"My fondest soccer memory was beating UNC in penalty kicks in the final of the WAGS tournament a mere 21 years ago. It was a great win for the program and it is a constant reminder that on any given day, any team can be beaten. I will always cherish the overall experience I was afforded at the College of William & Mary. My William and Mary education helped shape my life, challenged me and prepared me well for both graduate work and my coaching career. I feel very lucky to have had such great memories, and most importantly, friendships that have endured through the years."

Julie (Cunningham) Shackford '88, Head Coach at Princeton

"After 21 years, what lingers for me are these three things: Working with great players who aspired to learn as people and players, and along the way, kept a great balance and spirit about their journey; secretly working at the Cheese Shop, but mostly being spotted behind the counter by Megan McCarthy and Jillian Ellis with only my arms visible; training with the men's team ... Ron Rabb, Tim Larkin and John Tuttle were super players and people. Ron and Tim remain friends today."

April Heinrichs, former head coach of Team USA

"It's impossible for me to come up with one favorite memory from my time playing soccer at W&M. Every minute of my experience as a part of Tribe soccer helped make my four years better than I ever could have imagined. More than any individual accolades or our four CAA Championships or advancing far into the NCAA tournament, each year being a part of the team I was on made it the best time of my life. From joking around in the locker room to big wins on Barksdale Field and the celebrations that followed, the Tribe Soccer family is really what's most memorable to me."

Carrie (Moore) O'Keeffe '00, Head Coach at Hollins

“Combining the Alumnae weekend with the Hall of Fame Induction proved to be a very worthwhile venture. Thanks to the efforts of Erica Walsh and Marsha Fishburne Lycan, the turnout was tremendous. It says so much about the program that players from the early eighties joined with their younger sisters to make the weekend so memorable. The theme for the weekend was the Tribe Soccer Family and how much the huge turnout meant to me personally is difficult to describe. Few programs in the country can rival the tradition of the William and Mary Women’s Soccer program”.

W&M Head Coach John Daly

The Colonial Athletic Association is celebrating its 25th Anniversary in 2009-10 and to commemorate the occasion, the league will sponsor a Silver Anniversary team for each of its sports. Each team goes through a process of nominations from each institution’s sports information department, before the final team is screened and chosen by a panel of coaches and administrators.

The W&M women’s soccer team had eight of the 25 players selected to the Silver Anniversary Team. The Tribe totals were double the next highest CAA team. Natalie Neaton also was honored as the Women’s Soccer CAA Silver Stars Nominee.

EXCEPTIONAL PEOPLE | 2009 TRIBE WOMEN’S SOCCER

John Daly enters his 23rd year as the mentor of the William and Mary women's soccer program after entering truly elite company in the collegiate coaching ranks in 2008. A U.S. citizen since April of 2000, the London-born son of Ireland has guided the Tribe to 20 NCAA tournament appearances, including 16 of the past 17 years. He has also guided the College to an NCAA-record 27 consecutive winning seasons. Daly has coached the side in 468 matches, amassing a record of 308-123-37 (.698), 102-19-11 (.814) in the Colonial Athletic Association.

Amongst his peers, Daly by all measures ranks as one of the top 20 coaches in NCAA history. When the College defeated Delaware in double-overtime on Oct. 3 last season, Daly became just the fourth women's soccer coach in NCAA Division I history to win 300 games all with the same school. All told, Daly is the ninth coach in Division I to accomplish the remarkable feat of 300 victories and the 19th across all divisions in the NCAA.

Long the winningest-coach in school history, Daly surpassed his predecessor, John Charles, in 1992 with a 3-1 decision over New Hampshire to record his 64th victory and has since piled up an additional 229 wins. Daly had another milestone on Sept. 7 last season when he coached his 450th career match against Columbia, becoming only the sixth coach in Division I history to reach the milestone at one school.

The magnitude of Daly's accomplishments, which include capturing nine CAA titles, six Regional Coach of the Year awards, and four CAA Coach of the Year plaques, has not been lost on the greater William and Mary community. In 2004, the College named its new all-grass stadium in joint honor of Daly and former men's coach Al Albert, "the ultimate accolade" in a storied coaching career. Over the past three seasons the College is 22-5-2 (.793) at Albert-Daly Field, and is 34-10-8 (.731) in five years at the facility.

National prominence has been a hallmark of Daly's teams and players throughout his tenure. He led the Tribe to NCAA tournament in 1987, his first year at the helm, and scored a 1-0 victory over archrival Virginia in the first round to reach the quarterfinals. Nineteen more trips to the national playoffs have followed, with the Tribe amassing a record of 11-18-2 (.387) and reaching the second round in six of the last 11 years. The national rankings have seen the College among the top-25 for all or part of 25 consecutive seasons, including a program-high No.

3 billing in both 1989 and 1994. In recent years, W&M reached as high as 11th in 2006, 24th in 2007, and 25th last season.

Under Daly's tutelage, 13 W&M players have garnered a total of 29 All-America honors, including two National Players of the Year in Megan McCarthy (1987) and four-time All-American Natalie Neaton (1995). In 2007, Claire Zimmeck and Dani Collins were each tabbed to the All-America third team by the NSCAA, the first time since 1999 that the coaches have so honored a player from William and Mary.

Along with the success on the pitch, Daly's players have also distinguished themselves in the classroom, as 10 Tribe players have earned Academic All-America recognition under Daly's watch. Robin Lotze was a three-time honoree from 1988-90, while Tara Flint was selected in 2002 and 2003. Anna Young also garnered the distinction with a GPA of better than 3.8 in accounting following the 2006 season. This past season, both Dani Collins and Abby Lauer earned the honor, marking just the third time that two players earned the distinction in the same season in William and Mary history.

This past fall was a historic one for Daly. Along with winning his 300th match and coaching his 450th, Daly also set a number of other milestones. Daly led the College to a 15-7-1 record and the second round of the NCAA tournament for the second consecutive year. The College also captured its third-straight CAA regular season title, with Daly becoming the first coach to win 100 CAA games with the Tribe's 1-0 victory at George Mason on October 24. With the College's NCAA tournament berth, Daly also became just the third coach in NCAA Division I history to make 20 trips to the tournament. Individually, the Tribe had three players earn All-American honors for their fine play during the season. Claire Zimmeck was named an All-American by both the NSCAA and Soccer Buzz, while Dani Collins earned All-American accolades from the NSCAA. Freshman Diana Weigel had a fantastic rookie season for the College and was named to the Soccer Buzz Freshman All-American team.

The 2007 season was another prime example of W&M's fortunes under Daly, with two All-Americans leading the Tribe to a 15-5-2 record and the second round of the NCAA tournament. The tone for the season was set early, with a 1-0 victory over then No. 2-ranked North Carolina at the VCU Invitational, the first time since a 4-3 penalty-kick shootout in the 1987 W&M chamionship tilt that W&M had bested the Tarheels. The victory came in the midst of a 486 minute shutout streak, extending to include all or parts of six matches. The team claimed its second-consecutive CAA regular season crown with a 9-1-1 record and an outstanding defense that finished the year with a program-record 11 goals allowed (0.48 goals-against average, also a record) and 13 shutouts.

The 2006 season also proved to be particularly impressive in the annals of Tribe soccer. In addition to winning the CAA regular season championship and earning a bid to the NCAA Tournament, Daly guided the College to a 16-1-4 record overall and a 10-0-1 mark in conference play. The overall winning percentage of .857 was a school record, while the squad finished the season with a program-record 17-match unbeaten streak. Additionally, W&M was ranked 13th nationally in the final Soccer Buzz poll and earned a No. 7 ranking in the final RPI released by the NCAA.

The 2000 season was also a memorable one for Daly, as he achieved his 200th career victory with an exciting, 1-0 overtime win against Richmond. In 1999, Daly led the Tribe with nine freshmen on its roster to a 19-4-0 record and a trip to the NCAA Sweet 16, and was rewarded by being named the William and Mary Society of Alumni Coach of the Year. In 1997, the College smashed the previous program-record for victories and beat 20 of its 25 opponents, including two wins in the NCAA tournament to advance to the quarterfinals.

A key figure on the W&M soccer scene long before taking over as head women's coach in 1987, Daly was an assistant coach of the then-women's club team in 1979. He also assisted with the men's program before taking a full-time assistant's position with the women's side before the 1986 season.

Active at many levels of soccer, Daly served as assistant coach of the Region I (East) team that traveled to Holland and Italy in March 1989. In addition, he is a Region I Olympic Development coach with the United States Youth Soccer Association and has coached the Virginia under-19 girls' soccer team. Currently, Daly is Region I advocate to the National Program for U15, U16 and U17 teams, and has served as the coordinator of the NSCAA Women's Coach of the Year program for the past several years.

An avid golfer, he also enjoys the performing arts, Irish traditional music, travel and anything to do with William and Mary.

Britta Marmon is entering her third season as an assistant coach at William and Mary after helping guide the Tribe backfield to one of the best defensive seasons in school history. While Marmon assists with all aspects of the program, her primary responsibilities include working with the team's goalkeepers, practice/game preparation, recruiting, coordinating team travel and community service events. Additionally, she serves as assistant director for the John Daly Girls' Soccer Camp, which is held each summer in Williamsburg.

In 2008, William and Mary had great season with four of its defenders earning multiple awards. Senior Abby Lauer was named both all-region and all-conference along with being named the CAA co-Defender of the Year. Classmate Dani Collins was named an All-American for the second consecutive year while also earning her third all-region and third All-CAA honors. Fellow senior Meghan Walker finished her career as one of the College's finest goalkeepers with an all-conference accolade. Freshman Diana Weigel had a great rookie season that was punctuated with being named to the Soccer Buzz Freshman All-American team, along with earning all-region and All-CAA Rookie Team honors.

In 2007, William and Mary's defense was one of the stoutest in school history, allowing an all-time program-low 11 goals, only 0.48 goals per game, which was also a school record. In total, the team pitched 13 shut-out games, the second-most ever at the College. Individually, goalkeeper Meghan Walker accounted for 10 of those shutouts, tying the No. 2 all-time mark she had set the year before. Walker graduated in 2009 tied for the school record in career goals against average at 0.78 and ranked third all-time in career saves with 246. Marmon has also taken a firm hand guiding her own development as well as that of her players, obtaining a National Diploma from the NSCAA in the summer of 2008.

Prior to joining the Tribe in the spring of 2007, Marmon was an assistant coach at Indiana State University where she worked with the team's goalkeepers and defensive players. She also handled team travel, community service projects, equipment management, ensured individual and team fitness and assisted with recruiting identification and campus visits.

In addition to her experience at the collegiate level, Marmon has also been instrumental in developing players in the prep ranks. She served as an assistant coach with the Indiana Olympic Development Program in 2006, as she oversaw the training of 92 girls. The prior year, Marmon worked at City High School, in Iowa City, Iowa, and was the assistant varsity coach and head junior varsity coach for the girls' soccer programs. She also spent more than three years as the goalkeeping coach for the Iowa Soccer Club.

As a player, the Newport Beach, California, native was a standout goalkeeper at the University of Iowa where she finished her career with five school records. A three-time team captain, she earned second-team All-Big Ten distinction in 2002 and was selected to the conference's all-academic team in each of her final three seasons. Marmon also garnered the Hawkeye's team MVP honor twice (2002, 2004) and was nominated for the Big Ten Outstanding Sportsmanship Award in 2004. She finished her career with four conference player of the week accolades and was selected to national teams of the week by Soccer Buzz and Soccer America.

Marmon, formerly Vogege, earned a bachelor's degree in history from Iowa in 2005. She was married in the summer of 2008 to Dave Marmon and resides with her husband in Williamsburg.

The 2008 season for the William and Mary women's soccer team was yet another successful one. The College kept many of its impressive streaks alive in 2008, winning 15 or more contests for the third straight season, winning the CAA regular season crown for the third straight year and earned a bid to the NCAA Championships for a 23rd time. Head Coach John Daly enters his 23rd year as the head of the Tribe program after a milestone season that saw Daly win his 300th game on October 3, beating Delaware 2-1 in double-overtime.

William and Mary will seek its 10th CAA championship and its fourth consecutive regular season championship in 2009, but with five home games and six away, the Tribe will need to be at its best to achieve both feats.

Replacing players of the caliber William and Mary graduated in the spring is never easy. Two All Americans, one of whom was drafted into the Women's Professional Soccer League, a three-year starting goalkeeper with some of the best statistics of all our goalkeepers will obviously be tough to replace. When you add to that an outside back that started every game of her four years and a center back that played in every game of her four years, you begin to understand what the College has to replace. Dani Collins, Claire Zimmeck, Meghan Walker, Abby Lauer, Kendall Stone and Meredith Brown all left their mark on Tribe Soccer and will all be fondly remembered.

The 2009 version of the Tribe will be a mix of youth and experience. A strong recruiting class will need to grow and learn quickly if they are to contribute to the task of replacing the above. However, they will have the help of seniors Kellie Jenkins, Sarah Quinlan, Krissy Vornadore, Kim Sunada, Julie Valls, and Jackie Bowman. Valls, who was selected as a co-captain along with junior Kaitlin O'Connor, showed during the spring that she has the leadership qualities a young Tribe outfit will need.

Jenkins enters her final season for the Green and Gold as the team's top returning goal scorer from a year ago. In 2008, Jenkins netted six goals and also tallied three assists for a total of 15 points, top amongst all returning players. Also looked to be counted on to pace the Tribe's attack this season will be Vornadore, who had a career-high seven assists last season for the College.

Quinlan will once again be counted on for another season of great defense and will most likely draw the assignment of marking the opponent's best player as she did in 2008. Valls will look to return to her 2007 form where she will be a main component in the Tribe's attacking midfield.

Juniors Katy Winsper, Brittany Lane, Danielle Axenfeld, Anna Kayes, Gabby Gonzales and Mary Carter Jacocks all have experience of playing time on which to draw. Emily DeNardis has fought long battles against knee injuries, but now looks ready to break into the playing line up. Fellow junior Grace Barnard can draw on Regional experience, as she looks set to become the starting goalkeeper. She knows she will be pushed hard by red shirt freshman Katherine Yount and senior Jackie Bowman.

O'Conner will once again be asked to help lead the Tribe's defense this year after another solid season on the pitch in 2008. O'Conner was named to the All-CAA Third-Team last season, but will look to duplicate her freshman year in which she earned All-Region and All-CAA First-Team accolades. Lane had a breakout season for the Green and Gold in 2008 and shared Most Improved honors on the team with Jenkins.

The Tribe will once again count on Winsper to be a defensive stopper and help lead College's defense. Kayes will look for her role to increase in the Tribe's offense. Kayes has a great motor and will look to make good on her untapped potential in the midfield.

Sophomores Stephanie Gerow and Diana Weigel both played significantly as freshmen and Aline Le, Molly Kaye and Kristen Smith all did well during the spring season.

In 2008, Weigel had a superb season on the pitch for William and Mary. For her play, Weigel was named to the Soccer Buzz Freshman All-American Second-Team. Weigel also earned All-Region and All-CAA Rookie Team honors after scoring four goals and dishing out four assists. Also having a great rookie campaign was Gerow, who the team's Best Rookie award with Weigel. Gerow will look to improve on her 2008 campaign that saw her score three goals and tally four assists.

Le, Kaye, and Smith will all be counted on this season to keep improving and will look to take advantage of more time on the pitch this season for William and Mary.

The Tribe will welcome to campus a strong and deep recruiting class. Region One players Cortlyn Bristol, Erin Liberatore, Mallory Schaffer and Katrina Smedley will all challenge for playing time. Kiersten Harpe, Carson Scott, Jackie Blake-Hedges and Annie Yu all have strong soccer backgrounds and will also look to challenge for time on the pitch. Goalkeeper Carla Manger, member of the successful Vista Shockwaves team, rounds out the talented incoming class.

The Tribe faces some new opponents in its usual strong schedule in 2009. Visiting Albert-Daly Field for the first time will be Charlotte for the season-opener on August 23, Monmouth on August 28, Santa Barbara on September 11 and Coastal Carolina on September 13.

Also new to the schedule for the Tribe in 2009 will be Utah, who the College will play in Salt Lake City on September 6 and Long Island University at the George Mason tournament on September 20. Rounding out the non-conference schedule for W&M is Brigham Young, who the Tribe will play in Provo, Utah on September 4 and Cornell at the George Mason tournament on September 18.

THE WREN BUILDING

The College of William and Mary is a public university located in Williamsburg, Va. Founded in 1693 by Royal Charter issued by King William III and Queen Mary II of England, William and Mary is the second oldest college in the country after Harvard. William and Mary has a long history of liberal arts education and a growing research and science curriculum that demonstrates a strong commitment to undergraduate research. The College, which became a state university in 1906, has been designated a “Public Ivy,” and for nine straight years has been ranked by U.S. News & World Report as the sixth-best public university in the country – and the nation’s top small public university.

Also referred to as “the alma mater of a nation,” the College has educated four U.S. Presidents – George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, James Monroe and John Tyler, which is the third most of any college in the country. William and Mary also claims several firsts, including the 1776 creation of Phi Beta Kappa – the country’s first academic honor society – the first honor code of conduct for college students, and the first collegiate law school, established in 1779. William and Mary is also home to the Sir Christopher Wren Building – the country’s oldest academic building still in use – and the President’s House, the oldest home of a university president still in use.

WILLIAM & MARY FACTS

-  Second oldest educational institution in the U.S.
-  In addition to four U.S. Presidents, W&M has educated a number of this country's key historical figures, including U.S. Supreme Court Chief Justice John Marshall and 16 signers of the Declaration of Independence.
-  W&M is one of only eight U.S. institutions of higher education designated a "Public Ivy." A Public Ivy is a state-assisted institution that offers a superior education at a cost far below that of Ivy League schools.
-  U.S. News ranked W&M sixth among all public colleges and universities and 32nd among both public and private institutions in 2009.
-  Newsweek named W&M "hottest small state university" in 2006.
-  U.S. News and World Report rated the School of Education 48th in the country in 2010.
-  W&M ranked 18th in graduation rates for national universities in 2009.
-  The Princeton Review named W&M a the 'Best of the Southeast' school in 2009.
-  The W&M Law School ranked 30th in the nation in 2008.
-  The History Department's doctoral program ranked fourth in the nation for U.S. Colonial History in 2010.
-  W&M ranked as the sixth-best public university in the country in the inaugural guide, "America's Best Colleges 2008" by Forbes Magazine.
-  The Princeton Review rated W&M the third among the top 50 best value public colleges nationally in 2009.
-  Phi Beta Kappa, the premier academic honor society in America, was founded by W&M students in 1776.
-  W&M's 11-to-1 student-faculty ratio is the lowest among the top public universities. Nearly 50 percent of William and Mary's classes have fewer than 20 students.
-  W&M libraries, including the main Earl Swem Library, were rated the eighth best College Library in the Country by the Princeton Review in 2008.
-  Business Week rated the W&M Undergraduate Business Program in the top 10 among Public Institutions in the country.
-  Forbes Magazine ranked W&M's MBA program in the top 50.

The College of William and Mary sponsors 23 varsity sports and provides students with a unique and successful balance of athletics and academics. The Tribe Athletics Department finished 117th nationally in the Learfield Sports Directors' Cup Standings for 2008-09, a number that ranked second among Colonial Athletic Association (CAA) programs and fourth in the state of Virginia. The Directors' Cup, which was created by the NACDA and USA Today in 1993-94, is a program that honors institutions maintaining a broad-based program, achieving success in many sports, both men's and women's. W&M has placed among the top 100 nationally in 12 of the program's 16 years, while leading the CAA on seven occasions.

W&M has produced more CAA Championships than any program in the league's history. The College owns 95 league crowns, nearly 40 more than its closest competitor. The Tribe raked in the awards in 2008-09 as well, tallying a combined 197 all-conference honors, 34 All-America honors and six league players of the year. During the 2008-09 season, the Green and Gold produced an overall athletics winning percentage of 68.2, while racking up a combined 888 wins.

Along with its accomplishments on the field of play, the Tribe is just as successful in the classroom, epitomizing the term student-athlete. In the NCAA's inaugural Academic Progress Report in 2005, W&M ranked fourth among Division I teams, which was the highest of any athletic scholarship-granting school and of any public school. Since the inception of the CAA Scholar-Athlete of the Year, W&M has produced 28 honorees, more than any school in the conference.

W. TAYLOR REVELEY III
PRESIDENT

Taylor Reveley was sworn in as the 27th president of the College of William and Mary on September 5, 2008, after serving as interim president since February 2008. Before assuming his current post, he served as dean of William & Mary Law School for almost a decade, starting in August 1998. He is the John Stewart Bryan Professor of Jurisprudence.

Reveley received his A.B. from Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs in 1965. At Princeton, he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and rowed on the lightweight crew for two years. Reveley went to law school at the University of Virginia, receiving his J.D. in 1968. During the United States Supreme Court's 1969 term, he clerked for Justice William J. Brennan, Jr.

Reveley has extensively studied and written about the constitutional division of the war powers between the President and Congress. In 1972-73, he spent 13 months studying the war powers while an International Affairs Fellow of the Council on Foreign Relations in New York City and a Fellow of the Woodrow Wilson Center for Scholars in Washington, D.C. He is the author of War Powers of the President and Congress: Who Holds the Arrows and Olive Branch? (University of Virginia Press, 1981).

Before joining William & Mary, Reveley practiced law for many years at Hunton & Williams, where he specialized in energy matters, especially those involving commercial nuclear power. He was the managing partner of the firm for nine years.

Much of Reveley's extracurricular time over the years has gone to non-profit organizations. He has served on many educational and cultural boards, including those of Princeton University (where he is a trustee emeritus), Union Theological Seminary in Virginia, St. Christopher's School, the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, JSTOR, the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, the Virginia Historical Society, the Virginia Foundation for the Humanities, the Richmond Symphony, and the Presbyterian Church (USA) Foundation.

Reveley and his wife Helen have four children - Taylor, Everett, Nelson and Helen Lanier - and a daughter-in-law, Margaret Louise (Marlo, married to Taylor).

SANDRA DAY O'CONNOR
CHANCELLOR

Sandra Day O'Connor, one of the most distinguished jurists in the history of the United States Supreme Court—and its first female justice—addressed the most profound legal issues of her age with wisdom, courage, and skill. After a long career in public service, including nearly a quarter century on the nation's highest court, she retired in 2006.

Justice O'Connor spent her childhood on an isolated cattle ranch in southeastern Arizona tending to a variety of ranch chores, raising farm animals, and reading voraciously. After completing school in El Paso, Texas, she journeyed west to continue her education at Stanford University, where her professors inspired and challenged her to make a difference in her nation and the world.

Justice O'Connor earned a B.A. in economics (magna cum laude) from Stanford University and a LL.B. from Stanford Law School. She was an editor of the law review and graduated third in her law class—two spots behind her friend and future colleague, the late Chief Justice William Rehnquist.

After being admitted to the bar, Justice O'Connor served as Deputy County Attorney of San Mateo County, California, from 1952 to 1953, and as a civilian attorney for the U.S. Army Quartermaster Market Center in Frankfurt, Germany, from 1954 to 1957. From 1958 to 1960, she practiced law in Maryvale, Arizona, and served as Assistant Attorney General of Arizona from 1965 to 1969. She was appointed to the Arizona State Senate in 1969, and was subsequently reelected to two two-year terms, during which she served as Majority Leader. In 1975, she was elected Judge of the Maricopa County Superior Court and served until 1979, when she was appointed to the Arizona Court of Appeals.

President Reagan nominated her as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, and she took her seat September 25, 1981. She succeeded the Honorable Henry A. Kissinger as Chancellor of the College of William and Mary in 2005. In the years since her investiture, she has visited the College numerous times, visiting classes, talking with students, and addressing academic conferences.

She is married to John Jay O'Connor III, whom she met in law school. They have three sons: Scott, Brian, and Jay.

TERRY DRISCOLL ATHLETICS DIRECTOR

Under the steady guidance and watchful eye of Terry Driscoll, the William and Mary Athletics Department has solidified its standing as one of the nation's preeminent broad-based programs. As Driscoll enters his 14th year as athletics director, he has overseen an unprecedented era of improvement in terms of funding and facilities while also maintaining the College's rich history of producing well-rounded student-athletes.

Driscoll oversees a program that is committed to balancing academic demands with athletic success. One of the department's stated goals each year is to finish among the top 100 in the annual Director's Cup rankings, which has happened in all but one of the years that Driscoll has been the director.

In the last six years, the Tribe's program has combined for a total of 26 Colonial Athletic Association (CAA) titles. This past season, W&M claimed three CAA titles (Men's and Women's Cross Country and Women's Track & Field). In 2002-03, W&M had a school-record 10 teams compete in the NCAA Tournament, with four teams winning conference titles and six that finished in the top 25 at the end of their respective seasons. Overall, no institution in the CAA can claim more all-time league championships than the 95 William and Mary has earned.

As impressive as the athletic accomplishments have been during Driscoll's tenure, the program's academic successes have been even greater. In the NCAA's inaugural (2004) APR rankings, a measurement of academic progress based on academic eligibility, retention, and graduation of student-athletes, W&M was fourth in the nation overall and first among institutions offering athletic performance-based scholarships. Additionally, the Tribe football team has posted a 100 percent graduation rate three times, while the majority of the program's squads have consistently ranked among the nation's finest in terms of graduation. In 2002, the CAA started recognizing Scholar-Athletes of the Year for each of the 22 sports it sponsors, and the College has had a conference-high 29 individuals receive the honor.

In addition to the many academic and athletic successes, Driscoll's impact on the program has been equally impressive in terms of physical and financial improvements. Since taking over as athletics director, Driscoll has overseen the construction of more than $20 million in new facilities, including Plumeri Park (baseball), Albert-Daly Field (soccer, lacrosse) and the Busch Courts (tennis). Recently, the College dedicated an $11 million, 30,000 square-foot Jimmie Laycock Football Center at Zable Stadium in the summer of 2008. During the last four years, the venerable stadium has been enhanced with an $800,000-plus video scoreboard (2007), the installation of a $650,000 permanent lighting system (2006) and an $840,000 state-of-the-art Field Turf Pro artificial playing surface (2006). This past summer, new synthetic turf with water cannons were installed at Busch Field, the home of the William and Mary Field Hockey program.

In addition to the physical structures, Driscoll has also worked with the Associate Athletics Director for Development, Bobby Dwyer, to increase the annual fund-raising totals for non-capital projects from $1.36 million in 1995 to the current annual total of approximately $2.7 million.

A true student-athlete himself, Driscoll's leadership skills were developed during his collegiate years. As a student-athlete at Boston College, Driscoll captained the basketball team to the National Invitation Tournament Finals as a senior, and was named the tournament MVP. In addition to being named an All-American, his success in the classroom as a biology major garnered him an Academic All-America honor.

After graduating from BC, he was the fourth overall pick of the 1969 NBA Draft, selected by the Detroit Pistons, just three spots after the Milwaukee Bucks chose UCLA's Lew Alcindor, later to be known as Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. Driscoll chose to play a year in Italy first, but then returned to the U.S. to play for the Pistons, Washington Bullets and Milwaukee Bucks before going back to Italy as a player and then coach until 1980.

Driscoll then entered the corporate world in 1980, working for Kazmaier Associates, Inc., an international sporting goods sales and sports marketing firm. After Kazmaier purchased Bike Athletic in 1986, KSG Inc. was formed with the objective of becoming the first, and only, national sales agency in the sporting goods industry. By 1987, Driscoll was president of the company and had expanded the agency to all 50 states just two years later. In early 1990, Driscoll's contribution to a marketing research project for the NCAA was the initial step moving him from product marketing and sales to sports marketing and management. The result of the project was a joint venture between Kazmaier Associates and Host Communications - with Driscoll being named managing director and chief operating officer of NCAA International.

In 1993, Driscoll diversified his experience in the athletic world by working as the venue executive director of the 1994 World Cup site in Boston. In September of that year, Driscoll was again enlisted to launch a new business, Eagle International Group, an event management and services company. As vice president, Driscoll worked with Hawaii Pacific Sports to organize the Women's World Volleyball Grand Prix competition in Honolulu.

Driscoll resides in Williamsburg with his wife, Susan. The couple has two children - Keith, a 1997 graduate of Holy Cross, and Leslie, a 2001 graduate of William and Mary.

BUSCH TENNIS COURTS

William and Mary is committed to building and maintaining outstanding facilities for all 23 of its varsity athletic teams. The College has demonstrated this commitment by investing approximately $16 million toward the construction and upgrade of its athletics facilities during just the last six years. Among W&M's recent projects was the completion of the $11 million, 30,000-square foot Jimmie Laycock Football Center, which was dedicated in June of 2008. This past summer, the Laycock Center renovated the foyer to include photos, information and memorabilia on the Tribe's storied football tradition.

This past summer, Busch Field experienced a renovation that included a total revamp of the field, underlying pad, water cannon and drainage system. The renovation created a competition surface that ranks alongside those used at the U.S. National Training Centers in Virginia Beach, Va., Chula Vista, Calif., and that used at last year's Olympic Games.

In 2005, Kaplan Arena received an upgrade with the installation of 6,900-square foot permanent wood floor along with rubberized sports flooring on the open end of the arena to accommodate track and field and other multi-purpose activities. A year earlier, the home of Tribe soccer and lacrosse, Albert-Daly Field was dedicated, providing the programs with a $1 million all-natural grass facility.
