

FRESHMEN RULES HAVE SMALL NUMBER CHANGES THIS YEAR

"Duc" Rules Will Be Enforced By Senior Tribunal NO SUPREME COURT

Only three changes from the "duc" rules of last year are evident in the rules governing this year's Freshmen as announced at a recent Freshmen meeting by Charles Dunker, president of the student body.

These change includes the rule requiring the "ducs" to use the path by the statute of Lord Botetourt when entering the front of the campus; the extension of the time during which the rules will be observed; and the abolishing of the grand old institution known as "Supreme Court." The complete code is as follows:

- 1. Freshmen shall wear a regulation cap of green, gold and silver on all days except Sundays and holidays. This cap shall also be worn at all indoor sports and at all dances except private and formal.
2. Freshmen shall wear a standard green four-in-hand tie on every day except Sundays and holidays.
3. Freshmen shall carry matches at time except on holidays.
4. Freshmen shall not converse with co-eds before 4 o'clock except on Sundays and holidays. They shall not attend any athletic contests accompanied by a co-ed.
5. Freshmen shall attend all home walks at all times while they are on the campus. Old men have no power to take Freshmen across the campus with them.
6. Freshmen shall attend all home games in a body and shall stay in the grandstand, bleachers or other places designated for them during the entire game unless called upon to participate.
7. Freshmen shall look at all notices posted at the College Shop as to when the Senior Tribunal shall meet (Continued on Page Two)

CHANDLER SPEAKS AT CONVOCATION

Sesqui-Centennial Plans Are Discussed; Student Officers Are Introduced

On Tuesday, September 15, at 11 o'clock, Dr. Chandler called the first convocation of the 1931-32 college session. The President welcomed the student body, and announced that the convocation was to be primarily a business meeting for the purpose of discussing college affairs.

Dr. Chandler requested as many students as possible to participate in the Yorktown Sesquicentennial festivities, and gave a brief outline of each day's program. Mr. Tucker Jones and Miss Althea Hunt are college directors for the pageants.

The President then turned to a discussion of the freshmen and their rules. He stressed the fact that there is to be no "hazing" of Freshmen this year, and stated that upper classmen found disobeying this rule would be punished accordingly.

A brief discussion of Honor System then followed, and Livingston Swentzel and Margaret Baughman, presidents of the Men's and Women's Honor Councils respectively, were introduced to the assembly.

The various class officers and the presidents of the Men's and Women's Student Government Associations were also introduced to the student body. Dr. Hodges reminded the men of the penalty for having cars at the college.

NOTICE TO SENIORS

All students who expect to obtain their degrees either in June or in summer school are eligible for membership in the senior class according to Dr. K. J. Hoke, Dean of the college. It is the desire of the faculty that the senior class organize and that all students eligible participate in the activities of the class. The Register requests that the members of the senior class respond to the request for degree applications which will be published early in October.

INSTRUCTION IN AVIATION GIVEN IN COURSES HERE

POPP AND YOUNG INSTRUCT

Work in the department of aviation, recently added to the curriculum of the College of William and Mary, is now well underway with thirty-three students enrolled in the flight class with the possible addition of five others within the next week, according to Colonel Earl C. Popp, director of aviation.

Dr. R. C. Young, head of the Physics department, is conducting lectures in the ground school class, in which actual shop work will be included when facilities at the field, located on the Scott-Davis farms, west of Williamsburg, are made adequate. Colonel Popp already has been instructing the flight students in the two open cockpit planes owned by the college.

The work in this department consists of two kinds: the ground school training work, which includes lectures and shopwork and offers four hours credit, and actual flight instruction, for which no credit is offered. For the private pilot course, twenty hours of solo flight are required in one school year, and for the limited commercial pilot course, sixty hours of solo flight are necessary. A transport pilot's flight course, for which two hundred and ten hours of solo flight are required, and advanced work in aviation are now under consideration, and in all probability will become effective in the near future.

Among those enrolled for flight work are, George C. Diggs, Jack Eastman, Roger Ostrander, Robert Gitchell, J. M. VanBuren, Gabriel de-Samper, Douglas Stackhouse, and George Hewes, Y. O. Kent, who last year received his instruction under Colonel Popp along with Julian A. C. Chandler and Colin Vince in connection with the Raymond Riordan School when at Jamestown, is employed preparing for his transport pilot's examination. Other officials of the school are: Douglas Stackhouse, assistant field manager; and Otto Johnson, formerly of the American Airways in Boston, chief mechanic.

The field is now being improved by the state, and will be considered a Class Four airport, according to the Federal Classification. The north-south runway is now practically cleared; the east-run has been cleared of a thick growth of weeds.

Two open cockpit planes, one of which was purchased from the Raymond Riordan School, are now in use; one is a Fleet plane, and the other a Kittyhawk. To this number, one and possibly two cabin planes will be added, and will be used for advance work (Continued on Page Two)

PLAYERS OFFER SEASON TICKETS

For the first time in their history, the William and Mary players are offering season tickets which include nine evening entertainments. The books of general admission tickets costs three dollars, while books of reserved tickets cost four dollars and a quarter. This is a considerable saving over buying tickets for each performance. Tickets can be purchased from Miss Althea Hunt or William A. Bowen, Jr.

A New Era For Activities

The school year beginning in September 1931 marks the opening of a new era in the history of student activities at William and Mary. Up until this year fees to cover the expenditures in the various activities on campus were collected along with the other college fees by the college treasurer. This method of obtaining the necessary funds, although much easier for the heads of the activities, entailed a large amount of extra work for the administration. At the close of the past school year announcement was made by the president of the college that this method would no longer be followed and that the students would have to make other plans for the collection of student activity fees. The students formed an association and elected certain of its members to various positions which would enable them to supervise the collection and handling of student money. A large amount of money has already been collected by the association, but there are still some students who have not considered it necessary to pay these fees. The student body should realize the importance of campus activities to the extent of helping to make them successful financially. The Flat Hat hopes that each student will consider it part of his duty to the college to pay his activity fee thus enabling William and Mary to become even more outstanding in the field of student activities than it is at present.

U. S. Senator Will Address Meeting

Guy D. Goff, United States Senator from West Virginia, will address the William and Mary student body in convocation Thursday morning at eleven o'clock in Phi Beta Kappa Hall. The subject of Senator Goff's address will be "The Appointing and Removal Powers of the President of the United States."

Senator Goff is coming to the campus of William and Mary under the auspices of the James Gould Cutler Foundation. The Cutler Foundation offers two prizes of $25.00 each in gold coin, one to the man and the other to the woman, both of the senior class, who shall compose and submit the best essay upon some aspect of the Federal Constitution assigned by the Dean of the Marshall-Wythe School. Each member of the senior class is required to write an essay of not less than 2500 words upon some designated subject relating to the Constitution of the United States, and the award is to be made by the President of the College, the Dean of the Marshall Wythe School, and one other member of the faculty designated by the President.

RULES REGARDING CLASS ABSENCES ARE ANNOUNCED

Only Four Absences Allowed on In Three or Five Hour Courses

The following are the regulations in regard to unexcused absences from classes as announced by Dr. Grace Warren Landrum, Dean of Women, and Dr. W. T. Hodges, Dean of Men:

- 1. In a course carrying three or more hours of credit, a professor reports to the office of the Dean of Women or of the Dean of Men, as the case may be, the name of a student who has incurred four unexcused absences. The dean then warns the student, but the student will not be able to plead exemption because he has not been warned. When the fifth unexcused absence is incurred, the professor reports immediately to the proper dean and upon notification from this dean, drops the student from his roll.
2. In a two hour course the same procedure is followed except that a report is made on the third unexcused absence and the student is dropped from the roll when the fourth absence is incurred.
3. In a one hour course the report is made on the second unexcused absence and the student is dropped from the class roll after the third unexcused absence occurs.
If a student has been deprived of credit in two courses, he will be required to leave college.

COUNCIL TO HANDLE CHECKS

The honor council wishes to bring the attention of both the students and the local merchants that they take charge of all bad checks and ask cooperation in having these reported to them as soon as possible.

Reports can be made to any member of the council or directly to Livingston Swentzel at the Lambda Chi Alpha House.

W. & M. Students Are Active In Pageant

The Yorktown Sesqui-Centennial, celebrating 150 years of American Independence, will begin on Friday, October 16, and continue through Monday, October 19. The college members of community will play a very prominent part in this celebration, and especially in the pageant.

The three divisions of the pageant include, "The Pageant of the Colonies," on the first day, in which William and Mary has charge of the New York group. This commemorates the actual landing at Jamestown and the early activities of the Colonists; "Army Day," picturing the warfare at Yorktown, and being in charge of the United States Army; "Surrender Day", Monday, October 19, ending in a masque, which will be an allegorical treatment of the United States as a nation. The Physical Educational Department of the College, under the direction of Miss Roberts and Dr. Jones, have charge of certain divisions in the Monday pageant.

ENROLLMENT THIS YEAR IS LARGEST EVER RECORDED

Students From Thirty-One States, Six Foreign Countries Are Registered

The student body of the College of William and Mary numbered 1563 students Saturday, September 19, according to Mr. H. L. Bridges, Registrar of the college. This count does not include the students in either of the two extension schools. Last year at this time there were only 1389 students enrolled at the college making an increase of 174 this year. According to Mr. Bridges, the depression largely accounts for the increase in the student body. Since the graduating classes of last June were unable to obtain positions, they came to college. Also some of the people who are out of work have returned to college.

The class of 1935 numbers approximately six hundred with the men students outnumbering the women slightly. According to Mr. Bridges the women students led in number at one time during the registration.

Geographically, the students represent thirty-one states and six foreign countries. Approximately 1000 students are residents of Virginia.

According to the cards stating religious preference, there are students of twenty-two religious denominations at William and Mary.

DEBATE TRIPS PLANNED

Plans for the debate team include two trips for the coming semester, according to Merrill Brown, president of the Debate Council. One trip will be conducted through New England, and the second will include many states of the middle West. Charles Hohein, manager of the council, is negotiating plans for the trips and a definite answer will soon be released.

The Wranglers Club will hold tryouts for the debate society tomorrow evening in Washington 200 at 7:15, at which time Professors Brooks, Woodbridge and Howard will act as judges.

GIRLS' RUSHING RULES ISSUED BY THE PANHELLENIC COUNCIL

Deceased Alumnus

Capt. W. H. Graves, who's death deprived the college of one of the most interested of its alumni.

CAPTAIN GRAVES, AGED 97 YEARS DIES IN ASHEVILLE

Oldest Alumnus Began Studies at William and Mary in 1854; Here Three Years

CHILDREN STUDIED HERE ALSO

The death of Capt. W. H. Graves at the age of 97 removes from earthly activity, the oldest and most beloved of all of William and Mary alumni. Capt. Graves died at his summer home in Asheville, North Carolina, July 29, of double pneumonia. The funeral was held from the home of his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison S. Matthews, 76 Country Club Gardens, Birmingham, Alabama. The Rev. Raimundo de Ovies, dean of the Episcopal Cathedral, Atlanta, and lifelong friend of the deceased, officiated. Burial was in Elmwood cemetery, Birmingham.

Capt. Graves entered the College of William and Mary in September 1854 where he spent three years. His room in the third story of the celebrated Sir Christopher Wren building is now known as the Graves Room. He was a very good student and took both the A. B. and L. B. degrees. He was a charter member of the Theta Delta Chi fraternity and of the Phoenix Literary Society. While a student at William and Mary he visited the University of North Carolina and organized a chapter of the Theta Delta Chi there. Seventy-five years ago when the National chapter of this fraternity convened in Williamsburg, Capt. Graves was the executive officer and presided over the various sessions. When this fraternity met in Richmond last year he was their honor guest and received a large ovation from the host of National delegates present. Capt. Graves and his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Gunster, visited the College of William and Mary while on their trip and were the guests of Dr. J. A. C. Chandler. The President showed Capt. Graves his old room in the Wren Building and he was deeply touched by the scenes of his early manhood here. He spoke in very affectionate terms of Col. Benjamin S. Ewell, the president of the College, and of Henry C. Slaughter, who was a fellow student of his and occupied an adjoining room. Capt. Graves was a member of Alpha Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

After graduation Capt. Graves located in Knoxville, Tennessee, and began the practice of law. He rose steadily in his profession and was one of the outstanding young lawyers of that section. At the outbreak of hostilities of the War Between the States (Continued on Page Two)

BARRETT ROBERTS PUBLISHES SONG

Prof. Geo. M. Small, head of the Music Department, College of William and Mary, has announced the publication of the "Indian Warrior Song" (Wa-Hoo). This popular song was written by Barrett Roberts, of the Class of 1933 and the music was composed by Thornton W. Allen, the composer of the "Washington and Lee Swing." The song will be broadcast over the National Broadcasting System within a few days.

Council Members Plan To Enforce Rules Strictly BIDS ISSUED SOON

A slight change in the rushing rules of sororities for this semester has been recently announced by Ruby Adams, president of the Panhellenic Council.

According to the new rules, rushing will be permitted from September 22 to October 9. During the first week, September 22 thru September 29, no girl will be permitted to talk fraternity to rushees in any form whatsoever. Girls may be invited to sorority houses, but cannot be "sewed up." The fact that there can be no fraternity talk cannot be stressed too much, as this ruling will be rigidly enforced by the council.

Starting September 29, fraternity talk will be permitted, and girls may be "sewed up." The following is the list of rushing rules issued by the Panhellenic Council:

- 1. School begins September 8th.
2. From September 8th until September 22nd there is to be no rushing whatsoever and no fraternity insignia worn. During this time fraternity girls will be allowed to see new girls for only a half hour daily and there is to be no mention of fraternities.
3. Official rushing starts Sept. 22. Starting September 22nd through September 28th rushing will be by the dormitory system. Each fraternity will have one division of the dormitory from 4-5, another from 5-6, another from 8-9. There may be no fraternity talk.
4. On Sunday, September 27th there will be no rushing.
5. The second week of rushing, September 29th through October 6th, will be continued with the dormitory rushing, but having one division of the dormitory 4-6 and another from 7-9. (Continued on Page Two)

FREEMAN SPEAKS AT REDEDICATION

Chorley, Director of Rockefeller Foundation, Reads Letter From Philanthropist

The Sir Christopher Wren Building, the oldest college structure in America, was rededicated September 16, and officially taken over by college authorities.

The restoration of this building was Rockefeller, Jr., project in restoring Colonial Williamsburg. Although Mr Rockefeller could not be present at the celebration, his representative Kenneth Chorley, director of Rockefeller restoration interests, read his letter in which he expressed this work as "an opportunity to restore one of Virginia's most beloved shrines."

Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, president of the college, presided over the ceremonies, and gave a brief historical summary of the Wren Building. Dr. Douglas Freeman, of Richmond, as principal speaker, hailed the structure as a "restoration symbolizing the return of ancient William and Mary College from the ashes of the Civil War days to become one of our nation's leading institutions of higher learning." Dr. Freeman urged William and Mary to take the lead in Virginia to require some form of a selective system for entrance, and to hold before its graduates the prospects for positions of useful service.

The architects presented the keys of the building to Dr. James Hardy Dillard, rector of the Board of Visitors to the college.

OLDEST ALUMNI OF WM. AND MARY DIES

he entered the Confederate service and remained until April 1865. He was in a number of the leading engagements of the struggle and distinguished himself at the Battle of Chickamauga, where he was first appointed ordnance officer and later was appointed by General Butler as Captain of artillery of Crew's brigade. His duties kept him in close touch with the brigade during the fight which resulted in a signal Confederate victory. The Federal Army was driven back about fifteen miles from where the battle began into their fortifications in Chattanooga. After the surrender he located in the practice of law in Montgomery, Alabama and he did not return to Knoxville owing to the very hostile feeling of the Union men in East Tennessee against Confederate soldiers and officers. Capt. Graves made quite a success in the practice of his profession and invested the proceeds in central real estate in Birmingham which developed rapidly. His investments proved to be very handsome, increasing as the city grew. In 1890 he and his family moved to Birmingham where he practiced law for awhile and later gave his full time to his investments and literary pursuits.

Capt. Graves was born in Wytheville, Virginia, September 7, 1833, and was the most outstanding alumnus of William and Mary during his generation. His usual success was marked by sterling integrity, high sense of honor and patient attention to details. He was a former president of the Birmingham Trust and Savings Company and was a big factor in the civic and business life of that city for a number of years. Capt. Graves married Miss Florida Whiting, daughter of John Whiting, second president of the North and South Railroad, now the Louisville and Nashville system.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Harrison S. Matthews, of Birmingham, Mrs. E. D. Smith, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Frederick Gunstern of New York City. Also surviving are four grandchildren, Mrs. Charles B. Whitworth, of Nashville, Tennessee, Graves Smith, Addison Smith and Edward D. Smith, Jr., of Atlanta; two great-grandchildren, Charles R. Whitworth, Jr., and Eleanor Graves Mathews Whitworth, both of Nashville, Tennessee, and two nephews, Manly Caldwell, of Roanoke, Virginia, and Charles Caldwell, of West Palm Beach, Florida.

Although Capt. Graves was very active in his business and professional career he found time for literary work. He proved beyond dispute that Thomas Paine, and not Sir Phillip Francis, was the author of "The Letters of Junius." This work is now in the library of the College of William and Mary and stands as a monument to the culture and painstaking genius of this very able and scholarly man. It is a ready reference to students doing research work in literature.

The Birmingham Age-Herald summarized the career of Capt. Graves as follows: "To live bravely and usefully for 97 years, to succeed notably in public service and private enterprise, to play a useful role in pioneering that produces a great city, to preside at last as the beloved patriarch of three descendant generations—that the lot of Capt. W. H. Graves. His death Wednesday at Asheville, North Carolina, calls Birmingham in salute to a great career."

Indians Meet
Guilford Saturday

Langley Field
Ties W. & M., 6-6

TRI-COLOR TEAM OPENS SEASON AGAINST WILFORD

KELLISON OUTFIT IN GOOD SHAPE FOR NIGHT BATTLE

V. & M. DEFEATED VISITORS IN OPENER LAST YEAR, 24-0

On Saturday, Sept. 26, the William and Mary football squad will open the season with a night contest against Guilford College of North Carolina on Langley Field. The North Carolina club is making its second appearance on Langley Field, opening the Indian season last year by losing 24-0 to the championship Tricolor aggregation.

Outside of a couple of scrimmages in the middle of last week, the Langley practice affair has been the sole work under fire for the W&M squad and that game was hardly indicative of the strength of the Indian outfit. Scrimmages today, tomorrow and possibly Thursday ought to iron out the rough spots in the Indian attack and Guilford should be ready for a rough evening next Saturday.

Most of Coach Kellison's worries are centered in the Indian backfield. Graduation having robbed Mozesleski, Cott and Baldacci, the newly appointed mentor and his assistant, Bill Tzzer, have been working out a number of men to fill in the two vacant jobs in the backfield. Red Maxey, scoring ace and Butch Constantino, full back, are taking care of their jobs in good fashion but the remaining spots have yet to be filled. Jack Tuttle and Chalko are the leading candidates for the quarter job. Tuttle is completing his third year of varsity football and Chalko was a member of the freshman outfit of last year.

Palase and Le Croix are the two standing candidates for the vacant full berth, with Harkins, Lindsey and Barber pushing them for the position. The line looks like one of the heavy-liners William and Mary has had number of years. With Ayres at center, Syer and Meade at the guards, and Douglass and Quirk on the ends, the line is averaging close to a hundred and ninety pounds.

SPORTS HEADS TO BE APPOINTED BY NEW METHOD

Coaching Staff And Athletic Committee Combine In Electing Captains Of Teams

Beginning this fall with football and continuing with the eight or so major sports connected with William and Mary athletic programs, a new system regarding election of captains of teams will be inaugurated here. The action came as the result of a meeting of the 3-3-3 athletic committee last June and it is expected to improve considerably the system of electing captains of the various outfits.

According to the plan, the office of captain is not to be elected by the lettermen of the team as has been the case in the past. Instead one of more of the men eligible for the office are to be nominated by a group composed of the coaching staff of athletics here at the institution. The nominee or nominees, whichever is to be the case, are passed on the 3-3-3 athletic committee which shall in turn either accept or reject the names submitted by the coaching staff.

The new system is expected to do away with the political practices which have become somewhat weighty in the past as regards the swinging of elections to favored men. The action makes it possible for a sport to have two or even more captains for the season. The two groups will meet at the conclusion of each athletic season to elect the men to office.

100 CO-EDS REPORT FOR HOCKEY DRILLS

Coach Barksdale Divides Candidates Into Three Squads

Hockey season started last week reporting for practice. Sixty of these players are freshmen, but all two of last year's varsity are back and ready to face competition.

The huge number of players have forced Coach Barksdale to divide the Hockeyites into three sectional squads. "A" squad is composed of four teams of shinhobblers who saw action either on varsity or Fresh squads last year. "B" section includes those new girls who have played. "C" section is made up of those ducasses to whom Hockey is still an unsolved mystery.

Two large gaps are left in the backfield lineup by the absences of former Captain Lois Roberts, and Julia Ann Fippin. The left fullback position, left vacant by the graduation of Lois Roberts, is going to be most difficult to fill, because of the lack of experienced fullbacks. It is hoped that a centerhalf may be found, who in some part will replace the loss of Julia Ann Fippin. This in no way means that only two faces will be seen on this year's eleven. There is some good material among the freshmen and transfers which will give the veterans some keen competition.

Manager Eleanor Field is planning a heavy schedule for this season. During the last week in October it is hoped that William and Mary will be represented by a team at Harrisonburg for the annual tournament of the Virginia-North Carolina Field Hockey Association. On November 15, the Sweet Briar team will journey for the big game of the season. Then during Thanksgiving week there may be a trip to Philadelphia with the Indianettes meeting some of the best college teams in Pennsylvania, and observing either some part of the All-American selections, or the All-American-All Scotch matches.

TRYOUTS

All men who may be interested in trying out for the sports staff of the FLAT HAT may do so by reporting to Washington 200 Thursday night at seven o'clock. There are several vacancies on the staff and all men, with little or no experience, are urged to come out. SPORTS EDITOR.

LANGLEY FIELD IN TIE CONTEST WITH TRICOLOR ELEVEN

Both Teams Score Touchdowns On Blocked Kicks In A 6-6 Practice Game

Preparing for the initial game of the season next Saturday with Guilford College of North Carolina, the Indians played a 6-6 tie practice game with the Langley Field aggregation last Saturday. The game was typical of a first contest, the Indian attack being slowed up to a considerable extent by fumbles.

In the first quarter, after an exchange of punts, Halligan, Indian right end, turned loose a nice play by blocking a punt and racing some thirty-five yards for the initial score of the day. The attempts for the extra point failed when Maxey's placement hit the crossbar.

The Tricolor continued to force the play for the remainder of the half, tossing away a nice chance in the second quarter by fumbling on the Langley 20 yard line.

In the middle of the third quarter, Hoag, left tackle for the Aviators, blocked a kick and Jeannette, right guard for the visitors, picked up the ball to run ten yards for the touchdown. A fumble on the try for the extra point left the score tied.

Soon after this break, Langley blocked another kick only to have W&M recover on the five yard line and punt out of danger.

In the final minutes of play, Cornell, Langley safety, returned a punt thirty-five yards to the W&M 7 yard line but a bad pass from center ruined the chances for a winning tally.

The Indians showed to good advantage on the defense, the Langley aggregation being held to a single first down.

TENNIS TAKEN UP BY INDIANETTES

Team To Soon Encounter Sweet Briar In Richmond Match

For the first time at William and Mary the Squaws have taken up tennis as a fall activity. Janet Simes, manager of tennis, is arranging a very interesting schedule for the season.

Last year's varsity is already in full swing getting ready for the match with Sweet Briar which will probably. (Continued on Page Five)

NINETY-TWO FROSH REPORT TO DAVIS FOR '35 FOOTBALL

Bill Scott, Former W&M Athlete, Helping Meb Davis with Promising Squad

Freshman football has started the new college year in a big way. Exactly ninety-two "ducs" run out to Cary field every afternoon to battle for a position on the yearling team.

Coach Meb Davis, having already taken the boys through their calisthenics, is now inculcating the fundamentals into their heads, and, with the aid of daily scrimmages, is teaching them some new plays and is polishing off the rough points.

Quite a number of men show promise of affording real ability. Among these, in the backfield, are John Kelley, Smith, Evan Shaw, Travers, J. Kelley, Breen, R. Kelley, Young, Soerentzen, Bolton, Dave Glasser, Drogo, and several others. Other backfield men, Shade, Manning, Hope, and Kramer, battling for the quarterback position, show no small ability.

The line also presents strong possibilities. ibimzGBhim oxmen and Anderson are outstanding for center position. Martone, shifting from tackle to guard, shows promise. Others trying out for tackles are Anderson, Stuart, Spicer, and Turner; for guard: Watkins, Jester, and Stevens. Among the ends, Krowl, Krunk, Franklin, and Ward, exhibit some ability.

Coach Davis, aided by Bill Scott, is working hard with the boys, and says that prospects are rather bright for a good freshman team. He expects to present a good congregation of boys against the Norfolk Division of William and Mary on October 16. At present, practice games with Fort Eustis and Fortress Monroe for either this Saturday or the Saturday following, are pending.

SPORTS SHORTS

By Virginia Dreyer

The Indianette athletes are now taking up their hockey sticks, tennis suits, and are opening all four sports with a bang. Most of the old Squaws have returned. There are a few Frosh who need training and the same may be said for the transfers, but all in all—the outlook for the various seasons looks fine. Wheat may sell for a nickle a bucket, but there is not any depression in William and Mary Hockey material.

Five Squaws enjoyed Miss Applebee's hockey camp for a week before school. They improved their hockey by watching and playing against All-Americans under the instruction of English coaches. Pat Lowry and Mike Brames may have been called "Silly asses" and "Beautiful dolls" respectively, but you should see them play now.

For the first game at hockey camp Dot Lafitte, our own left half, was placed against Betty Cadbury who has played on the All-American team for ten years. Dot was so scared that she didn't give Cadbury a chance to get near the ball. That was a big day in the life of Miss Lafitte.

Miss Barksdale is a better coach than automobile driver. On the way to camp she ran through two red lights (with a cop looking on), and then hit a watermelon truck. You admitted it yourself, Miss Barksdale.

Have you ever seen Kitty Cubberly execute a swan dive? You have missed something then. Boy! such poise, and such a little splash.

Lois Roberts and Agnes Winn were in town last week. (For the benefit of newcomers) Lois and Agnes were two of the best sport captains and leaders W&M ever had, and we all wish that they were back with us for all time.

COLUMN BY BUD

Well, another season is at hand and you all will have to face this column glaring at you from the sports page, that is, if you ever find the sports page.

Per usual, the offer to anyone of writing in to this column with views on sports is gladly given, first because it might be good fun for you and second, because the more you write the less this writer has to do. So you, in order to do your daily act of good, can let someone else help the older generation across the street and help out this writer in discussion on sport.

Connie Mack has won his third American League pennant in a row and one of the main causes was Jimmy Dykes, who is known as "the talking-est guy" on the A ball outfit.

Still, that quality is not to be sneezed at, for all during the winter, Jimmy gets $100 for every appearance he makes as an after-dinner speaker.

You may or may not have noticed that Earl Webb broke the two base hit record the other day. The reason that you probably didn't notice the feat was due to the fact that Earl plays for the Boston Red Sox.

Anyway, Webb broke the record made by George Burns of Cleveland in 1926, and all power to him. But several times during the past season, the flashy right fielder of the Sox failed to make a hit with the fans for he'd bang out a clout that was due for at least three bases and as soon as he reached the middle station he'd stop and talk his official double.

Quite a racket. Still Burns did the same thing in piling up his record but the racket does seem kind of tough on Ruth and Gehrig et al. They stop when they dent the platter and no sooner.

Get a line on Nick Altrock's sense of humor:—"Today I got my annual shipment of opium pipes and microphernalia of an expert for doping out the world series. I always get into a round padded cell so I can't sit in the corner. It is quite a strain on Uncle Nick but I haven't picked a loser since the White Sox played the Cincus in 1919. That was the year I forgot to look under the White Sox pillows."

Perhaps you have heard of the name Ted "Kid" Lewis who is a former welterweight champion. Here is an example of what ex-prize fighters do for a living after they have been knocked from pillar to post for a few years.

Lewis has joined the new party of Sir Oswald Moseley in England and is helping things out by giving boxing lessons to members so that they can protect speakers at campaigning time. A nice quiet political life over there.

Lewis is also seeking election to Parliament as a representative to a London constituency.

You have heard of the saying that it is a woman's privilege to change her mind. Well, Wilda Bennett, threatened to sue wealthy Anthony Wettach a year ago but changed her mind and married him.

We always have maintained that if a woman insists on changing her mind, she ought to change it for a better one.

If you all have any fish stories of the summer, don't write in to this office unless you can beat this one.

It took three men twenty-four hours to land a giant 500 pound swordfish off the coast of Redonado Beach, California recently.

And we guess you read of that story this summer where a fisherman fell into a large fish net containing a very large shark along with the thousands of little fishes. The only way that the man saved his life was to wrap his arms around the shark and hang on for dear life until the shark was killed by harpoons. And insult was added to injury for the fisherman gave the shark a black eye.

Don't care what you say about old age, sluggishness, etc., of the Old Master, you can bet your bottom dollar that if Jack Dempsey is signed up to battle Max Schmelling, there'll be another million dollar gate.

Dempsey has been pushing over a few set-ups for the past weeks and it is altogether possible that he may attempt a return battle despite the many denials he has made.

Ellsworth Vines, new national tennis champion, is the holder of twenty-three national, British, French and Canadian titles.

Paavo Nurmi is still winning races, defeating the Polish runner, Kusocinski, by a yard in the 1500 meters.

The championship committee of the National Boxing Association in its recent report dropped the Ambling Alp, Primo Canera from the 5th to 13th position in the heavyweight class.

And Sharkey, who is rated first by the body, is due to mingle with Primo the first of the month.

Don't let this guy Sharkey fool you. He knows that his chances of slipping in on a joust with King Max are pretty slim and he is pushing his pupil, Earnie Schaff for a battle with the champ. Sharkey's just picking up the coin while he has a chance or else he never would have consented to a bout with the Toy Bulldog, Mickey Walker and the Italian.

And right now, Schaff looks like a real contender. He weighs well over the two hundred pounds, 6'2", six years of experience and he is comparatively young. Sharkey better not mingle with Schaff, not the way Schaff is going now.

REOPENING OF THE WREN BUILDING

With the reopening and rededication of the Sir Christopher Wren Building we see the culmination of the plans and work of a large group of men; the results of much research and interest during the past three years. William and Mary has many historic things of which it may justly be proud, but the Wren Building is perhaps its chief glory. First of all this building is the oldest building in America and second, it represents a very large measure the educational background of a number of men who had a part in the development of American government. We are often told that the reason the south is backward is because it looks backward instead of forward. With this in mind, we should not dream of the things which those great men who attended college in the Wren Building accomplished, but let their accomplishments be something to urge us on to high thoughts and deeds. If a man, not an alumnus of William and Mary, was sufficiently interested in the Wren Building to provide for its restoration, should not we who are students here now show our appreciation by making it something of an inspiration to us in our work? It seems to us that this and the maintenance of the building in as perfect condition as possible are two ways in which each student can show his thanks for the restoration of the Sir Christopher Wren Building.

THIS NEW PAPER

With this, the first issue of the Flat Hat, during the semester '31-'32, we note a number of changes in the make-up of the paper. Perhaps the most outstanding change is that of size. Formerly the Flat Hat had only five columns. Since, however, the editors of the paper endeavor to keep the paper up to the standards set by the daily papers, it was decided to have a six-column paper this year. This change means necessarily a decrease in the departmentalization of the paper, but it is hoped that it will also mean more news on the front page.

The other important change has to do not with the make-up of the paper but with the date of publication. In former years the paper was sent to press Monday night and was distributed to the students Friday night. Beginning with this issue the paper will be distributed Tuesday night, thus furnishing real news to the student body in the shortest time possible.

The students should realize that these changes do not in any way affect the policy of the paper. The policy of the Flat Hat has always been to furnish accurate accounts of campus activities to the students of William and Mary and to the alumni. With cooperation from the members of student body the editors of the paper feel that the year 1931-1932 will be the most successful year in the history of the Flat Hat.

A WORD TO FRESHMEN

The Flat Hat wishes to take this opportunity of welcoming the class of '35 and complimenting them upon their choice of a college. Few similar institutions in the country offer more opportunity to learn. Whether or not you do succeed in reaping these benefits depends entirely upon yourself.

College is in a way a miniature reproduction of the life after graduation. The business man must spend a certain number of hours on his work to keep going. The student's business is his studies. If he neglects them, he goes into bankruptcy and the weepy-eyed parents meet him at the home town station. Like the business man, he has a certain amount of time left over to use as he pleases. Some men work in the off hours on the business which fills their day; they make more money—as a student who studies more than is necessary, derives more knowledge. Work in charity institutions, clubs and alumni associations occupy many men's leisure time. Similarly the student often spends that time in athletics, journalism, dramatics, or any of the thousand other things offered as extra curricular work. In one sense, the student derives more from this type of pastime than the business man, for the college activities not only afford amusement, but also give excellent training. Some business men, like some students, spend their leisure time standing on the college drug store corner watching the inmates of Barrett Hall stroll past. Even that does reap a reward.

College offices are filled by those who have spent the most time and shown the most ability. It is therefore necessary for the freshman to come out early for the activities in which he is interested. He may drop one or two of them, but in those he finds most interesting he will be prepared to fill the highest office.

Therefore, when the calls for try-outs of the various activities come, the Flat Hat advises you to go out and work so that your college education may be complete.

"A. Freshman" Asks Classmates To Follow "Duc" Rules

Editor of The Flat Hat:

Dear Sir:

I have noticed on the part of some of my classmates a lack of sportsmanship in regard to the obedience of the Freshman Rules imposed on us by the upper classmen. Some of them seem to think that they are too good to wear the "Duc" caps, and some of them seem to take a great delight in trying to disobey these rules. I do not think that they would do that if they were to stop and think and realize that these rules are imposed on us, not by men who have never gone through the same, but by men whose "Duc" rules were in many cases harder than our own. The student body is forbidden by the administration to haze any Freshman in any form, and we are in turn asked to co-operate with the administration in obeying the rules, which are after all for our own benefit.

Therefore, to you, the members of the class of 1935, my classmates, I appeal to your manliness and sporting natures to be good sports and obey the rules.

A. FRESHMAN.

Lord Botetourt Says:

(Editorial Note—Like the Phoenix, this column has come back with a new type of content, but the same old name. Its present style is so radically different from any the FLAT HAT has ever used before that we feel it will be a real treat for the readers. The author comes to us with much experience in column work. He brings a new and different body to the old "Lord Botetourt Says", and we hope it will meet with your approval.)

Aldous Huxley, author of one of the most striking of the new Autumn books, "Music At Night," is perhaps best known for his "Point Counter Point" of a year or two ago. The new book is spirited, yet serious, without that flippancy and unwonted stammer which seems to be an indispensable ingredient of most of our present day writing by the younger men. There is a furtive and quick turn to Huxley's method of recording impressions that sets him apart from the mere stylist, and the book reads well and rapidly with none of the tangled situations which rather confused one in "Point Counter Point."

Vive la Depression!

It is appalling to think how dry the joke columns in our magazines would be if prosperity returned and removed this fruitful field for badinage.

For Those Who Read Spanish

In the campus library there is a book in the Spanish section which, because of the fact that it was never printed for distribution by sale, may be called rare. In it are the collected poems of Juan Ramon Jimenez, and it was issued by the Hispanic Society of America for presentation to libraries. Good editions of Jimenez are scarce at any time, but the binding of this book is enough to intrigue the most blasé wanderer through the shelves. Inside it are some of the most fluid poetic lines to be found in present-day Spanish literature.

If Eugenie Were Living

I chanced to be walking through Bruton churchyard the other evening, and I was attracted by a wraith-like figure in the riding habit of a bygone day. This apparition (for so it proved to be) was none other than the late Empress Eugenie. In the wind of the willows which talk back and forth over the old tombstones, I heard her soliloquizing on the vogue of the 1931 hat. How unhappy it is that this old empress should be the only one who can get away with the rakish angles which our shopgirls and negro maids and college girls are affecting. I walked quietly away from the church, reflecting that this serene, quiet lady was the only one whose neck had the right subtle curve, and whose head had the proper toss to wear such a hat. But, just the same, Eugenie smoked a mean cigar and had views of her own. All of which may, or may not, mean something . . .

Autumn

Williamsburg is beginning to mellow into the softer tones which presage winter, after a hot summer, in which gardenias bloomed in the courtyard at the Raleigh Tavern and white suits and the gay trappings of the students made the town one of the unique in the country. Students at William and Mary are inclined to take for granted the setting of the town and its environs, and pass by the old houses and landmarks without the interest due them. There has been a tang in the air these last few days which is only to be compared with that of Provincetown and St. Augustine.

Moral Lesson For Freshmen

There was a young Freshman from Worth,
Who had been an abstainer from birth,
But they gave him some corn
At the old Powder Horn,
And now he is blind to the earth

The Players and their Magician

The advent of the first production of the William and Mary Players is to be somewhat delayed by the pageant of the Yorktown celebration. Miss Hunt has returned from England with a copious silk hat from which, in time, she bids fair to produce amusing and entertaining things. She spent six weeks at Bath and Malvern getting ideas for a series of plays for the coming year. There are rumors of what she will conjure up with her dramatic baton, but as yet the rumors are too vague to mention. Our Shakespeare will hark back to Stratford, and a Shaw play, if it materializes, will have a distinct Irish flavour.

The Wren Chapel

The first chapel to be held in the restored College building, built by Sir Christopher Wren in 1693, was held one bright morning last week under the benign coat-of-arms of their majesties, King William and Queen Mary. A service that was simple and rustic served to break the feeling of new plaster and wood and to suggest a lack of affectation that is so typical of Tidewater Virginia, and which is in pleasing contrast to the mock solemnity of other school chapels I have known. Everyone chatted outside the doors, and barring the fact that I almost slipped on my cape in a frantic and un-Botetourt-like effort to regain my place on my pedestal, all went well.

ALUMNI PUT ON SPECIAL DRIVE FOR FINANCE

Secretary Guy Requests Alumni and Former Students To Pay Up Their Dues

To Alumni and Former Students of William and Mary:

This is a personal message to you concerning the plans of the William and Mary Alumni Association for the coming year.

Two years ago a full-time alumni secretary was employed and during that time twenty-four William and Mary Clubs have been formed in seven states and in the various counties and cities of Virginia. These clubs have been very active in helping to secure new students and the enrollment this year is the largest in the history of the College.

During this period the College has been keeping up the Alumni Office but from September on it will have to be financed by the alumni themselves as is done in a majority of the colleges and universities of the country. One hundred and twenty loyal alumni subscribed $10 a year for three years and seven clubs have agreed to raise their quotas. The Association is now organized on a paid membership basis and the Board of Managers hopes to raise the remainder of the budget through securing paid-up members in the Alumni Association. If ever alumnus and former student would send three dollars dues we would so "go over the top."

We are making a special drive to get one thousand paid-up members in the William and Mary Alumni Association and would greatly appreciate it if you would send in your name and try to secure at least one other William and Mary person to join. With a little cooperation on your part we can soon build up a strong Alumni Association which is at present one of the greatest needs of William and Mary. Will you help?

Our slogan is EVERY MEMBER GET A MEMBER. Yours for a greater Alumni Association,

Geo. W. GUY,
Executive Secretary

TENNIS TAKEN UP

BY INDIANETTES

Elsie Hudak, last year's cup champion is back on the courts playing her usual smashing game and Pat Beele, the 1930 intra-collegiate champion is giving a splendid exhibition of form. Everybody is glad to see Fran Booth back on the team again after her absence caused by illness last year. Other old members of the varsity are: Lelia Chewing, Vivian Dreyer, Emily Dunleavy, and Aubrey Holloway. With such a varsity and the help of several of the freshman the Indiannettes should do big things this season.

TRI-COLOR TEAM OPENS SEASON AGAINST WILFORD

(Continued from Page Three) Quirk and Johnson are the only men who are not veterans, both having done service under Coach Meb Davis last year. Both shaped up well under fire in the practice session with Langley on Saturday and ought to be able to fill the shoes of their predecessors in satisfactory manner.

Spare linemen include Wilson at center, Fisher, Balkan and DeBorden as guards, Upshur and Upson on the tackles and Reid and Pinello on the wings.

The game, due to start at 8:30 p. m., is an important one from a WXM standpoint. Guilford lost a close 13-6 ball game to the Emory and Henry Wasps and the Emory club has no mean aggregation. The starting line-up will probably find Ayres at center, Syer and Meade at guards, Capt. Douglas and Quirk at tackles and Halligan and Johnson on the ends. Tut-hill at quarter, Maxey at half, Constantine at full and either Le Croix or Palese in the other half position will probably complete the eleven.

Here, MEN, smoke a man's smoke

A PIPEFUL of good tobacco is distinctly a man's smoke. The women (long may they wave!) have taken over most of our masculine privileges. But pipe smoking still belongs to us.

The pipe is not for pretty girls.

In every walk of life you'll find that the men at the top are pipe smokers. And most college men agree that the pipe offers the rarest pleasures a man could ask of his smoking.

When you smoke a pipe, be sure you choose the tobacco that will give you the greatest enjoyment. In 42 out of 54 colleges Edgeworth is the favorite. You can buy Edgeworth wherever good tobacco is sold.

Or for a special sample packet, write to Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va. Sample is free.

EDGEWORTH SMOKING TOBACCO

Edgeworth is a blend of fine old burleys, with its natural savor enhanced by Edgeworth's distinctive and exclusive eleven-step process. Buy Edgeworth anywhere in two forms—Edgeworth Ready-Rubbed and Edgeworth Plug Slice. All sizes, 1 1/2¢ packet package to $1.50 pound humidifier tin.
