COLLEGE OF WILLIAM AND MARY

VOL. XXII.

WILLIAMSBURG, VA., TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1932

NO. 1.

102 WOMEN ARE PLEDGED AFTER ANNUAL FALL RUSHING

INDIANS TO ENGAGE NAVY AT ANNAPOLIS SATURDAY

Tricolor to Open Navy's Season on Farragut Field; Entire Squad Reported in Good Shape for Annual Encounter.

NAVY WON 13-6 LAST YEAR

Squad of Thirty to Leave for Annapolis on Friday Night for Annual Encounter with Midshipmen.

Having salted away two Virginia Conference scalps on the right side of the ledger, the William and Mary football squad embarks Friday night for Annapolis for the annual fray with Navy, the game being scheduled for Saturday afternoon on Farragut Field.

For several years, the Midshipmen have taken the measure of the silver, green and gold combinations after hard-fought battles. Last year, the Annapolis club defeated the Indians, 13-6, the latter staging a drive towards the end of the tilt. Two years ago, Navy took top honors in a 19-6 affair, the outstanding bit of color of the game being contributed by Bill Scott, now coaching the frosh outfit here at W&M, who returned a punt sixty yards for the sole Indian tally of the contest. In 1929, Navy annexed top honors in an 15-0 victory.

Following a shaky 6-0 victory over Roanoke in the opening game of the season, the Kellisonmen clicked in impressive fashion last Saturday in winning 27-13 from last year's Virginia Conference champions, Randolph-Macon. With plenty of reserve material to battle the four Navy elevens, William and Mary will enter the contest on even terms and provide plenty of action for the highly-touted Navy squad.

Saturday night's battle gave Head Coach Kellison plenty of opportunity to use most of his squad of forty men. Backfield men are especially in abundance and two full backfields, are sure to see action in the Navy's first contest of the season. Charley Shade has shown up impressively in all departments and will probably be calling signals when the opening whistle blows. Billy Palese is continuing to

LITERARY MAGAZINE WILL AWARD PRIZES

Elizabeth Lawder and Donald Gordon Are the Only Two Appointments Made to Staff This Year.

FIRST ISSUE OCTOBER 15

The first issue of the "Literary Magazine" will be off the press October 15, according to Lit Upshur, who succeeds John Eversole as editor, and the policy of awarding prizes for literary merit will be the same as that of last year. Selection will be made of the best article in each of four fields: Short Stories, Essays, Humorous Articles, and Miscellaneous.

The prize for each department is five dollars, and the checks will be presented every month following the publication of each issue. Fred Eilers will again be art editor, and the cover design will be essentially the same modern motif as that of 1932.

The policy of the "Literary Magazine" is to remain unchanged. The October issue will be entered as before in the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association contest.

So far, only two appointments have been made to the staff: Elizabeth Lawder, who was associate editor last year, and Donald Gordon. Other new members will be added, however, during the year.

Anyone wishing to hand in material for publication may see either Lit Upshur, or any member of the staff, or leave signed material in the story-box outside the Flat Hat office in Taliaferro Hall.

CHARLES A. TAYLOR, JR. APPOINTED SECRETARY OF THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Richmond Man Is Named to Fill Position Vacated by Mr. G. W. Guy; Is Member of Class of '09.

OUTLINES PLANS FOR YEAR

Charles A. Taylor, Jr., of Richmond, was recently appointed executive secretary of the William and Mary Alumni Association to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. W. G. Guy.

While at William and Mary Mr. Taylor was a member of the football team, captaining it in 1908, a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity, and a member of Theta Delta Chi, national social fraternity. He received his A. B. degree from the college in 1909 and the following year was a teacher of mathematics and coach of the football team at Newport News High School. From 1910 to 1918 he served as principal of schools in Richmond and served one year of this period as superintendent of playgrounds and recreation for the city. In 1919 he became vice-president of the Universal Motor Company of Richmond, serving in this capacity until 1930 when he became president of the Universal Tractor and Equipment Company of the same city. He held this last position until his appointment as alumni secretary. Mr. Taylor held the position of chairman of the 3-3-3 athletic committee of the college from its organization until last June and is at present a member of the committee.

Upon taking over his duties as alumni secretary, Mr. Taylor announced his plans for the coming year. He believes that the alumni secretary can do effective work for the college and the Alumni Association.

IMPROVEMENTS ARE MADE ON BUILDINGS OF CAMPUS

Taliaferro to be Used as Administration Building; Brafferton Hall Restored by Rockefeller; Will House School of Jurisprudence.

A number of constructive changes have been made on the William and Mary campus since the close of school in June, including both architectural improvements and departmental locations.

Taliaferro Hall, which was formerly used as a men's dormitory, has been completely renovated and now houses the administrative offices of the college, and the Music Department. It contains the offices of the Deans, the Registrar, and the Treasurer of the college. The offices used by Mr. Bridges, the Registrar, and Mr. I. E. Harris, the treasurer, are located on the first floor. Dr. Hoke,

CO-OPERATION

The task of financing the students' publications The Flat Hat, The Colonial Echo and The W&M Literary Magazine, as well as debate, has been in the hands of the students of the College of William and Mary for one year. The funds necessary for carrying on these activities have been raised and handled by the students without assistance from an outside source.

Financial backing has been raised through a medium known as the Student's Activities Fee, which allows the following privileges:

1. Right to hold student office.
2. Right to be pledged to social or honorary fraternities.
3. Right to vote in student elections.
4. Right to receive all three of the campus publications.
5. Right to serve on publication staffs.

Thus far the response to the purchase of these Activities tickets has

TOTAL ENROLLMENT SURPASSES RECORD OF '31-'32 SESSION

College Buildings Improved, and Enlarged to Accommodate Increased Number of Students Who are Enrolled.

FINAL COUNT TO BE MADE

Surpassing by twenty-four the record enrollment at the same time last year, the close of intensive registration Saturday, September 17 found a total of 1445 old and new students enrolled in the College of William and Mary for the 1932-1933 session. Throughout last week a small but steady stream of late comers drifting in has led registration officials to believe that when a final count is taken before the preparation of the complete college roster, the lead of this year's group over the membership of last year will be still further increased.

Three hundred and sixty freshmen entered the college on the first day for registration, Tuesday, September, 13. By the close of the specified registration period, Friday, September 16, 1401 freshmen and upperclassmen had been admitted. Another count taken over the week-end indicated that the ranks had been swelled by 44 additional members.

MUSICAL GROUP TO PRESENT CONCERTS

Concerts in Phi Beta Kappa Hall To Be Held in November, January and March.

The success of the extensive drive carried on throughout last week by music lovers in town and in the college to establish a Community Concert Association has resulted in the assurance that four celebrated artists will appear before local members in a series of three concerts to begin in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall during November, January and March. This was announced by Max Blitzer, chairman of the publicity committee of the Williamsburg Community Concert Association.

The words of Mr. T. S. Cox, second vice-president of the campaign, were: "The Campaign was successfully put over; the goal obtained; and the result is three fine concerts of artists whose reputations are well known."

The artists chosen late Saturday night by the artist selection committee of the association are: Fray and Braggiotti, dual pianists; Nelson Eddy, baritone; and Jascha Seidel, violinist. Fray and Braggiotti will appear in November; the exact date will be announced the latter part of this week. Nelson Eddy and Jascha Seidel will appear during January and March respectively. The three concerts will take place in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

Although no figures will be given out, Mr. Blitzer stated that a gratifying number of college students and townspeople are members of the Association.

COMMISSIONER DAMON IS SPEAKER AT CONVOCATION HELD IN PHI BETA KAPPA

Salvation Army Executive Addresses Student Body in Meeting on Monday; Purpose and Organization Work Outlined.

ANNOUNCEMENT STRESSED

The convocation, held in Phi Beta Kappa Hall, on Monday, September 26, was opened by Dean Hoke, who presided. Mr. Small, head of the music department lead the singing of "America," which was followed by the invocation by Colonel Syler, junior commander of the Salvation Army.

Dr. Hoke introduced the speaker, Commissioner Damon, who is commissioner for the Southern area. He, having been in the Salvation Army since the age of fifteen, is the youngest commissioner in the service, and his work has been solely in the United States.

Commissioner Damon gave as his subject an explanation of the purpose and work of the organization which he represents. He sketched briefly the influence of the Salvation Army, and described its rise from a small organization to one with workers in eighty-three countries and colonies the world over. He estimated the number of persons reached by the Army meetings in the United States alone as twenty million a year. He stated that there are now twenty-six thousand commissioned officers in the organization, and that the number of workers reached into the millions.

Commissioner Damon further stated that the organization was greatly influential in spreading Christian music throughout the world, thus cheering the hungry and homeless for whom the Salvation Army cares. His final exhortation was that the students of

The Hall was suitably decorated, with the speakers' table stretching down the length of one side of the room. At the head of each table was a member of the Girls' Cabinet who presided as hostess. The women and men students were seated alternately at these tables, the women

Kappa Kappa Gamma and Tri Delta Tie for Second Place With 15 Each; Alpha Chi is Third.

RUSHING LASTS TEN DAYS

Also Marks Appearance of Alpha Chi Chapter of Gamma Phi Beta Sorority on William and Mary Campus.

The new system of open rushing, starting Monday, Sept. 12 and ending Wednesday, Sept. 21, resulted in 102 pledges among the nine women's fraternities on campus, as compared with 113 pledged in the September rushing of 1931. This year's open rushing marks the first appearance of the system at William and Mary during the eleven years that sororities have existed here.

Chi Omega lead in the number pledged with 16. Kappa Kappa Gamma and Delta Delta Delta tied with 15 for second place and Alpha Chi Omega held third place with twelve. This rushing season also marked the appearance of a new sorority on the campus, Gamma Phi Beta, totaling the number of sororities to nine.

Formal pledging was held in each sorority sometime Thursday, thus starting each pledge out with a pin, instead of the ribbon system used up to 1931. Rushing this year was also marked by a decided lack of restrictions. All sororities were free to rush any girl in any dormitory from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m. The few rules prohibited any spending of money on the new girls, taking them riding in cars, and spending the night in the various houses.

The pledges are:

Chi Omega—Olive Anderson, Hackensack, New Jersey; Esther Beebe, Montclair, N. J.; Helen Thomas Collings, Crewe, Va.; Martha Connelly, Norristown, Pa.; Alice Crutchfield, Sewickley, Pa.; Dallas Dalton, Richmond; Shirley Easley, Great Neck, Long Island; Dorothy Fraser, Hartford, Conn.; Eleanor Gill, Dover, N. Alpha Chi Chapter of Gamma Phi Beta Pledges Twelve Charter Members; Nancy Conklyn of Goucher College Is Co-organizer.

PLEDGING HELD SEPT. 19

The forty-third chapter of Gamma Phi Beta, national social sorority, is being installed this year on the William and Mary campus, having recently pledged twelve charter members. Those girls pledged are: Lota Spence, Catherine Westbrook, Aletha Muse, Sallie Mason, Marcia Smith, Frances Culbreth, Kitty Blanton, Dorothy Mellor, Ruth Proudman, Ruth Weeks, Dorothy Nice, and Ann Page Moreland. Marcia Smith, '34, is acting as temporary chairman.

Gamma Phi Beta was founded at Syracuse University in 1874, and this will be the Alpha Chi chapter. Nancy Conklyn, of the Zeta Chapter, at Goucher College, is co-organizer. Bids were sent out during the summer, and pledging took place Monday, September 19, with Mrs. Ivan Bickelhaupt, of Richmond, expansion chairman of Province 8, presiding. Miss Ann Chapman, of Williamsburg, a Gamma Phi Beta from Gamma chapter, University of Wisconsin, was also present at the pledging. She will act as chapter advisor for the new group. Richmond alumnae present were Miss Peggy Sorg and Miss Katherine Gordon.

In compliance with a national ruling of the organization, initiation will not take place for a period of about six weeks.

The sorority is occupying the old Sigma Nu house, on Jamestown Road, which has been remodeled and attractively furnished. Mrs. Morecock, of Williamsburg, is house mother.

GLEE CLUB ENROLLMENT SHOWS GREAT INCREASE

Musical Organizations Display Splendid Talent and a Large Number of New Tryouts Is Announced by Mr. Small, Director.

According to Mr. Small, head of the musical department, William and Mary seems to have an abundance of musical talent among its students this year. He stated that there will be more than one hundred girls trying out for the glee club and choir while approximately 75 men are expected to turn out for the men's musical organizations. He also expressed the opinion that there is some splendid talent in the college band and orchestra this year and both organizations will play music of a higher calibre than last year.

Also, more students of music desiring individual instruction can be accommodated this year than previously since three new instructors have been added to the department. Maurice Tyler, a tenor of outstanding ability, is teaching voice. Mrs. J. S. Brockenbrough, sister of John Powell, noted pianist, is teaching piano, assisted by Mrs. Rowe.

Mr. Small wishes to impress students who possess musical talent, to try out for any of the various college musical organizations. Tryouts are still being held this week and all students wishing to try out see Mr. Small in Room 202, Washington Hall.

COMMISSIONER DAMON IS SPEAKER AT CONVOCATION HELD IN PHI BETA KAPPA

The College of William and Mary do their part by urging friends and acquaintances to stay in school rather than add themselves to the number of jobless.

Dean Hoke, in closing the meeting, stressed several important announcements. He urged all seniors to enter applications for degrees in June at the registrar's office at once, and he requested the cooperation of the students in the absence of Mr. Bridges, necessitated, because of illness. He also called attention to the announcement of deferred examinations, to be given on Monday, October 3. Anyone who missed examinations at the close of the session last June due to illness, will have an opportunity to take these examinations at this time.

been small in comparison to the number sold last year at this time. These tickets sell $5.75 for men students, and $6.25 for women students.

A number of organizations are pledging all members to buy their Activity tickets and it is hoped that within two weeks, all prominent organizations on the campus will pledge their members to co-operate in purchasing these tickets. The students of last year demonstrated the fact that the student plan of financing these projects has not been only possible but also decidedly successful.

Let us co-operate as a body and continue the successful work of the first year. The Board of Control office in Taliaferro is open 7-8 every night.

tion by working on the future alumni while they are in college. Toward this end he hopes to make contacts with the students through his work with their organizations and extends a cordial invitation to all students to call on him at the alumni office at any time.

Another feature of the plan is the establishing of new alumni clubs in cities and towns where there are no clubs at present. There are now twenty-four William and Mary Alumni Clubs, all in the east and extending from New York to, and including, North Carolina.

Mr. Taylor feels that the money to finance the work of the association should come from the annual $3.00 alumni dues rather than from large contributions from a few alumni.

A campaign to increase the membership of the Association to 2000 will be started in the near future with special emphasis being laid at points where there are the largest number of alumni. During this fall and winter Mr. Taylor will meet the various clubs and outline his views of the functions of the Alumni Association. It is his desire to awaken the alumni to a consciousness of the great service they can render William and Mary by influencing young men and women of high standing in their communities to enter William and Mary.

Will the person who took the plaque from the front of the Pi Beta house during the first week of college be kind enough to return it?

ACTIVITIES TICKETS SALE REACHES 800

Students Must Pay Fees to be Eligible for Membership in Fraternities, Sororities, and Other Campus Organizations.

The sale of the student activity tickets for this season has far exceeded the expectations of Luther M. Bolton, chairman of Board of Student Activity, considering the present financial conditions and the smaller student body, yet many more tickets must yet be sold if the campus publications and activities are not to be handicapped for lack of funds. Up to date the sale of tickets has reached over eight hundred out of the quota which has been set for a thousand.

In the purchase of tickets the freshmen class is leading the other classes with the women leading the men two to one.

An intensive campaign to secure the sale of the remainder of the quota is to be carried on next week with the help of the fraternities, sororities, and other organizations, for no one will be allowed to join a fraternity or participate in campus activities before they have paid their fees. No one is a member of the official student body unless he or she has paid their fee. Neither will the year books be given to a student until both semester's fees have been settled. These fees may be paid in the office of the Board of Control in the Administration Building from 7 to 8 p. m.

Y. W. C. A. CABINET IS BUSY WITH SCHEDULE FOR YEAR

Freshman Banquet and Tea Have Already Been Sponsored. Plans Being Made for Lantern Festival.

The fall schedule of the Y. W. C. A. is now in full swing under the guidance of President Annis Wilkinson and her Cabinet of twelve girls.

The first function of the year to owe its success to the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet was the Freshman Banquet. A few days after this, on the first Sunday of the fall semester, an informal reception was given to Freshman girls and transfers in the "Y" room at Barrett Hall. About seventy-five girls attended this affair, the purpose of which is to enable new girls to become better acquainted with their classmates and fellow-students.

On Thursday, September 22, a meeting was held in Washington 200 for all those interested in Y. W. C. A. work. The president, Annis Wilkinson, presided, and explained the place which the Y. W. occupies on a college campus. The girls were urged to sign up for the various committees and discussion groups in which they were particularly interested. Plans were made for a Lantern Festival which will take place on Thursday, September 29.

WILLIAM & MARY WINS OVER JACKETS, 27-13

6000 See Indians Play Inspired Ball After Slow Start; Palese Scores Twice to Lead Attack With Aid of Spack.

Over 6000 fans, the largest ever to witness a night game at Cary Field, saw the William and Mary Indians turn back a fighting Randolph-Macon team, 27-13.

The Yellow Jackets opened the game by catching the Indian team asleep to several well-executed plays. Two passes, the first of which was awarded because of interference, enabled Beall to score after but five minutes of play.

The first Tri-Color score was registered by Harry Spack who, aided by Billy Palese and Shade, pushed his way steadily through the Randolph-Macon line.

The second half saw one of the greatest exhibitions of broken-field running ever witnessed on Cary field when "Little Billy" Palese scampered across yard after yard of territory eluding enemy tacklers time and again.

Billy ran close to the sidelines for the first twenty yards, cut in towards the center of the field eluding three men and then outstepped the safety man the rest of the way to the goal.

GOLF AND TENNIS TEAMS LOST TO '32-'33 ROSTER

Financial Conditions Cause Dropping of Two Minor Sports; Golf Team Will Engage in Unofficial Matches.

Because of financial conditions, the Golf and Tennis teams of William and Mary will be dropped from the 1932-'33 official sport roster.

The golf team enjoyed a successful season last year, defeating all opponents on their northern trip and only losing three close matches, two to Washington and Lee and one to the powerful Duke University team.

The tennis team, although their season wasn't as successful, showed good possibilities of developing into a well balanced outfit. The squad met some of the most powerful teams on their northern trip last year, including Navy, Maryland and Johns Hopkins.

Capt. Mort Jaffee of last year's golf outfit accomplished quite a bit at the National Intercollegiate held at Hot Springs, Virginia, last summer. In the first qualifying round, Jaffee tied Billy Howell, Walker Cup player, for seventh place.

According to Billy Gooch, Athletic Director, the golf team will continue to play unofficial matches with most of the teams on last year's schedule.

FROSH CANDIDATES START SCRIMMAGE UNDER MEB DAVIS

Large Squad Practices Daily in Effort to Produce Winning Machine; Meet Norfolk Division Friday.

Head coach "Meb" Davis and assistant mentor "Bill" Scott have started the task of molding together a team strong and spirited enough to come through a hard Freshman schedule creditably.

The "papooses," each realizing that he has a great chance to make the club, are fighting tooth and nail for the honor, and the team that steps out on the field in the opening game against the Norfolk Division of W. and M. on Friday, Sept. 30, at Norfolk, will have earned their positions.

The line candidates are light, as a whole, and inexperienced, while the backs look somewhat better. Of the linemen LaGrande, Sherman, Sanford, and the Troyano brothers stand out, and of the backfield Blaker, Woodward, Bryant, Short, Atkins, Turner present a combination that has good possibilities.

"Meb" and "Bill" put their cohorts through scrimmages on Thursday and on Saturday, with another promised sometime before Friday.

The schedule: Sept. 30—William and Mary (Norfolk Division) at Norfolk. Oct. 8—Washington and Lee Frosh at Lexington. Oct. 13—Saint John's Frosh at home. Oct. 21—Louisburg College at home. Nov. 11—Richmond Frosh at Richmond. Nov. 19—V. M. I. Frosh at Lexington.

CANDIDATES BEGIN FALL TRACK WORK

Johnson, Smithers, Renn and Doane Are Lost to Indian Squad; Prospects, However, Are Bright.

Coach Chandler called together his candidates for fall track practise Monday, September 19. Although there are gaps to fill, the team as a whole appears as capable as that of the previous season.

Merriam and Jones are expected to run the mile. Roberts and Merriam, both experienced runners, will take over the half-mile. In the sprints, the most outstanding men are: Little, Cifelli, Tally, Harrison, Hemingway, Upson, and Penello. Litman and Hart will be the high hurdle duet, with Little competing with them in the low hurdles.

In weight events, Tavenner, Meade, Quirk, and Casey are all above the

80 GIRLS TRY OUT FOR HOCKEY SQUAD

Several Veterans and Promising Newcomers Brighten Prospects for Successful Season Under Coach Barksdale.

Hockey season opened Monday, September 19, with over 80 Squaws reporting for practice. After several days playing, the Indiannettes were divided into three groups: Squad C is the varsity, Squad B for intermediates, and Squad A for beginners.

There are many freshmen and new girls who seem to be promising material, according to Coach Barksdale. Helen Maffett, one time famous William and Mary goalie, is back in school doing excellent playing as center forward. The three Indiannettes who attended hockey camp this summer, Mickey Ross (who received the scholarship awarded annually by the Monogram club), Dorothy Beck, and Dorothy Lafitte, returned to school with the usual enthusiasm and increased skill which those at hockey camp always acquire.

This year an increased emphasis is to be placed upon intramural sports. An intramural athletic committee which will take charge of all inter-class and interdormitory games is being organized. The committee has not yet been completed but will consist of a representative from each sport.

TEEPEE TOPICS

Well, here's my first chance to tell those three or four devoted and loyal followers who actually read this column last year that I'm right back on the job. Last year, you know, one of the boys tried to learn which sections of the FLAT HAT were most read and which least.

I decided to continue trying to please my public then and there and here I am.

Since little Billy Palese convinced everyone that he has donned his track shoes again in that Randolph-Macon game the other night, all eyes but mine are turned on football. I'm still hanging on to the old national sport. Tomorrow, baseball will return in a final blaze of glory with hopes of overshadowing King Football, and believe me, it will do it.

Next week I'll be in a better position to tell you whether this corporation goes into bankruptcy or not, though I still think those Yankees look good.

More people are interested in football, though, so here goes. If you care to see a scrappy little game, and have the means of going to Norfolk, get out and cheer on the Freshmen when they play the Division club on Friday. Those ducs have good hopes for the game but then so have our Norfolk friends.

One of our more intelligent freshmen approached me the other day, and upon being asked who he thought would win the game, said, "Well, I don't know." Then again, one of the Division boys who was visiting here last week, when put to the same question, replied, "Well, I don't know."

More football. Based on the meteoric career of "Red" Grange, the Galloing Ghost of Illinois, a novel title "77," begins in the October issue of College Humor and reveals many unwritten chapters in the life of the most famous of redheads.

How did you enjoy that wrestling match between Gerry Quirk and one of the Yellow Jackets during the game Saturday, if you noticed it? The two boys were playing the mat game sincerely and wholeheartedly when the referee, looking rather severely, broke the clinch.

Speaking about football, good old Billy Gooch has donned a uniform, and is out there giving Honest John a hand in the coaching assignment. Billy was restrained from this activity last year by an operation on his knee.

By the way, the boys are going to play Navy Saturday. And for the first time in a long series, the boys are going up with the honest intention of winning. Things are brighter this year than ever before, and if you don't think so, just ask one of the boys.

There will probably be a pep rally before the game and, seriously, each member of the student body is expected to turn out to give our team a royal send-off. The Navy game is, more or less, the starter of this phenomenal schedule of ours, and a victory over the Middies will start the ball rolling.

Next week I shall resume those personal and intimate details of several of our sporting luminaries. Last summer, Ed Meade and Happy Halligan were the subjects of the only two to appear.

All freshmen who would like to know what I'm talking about, come to me for information. I'm the only one who knows. Anyway, if you care to know some of the deeper stories concerning the Giggling Ghost, bear with this column next week.

We sure are glad to see Jack Darden and Harry (Louis Wolheim) Spack back here this fall. Louis, I mean Harry, spent the last year studying the Temple notes, but has finally come to the decision that he prefers the Southern belles.

Postscript, and in excuse: I welcomed all the Freshmen (and women) individually.

ROANOKE COLLEGE BOWS TO INDIANS 6-0 IN INITIAL GAME OF SCHEDULE

Battling courageously before 4500 enthusiastic fans, the latest edition of Coach Kelson's William and Mary team defeated a stubborn Roanoke College outfit on Saturday, September 17, at Cary Field, 6-0.

Dale Worrell, shifty little back from Attleboro, Mass., was the shining light for the Indian team, being ably assisted by Charlie Shade at quarter. Worrell speared a 20 yd. pass from Shade in the final quarter and raced ten yards for the only score of the game. Shade's drop-kick was wide.

The opening quarter was featured by a kicking duel between Halligan and Matthews with the latter having a slight edge. Palese got off on a 25 yd. run for the only substantial gain of the period. In the second quarter, after three passes had brought the pigskin to the eight yard line, the Maroon line held and the ball was kicked out of danger.

ACTION WANTED

Both new and old students, upon arriving in Williamsburg for the fall term, have noted vast improvements in the buildings and general appearance of the campus. The administration of the college has spent thousands of dollars in remodeling the dormitories, forming a centralized Administration Building, erecting a pair of iron gates at the northern entrance to the campus as well as transplanting a number of trees and shrubs in all parts of the campus.

In the case of Monroe and Old Dominion Halls, the walls have been repaired and repainted, new shower baths have been installed and both structures have been put into first class condition for occupancy.

Since the opening of the college year, there unfortunately have been several cases of students who, desiring to become collegiate-minded a la motion picture, have pounded nails into the walls to hold various and sundry bits of material in place, thus causing not only an undesirable and unkempt appearance but also undermining the plaster of the walls. The weakened plaster eventually results in breaks, gaps and large cavities. In several of these cases, college officials have discovered such damage and the students at fault have paid the cost of replastering and restoring the appearance of the room to its original condition.

It would seem apparent at this time that some action is needed to prevent these thoughtless students from continuing their mis-guided actions. The college has neither the time nor the money continually to check up on the men who consistently refuse to live up to the standards expected of gentlemen.

It is therefore suggested that a committee of students undertake to enforce these dorm regulations. Such a committee might be recommended in the form of the recently-organized Senior-Sophomore Tribunal, an organization which was formed last spring for the purpose of enforcing freshmen rules. This group has great potentialities of being a powerful group and in this case of dormitory regulations, would be able to exact complete co-operation from all students using not only dormitories but also other college buildings as well.

It is further suggested that the leader of this organization call a meeting of the body, consider this case and, if favorable to such action, report willingness to co-operate to Dr. Chandler, President of the College.

It is indeed regrettable that such action would appear necessary. A student room may not be furnished in the luxurious fashion as may be the case of the room at home, but this does not give the student the right to mar and deface the walls, toss cigarettes in the corner and otherwise destroy property that does not belong to him.

Again, it is urged that this Senior-Sophomore Tribunal undertake the initiative to aid in maintaining the now first-class conditions found in all the dorms.

Action wanted.

FROM THE STANDS

It would seem to be an annual, traditional or conventional custom for an editorial to come out urging a little school spirit in the case of football games. The usual response to such appeal is found in the criticism of the article as being the same old bunk and the so forth.

These skeptics continually scorn such literary effort in the matter of urging school spirit, remarking that yelling isn't going to win a ball game. But these skeptics are wrong.

The football player isn't continually waiting for the stands to give him a cheer. If he is waiting for such action, he isn't playing football the way he should. Cheering to the football man "out there" is just a big noise from a section of the field. Practically all the time, he is unaware of the fact that the stands are cheering. It comes to him in sub-conscious fashion, not conscious.

A year ago at Annapolis, during a lull in the game, a small group of William and Mary men offered opposition to a group a hundred times their size, the Midshipmen Corps cheering section. The only chance these few William and Mary men had a chance to be heard was between Navy cheers. Yet those scattered cheers actually meant more to the W&M gridiron representatives than any other concentrated cheering for the remainder of the year.

William and Mary is going to Annapolis next Saturday to battle Navy. Your presence will mean a lot, especially if you advertise the fact that you are there by organized cheering. Some more action wanted.

OPEN FORUM

An earnest endeavor is being made this year to make this column a true "open forum" and to encourage the members of the student body to set forth therein constructive ideas concerning certain campus matters of vital importance to everyone.

All letters addressed to the editor and intended for the Open Forum will be accepted and printed provided their contents are set forth in a straightforward manner and are not merely rash statements. These letters may be given to any member of the Flat Hat staff or may be brought to the Flat Hat office in Taliaferro on Sundays at 2 P. M.

It is the sincere hope of the editor that all students of the college will take advantage of this column to create true cooperation between student body and administration.

CONCERNING THE RETURN OF LIBRARY BOOKS

Editor of the Flat Hat,
Dear Sir:

I have learned that the recent inventory taken in the college library has shown an appalling number of books missing. The matter is so serious that it will be necessary to canvass the student houses in town as well as the dormitories and houses on campus. Now that we're starting another year and the freshmen are still impressionable and liable to listen to reason, I think that the upperclassmen should make every effort to influence the yearlings in regard to proper care of the library books. Especially should the students be concerned about the welfare of the books since a large number of the volumes are donated by them either through the medium of the literary societies or various classes which find it impossible to use one text and consequently donate many well selected and carefully chosen books to the library that may be used for class information.

Out of consideration for Dr. Swem, who has now been on leave of absence for a year, it seems that the least thing the student body can do is to show some respect for the library as an institution and guarantee its contents proper care.

Concerned.

CONGRATULATIONS OFFERED

Editor of the Flat Hat,
Dear Sir:

Congratulations to somebody for becoming a little more broadminded! Imagine the intense joy of some four or five hundred "old" coeds upon learning that they would be allowed the delightful privilege of rambling down to the first block all on a Sunday eve. And this revolutionary measure can't be appreciated either, except by one who has known the agony of standing on the street corner and watching with envious eyes her more fortunate brothers while waiting for her "dope" to be brought to her.

Ho hum—while I am writing this in a glow of joy, I am the unhappy recipient of the news that all women students of this ancient and honorable institution will have to take a fearful test on the student government rules, and I am plunged into gloom. Please tell me, powers that be, when shall I smile again?

Distracted Co-ed.

"CO-ED" IN FAVOR OF GROUP CHEERING AT ANNAPOLIS

Editor of the Flat Hat,
Dear Sir:

I should like to write a letter and urge that all students, when attending the Navy game next Saturday at Annapolis, to sit in a body and attempt to let our presence be made known through organized and concentrated cheering.

Last year I went up to the Navy game and altho' it was a swell game, I nevertheless would have appreciated it a lot more had I been sitting with the remainder of the William and Mary students.

It is likely that special rates will be offered by boat and every student who has the opportunity to make such a trip should do so. There is not a crowd in this case.

Co-ed.

COLUMN BY BUD

Another year, another Flat Hat, another column, all of which you may pursue or avoid according to your dislikes or independence. If by chance, you have reached this second sentence of this so-called "column" (call it as you may by your own sordid, subtle or otherwise expressions) it may be well truthfully to remark that, two columns of copy being lacking on this editorial page two, column of so-called reading matter will be presented every week until that notorious tax-collector, Messr. Spack, arrives with his warrant.

A column, according to the general opinion of a certain class, would seem to be a conventional outlet for announcements concerning matrimonial ventures, blessed events and tidbits of keyhole knowledge for those who are not burdened down with a sufficient quantity of their own trials and worries. The writer, however, lacking such knowledge and inquisitive ability, has to be content with presenting a column consisting of material of entirely different nature, material which will be boring or interesting, all according to how much time you have to waste.

So those of you who would be informed of more intimate announcements will continue to follow W. W. in the Times-Dispatch and allow the writer to pound out his twelve hundred to the probable discomfort of all those who may be so unfortunate as to read "Column by Bud."

There are those of us who may be classed with an I. Q. rating of 50, but the following examples ought to make us feel better if by chance we are discouraged with life and its cruel twists.

In Manhattan, a Dr. Edward L. Mann, in advocating a health program for foreign-born, told of a case where an anxious mother, in attempting to cure her daughter of whooping cough, fed her a live goldfish.

In Mexico, a cat belonging to a Mrs. C. Williams fell into a well. Mrs. Williams, in attempting to rescue the cat, also fell into the well. Mr. Williams arrived on the scene, attempted to make a double rescue and soon joined the group, making a trio in the bottom of the well. Mr. and Mrs. Williams were rescued by police. The cat drowned.

In Moundsville, West Virginia, Judge James F. Shipman, in calling Mike Noval, witness in a trial, remarked—"Take the witness stand." Messr. Noval took him at his word, hoisted the witness stand to his shoulder and made for the door.

We are still looking for Elmer Zilch, who has enrolled in several classes this term at school.

Another student who has enrolled this fall in school is Miss Virginia Beech, who is present.

A freshman at the University of Chicago, despite a record of successful results in an examination, wrote—"Only God knows the answers to these questions."

He was slightly nettled when his exam paper was returned to him with the following note: "God gets an A; you get an F."

* * * * *

In Detroit, Bernard Lotus, having tossed down a few three fingers, climbed into his automobile with his girl friend. He then experienced of life's adventures as follows: he drove over the curb and knocked off the porch of a house, ruining the fenders of his car; he continued on a half block to a garage, offered to fight the owner of the garage; chased his girl who had attempted to depart unknown to her playful companion; he failed to catch her and climbed back into his car, drove out of the garage in very rapid fashion into a parked car belonging to Fred Stoetzer; he offered to fight about fifty men who had collected around the accident, offered to fight Stoetzer, following the latter all the way home, wiping greasy hands on his coat; an adventure which caused three separate riot reports to the court.

Said the judge: "Mr. Lotus, I believe you are the perfect drunk driver. You have left nothing undone."

* * * * *

Students at Colgate University were advised by the Psychology department not to marry any girl who is "the life of the party." No explanation for this theory was given.

* * * * *

In Chicago, Frank E. Scott and Mrs. Laura Scott and each other for divorce. Mrs. Scott charged her husband with switching the lights on and off for hours, keeping her from sleeping. He charged her with painting black stripes on his brand new gray suit.

A Dean at Gettysburg, returning from a dance, found his car occupied by a couple and walked home rather than disturb them.

* * * * *

In Washington, Mrs. Rita Nickel sued a department store for $50,000 because an employee opened a door of a closet in which she was trying on a new dress.

* * * * *

In Memphis, Dr. Ernest Gleaves, a blind osteopath, won a divorce from his blind wife, charging the latter with misconduct with a former sweet-heart, also blind. Two blind witnesses testified for the Doc.

In Boston, Carl Salin and Mike Yasuck, arrested for mauling one another, were sentenced to recite the Lord's Prayer to each other three times.

SECOND YEAR OF WILLIAM AND MARY'S AVIATION LAUNCHED

Twenty-Eight Men are Enrolled in Ground Courses, and Seventeen Fledglings Report to Col. Earl C. Popp for Dual Flight Instruction.

BIG AVIA'N YEAR IS SEEN

Aeronautics Courses 101, 102, and 103 Prove to be Among the Most Popular in the College Curriculum.

With the successful take off of the College of William and Mary's second year of Aeronautics, a total of approximately 28 men reported to the ground school course, Aeronautics 101 on Friday, September 16. The flight schedule went into effect at 8:45 a. m., Thursday, September 22. This flight course, Aeronautics 103, is being studied by 17 fledglings, according to Colonel Earl C. Popp, Director of the Department of Aeronautics.

For the benefit of those new to William and Mary College, and for those who are interested in Aeronautics, the following courses are stated, as prescribed by our Department of Aeronautics.

Aeronautics 101 and 102

This course is composed of approximately one hundred and two hours of classroom instruction and sixty-eight hours of shop work. It is a required course for all flight students—private, limited, commercial, or transport.

Although the work is adjusted to other college routine, it will probably result in about thirty-four weeks of instruction with three hours of classroom and two hours of shop per week.

The subjects covered are as follows, and will be rigidly controlled by text-assignments, reviews, and examinations:

History of Transportation and Aviation; nomenclature; theory of flight; Aerodynamics 2, 3, 4, and 5; the model wind tunnel; construction of the airplane; rigging the airplane; airplane propellers; repair of the airplane; materials used in airplane construction; scale model airplanes; gliding and soaring flight.

The Power Plant

Blueprint reading; elementary engineering; carburetors and superchargers; elementary electricity, magnetos; starters and starter motors; generators; spark plugs; batteries; the Wright J6 Series Engines; the Pratt and Whitney Wasp Engines; the Packard Diesel Engines; the Kinner Engines; the Curtiss OX Engines; timing magnetos and valves; lubrication and fuel; trouble shooting; engine maintenance.

Meteorology-Navigation-Law

The atmosphere; minor and major wind circulation; the weather map; cloud formations and significance; the magnetic compass; the telepoint compass; the earth inductor compass; flight instruments; flight and engine instruments; map making and reading 1, and 2; airways maps, aerial photography; night flying; radio aids to navigation; aerial navigation 1, 2, and 3; astronomical navigation 1, and 2; parachutes and their care; aviation law and the Federal Regulations.

Private Pilots Flight Course

This course is primarily for the private plane owner or serves as a preparatory course for further training. It includes the complete ground school course previously detailed, and through ten hours of dual instruction and ten hours of solo flying the student is taken through the elementary work of handling the ship on an even keel, followed by gentle, medium, and steep turns, takeoffs, landings, spins, stalls, vertical banks and emergency landings. After he solos he is checked frequently to correct faults and weaknesses that may develop, and is then instructed in cross-wind landings, 180 and 360 degree landings, spiralling down to a landing, side slips, fish-tailing, and forced landings under various conditions. He is then ready for his Government test for a private pilot's license.

All students are equipped with, and will be thoroughly instructed in the use of, the latest type approved parachutes before taking any instruction in flight, and will be required to use parachutes during their solo work.

PEP RALLY WILL BE HELD THIS WEEK FOR NAVY GAME

(Continued from page three) Fortunately it has not as yet been decided when or where it is to be held, though particulars will be announced and posted in the College Shop. Whenever and wherever it is to be held, however, all Freshmen and women must attend! And all upperclassmen are urged to come give their team a hearty send-off.

G. G. Clark was in West Point on Monday to review Ellen Glasgow's latest novel, "The Sheltered Life," before the West Point Woman's Club.

INDIAN HANDBOOK ISSUED TO FROSH

The Indian Handbook, which is published annually by a staff composed of representatives from the Y. W. and Y. M. C. A., was issued last week at the Freshman Banquet.

The book this year is slightly different in appearance from those of former years, but the material covered is essentially the same.

In addition to the Constitution of the Student Body, the book contains various articles of information concerning the college campus, the many organizations and activities on campus, and a description of local spots of historical interest.

DEBATE CLUB TO OPEN WITH SMOKER

Manager Walter Pierce is planning several excellent trips for both the varsity and the freshmen. Tentative plans now call for an early invasion of the South with debates with Furman, the University of South Carolina, the University of North Carolina, and Duke. During the second semester there will be a trip up North to meet teams from Harvard, Colgate, Penn State, Boston College, Fordham, and probably Yale and Columbia.

WILLIAM AND MARY WINS OVER JACKETS 27-13

(Continued from page three) Although every man on the Tri-Color squad played heads-up every minute, too much cannot be said of the work of many of last year's frosh squad, including Shade, Giles, Anderson, Bridges, Worrell, Smith, Sorenson and Stewart. "Big Jim" Spicer accounted for the other two points by tackling Beall behind the line for a safety.

Outstanding for the Yellow-Jackets were Lafer, DeLotto, Beall and Hudson. The lineups.

To accommodate the unusually large student body, improvements and enlargements of college buildings have taken place. Old Dominion Hall and Monroe Hall, mens' dormitories, are being refinished and expanded by a thorough repainting and the construction of new showers and rooms in building space formerly unused. Brafferton Hall, one of the oldest of the college buildings, upon which restoration work was begun last year, is now being used to house the president's office, the School of Jurisprudence, and a section of the Secretarial Science division of instruction.

Henry Land will succeed William Talton as circulation manager having been elected at a meeting of the circulation staff last spring.

Donald Gordon succeeds Garland Oliver as men's managing editor. Announcement concerning the appointment of women's managing editor and alumni editor will be made in two weeks.

Several men have been added to the business staff, including Walter E. Pierce, Assistant business manager, and Robert W. Mallowney, William T. Marsh and F. Boardman Fish, assistant advertising managers.

IMPROVEMENTS ARE MADE ON BUILDINGS OF CAMPUS

Dr. Hodges, and Dean Landrum have offices on the second floor. The Flat Hat office is situated on the first floor.

The offices used for administrative purposes in Washington Hall have been taken over by the Home Economics Department. Ewell Hall, which formerly housed the Treasurer's office, the Music and Home Economics Departments, and the offices used by the college publications is to be torn down in the near future. All equipment has been removed from Ewell preparatory to its wrecking.

The Rockefeller Restoration Foundation has finished the work of repairing and restoring Brafferton Hall. Brafferton will house the Jurisprudence Department this year. This building, which stands on the south side of the campus, facing President Chandler's house, was constructed in 1785. The funds for its erection came from the income on Sir Robert Boyle's estate in 1785. It was used for a time as an Indian school, and later turned over to the College of William and Mary. According to Dr. Chandler, dedication ceremonies will be held later.

A pair of wrought iron gates have been erected at the north entrance to the campus as a memorial to Colonel Benjamin S. Ewell who was president of the college in 1865. Work on the

ALUMNI CATALOGUE READY TO BE DISTRIBUTED SOON

Will Contain Data Concerning Over Eight Thousand Men and Women; Questionnaires Are Still Being Returned.

Work is nearing completion on the new Alumni catalogue, and it will be ready for distribution some time this fall. The catalogue will list the names of over 8000 men and women who have graduated from William and Mary. Questionnaires were sent out to alumni this summer for data concerning correct addresses, marriages of old graduates, and births in their families, and answers are still being received from all parts of the country.

The quantities of information to be compiled about so large a number of people makes the issuance of the catalogue a monumental work, requiring hours of time and tedious preparation. In 1925 the first alumni catalogue to be issued for a long stretch of years was arranged by Dr. W. T. Hodges after more than a year of effort. This new catalogue, being larger and more complete and up-to-date, is taking longer to compile. The large increase of women included in the catalogue over those in 1925 shows the growth of their attendance at William and Mary.

All alumni who receive this issue of the Flat Hat and who have not themselves or know of others who have not returned the questionnaires sent out this summer are urged to see that the questionnaires are returned at once.

gates was begun last spring. The gates were made in France. Figures of William and Mary which are about four feet high surmount the brick pillars supporting the gates. A wrought iron arch-work surmounts the entire gate. In its center is the coat-of-arms of the college topped by the spread eagle, symbolic of American freedom. Charles W. Robinson, the college architect, designed the gates.

A number of trees and shrubs have been transplanted during the summer in accordance with the landscaping plans which have been made for the campus.

DR. CHANDLER OPENS NEW SESSION AT CONVOCATION

Special Privileges to be Granted to Students Who Make Average Grade of 85 or Above.

Dr. J. A. C. Chandler opened the fall session with a convocation on Thursday, September 15. His subject matter was taken from the first psalm, urging new students to choose their friendships wisely, and to take advantage of all the opportunities offered them. Dr. Chandler warned against any form of hazing, and explained the college rules for the benefit of the new students. He said that the privileges to be allowed students making an average of 85 or above would be announced later.

en's places being designated by a yellow napkin, and the men's by a green one. At each place there was a music sheet compiled by the musical organizations of the school, and a copy of the Indian Handbook which is an annual publication of the Y. associations. This handbook serves the twofold purpose of being a reliable source of general information as well as a kind of social register of the school.

Mr. Tucker Jones, of the Athletic Department, acted as toastmaster. Dr. Chandler welcomed the new students to the College of William and Mary, and Dr. Hodges made several announcements, and remarked upon the fine appearance made by the class. Dr. Blocker, head of the Sociology Department, delivered the address of the evening.

They are not present in Luckies... the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.
