

Late News Flashes

Aggressor Nations Arraigned

Chicago, Oct. 5—(AP)—President Roosevelt bitterly arraigned aggressor nations before the bar of world opinion today and called upon peace loving nations of the world to join in a concerted effort to restore international tranquility.

Speaking out formally and aggressively on foreign affairs for the first time in months, but withholding any definite proposal for an international conference or invocation of Peace Pacts, he asserted bluntly, in dedicating the outer Link Bridge here: "There must be positive endeavors to preserve peace."

Dahl Faces Court Martial

Salamanca, Spain, Oct. 5—(AP)—Harold E. Dahl, American aviator captured by the Nationalists while fighting for the Loyalists went on trial for his life before a Court Martial court. The prosecuting attorney demanded the death penalty. Dahl's pretty wife of six months appealed to the Nationalists, while to the Generalissimo Francisco Franco from her home in Cannes, France, she cried to the Spanish General "not to destroy the only happiness she has ever known."

Propose Help for Negro Children

Richmond, Va., Oct. 5—(AP)—Establishment of a farm colony for feeble-minded negro children in Virginia, an institution badly needed now, is in sight. Governor George C. Peery revealed that a plan submitted tentatively by Dr. H. C. Henry, superintendent of the Central State Hospital, by which the 1,000 acre Seward farm may be converted into such a colony.

To Study Sex Perverts

Richmond, Va., Oct. 5—With prison sentences recognized as an absolutely futile deterrent against the repetition of sex crimes, a conference between police officials, criminal judges and psychiatrists to work out a better method of caring for convicted perverts appears to be the only solution for the wave of sex crimes now taking place in Richmond.

Marines Evacuate Defenses

Shanghai, Oct. 5.—(AP)—United States Marines were sprayed with shrapnel and forced to evacuate their defense outposts along the northern boundary of the International Settlement when Japanese War Planes rained fifteen bombs on one of China's largest flour mills, just across the 40 yard wide Soochow Creek.

Roosevelt in 1940!

Washington, D. C., Oct. 5—(AP)—Representative Fish (R.- N. Y.) predicted last night that there will be a fierce fight for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1940 between the "Roosevelt element, composed of radicals and Socialists," and "the liberals and conservatives."

Cops Won't Eat

Joliet, Ill., Oct. 5—(AP)—Three thousand convicts locked in their cells in the Stateville penitentiary, were fed on a "take it or leave it" cafeteria basis today as Warden Joseph E. Ragen sought to break a "hunger strike" which 200 prisoners started at breakfast.

Guards wheeled cartloads of food down the cellblock corridors, handing the supper through locked doors to those wanting it. Four hundred other prisoners not involved in the strike, who performed their usual daily tasks in the prison shop, were fed in the dining room as usual.

Special Session Threatened

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 5—(AP)—President Roosevelt, with fresh courage born of his western trip, made new demands last night for wage-hour and surplus crop control laws to replace the "cornerstone" of his program "knocked out by the supreme court."

He indicated he might call a special session of congress to act on the farm bill.

Keydets Defeat Indians 20-9, In Norfolk Battle

Frosh Team Ties Fork Union

The hard fighting William and Mary Indians lost a well-played game last Saturday when the V. M. I. Keydets came from behind in the second half to score two touchdowns and put the game on ice.

Before a crowd of about three thousand people the Braves played head-up football to go into the third period leading by three points, but the same lack of reserve strength that showed at Navy cropped up at Foreman Stadium Saturday and they were unable to withstand the pace and the power of the Keydet eleven. A pass to Kovar and a long run by Shu resulted in two tallies for the Soldiers and these finished the job.

In the first quarter Shu, V. M. I. back, brought the crowd to its feet with a sensational run, smashing right through the line for 25 yards, but the Indian forward wall found itself and three line bucks resulted in a gain of three yards for the Keydets and Shu was forced to kick. The ball see-sawed for a few minutes and then V. M. I. began its first scoring drive. Chapman and Shu knifed through the line for repeated gains from the 42 yard stripe down to the 12, and then Shu, behind perfect interference, swept his left end for the first score. Johnny Dillard, William-Mary tackle, broke through the line to block Shu's try for the extra point, leaving the score 6-0.

V. M. I. kicked off and Bunch quick-kicked on the first play to the Keydets 10 yard line. Shu fumbled in the end zone and Trecziak recovered to give the Indians a safety. The quarter ended with the ball in mid-field.

Indians Score in Second

With the start of the second period the Indians wasted little time in going down the field. Bunch dropped a pass into Coiner's arms on the 30 yard line and the march was in full swing. After three straight attempts at the line, a wide lateral from Phillips to Bunch brought the ball to the 4 yard marker, and Phillips bucked over for the tally. Twidly dropped back and made the conversion with a placement.

After the kickoff a 25 yard penalty put the ball well into V. M. I. territory but the Braves were unable to make headway and Bunch kicked out of bounds on the Cadet 12 yard line. The soldiers gained on an exchange of punts and another scoring threat, a long pass from Shu to Trecziak, was stopped by the whistle with the ball down on the Indian's 7 yard line. The score at half-time was W-M 9, V. M. I. 6.

In the second half the Braves tired rapidly and the Cadets took advantage of this at every opportunity. They began to throw all their power

"NIGHT OF JAN. 16" WILL BE FIRST PLAY BY DRAMA GROUP

Successful Before N. Y. Audiences

By MAY FIELDER

The question of whether Karen Andre murdered her husband will be decided by the William and Mary audience on October 28 and 29, when the William and Mary Players will present their first play of the season, "The Night of January 16."

This play, which ran in New York from September, 1935, to April 1936, really does allow the audience to decide the verdict and determine thus the ending of the play. Twelve jurors will be selected by lot from the audience, and will occupy the jury box on the stage during the trial, and render a majority verdict in the third act. The jurors are not planted, nor is the verdict set beforehand. During the New York run the acquittals outnumbered the convictions three to one.

Unusually Large Cast

The unusually large cast, composed chiefly of witnesses who form an interesting group of character studies, has been selected, and rehearsals have begun. Janet Murray will play the defendant, Karen Andre, while the parts of the District Attorney and the lawyer for the defense will be taken by Bill Wilson and Carl Buffington.

Other women in the cast are: Harriet Colyer as the police matron; Ann Cross and Gwen Evans as secretaries to the lawyers; Eileen Woods as Mrs. Hutchens, the negro witness; Jessie Lee as Nancy Faulkner, second wife of the murdered man; Betty Rumsey as Madga Svenson, the Swedish maid; Dorothy Evans as Jane Chandler, hand-writing expert; and Sylvia Klarsfeld as Roberta Van Rensselaer, night club dancer.

The list of men includes: Herbert Jemmett as the Bailiff; J. C. Sturges as the Judge; Jim Pye as the Court Clerk; Jimmy Watkins as Dr. Kirkland; John Sumner as Homer Van Fleet; Herbert Cobb as Sweeney, the policeman; George Anner as Mr.

ENGLISH JOURNALIST WILL BE AWARDED BACHELOR OF LAWS

Academic Procession Before Ceremonies

The award of an honorary degree by the College of William and Mary to Sir Campbell Stuart, K. B. E., Chairman of the Imperial Communication Advisory Committee, and a director of the London Times, was announced here Saturday by President John Stewart Bryan.

Sir Campbell, a direct descendant of Robert Dinwiddie, Governor of Virginia, from 1751 to 1758, will be the speaker at a special convocation called for eleven o'clock on Wednesday October 6th. The degree will be awarded at the conclusion of the speech.

When Governor Dinwiddie arrived in Williamsburg in November 1751, to accept his Royal appointment, he was greeted with an address of welcome from the College of William and Mary in which he was saluted as a Governor or who will "set such a Pattern to future Governors as may make them prove blessings to succeeding Generations."

Governor Replies

At the conclusion of the well couched and felicitous address, the Governor, not to be outdone, launched into a reply which praised his predecessor, and even today reads well.

"It is true" he said in speaking of the amiable Sir William Gooch, "I must appear with great disadvantages in succeeding that worthy gentleman, but his exact principle may be animated, and you probably may see during my administration that a good man's influence never dies."

The College of William and Mary and Robert Dinwiddie chanced to be born the same year—1693, and the College no doubt held a warm spot in his heart, as he continues:

"I have always looked on Seminaries of Learning with an awful respect and true regard. The College of William and Mary is undoubtedly a very great blessing to Virginia."

In conclusion he gave the youthful audience, sprinkled here and there with the graying heads of the then small faculty, a pledge which spoke well for the future of the College, ". . . and I shall watch every opportunity wherein I can be of Use or Service to the College."

History Will Be Repeated

These historic words will find utterance during the services Wednesday when Governor Peery will read the speech heard here that memorable day in 1751.

Sir Campbell has to his credit a distinguished list of public offices, as well as numerous business connections throughout the British Empire. He was a Lieutenant-Colonel in the Canadian Army during the European War, and in 1917 was made Assistant Army Attache at the British Embas-

WOMEN'S RUSHING FEATURES PARTIES, TEAS, SUNDAY EVE

Saturday Set for Silence Day

The first week of formal rushing ended Sunday, October 3, when the sororities entertained the freshmen girls at parties in the houses from 2 until 6 P. M.

The Kappa Deltas converted their house into a western mining camp and saloon. Small guns were given as favors.

Chi Omega gave a cardinal and straw tea with the house decorated in those colors. Ice cream and cakes were served, and the favors were gumdrop animals.

A rustic Inn was the central theme at the Gamma Phi house. Four sophomores presented a burlesque skit. A real carnation growing in a small flower pot filled with chocolate ice cream served as favors and refreshments, and sandwiches and mints carried out the same color scheme.

Pi Phi gave a pirate party and treasure hunt. The girls dressed in appropriate costume, and rubber daggers were given as favors. The refreshments were oranges cut as ships cakes with skull and crossbones on them.

Kappa Kappa Gamma decorated the house as the candy and gingerbread scene from "Hansel and Gretel". The favors were the chapter histories.

The Phi Mu entertained at a formal reception. Refreshments were punch and cakes, and Phi Mu bookmarks were given as favors.

Alpha Chi Omega gave a formal tea. Sandwiches, mints, nuts, cakes, and coffee were served. Favors were made of gumdrops in Alpha Chi colors.

Kappa Alpha Theta entertained at a formal tea. The favors were corsages with Theta ribbons of black and gold.

This week freshmen will visit the houses at hours assigned by the Panhellenic Council. A preferential party on Friday, October 7 will terminate formal rushing, and bids will be returned on Sunday, October 9.

576 Men Enter; 611 Women

Final compilation of registration for the first semester of the current session reveals an increase of 57 in the number of men in attendance, and a decrease of 36 in the number of women, announced Miss Kathleen Alsop, registrar, today. Of 1247 students, exclusive of day students registered since September 23, 576 are men and 671 are women. The limits of registration of both sexes was determined, Miss Alsop said, by the accommodations available. At this time, some men are still accommodated in the infirmary, waiting preparation of an auxiliary dormitory for their use.

Orientation for all freshmen and transfers was conducted during the period Sept. 20 to Sept. 27 under the direction of the W. S. C. G. A., Mortarboard, the Y. W. C. A., the President's Aides and selected committees. This program included a banquet for all new students, picnics, instruction groups to acquaint women students with the Student Government rules, and the formation of a Senior Tribunal for the enforcement of freshman rules.

Freshmen Meet at Banquet

The banquet was held Wednesday evening, Sept. 22 at 7:30 in the college dining hall. Freshman and transfer students were invited to attend. The program included welcoming speeches by K. J. Hoke, Dean of the College; Grace Warren Landrum, Dean of Women; J. Wilfred Lambert, Dean of Freshmen; and Marguerite Wynne-Roberts, Assistant Dean of Women. Charles J. Duke, Jr., Asst. to the President, presided and introduced campus leaders to the new students. School cheers were conducted by Charles Beal, and the program closed with the singing of the "Alma Mater". Music was provided during dinner by an electric victrola on the balcony. Later, there was dancing in the women's dormitories. Shirley Daiger was general chairman of the banquet. Members of Mortarboard and O. D. K. served on the committees which were headed by Rosa Evans, Jean Pollard, and Marcia Gallagher.

Sponsors, chosen from the women in the junior class for their assistants, and the proctors in the dormitories instructed groups of new women students in the W.S.C.G.A. rules and in the Honor System. Three instruction meetings were held on September 21, 23, 24, and an examination covering the material was given Sept. 27. The examination will be repeated later for those women who failed to make 90 per cent the first time.

Josephine Jenkins was in charge of this instruction program. The sponsors were, Shirley Daiger, Frieda Davis, Rosa Evans, Sally Hall, Lucille Haynes, Dot Hosford, Margie Hoskins, Edna, Howell, Yvonne Johnson, Sally Price, Peggy Prickett, Beal Sale, Margaret Sibert, Claudia Torrence, Jean Vosburg, Jean Warren, Winnie Wheeler, Betty Peck, Minnie Dobie, Rose Elizabeth Jordan, Gertrude Schäfer, and Marcia Gallagher.

Rules Re-Introduced

Two Senior Tribunals have been organized to enforce the freshman rules which are being re-introduced at William and Mary this year. The women's Tribunal is composed of one representative from each sorority house and dormitory. These are: Linda Weddell, President; Carol McCoy, secretary; Ruth Merkel, May Fielder, Ann Lee Gordon, Harriet Morden, Sue Thompson, Phyllis King, Billie Nenzel, Nita Ligon, Jean Lawrence, Jessie Lee, and Jane McEnally. The first meeting was held on Monday Sept. 27, at which time the roll was called and the freshman women's rules were presented. There will be another meeting at the end of the week. The rules and regulations for freshman women for 1937-38 are:

I. DUC CAPS

A. All freshmen must wear duc caps when on campus, or in Williamsburg or vicinity.

1. From 9-6 on week days.

2. From 9-1 on Saturdays unless there is a football game.

3. No caps worn on Sunday.

B. Bow to statue of Lord Botetourt.

II. ATTENDANCE AT COLLEGE FUNCTIONS.

A. Freshmen are expected to attend all convocations, student body meetings, and rallies.

Freshmen Must Toe The Mark Now, or See The Judges

Freshmen once more are arranging to toe the mark drawn by upperclassmen, as rules dead for several years are revived and re-enforced.

This decision followed efforts of and an appeal by THE FLAT HAT, which backed the idea after agitation by the Class of '40. A Tribunal, consisting of Carl Buffington, President of the Men's Student Government;

Horace Dyer, President of the Class of '38; Eldon Langbauer, President of the Class of '39; and Lloyd Phillips, President of the Class of '40, has set up a definite list of rules and regulations for first-year men.

Judges of the court are to be increased, possibly doubled, sometime in the near future, for trying of offense cases.

The observance of these new by-laws went into effect September 25. They are listed here for "duc" enlightenment:

I. DUC CAPS

A. All freshmen must wear duc caps when on campus, or in Williamsburg or vicinity, at all times except on Sundays or holidays. This includes all informal dances, home athletic contests, and rallies.

II. ATTENDANCE AT COLLEGE FUNCTIONS.

A. Freshmen are expected to attend all convocations, student body meetings, class meetings, and rallies.

B. Freshmen are expected to attend all home athletic contests.

1. They are to occupy a cheering section designated for them.

2. They are expected to own megaphones to be used at all games.

3. They are expected to learn all college cheers by October 2.

III. CAMPUS WALKS

A. Freshmen will use the middle campus walk going to and from town.

B. Freshmen are expected to tip caps to the statue of Lord Botetourt.

IV. COURTESY AND GENERAL CONDUCT.

A. Since William and Mary is a friendly college, it is expected that freshmen will show due respect and courtesy to their classmates, to other students, to the faculty, and to the visitors to the college.

B. Freshmen must not wear clothing bearing the insignia of other schools previously attended.

V. PENALTIES

A. The penalties for failure to conform to these customs will be the deprivation of such social privileges as the Tribunal may judge equitable.

Play Was Popular

Many William and Mary students have seen the New York production, and some have served on the jury there. Among the famous people who were called on to serve in the jury during the New York run were: Jack Dempsey, Babe Ruth, and Helen Keller.

The murder story behind the trial is based on the actual death of a Swedish financial juggler and match king, Ivar Kreuger. At the time of his suicide preceding financial collapse, it was rumored that he had faked his death and departed for South America to live on a fortune he had amassed there.

Bjorn Faulkner, the man for whose murder, the trial is being conducted in this play, died under similar circumstances, and the two opposing stories of murder and suicide are presented to the audience, whose opinion will be divided as to which is the truth.

What's At The Movies Today

Wednesday

The indefatigable Oscar Piper (James Gleason) and his feminine aide (?) the intuitive Hildegard Withers (Zasu Pitts), head the cast of the sixth of Stuart Palmer's popular detective films, "Forty Naughty Girls," which will be shown at the RKO Theatre tomorrow. For sheer bafflement and surprises the picture easily takes rank as the best of the series to date. Like its predecessors, the new offering brings its principals into frequent conflict over the tangled web of suspects and motives that develop in the story, and the picture is paced from start to finish with a deft alternation of hearty laughter and spine-chilling thrills.

Thursday

From the island of primitive ferocity, legendary with terror of wild men and Dyak pirates, of headhunters, of inconceivable marvels strange to the eyes of man, comes Martin Johnson's latest and most exciting adventure, "Borneo", Twentieth Century Fox release which opens Thursday at the RKO. In this picture many strange sights never before photographed are recorded in film for the first time in the isle of the tropy-turvy, upside down, and nature in reverse. Among these incredible marvels are the tree-climbing fish, flying snakes, oysters growing on trees, head hunters, and the giant orang-utang, "devil-beast" of the jungle.

Friday

Undoubtedly the best of the Charlie Chan series, "Charlie Chan on Broadway" is a mystery picture with a fast tempo, which lags at no time during the production. The suspense continues until the very end, when the identity of the murderer comes as a complete surprise. Warner Oland again imbues his role with realism and humanness, and Keye Luke, as his ambitious but blundering son, strikes a welcome note of humor. It will be shown Friday at the RKO.

Saturday

Lavishly produced in technicolor, Walter Wagner's musical, "Vogues of 1938", hits a high spot in spectacles. Photography and direction are ace high, and the music and dancing numbers measure up to expectations. The cast handles the story deftly and convincingly, and the specialty numbers are fast and colorful. It is coming to the RKO on Saturday.

Monday-Tuesday

More than two years in the making and one of the most costly pictures ever to come out of Hollywood, "Lost Horizon" starring Ronald Colman, comes to the RKO next Monday and Tuesday. This film is Robert Riskin's scree adaptation of James Hilton's best selling novel of the same name. In translating the Hilton novel to the screen Mr. Riskin and Frank Capra have recaptured all of the breathtaking adventure, the high romance, and the awesome beauty that contributed so much to the widespread appeal of the original story.

Homecoming Day Lit. Mag -- To Be Planned

Plans for the fall Homecoming Day program and parade will be discussed and arrangements for floats will be made at a meeting of student representatives Monday, October 11, at 7:30 p. m., in Washington 200, announced Alumni Secretary Charles P. McCurdy today. Mr. McCurdy urges all fraternities, sororities, and other campus organizations to send representatives to this meeting. Mr. Cheek of the Fine Arts Department, will be present to assist in the planning and construction of floats for the parade, Mr. McCurdy said.

The chief event of a day-long program will be the annual football game between Washington and Lee University and the Indians. The game will be played in the college stadium, and will be third such game to be featured on Homecoming Day.

Registration of returning alumni and alumnae will be conducted during the morning at the alumni office. Following a custom begun several years ago, a parade will feature the morning program, and will present floats by college and civil organizations. Last year, prizes were offered for first place in the two divisions and it is expected that they will again be provided for by the committee.

A luncheon will be held, and returning alumni will be guests of the college. Details will be announced later, Mr. McCurdy said, as they are settled by the committee.

Other features will include a buffet supper and a dance, which will close the day's activities. Alumni desiring accommodations at the college dormitories for the night are requested to communicate with the alumni office.

A large number of students showed their interest in the Literary Magazine by attending a meeting called last Friday night by the editor, Ward Wheeler. After filling out questionnaires concerning their experience and ability, they were given assignments and asked to have their work done in two weeks, when another meeting will be called.

Extensive changes in the magazine are being planned with the aim of making it more popular and more pertinent to the college, said Wheeler. It is expected that final arrangements will be completed this week.

All those interested in working in any department of the magazine who could not attend the meeting Friday night may get in touch with Mr. Wheeler at the K. A. House or with Emory Lewis, who lives in O. D.

Washington, D. C. —(ACP)— one out of every three boys and girls who finished high school last year, will be on a college campus this fall, experts at the federal office of education have figured.

From all sections of the country come reports that college enrollments are reaching new peaks.

Better economic conditions have been generally credited with for the upward swing, and in some instances applications for admission have been rejected for lack of room.

Chesterfield Presents Program

Lovers of good music will be glad to learn that a new series of radio programs featuring a group of the world's outstanding vocal and instrumental artists is being presented this fall by the Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company, manufacturers of Chesterfield cigarettes. John Charles Thomas, well-known baritone, was the guest artist on the opening program last Wednesday, September 29.

The programs, which are being presented at 9:00 P. M. Eastern Standard Time every Wednesday for thirteen weeks, are being led by Dens Taylor as commentator and master of ceremonies. Andre Kostelanetz will conduct the Chesterfield Symphony Orchestra.

The featured stars for the rest of the programs follow: October 6—Jose Iturbi, pianist. October 13—Nino Martini, tenor. October 20—Elizabeth Rethber, soprano. October 27—Albert Spalding, violinist.

November 3—Lucrezia Bori, soprano. November 10—Bidu Sayao, soprano. November 17—Jascha Heifetz, violinist. November 24—Lotte Lehmann, soprano.

December 1—Ezio Pinza, bass. December 8—Kirsten Flagstad, soprano. December 15—Rose Bampton, contralto. December 22—Lily Pons, coloratura.

N. Y. A. Allowance Increased for 1937-38

Washington, D. C.—(ACP)—The National Youth Administration will spend 20 million dollars during this school year to help 220,000 students earn an education. This is an increase over last year's allotment of 28 million dollars for 310,000 students.

Every state will share in the student aid funds and several special funds have been created.

College aid allotments now being forwarded are expected to approximate $10,700,000. Employment quotas for colleges will be about 80,000.

This year, graduate students have been eliminated from direct student aid. A college may, however, at its discretion, allot a portion of its funds to graduate students.

A special fund of $70,000 has been set up to aid Negro graduate students in state which do not offer advanced courses for Negroes.

The allotments are made to schools and colleges for discretionary division.

Music Department Moves To Church

The season of 1937-38 promises to be a good one for the Music Department, according to Mr. George M. Small, head of the department. The move from Brafferton to the Educational Annex of the Methodist Church was calculated to provide more space for the enlarged classes, allow for practice rooms, supply a library for the new Carnegie collection of records and musical scores, and provide for a classroom large enough to accommodate all the classes.

Mr. Ramon Douse, a new addition to the faculty, will, in his capacity of assistant professor of music, take charge of all the instrumental instruction, including band and orchestra, and will supervise the dance orchestra.

To Present String Quartette

During the coming year, there will be presented, as some of the musical features of the college, a series of string quartette numbers, four in number, under the direction of Mr. Frank Wendtworth of Richmond, Va. These will illustrate the development of the quartette from Haydn to the present day and are sponsored by Dr. Bryan. There will also be a recital by the Old Harp Singers of Nashville, Tennessee.

The annual operetta, usually presented by the Fine Arts Department, will have the additional assistance of Miss Althea Hunt, the director of William and Mary's dramatic productions. This year, "The Mikado" is being given and tryouts for the various parts will be held in about four weeks. Mr. Small feels that the prospects of the operetta are promising because there is much new talent in addition to the members of last year's casts.

Freshmen Attend Charles P. McCurdy To Head Alumni First Convocation

Bryan Welcomes Class of 1941

Opening the season's first convocation, President Bryan greeted freshmen, and urged them to face their individual problems with the thought that they have never been faced before. The convocation was held Monday morning in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall and was preceded by an academic procession.

"Each generation", Dr. Bryan said, "faces its own problems with the thought that they have never been faced before, and yet the problems are, in whatever guise they come, essentially the same. It is the attitude of courageous dealing with the old problem of adjustment. From the earliest recorded history men have sought to find a way to live together and to enjoy the fruits of the earth without creating unjust and insupportable privileges and powers."

"No body of students can ever tell what leadership or control exists within that class."

"One hundred and sixty years ago in the midst of the war of the Revolution, there were only seventeen members recorded in the entering class at William and Mary, and yet among those seventeen students were two founders of Phi Beta Kappa, Governor Mercer of Maryland; the man who has exercised a longer and more continuing power in the development of America than any other person, Chief Justice John Marshall, and the man who settled the problem of non-interference by Europe in this Hemisphere, James Monroe."

"That class did not know what genius was among its membership. And no class of students anywhere today can know this. But they can know that the possession of freedom means a continued will and capacity to fight; they can know that security can never be purchased by surrendering, and that the safety of slavery is the servitude of the soul."

Taking part in the impressive ceremonies were the vested members of the College Choir, who sang the Processional, a special selection, Alma Mater, and led the recessional. Dean K. J. Hoke presented the Officers of instruction, and Charles J. Duke, Jr., the officers of the Administration. Donald W. Davis, senior member of the faculty was the presiding officer.

Freshmen Develop Fine Regard For Politeness to Lord Botetourt

Boom! Boom! Boom! Boom! Ta-da-de-a-da-da-da. We are in the process of getting into the spirit of the opening of school, and we feel that, if we are to take due note of all the innovations on campus this year, we must certainly heed the practice session of the college band since it seems to be practically beneath our window and cannot well be ignored. All practices of the various musical groups of the college have been taking place in the Methodist Sunday school this past week (or were you aware of that fact), and, while it may be more convenient for the musicians, it is certainly giving the co-eds in Brown and in the court a fit.

However, something more holds our interest this Fall... Lord Botetourt, the kindly old gentleman, has once more come into his own as patron saint of the ducs. My, my, we never dreamed that the younger generation was capable of such reverence as has been directed toward his statue within the past week. The frosh, proving that they are well-brought up individuals, have taken it into their heads to bow deeply before him as they pass to and from classes, and while it has been rumored that a little pressure was brought to bear by a group of upperclassmen who have taken our class of '41 under a kindly wing, we are sure that the new W-Mites would have realized what was expected of them anyhow... but certainly.

Indeed, the Tribunal is being just too grim! Their attitude is really uncalled for. Freshmen should be treated with respect and understanding. They have just left warm, comfy homes, and to put them in the hands of such stern, uncompromising taskmasters as those thirteen girls who guide the destinies of the co-ed "ducs" is unnecessarily harsh treatment. My, my, you'd think those girls would smile once in a while to keep their faces from freezing. Let that be a lesson to all undergraduates. If you aren't a good girl during your college days you'll grow up to look like a Tribunal member addressing a group of disrespectful freshmen. Isn't it awful?

TO THE FRESHMEN

This editorial is directed to the freshmen of the College of William and Mary, but it may be well read and considered by every one of its students. It concerns the basic principles by which a good profitable life at this college should and must be conducted. The Honor System . . .

The honor system at William and Mary is one of its oldest and most respected institutions. Its history is recounted in the Indian Handbook, and it is a noble and inspiring one. Its principles never lose force by repetition.

The honor system is based on personal integrity and the belief that those who are unwilling or temperamentally unable to preserve their integrity are unfit for and unworthy of the society of the student body. And it is based further on the principle that those students who respect their own integrity will defend the group's by reporting and rejecting those who do not. Only with the firm support of these principles will the honor system work. And it will work; for the student body of William and Mary have always been gentlemen. They always shall be.

Campus Traditions . . .

One of the biggest contributions that a new administration has made towards a broader life on the campus has been the revival of traditional ceremonies and procedure formerly found here. Such has been the revival of the Yule Log ceremony and the presentation of the President's Christmas Party. Such has been the start of the annual June balls, of the annual opening convocation. And, this year, "duc" rules have been revived again.

When, two years ago, "duc" rules died because of a succession of over-zealous Tribunals and non-cooperative student bodies, the freshman classes were the groups which suffered. Entering freshmen are lost and unintegrated in a highly organized body. By being united—perhaps a little oppressed, even—they are formed into a class, and they begin to feel that they are a part of the student body. They take their lowly place, and, with each punishment for infraction of the rules, are more conscious of their position as being definitely members of the class. When they move up, the new sophomores are probably the most strongly bonded of all the classes.

School spirit develops where it is nurtured; and we urge freshmen to obey the rules, attend the games, and salaam before Lord Botetourt with all the vigor of their active young spirits. And then, we hope, the Tribunals will not find their dockets full and their tempers strained. And when the class of '41 shall become seniors, the glory of their bull-sessions will be enhanced ten-fold by tales (doubtless exaggerated ten-fold) of their "duc" days.

Activities . . .

We further urge the freshmen to consider well their activities. Scholastic activity determines one's progress through the institution and the style of one's exit. We recommend attention to scholarship and regular class attendance. We recommend, also, at least one well-considered extra-curricular activity.

Each year the Y. M. and Y. W. drive for membership; each year the Literary Societies open their rolls to freshmen interested in debate and current events. Three publications offer try-outs, and athletic teams need players and managers. There is activity and interest for everyone. He should make an effort to find it.

COLLEGIATE REVIEW
(By Associated Collegiate Press)

An Austin, Texas, boy plans to enter college in September, 1938, at the age of 12 years. Educators think his speedy advancement is due to his ability to read rapidly and remember what he reads. He can read backward equally well.

Kansas State coeds and football coaches had a common enemy—thieves. Coeds at the girls' dormitory lost $150, the head coach lost $19 and the assistant freshman coach, a watch worth $35.

Thirty-one coeds at the University of Nebraska were exposed to infantile paralysis when a grade school teacher rooming in their rooming house became ill with the malady.

An East-West collegiate ski meet, matching teams of Dartmouth College and University of Washington, is being promoted for Idaho's spectacular Sun Valley course.

More than 100 Georgetown University students were used last spring as human guinea pigs in test of the personality-changing effects of the drug, benzedrine sulphate.

The average Southern college girl spends $579 a year exclusive of college charges, the largest item of which ($270) is for clothes, a study at Hollins College, Virginia, reveals.

Dr. Robert H. Goddard, Clark University professor seeking to develop a rocket plane which can be sent up 400 miles or more, has succeeded in driving his test rocket to a height of 7,500 feet at a speed of 700 miles per hour.

Because the Hitler government allows any German traveler to take only $4 spending money with him, Christian Otto Winzen came from Germany to the University of Detroit, with just that much cash, although his passage and railroad fare had been paid.

Campus Hall of Fame

Except for a short period toward the end of last year when THE HALL OF FAME degenerated into a column for the presentation of imaginary types of college students, such as the College Shop Cowboy and Dan Cupid, the editors of THE FLAT HAT have endeavored to honor those students who have attained fame—not just popularity or perhaps notoriety, but the recognition by the campus as a whole that a person is SOMEBODY.

Ultimately, of course, it is the editor's estimate of the candidate that determines whether he should be honored in THE HALL OF FAME or not. But certain positions that a candidate might hold or certain organizations he might belong to play an important part in the decision.

For instance, the fact that a candidate holds a student body office shows that a large number of students consider him an able person. Membership in O. D. K. or in Mortarboard shows that a group of students, chosen because they were considered well-rounded persons with enough push to excel in several fields, thought the candidate worthy of them. Membership in Phi Beta Kappa proves that the candidate has excelled in what may be considered the most important phase of college life—scholarship.

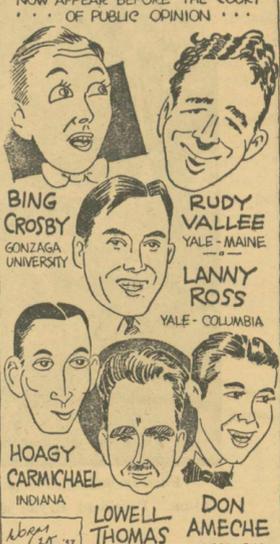

Excellence in at least one field of athletics is regarded as an important side of the complete person. Active participation in dramatics, able work on publications, and leadership in some of the numerous organizations on the campus also weigh heavily in the choice.

The records are important in selecting our honored guests and in showing just what kind of fame they have attained. But the busts that will line the wall of this year's corridor in THE HALL OF FAME will be presented as far as possible as personalities—not as ghosts with impressive records.

Here with our word-sculptures in our imaginary hall we have a vast advantage over any mundane hall of honor—we can, if our word sculptors are skillful enough, get at the person behind the face. We can present the part of the individual that has made him great in this college world of ours. That will be our aim.

WHAT'S UP ?

by- Sidney Jaffe

Is the William and Mary student body the "intellectual nonentity" that it has been called? I hesitate to answer this pertinent question, for obvious reasons: first, I am one of that expressionless group myself; and second, I fear for my personal safety. The last, I suppose, is a needless fear, for I have never seen the whole student body become sufficiently incensed over anything that would make them even express a liberal opinion, much less resort to physical violence.

I contend this—that there is no student opinion on the William and Mary campus; and I do not mean student opinion in the narrow sense. We can criticize the fact that our men students are an ill-kempt lot or that they don't part their hair in the middle—yes, easily. We have given much space, wasted space, to the fact that the girls of William and Mary are superior to the boys, or vice versa, and that the food in the dining hall is tripe, or worse. Long empty columns and hundreds of trite sentences have been devoted to the comparatively insignificant problem of whether our freshmen girls can have dates on Monday or next July; or whether they can stand three yards to the left of the western boundary; or stay out until twenty-two minutes past ten instead of the usual conservative ten o'clock. All of this, and more has been written, but for what purpose? None, that I can see, except maybe to titillate some of the "social-minded good time Joes" who have nothing else to talk about, or possibly to fill newspaper space.

I would like to see some criticism on our campus, criticism which will not be confined to our own petty, quibbling, insignificant problems. We should criticize national and international affairs. It does not matter so much whether we are right or wrong in our criticism, but it does matter greatly to ourselves that we discuss, comment on, and have an interest in affairs which concern us all in the preservation of our democracy. It is time to begin now. The future of our present government depends upon whether we enlighten ourselves and develop an ability to scrutinize critically movements which threaten the status quo.

This is the purpose which the writer desires: not to express student opinion, but to lead it and to lead it into making its own expression. Each week a subject will be chosen with a view, to national or international importance, and second, to student interest. For example, this week's column would contain a writeup concerning the Justice Black episode, or a comment on the now buddies—Mr. Hitler and Mr. Mussolini; both humorous enough to be interesting.

It is time for the student body of William and Mary to remove itself from the international doldrums in which we have hitherto existed. Discuss national and international events take them with you to your rooms, them in inter-activate, we shir sh shir even be so radical as to substitute them in your bull sessions for the rollicking sexy stories of John, the bull artist. You will find these political events more stimulating to you than anything you have encountered so far in college. Wake up! Be alive! The world moves on—it will leave you behind if you let it.

The writer has one aim; namely, to stimulate the student body to an interest in the important movements of the world, and of his own country. I don't give a hang which side of the fence you are on; communist or fascist; pro labor or against it. Believe in Mr. Black's integrity or not, that the New Deal is great stuff, or that it is the product of the minds of a bunch of crackpots (Tugwell and Mitchell). In all, it does not matter which side you support, but for heaven's sake have some belief, some stand; be for something, or against something. In short, don't let others do your thinking, not even me.

The Collegiate World

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

Just an old college custom—this idea of striking Dad for funds. Dr. H. M. J. Klein, a history professor at Franklin and Marshall college, found a letter dated 1788 addressed to Peter Rhoads, Sr., a member of the Pennsylvania Assembly.

Rhoads, Jr. needed money, so he had written:

"Dear Father:
"Your favor of the thirteenth last I received on the eighth. . . . Gibson's surveying is not immediately necessary, but it (the book) would greatly assist me. In this you may please yourself, and I am satisfied. I will, with the help of God, learn that the money you have advanced me shall not be lost."

Ah for the life of the porter on the University of Idaho special train, which collects would-be students from over the state and deposits them on the Moscow campus for another year. The train is claimed by Union Pacific to be the only one of its kind in the world.

When it stopped in Boise, the porter gasped, "These here young ones are the beatnest kids I ever seen."

They can deal out more misery in an hour than it'd take anybody a week to catch up to."

"But" he grinned, "they sure got a capacity for enjoyment."

It took the train an hour instead of 10 minutes in Boise to get on board the students who seemed just as willing to spend the rest of the year there, as in Moscow.

The 1937 college graduate's life ambitions are: (a) world travel, (b) listening to swing band, according to a survey made by Bruce Bliven, Jr., son of the author.

From interviewing fellow-graduates from coast to coast he gathered the impression that they believe in working as little as possible, getting paid as much as possible, retiring as early as possible and spending the rest of their lives listening to Benny Goodman's records and traveling around the world.

For the benefit of the blood pressure of those who fear the "Red menace" on college campuses, Bliven found his interviewees were (1) not radicals, liberals or progressives, (2) not Communists or Fascists, (3) were instead, conservative, critical and hardheaded.

UNDER THE TOMAHAWK

After a busy summer in which many things of interest happened the upper-classes have welcomed each other back for another year of college life . . . and now all eyes are turned toward the incoming freshman class esp. our new women . . . There's much speculation among the boys as to who is who among the group . . . as yet we don't know, but after rushing is over they'll have more time to get into action.

Couldn't begin to list all the news about the ole grads—and there's some choice bits to hand out oo, but not in this clm.—if by any chance you want to know why ??? "We try to keep this stuff up to a certain par, at least."

Among some ex'es who returned to see this place again: Preacher Franklin—and at the dance Sat. nite when someone remarked he looked fine, he said he was feeling likewise . . . And there was Louise Taylor, belle of Richmond . . . She went Inning with ex-proprietor Fraser before the dance . . . And Mary Garrett was here too to see some of her formers. . . . Minnie Franck, the little angel who always wears a smile and a jewel visited here also, but we couldn't find out anything definite about that "certain day." Carol Osgood was another of last year's to come back for awhile. . . . she's living in Washington now.

What a fruitful summer this past one was for preachers and florists . . . Ed Hessian winged it with his bride to Bermuda Sept. 18th . . . And Betty Bartel was made a June bride in Indiana going to Europe on a honey-moon . . . Alan Carpenter came down to Williamsburg "in the singular" one week-end in July and went back home in a different tense. . . . it was Louise Largent (as everyone expected). Alan is living with his bride in Jamaica, N. Y. and Ben Kincannon and Sam Elliott have adjoining apartments (do let's have a party! !) Florence Allen and a Duke from Durham are man and wife and mingling with Tarheel society. Note: They were married in the Spring of '36 not '37. Sally Dobbs was another who merged . . . she is living with him in Atlanta. . . . And Lloyd Langbauer was another who gave in and lives with her on Long Island, Cameron Ogdon and Pauline Stanley became one on Sept. 18th in Cranford, N. J. . . . In the college chapel this summer Frances Jewell tied it with a Washingtonian and Marianne Keller also united in the same place. . . .

Flash—Our Pooch of fame a few years back has a double in the freshman class . . . Her name is Finn, and she has said the boys here are not sociable enough (that's just what Pooch thought). Whether you'll agree or not William and Mary's "Big-Apple" was rotten at the last dances—but maybe with some practice we can make it shine like some of the freshmen.

Flash—Big Boy Hal "Fwweeman" is in the money now . . . he's merchandising women's ready-to-wear streamlined (in and outside) attire . . . At that job who could make a better fit than Hal? . . . The Pearl that Brueger wears was attached without notice at the close of school in June and Hunky Henderson is the party of the other part. . . .

No . . . we don't like Duc-Caps on the dance floor . . . even though it is an Indian custom to War-Hoop that way.

By the way, what happened to our usual Freshman dance? We missed it, and anyway, how do you suppose the boys can pick over those girls when there's no opportunity of seeing them all together! Opinion: We welcome back the duc rules only on condition that they're really enforced . . . Did you hear about the local student who met his love at the railroad station with a wheelbarrow . . . it seems he couldn't get a taxi and knew she wouldn't walk—She walked; the baggage rode (cheers for the bags.) And who do you suppose blew in town the first of the week . . . none other than William and Mary's biggest playboy, George Beach . . . Come back again, George. . . .

Eleanor (Jo) Worsham decided to finish college abroad. She's enrolled at Oxford (do let's have another party). Somebody saw Freddie Eidsness on Broadway (that's a street in New York . . . I looked it up) the other day . . . He's elated due to a not distant date when he and Judy Polk will become Mr. and Mrs. . . . and Bill Fitch will probably make a bride of Doris Robinson by next spring. . . . Coming back on the boat from the other side Alec Dempster met a femme, she had his pin before they docked, and before Fall is over he will dock for the last time. . . . Little Blue-Eyed Nanny Smoot is going to school in Richmond this year and Big Bobby Taylor is glad because he only has Janet to be concerned with now . . . Johnny Hocutt is at the University of Ohio this year and Mae wants Wm & Mary to tie with Ohio . . . a move is under way to bring the two schools together. . . . The Ed Phillips and Nancy Mason light went out sometime this summer . . . Jean Gordon and George Bishop have announced their intentions to lock for good, but we couldn't find out just when. The only man in history to get five letters a day from the same "one" is none other than our Chet Lang . . . it was a regular occurrence this summer when he and Jean were apart. Bill Bunkley and Polly Spinney have indicated serious intentions. . . . Polly is sporting a "ring" and not under her eye . . . and Herb Brockett has put his ring on Peggy McDermott. If any of you see Milky Lesner get him to tell you about the guy who almost suffocated at a party this summer at Va. Beach. . . . That is all until the next time, so until then try to be a "little" good. . . .

You May Laugh

WHO SAID THE DOWN-TRODDEN FROSH?

The good old college campus,
It ain't what it used to be.
The upper-classmen mourn the past
And weep into their tea;
But chipper little freshmen
Greet the atmosphere with glee,
In the academic year of '38.

The freshman girls are getting
All the rush, or so they say.
And even sober seniors see
Their best gals stole away,
And every pretty junior
Has to make a violent play,
In the academic year of '38.

You might suppose the duc rules
Would achieve the right effect,
That upper-classmen's rights and loves
They might respect,
But not a smitch of decent shame
Can anyone inject,
Into the gay and giddy, bold and brassy, frosh of '38.

As all of my fair readers must realize, and though it may be, and indeed it is, (two tears on rye, coming up) in this vastly commercialized world all is not gold that glitters. Or, to phrase it more succinctly, money talks. Or even more tersely put—Patronize our advertisers. Thus—

Does Your Little Girl Hate Cereal?

If your little darling refuses to eat her post-toasties in the morning, claiming she would rather have corn liq—, that is corn flakes, don't bounce her good-naturedly on your knee and coax her to eat it all up for her own sweet Georgie or whatever you are. (No, that's giving in much too easily, and she'll probably have you promising to take her to the mid-winter formals before you realize that your next allowance is due, roughly speaking, some time in April). Be firm, or at least be emphatic, or at least try not to smile at her, or—well, don't be too hard on the dear little creature, you big bully. Eat it up yourself and shut up! Oh, yes, by the way, when in Newport News remember to have your shoes mended at Barney's, the Biggest Little Shoery this side of the Mason-Dixon line.

Patronize the Advertisers.

In this New Freedom of ours, acquired last summer by painful and laborious tomes, we have acquired a strange and frivolous disregard for such banalities as copyright laws. So—if we can sneak this in while our editor is red-penciling some other poor fish's copy, we will present for your utter enjoyment a delightful fantasy stolen from that estimable magazine, "The New Yorker." (Campus loyalty should prevent most of you from reporting the theft, and respect for the upperclassmen should stay the freshman's straying tongues).

The people of Candlewood Knolls
Are terribly trounced by trolls,
Who are driving their cars,
And brawling in bars,
And voting for Thor at the polls.

All of which brings up the weighty and momentous question of the troll problem, which has long been weighing on my mind (4 lbs. net). We are offering a prize of one and one half bunches of carrots (gross) for the best solution. Please refrain from turning in the obvious answer, one which we ourselves evolved after mighty effort, namely to controll them.

We thank you.

We Talked Awhile

By Ed Themak and Jane McDonald

We have often heard students say that the College of William and Mary seemed a hobby with Mr. Bryan!, so right after the Autumn Convocation, we interviewed Mr. Bryan in his office. Our leading question was "Do you consider the college as your hobby?" Mr. Bryan jumped up, pointed a menacing finger toward your reporters and said, "William and Mary occupies first place in my interests and overwhelmingly in my energies. Although my home is in Richmond, I maintain a home here too. My family says that I spend too much time down here at what they call "Stewart's darling college."

Brief Biography: "Coming to Williamsburg was a return home, since St. George Tucker and Richard Bland were my direct forbears."

Education: Episcopal High School, Alexandria, University of Virginia, Harvard College. . . "The years at Harvard were invaluable because I came in contact with a new culture. I believe that residence and study in different parts of the country are good for the individual."

Educational interests: Thirteen years on the Richmond school board. . . Second president of Virginia Co-operative Board of Education, which later became the P. T. A. . . On the Board of Visitors at the University of Virginia, at Sweet Briar, and at William and Mary.

On Student Body: "I favor due rules because they are a friendly means of integrating the students. Conventon is so important to us always; why not associate conventions with the institution?" . . . Mr. Bryan was pleased with more equal balance between men's and women's registration. . . "The quality of the students is rising. I appreciate the steady and generous aid of the student body in building up spirit and sportsmanship in the school."

Mr. Bryan Wants: Students proud of their school. . . A steady growth in the aims of the college rather than any sudden spurts. . .

The college is the focal point of Mr. Bryan's life, not his hobby. Ladies and Gentlemen, we give you the President.

COMMENTS—

Social: On the whole a well-dressed, well-mannered Freshman class. However, we don't like the sweaters without shirts. We saw an offender at Convocation. . . We wish that those sweet young Pocahontases had left their moccasins at Girl Scout Camp. . . Wampus to the Frosh lads who doff their caps to Lord Boteourt with such spirit. . . The Satevedance was successful. A good crowd came out; they'll keep coming if the music improves. Do you like the Big Apple? . . .

Around the Campus: The freshman girl who went to her first history lecture armed with a compact sans notebook and pen. She never thought that any professor ever gave a lecture on the very first day. . . What-ever happened to that Co-operative Bookshop idea? . . .

The editors present, with this column, a feature new to the FLAT HAT. The authors will attempt to treat matters of relative importance to the campus with dignity and with pertinence.

"Let's Big Apple..."

The Big Apple—the dance that has taken southern colleges "Like Grant Took Richmond"—the dance that is often referred to as jumping up and down—is now the subject of close scrutiny by every college student north of the Mason and Dixon line.

The thing started down in Columbia S. C., in a night club called the Big Apple, when the negro patrons felt the need to combine the best features of the Virginia Reel, the square dance, the Susy Q. the Gertie Swing, and truckin'. Some college students saw it, approved it, and participated in it. Since then, the college dances in the deep South feature nothing but the b.g apple.

Naturally there have been repercussions. Chief of these has been the revolt of the night clubs. One bright spot in Richmond displays the sign—"No Big Apple—Not Enough Room."

So that you will know what to do next time you go Hoofin', the procedure appears below as it was printed in an Alabama newspaper. 'Marie' as played by Tommy Dorsey, is the best music for this dance.

First, the dancers form a circle, boys and girls alternating, with enough space between each to allow freedom of movement.

1. "Right foot in. One-uh, two-uh, three-uh, swing out." (After each routine the dancers come back to this basic step as a starting point.)

2. "Now swing high." (First movement repeated with a high kick at the end.)

3. Let Roosevelt knock at the White House do." (First movement repeated with a stomp at the end instead of a kick.)

4. "How about some truckin' to the right!" (Heads down, elbows bent, arms swinging, knees flexing, heels lifting and snapping outward with a quick, jerky step, the circle moves to the right. At this point, shouts break from the dancers. The Big Apple is a highly audible dance.) "Now reverse it." (The circle wheels and trucks in the other direction.)

5. "How about some Susy Q." (Shoulders lifting, arms hanging loose, dancers execute a heel and toe movement to the right, then to the left.)

6. "Everybody Gertie Swing. One, two. One, two, three." (Heads back, arms flapping, knees loose, the line moves two steps forward and three steps back, to the right, swings and does the same thing to the left.)

7. "Girls on the inside, truckin' to the right. Boys on the outside, truckin' to the left."

8. "Truck around your partner." (The circle breaks.)

9. "Do the birdie on the cage." (Boy places his hand on girl's head, she trucks in a circle. Reverse.)

10. "Everybody sissy britches." (The Sissy Britches is a movement towards the center. A hop towards center with the hips thrusting forward. Like shooing chickens with an apron, and is called "Shoo dem chickens" by some.)

11. "Let's have a little shine. You start it Joe." (While the circle stands and claps, one dancer moves to the center and abandons himself to the music. He is free to do anything he likes, but he must not be self-conscious.)

12. "Now peck on down." (Without moving forward, feet shuffling, the dancers "peck"—a bobbing movement of the head, combined with a jerking movement of the body.)

13. "Let's all praise Allah." They truck to the center, bodies bent at the waist, until foreheads touch. A long quavering yell goes up. Bodies still bent, they all hop backward, truck again to the center, raise the same yell and hop back out. The music stops abruptly.

THAT'S THE BIG APPLE.

Musing Along

By MAY FIELDER

Even women's rushing can't interfere with Art. So last week we trucked over to Phi Beta, where try-outs for the First Play of the Season (adv't) were being held. The entire Williamsburg police force had been called out to hold back the mob of freshmen trying out (he will later be given a part in the play as a reward for his services.)

We got there just in time to see Ella Dickenson pull out an all wool Southern Accent for the part of a colored witness. (The play, in case you skipped the news in your eagerness to find the dirt column—this isn't it—is The Night of January 16, a courtroom play with unusual devices). She was closely followed by little Edna White—have you noticed the resemblance to Mary Carlisle?—who assumed a thick (if not altogether genuine) Swedish accent and did some fine clumping around a la Garbo.

The hit of the day was Ricki Friedland as the dance-hall girl. "If we should ever get friendly—" she murmured nasally, looking dreamily up at Herbert "Papa" Jemmott. Ask Ricki whether she considers herself a "little freshman girl", but don't tell her we told you.

We heard that all the freshman women came because of a rumor that the campus Male Pulchritude prize winners Hart and Schaffner, would both be in the play. Sorry to disappoint you, girls, but only Hart made this one. In a thrilling last-minute conference he and Schaffner decided that there shouldn't be too much Pulchritude in this play—it would detract from the leading lady.

Tom Forsythe is receiving daily treatments in the infirmary for wounds inflicted by Janet Murray in the chest-beating scene. (Incidentally, we're glad to welcome Tom back to the William and Mary Players after a year spent gathering Experience in far places). Janet's beat was louder than her scream, but she managed to crash through for the part of Defendant. Congratulations are in order—but it will be a tough job to follow in the steps of Doris Nolan, who waived the New York jury every night.

You'll be glad to know that J. G. Sturges (the J. stands for Judge) will at last have a restful part. (His last season, if you will hark back, was a pretty active one). Our only worry is that he may go to sleep and fall off the bench. Oh, well, it's one of those plays where anything might happen and leave the audience believing it's in the script.

What with nine women and twelve men in the cast, rehearsals promise to be some fun. We hear there'll be a Big Apple on the stage every night at nine (adv't). Jimmy Pye, as court Clerk, will call the steps (to get into practice for calling witnesses, Whitakers, etc.) and Lester Wilson will shine as usual.

Tim Hanson dropped around the other day—but he says he misses stirring love scenes with beautiful blondes at try-outs, and since Sarah Ann left he can't put his soul into it. (Get him to murmur "Alda, are you in love with this man?" with gestures.)

We'll leave you with this weighty question to ponder: "Did Karen Andre murder him?" We don't know. Janet Murray and Merritt Foster (the new Business Manager, who certainly should know) don't know. Hart, Schaffner, and Marx—no adv't.—don't know. It's up to you to find out because even we don't know.

The Parrot

By Dot Spence

Well, here we are again! Isn't it wonderful what a swell summer can do for your ambitions and morale and weight. . . they all seem to rise and fall together. Speaking of weight. . . shall we warn the freshmen about that fifteen pounds they'll each acquire this year, or shall we aid the tribunal in establishing a new high for "terrorizing" and let them walk into it all unknowingly. Poor frosh! But really, now, those "duc" caps are very becoming, compared to the ones they had three years ago.

College students certainly aren't appreciated the way they should be in some towns. Students from the University of Washington are given a ten-day jail sentence if they are caught playing football in the streets.

Can it be that we are developing a race of Amazons or, is it all part of a New Deal program for wives of the future? 'Tis rumored that St. Bonaventure College (for men) is offering domestic science in its new curriculum.

Further proof that W-M frosh have a soft life:

1. A freshman caught flirting with a co-ed at Rhode Island college, must wear a catcher's mask for three days.
2. At Concord State Teachers' College, the freshman girls have a weekly schedule made out for them which begins by having them wear lipstick on the tips of their noses on Monday.

And speaking of rushing: Overheard in one fraternity house "No frys on that guy. Say, he's such a blue-blood he gives transfusions to fountain pens."

- December 1-February 1 Budget your balance.

Working students from some mid-western colleges went on a strike in the Iowa corn fields, lying down for higher wages. The strike failed because the bosses could not tell the difference.

One good double every week, that's been Hal Kemp's record (no pun) since he went back with Victor long about August. . . if you but take a peek at the Hit Parade list you'll find that this top-notch outfit has made recordings of such hits as "Whispers in the Dark", "Remember Me," "It's the Natural Thing to Do," and "The Moon Got in My Eyes" . . . you sure couldn't ask for more from any one band. . . and the folks up thar in Camden promise us more. . . keep 'em comin'.

Vogue Backs New Contest

Prizes Same As In Previous Years

For the third successive year, the editors of Vogue are announcing a career competition open to members of the senior classes of accredited colleges and universities throughout the country who are "interested in making a career in fashion."

As in the past two years, there will be two major prizes, each offering a position, with salary, on the staff of Vogue magazine. The winner of the first prize will be awarded one full year's employment with Vogue, six months of which will be spent in the New York office, the remaining six months in Vogue's Paris office. A second prize of six months on Vogue's New York editorial staff will be awarded the runner-up. Both the first prize winner and runner-up will be eligible for permanent positions on Vogue's staff after completion of their trial periods.

Last year's Prix de Paris was awarded Miss Virginia Van Brunt, of Horicon, Wisconsin, a senior at the University of Wisconsin. Second prize went to Miss Alice Schultz of Wellesley, Mass., a senior at Smith. Besides the two announced awards, one contestant, Miss Rosemary Farr, of Barnard, was placed in Vogue's editorial department and another, Miss Elizabeth Winspar, of the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, in Vogue's Merchandising Department.

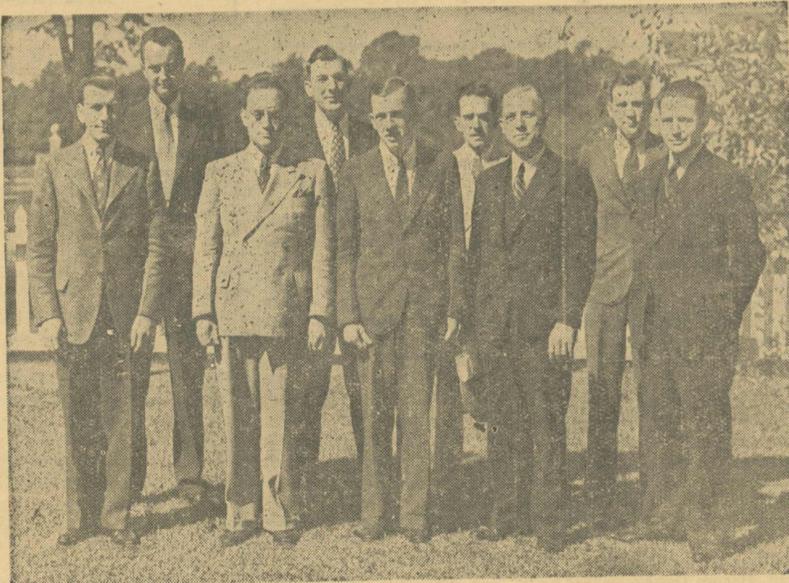

Executives of leading stores, manufacturing firms, advertising agencies and newspapers continue to show great interest in this contest. At least ten of the ranking participants in last year's Prix de Paris found positions with these organizations.

Inquiries should be addressed to Vogue's Prix de Paris, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York City.

Former Professors Find Other Berths

Six former William and Mary professors are now connected with other colleges and universities. They are Dr. L. V. Howard, who is head of the department of Government at the University of Maryland; Mr. Dayton Phillips, studying at Columbia University and completing his dissertation for a Doctor's degree. Dr. John P. Leonard, Professor of Education at Stanford University, Palo Alto, California; Dr. Wesley F. Craven, who has returned to New York University where he had taught prior to coming to William and Mary; Mr. Walter S. Foster, who is now teaching engineering and physics at the University of Tulsa in Tulsa, Oklahoma; and Mr. John E. Hocutt, who has a teaching fellowship at the University of Ohio.

New Faculty Members

The Wesley Foundation, Methodist Student Organization, instituted a series of services and discussions on world problems as seen by young people last Sunday evening when it heard a message from Miss Barbara Behrman, student at Meredith College.

Miss Behrman, an active worker in the Baptist Student Union at Zurich, Switzerland, meeting with the Baptist World Alliance, August 7-11. Following the meeting in Zurich, she toured Europe for three weeks, visiting England, France, Holland, Germany, Italy, Austria, and Czechoslovakia.

Other young people and leaders who have had opportunity to see, at first hand, what present conditions are and to understand their origins are expected to lead discussions in this series. Though definite announcement has not been made, it is understood that May Fielder, who spent two months in Europe during the summer studying with other students from the United States and Europe, and Willroy Wells of Norfolk, who has just completed his work as a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford University, will be among those invited to contribute to the discussion and study of the problem.

The Wesley Foundation meets every Sunday in the Methodist Church at 9:45 A. M., and at 7:00 P. M. It is at the evening meetings that this series is to be carried through.

Fine Arts Staff Announces Plan

The annual activities program of the Fine Arts Department began last week with an exhibit of woodcuts, lithographs and engravings by contemporary American artists which was displayed on the second and third floors of the Fine Arts Building. The collection was made available by the American Artistic Group of New York whose purpose is to present contemporary American prints at a price which the average person can pay, and, in this way, to revive a general interest in American artists of today. A large exhibition from the Museum of Modern Art in New York, the title of which will be announced at a later date, is scheduled to open in an especially arranged room in Phi Beta Kappa Hall on October 16 and will continue for two weeks.

Foreign Films to Come

A series of ten Sunday films consisting of foreign productions from Germany, France, and Sweden, will be shown this year. The first program entitled "The Film in Germany", is to be presented on Sunday, October 17, at 4:00 in the Williamsburg Theatre. It includes five early German movies produced during the years 1896-1919. One of these, "Cabinet of Dr. Caligary", is the most celebrated of all foreign films and has seldom before been shown in its entirety. The sets are expressionistic with all shapes and forms highly distorted.

The first play of the season is a mystery play, "Night of January 16th," by Ian Rand. This was first presented in 1935 at the Ambassador Theatre in New York.

It is based on the suicide of the late Ivar Krugar and should be intensely interesting and most entertaining because the jurors who try the accused secretary are chosen from the audience itself. Work on the set officially began with an organization meeting held last Thursday evening in the scene painting rooms of the Fine Arts Building. At this meeting, crews were organized to work on the scenery, painting and lights. The backstage work this year will be purely voluntary, and, although the crews are quite full, volunteers are still welcome to sign up.

The Fine Arts Department has a new member this year, Mr. Arthur

Ross, who will be in charge of all work backstage. Mr. Ross attended the Yale School of Theatre where he returned last year as an assistant instructor in lighting. Mr. Ross has also done extensive work in the well-known summer theatre at Cohasset, Massachusetts.

Plans are now being made by members of the department for decorating Blow Gym for the Homecoming Dance on November 13.

Georgia to Have New Year's Game

Georgia or Tech Will Pick Opponent

Atlanta, Ga.,—(UP)—A post-season football game and a huge Dogwood Festival here in the spring were announced today as objectives of the newly organized Georgia Celebrations Commission.

The Commission, headed by Secretary of State John B. Wilson and backed strongly by Gov. E. D. Rivers, "is a non-profit organization and its purpose is to sponsor events which will bring favorable publicity to Georgia, and to counter-act unfair and unjust publicity disseminated in the past," Wilson said.

The New Year's football game would be between Georgia or Georgia Tech—whichever makes the best season record—and an opponent to be selected by the Georgia school.

"We are not trying to establish another bowl game but will endeavor to bring to Atlanta a contest which should be one of the three important games in the country on New Year's Day. One of these will be in Pasadena (the Rose Bowl game), one in New Orleans (the Sugar Bowl game), and the other in Atlanta," the commission said.

"To show my backing of the program," Governor Rivers said, "I am ready to pledge that my friends in Georgia on the governor's staff, the State Executive Committee and elsewhere will buy 1,000 pair of tickets for the football game."

The Georgia legislature at its last session adopted a resolution approving the game.

Rivers plans to appoint a statewide advisory committee composed of representatives of all political divisions.

Job Bureau Grows Bigger

Will Handle All College's Graduates

Mr. H. D. Corey, Associate Professor of Economics, has been appointed Director of Placements for the entire college, and plans are now under way to accept applicants who wish to obtain employment following graduation.

Several years ago the Department of Economics established a placement bureau for students of that department only. The success of this undertaking, under the direction of Mr. Corey, resulted in a plan, last year, to include all students enrolled in the Marshall-Wythe School of Government and Citizenship, and it is learned that over ninety percent of the students who applied last year were successful in obtaining desirable positions.

A notable feature of the placement bureau is that vocational guidance is afforded those students who are still undecided as to what particular field of endeavor to pursue upon completion of their college course. Mr. Corey arranges private conferences with those students seeking vocational guidance and aids them in selecting the field of work which best suits the qualities of the applicant.

At the present time Mr. Corey is compiling a complete list of employers including the major industrial and business firms of the country, and hopes to establish sufficient contacts within the near future to handle applicants for almost any desired position. The work of this department does not include those students seeking positions as teachers or instructors.

plays right at the line in hopes of wearing it down but they did not succeed as well as they hoped and went back to deception. A partly blocked kick gave them the ball on their own 39 yard line and Shu shook off several tacklers to tear 60 yards down field to the W-M 21 yard stripe, only to be called back for an off-side penalty. After an exchange of punts, a series of runs, a pass, and a 15 yard penalty against the Indians put the ball in V. M. I. possession on the 24 yard line. Chapman went through tackle to pick up ten yards and Shu passed to Trecziak for another V. M. I. score. Shu kicked the extra point from placement.

Keydets Roll It Up

The Keydets wasted no time in the last period and after an exchange of punts Shu raced 41 yards for the last score of the day, and kicked the extra point again, making the score 20-9 in favor of V. M. I.

The Indians made a last minute drive down to the Keydet's 15-yard line, but two penalties and an intercepted pass killed the rally and the game ended with the ball in V. M. I.'s possession in mid-field.

Co-Captain Johnny Coiner and Sam Walker stood out in the Indian line, and both played the full sixty minutes and fought every minute. In the backfield Bunch, Phillips, Twiddy, Yeager, Hall, and DellaTorre all performed exceptionally well.

Although the William and Mary freshman team started with a rush in their opening game of the season played at the Stadium last Friday, the best they could do was get a 7-7 tie with their opponents from Fork Union Military Academy.

After a punting duel featuring freshman Byrne's long, well directed kicks had pushed the Fork Union boys back to their 1-yard line, the "frosh" got possession of the ball on the soldiers' 34. Byrne slipped off-tackle for 9 yards, and Cornell plunged to the 20 for a first down. Aided by good blocking, Lenzi made it another first and ten by skirting right end for 10 yards. Byrne, hard-driving back smashed through center to the 4-yard line. Then Lenzi completed this brilliant drive by going off right tackle for a touchdown. This touchdown march of 34 yards was executed in just five plays, and was due chiefly to the fine play of the freshman forward wall. They were carrying out their blocking assignments beautifully at this point. Lenzi, captain for the day, added the extra-point from placement to make the score 7-0.

After the kickoff Fork Union failed to gain and was forced to kick from their own 20. Lenzi returned it 15 yards to the 33, and the "frosh" started another drive which ended at the 10 yard line when West, substitute for Lenzi, fumbled. The rest of the half was spent in Fork Union territory, but there was no further scoring.

Following the kick-off at the opening of the second half, the soldiers quickly tied the score. Putting the ball in play on their own 25, McElwee started wide around right end and lateraled to Hurney who dashed 48 yards up the field before being downed by safety-man Lenzi on the 27-yard line. A pass and a line buck were good for 13 yards, and another lateral put the ball on the 4-yard line. A plunge moved it to the 2, and after the freshmen were penalized half of the distance to the goal line for off-sides, a double reverse put McElwee in the clear for a touchdown. McElwee added the extra point to tie up the game 7-7.

During the rest of the game both teams started drives, but when their running attacks bogged down, their passing failed, so nothing materialized.

There was no outstanding star on the freshman team, but it displayed several hard running backs, good tackling on the whole, and flashes of good blocking. The Fork Union quarter back, McElwee, stood out with his smart field generalship, passing, and running.

At the University of Rochester the sophomores annually defend their flag from the freshmen at a fight which is carried on with ripe (slightly over) tomatoes and mushy squash. The freshmen are supposed to climb a greased pole for the banner, which is of course not easily accomplished. . . the reward is the privilege of being able to use certain walks between buildings.

At Lafayette the freshmen conduct a pajama parade under the gentle tutelage of the sophs. This is by no means a simple stroll but is, needless to say, accomplished with some difficulty (provided by said sophs) in the form of rolled newspapers and orders to "duck-walk."

Morningside College bars no holds, and goes in for "double features". One of these is a football game without rules, or time-outs or any object save to gain possession of the ball. This dainty past-time is topped by a tug of war from two sides of a river.

Singers to Present Campus-Step Sings

The Men's Glee Club of the College of William and Mary has announced the first of its proposed campus-step sings on Thursday evening, October seventh, at seven o'clock in the quad range of the Wren building. The Glee Club hopes that these informal gatherings will become a frequent occurrence on the campus with the possibility that they may become an institution.

The plan for Thursday night is to have the Glee Club begin the program with three selections, and a solo by Alfred Alley. These are to be followed by impromptu songs with Alma Mater at the end. Mr. G. M. Small, who is in charge of the training of the Glee Club will conduct the program. Because the early evening is a busy time for most people, the program will be short.

The Y. M. C. A. will hold its first meeting of the year tonight in the new social room of Blow Gymnasium Dr. Charles T. Harrison, who will preside, will be introduced by Bruce Mattson, president of the organization.

Though originally planned for 7:00 o'clock, the time of the meeting has been changed to 7:45.

All members of last year's Colonial Echo Staff wishing to work for the annual again this year are requested to meet Wednesday night at 7:30 in the Echo office.

W.P.A. Sponsors Play Contest

Announcement of the postponement of the closing date of the College Playwriting Contest to November first has more than doubled the number of scripts entered, according to the joint sponsors, the WPA Federal Theatre Project and its National Collegiate Advisory Committee.

Originally scheduled to close on September 1st, the contest period was extended two months to enable student playwrights to rework their scripts on the advice of their drama professors after the opening of college this fall.

Any regularly enrolled student in an American college may submit an original full-length script. There is no restriction of theme but the direct observation of contemporary American life will be preferred.

Show What Is Happening
"A contestant can show what is happening to people—all sorts of people, in America today," Hallie Flannigan, national director of the project, said in discussing the possibilities of play material on observation of contemporary American life.

Mrs. Flannigan continued, "The plays can concern themselves with conditions that have led to the denial of the lowest standards of living to millions of people."

The WPA Federal Theatre project guarantees production of the prize winning play for at least one week. However, if attendance warrants, the run will be extended. The usual WPA Federal Theatre rental rate of fifty dollars a week will be paid the winning playwright.

Hofstra Graduates Face Life Baldly

New York.—(ACP)—A new college curriculum to which the experience of sixteen major colleges and universities has contributed, goes into effect this fall at Hofstra College, according to Provost Rufus D. Smith, of New York University.

At Hofstra, which is the University's Long Island affiliate, to a greater extent, perhaps than in any other college, ordinary academic departments will be scrapped. For example, there will be no departments of economics, sociology and politics.

Instead there will be merely a division of social science, in which six basic courses running in sequence from freshman to senior year will correlate all three of the conventional departments.

Comprehensive examinations covering two years' work are planned for upper classes and there will be provision for independent work under tutorial guidance.

The new system, according to Provost Smith, follows the newer trend toward the broad English type of training as opposed to the highly specialized German type popular in pre-war days.

Hofstra's graduates will be able to face life more realistically, he believes, as a result of their more integrated education.

"Rats" Are Nice Men Since V.M.I. Play

George Abbott, whose production of "Boy Meets Girl" brought forth a new phrase in American lexicology, has now committed the almost impossible by making the word rat a term of affection. Again the stage is the medium through which a different language is emerging.

The 1937 addition to "quaint sayings" came with the play, "Brother Rat", which has the Virginia Military Academy for its locale and the "Brother Rats" for its characters. There isn't a machine gun or a bad guy in it. "Brother Rat" is a classmate, a good sort. And already Broadway is calling the nicer folk "rats." Even the dramatic critics smile a friendly greeting when hailed as "brother rats."

Rat Goes Straight
Recently in New York a truly wicked gunman was saluted with full stress on "rat" as it used to be used. The bad man smiled and replied "Thanks, pardner. How did you know I had gone straight?"

All of which is a rough idea of how firmly rooted a phrase out of a play may become. In short, rats are no longer rats, and, if things keep up at the rate they are going, not only will the term "Brother Rat" indicate friendliness but may also wipe out the old-school rats.

Abbott, enjoying the new turn that rat has taken, will present this New York hit with the original company at the James Theatre for one day only, Wednesday, matinee and night, October 6. The cast includes Clare Hazel ("Honey Chile" of the radio), Jean McCoy, Reese Alsop, James Gillis, Eddie Bracken, Gary Merrill, Mary Perry, Anna Franklin, Mary Rolfe, Richard Jones, Lyle Bettger, Kurt Conway, Robert Scott, Burke O'Connell, Hollis Mitchell, Walter Fenner, and Frederick de Wilde.

Tryouts for Players To Be Conducted

The general try-outs for all students interested in dramatics who have not had parts in plays at the College will be held the week of October 11. This applies to members of all four classes, announced Miss Althea Hunt.

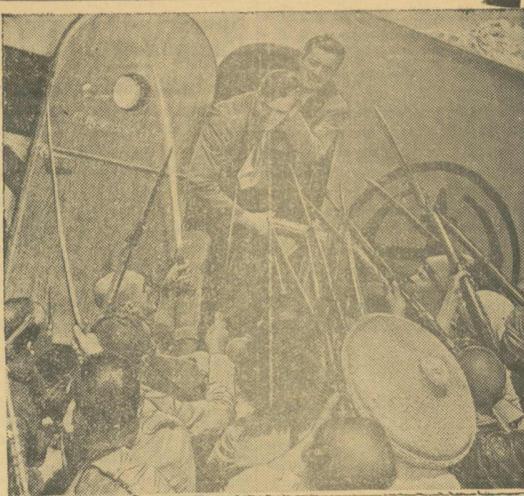

During the week an announcement will be made of registration for these try-outs. At the registration instructions will be given concerning the process of trying out, and each candidate will receive a mimeographed sheet containing three brief passages of different types. This the candidate may take home and prepare in any way he chooses.

Later in the week the try-outs will be held. At this time candidates will present the above-mentioned passages and also a memorized selection from a play. These selections should be of only 8 or 10 lines, and should be selected to suit the interests or abilities of the candidate.

Allow Time for Preparation
The announcement is being made at this time so that interested students may send home for or select here the material they want.

Miss Althea Hunt, director of the William and Mary Players, intends not to have any other long try-outs this year. Before each play a group of people suited to the parts will be selected from among those who have attended this general try-out, and those people will be asked to try out for that particular play.

"Horseshoe" Collar and High Armhole

New Developments in the British Lounge Model*

This comfortable model—with its shapely lines—possesses the flattering ability to slenderize the figure at the hips, add phantom inches to the height and create an athletic effect across the shoulders and through the chest.

The new "Horseshoe" collar* emphasizes the flattering effect. It is cut on a curve permitting the collar to set low all around and providing greater visibility for the tie and shirt front.

The new high cut armhole provides both trimness and comfort and holds the upper part of the coat and collar in place when the arms are moved or raised.

We are very anxious to show these new developments to our customers who bought British Lounge Models* last season or last year.

Papoose Squad Drills For Clash With Tarheel Frosh

Coach Optimistic For Repeat Victory

With a squad of 35 men reporting, some of whom show considerable promise, the Papoose squad is working hard in preparation for a small four-game schedule.

The squad promises to be a hard fighting combination with, at present, much room for improvement. Coach Douglas stated: "As yet there are no finished players, but some of the boys of physical build might develop into real football players."

Practice has just gotten under way so that no idea as to the starting line-up can be garnered. The men who have showed up well so far will be the core around which the team will be built.

There is a scarcity of linesmen and an overabundance of backfield candidates. This is probably due to the fact that most of the men are too light for line work.

Other games include N. C. U., October 16, Richmond, October 29, and Norfolk Division, November 5, with a few practice games in the interim.

The backfield candidates include Cornell and Byrne, who have been doing most of the kicking, Goodlow, Lenzi, Dennis, Howard, West, Tucci, Garman, DeLuca, and Hargis. The pivot position is sorely in need of candidates with Wallin and Cross fighting it out for the job. At guard, Brodka, Holbrook, Harkless, McCarthy, Vener and Gildner, a Norfolk Division transfer, are among the eligibles. The tackles are fairly well fortified with Menzi, Hayie, Dickerson, Stone and Whitehouse. Among the end candidates are Abbe, Gondack, May, Chestnut, Marsh, Hedgecock, and Taffe.

With such a small schedule, the team has a chance of turning in a good year and even bettering last year's record of three wins, two ties and one loss. However, a lack of capable reserve strength may prove a hindrance, said Coach Douglas.

Indian Stars Sign With Richmond Team

Walter Zable, '37, All-South Atlantic end, and star of the Indians 1936 team, has joined the ranks of the professional footballers, and signed with the Richmond Arrows, member of the Dixie League. Zable was an outstanding player during his entire college career and was the other half of that passing combination, Bunch to Zable. The Arrows are coached by Meb Davis, '28, member of the Matsu-Davis combination of several years ago, and a former coach at William and Mary. Another former coach, Tommy Dowler, is also expected to play backfield for the Arrows.

Tenney Is National Archery Champion

Jean Tenney, '36, recently won the national woman's archery championship. Miss Tenney, while a student, was very prominent in woman's athletics. At the present time she is teaching physical education at the high school in Cumberland, Maryland. She has previously won the District of Columbia and Maryland state championships.

OTIS DOUGLAS NAMED AS MERMEN COACH FOR 1937-38 SEASON

Flickinger Will Coach Divers

After one of the most successful swimming seasons in years the William and Mary tankmen are looking forward to the coming season most optimistically. Having lost only three men through graduation—co-captains Daniels and Hadtke, and Joe Flickinger—and taking capable recruits from the Freshmen squad of last year, the team finds itself in a position for titular competition.

Among the men returning are Captain Moe Brill, who remains unbeaten in inter-collegiate dual meet competition, Harvey Shuler, Jimmy Moore, Sam Walker, Artie Ward, George Bunch, and Tommy Helfrich, all free-style men; Lenny Goldberg, and Stewart Cotterman, breast strokers; "Bus" Brown, back stroker, and Johnny Adams, diver.

Coach Otis Douglas is taking over the squad this year in conjunction with his other coaching positions.

Joe Flickinger, one of the best on last year's squad, will assist him in coaching the divers. The dash men, according to Douglas' plans, will be swimming a 60 yard event at home instead of the usual 40 yards, which will mean that in the larger pools, away from home the regulation 50 yard event should be a comparatively easy distance for them.

New Intramural Program for Men

Otis Douglas, director of intramural athletics, has announced a new plan for intramurals the coming year and it promises to be the most extensive in years.

Arrangements are underway to provide for competition in hand tennis, horseshoe pitching, badminton, hand ball, touch football, volley ball, and softball in a program extending throughout the entire school year. Equipment for all these sports is ready for use and can be obtained at the Gym from the director.

In the interfraternity matches, a cup will be awarded to the fraternity compiling the most number points in all fields. The cup will be engraved and the winner has permanent possession.

Basketball, the first in the interfraternity series, will begin Wednesday night and will be played under regular Conference rules. The league rules are as follows:

- 1. No center tap except at the start and the beginning of the half; the ball will be put in play under the basket.
2. No man who has made freshman numerals or played on a varsity squad is eligible to play.
3. Games will be played every night, two games a night.
4. Any team unable to play according to schedule must give notice at a reasonable time before the game, in order that a substitution may be made.
5. All games will be played in Blow Gymnasium at 8:00 P. M. unless otherwise stated.

NAVY DIVER SCORES AGAINST W. & M.

McFarland, Navy's right halfback, dives over the William and Mary line to make the first touchdown for the middies in the game at Annapolis. Navy won in a scoring spree that netted them 45 points to William and Mary's nothing.

Navy Unleashes Power to Down Wm.-Mary Eleven

The William and Mary 1937 eleven upset all the pre-season dope by falling under the onslaught of a powerful Navy team at Annapolis, 45-0. Judging from last year's statistics and opening practices, the Indians could have been expected at least to duplicate last year's performance, but the surprise element was not figured in the advance reports. However, Indian partisans and rooters can take heart from the fact that the Middies have turned out the strongest squad they have had in the past few seasons.

Coach Bocock, in a pre-game release, said that his team would show plenty of fight in every game, and the Navy game proved no exception. Led by co-Captains McGowan and Coiner, the Braves battled a far stronger and heavier team and only gave ground when the Navy reserves and power wore them down.

An injury to Sam Walker, letterman and first string tackle, was a serious blow to the William and Mary line, but Mike Hook, a junior, turned in a fine job as a replacement, breaking through several times to nail Navy backs in their tracks.

With only six lettermen on the entire squad, the sophomore and junior had to carry a good share of the work and the Navy team proved too strong an aggregation to use for sophomore seasoning. Phillips and Twiddy acquitted themselves well in the backfield and Dillard and Davidson stood up under a terrific hammering in the forward wall.

In the second quarter the Indian defense took its firmest stand and turned the Middies back for no score, but their lack of reserves soon told on them.

The last two stanzas saw the final collapse of the Tricolor defenses and the Navy machine began to roll up the score. The Bocockmen tired rapidly and the line was unable to move fast enough to follow the Navy shift. The Tars weighed anchor with a vengeance and unleashed their powerful offensive to pile up the highest score any opponent has tallied against an Indian eleven in the last ten years.

Line-up table listing players for Navy and William and Mary, including Coiner, Dillard, Walker, Krueger, Davidson, McGowan, Kamen, Twiddy, Bunch, Phillips, Della Torre, Emrich, Gunderson, Wallace, DuBois, DuBois, Hysong, Powell, Case, Ingram, McFarland, and Antrim.

THE WAR-WHOOP

By Parker Crutchfield

Even this early the wolves are howling! Many observers are saying that William and Mary is to undergo another disastrous football season. Even the coach has suggested that the Indians will do well to win two games. But these critics should not be too hasty in their judgments. True, the boys took quite a trouncing at the hands of the Navy, but that is over now and there is no reason why they should not give all of the remaining teams on the schedule busy afternoons.

If a team actually gets out there on Saturday afternoon and fights, it is always dangerous. And William and Mary has enough good football players to put the fear of God in any team in the state. All they have to do is to get it in their heads that they are just as good as the other team. We have had enough of this defeatist attitude! We lack reserves—and certainly reserves are important—but, man to man, the Indians can exhibit much better football than they have displayed during the past few seasons.

The players themselves want to win. They have the stuff to win. Take a look at the line from end to end. There aren't any babies there and all of them have had considerable experience. It is true that many of them are sophomores, but it has been my observation that football players are often better as sophomores than they ever are later in their careers. Such men as McGowan, Coiner, Dillard, Hook, Walker, Krueger, and others form the nucleus of a line which should ask no odds from any line in the state. As for the backs, there are plenty of teams that would like to have Twiddy, Bunch, and Phillips, performing in their backfield.

I am not saying that the team is a great team; it is not! I am not saying that they will win most of their games, but I do say that they can play good, hard football that will warm the hearts of the old grads and make them hope for better things in William and Mary athletics.

Football is a game similar, in many ways, to a battle. Victory does not always go to the side with the most guns and men. The greatest factor in winning is fight and spirit. And of the remaining games on the schedule, V. P. I., Guilford, American University, University of Virginia, Hampden-Sydney, Washington and Lee, and Richmond, there is not a single team which definitely outclasses William and Mary. So let's go Indians—and don't you critics sell William and Mary short.

Indians Prepare Defenses For Strong 'Tech Eleven

RYDER, REYNOLDS, WIN EASILY IN FALL COURT ELIMINATIONS

Material Promises Good Season

A fall tennis tournament open to members of the three upper classes got under way last Wednesday on the College courts.

All of the favorites, including members of last year's Varsity squad, breezed into the second round. Captain Jimmy Rider, rated at No. 2 last year behind Carl Mitson, who graduated, defeated Rafo in two fast sets, 6-0, 6-1. Reynolds, who played at No. 3 last year, and "Babe" Walker, rated 5th last season, had no trouble in brushing aside Smith and Helfrich in easy fashion. Johnny Teal, an alternate last year, turned in a 6-3, 6-1 victory over Blocker.

The only second-round match of the day, although uncompleted, produced the best tennis. This match pitted Walker against Letson, a very promising Sophomore gunning for a Varsity berth. Both are seasoned players with sound strokes, and the match which followed was fast and well played. Walker's steadiness and forcing tactics earned him the first set, 6-1, but Letson fought back to take the second, 9-7, as darkness prevented further play.

Coach Lewis was on hand to note the quality of play and obtain some advance information on the 1938 squad. When asked about the prospects for next year's team he was very optimistic and expressed the belief that the team would be much stronger than last year's, and would overcome Carl Mitson's loss with the help of last year's veterans and some promising sophomore material.

The results: First round: Ryder-Rafo, 6-0, 6-1; Stublen-Snowden, 6-3, 6-0; Teal-Blocker, 6-3, 6-1; Reynolds-Smith, 6-2, 6-0; Gebaur, bye; Letson, bye; Walker-Helfrich, 6-1, 6-2. Second round: Walker-Letson, 6-1, 7-9.

Women's Sports Scheduled Soon

Hockey practice, in preparation for the Southeastern and Virginia Tournaments, began last Friday. William and Mary hopes to play hostess for both tournaments which will be held around Thanksgiving. All freshmen or upperclassmen who have had experience in hockey are urged to come out and try for one of the teams from four to six o'clock in the afternoon.

Fencing enthusiasts with the aid of Mr. Tucker Jones, head of the department of physical education, have already dusted off their foils with the spring intercollegiate meets in mind. Other fencers who show promise in the winter classes will be able to join the team when it begins its regular practices.

Intramurals are being planned under the guidance of Miss Lucille Lowry, physical education instructor who has just returned from a year's leave of absence. The name of the intramurals manager will be announced in the near future. It is hoped that every girl in school will find at least one sport in which she would like to participate.

Fencers Prepping for Heavy 1938 Schedule

The William and Mary fencers are again preparing to take the warpath. Having closed last season with twelve victories and only one defeat, they hope to repeat the performance this year.

Led by Captain George Anner, Kibel, Stangarone, Makler, Ware, and Woodbridge, are girding themselves for a hard schedule.

The tentative list includes meets with Richmond, V. M. I., V. P. I., St. John's, Georgia Tech, Rutgers and Haverford. Other meets for later on in the season, with both northern and southern schools, will be arranged. A

Improved Backfield Brightens Prospects

The Indians under Coach Bocock's tutelage, are warming up this week for the clash with the V. P. I. Gobblers next Saturday in the Richmond Stadium. As this article is written the Braves will still be battling V. M. I. in Norfolk and there may be some new developments, but barring any accidents or additions to the hospital list the squad will go into action against the Gobblers with Wayne Harper, senior end, the only man not in condition to play. Frank Yeager, the other casualty, is as good as new and should be a spark plug in the backfield.

The Navy game, bad as it sounds from the score, did not add any men to the sick list and it gave some of the team, particularly the sophomores, a sound lesson in football. Phillips, Twiddy, Dillard, Davidson and some of the others should turn in a good brand of football, especially since they will also have the Keydet game under their belts.

The other regulars, both juniors and seniors, have earned their berths on the team and should do all that anyone can expect. The line, with Coiner and Kamen at the end positions, Dillard and McGowan at the tackles, Walker and Davidson in at guard, and Krueger at the pivot position, is a fast, hard charging forward wall and figures to be plenty hard to stop. The backs, Bunch, Phillips, Twiddy, and Della Torre, are a speedy quartet and can be counted on to show a clean pair of heels to opponents' secondary defense.

The replacements are the only stumbling block to a more successful season. In the line, Hook and Tanner are the standouts with Mitkiewicz running them a close second. Hanna and Legg are the only ends who can be expected to do a good job relieving Coiner and Kamen.

The backs are shaping up pretty well with Hall, Tirelis, Fowler, Carneal, Shuler, Cuseo, and Yeager all rounding into form. These men and a few newcomers should give the backfield plenty of reserve strength but only three or four of them have seen varsity service this year and the rest are an unknown quantity.

If all the "ifs" work out for our side the Gobblers will have a hornet's nest on their hands next Saturday, but the gods of football will have to be looking our way.

Harriers Reach Peak For Cross Country

The William and Mary cross country team has reached full stride in its training grind after two weeks of preliminary work. Led by Captain George Roller and under the tutelage of Coach "Scrap" Chandler, the hill-climbers should have a successful season, barring injuries.

Lettermen on the squad are Roller, Bill Marsh, varsity two mile star, Peterson, and Duke. Leon Hayden, ace quarter miler of last year's Freshmen, is expected to add materially to the strength of the team.

Coach Chandler is asking all Frosh interested in track to report for practice. It is yet too early to tell how the freshman team will shape up. Their first meet is with Virginia away, on the thirteenth of October.

The full Varsity squad is as follows: Roller, Marsh, Crutchfield, Hayden, Peterson, Harvell, Hanson, Sivic, Walton, Hobbs, Moorman, Duke and Wooster.

The meets are: Virginia, away, Oct. 30; V. M. I., away, Nov. 7; Richmond away, November 13; and the Southern Conference meet at Chapel Hill, on Nov. 20.

Southern Conference meet will be held in Williamsburg early in the spring, and as far as our chances for taking the title go "things are looking up", the team agrees.

L. Tucker Jones, again at the helm of this capable squad, has issued a call for new men. Experience is not necessary, the only requirements being enthusiasm and the will to learn. New men should report to Jefferson gym Wednesday Oct. 6 at 4:30.

QUOTABLE QUOTES

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

"We cannot afford to let the accident of birth cripple the educational opportunities of youths of promise. Our colleges and universities must extend their taproots until they reach all classes of society." Harvard's President James Bryant Conant justifies Harvard's new policy of awarding more and bigger scholarships to promising students.

"A woman's college is not concerned with the war between men and women. . . . the notion that women's colleges were designed to gear women to fight men is out of date". Wellesley College's youthful president, Mildred H. McAfee, discusses her hope of training young women to take their places in society, not militantly, but intelligently aware of their responsibilities as citizens.

Old Dominion Dorm Has Canteen, Lounge

Five thousand dollars will be spent on improvements in Old Dominion Hall, making it one of the finest college dormitories in the state, Mr. Charles J. Duke, Jr., Assistant to the President, has disclosed.

The basement of the building, which formerly served as quarters for visiting teams, has been transformed into a game room, and the fourth floor of the dormitory is being made into the visiting-team room. A ping-pong table, tables for the latest magazines, a piano, and lounge furniture have been installed in the game room, which is not yet entirely furnished. A canteen for the convenience of the students, billiard tables, and an especially handsome General Electric Radio and Automatic Victrola will later be installed and pictures of student leaders will be hung there. Mr. Duke stated that he would be glad to receive suggestions as to an appropriate name for the room.

In addition to these improvements, two lounges have been installed on the first floor of the dormitory, and a hostess has been placed in the building.

Referring to other improvements which will be made on the campus, ten-year planting program, boxwood Mr. Duke stated that, as a part of a will be placed in front of Old Dominion Hall, and in front of the buildings facing the Sunken Gardens and boxwood and lilac will also be planted around Barrett Hall.

The Revolutionary Pen That Won't Run Dry In a New and Superlative Model—the Speedline

It's not how much a person has in his pocket that determines whether or not he selects the new 1938 Parker Speedline Vacumatic—it's how much he has above his shoulders!

Some other pens cost as much as this revolutionary invention, yet no one having the "low down" on pens wants to pay these prices without getting these new-day advantages. For example:

A new all-time high in ink capacity, hence a Pen that never starts anything it cannot finish. A Pen that shows the ENTIRE ink supply—shows when to refill —hence one that never runs dry in classes or exams.

An utterly exclusive Style—laminated Pearl and Jet—now with slender Speedline shape—the most restful ever conceived.

And not merely modern in Style, but wholly modern in mechanism, too. Its SACLESS and patented Diaphragm Filler radically departs from all earlier types, regardless of whether they have a rubber ink sac or not.

Be sure to see and try this pedigreed Beauty today at any good pen counter. The Parker Pen Co., Janesville, Wisconsin.

INQUIRING REPORTER

This week's question (to freshman students only):
What do you think of the upperclassmen?

Wharton Sanders, '41
They're o. k. The girls are pretty, and the fellows are courteous.

Mike Byrne, '41
Jolly old bunch I'd say. Seriously I think they are swell.

Gus Welch, '41
There is an unusual spirit of frindliness in the upperclasses. Those I've come in contact with so far are excellent people.

Harry Craig, '41
Offhand I think they are pretty o. k. There are bound to be a certain number of unfriendly people in a college like this, but I believe William and Mary has more regular people than most schools.

Betty Foster, '41
Of course, the only upperclassmen I've met are just girls through rushing and all and I think they are all very nice and friendly.

Ruth Barton, '41
The upperclass girls are all very charming and friendly.

Emily Davis, Tamaqua, Penn.
I think that they are not very appreciative. (Appreciative of what, Emily?)

Marriane Milne, Orange, N. J.
They have been very nice to me!!

Jerry Gerard, Garden City, L. I.
They are too soft. I have broken every rule they have and nothing has happened.

Evelyn Benjamin, New York City
They are too, too superior.

Polly Prickett, Washington, D. C.
They will find me just as cold as sister Peggy.

Osman Ramsey, Washington, D. C.
My one quarter at V. P. I. makes this appear like heaven.

Bob Taxado, Greenwich, Conn.
I want to be like "Itchy Reynolds."

Asa Dix, Eastern Shore, Va.
Everything would be rosy if big boys like Ned Le Grande would go out for football.

And while on the subject of football the writer would like to know why such poor teams are scheduled for home games. I know that games away from home bring in fat guarantees to fill the coffers of the Athletic Association, but after all the students pay healthy athletic fees to support the team. Certainly they are entitled to more for their money!

We have a fine stadium here. Why not use it to better advantage? Two of the games here should not be on the schedule at all unless William and Mary is planning to step down from her accustomed place in the football world. Outside of the W&L game the students here get mighty poor pickings for the expense which they incur each year buying athletic tickets.

If the students were given a little better show for their money I believe the spirit would increase proportionately. If we don't look out the next thing the schedule makers will be asking the students to support games between William and Mary and Toano High School!

A subject which has been puzzling William and Mary alumni and undergraduates is: What is the policy of the administration toward athletics?

Do we propose to smile sweetly at the provisions of the Graham Plan as so many members of the Southern Conference would seem to be doing, or do we intend to de-emphasize athletics to the point where it would be better to discard all varsity athletic teams and displace them with intramural teams? I believe it would be both gratifying and enlightening to the alumni and students of the College if some responsible person in the administration would give out a definite statement concerning the athletic policy. The time has come when William and Mary must cease to be a doormat for other state teams or else cut out intercollegiate competition entirely. And there are still some men going to this school!

"Attention is called to the regulation on Page 48 of the current catalog, which states: Students are not allowed to have automobiles except by special permission which is to be secured from the President.

"In accordance with this regulation of the Board of Visitors prohibiting the use of automobiles by students, permission must first be secured from the President of the College. Such permission will be granted only under the most extraordinary conditions.

"Students who bring automobiles to the College must immediately declare their ownership and surrender the keys after placing the car in an approved storage location. In instances of non-compliance with this regulation, the President may request the student's withdrawal from the College."

Seeing Is Believing

To visualize SEEING, we think of eyes to see with, a task to perform and sufficient light with which to see it.

Nature gave us our eyes as they are; our work is usually set out for us by someone else or by circumstances; but we can control the quantity and quality of our light.

Students particularly require good light for their work. Try more and better light!

Did this ever happen to you?

You might be standing right next to the most attractive person you ever met, but you don't know it until you are introduced... until you get acquainted.

And you don't know how much pleasure a cigarette can give until somebody offers you a Chesterfield.

Certainly this is true: Chesterfields are refreshingly milder... they've got a taste that smokers like.
