

Social Rules For Women Are Altered

Majority Votes OK On Many Changes

Suggested changes in the Social Rules for the women students for the semester 1944-1945 were presented at the Women Students' Cooperative Government meeting, Tuesday, March 21. A majority vote was taken upon the changes in order that the procedure for revising social rules as set by the constitution might be maintained.

The alterations included the permission for all classes to date on Monday during the day, and for freshmen to date on Friday night until 10:00 P. M. Freshmen may also date on both Saturday and Sunday mornings. The social juniors, social seniors, and upperclassmen holding Student Government offices have obtained the privilege of dating until 12 o'clock P. M., Saturday night. These latter classes have two 11 o'clock permissions a week, and they may go anywhere in the approved area, which includes the places stated in the following paragraph.

Children Give War Reaction

Impressions of war as seen through the eyes of children will be on exhibition in the foyer of Phi Beta Kappa Hall this week. The paintings, drawn by English, French, Spanish, Jewish, and Chinese young people, "are not particularly great art," said Mr. Thorne, "but they give an accurate reaction of a child's mind to war." All of the paintings were drawn by children between the ages of 5 and 15, and are interesting for their psychological interpretation.

First shown in the Metropolitan Museum, the exhibit had an imposing list of sponsors including Herbert Hoover, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, and the Chinese ambassador to the United States. Under the auspices of the American Friends Service Committee the show has been exhibited in most of the museums in the East and Middle West.

Coach Voyles To Leave Post As Athletic Director

Transfers To Auburn; Pomfret Praises Work

In a crystallization of many rumors, it has now been definitely made known that Coach Carl M. Voyles is leaving the College of William and Mary for Auburn University. His official resignation is to take effect on April 15. Coach Voyles is to assume the duties of his new post on the following day.

In spite of the offer of a five-year contract with full continued administrative cooperation at the College, the athletic director made his decision to move on to bigger things because of, among other items, his debt to his profession.

According to a recent news release, President John E. Pomfret's message at the loss of Coach Voyles is as follows: "In losing Carl Voyles to Auburn, William and Mary has lost an undeniably great coach. Alumni will

The $1,500.00 quota for the National Red Cross War Fund Drive assigned to the campus of William and Mary has been reached and exceeded by $17.07. With monetary donations from the students, naval chaplains, and the former A.S.T.U., the returns of the three-week campaign, March 6-27, are greater than any amount ever received from the college unit.

Graduation exercises for the Navy Chaplains' Class 3-44, held in Phi Beta Kappa Hall on Sunday, March 26, featured an address by Captain Mildred McAfee, Executive Commander of the WAVES. Following the graduation, the War Council gave a reception for Captain McAfee in the Dodge Room, entertaining about 250 people.

Guests at the reception included 45 WAVE Ensigns from Norfolk Naval Base, headed by Miss Grace Dime-law; four Commanders-in-chief from this district and their wives; the Chaplain graduates, staff, and student Chaplains; Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Pomfret; and the deans and heads of the departments of the College.

William and Mary is to be visited by the leading Allied military and naval leaders of the day. The College will hold a special full dress convocation to confer the honorary degree of LL.D. upon Sir John Dill, senior British member on the combined Chiefs of Staff Committee and Chief of the British Joint Staff Mission. Monday, April 3, at 11 A. M., only two short days before the beginning of spring vacation.

Helen Howe Gives Skits

The William and Mary Concert Series will come to a close with the appearance of Miss Helen Howe in her original character sketches in Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium on Thursday, March 30, at 8 o'clock. Miss Howe was prevented by a sudden illness from keeping her engagement last December as originally announced.

Miss Howe comes to the College with a fine reputation as a popular and distinguished monologist. She has just returned from a tour through the middle west where she was booked for two months. The London Morning Post calls her "the most provocative of all American solo actresses." "As a successful and enjoyable monologist," says the Saturday Review of Literature, "Miss Howe has one of the loveliest voices and one of the most engaging stage manners in the profession. She understands not merely the prime role of character creation and the art of implication, but the achievement of intensity."

Miss Howe writes her own scripts which, therefore, have the advantage of originality and freshness. Among the numbers to be presented are "A Garden Club Meeting" (not far from Philadelphia), "Mary - Cum Laude" (Continued on Page 4)

Capt. McAfee Impresses Importance of Education

College Training Useful After War

By CONNIE CONWAY

Four stripes on her sleeve, dark hair curling around the edges of her officer's cap, snapping brown eyes, Captain Mildred Helen McAfee, U.S.N.R., answered queries of coeds interested in the WAVES, Sunday afternoon at 5:30 in Barrett living room.

When asked if a girl who is undecided whether to continue her college education or enter the service, should do the latter, Captain McAfee said that the nation after the war will depend on women with college training for many things, and that if a girl is profitably spending her time in college, it is more desirable that she remain to finish her education, unless her professors advise otherwise.

A uniform does not change a woman, Captain McAfee said, it merely tends to make her more conscious of the responsibility upon her shoulders as a member of one of the branches of the service. When asked her opinion of the women's services in the last war (when she was almost college age) Captain McAfee had to confess that she was entirely unconscious of any such organization.

The WAVE officer quota is more nearly filled than the enlisted quota, Captain McAfee said. In the past, college girls majoring in business administration, economics, or a science such as physics, had a better chance of becoming WAVE officers. Now, Captain McAfee said, college girls are urged by the WAVES to enter as enlisted personnel, where they can accomplish much good, and still have a chance for officer's training.

Accompanying Field Marshall Dill to Williamsburg will be General George C. Marshall, Chief of Staff United States Army, General Henry H. Arnold, Chief of the Army Air Forces, and Admiral Ernest J. King, Commander of the United States Naval Forces.

Some of the highest ranking British officers in the United States will also attend this special convocation. These noted leaders will be Admiral Sir Percy Noble, Lt. General G. N. Macready, Air Marshall Sir William L. Welsh and Vice-Air Marshall McNeese Foster. Governor Colgate Darden and Chancellor John S. Bryan also plan to attend the convocation.

Sir John Dill is considered Churchill's military proxy. Upon completing his term as Chief of the Imperial General Staff in December of 1941, he was ordered to Washington to become the Prime Minister's personal military representative. Noted for his friendliness and graciousness, he is now on first-name terms with Generals Marshall and Arnold and Admiral King.

Sir John and Lady Dill, and members of the visiting party will be guests of President and Mrs. Pomfret during the day, and will be entertained at the Inn by the College. General Marshall and Admiral King hold honorary degrees from the College.

The convocation will take place on the old college grounds in front of the Wren Building, rather than in Phi Beta Kappa Hall. Members of the Senior Class and Faculty will march in the academic procession.

Dr. Ezekial, Economist, Talks At M-W Seminar

Charles F. Marsh And Others Also Scheduled On Program

Dr. Mordecai Ezekiel, Economic Advisor to the United States Secretary of Agriculture since 1939, will be the guest speaker at the next Marshall-Wythe Seminar meeting tomorrow, March 30, at 4:30 P. M., in Rogers 212. "National Economic Planning" will be his subject.

As an economist, Dr. Ezekiel has been connected with the Federal government and served in many responsible positions.

In 1930 he was awarded the Guggenheim Fellowship for economic study. He discovered modern techniques of correlation in statistical investigations. He has also pioneered in methods of price forecasting for farm products, and has assisted in formulating plans for farm relief and in drafting the Agricultural Adjustment Act.

While most of Dr. Ezekiel's government work is concerned with research and planning in the agricultural field, he served on the War Production Board as economic advisor in 1942-3.

The author of Methods of Correlation Analysis, 1930, and Jobs For All, 1939, Dr. Ezekiel has contributed articles to journals of statistics and economics.

Dr. S. D. Southworth, Professor of Economics here at the college who does work in the division of monetary research of the United States Treasury, will speak at the April 27 Seminar meeting. His topic will be "International Monetary Planning."

Mr. Dana Munro, Director of the School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton University, will speak at the May 4 meeting on "Conditions Essential for the Maintenance of Peace."

Dr. Charles Marsh, Chairman of the Marshall-Wythe Seminar, wishes to impress upon the students that all are invited to attend these sessions besides the regular Seminar members. He maintains that these various well-known speakers can arouse interest in current affairs on campus. The following readings are suggested by Dr. Marsh for the next meeting:

Me and My Bunx

MONDAY—The Other Bunx has a meandering sort of mind, that never fails to flourish forth in Alpine Club style. Today she was discussing her latest ascent in the field of the romance languages—Spanish 746. For days she has been trying to overtake the professor with a real buoyant attitude; but today, after the last profundity, she relaxed at last. Her decision is merely to appear in 746 with a diamond tiara and all her sentences up to date.

TUESDAY—The Bunx and I realized for perhaps the first time that only we appreciate ourselves as much as we do. Unquelled and unrepressed, in the dining hall, we gave way to mutual admiration. Apparently the moderate and gentle people about us, do not at all understand the impetuous and rampant outbursts of enthusiasm for the humor of the other. Anyway, we are a bit bent on one another to an almost prejudice kind of admiration.

WEDNESDAY—For no apparent reason, except for the air being all full of fuzz and fluff, spring prevailed today. Perhaps it's just a combination of good causes that gives us this warm and hypnotic kind of weather every vernal equinox. Everything feels so immature and fresh. One can hear the grass growing and the scuttling of young things. Even the walks have a spick and span sort of attitude about the whole idea, and the world seems to be adjusting itself to its new gloss of novelty.

THURSDAY—Today the Happy Bunx almost had a holiday tomorrow. She renovated her face, in a way. It was the sun in all its characteristic

Cast Of Faculty Production Led By Hansen And Phalen

Final casting for the faculty production, "For Her Ch-E-ild's Sake," to be presented May 11, has been completed during the past week. Rehearsals for the "mellow melodrama," directed by Miss Arlene Murray, are fully under way.

Miss Elodie Hansen will play the fair heroine. A striking foil to the star's demure loveliness, Dr. H. R. Phalen portrays the black character of the villain. Dr. G. G. Clark and Mr. Thomas Thorne have been cast as a duet of heroes. Miss Eleanor Adams depicts a maid with character, while Miss Armina Crosby plays an awkward seventeen-year-old, and Miss Blanch Snyder assumes the part of the hypocritical sister. Miss Betty Bean will be recognized as A Voice from the Past. Mr. Will Volmer becomes the butler, and Miss Arlene Murray is a young woman with a purpose.

and singular power. With comprehensive directness, it set out to burn her to a small orderly crisp. Tonight, bit by bit and detail by detail, the Happy Bunx has acquired a rather uniform red, which has all the earmarks of a beginning to an end.

FRIDAY—Swooping down without the slightest groundwork, eight of the short-haired variety entered with manly indifference. It was not long, however, before the situation was well under control. The Happy Bunx can cultivate bright eyes easily, and lead them without conscious effort to all kinds of responses, especially dinner, which I believe is one of life's most admirable traits.

SATURDAY—Effective if developed.

SUNDAY—Custom made.

Sly, Bean, Groves Give Concert April 2

Mrs. Allan Sly, Miss Betty Bean, and Corporal Earl Groves will give a concert, sponsored by the Students' Music Club, on Sunday, April 2, at 3:30 P. M. in Phi Beta Kappa Hall. The three artists have given a number of concerts for an appreciative William and Mary audience this year. Corporal Groves, who is stationed near Williamsburg, has been able to take time out from his military life to give some fine piano concerts here.

The program on April 2 will include the Bach Double Concerto for two violins and piano, and the Franck Chorale, Prelude and Fugue. A reception will follow the concert for the musicians and members of the club.

Prof. Retires After 16 Years

John Rochelle Lee Johnson, Professor of English, has retired from the College Faculty after teaching here for sixteen years. Before joining the faculty, Dr. Johnson had engaged in school work in Franklin, and had been Professor of English at Radford College. In these three positions, he served the state for approximately forty years.

Dr. Johnson graduated from the College of William and Mary with an A.B. degree, and later earned a graduate degree from the University of Chicago, under the tutelage of such scholars as Cross, Ricket, Hulbert, and Manly. These two academic events mark his career.

He is pointed out as the typically loyal alumnus of the College, and his teaching combined knowledge of literature with love of language. His faithfulness to his college and his devotion to teaching will long be remembered by students and colleagues. The Flat Hat wishes him a rapid return to his customary health.

Professors Pay Tribute To Dr. Hoke, Late Dean Of W.-M. Summer School

Prominent Educator Here Almost 25 Years

Tribute to Dean Kremer J. Hoke 1878-1944

On February the sixth, 1944, Dean Kremer J. Hoke ended his visible service to the College of William and Mary, which he had served for nearly a quarter of a century.

Through two presidential administrations at this college and a year and a half of this, he had made available to the chief executives the rare wisdom he had himself accumulated in a long, thorough knowledge of educational affairs. To every problem, from that of elementary education to graduate courses, he had given ceaseless, large-hearted study. His services on committees of State, regional, and national organizations of education had made his name familiar and honored far and wide. His quiet, independent, and effective presentation of the financial needs of boards devoted to educational research won generous grants of money for projects to be continued long after his death. About these accomplishments he was grateful, but characteristically modest.

Within the college walls he was the tireless adviser of all students who came to him, especially of those who sought to equip themselves for teaching. He studied their tangled records from other colleges with patience, judgment, sympathy, impartiality, but unshakably firm evaluations. Such kindness, cheer, good will won him affectionate gratitude from hundreds of our alumni in whose teaching careers he took enduring pride, without self-congratulation.

In all activities he was selfless, unused either to give or receive flattery or to esteem one who dealt in it. With real insight he cut into a problem, stripping it of all specious reasoning, and having found the ultimate truth, stood fearlessly by it as he saw it, for he was a man who could swear to his own hurt and alter not.

His deep sense of human values was perhaps his most distinctive gift in both teaching and administration. In dealing with the illustrious, the influential (with whom he had wide contacts), with the neediest of college students, with the delinquents to whose welfare he, as a member of the State Prison Board, gave years of devotion, he thought only of the real worth of the individual. The individual alone was Dean Hoke's concern.

Helped In Reclamation Of College Woodland

The source of his exceptional power was his rare humility. Without sentimentality or religiosity, he walked the earth in reverence and gratitude for its visible beauty. He loved the beauty of fields, streams, forests, and gardens. Often he found in these solace for a burdened spirit. To his initiative we owe the reclamation of our rugged college woodland, Matoaka Park. Nature in general reflected to him the love of a father-hearted God whom he served with the simplest devotion. In his associations with family, students, friends, colleagues, he will be remembered for the purity of his heart, which coupled with gentleness, strength and courage, made his spiritual quality as marked as his physical form was nobly distinctive. We may quote truly of him in the tongue he had studied ardently and loved: "Semper cum Domino," forever with the Lord.

Wagener Declares Many Fine Lectures Presented

Students Manifest Lack Of Interest

In commenting on the concert and lecture series, and upon criticisms which have recently appeared in the FLAT HAT, Dr. Wagener, chairman of the faculty committee which has sponsored this series for several years, called attention to the general indifference and lack of support on the part of the student body. "It is a difficult and expensive undertaking," said he, "to secure a well-balanced group of superior artists. It is true that the series has been underwritten by the group known as 'The Friends of the College of William and Mary'. Yet they must be assured that the money spent is contributing to the aesthetic and intellectual life of the College. This can only be accomplished if students attend."

Dr. Wagener further stated that only 75 students purchased tickets to this year's series, and that season tickets constitute the basis upon which the engagements are made. The student attendance at Miss Mona Paulce's concert was only 148, and Mr. Primrose's only 123. The attendance at 'The Merry Wives of Windsor' did, however, reach the comparatively large figure of 370.

The lecture series in the past few years has included such notable figures as A. A. Berle, Norman Thomas, Douglas Freeman, Frank Lloyd Wright, Thomas Craven, and many others. "These men," asserted Dr. Wagener, "have afforded our college community the opportunity to hear and become acquainted with men noted for their achievements in various fields of American culture."

Among the speakers this year Clarence Cook Little, Walter Van Kirk, and Byron De Prorok are men with international reputation in their particular fields. Both Oscar Jaszi and Vojta Benes, who will speak April 14 and 18, respectively, upon nationality problems of Europe, are scholars who have been leaders in political thinking in their native countries of Hungary and Czechoslovakia. "It is willingness to listen and a concern for broadening intellectual interests that have been lacking, not opportunities," said Dr. Wagener.

Club Notes

The Students' Music Club announces the addition of the following new members: Gloria Beal, Elizabeth Bradley, Albert George, Gloria McCawley, John Payne, Joyce Remsberg, Virginia Sacalis, Shirley Lanham, Marjorie Sease, Lavina Stallings, and Mary Louise Strong.

Miss Natalie Rosenthal, a faculty advisor, announced at the last meeting of the club that the first Students' Music Recital will be held on May 7 and the second on May 14. It was decided that the club would also sponsor a program of chamber music and a community sing on the porch of the Wren building. These last programs will take place the latter part of April.

WAMs Start New Agency

War Council members have formulated new plans concerning the child care system now in effect. From now on, there will be, under the direction of the War Council, a separate branch known as the Child Care Agency. This division is headed by Frances Loesch.

The purpose of this division is to alleviate the trouble and confusion in last minute searches for responsible girls. By the new system, calls will be made in advance to Williamsburg 300. The hours in which calls will be taken are: Weekdays between 12 and 1 P. M., and 6 to 7 P. M. Calls will be taken Saturday between 12 and 1 P. M. The charge for child care is 40 cents per hour. College women taking care of children have permission until 11 P. M. week nights and until 12 midnight on Saturdays. Notices giving detailed information as to rates and hours will be distributed to the Faculty, the Inn, the Lodge, and the Chamber of Commerce.

Sorority Court stamp sales for the past week amounted to $74.40. This amount is the largest sold since sororities and dormitories have taken over the sales. The War Council hopes that the sales continue the steady increase of the past weeks.

WAM seamstresses have completed the mending of the 28 blankets for the ASTU. The work was done in record time, all blankets being returned to the army office within four days. WAMS were given hours for this work.

Mortarboard To Sponsor "Smarty Party" April 1

Mortarboard has decided on March 31 as the date for their "Smarty Party". April Fools' Day has appropriately been chosen as the theme for the occasion, which will take place in the Wren Kitchen. The ten girls in each class with the highest scholastic averages will be invited to attend the party.

Four Give Recital Featuring Mozart

Four accomplished musicians, who are very familiar to the campus, gave an all-Mozart chamber music recital on Sunday, March 19. Natalie Rosenthal and Blanche Schneider began the program with the Fugue in C Minor for two pianos. The work was executed with dexterity and pleasing expressiveness. Two sonatas for violin and piano in E minor and A major were presented by Betty Ware Sly and Eleanor Adams. Miss Adams' playing was smooth and well-controlled and blended admirably with the rich treatment given the violin by Mrs. Sly.

Miss Rosenthal and Miss Schneider were heard again in the two-piano Sonata in D Major which concluded the program. A reception for the artists followed in the Dodge Room.

Dr. Young, Physics Head, Former W.-M. Student

Earned Three Degrees In 4 Years; Held Presidency Class, Students

By CONNIE CONWAY

Another of the faculty who is a William and Mary graduate, Dr. Roscoe Conkling Young, head of the Physics department, is one of the best known professors on campus. Tall, with mild brown eyes that sparkle with both wit and friendliness, Dr. Young taught here first in 1911 and 1912 as an instructor in Latin. Only out of college a few years, he decided to return to his studies, and left William and Mary to take his doctor's degree at the University of Chicago. He returned to his Alma Mater in 1919 as head of the department of Physics, and has continued in that capacity ever since.

As a student, Dr. Young was probably one of the most active the College has ever known. Reluctant to tell of his numerous achievements and offices during his College career, Dr. Young is always extremely modest. Through constant study and added courses, Dr. Young was able to graduate in four years with three degrees, his A.B., his B.S., and his A.M. He was a campus leader in that he was President of his class in the sophomore and senior years and vice-president in his junior year, ex-officio president of the student body, ex-officio judge in the men's honor council, business manager of the literary magazine in his junior year, and editor-in-chief in his senior year; president of the athletic association in his junior year, medal-winner for excellence in debate, and a member of Theta Delta Chi, the Flat Hat Club, (then called the Spotswood Club), and Phi Beta Kappa. As if these were not enough, Dr. Young was voted the most intellectual man on campus for two years, and in his senior year was voted the most popular man. So, despite his numerous time-consuming duties, studies and offices, Dr. Young's ever-popular personality, and ready wit made him well liked on campus even then.

One does not often find a scientist and mathematician possessing a literary mind as well, but Dr. Young's versatility makes him the fortunate holder of a love not only for things scientific, but also for things literary. If he had not decided on Physics as a career, English would have been his major in College. He has done much writing in the field of Physics, and has published two laboratory manuals, as well as articles in the American Journal of Psychology. If time were not so precious, Dr. Young might be able to put the finishing touches on several physics books, which publishers are asking for. His extreme modesty mentioned before, is shown by the fact that only a few days ago the William and Mary Library heard about Dr. Young's books, which have been published for several years.

Dr. Young's interest in gardening is his most consuming hobby at present, and upon the rare occasions that he has time, he fishes, and occasionally hunts. He is known in this vicinity for his roses, which are reputed to be the most beautiful for miles around. His vegetables, unlike those of many victory gardeners', really grow, and the Young family is still eating some of last season's potatoes.

College To Aid Service Men

At its midwinter meeting the Board of Visitors of the College of William and Mary unanimously endorsed a policy of scholarship assistance to former students who left the College to join the armed services of the United States.

Such aid will be granted to students who were in good standing at the time of their leaving, who show a need of financial assistance, and who present an honorable discharge from the Army or Navy.

This policy will apply to out-of-State as well as Virginia students. Under the plan, Virginia students will receive a full tuition scholarship; out-of-State students will receive a half tuition scholarship. Since the out-of-State tuition is practically double that of Virginia students, the amount in either case will be the same. Such assistance will not be in addition to grants for the same purpose by the Federal government. This program will become effective at the opening of the fall semester, 1944, and will be financed from the private endowment income of the College.

The College believes that it can render no greater service than assisting wholeheartedly and to the limit of its resources those students whose education was interrupted by the call to arms.

Fort Eustis Orchestra Plays At Spring Fantasy

By WILLIAM TRACEY

What was perhaps the largest crowd to attend a social event of its kind in the current school year rose and shone at the Spring Dance held this past Saturday evening, from 9 to 12 P. M., in Blow Gym.

The Sophomore and Junior classes, which sponsored the event, officially known as "Spring Fantasy," did their level best to make it "the dance of the year." Their efforts were more than enough to succeed.

In spite of the fact that no admission charge whatsoever was made for the semi-formal affair, a group of "all star" musicians were on hand to give out with torrid tempos that were strictly in the proverbial groove. The all-negro orchestra, of the 59th Division at Fort Eustis, Virginia, is a section of a twenty-eight piece band at that training center. The orchestra's leader, Technical Sergeant W. A. Jones, formerly rocked a trumpet in the company of Lucky Milliner. Another trumpet-playing member of the eleven piece group, Sergeant Clay, was previously with Jimmie Lunceford. The pianist for the organization, Corporal Tolliver, is well known for his ivory picking abilities in and around Radio City, New York.

The gym itself was decorated elaborately in a green and white color scheme, with crepe paper streamers running from ceiling to floor and center. Vari-colored paper roses, arranged on natural ivy, added to the effect on one side of the gym. The refreshment table was placed on the opposite side. At one time during the affair, balloons were released from overhead and there was a mad scramble for the floating pretties, as great numbers of active males tried to get one for "the date."

The lights were low throughout the evening, giving a very romantic effect to the entire proceedings. The floor was liberally sprinkled with servicemen, although, all in all, it really was "Joe College's" night.

W-M, Hopkins Teams Debate

Members of the Johns Hopkins University negative debating team will travel to Williamsburg on Monday, April 3, to oppose the William and Mary affirmative team of the Women's Debate Council. The contest is scheduled for 4:30 P. M.

Nancy Grube and Winnie Gill comprise the affirmative team that will uphold the argument, Resolved: The United States should co-operate in establishing and maintaining an International Police Force upon the defeat of the Axis. This is the 1943-44 national topic for debate. The orthodox style of debate will be used, with two ten minute constructive speeches and two five minute rebuttals from each side.

Mac Kaemmerle, manager, urges all faculty members and students to attend.

Flat Hat Notice!

The next issue of the Flat Hat will be published on Wednesday, April 19. The April 5 issue will be omitted because of spring vacation and the difficulty of circulating the paper before the students leave.

There will be a meeting of the Flat Hat reportorial staff on Tuesday, April 4, at 8 P. M. in Marshall-Wythe 302. Assignments for the April 19 paper will be posted.

Medical Exam Given April 28

The Committee on Aptitude Tests of the Association of American Medical Colleges announces that an exam will be given on the afternoon of April 28, 1944. This should be taken by all students who have not already taken medical aptitude tests and who plan to enter medical schools as civilians. All candidates for the medical aptitude test on April 28 should give their names to Miss Alsop, Registrar, Secretary of the Pre-Medical Committee, in Marshall-Wythe 116, not later than Friday, March 31.

Current regulations provide for the admission of civilians to schools of Medicine, Dentistry, Osteopathy, and Veterinary Medicine in restricted numbers in the future, not limited to women or to men classified as 4-F. Under certain stringent conditions these may be deferred by selective service boards pending entrance upon work in the professional school.

".....it will be necessary to admit the accepted civilian pre-medical students and to plan that they complete the medical course as civilians."

In view of the stringency and specific nature of the conditions for deferment for this pre-professional and professional study, all candidates for the study of medicine or related fields are urged to consult with Dr. Woodbridge, Chairman, Military Service Advisory Committee, Marshall-Wythe 312, if they have not already been counseled by him. With respect to applications for admission to the professional schools, which is essential as a prerequisite to initial or continued deferment, candidates should see the Chairman of the Committee on Pre-Medical Students, D. W. Davis, in Washington 105.

Gaudy Pajamas Featured At Early Sunday Morn Fire

It has been said that anything can happen. Well, early last Sunday morning on the William and Mary campus, it did. At perhaps ten minutes before one, some wide-eyed and unidentified student of Monroe Hall sang out: "Barrett Hall is on fire!" Now it just so happens that Monroe Hall occupants are not to be trifled with in matters of excitement. So the stout hearted men of Monroe immediately made off in the general direction of the supposedly ravaged building, a heavy topcoat covering more than one pair of gaudy pajamas.

Women Vote For New Social Rules

After the supper hour, the approved area within which the students must remain has been defined to include the campus, the first block of the Duke of Gloucester street, the Inn, the Lodge, Chowning's, the Travis House, and Rexall's Number 2. This approved area has been defined in order that girls with campus men need not sign out to remain in the area. However, girls having dates with off-campus men, must sign out, but may state, "Approved area", if they are not certain where they are going. The Student Government urges students to sign as specifically as possible, so that they may be contacted if the need should arise.

Girls may smoke in the cafeteria and on the porches of the dorms in addition to specified places stated by the former rule book.

The rule prohibiting the talking out of windows has been omitted.

One of the 11 o'clock permissions of the social Juniors is to be used for the late movie without a date.

Students may obtain permission to date a Williamsburg, or an out of town man from the housemothers, if the date is unexpected and the offices of the Assistant Dean of Women are closed.

The rule permitting students to date in the dormitories on Monday, 1-7 P. M., and Tuesday through Friday, 1-4 P. M., will not go into effect until the house committees in the larger dormitories and the house presidents in the smaller dormitories submit a plan to the Judicial Committee for the appointment of a person who is to be in charge of the dormitories during these hours.

There is a social advancement equivalent to one semester for a student who attends the entire summer session.

By the time that the greater majority of the Monroe Hall students were on their way to becoming potential volunteer firemen, screams of fire-stricken members of the fairer sex had been heard and many mental pictures were cast along the lines of fair maidens in burning windows, etc., while the boys made the ill-fated journey.

The pay-off came as the Monroe brigade arrived, clad so thinly for the chill of early morning, in the majority of cases, to find the following circumstances prevalent: One fire truck putting out a small trash fire just across from Barrett Hall and just behind Washington Hall; also great numbers of girls crying out with many and sundry "save me's" from what still appear to be room windows unaffected by smoke or flame of any kind.

The red-painted vehicle roared away amid the thunderous applause of all concerned a few minutes later.

College Plans Non-Collegiate Spring Season Softball To Take Sports Limelight

By ED KORNBLUH

The chances of William and Mary's fielding intercollegiate teams this spring are very slight, but this will cause no dirth of sports activity for men on the campus. Under the supervision of Arnold "Swede" Umbach, a complete and interesting intra-mural program has been planned.

Starting next week, a tournament will be held in soccer, a sport whose popularity has grown immeasurably since February, when it was introduced as an experiment. It's a great game and the fellows enjoy it a lot, especially if the rules are not followed too stringently.

As soon as Helios gives the O.K. on 8 PM light, a softball tournament will be set in motion. There's going to be some bitter rivalry here, especially between Kappa Tau and Phi Delta Pi. When the ground thaws and dries, a track meet will be held that's sure to attract interest.

In addition to these team tournaments, individual contests in horseshoes and tennis have been arranged.

Tennis as an intercollegiate sport has been abandoned. The net sport reached its height under Coach Sharvey Umbeck in the past few years at William and Mary and the 1943 racquet wielders were the best in the school's history. Baseball is another intercollegiate sport to be abandoned but again it may be said that the Indian nine were annually the top-ranking in the state. Golf, the only other spring sport that was formerly sponsored by the College, also has gone by the board.

Birdies Fly Fast In Court Games Pi Phi And Chandler First In Two Racquet Leagues

The first Intramural Badminton matches were played Tuesday, March 21 with the sororities forming one league and the dormitories forming another.

Pi Beta Phi is streaking ahead with 10 points to its credit and Chi Omega is close behind with 9 points. Playing for Pi Phi are Barbara Grant, Donnie Lepper, Barbara Nesbitt and Edie Marsh. On the Chi Omega team are Alice Wood, Martha Macklin and Jean Richardson. With 5 points, Chandler stands next as Laurie Pritchard, Tommy Smith, Rickie Goldberg and Zella Loew fight to stay in first place among the dormitories. Kappa Delta and Pi Mu are running neck and neck to fill the third rank among the sororities.

Peggy Burdick, Joy Allen, Ruth Paul and Betty Ann Spicer are playing for Kappa Delta, while Eleanor Haupt, Alice Stinewall, Betty Jean Neidlander, and Barbara Rubl wield the racquets on the Pi Mu team. Contrary to records of past seasons in Badminton, Alpha Chi has slipped back and seems to be holding its

Mural Sports Will Continue During Spring

By THE EDITOR

Much has been said and much has been written about the Women's Intramural Program this year. The success story of greater competitive playing between the sororities and dormitories cannot be over emphasized. Because current conditions curtailed intercollegiate games, the Women's Athletic Department undertook the organization of a bigger and better Mural program.

Hockey started the fall season with games between each residence from which class teams were chosen. Tennis, ping pong and bridge followed in two-league mural competition to complete the '43 schedule.

The big highlight this year has been Basketball intramurals. Each team was supported almost completely by its residence and no one can deny the interest in these games as everyone turned out to cheer her players. At the end of the two week's competition, the games became more exciting as the winner from each sorority league fought for the championship.

Badminton is the current sport now for William and Mary coeds and will continue until spring vacation. The outcome may be surprising and, no doubt, the competition will be very close when it comes to the final matches.

Softball will take the spotlight after vacation. With the changing of physical education classes, coeds are taking this sport if they intend to play in mural competition. It certainly ought to be one of the biggest softball seasons the Women's Physical Education department has ever had if the players are given as much support as the court hoopsters.

The large number of coeds who are now taking tennis have been divided into five physical education classes. Competition between corresponding, advanced, intermediate and beginner's teams will probably take place after spring vacation. Along with tennis, the annual archery tournament will commence; each residence forming a team of four archers.

There is no doubt that the intramural program for the '43-'44 season has proved itself a success. Competition between teams on campus is keener than in former years. Aside from this, outstanding coeds in each sport are still able to earn points for momograms and are given recognition for their good work on the All Star own for the 4th place. With 3 games won to their credit, Sue Lamb, Eleanor Rheuby and Bessie Blake compose the team. Kappa Alpha Theta with Gloria Gruber, M'lou Barrett, Pris Schumacher and Sheila Steward forming the team are tying with Kappa for last place, each having won two games. The Kappa foursome is Kay Leavy, Marylou Manning, Joan Armstrong and Pat Jones. Jefferson and

Voyles Leaves William & Mary To Take New Position At API

Will Be Director Of Athletics And Head Coach At Auburn

By BILL GEIGER

The College of William & Mary has indeed suffered a severe loss in the departure of Athletic Director and Head Football Coach Carl Marvin Voyles to Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn, Alabama.

Voyles terminated five years of brilliant service at Williamsburg as his "Big Green" blazed a victory trail over State, Southern, and National Gridirons; and stamped themselves as the greatest aggregations in William & Mary's athletic history. The Voyles-coached Indian football teams won 29, lost 7, tied 3 while facing, year after year, the severest possible schedules. Coming by way of Champaign-Urbanna and Durham to Williamsburg, Mr. Voyles now moves on to the Athletic Directorship and Head Coach position at Auburn.

The first of many rumors about Voyles' change came out at the Southern Conference Basketball Tournament when it was requested over the public address system that Mr. Voyles please call the long distance operator at Auburn, Alabama. Subsequent rumors had Voyles in line for the head coach job at the University of North Carolina along with Carl Snaverly of Cornell, who formerly held the head coach job at U.N.C. Then, two weeks ago, Auburn announced that it had limited its field of candidates for head coach to Voyles and Pete Clayton, coach of the football professional Brooklyn Dodgers. Later it was learned that Clayton was not interested, and Voyles went to Auburn to discuss the situation. Finally, last Friday, the story broke that Voyles had signed a six-year contract at Auburn, taking over the job of Athletic Director and Head Football Coach at a substantial increase in pay. Voyles succeeds Jack Yeager, now a Naval officer at Auburn.

Alabama Poly is in the Southeastern Conference which ranks only second to the powerful Big Ten as the top Collegiate Athletic Association. The Alabama Tigers didn't play football in 1943 but plan to resume it again in 1944. The 1942 Bengal team was one of the best in Auburn history and surprised Frankie Sinkwich and his Rose Bowl-bound crew 26-13 at

STATEMENT BY COACH VOYLES

It is with real regret that I leave the College of William and Mary in Virginia. My five years work here has been most pleasant and I want to thank the Alumni, Administration, Faculty, Students, and the friends of the College for their loyal support of our program. I also wish to thank the assistant coaches for their untiring efforts and loyalty to me and our program. However, I feel I owe it to myself, my family, and my profession to accept this position at a larger school that offers greater possibilities in Athletics and Physical Education.

The war has interrupted athletic programs all over the country particularly in the smaller colleges such as William and Mary. However, we should all think of the future, keep our sports alive, and get ready for the post-war period.

Soccer Resumes Intramural Play

Intra-murals are now lagging since the A.S.T.P. has left the campus. Most of the participating teams were composed of the army boys and their loss is going to cause a revision of the whole intra-mural program.

Coach Umbach planned to meet with the groups who are going to participate in the coming intra-murals and make plans for the future last Monday, night, March 27. The Coach is hoping that he can bring together some new teams and thus widen the competition ring. If the competition is too slight the chaplains may be asked to join.

Soccer intra-murals may start this Monday as some teams have already been formed. If this is true, the finals are expected to be held before the spring vacation starts. However, the real intra-mural tournaments will pick up after the spring vacation when the remainder of the contests in spring sports will be played to finish off the intra-mural season for this year. Those sports expected to be played are baseball, tennis, horseshoes and track.

Coach Umbach would like all boys who are interested to get together and form some teams for intra-mural competition. This is to be about the fourth time that the Coach will have to reorganize the whole program.

Badminton Games Changed to Sat.

Badminton matches originally scheduled for Thursday night, March 30, will not be played at that time; but will be played on Saturday afternoon, April 1, in Jefferson Gymnasium. The matches on Saturday will begin at 2 P. M.

Barrett will probably tie for second place. Jane Segnetz, Sue McGeachin, Meg Megerlie and Nancy Hale are the badminton players from the former dorm and Marian Robinson, Jane Hogg and Evelyn Holler are playing for Barrett.

W-M Sponsors Meet April 22

Despite the shake-up in the Athletic Department of the College, William and Mary still plans to hold the 20th annual Tidewater Track and Field meet on Cary Field April 22.

Cary Field has been host to all 19 of these previous colorful high school track events and the College will do all in its power to make the 20th a success.

Arnold Umbach, track coach at William and Mary, said no entries in the meet would be made till around April 12 or about a week previous to the meet. The reason for the comparative lateness of entries is due to the fact that Tidewater schools have just begun their track practice and coaches cannot afford to pick competitors as yet. However, some of the schedules of Tidewater schools have been released and those of Murray High School of Norfolk and Newport News High School have placed the meet on their April 22 date. Entries probably will be received from John Marshall and Thomas Jefferson of Richmond, Granby of Norfolk, Hampton, and Petersburg in the Class A group.

For Women Only

By CORNIE WESTERMAN

With the new crop of freshmen this year, the William and Mary feminine sports roster was greatly reinforced. These girls hail from all parts of the country, where they were equally outstanding in their respective prep schools and high schools. Let's take Barbara Grant as a typical example of the versatility of our freshman femmes. BeeGee made a name for herself before she entered W. & M. Two years ago she was Junior Women's State Champion in tennis. She also had carved a niche for herself in basketball and badminton in Suffolk, her home base. This year was her first try at hockey when she captained the Chandler Hall team. From all indications she should make a "wicked" left inner. Her prowess in basketball most certainly can't be overlooked. As a forward Barby was one of the high scorers in the intra-mural games. She was also a member of the All Star Team. With such a start here, there's no doubt that BeeGee will find a prominent place in W. & M. sports in her coming three years.

The universal cry of the coeds on campus seems to be....."No men, no nothin'" or "all alone and lonely". Oh, how we miss those big varsity basketball and football games! With the present shake-up in the men's coaching staff there will be even less to look forward to, for the present at least. It's up to us now to put our best foot forward and to bridge the gap. There's so much we can do! Why can't we put on our own show of sports? True, we can't have a football team or such, but we can do our "darndest" when it comes to intramural games—we proved that during our intramural basketball games—so let's continue in this same spirit. Us, we're for bigger and better cheering sections at the gals' athletic events.

Departed A.S.T. Writes Editor Of 3321st's New Experiences

Dear Editor,
The fellows asked me to write you in order to thank all our friends for the wonderful send-off you gave us, and also to tell you a little of what we are doing. Right now we are with a provisional battalion of the 95th infantry waiting for reclassification. Already the men with the better recommendations have been singled out. "Cadet Co. Commander" Baetz was first on K.P. "Cadet Major" Barham has been fire guard for the past two nights, and the job of latrine orderly was only given to the men who received an A. plus in Calculus.

Sunday morning was an example of why we hate war. We were aroused at 7:15 (this was Sunday, remember) and a few of the boys were a little slow getting out of bed. That is, they grabbed 12 seconds more of sleep. Our sergeant is very nice, though; he doesn't holler or lose his temper. He's the silent type. He nonchalantly walked up to the boys—Cox, Levine, Bowen and Baker—and nonchalantly took their names. Five minutes later Bowen, Baker and Co. were nonchalantly sauntering over to the Mess Hall—K.P. We hate war.

I'm glad we didn't write this on the train, because it would have been dripping with sentiment. This, we believe, is no time for sentiment, but we would have said that the whole week before we left wasn't fair. The weather was so darn nice and the girls and fellows were just like the weather. A few of the "lovers" disagree—the girls far exceeded the weather "in loveliness."

The weather here does not agree with the boys from the South. There is more than four inches of snow on the ground, and if it doesn't clear soon, history will be repeated again—another damn civil war, at least. By the way, the long G.I. underwear worn by the "Classic Lassies" in "Front and Center" are being worn again, but this time "It's no laughing matter."

We miss you all, but we're glad of one thing; whatever may come, no one can take away the wonderful memories of William and Mary. That we have, and, to you all, thanks for making them so nice.

The fellows join me in sending you all our best regards.

For the boys of the "old 3321st." Ed Halperin,
(Ed. note: Phi Delta Pi and the War Council collaborated in purchasing and mailing 250 copies of the FLAT HAT to "the boys of the 'old 3321st.'")

VOYLES LEAVES WILLIAM & MARY

Auburn's Homecoming. Auburn has long been ranked as a top notch team but never quite strong enough to overcome the Conference leaders. It is Voyles' and Auburn's hope that he will be able to bring them their first real Southeastern Conference Title. The Orange and Blue Tigers usually face Georgia, Georgia Tech, Florida, L.S.U., Tulane, and Vanderbilt in Conference play.

Boyt Adviser To Fraternity

Mr. John Boyt, of the Department of Fine Arts, has been pledged to Phi Delta Pi and will be initiated into the fraternity soon. Mr. Boyt, who is a member of the Union College chapter of Kappa Sigma Fraternity, will act as faculty advisor for the fraternity.

Mr. Boyt is enjoying his first year on the William and Mary campus.

At a recent meeting, Eugene Wood was elected president of the organization; Tom Thornton, vice-president; Eugene Albertson, secretary; Al Appell, treasurer; David Saunders, sergeant-at-arms; and Russell Quynn, Rush Chairman. The newly appointed officers are Jason McClellan, corresponding secretary; and Terry Turner, historian.

Phi Delta Pi increased its strength recently by the addition of 12 new brothers: Richard Baker, Philadelphia, Pa.; Leroy Canoles, Norfolk, Va.; Warren Sprouse, Staunton, Va.; Terry Turner, St. Albans, W. Va.; Austin Wright, Williamsburg, Va.; William Harville, Arthur Foussekis, and Carlton Vaughn, all of Petersburg, Va.; and Harry Hardy, Robert Marion, Richard Quynn, and Harry Stinson, all of Newport News, Va.

New Point System Being Formulated

Presidents of the various clubs and organizations on campus were called together and asked to fill in forms concerning their opinions and suggestions on how to establish the much-talked-of point system at a meeting of the committee on the Point System on Tuesday, March 21. These papers were read and discussed Tuesday, March 28, at a meeting of the Committee on the Point System. The committee is at the present time taking action on the suggestions given in the papers; and, as soon as possible, the details of the point system will be presented to the student body.

"Candida" Presented Apr. 26 and 27; Sally Snyder To Portray Title Role

By RONALD KING

When "Candida," the next William and Mary Theatre production, is presented to the public on April 26 and 27, patrons of previous College performances will find no new faces in the cast. All of the players have appeared in at least one Theatre presentation before.

Sally Snyder, who plays the title role, Candida, is a veteran of the William and Mary Players. She made her debut in "Gaslight" (now being presented on Broadway as "Angel Street") as the sexy maid. Last year Sally played the part of Pat, the college girl in "The Male Animal," and this fall she portrayed the role of Patsy, Thomas Jefferson's daughter, in "The Patriots."

The part of Candida is the largest role of Miss Snyder's career and, incidentally, her last role. She graduates in June. She has also served as stage manager, make-up chairman, and assistant to the director in numerous productions. She is president of the Dramatic Club and a member of the honorary fraternity for dramatics, Theta Alpha Phi.

Betty Driscoll, who plays Prossy in "Candida," started her dramatic endeavors with student-directed one-act plays. After her freshman year, she appeared in "The Male Animal" as Mrs. Damon, and was Ludmilla in "Squaring the Circle," and Mrs. Yoder in this year's "Papa is All." Miss Driscoll has also assisted the director and has been chairman of properties in other presentations.

Jack Carter is especially suited for the part of Morell, the clergyman, since he is a pre-ministerial student and president of the Canterbury Club. Jack gave a stirring performance as George Washington in "The Patriots." The part of Morell is a long and important one, highly different from the characterization of George Washington.

Osburn Wynkoop has a very demanding role as Eugene Marchbanks in "Candida." Theatre audiences will remember him for his fiery scene with Alexander Hamilton in "The Patriots," in which he portrayed the part of James Monroe. While Osburn is well suited to the part of Marchbanks, as he is a character near his own age, the role is difficult and delicate.

John Helfrich, who appeared in "Tartuffe" as Cleante, will be Lexy, Morell's young curate, who strives to copy his senior. John will have to make a complete about-face for "Candida." In "Tartuffe," he was the pensive reserved reasoner. As Lexy, he must be young and impetuous.

Richard Bix, the hefty blacksmith in "The Patriots," has a difficult role as Burgess, Candida's father. Richard will assume a British accent and the role is outstanding when executed properly.

Miss Althea Hunt, director, has announced that Anna Belle Koenig will be her assistant for this production, and that Eleanor Heyer will be Chairman of Properties.

Dean's List Requirements

By an unintentional error a mistake appeared in the FLAT HAT for March 22, 1944. The new requirement for the Dean's list is as follows:

Students who in any semester make 33 quality points with at least three hours of A and at least three hours of A and with no grade below C, in academic subjects, and do not receive a grade of F in physical education, are placed on the Dean's list for the following semester and are entitled to special privileges.

Please note that the total of 33 quality points may not be made in B's.

The Deans are submitting lists of men and women who have qualified under the changed system of rating, that is, A, 3 points; B, 2 points; C, 1 point. The list is necessarily incomplete since some grades on deferred examinations are not yet in the hands of the registrar. Any student who wishes to discuss his status is invited to call on the Dean concerned. Furthermore, any error found to occur in the list will be corrected and the faculty notified accordingly.

The Dean of Men and the Dean of Women will make available in the offices a supplementary list of students who not understanding a new system would go into effect on February 1, 1944, judged themselves eligible to special privileges on the old basis. Since these supplementary lists have been made without regard to the altered point rating of quality grades, the list is extraordinarily large. It will be in the hands of each instructor but will not be published in the FLAT HAT. Should it appear there the newspapers would readily use it, and the public would mistake a transitional measure for a fixed policy and think less well of the standards of William and Mary than our institution deserves.

Connecticut University is the first in the nation to adopt an extension plan in arts and sciences for the rehabilitation of World War II veterans. Following the war they will find at their disposal extended educational facilities all over the state and especially in the university campus. It is the state's answer to the problem of making higher education in the technical, semi-professional and cultural fields available to those persons whose education has been disrupted by the war.

On the lighter side the "Harvard Tarnoon", Harvard's magazine, issues original cartoons. One was a sketch of two vampires with the following notation below it: "C'mon Ernie, I know where we can get a good neck."

The faculty of St. Bonaventure in New York is out-doing itself these days. The professors feel so spry that they have challenged the students to a basketball game. One such game resulted in a faculty win. All who behold stand in awe and wonder at the rejuvenated men of years and learning, as the old dogs teach the young pups new tricks.

A feeling of fellowship and common suffering is felt with Sweet Briar when their "News" published this:

"Ah it's Spring,
At least it was,
But de boids don't sing,
An' de bees don't buzz.
Nah, Spring ain't here,
It never was,
But Winter is,
An' we is friz!"

Appeared On Nation-Wide Hookups; Acquainted With Well Known Stars

By WILLIAM TRACEY

As many William and Mary students go about the grounds whistling and humming that present-day rumba favorite, "Take It Easy," it may be truthfully said that those vocal murmurings are really "music to the ears" of at least one inhabitant of the campus, in spite of the flatness of key of the average "Joe College" tenor. For Seaman First Class "Vic" Mizzy is the composer of the music to that current hit and is now residing in Old Dominion Hall while preparing himself for the duties of a Welfare Specialist upon graduation this coming April 23. He wrote the entire score for the MGM picture, "Two Sisters And A Sailor", which is to be released nationally April 1. "Take It Easy" is the hit number of that show, in which both Harry James and Xavier Cugat are featured.

Born in Brooklyn, N. Y., our writer of the "hot notes" is a graduate of New York University and is 28 years of age. "Vic" got his first chance in the musical world through appearing on a Fred Allen program. Allen recommended him to Paramount a short time later and "Vic" became a staff writer for that aforementioned corporation at the tender age of 21. It was while at Paramount that he wrote the entire score for the Ritz Brothers' "Pigskin Parade". "Pigskin Parade" was instrumental in introducing Judy Garland and Tony Martin to the general public.

This Seaman First Class, who volunteered for Navy duty some sixteen months ago and has been at William and Mary for the past four weeks, eloped with Mary Small, radio star, in 1942 and they are happily married. "Vic" laughingly explains that she married him "to get musical arrangements cheaper." "The wife" is featured in the New York musical comedy, "Early To Bed", and can be heard weekly each Sunday on her own coast-to-coast program.

"Vic" wrote the radio show, "Something For The Girls", which was a masterpiece in recruiting, and has given of his talents for such performances of the air as "Twenty Grand Radio Show" and "Spud Imperial Time". He composed the official song of the United States undersea fleet, "Take 'Er Down", and contributed the royalties to the Submarine Welfare Force Fund, which cares for the widows and orphans of submarine victims. "Take 'Er Down" was used in the recent photoplay, "Destination Tokyo", and a picture entitled "Take 'Er Down", for which "Vic" wrote the complete scenario and story, is now in production. It will probably be released sometime in July.

"Vic", who was a staff arranger for CBS in New York between the years of 1941 and 1942, has arranged for such notables as the King Sisters, the Modernaires, Raymond Page, Alvin Rey, Jimmie Dorsey and Ray Bloch. He has also accompanied such well-known artists as Kenny Baker, Dorothy Lamour, Ann Sothern, Barry Wood, Dinah Shore, Frank Sinatra, Buddy Clark, Jackie Heller, Dennis Day, Bea Wain, Perry Como and Tony Martin on the piano.

Among "Vic's" original hits is "Three Little Sisters", and he is intimately acquainted with that same Woody Herman who did much to make it famous. "Vic" has written the entire musical scores for numerous motion pictures and his latest song is "Pretty Kitty Blue Eyes", for which he composed the music. The melody was introduced on a recent Jack Benny program by Kenny Baker.

Among the people whom "Vic" knows well are Shep Fields, Guy Lombardo, Nancy Kelly, (who went to school with his wife), Damon Runyon, Ed Sullivan and Walter Winchell.

Short, rather dark and full of fun, Seaman Mizzy proved to be a right guy and promised to buy your reporter a steak dinner if "Pretty Kitty Blue Eyes" is a hit. Come on, sinners, pray!

College Graduates Urged To Teach In High Schools

Requests have been received by the College for seniors graduating in June to fill the present shortage of teachers.

County and city superintendents in Virginia, Tennessee, Florida, New Jersey, and other states have appealed to Dr. George Armacost. The shortage of teachers is greatest in the fields of science and mathematics, but exists also in English, social studies, practical arts, foreign languages, and physical education (especially men's). The publicity for teachers' salaries in Virginia indicates a $900 minimum, but most of the positions will pay from $1100 to $1300 for a nine or ten months term for beginning teachers with a B.A. degree.

Teachers are needed most in defense areas: Elizabeth City, Norfolk counties and the area adjacent to Hampton Roads.

The shortage of teachers is estimated at 100,000 in the United States this year. Unless college students help, some schools will have to close.

"I feel that it is the patriotic duty of these college seniors to consider teaching," said Dr. Armacost. Dr. Armacost is Director of the Bureau of Recommendations for Teachers. Those interested are urged to see him so that their names will be included when the Bureau corresponds with the superintendents.

No Thanks, No Nuthin'

Last Tuesday, March 21, the Judicial Council presented the new modified social rules for the approval or rejection of the women students. Many of the irritating and less meaningful rules were done away with and the more general over-all rules were modified so as to give women students long-looked-for privileges.

But what was the reaction to this gift, presented after so much hard work on the part of the Judicial Committee, to the women students? As a letter to the editor on this page says, only three girls were thoughtful enough to thank Katie Rutherford, the chairman, for her work. Instead of appearing grateful for these new privileges, the general attitude seems to be that of a spoiled child who, when given something, wants everything! No one is satisfied—"they got too much; we got too little, etc." Is this all we can say?

How do we expect our student government officers to work for us and to try to give us the changes we want, when we act so ungrateful in receiving them? Are we all so ill-bred and so greedy that we can't accept new privileges in a sensible manner, but instead only clamor for more?

Let's show those who were responsible for these changes that we appreciate what they've done for us. Let's cooperate by doing our best to uphold the new rules and to cease all foolish griping. Let's be intelligent!

Pomfret Names B. Williams As Chief Aide; Eight Others

With the assistance of various administrative officers Mr. Pomfret has selected the following as President's Aides for the academic session 1943-1944. Henceforth, for the most part, aides will be selected upon the basis of performance of meritorious service in behalf of the College. This organization, therefore, will not duplicate O.D.K., the honorary leadership fraternity, when it is revived.

Normally, officers of certain student government organizations and student activities will automatically become President's Aides. In addition the President will from time to time designate as Aides other students who have performed some signal service as members of the student body.

The officers qualifying for membership as President's Aides are as follows:

- President of the Student Body
- President of the Honor Council
- Editor of the Flat Hat
- Editor of the Colonial Echo
- Editor of the Royalist
- President of the Senior Class
- President of the Fraternity Association that of the student body, which is 1.26 under the new system.

Voting for these offices will be held April 14.

Student Aid Necessary For Wigwam's Success

Lounge To Stay Open Till Eleven

By JERRY HYMAN

Two weeks ago, I reported on the progress that was supposed to be made in the Wigwam as soon as possible. That was two weeks ago, and what little has been accomplished since then has been mostly behind scenes. But out of the chaos that was the Wigwam three months ago, some improvements have resulted, although I would be the last to say the situation is now ideal.

The outside lounge in the Wigwam will remain open until eleven, WHEN a door can be installed between the main section of the Wigwam and the lounge. This door has been ordered and it should be here within a short time, according to the best information. Let's hope it gets here before June.

The problem of student aid is being "studied." I'm not too sure just what that means, but I think it means it's being vaguely thought about, and maybe something might be done. There are students interested in working in the Wigwam. The administration's difficulty is not in finding sufficient students to employ, but in deciding whether or not it is desirable, and in working out a schedule. The administration's idea is to keep a backlog of full-time employees. This idea in and of itself is not objectionable, and is perhaps advisable, as long as students are employed to as large an extent as possible, especially in the afternoons and night.

Since the departure of the army, the income of the Wigwam has been reduced to a great extent. This is one of the main factors which must be taken into account before any change can be considered in operating policy or procedure.

I have no ready-made or patterned solution to the problems of running the Wigwam efficiently. The one of income shortage is the most serious problem as far as the administration is concerned. The one of the accommodation is the most important as far as the student body is concerned.

Both of these problems are intricately related and interconnected. Obviously the Wigwam can not now do the same amount of business it did when it had almost three hundred ASTP boys to spend their pay there. But it can now try to appeal more to the students, to again become the student hang-out, the place to date, the place to loaf.

My recommendation to the students is that they increase their patronage of the Wigwam, and show that they desire the soda shop to be kept open, and to be made attractive, and show that they will give it their utmost support.

My recommendation to the administration is that it employ students as soon as possible in as large numbers as possible. When the Wigwam comes to be a "hang-out" with students serving students in a congenial atmosphere, the problem of revenue will be partially solved.

One interesting suggestion was made to me this past week by a prominent student leader on campus. She suggested that there are at least a hundred girls who would be willing to work in the Wigwam a minimum of one hour a week for no compensation if given credit towards their WAM hours for their work there. If the management is considering closing down, it might be well to consider this idea. It has possibilities and such a plan as this would be far better than limiting the time the Wigwam is open.

Inter-Dormitory Council Draws Up Constitution

The members of the Men's Dormitory Committees assembled on Monday, March 27, to make plans and adopt a constitution for the Men's Inter-Dormitory Council. Until now, the dormitory committees have been acting on power given them by the administration. With the advent of the Men's Inter-Dormitory Council, which is to be formed of the presidents of the committees for the various dormitories on and off campus, and the formulation and adoption of a constitution, the men's dormitory government will then derive its laws and its power to enforce these laws from the students.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

It is a shame that some of the women students here in the college do not appreciate the fact that student government is for them, but surprisingly, it is so. There are always a few people who completely lack a sense of gratitude and good manners. Judging from the number of students, excluding those having classes and meetings, who rudely walked out of the Student Government meeting Tuesday night I would say that there are signs of much ill-breeding among the women of the college. Little children would have behaved better.

It is very sad that you people are so unappreciative. This is the first time in years that the students have actually had the opportunity to exercise Student Government in the name that it implies. And yet you are like a man in a canoe in the middle of a lake. As long as he has someone to paddle for him all is well, but remove his servant and he drifts aimlessly. You sit back and let others do the work for you. You gripe and fuss but you are not willing to share responsibility. You expect everything to be handed out to you and you do not feel obliged to give anything in return. How mistaken you are. You never get something for nothing. If you think you do, then wake up to reality.

Perhaps you would regret such hasty thoughtless action if you knew a few facts. About two months ago you were asked to express your opinion of the social rules in a survey made by the Judicial Committee. The Judicial Committee then went over them carefully. They made changes. The changes were submitted to the Faculty Advisory Committee for approval. And last of all they were submitted to the students. This took two months of tedious work. The rules had to be mimeographed. Debbie Davis, Margie Lentz and Dinny Lee spent Tuesday afternoon from two o'clock until six-thirty doing that themselves. They missed supper to have the rules ready so you could vote on them. And a number of you did not appreciate all that enough to give up a few free minutes or be late for a date to vote on something that was done expressly for your benefit. The saddest part of all is that only three girls were thoughtful enough to thank Katie for the new rules after the meeting was over.

I would like to take this opportunity to again thank Katie and all those who worked with her in making the new social rules possible.

Respectively submitted,
Martha Macklin

(This letter was received by the President from the father of Herman J. Obermayer, former Army Editor of the Flat Hat.)

Dear Dr. Pomfret:

My son, Herman, (formerly a Dartmouth student) a Private in the 3321st ASTU, left William and Mary yesterday, reluctantly and regretfully. His adopted Alma Mater had been most considerate and kind to him, and to all of his associates in the Army group. I know that the period of service of all of the group at the College of William and Mary was made a happy and memorable one, by reason of the thoughtfulness of you and your associates.

This letter is to express thanks and appreciation to the President, faculty, and regular students of the College of William and Mary, for having made a fine contribution to the esprit de corps of a small Army group. I am sure that all of the men in the 3321st ASTU have benefited tremendously from the education which they received at Williamsburg, and will always have happy memories of the College of William and Mary.

Sincerely yours,
Leon J. Obermayer.
