Fifteen students representing diverse fields of student activities have been invited by Jack Sturgell to serve on the Program Committee of the Campus Center.

When activities in the building have been established and coordinated, membership of the committee will be turned over to sub-committee chairmen who will be directly supervising the Center's program.

Publications representative, Chairman of the Interclub Council of student government, Fred Denny, president of Panhellenic Council Joan Beck and president of Interfraternity Council Pete Schirmeier, will represent the Student activities on Campus.

Four men's dorm presidents, Glenn Cayward, Bill Whitten, Stu Coblin and Bill Jones and seven Women's Dorm presidents, Margaret Barn-

A new million-dollar building which will represent the center of extra-curricular life on the campus will open for operation next week.

J. Wilfred Lambert, dean of students and registrar announced today that the Campus Center will open its doors Wednesday, April 20.

Dean Lambert said that, while a number of corrections remain to be completed on the building's interior, the college decided to open the faculty at this time because of student enthusiasm and interest.

A preview of the building will be held for members of the college student body, faculty, and staff from 7 to 10 p.m. next Tuesday, according to Dean Lambert. J. S. Sturgell, Campus Center director, and his staff will serve as escorts in conducted tours of the building, and will explain and demonstrate the use of equipment in the center. Two orchestras will be on hand in the basement theatre and the third-floor ballroom to provide music for the event.

Constructed after what President A. D. Chandler has called "one of the most exhaustive studies ever made in placing a building on a college campus," the "L"-shaped brick structure was designed by Walford and Wright of Richmond to conform with the Georgian architecture of the rest of the William and Mary campus.

Located for maximum usefulness in the direct flow of student traffic, the Campus Center adjoins the College cafeteria, Trinkle Hall. Its three floors contain such features as a 17-seat theatre-auditorium, a 250-seat dining room and snack bar, an oval-shaped ballroom, a four-table billiard room and four duckpin bowling alleys, a lounge and reading room, and offices for the student government and undergraduate publications.

Other features include a sound system which will feed announcements and music through 27 speakers located throughout the building; music listening rooms equipped with hi-fi record

by Jeff Mobley and Bill Remy

(Editor's Note: Jeff Mobley and Bill Remy, the authors of this article, a first in a series on Cuba, together with Al Kennedy, visited the island during the week of spring recess, March 26 to April 3, as guests of the Cuban government. During their stay they had the opportunity to interview numerous government officials as well as the "man on the street." This is a report of their impressions, written especially for the FLAT HAT. This commentary in no way reflects the opinions of the FLAT HAT or of Al Kennedy, who will present a separate report on his impressions next week.)

We decided to go to Cuba in order to learn about the Movimiento 26 de Julio; we were all greatly impressed and returned convinced of the sincerity and justice of the Revolution.

It is difficult for an American citizen, especially one prejudiced by age, to agree with us, however, we have been to Cuba, if only for a week, while they only know what they read in our sensationalist newspapers. It is an unfortunate fact that the execution of a few acknowledged criminals should make the headlines while the proper feeding of children should go unnoticed as not newsworthy.

Many Interviews

We talked to many Cubans, businessmen, students, farmers, soldiers, and girls — not one of them hated the United States per se, in fact they loved Americans. They did have two major complaints, however, and we feel dutybound to give light to them in this article.

The first of these complaints is the brutal treatment Castro's Cuba has been getting at the hands of the American Press, a press which is naturally enough influenced by the monied interests, i.e., Batista and his wealthy cohorts.

As a matter of fact, because of the caliber of their stories, newspapermen in Havana are looked upon with suspicion and do not have access to Government officials or projects. In lieu of the facts they make up their own stories, by twisting what facts they are able to stumble across.

Students Well-Treated

The foreign students who were in Cuba were treated like visiting dignitaries while the newspapermen covered in the hotels and pumped the students for information when they returned. The people are amazed at the "righteous indignation" of America over the execution of several hundred convicted criminals. These men were not used as an example; they were brutal, hardened criminals who had killed, maimed, raped, and set fire to some 20,000 innocent people during the bloody years Batista was in power.

This brings us to the second major complaint. It is an indirect grievance with the United States

Cheerleaders to Pick New Squad Members, Cheers

Tryouts for new cheerleaders will be held Tuesday through Thursday, April 12 through 14 from 3 to 5 p.m. in Blow Gym.

Bill Smith, the 1959-60 Indian, has been chosen head cheerleader by the present members of the squad.

A cheer contest is scheduled for Tuesday, April 12, through Friday, April 29. Any person on campus is invited to submit a cheer and a $5 prize will be given for the best cheer submitted.

Cheer Contest

Basketball cheers are especially needed. Material may be original or borrowed from a high school or another college. Entries should include lyrics and a brief description of motions. Contestants should affix their names and campus addresses and submit their ideas to any cheerleader. The winner will be announced in the May 3 issue of the Flat Hat. Peppy, clever cheers are specially wanted according to head cheerleader Bob Hopkins.

Cheerleading Tryouts

Girls should wear Bermudas and tennis shoes to the cheerleading tryouts this week. Contestants will be taught cheers on the first day and there will be eliminations on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Four cheerleaders are graduating and it is hoped that ten new members can be added to the squad. Boys are especially encouraged to try out. A banquet is tentatively scheduled, at which those cheerleaders chosen will be introduced.

W&M Players Act In Play Sponsored By CW Company

Eight members of the William and Mary Players comprise the cast of Oliver Goldsmith's play "She Stoops to Conquer," directed by Howard Scammon and sponsored by Colonial Williamsburg.

The action of the play revolves around the mistaking of the home of Mr. Hardcastle, portrayed by Hal Laughlin; for an inn by a suitor of Miss Hardcastle, played by Jeanne Raab.

Edna Birney Gregory appears as the formidable matron Mrs. Hardcastle, whose ambition is to marry her son by a former marriage, Tony, to her rich niece Miss Neville, portrayed by Marcia Hoffman.

As Tony, Marvin Bowman provides much of the physical action of the comedy. Richard Westlake takes the part of Marlow and Erik Howell appears as his friend.

Filling three roles is Terry Browne, who portrays old Sir Marlow as well as two servants in the Hardcastle household.

Several Presentations

The play is being presented on successive Friday nights from now until May 27 with the exceptions of the nights of April 22 and May 13.

Association Buys Approved Crests For ROTC Cadets

William and Mary's Reserve Officers Training Corps cadets and staff are now wearing specially designed crests.

The crests, approved by the Heraldic Division of the Quartermasters Office, were purchased by Social Activities Association and given to each cadet.

Worn in the center of the shoulder epaulette, the crests are the first William and Mary cadets have worn. Most R. O. T. C. groups have their own crests.

Planners of Democrat Convention Name Temporary Delegation Heads

The officers of the Political Science Club, busy with plans for the Mock Democratic Convention to be held May 15 and 16, Saturday and Sunday, have announced their selections of chairmen for thirty-three state delegations.

Chairmen

These chairmen, and the state each one is to represent are: Dave Bottoms, Alabama; John Montgomery, Alaska; Mike He-ims, Arizona; Ken Lorensbury, California; Crammond Macomber, Colorado.

Warren Joblin, Connecticut; Ron Alvarez, Florida; Liz de-Beaugrine, Georgia; Dick Neely, Indiana; Ed Perkins, Illinois; Lynn Shaw, Kansas; Jim O'Dell, Kentucky; Jan Plummer, Maine; Benny Dulaski, Maryland; May Layton, Michigan; Laurel Drew, Minnesota.

Duties

These chairmen are responsible for lining up full delegations for their states so that their state will receive its full electoral vote. The size of the delegations will be proportionally determined from the number of students from that state who are enrolled in the college.

ENTERTAINMENT

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE PUBLICATIONS COMMITTEE, AMBITIOUS STUDENT WRITERS, AND/OR AND OTHER INTERESTED PARTIES:

ITEM: William and Mary's academic journal each year fails to sell all its copies. The College does not lose money on the deal because the state subsidizes the magazine yearly. Nonetheless, the magazine always ends up in the red, even with the added invitation to students of a reduced rate of 25 cents a copy.

ITEM: The campus "literary magazine" which appeared a few days before vacation was not all it promised to be. The Editorial Viewpoint expresses the hope of "trying to become a magazine of more general interest . . ." and to present "the best material available in the best format we can design." It states also that it "is still a long way from being a commendable undergraduate magazine . . ." and that "The staff is under no illusions about its publication being a paragon of literary achievement or staff work." Certainly the editors are to be commended for recognizing this.

More suggestions about the above later, but first a LAMENT: for the Fat Head, which will not be published this year, even though students showed interest in working on the campus's only "humor magazine." The last issue of the Fat Head appeared in 1959 and before that in April of 1957. These issues were both four pages only. Since 1957 then, the student body has not seen a full 12 or 16 page publication of the Fat Head. At its present deteriorating rate, the Fat Head may appear once again, or maybe not at all.

WITH THESE BRIEF FACTS AS A basis this humble suggestion is offered to those in charge.

Why not accept serious fiction in our academic journal, compositions of a truly high caliber, and see if the magazine does not have more appeal to the College community if it is filled with more than lengthy term papers? This format works well at other schools, smaller and larger. Perhaps the state could be saved some money each year.

Create a NEW "literary magazine" in a new format stressing humor and light fiction as well as more extensive photographic essays than appeared in the last issue. Humorous photographic stories might be good too; at least they present possibilities. A magazine such as this, if properly produced might be accepted well enough by the student body so that it might even be possible to sell the magazine. Since this is paid for in the student's activity budget, the funds received from the sale could go to Campus Chest or some other worthy cause.

This would present a partial solution to the problem of the Fat Head for it would be a good publication for articles that would otherwise appear in the Fat Head. Copy shortage or abundances would not be a problem, it could be used as received, eliminating the copy quantity deadline of the Fat Head. And it would relieve the strain put on Flat Hat staffers when they attempt to put out a Fat Head. This might instill some initiative in potential authors and the result might be a humor magazine the campus could be proud of, as well as one all would look forward to reading. This could be a step in the right direction. Anyway - - it's just a suggestion.

ON THE CINEMA SCENE: Tomorrow and Thursday Al Capp's Little Abner makes the scene; that is to say, a motion picture of that name starring Peter Palmer in the title role comes to Williamsburg.

Although the ads don't say so, this is a return engagement. However the film is worth a second viewing, and certainly a first if you haven't seen it before. All of Dogpatch is there: Stubby Kaye as Marryin' Sam, Leslie Parrish as Daisy Mae, Julie Newmar as Stupefytin' Jones, Howard St. John as General (What's Good For Me Is Good For The Country) Bullmoose, as well as Evil Eye Fleagle, Mammy and Pappy Yokum and a bunch of "them no-good Scraggs." It's an enjoyable two hours watching Capp's characters come to life.

HOME FROM THE HILL is just another "Big West-ern" done up in Cinemascope and Metrocolor. It's a long one too, (2 1/2 hours) and stars Robert Mitchum and Eleanor Parker. Those are the facts just the facts, Ma'm.

Assistant Director Of Budget Bureau To Present Lecture

All students and faculty members may attend the Marshall-Wythe Symposium, Friday, April 15, at 4 p.m. in Washington 200. "The Budget and Soviet Economic Competition" will be the subject of the lecture.

Elmer Staats, deputy director of the Bureau of the Budget in the Executive Offices of the President will speak. The Symposium Committee feels that the significance of this lecture is so great that everyone should have and opportunity to hear Statt's remarks. Therefore, the lecture is open to all students and faculty members, whether or not they are enrolled for the Symposium credit.

Student Assembly Movies to Continue

Student Government sponsored "free flicks" resumed Sunday, April 10, with two showings of "Singing in the Rain."

According to Dick Neely, president of the student body, the movies will be continued until May 22, moving from Washington 100, where they are now shown every Sunday at 2 and 7:30 p.m., to the Student Center when the latter is completed.

Shows planned include "Dial M for Murder" April 17, "Blackboard Jungle" May 8, "New Faces" May 15 and "Meet Me in St. Louis" May 22. Movies have not been chosen for April 24 and May 1.

W&M Theatre Prepares for Opening Of 'Lysistrata'; to Run Three Nights

by Barbara Bowie

With choreography under way and sets near completion, the William and Mary Theatre moves into the final week of rehearsal for Lysistrata, Aristophanes' comedy of the sexes, scheduled to open April 21 for a three night run at Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

Lysistrata, first produced in 411 B. C., remains a timely play. Tired of the absence of their husbands during the Peloponnesian Wars, which have been dragging on for 18 years, the women of Athens, under the leadership of Lysistrata, plan an organized boycott to deprive their husbands of their love. Powdered and perfumed in their prettiest dresses, they will withhold their favors until the war is ended.

Women Seize Money

The entire play takes place in front of the Acropolis, which the women seize, and hold as a fortress, even gaining control of the treasury, that the soldiers may not be paid to fight. Men and women of all ages participate in the contest, with hilarious moments provided by such scenes as the dousing of the chorus of old men by the old women high up in the Acropolis.

Jeanne Tracy takes the lead as Lysistrata, supported by Patti Pound as Kalonike, Dana Kreuger as Myrrhine, and Edna Gregory as Lampito. Joanna Keith, Fay Young and Johanna Riddick attend Myrrhine, while Johanna Pruden, Eleanor Allen and Sue Yarnold portray the women with Lampito.

Actors and actresses take a break during a rehearsal for "Lysistrata." The play will be presented to the College and Williamsburg community April 21, 22, 23, at Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. Curtain time will be 8 p. m.

Ryan to Lecture on Aristophanes

Background material for the Greek comedy "Lysistrata" will be presented April 17 at 4 p.m. in the Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall with Dr. George Ryan's address "Aristophanes."

Dr. Ryan was asked to give this account of the times of the author, Aristophanes, and the character of the people and their thoughts in conjunction with the presentation of "Lysistrata" on April 21, 22, and 23. The play will be done by the William and Mary Theatre under the direction of Mr. Howard Scammon.

Aristophanes

The comic-dramatist Aristophanes was intensely serious. The circumstances and maudlin aspect of his age are very interesting. The evils of war, public opinions about education and art have all been satirized by Aristophanes. It is this quality in his plays which makes him a seriously comic dramatist.

Details Needed

The lecture, a direct result of the editorial in the March 22 FLAT HAT, will give the details which are needed for the public to understand and appreciate "Lysistrata."

Visit Castro During Recess

Students Give Views on Cuban Trip

Government which has been held by almost all Latin Americans at one time or another. This is that deposed dictators and their henchmen are harbored in the United States and are able to conduct elaborate propoganda machines and make plans for re-entering the country from which they have recently been ousted.

Bombing Raids

The Cubans point to the numerous bombing raids originating in Florida and other Carribean countries. These raids, notwithstanding the recent issue of Life magazine, are a direct insult to the sovereignty of Cuba. While it is realized that the United States does not sponsor these raids, nevertheless the actions that we have taken to halt them have been ineffective thus far.

Let's look at the positive side of the issue. Castro has done more for Cuba in the last two years than had been done during the last two centuries. Prior to Castro, Cuba was controlled by the "select one hundred" families and illiteracy was rampant. The workers were in a state of serfdom. This has all been changed.

Castro promised a reform. This is a typical revolutionary claim and the world was pleased. Now he is carrying out his reform. This is not typical and many non-Cubans are unhappy, especially foreign investors and land-holders.

New Schools

Schools have been constructed all over the island and were obviously new, even to the casual observer. Although these schools lack the physical frills and embellishments to which we are accustomed, the Cubans realize that is the interior and not the exterior of the school that counts.

The new housing projects would put Levitt to shame. They have been called socialistic by many, however they are in fact less socialistic than our own government sponsored housing projects. After paying rent for a specified number of years, the renter will be given ownership of his dwelling by the Government.

While, we do not feel qualified to pass judgement on the Agrarian Reform as others have, from what we saw, some farms are being put into use for the first time and are using modern methods of cultivation. The first land that the Revolutionary Government seized was that which was lying latent.

Sugar Industry

Heretofore the major industry of Cuba has been the sugar industry. Sugar is a luxury and is the first to leave our dinner table during a depression. For this reason Cuban economy suffers doubly during a depression. In order to combat this, they are trying to grow more diverse crops and in this manner become more self-sustaining.

This land-reform is merely the voice of freedom crying out from a downtrodden people. The workers just voted to contribute 4% of their pay to the government in order to speed up the reforms. If the worker does not wish to contribute, he must write a letter to Castro explaining why and present it in person. However, the same thing is required of a Reserve Officer Training Corps student here at the college if he does not wish to contribute to the ROTC Social Activities Committee.

Al Kennedy, Bill Remy, and Jeff Mobley display a Cuban flag which they brought back as a souvenir of their trip to Cuba over spring vacation. They returned sun-tanned, well-fed, and very favorably impressed with many of the things they saw on their trip.

New FLAT HAT 'Flag' Makes First Appearance

With this issue THE FLAT HAT introduces a name plate, the sixth in the 49-year history of the paper.

When THE FLAT HAT was begun in October, 1911, the nameplate featured the words THE FLAT HAT, on a background of white. In 1923 the bold-faced type was initiated, with the background remaining white.

Starting with the issue of September 22, 1926, a full-sized picture of the Wren Building and trees were used as a background, and on April 11, 1930 the background was changed to a picture of the whole Wren courtyard, including the Brafferton and the President's House.

On September 27, 1932, the background was eliminated and the paper returned to the form of a bold-faced title on white, except an innovation was introduced here. On either side of the title box with the important news was carried.

On October 4, 1944 a background of the academic hat was introduced, and the current form was begun in 1949.

The new-masthead was designed by Ginny Reed, and finished copy was done by Gerald P. Finn, a member of Colonial Williamsburg's Architectural Department.

Mid-Semester Exam Blues

Mid-semester examinations are far enough in the past to be viewed with a high degree of objectivity. We feel compelled to comment on this matter as mid-term tests were such a dominating topic of conversation on campus for weeks prior to the Spring Recess recently concluded.

There are certain aspects of the situation with which most students find fault, and we should like to comment on these.

For one thing, in most courses the mid-term exam covers virtually as much ground as does the final examination at the end of the semester. This in itself is not bad, but our complaint stems from the fact that it does seem somewhat unfair for the student to master as much material for the one-hour midsemester test as he does for the three-hour final exam. In other words, the conscientious student who prepares well for final examinations is almost certain that he will be well-versed in the answers to the majority of questions asked on these tests while it is strictly a hit-or-miss proposition regarding mid-semester.

Consider that when final exams roll around, all school extra-curricular activities (except the Honor Councils) grind to a halt, and everything is geared toward giving the student sufficient time in which to study. At these times "reading period" is used to great advantage by almost every one of us. In short, for the three-hour final exams (which cover little or no more material than their abbreviated mid-semester cousins) an atmosphere of unmitigated academicism prevails. This is by no means the case at mid-term time. Students must prepare for their clustered mid-semester examinations in an atmosphere which demands their unlesened participation in the normal extra-curricular activities. In such an environment it is axiomatic that either the studies or the activities are slighted. Neither should have to be.

Students are urged to get good grades, and yet are reminded by the Placement Office and other campus agencies that prospective employers are influenced by extra-curricular participation. It is our contention that mid-term exams create a situation in which it is impossible to do justice to either line of thought.

As long as mid-semester exams must carry the weight they do, we offer two recommendations: (1) that all mid-semester exams be held during a period of time specified by the Dean of the Faculty, and lasting one week to 10 days; (2) that all major campus organizations (to be determined by a committee including the Dean of Students and the President of the Student Body) cease to function during this time. Our recommendations have as their aim the centralization of the mid-semester exams, and the allocation of the maximum in preparatory time to the students.

To some freshmen and to almost every upperclassman, the mid-term test provides the only testing opportunity besides the actual final exam. The present administration of mid-semester examinations stresses the conflict of activities and studies; we feel that students' mid-semester grades would be more indicative of their true ability if the tests were administered in an atmosphere which emphasized the academic side of the picture, which after all, is our fundamental reason for being here.

Welcome Campus Center

Two years of speculation, hope and wonder is finally a reality; the Campus Center will open next Wednesday.

We cannot enumerate the activities and diversifications offered by the building, nor can we at this time fully evaluate the impact this new addition to the College will have on the students, however, we can point up some observations we have recently made.

In looking at the student activities building at other colleges and universities with the same enrollment and program, we have not been able to find a more functional and efficiently planned installation than the one we have. The location of the building is conducive to frequent use by all students. It is convenient.

The building is perhaps even oversized to permit its continued and adequate use during a period of increased enrollment. Coupled to the existing facilities, the Campus Center will contain all of the activities (excepting classes and the post office) in which a student might partake during an ordinary day.

The efforts of many men make possible the Campus Center we see before us today. The planning and research aimed at the development of the Center took almost as much time as did the actual erection of the building.

Perhaps one man can be identified with the Center since its inception some three years ago. Tirelessly he worked to develop the idea to make it a reality, giving unstintingly of his time and efforts.

Unfeasible as it is at this time, we believe that Lambert Campus Center would be a proper and fitting name for the new building.

Open Letter

I feel indeed fortunate to have been elected president of the student Body and I am grateful to all those who made this possible.

Next year should be a great one and I am anxiously awaiting its arrival. There are many things which I would like to do, some with problems which appear unsurmountable, but I am confident that our goals will be successfully attained.

During my term of office, I plan to initiate a completely new system of informing the student body of Student Government functions and activities.

It has been related to me that during the campaign I became known as "The man who will be available." I cannot emphasize or stress this point too much. I believe that by doing this, I will in some small way help to alleviate the problems of communications here at William and Mary. Communications is a two-way operation.

Once again, I want to say that I will strive to make next year the successful year that I know it can be. I will, however, need the help and cooperation of every student to make this success a reality.

Sincerely,
Dave Bottoms, president-elect
Student Body

W&M Board of Visitors Enlarged

Six new members were appointed to the College of William and Mary board of visitors and three board members were reappointed Friday, March 25, by Governor Almond. Delegate Charles K. Hutchens, chairman of the House Finance Committee, and J. B. Woodward Jr., chairman of the board of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, were among those newly appointed for the purpose of expanding the board to oversee the new branch colleges at Newport News and Petersburg.

Woodward and Frank A. Ernst of Petersburg were named to two-year terms. Hutchens, Norfolk Mayor W. Fred Duckworth, James P. Harper of Norfolk, H. Lester Hooker of Patrick County, T. Edward Temple of Danville, W. Brooks George of Richmond and Dr. H. Hudnall Ware of Richmond were named to four-year terms.

Hutchens will succeed delegate Russell Carneal of Williamsburg on the board. Hooker, Temple, and George were reappointed from the old board.

Increased Numbers

The number of members on the board was increased from 11 to 15 by an act passed by the 1960 General Assembly. It is part of the over-all administrative reorganization planned for completion by June, 1961. The new board will have its first meeting here in late May, when it will announce further plans for the reorganization.

magistrate Paul Dinsmore, supported by constables John Lawrence, William Morrell, Wayne Loekle and Lester Sogorka. William Hicks plays Myrrhine's distraught husband Kinsias, while John Carlson portrays their servant Manes.

The women of Sparta, organized under Lampito are in on the conspiracy too and the men of Sparta, announced by Herald Jack Grizzard are ready to come to terms. Spartan ambassador Steve Cooper is attended by John Reiss and Allen Gellert.

Chorus Leaders

Leading the old women in their defense of the Acropolis is Choragos Judy Child, supported by Cathy Leon, Barbara Bowie, Marcia Hoffman, Nancy Scammon, Ellen Aldrich, Judy Schonbak and Lee Williams as the chorus of old women.

Opposing them are the chorus of old men lead by Choragos Philip Reid, and comprising Bruce Douglass, Fred Denny, Gil Bartlett, Robert Toler, Stewart Coblin, Tom Johnson and Steve Lopez.

Rounding out the cast are Steve Lombardias as the drunkard and Dean Bettker as the sentry. As an introduction to the performance, on Easter Sunday afternoon, Dr. George Ryan, head of the department of ancient languages will present a program "Lysistrata," a lecture on Aristophanic comedy.

Summer Session to Begin June 13, to Close August 13

The 1960 William and Mary Summer Session is scheduled to open June 13 and end on August 13, with application required before June 1. Students may enroll in a six-weeks term beginning June 13 or a three-week post session, or in both.

All applicants must submit an application for admission and a certificate of good standing to Dr. D. J. Herrmann, director of the summer session, before June 1. Both forms are included in the Summer Session Catalog, which is available at the telephone operator's desk in Marshall-Wythe.

Room Tuition Fees

An application fee of $5.00 gives the student priority in room and dorm selection and priority in classes of limited size. This fee is not refundable but will be re-added to the student's account when he pays the tuition and registration fees.

The tuition fee for Virginia students will be $7.50 per semester hour; that for out-of-state students will be $12.50 per semester hour. The registration fee of $3.00 entitles the student to free medical care and participation in the recreation program.

Course Credit

The normal course load will be six semester hours for the first session and three hours for the post-session. Each three-credit-hour course includes hour-and-a-half lectures daily for 30 days.

All students will be required to live in dorms unless they commute daily from their homes. Men will room in Brown Hall, and women will room in Barrett and Landrum. Fees for men students will be from $4.50 to $5.25 per week; women's fees will be from $4.50 to $6.75 a week. All students will also be required to eat in the new Student Center for approximately $12 to $15 a week. Meal tickets may be purchased in the Auditor's Office.

National Institute Presents Funds For Marine Study

A grant of $13,397 has been awarded to the College of William and Mary to spark a research project on parasitic worms found in the marine fish of the Atlantic coast region.

The grant, made by the National Institute of Health of the U. S. Public Health Service, will be effective for three years. During this time, the project will be under the direction of Dr. Mitchell A. Byrd, associate professor of biology.

Objectives

According to Dr. Byrd, the principle objectives of the project will be to determine the areas where the various species of worms are found and to discover the effect these worms have on their marine fish hosts. In addition, the project might also help clarify the relationships of some types of marine fish.

Circle K Elects Bartlett President To Hold Outing with Local Kiwanis

Newly elected Circle K officers are Fred Bartlett, President; Kevin Talbott, Vice-President; Bill Powell, Secretary; Bill May Treasurer; and Doug Hinkle, Historian. The new Board of Directors includes Allan C. Brownfield, Dave Weir and Alan Brice-land.

On Friday evening the Circle K Club of the Norfolk Division of William and Mary held a joint meeting with the club of the College, preceded by a dinner at Thiemers, and followed by a dance in the Great Hall. In charge of preparations for the dance was Bob Bratton, chairman of the Circle K Social Committee.

On Saturday the Club conducted a car-wash in order to raise funds for its numerous service activities. Alan Briceland, Don Goodrich and Dave Weir helped to coordinate it, and all members of the club participated in the activity.

Plans Outing

Future activities this semester include a joint outing with the Williamsburg Kiwanis Club, and a possible beach party. Before the spring vacation the club attended a Kiwanis luncheon in the Williamsburg Inn as guests of the sponsoring group. At this time a talk was given by Carlisle Humelsine, President of Colonial Williamsburg, on his recent trip to Russia.

Race Relations

ON THE RECORD

By Allan C. Brownfield

"The greatest dangers to liberty lurk in insidious encroachments by men of zeal, well meaning but without understanding."

Louis Brandeis

The exterior of Hampton Institute, despite its cluster of new buildings and filled parking area, is somewhat drab and seemingly quiet and undisturbed. But beneath this exterior is a kind of seething unrest, the unrest which has been described as the emergence of "the new Negro"—the educated, alert Negro, aware of and determined to achieve what he deems his "rights as an American." The emerging Negro is no longer an "Uncle Tom" nor is he either complacent or unaware of his position and his role.

Several days before the beginning of spring vacation Mary Jamieson, one of last year's FLAT HAT editors and presently a student at the University of Michigan Journalism School, visited Williamsburg. She and I traveled to Hampton to see what the students there were thinking about the sit-down strikes, and how they were being conducted. While we were there we had the opportunity to speak with two professors and two student leaders, and managed to discuss not only the sit-down demonstration but the whole sphere of race relations as well.

The student leaders were alert and, on the basis of a multitude of press conferences were ready with many of the stock answers which are expected of such individuals. They told us of the importance of world opinion and of how our racial policies tend to alienate us from the newly emerging colored nations of Asia and Africa. They made numerous references to religion and to God and asked whether we are not, after all, really the same despite our colors. The question seemed aimed at themselves as much as at us.

Brownfield

But they were intelligent and dedicated and had a clear understanding of both their goals and the difficulty to be encountered in their acquisition. Unfortunately they seemed willing to abandon the course of moderation, even the course of legal maneuvers. They are, as the head of Hampton's English Department told us, anxious for their rights now. They are unwilling, as are older members of their race, to go slow. They believe this is a kind of submission.

The sit-down demonstrations were spontaneous, they said, and were not guided by outside individuals or groups. They looked forward, with a kind of mystic faith, to the day when racial equality would be a reality in the South. Mysticism, however, was secondary to action, and action was very much in evidence as a discussion with any Hampton merchant can quickly prove.

When I was in New York I visited the offices of the NAACP, located in a building called "Freedom House" on 40th Street, across from the New York Public Library, and several doors from the National Republican Club. The office was a utilitarian one, without modern furniture or thick carpets. It had a number of busy office workers and tables filled with literature proclaiming "Free in 1963" and other such epithets. Above the elevator was a large plaque listing lifetime members and within the office I visited were files of newspaper clippings, and a library of books on the race question.

I spoke with a woman who was the NAACP Information Director and although she was able to provide me with a good deal of information and was friendly and cooperative, she had not been in the South, and learned more about conditions South of New York from me than I did from her. This is not to criticize her ability, but to question the kind of organization which seeks to alter the South without understanding it, criticizing without knowing it.

Whatever the inadequacies of the NAACP or the student boycotts it is time for the South to understand that its way of life is under attack, under a relentless attack which is determined to succeed. The leadership must not be left in the hands of zealots, especially those who are far from the scene. Change must come not through violence and resistance but through conference and discussion. Only through conciliation, by both sides, will meaningful solutions be reached.

Library Plans Lamination Of John Marshall Papers

The preservation by lamination of one of the most important records in the life of John Marshall, the famous Chief Justice who graduated from William and Mary, is being planned by College librarian James A. Servies.

The laminating of the 700-page document, which has been placed on deposit in the William and Mary Library by Dr. and Mrs. H. Norton Mason of Richmond, will be made possible by a grant from the National Society of Daughters of the Barons of Runnymede. The laminating will be done by W. J. Barrow, noted authority on the preservation of old manuscripts and documents at the Virginia State Library.

Two Sections

The manuscript contains two sections — a commonplace book of notes based on British precedents relating to forms of pleading, and matched tables of income expenditures from about 1784 until 1796.

According to Servies, the income and expenditures tables in the document are especially interesting since they indicate money raised, cases argued, and income from western lands and consequently afford a highly condensed and important insight into the lives of John Marshall, his family, and his friends.

Preservation Process

In preserving the manuscripts, Barrow will clean each page individually and laminate each leaf between two sheets of cellulose acetate.

William and Mary is currently carrying out a steadily-widening search for the papers of John Marshall, to augment a collection which already is believed to be one of the largest single groups of Marshall materials in existence.

players; two darkrooms; meeting rooms; and offices.

Bright yellows, greens and blues highlight the decor of the completely modern interior. The spacious oval ballroom, with cherry-paneled walls and hardwood floors, is large enough to accommodate any college dance except those held on the Homecoming and May Finals weekends.

A main desk located in the lobby areas of the building will serve as an information desk for visitors, parents and alumni as well as students, and in addition will function as a check-out counter for phonograph records and for "quiet" games such as bridge, chess and checkers. Cigarettes, candy, magazines and newspapers also will be sold there.

Also in the basement of the building, where the billiard room, bowling alleys and theatre-auditorium are located, will be a game room which will accommodate two table tennis tables, a table shuffleboard table, and the games desk where students will arrange for using recreational equipment.

The ballroom, meeting rooms, and student government and publications offices occupy the third floor, while the lounge, dining room, lobby area and reading and music-listening rooms comprise the second floor of the center.

SRU to Give Religious Production On May 1 in Local Baptist Church

May 1 will be the performance date for "The Sign of Jonah." A precedent-setting venture for the organization, the play will be presented at 6:30 p.m. at the Baptist Church under the sponsorship of the Student Religious Union. Admission will be free. "The Sign of Jonah" is a unique adaptation of the Whale-Jonah-Ninevah theme from the Bible. With a setting in modern Germany, the play takes a bold, critical look at the twentieth century. A significant aspect of the production is the fact that the audience constitutes an intricate part of the cast.

Cast Additions

Two additions have been made to the cast. Ed Coleman will play Michael while Ray Spellman has the part of Raphael. New committee chairmen include Nancy Lee Ramsey, who will be in charge of costumes, and Nancy Scammon, who will handle the lighting.

Rehearsals

Rehearsals for the one-hour presentation have been underway for a week. According to director Bruce Douglass, volunteers are needed to assist in set construction.

"The Sign of Jonah" was named one of the top five plays of the decade by the Union Theological Seminary of New York. Among the other selections was Archibald MacLeish's "J.B."

Backdrop Club to Deliver 'Guys and Dolls' In Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Auditorium

Gamblers, prizefighters, chorus girls, Salvation Army members, floozies, cops, detectives bobby-soxers and other famous Damon Runyon figures comprise the characters of "Guys and Dolls," the Backdrop Club production to be presented May 12, 13 and 14, in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

The two leading "guys" are gamblers. Their hearts of gold subtract from belief in their authenticity, but add much to the hilarious scenes in the show.

Nathan Detroit, played by Mike Smoller, manages floating crap games in New York City. His endeavor to raise $1,000 so that he can rent space in a garage for his games leads to an amusing situation.

Detroit has been engaged for 14 years to Adelaide, (played by Jeanne Raab,) dancer and singer at the Hot-box night club.

She says that she longs for a home with wallpaper and book-ends."

Save -A -Soul

Sky Masterson, the other male lead, is played by Don Hutchinson. Masterson is the type of gambler who will bet on anything, even that he can persuade Miss Sarah (played by Jan Laughlin) of the "Save-A-Soul" mission, to make a trip from New York to Havana with him. Detroit bets him $1,000 that he will not succeed in his project.

Masterson falls in love with the "mission doll" and is converted by her. He rolls dice in an illegal game held in a sewer in order to make his fellow cronies come to the mission meetings.

Ghost Charge Haunts Lucky Strike's Dr. Frood

Dear Dr. Frood: I am writing my term paper and would like to know how the average professor differentiates between research and plagiarism?

Lit. Major

Dear Lit: Plagiarism is when you copy your paper from a book. Research is when you copy your paper from more than one book.

Dear Dr. Frood: I was shocked when I read of ghostwriting firms preparing term papers for certain college students. But I was doubly horrified, upset and stunned when I heard a rumor that you, Dr. Frood, also use a ghost. Tell me it isn't so, Doctor.

Jacob Marley

Dear Jacob: I categorically deny your accusation. I do not use, nor have I ever used, a ghost to write this column. I admit, however, that when confronted with certain difficult student problems, I have called upon my late departed Uncle Purdy for advice and counsel.

Dear Dr. Frood: I have just been informed that there are over 100 brands of cigarettes on the market today. Why so many?

Harvey J. Wamerdam

Dear Harvey: Conceivably, there are 100 people in the country who do not smoke Luckies.

Dear Dr. Frood: I am a sophomore who has finally mastered every syllable of the Whiffenpoof Song. To my chagrin, I have just discovered that I am not attending Yale. Any suggestions?

Jivy Leaguer

Dear Jivy: Fake it, man, fake it!

Dear Dr. Frood: I have just completed my doctorate thesis on "The Socio-Political-Religio-Economic Aspects of Tribal Development in Central Africa, 1805-1809." I believe my work has immense popular appeal and would like to have it published in pocket-book form. How does one go about doing this?

Ethelbert Pingbank

Dear Ethelbert: One changes the title to "Love-Starved in Mau Mau Land."

Dear Dr. Frood: I am going nuts—nuts, I tell you!—trying to solve this puzzle. Please! What is the secret?

Puzzled

Dear Puzzled:

Dear Dr. Frood: I didn't make the crew because I get seasick. I couldn't make the baseball team because the resin bag gives me a rash. I was kicked off the track team because cinders kept getting in my eye. And I had to drop tennis because I get vertigo watching the ball go back and forth. What can a great athlete like myself do now?

Sig Lee

Dear Sig: Why don't you expose over-emphasis of college athletics in a leading national magazine?

Senior Invitations

New Library to Expand Facilities

by Jane Parker

A new College Library, to be located at the bottom of the Sunken Garden, is now in the planning stage. The Virginia General Assembly has provisionally allocated $1,000,000 to the College, conditional upon the College raising an additional $2,000,000 to complete the new library facilities.

A large number of services are being planned to overcome the difficulties of the present library, with its overcrowded, sub-standard physical facilities and obsolete equipment. New facilities include, according to James A. Servies, College librarian, ". . . comfortable, well-lighted and efficient study areas made available to hundreds rather than to tens of students at one time . . . the entire book collection, not merely one-half, easily accessible to individual students, study groups, and entire classes . . . an adequate number of reading desks and faculty study rooms encouraging individual or joint investigations . . . music-listening rooms, exhibition areas for all the visual arts, and exposure to all media of communication — transforming the library from a storehouse to a dynamic teaching force."

Scholar to Give Speech Friday about Abstract Art

The noted poet and scholar, Sir Herbert Read, will be the next visiting speaker at the College. Appearing at Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall on Friday, April 15 at 8 p.m., his topic will be "Abstract Art."

The Englishman's visit, lasting three days, will also include a panel discussion on "Modern Art" at 3:30 p.m. April 14 in Phi Beta. He will moderate this program; local personalities, students and faculty members from the Richmond Professional Institute and the Norfolk Division will participate in the discussion.

Carl Rosenberg, associate professor of fine arts, will represent the College here on the panel. Maurice Bonds, head of RPI's department of fine arts and Charles Sibley, head of the fine arts department at Norfolk Division will represent their respective colleges.

Read, a prominent critical essayist, will discuss literary criticism with English classes Friday morning.

Prized Relics
Relics prized in the history of the College — the original boundary stones, early College documents, Lord Botetourt and the College Mace — will be housed in a permanent display area in the new library. A museum and art gallery will display fine art works owned by the College — furniture, artifacts, medals, coins, portraits and other objects, which have been stored away from the public eye for a generation or more.

Floor Space
In planning the new library, studies show a total of 102,365 feet of floor space will be needed to house new and old facilities. Broken down, the total amount of space divides into public reading room, 15, 125 square feet; audio-visual room, 5,025 square feet; archives and manuscripts, 6, 750 square feet; art gallery and museum, 4,200; technical processing, 2,800; stacks, 52,000; seminar rooms, 4,000; study desks and research offices, 4,075; Institute of Early American History and Culture, 2,600, and miscellaneous, 6,790 square feet. The old library will be converted into a Law Library

Mermettes to Present Program Featuring Many Different Angles

A host of pretty girls, the Mermettes, will present an underwater New York on April 11, 12, and 13 at 8 p.m. at Blow Pool.

In the opening number of "The Dripping City" a family of four with suitcases and cameras arrives amid the rush and clamor of New York City. They show continues by presenting the sights that tourists see. The audience is taken to the more traditional tourist spots such as the U. N., Birdland, Coney Island, and Chinatown. They also see Beatniks, Gang Wars, the Bowery, and the theatre.

The theater show presented is "L'il Abner." Seven favorite Li'l Abner characters do a solo dance under the spotlight.

Abbie Fowler will swim an exotic number to Percy Faith's "Tabu." Abbie won this part in tryouts involving the whole club. Skill and grace in executing difficult stunts highlights this number.

Thirty-six Rockettes dressed in red and black will kick their way through the finals. Boo Coughlin, the show's director, and aqua-choreographer for this number, says that the finale has an unusual beginning and ending.

Swimmers

The admission to this show is free.

College Coed Eligible for Miss Williamsburg Title

The deadline for entering the Miss Williamsburg Contest is Saturday, April 16. Those interested in entering should contact either Overton Durrett or Art Rogers. Girls at the College are eligible to participate.

The Williamsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor the pageant. Contestants must never have been married, and must be between the ages of 18 and 28, as of September 5, 1960. All participants must also give a three-minute talent routine.

Last Years Winner

Susie Williams, Miss Williamsburg of last year, will crown her successor, who will be eligible for the Miss Virginia pageant. College students may participate in this local contest as well as in their hometown pageant.

Last year Susie went on from Williamsburg to win the Miss Virginia crown and participate in the Miss America pageant. She was awarded several scholarships and other prizes as the result of these contests.

W&M Concert Band Opens Season In Phi Beta Kappa Hall Tonight at 8

Spring music season opens at 8 p.m. tonight in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall with the William and Mary Concert Band presentation of the 1960 Carl Hibbard Memorial Concert.

Under the direction of Charles E. Varner, the approximately 60-piece band will perform a program of varied music, ranging from the traditional classics to the modern contemporary numbers.

Haigh Soloist

Dr. Andrew C. Haigh, chairman of the music department, will be the featured soloist of the evening. He will play the "First Piano Concerto in E Flat" by Franz Liszt.

Numbers included on the program include "Entry of the Gladiators" by Fucik, "Military Overture in C., Opus 24" by Mendelssohn, "Perpetuum Mobile" by Strauss, "Zacetecas" by Codina, "Air from Suite in D Major" by Bach, a selection from "Lohengrin" by Wagner, and selections from "Porgy and Bess" by Gershwin.

Scholarship Fund

The concert is presented annually. Since 1958 all proceeds have been turned over to the Carl Hibbard Band Scholarship Fund. Captain and Mrs. Hibbard established the fund in memory of their son who had been a member of the band.

Thinclads Take On Virginia Today In Quest of Third Straight Win

by Steve Anderson

William and Mary's track team a perennial powerhouse during Coach Harry Groves' tenure, opened their 1960 outdoor season in emphatic form this past week, walloping the University of Richmond, 92-57, and Hampden-Sydney, 96-35. The two one-sided triumphs, most observers agree, indicate the Indians bear watching in the SC picture again this year.

Speedster Dale Bickert and lithe Bev Vaughan were the leading Tribe scorers as W&M piled up 28 firsts in 31 events during the two meets.

Bickert turned in a brilliant 9.9 clocking in the 100-yard dash at Richmond and followed with a 10 flat effort against the Tigers at Cary Field. In addition, Bickert captured both 220 sprint events in convincing style.

Vaughan cleared 5-10 on two occasions to twice tie for top honors in the high jump. Competing in the javelin event for the first time, the basketball star also surprised with two winning distances. Teammate Henry Corns tied Vaughan once and also placed second in the high jump.

Other Notables

Stacy McMarlin and Pete Bracken dominated their specialties, the disc and shot put, respectively. Pole vaulters Ron Henry and Herm Schmidt split top honors in the two meets, with Henry also winning first in the broad jump against H-S.

While nine lettermen form a solid nucleus for the Tribe, the remainder is predominantly sophomore. Development of these first-year varsity performers holds the key to this track season, according to Groves.

Bracken was not the only winner among soph entries for the Indians. Bart Partch earned firsts in the broad jump and hop-skip-jump during the week. Keith Larson triumphed in both mile and 880 competition against the Spiders, while falling third behind veteran Jerry Quandt in the mile against the Tigers.

In addition, soph Bob Diedrich continued his winning indoor ways in early outdoor going with a double win in the high hurdles and two second places in the 120-yard low hurdles.

In 440 Action

Co-captain Dan Newland rebounded from a defeat against Richmond to finish first in the quarter-mile Saturday. Warren Joblin, the other Tribe co-captain, copped two firsts in the low hurdles.

Time in the opening meet against Richmond was below par for all events except hurdles and sprints due to the track being covered with water in several places.

During three seasons under Grove's tutelage, the W&M track men have posted three of the school's six winning campaigns. The 1957 aggregation was the only undefeated crew in Tribe annals, and in 1957 and 1958 the Indians captured the Southern Conference outdoor crowns.

The Grovemmen journeyed to Charlottesville this morning for an afternoon meet with talented Virginia, which has already upset SC champion Virginia Military Institute this season.

This coming weekend, the featured performer for the host Quantico Marine outfit is little Al Cantello, who holds the pending world record in the javelin throw.

Following the Quantico Relays this weekend, W&M's track outfit has four other major dates remaining for April, including the Virginian-Pilot Relays on the 23rd and the Penn Relays in Philadelphia April 29-30.

Next Wednesday, the Indians journey to Blacksburg for a dual meet with Virginia Tech, with the season's top attraction coming April 25 in a home meet against defending SC champion Virginia Military Institute.

Newland Reaches Finish

Senior co-captain for the Tribe thinclads, Dan Newland won the 440 in a time of 51.8 against Hampden-Sydney here last Saturday. Newland also runs leg o mile relay for Governor. James McKey Photo

Unbeaten Golfers Face Four Tests; Tribe Netmen at Fort Eustis Today

Four strong tests await Coach Jack Prater's fast-starting golf crew this coming week, following on the heels of two decisive wins in opening season action last week, over the Norfolk Division and Virginia Tech.

After routing their distant kinfolk from Norfolk in an away match on Tuesday, the Indians began 1960 Southern Conference action with a sound 9-0 romp past the Gobblers on the home Williamsburg Inn links.

Chip Ingram's one-over-par 69 led the Tribe golfers to their second consecutive victory on Thursday, with individual wins coming also from Dave Mance, Ken Rice, Jeff Graham, Bill Bolton and Jeff Udell.

Up and coming tests for these Tribesmen are at George Washington Thursday, at the Naval Academy Saturday, home to Washington-Lee the following Monday afternoon and to Virginia Military next Tuesday.

Early signs, at that somewhat surprising, are for an improvement over W&M's 5-5 dual match record of 1959.

Varsity Tennis

After a disappointing season in 1959, the William and Mary tennis team started off its '60 campaigning by dropping its first two encounters, both at home, to Colgate last Wednesday and to George Washington University on Friday.

Coach Bob Gill's predominantly sophomore varsity seeks to improve on its 0-2 status at Fort Eustis today and in another pair of home encounters this coming week, against Pennsylvania this Thursday and University of Richmond next Monday afternoon on the Phi Beta courts.

...Sole W&M victor against Colgate last week was soph Art Vandroff, who won out 4-6, 6-4 and 6-4 in the third singles competition. The Colgate netmen took the other eight matches to triumph 8-1.

In their first Southern Conference outing, the Tribesmen took a 7-1 whipping at the hands of GW.

Helms Selects Cohen

Jeff Cohen, William and Mary 6-7 pillar of basketball authority was elevated to second team Helms All-American standing recently.

It was the highest honor yet accorded the bulky junior, who now operates out of Los Angeles, headquarters of the 55-year-old Helms Foundation which selects the squad.

Only sophomore Tom Fridinger's 6-1, 2-6 and 6-1 victory in the fifth singles match shone for the Indians. Fridinger and soph Jim Caserta were tied with their Colonial doubles foes in the last match 11-11 before dusk intervened to halt the affair.

"We should improve in the next few weeks," remarked Gill. "This is a young group, and we started two seniors and four sophomores last week."

Colgate and GW, the latter being defending titlist in the Southern Conference, were strong opening foes and both caught the Indians right after a lull in practice due to spring vacation.

Sigma Nu Cops All-Campus Cage Crown Moves Nearer PiKA in Fraternity Ranks

Men's intramural basketball play closed out with a flourish just before vacation recess with the selection of all-star teams and the annual battle between units representing fraternity and independent leagues, along with the all-campus championship.

Frat titlist Sigma Nu placed Dick Hover on the fraternity honor squad first team, and he was joined by PiKA's Bruce Hobbs, Pi Lamb's Jerry King, SAE's Gene Murray and Theta Delt's Howie Aulick.

Doug Fischer of Pi Lamb and Bill Darrow of Kappa Sig were the closest vote-getters on the second unit, while single votes went to Kappa Alpha's Tom Hamilton, Calvin Cox and Cal Wheaton; Lambda Chi's Dave Ladd; Sig Ep's Dennis Murphy and Mickey Baughman; Sigma Nu's Ben Johnson and Ernie Phillips; PiKA's Tony Spollone and Bill Burnside; and Theta Delt's Tom Secules.

Opposing Unit

Twins Arnold and Ronald Jones and teammates John Findlay and Doug Etka from the independent champion Pacers won first team berths in that circuit, with the fifth place going to Rich Lewis.

Bill Thomas, Armen Bahadurian, Dave Brownell, Bob Soltau, Adams and Bowen also gained mention on the independent honor roster.

In the all-star game between these two outfits, fraternity strength began to show when the first quarter ended in their favor 17-8. Later spurts by the independent stars couldn't undo the damage in a 67-44 fraternity victory.

Darrow's 24-point scoring spree paced the fraternity men, with Murray's 12, Fischer's nine and King's seven providing the major support. Thomas led his mates with nine while Ron Jones and Bowen each added eight.

Two Unbeatens

The all-campus championship tilt between two undefeated powers, Sigma Nu (10-0) and the Pacers (12-0), produced one of the season's top thrillers, with the Sigma Numen prevailing 57-56 on a game-ending basket from the floor.

Heavy Docket Confronts Baseballers Following Double Header Yesterday

On the crest of an early two-game winning streak, the William and Mary baseball squad was abruptly jolted by the Citadel last Saturday as the Bulldogs swept both ends of a twin bill, 5-0 and 3-1. Previously, the Tribe slugged out victories over Colgate 5-4 and Washington-Lee 7-6 to open successfully their 1960 campaign.

Including yesterday's away double header with Davidson, Joe Agee's crew is in the midst of a grueling 10-day period in which nine tilts are scheduled, three more this week.

The Tribe hosts Virginia Tech on Friday, plays at Randolph Macon Saturday and takes on defending Southern Conference champion West Virginia in a twin bill here Monday.

Sophomore Phil Morris emerged as a firstline hurler last week to lessen somewhat Agee's pitching problems. In the opener against Colgate, Morris held the Red Raiders scoreless for three frames as the Indians came from behind to win. Morris throttled The Citadel on two hits in his first starting assignment but lost 3-1.

Ron Masci, Tom Martin and Paul Berghaus collected two hits apiece to pace the Indians against Colgate. A walk, sacrifice and Berghaus' double tied the score in the ninth before the W&M fly-chaser sprinted home with the winning run on a wild throw.

The Tribe converted another mistake into the winning marker against W-L, with Martin scoring the tie-breaking run on a wild pitch.

In pulling out another contest in the final inning, the Indians lined out 12 hits and handed the hapless Generals their eighth straight loss. Veteran Bruce Hobbs spun a six-hitter in the route-going mound performance, but two unearned runs kept the visitors close throughout.

Berghaus again contributed a clutch blow in the winning rally as his single sent Martin to third in the ninth. Martin, Masci and Dick Coyle garnered two safeties each to share hitting honors.

During the club's first venture against SC opposition, the reason for Agee's fears of a weak-hitting, strong-pitching outfit became apparent for the first time. Dave Fiscella allowed only seven singles in a creditable stint but Tribe hitters managed only two base hits, by Masci and Berghaus, to support the effort. Morris was the victim of a similar fate in the second tilt when the Indians were whitewashed on three hits against The Citadel.

Frosh Sports Capsule

On the freshman sports scene, this week's encounters include Harry Groves' frosh trackmen against Virginia's Cavayearlings in Charlottesville today, Bob Gill's netmen against Suffolk High tomorrow afternoon here and Jack Prater's beginning golfers at Woodrow Wilson High of Portsmouth today.

The frosh thinclads already have a 76½ to 49½ victory over Richmond's Baby Spiders to their credit, while the net aggregation fell to potent Maury High of Norfolk 7-2 in a pre-vacation match. Today's match in Portsmouth is the opener for Prater's linksmen.

Sideline Musings

by BILL BRYANT

Probably wearing a topcoat for protection against autumnal gusts, John Todd, captain of the William and Mary football team, stood on the platform down at the train depot. Coach J. W. Tasker was there, too, and together they extended warm handshakes to a mutual friend. Todd then presented a leather folio on behalf of his appreciative teammates to the man who had lent his assistance. Knute Rockne, even in 1924 becoming a living legend and acknowledged dean of the collegiate coaching school, expressed his sincere feeling of friendship for Williamsburg and said he thought William and Mary would enjoy its best season ever. The trio then went separate ways, Todd and Tasker back to pre-season drills and Rockne back to South Bend.

This scene might never have been described were it not for the discovery a fortnight ago of two ancient scrapbooks from those years when William and Mary was forging a distinguished reputation on the gridiron. Frank Simmons, sports publicist for the Indians, uncovered the old volumes by chance while browsing through the Blow Gym attic, and among the vast number of articles and personal notations entered in the ledgers are several dealing with Rockne's long-forgotten visit to this area.

That 1924 vintage tourist had come a long way since the fall of 1909 when he arrived at South Bend, Indiana, as a poor student whose knowledge of football was non-existent. On the academic side, he proved his intelligence by a proficiency in chemistry which earned him an assistant professorship during his senior year. On the gridiron, he was drilled diligently by Jesse Harper and elected captain of the Irish three years later for a team then hailed as one of the greatest exponents of the forward pass yet developed. Indeed, it was Rockne on the receiving end of Gus Dorias' passes which vaulted Notre Dame over the Army 35-13 in the inaugural of that great series between the two juggernauts. Finally, his alma mater rewarded him with a $100,000 pact as head coach for ten years. But Rockne would never collect the full amount, for death came in a plane crash in 1931.

During the football season prior to that scene at the train depot, Rockne's Irish had achieved their finest hour, and were acclaimed as national champions. But their coach wouldn't go quite that far in his respects. "Picking or claiming championship teams," he said at a banquet just before coming to Williamsburg, "is no part of a coach's or player's duty. Let the critics do that. Our job is to play football, and when the schedule is completed, our work is done." But he did qualify his remarks by adding, "I do not mean that they were the most brilliant team of individuals, but I never had a team in which the spirit of cooperation and team play were so fully developed. They all played together and that made them the great team they turned out to be."

After leaving the banquet circuit, Rockne proceeded to William and Mary, which, along with his own Notre Dame, he thought worthy as sites for coaching clinics. Over 100 mentors from all corners of the Eastern Seaboard were in attendance. When the Tribe's personnel arrived for fall practice, they were put to work under one of the game's greatest taskmasters. Coaches and players put in eight hours a day, including three hours a morning for scholarly lectures.

The Associated Press said he was no white collar football instructor. "He dons the garb of the gridiron and puts himself in the thick of the scrimmage when illustrating his classroom lectures." And the AP added, "The young coaches (attending the clinic) commented that for each assertion he makes he always has a valid and accepted proof."

Rockne was celebrated for his psychology and he never failed to stress the importance of mental attitude in his lectures. He could offer numerous "valid and accepted proofs" in that field. Like the time he left his team in frustration and viewed the game from the stands. Or the time he let his boys sit in silence at halftime, expecting a good chewing out for poor first half play which left them several touchdowns in the hole. But he didn't chew them out, rather commenting caustically as the second half kickoff time came, "C'mon, girls." In both instances, the Irish responded favorably to his subtle hints at his disapproval.

So he left Williamsburg behind that day, to return only once again for another clinic. His prophecy held true. William and Mary did indeed enjoy its greatest season up to that time, going 6-2-1, holding Navy to a stirring 14-7 win and surprising everybody with a strong 24-7 losing effort to Syracuse, "the cream of the nation." Rockne returned to a tougher road, the ranks of his great 1923 team utterly decimated by graduation. But in 1925, after visiting Williamsburg again, his rebuilding efforts would pay dividends and the mighty Four Horsemen would ride into history via the writings of Grantland Rice.

Thus, through the diligence of the chronicler of those once-lost volumes, the name of Knute Rockne has been linked anew to William and Mary and a great era in the school's gridiron annals has been re-visited. Shall we experience a renaissance of that spirit of success?

Softball Action Gets Underway; Final Bouts in Handball Draw Near

With softball and badminton action just getting underway, men's intramural tournaments in three other categories are drawing to a close.

Kappa Sig's Tom Farrington captured championship honors in ping-pong play, turning back sophomore Tom Fridinger in the finals match.

In handball singles pairings, Tom Dellaero downed Coach Milt Drewer in a semi-finals match for the right to meet the winner of a bout between Mark Groothuis and Dick Hover.

It was Groothuis over Coach Bill Chambers, Hover over Steve Metzgar, Drewer over Dennis Murphy and Dellaero over Coach

Bob Gill in quarter-finals action. Handball doubles play had the following matches lined up as the week began:

Winner of the Gill and Deringe versus Metzgar and Groothuis match taking on the team of Paul Dinsmore and Ben Johnson; winner of the Fran Rechutti and Joe Blinick versus Tom Martin and Bob Nicholson match playing Howard Smith and Coach Dud Jensen.

Also, Hover and Wayne Cheek take on George Timmis and Dellaero, while Mike McCall and Charles Hasset play Chambers and Drewer.

Softball play on the CCC Field's four diamonds got underway yesterday afternoon with four games slated. Due to the crowded conditions on the field, which will have some 100 men engaged in play at one time, Dudley Jensen, director of intramurals, stated Sunday:

"If we are able to complete the schedule before final exam period, we must have the cooperation of everyone involved."

These are the first week's game pairings:

Indians Lose Two

Iron man Dee Green handled 14 innings of mound duty for Davidson yesterday as the Wildcats turned back visiting William and Mary, 7-3 and 7-6, in a twin bill. The pair of seven-inning tilts saw Green yield three hits in the first and five in the second.

Davidson was don 6-4 going into the bottom of the seventh in the nightcap but splurged for three runs against soph Phil Morris, who relieved Dave Fiscella. The latter relieved Bruce Hobbs in the first game.

Ping-Pong Title Match Due Thursday In Women's Tourney; Archery Today

With the final match slated for Thursday evening at 5 o'clock, preliminary round play in the women's intramural ping-pong tournament enters quarter-final action this evening at 6.

Last night, Miss Beth Berg took on Miss Dorothy Baetcke in Jefferson for the right to meet either Miss Melinda Green or Mis Liz Jirgens tonight.

Miss Meci Carlson was to meet the winner of the Marge Briscoe-Mary Beaty match in another prelim, while Miss Joyce Murphy is already installed in a quarter-final slot.

Action in the Landrum recreational room had the Misses Annette Mendel and Judy Murdock meeting for a berth against either Miss Carolyn Williams or Miss Kay Devenport this evening.

Misses Mary George and Janet Caldwell also met yesterday, heading for a match at 6:45 tonight against the survivor of two matches, Joy Ammon-Judy Beers and Jeannie Wilkinson-Reya Rhine.

Sherwood Foresters
 The women's intramural archery meet will be held this afternoon and tomorrow on the Women's Athletic Field, with each day's action beginning at 4 p.m.

This afternoon will see Gamma Phi, Jefferson, Barrett and Landrum dorms taking aim. Chandler Pi Phi, Theta, Kappa Delta and Brown hold their competition tomorrow afternoon.

Open Schedule
 On the women's varsity front, tennis action opens Thursday when the local coeds take on the Suffolk Recreation Association in an away match. Westhampton College will be met on the home courts this coming Saturday.

Chandler and Ludwell are currently battling it out for top honors in the women's all-point standings for this 1959-60 school year, with the girls of Gamma Phi Beta holding down third.

The current standings:
 Chandler 220
 Ludwell 210
 Gamma Phi Beta 180

Recent Resignations From Chandler, Gill Produce Vacancies

Two vacancies will have to be filled for next year on the William and Mary coaching staff after the recent announcement of the resignations of E. T. "Buddy" Chandler and Bob Gill.

Chandler, who tendered his resignation just prior to the spring vacation, has not made definite plans for next year. "I have enjoyed working here with a fine bunch of boys," commented Chandler, who came to the Reservation last fall from Oscar Smith High of South Norfolk.

He served as freshman football coach this year and also instructed in the physical education department.

Gill, who did his undergraduate work at W&M and received his Master's degree here in 1952, has accepted the position of Director of Health, Physical Education and Athletics at Yorktown High School, which opens next fall in Arlington.

His resignation, announced early last month, will conclude four years as head trainer and tennis coach of the Indians, along with duties as instructor in physical education.

"I have had a pleasant stay here," said Gill, "and I hate to leave. I will miss being here. But this offer at Yorktown High is a good opportunity and I couldn't afford to pass it up."

Gill served at Blackstone and Maury High Schools before coming to W&M.

W&M Hosts British-Irish Women's Lacrosse Team

A touring team of women lacrosse players from the British Isles left this Colonial capital Friday morning after a four-day visit which included a 12-0 exhibition victory over coeds from William and Mary and Westhampton Colleges.

The 15-player detachment plus manager-coach Miss Georgie Coombes is currently at Goucher College Baltimore, on the third leg of a tour which will culminate in the U. S. national championships in late May.

The touring club arrived in Williamsburg late Tuesday evening from Pittsburgh, where they defeated the 1957 American touring team 12-3 on April 2.

A guided trip through the Restoration Wednesday morning, an afternoon practice and evening attendance at the Orchesis presentation occupied the group's first full day here. Thursday's itinerary included a luncheon at the Williamsburg Lodge, the actual lacrosse match and a reception afterwards.

On Guest List

Among those dignitaries present at both luncheon and reception was Alvin Duke Chandler, president of the College of William and Mary.

Three 20-minute periods of play were staged Thursday afternoon before several hundred sun-basked spectators, many of whom were viewing their first lacrosse match.

The first period of action on the field astride Phi Beta Kappa

Memorial Hall produced the visitors' 12-0 decision in an emphatic display of the class and polish which goes before the the public in Philadelphia, Boston and New York City after departure from Goucher College.

The other two periods saw the two teams exchange attack and defense units intact, then mix their players liberally.

After the match, Miss Coombes remarked, "The American girls learned their fundamentals quickly and gave us a good match."

Mrs. Grace Dohmeier, coach of the hometown coed group, added, "It was a marvelous experience for our girls, who learned a lot from them."

William and Mary coeds who participated in the match were the Misses Barbara Gorjup, Margaret Clement, Cynthia Moore, Dot Young, Nancy Boggs, Kitty Lutzelman, Janet Caldwell, Marge Briscoe, Jan Diamond, Amy Rodabaugh and Reya Rhine.

Representing Richmond's Westhampton College were the Misses Harriett Whiteside, Augusta Chapman, Nancy Wheeler and Ethel Burton.

Growing Sport

One of the prime purposes of the tour is to put the game of lacrosse on display in hopes of fostering interest in the sport in this country.

Miss Coombes, who last visited the United States six years ago, noted that since that time the game has expanded among American colleges.

The group arrived on these shores March 28 and will conclude their stay June 1 after the national championships.

Although distinctly varied in background, members of the women's lacrosse team from Great Britain and Ireland which visited here last week were quite united in their expression of surprise over some of the things Americans take for granted — ranging from ice cream to turnpikes.

"Everyone has been tremendously friendly," stated Miss Georgie Coombes, manager of the touring group. "The American people have greeted us with open arms and we leave friends behind wherever we visit. You might say we've been somewhat pampered."

Miss Coombes is one of nine English women on the squad, with four coming from Scotland and two each from Wales and Ireland. Their occupations range from physical education instructor to undergraduate student to a doctor of medicine. And only three, including Miss Coombes, have been to the States prior to the current tour.

Cuisine Different

Tossed salads and the great variety of ice cream flavors available have proved the major attractions on American menus, but the "bigness" of everything, including cars and turnpikes, seems to have left the major impression.

"This is such a big country," remarked Miss Elisabeth Carling, "and the generosity of everyone is comparable. There is also a great feeling of freedom everywhere we go, something like we experience in lacrosse."

Commenting on this Colonial setting, Miss Elizabeth Constantine, captain of the club, said, "We were quite interested during our sight-seeing, perhaps more so than most people because we could better understand the connections between the Williamsburg of that era and our own country. You have so many white houses and fences, and the lawns are so green, too."

Miss Caro Macintosh, from Edinburgh, Scotland, was surprised at the language distinctions encountered during the tour so far. "We're picking up vocabulary words every day, even though we are both English-speaking peoples. Drawing pins are now thumb tacks and handbags are now purses."

"Delightful and exciting" are the key descriptions used by all the team members for their visit here. Miss Coombes considered the trip to this city a "must" after her own previous tour six years ago.

Virginian-Pilot Relays

The Virginian-Pilot Relays, top track carnival of the Old Dominion, may be directed toward the high school athletes but this year's fete promises big time attractions.

On Saturday, April 23, the meet will feature at least three world record-holders in javelin man Al Cantello of Quantico, pole vaulter Don Bragg and wing-footed Dave Sime of Duke, the latter a repeat guest.

Cantello has thrown the javelin 282 feet 3 1/2 inches while Bragg is the only man to clear 15-9 3/4 in the vault. Sime ran 9.5 in Norfolk last spring and holds several world marks.

British player whips stick around for shot at goal during last Thursday afternoon's exhibition match between the women's lacrosse touring team of the British Isles and a group of coeds from William and Mary and Westhampton College. Visitors won handily 12-0 before several hundred sun-basked spectators.

Girls Have Many Reasons for Becoming Twirlers; Majorette Tryouts to Begin

by Connie Catterton

Kay Barchey, new head majorette of the William and Mary squad, remembers how she first decided that she wanted to learn to be a majorette.

When she was eight years old she saw the head majorette of a neighboring high school strutting and twirling her baton. Fascinated by the older girl, she immediately decided that she wanted to take lessons in baton twirling.

Other members of the squad say that they have also imitated older majorettes who they admired. They say that they enjoy twirling and marching in parades, and that strutting is good exercise.

Mary Stekette, a sophomore majorette with a cast on her leg, tells of this incident in learning the skills of a majorette; "My mother had visions of my being burned to ashes when she saw me learning to twirl with fire. I did get two big black spots on my legs, but I finally learned."

W&M majorettes brighten the scene at pep rallies, football games here and away, and at Homecoming activities.

All girls interested in trying out for one of the five majorette positions open for next year should meet in Jefferson Gymnasium tomorrow, Thursday and Friday at 4 p.m.

Barchey This year's squad includes Kay Barchey a junior from Somerset, Pennsylvania, Delta Delta Delta; Nancy Read, a senior from Trenton, N. J. and this year's head majorette, Delta Delta Delta; Sally Hathorne a junior from Catharpin and next year's assistant head majorette, Gamma Phi Beta and Fay Young.

"NO PARKING"

As everyone knows, the most serious problem facing American colleges today is the shortage of parking space for students' cars.

Many remedies have been offered to solve this vexing dilemma. For instance, it has been suggested that all students be required to drive small foreign sports cars which can be carried in the purse or pocket. This would, of course, solve the parking problem but it would make double dating impossible—unless, that is, the boys make the girls run along behind the car. But that is no solution either because by the time they get to the prom the girls will be panting so hard that they will wilt their corsages.

Another suggested cure for our parking woes is that all students smoke Marlboro cigarettes. At first glance this seems an excellent solution because we all know Marlboro is the cigarette which proved that flavor did not go out when filters came in—and when we sit around and smoke good Marlboros we are so possessed by sweet contentment that none of us wishes ever to leave, which means no gadding about which means no driving, which means no parking problem.

But the argument in favor of Marlboros overlooks one important fact: when you run out of Marlboros you must go get some more, which means driving, which means parking, which means you're right back where you started.

Probably the most practical suggestion to alleviate the campus parking situation is to tear down every school of dentistry in the country and turn it into a parking lot. This is not to say that dentistry is unimportant. Gracious, no! Dentistry is important and vital and a shining part of our American heritage. But the fact is there is no real need for separate schools of dentistry. Dentistry could easily be moved to the school of mining engineering. Surely anyone who can drill a thousand feet for oil can fill a simple little cavity.

Take the case of dental student Fred C. Sigafos...

This experiment—combining dentistry with mining engineering—has already been tried at several colleges—and with some very interesting results. Take, for instance, the case of a dental student named Fred C. Sigafos. One day recently Fred was out practicing with his drilling rig in a vacant lot just off campus. He sank a shaft two hundred feet deep and, to his surprise and delight, he struck a detergent mine. For a while Fred thought his fortune was made but he soon learned that he had drilled into the storage tank of the Eagle Laundry. Walter P. Eagle, president of the laundry, was mad as all get-out and things looked mighty black for Fred. But it all ended well. When Mr. Eagle called Fred into his office to chew him out, it so happened that Mr. Eagle's beautiful daughter, Patient Griselda, was present. For years Patient Griselda had been patiently waiting for the right man. "That's him!" she cried upon spying Fred—and today Fred is a full partner in the Eagle Laundry in charge of pleats and ruffles.

College Young Democrats to Attend Stevenson Speech at Charlottesville

Five members of the William and Mary Young Democrats and their advisor, Richard G. Stevens, will attend a speech delivered by Adlai Stevenson Tuesday, April 12, at the University of Virginia in Charlottesville.

The five members, travelling under the auspices of the local Young Democrats, include John Tate, president of the group; Michael A. Glass, vice-president; Bunny King, corresponding secretary and Dona Hofermehl and Richard Covert, members-at-large.

Stevenson is stopping for a short visit at University of Virginia on his way back from an extensive two-month tour of South America. He is also scheduled to visit Jefferson's home at Monticello. A former Democratic presidential candidate, he is eyed by some as a potential darkhorse candidate for the nomination in the coming National Democratic convention, although he has thus far expressed no intention of running.

Many other students are expected to attend the speech.

Officers of Class Select John Tracy New Vice-President

The senior class officers, after consultations with Dean Lambert and many conferences, have selected John Tracy to act as senior class vice-president until the end of the semester.

Tom Foster, senior class president, announced that the decision had been made about two weeks before the beginning of spring vacation. Foster and Tracy both are members of Pi Kappa Alpha social fraternity.

The problem arose when Alice Cooke, original senior class vice-president, left the campus to get married in January. Since the senior class officers are permanent, she will be allowed to retain her title of vice-president of this class, with Tracy acting in her place.

These are the silver wings of a U. S. Air Force Navigator. As a flying officer on the Aerospace team, he has chosen a career of leadership, a career that has meaning, rewards and executive opportunity.

The Aviation Cadet Program is the gateway to this career. To qualify for this rigorous and professional training, a high school diploma is required; however, two or more years of college are highly desirable. Upon completion of the program the Air Force encourages the new officer to earn his degree so he can better handle the responsibilities of his position. This includes full pay and allowances while taking off-duty courses under the Bootstrap education program. The Air Force will pay a substantial part of all tuition costs. After having attained enough credits so that he can complete course work and residence requirements for a college degree in 6 months or less, he is eligible to apply for temporary duty at the school of his choice.

If you think you have what it takes to earn the silver wings of an Air Force Navigator, see your local Air Force Recruiter. Ask him about Aviation Cadet Navigator training and the benefits which are available to a flying officer in the Air Force. Or fill in and mail this coupon.

There's a place for tomorrow's leaders on the Aerospace Team.

Lacrosse Team Visits W&M

by Gina Hardison

The British are more sports-conscious than are Americans, concluded four members of the Women's Lacrosse Touring Team from Great Britain and Ireland on their visit to the College last week.

Discussing sports in Britain were Miss Lorna Rankin of Dublin, Ireland; Miss Judy Sanderson of Yorkshire, England; Miss Barbara Lewis of Wales; and Miss Anita Clapperton of Edinburgh, Scotland. The four are players on the 15-member team which spent three days in Williamsburg.

Pictured are two members of the touring British women's hockey team which spent three days touring the campus and Colonial Williamsburg last week. The visitors drew many comparisons between sports here and in England.

"Sports begin at an early age for British schoolgirls and boys, and interest usually continues through college," explained one team member. In the colleges and universities there is a large emphasis on intercollegiate competition, for the women as well as the men."

"Even after college," another girl added, "many women keep on with tennis or play hockey or lacrosse as members of a community club. The men will play on the local cricket or rugby teams."

"Sports are a social asset," observed one of the British visitors, "for the girls will often join the boys in a game of tennis, badminton, or squash and occasionally there will even be a mixed game of field hockey."

The girls noted that interest

Haley Main Speaker At Soviet Challenge Meeting on April 28

Andrew Haley of the American Rocket Society will speak at the coming meeting of the movement to Meet the Soviet Challenge.

The group will meet Tuesday evening, April 12, at 8:00 in Washington 200. According to Joy Hornung, president of the organization, Mr. Haley will speak on "Space Law."

With the rapid increase of space exploration, the question has arisen on whether any one nation already has or should claim the moon as a possession, or if, perhaps, it should be controlled through the U. N.

Also, there has been some speculation as to the exploration and status of other planets in the solar system. Mr. Haley, a lawyer, will speak on the legal aspects of these problems, especially with regard to the competition between the United States and the Soviet Union in the field of space explorations.

The movement to Meet the Soviet Challenge has divided up into several different committees in order to be better able to study the many and widely-varying aspects of this challenge.

among the spectators, as well as the participants, of sports ran high in the British Isles. They compared the fanatical behavior of followers of cricket, soccer and rugger (the English version of football) with that of American baseball fans.

"The indoor sports," said one visitor, "do not garner the spectator interest that the outdoor ones do, however, because we like to get out-of-doors even in the worst of winter weather."

Photographers

The girls, who snapped photographs and collected charms for their bracelets as they toured Colonial Williamsburg, stated that the restored 18-century capitol reminded them of home because "the buildings are much like some of the old houses scattered throughout the country, and the rooms in the Palace are similar to rooms in many English country homes."

They felt that the historical treatment of the American Revolution in Williamsburg was very fair and impartial. "You Americans seem very fond of history," said one girl, "but you don't seem to hold any grudges!"

American friendliness and hospitality delighted the visitors. They were also impressed by the size of the automobiles and by the "beautiful color schemes" used in buildings in this country.

American slang caused many chuckles among the girls, and bermuda shorts created further amusement — "only little boys wear pants that length at home."

The visitors were amazed to find tennis shoes worn around campus and to class, for the British reserve their "gym shoes" strictly for the playing field.

1960 Military Ball Becomes Success As Shaffer Wins

This year's Reserve Officers' Training Corps Military Ball was the biggest and most successful military ball in the history of the school.

A hula dance by Ellen Johnson, the giving away of a portable television set, and the crowning of the Queen were the main attractions of the ball.

Winners

Laurie Shaffer, a senior, was crowned queen. Pat Gifford, also a senior, held the lucky ticket that won the portable television set.

One incident marred the complete success of the ball, when flower and fruit displays which were borrowed specially for the ball were taken for mementoes by various couples, costing the ROTC Social Activities Association a considerable financial loss.

This year's Spring Tour by the W&M Choir will swing southward through Charlotte and Winston-Salem, N. C., Charleston, S. C. and Atlanta, Ga., from the 20th to the 23rd of this month.

Their program will include Pironi's "Cantate Domino," "Ives' Serenity," Fletcher's "At The Cry of the First Bird," Lockwood's "Hosanna," Vivaldi's "Gloria," and Dello Joio's "To Saint Cecilia."

Other Selections

The Southern mountain song "He's Gone Away," Ravel's "Chanson Epique," and Phillip's "Tell Me Where Fancy Is Bred" will also be featured in addition to George's "Laughing Song," and selections from George Gershwin's Porgy and Bess."

The Choir's director, Dr. Carl A. Fehr, is also planning a trip to Madison College in Harrisonburg on May 4. The 58-voice group undertakes a yearly trip in the spring. Last year they appeared in Philadelphia, New York and Boston.

President Denies Candidacy For Post In Reorganized College Administration

"I am not a candidate for any office," announced William and Mary President Alvin Duke Chandler last Thursday when he was asked at a press conference about the upcoming administrative reorganization of the College and its branches.

According to Chandler, this reorganization, planned since the decision to open new branches at Newport News and Petersburg, is not due for completion until June 30, 1961. It has been proposed that the reorganization should include creation of a new chief administrator of the college here and of all the branches, to be called the chancellor. There has been speculation that Pres. Chandler would be asked to fill this position.

Board Enlarged

Part of the reorganization, the enlargement of the board of visitors from ten to fifteen members, has already been completed. Additional steps may be taken when the board has its first meeting here in late May, Chandler announced.

At this time, Chandler also announced that the sale of two acres of land north of Francis St. to Colonial Williamsburg will be completed by June 30, 1960. The expected price of the land is $116,400.

To Sell To CW

The land is part of a 16 acre tract formerly occupied by Eastern State Hospital and slated for eventual sale to Colonial

Pep Club Meeting

There will be a Pep Club meeting, Wednesday, 7 p.m., Washington 200. Election of new officers will be held.

Williamsburg. The sale of the balance of the land, on the south side of Francis St., must await delivery of the tract to the College by the State Hospital Board, Chandler said.

Negotiations for the 16 acres were initiated by the college last August. The expected price of the 14 acre parcel was not disclosed, but it is expected to net over a half million dollars for William and Mary. The money from the sale may be used to augment a fund slated for use in building a new, three million dollar college library.

Tract To Be Restored

The two acres to be turned over in June contain the former home of the hospital superintendent, the old hospital administration building, and several frame houses formerly occupied by hospital employees. It was the 18th century site of the Travis House, and Colonial Williamsburg intends to relocate the building on its original site. The larger parcel contains the sites of the Martha Custis House and kitchen and the Maison des Foux, the 18th century hospital here.

ODK to Hold Leadership Meeting As First Big Event in New Center

On Thursday, April 28, Omicron Delta Kappa, honorary leadership fraternity, will hold its leadership forum in the new student center.

The forum, which will be the first big event held in the new center, is to be a workshop in leadership for the newly-elected leaders of the William and Mary campus.

The organizations, to be contacted soon, will be asked to turn in the names of their delegates to the forum. The organizations will be asked to reply as soon as possible with a list of their delegates and their $3.00 participation fee.

After the guest speaker's speech, part of the forum will be turned over to individual groups for group discussions. The groups will consist of the presidents, secretaries and the treasurers from each organization. Each organization will have three representatives, a president, a secretary, and a treasurer attend the forum.

The group discussion period will be headed by a faculty or staff member.

Social Notes on Campus

by Erin Horrocks

The "coming-out" season has finally arrived at the College. The lists of the social secretaries were crowded with young, eligible, and "suave-beyond-their-years" bachelors, and fathers breathed a sigh of relief. The sororities were paying for it.

Heading the list of pledge-presentation events is Gamma Phi Beta. Their dinner-dance was held at the Williamsburg Lodge Friday night and, of course, the pledges were beautiful in their long, white formals. The recently elected officers of Gamma Phi are President, Susie Ragland; First Veep, Joan Buhlman; Second Veep, Carolyn Washer; Secretary, Sallye Branham; and Treasurer, Ellen Johnson.

Delta Delta Delta began its "coming-out" evening with a banquet at the Lafayette, and then a ball at the Colony Room. The theme of the decorations was very "Davy Jones-ish" and his Locker has probably never held such a pretty bunch of presentees. There will be a dessert for the Big and Little Sisters at the Tri Delt House on Thursday the 14th.

Twenty-nine pledges were presented at the Chi Omega White Carnation Ball, held at the Holiday Inn on Saturday. The dance was preceded by a banquet during which the outstanding pledge award and scholarship award were given. Several alums were present, including Clairese Harrison, Hloy Patsalides, Lina Linton, and Virginia Coomes.

Sigma Phi Epsilon held its Golden Hearts Ball on Saturday night in the Colony Room. The new sweetheart is Sandy Wright. Music was by the Collegians.

Pi Beta Phi partied Saturday afternoon with Sigma Nu; that night the girls held their annual pledge-presentation dance. The gals are also planning an Easter Party with Sig Ep for underprivileged children.

Pi Lambda Phi pledges have recently elected new officers. They are Steve Segal, president; Mike Diamant, veep; Bernie Woodard, secretary; and Richard Smith, social chairman. Last weekend, the Pi Lambdas held their annual Parent-Alumni Weekend in celebration of the chapter's 30th anniversary. Friday night a reception for all parents and alumni was held at the lodge. Saturday began with a picnic and ended with a formal dinner and dance held at the Williamsburg Lodge. Among the guests were the National Executive Secretary, Jack Bucheit, '52, Todd DuVall '54, Jim Crandall '59, and Steve Strassner '59.

The District Alumnae Chapters of Alpha Chi Omega held their annual luncheon on Saturday the 9th, at the Williamsburg Lodge. The Beta Delta collegiate chapter entertained. In the afternoon a tea was held at the house to show off the new interior decorations.

Lambda Chi Alpha's Spring Formal was held Saturday. Dotty Sapoch, Kappa Kappa Gamma, is the new sweetheart.

The pledges of Kappa Kappa Gamma were presented at a dinner-dance held at the Holiday Inn Friday. The theme was "A Garden of Blue." Monday, Dean Lambert spoke to the sorority as part of the cultural program. The girls were also visited this week by Miss Bee Whittlesey, traveling counselor.

A Sigma Pi Pledge vs. Brothers basketball game was won by the brothers Thursday. (The brothers insisted on keeping score!) Bill Mason '32, a founder of Alpha Eta Chapter, visited the lodge.

Kappa Alpha Theta welcomed two new spring pledges, Susan Griggs and Jane Wright, at a coke party in their honor on Wednesday.

Kappa Delta entertained its Peninsular Alumnae Association at the house Monday the 4th.

New Gamma Phi Beta pledges are Becky Hux and Joyce Murphy.

Miss Liz de Beaugrine, Field Secretary for Phi Mu National, was guest at Chi Omega's Symphony Dinner Tuesday night.

The Phi Mus were given a surprise ice cream party by the Pi Phis after the Monday meeting at the Phi Mu house. Mary Jamieson '59, visited the girls this weekend.

The pledges of Delta Delta Delta partied with Pi Kappa Alpha on Saturday afternoon.

For Eligible Students

Sorority, Fraternity Rush Begins

by Annette Mendel

Open rush for girls has now begun. Interested girls may still register by contacting Maureen Rumazza, Treasurer of Pan-Hellenic Council. Rush fee is two dollars.

Association is completely open. Girls are eligible if their grades were .75 or above for last semester. They cannot have failed any subjects.

Said Pan-Hellenic president Joan Beck, "there is a list of girls who have registered. The sororities are under no obligation to rush any of them. The girls will receive informal invitations for various sorority functions-coke parties, dances, slumber parties. They can be invited to pledge at any time. When rush-ees pledge, their sorority notifies Pan-Hel, which then removes her name from the list."

Joan added that only twenty-three girls had registered for mid-semester rush. Three sororities are not rushing. They are Chi Omega, Delta Delta Delta and Kappa Kappa Gamma. Kappa Alpha Theta, Gamma Phi Beta, Alpha Chi Omega, Kappa Delta, Pi Beta Phi and Phi Mu are rushing.

Informal rush for boys has now begun. The deadline for registering was Friday, April 8, but boys interested in rushing may still do so by paying three dollar rush fee to Art Lloyd. Requirements for boys have not been altered since last semester. A grade average of .5 as of this mid-semester is required, as well as nine hours passed.

Rush This Week

Said Inter-Fraternity Council president Pete Schirmeier, "This week we plan to give out our rush list of the boys who have paid their fee. There will be no formal rush. The boys will be invited down. They can shake anytime after the list comes out. All of the fraternities are rushing."

Paul Verkuil, vice-president of I. F. C. said of the informal system of rushing, "We keep the mid-semester rush very casual. It's less elaborate because there are less boys rushing."

New Pan-Hellenic Officers Installed for Coming Year

New Pan-Hellenic officers were installed March 22. President is Joan Beck, vice-president is Jane Turner, secretary is Rainette Struve, and treasurer is Maureen Rumazza.

Joan Beck, who succeeded Kathy McCurdy as president, is a member of Chi Omega sorority. A Ludwell house president, she was Chi Omega's Junior Representative to Pan-Hell. A voice major from Richmond, Virginia, she belongs to the choir and to Delta Omicron, honorary music fraternity.

Vice-President Jane Turner is a junior from Perrysburg, Ohio. An English major, she is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta social sorority. In Theta she has served as head of the alumnae publication, and as a member of the rush committee.

Secretary

Rainette Struve, a junior from Alexandria, Virginia, as secretary represents Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. A member of the choir she is president of Delta Omicron. She served as Secretary-Treasurer of the junior class, and is presently song chairman of her sorority.

Treasurer Maureen Rumazza is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority. A mathematic major from Providence, Rhode Island, she is Secretary-Treasurer of the Student Body. Past vice-president of the executive council of Women's Student Co-operative Government Association, she is now senior member to the judicial council. Maureen is also a cheerleader, one of the William and Mary "Indians."

Exeter Scholarship

Applications for the Exeter Exchange Scholarship should be in the hands of Dr. William Guy, chairman of the committee, not later than Sunday, April 24.

Neely Congratulates Bottoms

Bottoms Wins Student Assembly Presidency; Few Voters Participate

by Mary Margaret Dameron

Dave Bottoms was elected president of the student body Wednesday, March 23, in an election in which 925 people participated.

Perry Ellis was chosen vice-president of the student body and Maureen Rumazza was elected secretary-treasurer.

The senior class officers for the 1960-61 year are Pete Siegenthaler, president; and Lee Sykes, secretary-treasurer.

John Black, Dorcas Brown and Pat Wade were selected president, vice-president, and secretary-treasurer respectively of the junior class.

The sophomore class elected Rolf Svendsen president, Kent Delano vice-president, and Ann Harvey secretary-treasurer.

Because Article VI, Section 5 of the student government constitution was violated, the election of Pete Schirmeier as vice-president of the senior class was declared invalid and a revote will be held. Schirmeier is president of the Interfraternity Council and cannot hold two major offices. (see story on this page).

Less than half of the student body participated in the election, only 958 students voted for the officers of the student government.

The number of present freshmen who voted for their class officers greatly outnumbered that of the other two classes: 169 juniors, 219 sophomores, and 457 freshmen voted.

Present seniors could not vote for any offices except those of student government officers. However, this did not prevent 133 seniors from taking their turn at the polls.

Senior Class to Hold Re-election For Vice-President on Thursday

A re-election for vice-president of the Senior class will be held on College Corner Thursday, April 14, from 12 noon to 6 p.m.

The election of Pete Schirmeier as vice-president of the senior class March 23, was declared invalid because Article VI, Section 5 of the student government constitution was violated.

Candidates for the office will include the same persons who petitioned for the first election on March 23. These are Dave Heenan, Dan Link, Bill Nicolai, Shore Robertson, Dotty Sapoch, and Marty Zilmer.

Article Violated

The Article states that "No member of the Senate shall be eligible for election to the Assembly for the same term." Schirmeier is president of the Inter-Fraternity Council which automatically makes him a member of the Senate. He is, therefore, ineligible for candidacy for vice-president of the senior class which is an Assembly post.

Other Officers

Other officers of the senior class elected on March 23 are President, Pete Siegenthaler, and Secretary-Treasurer, Lee Sykes.

Expanded Program Plus New Features Highlight Annual Publications Banquet

The annual Pi Delta Epsilon publications committee banquet, to be held this year at Holiday Inn, Thursday, May 5, will be the scene of many important and news-worthy announcements.

The winner of the Miss William and Mary contest will be the first of these important announcements. All six final contestants will be special guests at the banquet.

The Colonial Echo dedicatee will be the second of these important announcements. After Lynne Hagen, editor-in-chief of the Colonial Echo, presents each of the Miss William and Mary contestants with a copy of the yearbook, this dedicatee will give a short speech.

A third important event will be the introduction of the new members of Pi Delta Epsilon, the honorary journalistic society. Their names will already have been announced at the Spring Honors Convention. Initiation of new members will be held in the afternoon before the banquet.

The new editors of the publications will be presented to their staffs and the outstanding members of all three publications will be awarded keys and certificates for their work.

All staff members of The Flat Hat, The Colonial Echo, The Royalist and The Seminar and several special guests are invited. Between 150 and 200 people are expected to attend the banquet.

Dr. Alexander Kallos, professor of German and advisor of the Publications Committee will serve as master of ceremonies at the banquet. Lynne Hagen is in charge of planning the banquet.

Lost and Found

Umbrellas, books, and clothing of all sorts are piling up in the lost and found department in the Registrar's Office. Students are urged to claim the articles as soon as possible. Many things found in the library, the cafeteria and various places all over the campus, have been returned. Clothing, by looking for laundry marks, and several books, have been returned to their owners. If you are missing anything, please check the Lost and Found department as soon as possible.
