Tonight and Tomorrow

W&M Musical Groups To Combine in Concert

The William and Mary Choir, Chorus and Orchestra will combine tonight and tomorrow night to present their annual spring concert in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall at 8 p. m.

The Choir will perform three major works from its spring touring program: Randall Thomson's Ode to the Virginia Voyage, Brahms' Schicksalslied and Ringwald's God's Trombones. With movements of varying tempo and mood, the Orchestra will accompany the Choir in the Ode.

Schicksalslied or "Song of Fate" will be sung in German, with Hollace Casey playing its piano accompaniment.

God's Trombones, a Negro folk sermon, is based upon two poems by James Weldon Johnson. The "sermon" contains narration by a woman prayer leader and the preacher, read by Dorothy Gilbert and William Broak, respectively.

Love Song Medley

The Chorus will sing a medley of ten love songs by Brahms with Dean Kahl and Barbie Nold as accompanists. Both the Choir and the Chorus are under the direction of Dr. Carl A. Fehr.

The Orchestra, under the direction of Dr. Allen C. Stuart, will present selections from Wagner's Adagio For Clarinet and Strings, featuring soloist Helen Rountree, and Flute Concert in D No. 2, K.V. 314 by Mozart, with flute soloist Phillip Shepard.

Staging for the concert is under the direction of John Cole and William Harris. Technical directors are Albert Haak and Kathy Parkinson, Mary Brennan, Dianne Dettmer and Cheryl Johnson are wardrobe advisors.

Touring Choir Trips

The Touring Choir has just returned from the second and longest of its three spring tours. This tour took the Choir through the southwestern areas of Virginia to Radford, Abingdon, Bristol and Halifax.

Music critics, teachers and directors gave standing ovations and plaudits to the Touring Choir.

Proceeds from the Halifax concert, which was sponsored by the Lions Club, went to finance the operations for a blind youngster whose family was unable to afford the expense.

Praises and Honors

The Choir's concerts to Culpeper and Arlington last weekend were attended by approximately 600.

Commenting on the performance, a Culpeper newspaper said, "That William and Mary Choir can't be beat in a hand clapping hoedown."

The different cities honored the Choir with banquets, receptions and gifts.

One of the video tapes by television station WVEC was shown in the Williamsburg area Sunday. The tapes contained a portion of the Choir's spring repertoire. The second tape will be shown later this month.

The Touring Choir, to round out activities, will leave for the New York World's Fair on Wednesday, May 12. The group has been asked to sing for Virginia Day, which is May 13.

After the New York trip, the full Choir will resume rehearsals in preparation for graduation exercises, which brings to a close an eventful twentieth year for the Choir.

'A Song Will Rise' In Concert May 14

BY LEONORA OWRE

"If I had a song, I'd sing it in the mornin', I'd sing it in the evening" — and Peter, Paul and Mary will sing them in the evening from 7-9 p. m. at Cary Field, May 14.

Following the concert, there will be a combo dance in the Campus Center ballroom, 9:30-1 a. m. Admission to the dance will be $.50 per couple.

Tickets on Sale

Tickets for the concert may be purchased from SA representatives in the men's and women's dormitories and at the Campus Center desk. They are also being sold at Schmidt's Music and Florist Shop and at the Williamsburg Shopping Center.

The $3 tickets will entitle the holder to the best seats at Cary Field and will guarantee admission to Blow Gymnasium in case of rain. Holders of $2 tickets will have their money refunded in the event of rain.

Spring Finals Weekend is sponsored annually by the SA. This year the concert and combo dance will take the place of the formal dance which has been held in the Sunken Garden in past years.

Records and Albums

Peter, Paul and Mary will perform selections from their new album, "A Song Will Rise," as well as old favorites.

The trio has sung such hits as "For Lovin' Me," "Blowin' in the Wind," "Puff," "If I Had a Hammer" and "500 Miles." They have recorded five albums.

When the group first joined forces in 1961, Peter was singing in various clubs across the country, Paul was a comedian in Greenwich Village clubs and Mary had been working in literary and advertising agencies.

Peter Yarrow, a native New Yorker, showed early talent as a painter. He received a degree in psychology from Cornell, where he also gave a course in folk ballads.

Paul Stookey, born in Birmingham, Mich., played the electric guitar in a high school combo. He worked in a photographic shop in Pennsylvania after leaving college and before going to New York.

Mary Allin Travers, of Louisville, Ky., went to New York and began singing folk songs in kindergarten. She later sang with teenage folk groups.

Admirable Effort

The Peter, Paul and Mary concert is being sponsored by the SA in an effort to attract well known entertainer to the College. The group is the most expensive ever signed by the College as well as the first which demands a minimum guarantee or a percentage of the gross, whichever is higher.

It is hoped that this performance will set a precedent for the coming years and that the student body will help make the Spring Finals Weekend a success.

Students are needed to assist with the arrangements for the concert. Anyone interested in working with tickets, publicity, lighting, sound, seating or staging should contact Jim Armentrout in the SA office.

Honor Council Election

Rising junior women will petition for a vacancy on the Women's Honor Council next week.

Petitioning will be Monday-Wednesday, May 10-12, 8:30 a. m. - 5 p. m. in the office of the dean of women.

Elections will be Thursday, May 13, 7-11 p. m. in all the women's dormitories.

The vacancy was created when Lynn Skerrett, council member, accepted the Exeter Scholarship for study in England next year.

Jay Louise Weldon

Personality in Profile

Campus Participation Key to College Success

BY FRANCES ZWENIG

"College is what you make of it," observes Jay Louise Weldon, looking back on her four years at William and Mary.

Jay Louise, outgoing president of Mortar Board, views her associations with people as the real meaning of college. Getting to know people, discussing personal ideas and problems or just talking with friends — each is vital to Jay Louise.

Interest in others has led this outstanding senior in many areas of college life. Her various activities including Choir, intramurals, Student Association representative, Honor Council and President's Aide, can be characterized by one word: service.

Notes General Apathy

Serving her fellow students, Jay Louise has at times felt as if she were "batting her head against a wall." Yet she adds, "You gain something — call it maturity — by just trying!" The apathy of students at William and Mary toward SA reforms and the Honor Code Jay Louise terms "disappointing, but perhaps just a spark of interest will transform the apathetic follower into an effective leader."

"However," she continues, "the question is not 'just what's wrong with William and Mary students?' It's really a general condition. The 'I don't care' attitude and the 'I'm not my brother's keeper' toleration carried too far are the threats to a concerned student body."

"William and Mary's best selling point is her size, although it may not stay the same. Here one can really get to know people." Yet Jay Louise, a native of Collingswood, N. J., would prefer a different location for the College, with more of a cosmopolitan atmosphere and more cultural activities, things which she feels are special needs for "juniors and seniors who don't need to be so school-oriented."

Many Worlds of College

"College can open up many worlds to its participants." In the world of the scholar, Jay Louise is herself a leader. Majoring in math, she is a member of the Abelian Society. As a freshman she served as president of Alpha Lambda Delta. Now she is a Merit Scholar and a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

Another world she is involved in is that of sorority life. As a member of Gamma Phi Beta, she has served as scholarship chairman and now is president. Jay Louise feels that sorority life is beneficial for it "draws girls out." "Unfortunately," she adds, "this attribute can get lost in the often over-emphasized social activities."

With so many interests Jay Louise has little time just for herself. When time does permit, she enjoys "plodding about" through the restoration area of Williamsburg, getting the feeling of life in the 18th century.

"College is a period of maturation," Jay Louise concludes. "And the truly educated person is one who seeks to cultivate both tolerance and self-confidence and the happy combination of both."

Cantrell to Give Talk Concerning Job Corps

Robert Cantrell, public affairs officer for the Office of Economic Opportunity, Washington, D. C., will speak Monday at 8 p. m. in the hostess training room of the Information Center.

The topic of Cantrell's speech will concern the Job Corps aspect of the President's war against poverty.

The presentation is under the sponsorship of the Committee on Human Resources of the Williamsburg-James City County League of Women Voters.

A native Virginian, Cantrell graduated from Virginia Polytechnic Institute and the University of Virginia graduate school of education. He has also done doctoral work in education administration at Columbia University.

Cantrell has been assistant to Representative W. Pat Jennings, ninth district of Virginia, and has taught in New York and Kentucky public schools.

During the development of programs, he served on a test materials project for Wise and Letcher counties.

Following his speech, Cantrell will answer any questions the audience may have pertaining to the program phases of the war on poverty.

Kappa Delta Pi Initiates 20, Elects New Slate of Officers

Kappa Delta Pi, honorary education fraternity, initiated 20 new members last Wednesday in the Wren Great Hall. The new members of Kappa Delta Pi are Mary Baker, Florence Bishop, Frank Borleski, Margaret Campbell, Nancy Coppari, Donna Day, Nancy Diehl, Isabelle Dixon, Suzanne Forstbauer, William Heins.

Also Barbara McDermott, Nancy Mitkiewicz, Ridgeley Montross, John Moriarty, Pat L. Patterson, Penelope Sanford, Suzanne Stainback, Betty Staton, Carolyn Stoneman and Martha Wessells.

Mary is a biology major from Arlington and a member of Pi Beta Phi social sorority. Florence, a Kappa Delta from Portsmouth, is an elementary education major. Borleski is from West Friendship, Md.

An Alpha Chi Omega from Newport News, Nancy Coppari is an English major. Donna, a Kappa Kappa Gamma from St. Petersburg, Fla., is a biology major. Nancy Diehl, from Tabb, is majoring in mathematics. An education major, Isabelle resides in Williamsburg.

A Spanish major from Palmyra, Suzanne belongs to the Spanish club. Heins is a music education major from Miami, Fla. Barbara, an Alpha Chi Omega from Norfolk, is majoring in topical science.

Other Initiates

Also an Alpha Chi Omega, Nancy Mitkiewicz is a mathematics major from Williamsburg. Ridgeley is a government major from Falls Church.

Majoring in English, Moriarty is from Muscota, Ill.

Pat, a Pi Beta Phi from Lynchburg, is an elementary education major, as is Penny, a Kappa Alpha Theta from Richmond. A secondary education major, Carolyn is a Kappa Delta from Hillsville. Martha, from Parksley, is majoring in English.

Special Banquet

After the Kappa Delta Pi initiation, a banquet was held for the new inductees in the Campus Center, Room C. Dr. Joseph T. Zung, assistant professor of chemistry, addressed the group on "The Education of the Personality."

Next year's Kappa Delta Pi officers were also elected at the banquet. New officers are Suzanne Stainback, president; Betty Ann Staton, vice president; Florence Bishop, secretary; William Heins, treasurer; and Paula Lippard, ritual chairman.

Roherty Ends Poli Sci Series On Liberalism - Conservatism

BY RICH HOLMQUIST

The Political Science Forum of the College of William and Mary met last night to discuss the last in a series of approaches to the general topic "Liberalism vs Conservatism."

Dr. James M. Roherty of the government department presided over the meeting. Dr. Roherty skillfully brought the ideological split between liberals and conservatives in international affairs to the foreground.

In discussing such current crises as exist in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic, he evaluated the trends in United States foreign policy under the Johnson Administration.

Dr. Roherty dealt with the problem of the uses of power by the state, and led a discussion on how power is currently being allocated by our government. He viewed the liberal approach to power allocation as being centered around a humanitarian philosophy.

Roherty found the conservative outlook to revolve around a more practical philosophy with regard to world crises.

The Political Science Forum this year tried to break down the major topic "Liberalism vs Conservatism" and bring it into the realm of particular issues.

President-elect Richard Holmquist has stated that he wishes the valuable informal group atmosphere in the forum to continue. Holmquist hopes also to have an outside speaker for the coming year, but adds that the Forum will remain basically an inter-college function. Also proposed is a joint discussion between two opposing faculty members.

The Political Science Forum provides an opportunity for students to discuss topics of interest outside of the classroom in a more informal atmosphere.

Next year instead of one set topic, several different ones will be discussed at separate meetings. The Forum in this manner can continue to serve as a vital and worthwhile outlet for political discussion between students and faculty members.

Richard Holmquist, president, is also president of the Young Republican Club, a member of the Spanish Club and a member of the William and Mary Theater.

Susan Benbow, treasurer, is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, the William and Mary Theater, and is a sophomore sociology major.

John Kirkpatrick and Joyce Hill rehearse for this season's Backdrop Club production Carnival, along with two supporting puppet players.

Sixteen Campus Beauties Vie For Miss Williamsburg Title

BY BARBARA LANE

The Miss Williamsburg Pageant, sponsored annually by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be May 12 in the Conference Center at the Williamsburg Lodge.

Twenty girls, 16 of them William and Mary students, are among the candidates. Freshman Kay Atkins is a Pi Beta Phi from Staunton. Carol Bagley, also a freshman, is a Kappa Kappa Gamma initiate. Patricia Bailey is a sophomore Delta Delta Delta from Charlottesville. Merrill-Jean Barber is a sophomore Kappa Kappa Gamma from Vero Beach, Fla.

Judith Bodo is a freshman from Hampton and a member of Alpha Chi Omega. Judith

Judith Faust, a freshman, is a Pi Phi from West Point, N. Y. Gonda Heuvel and Sylvia Jackson are both seniors at James Blair High School. Diane Letchworth is a freshman Pi Phi from Hopewell.

Jan Looney, a sophomore from Newport News, is a member of Kappa Alpha

Phi Beta to Echo with Sound Of Backdrop Club's 'Carnival'

BY GAYLE FERREBEE

The auditorium of the Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall will be bursting with all the sounds and excitement of a carnival, May 13-15. Carnival, the 1964-65 production of the Backdrop Club of the College of William and Mary, is a musical comedy, once a Broadway hit.

Curtain time for all performances is 8 p. m. Tickets may be purchased at the box office beginning Monday or by calling ext. 272.

Unusual Romance

Carnival is the story of Lili, a young girl who wanders into a carnival and becomes infatuated with Marko, the suave, egotistical magician.

Her infatuation is soon forgotten when she develops a friendship with Paul the puppeteer, whose career as a dancer was ruined by injuries he received in the war, and who can only express his feelings for Lili through his puppets.

Schlegel, the owner of the carnival, is the colorful character who finally gives Paul and Lili their chance for success.

Varied Characters

A chorus of bearded ladies, a tall man, jugglers and acrobats are assisted by the zany puppets, Carrot-top and Horrible Henry, in making the carnival world a reality.

Of special interest are the Bluebird Girls, lightly feathered creatures who perform several exciting dance numbers.

Main characters in the play are portrayed by John Kirkpatrick as Jacquot, Russell Hastings as Schlegel, Joyce Hill as Lili, Howard Travis as Marko, Bob Andrews as Paul and Pat Hartleben as Rosalie.

Robert Gaines is directing the production and Richard Vos is coordinating musical arrangements.

The Backdrop Club, since its beginning in 1938, has produced numerous comedies of this nature. As in all previous plays, the entire production from construction to music, is done by the students. This year the group has been aided by its faculty adviser Russell Hastings.

Paul Bernstein To Chairman Honor Council

The Men's Honor Council has selected its 1965-66 officers. Paul Bernstein is chairman; Keith Taylor, vice chairman; and Jim Bell, secretary.

A rising senior, Bernstein has been a cross-country and track letterman and is a member of the Colonial Echo editorial board, Omicron Delta Kappa, Pi Delta Epsilon and Pi Lambda Phi fraternity.

Considering his new office, Bernstein said, "In the coming year, the Honor Council will establish many precedents in its responsibilities to the student body and the Honor Code.

"We plan to stress freshman orientation to the Code and each student's obligations as a signee."

The new vice chairman, Taylor, is a rising senior and has been treasurer of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity, played leading roles in two William and Mary Theatre productions and is a baseball pitcher.

Bell, the incoming secretary, is a rising junior. A member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, he is treasurer of the Biology Club and plans a medical career.

Philosophy Club

"The Burning Bush in a Society of Consumers: Notes on the 'Uselessness' of Art" will be the topic of a talk to be given by Dr. Allen Lacy of Madison College. The meeting, sponsored by the Philosophy Club, will be in the Craft Shop of the Campus Center on Friday, May 7, at 8 p. m.

Carlson Completes Term as President

BY KERRY SAWICK

"The only thing I can say is thank you," said Craig Carlson in his closing remarks as president of the Student Association for the 1964-65 session.

Carlson also said, "I am confident that if student government pushes for things... we'll get things done."

In appreciation of Carlson's leadership and determination, the SA presented him with a gavel bearing the following inscription: "To Craig Carlson from 1964-65 SA. What he greatly thought, he nobly dared."

A standing ovation was given to Carlson. Lynn Meushaw was also recognized by the SA for the great amount of work she has done in service for the organization.

Carlson presented the official gavel to Jim Armentrout, the new SA president, who continued the meeting.

Approximately twenty students will represent the College this Saturday at a prayer breakfast at the Golden Triangle Motor Hotel. This breakfast will bring together students from eight Virginia colleges to discuss current problems common to all colleges.

A committee was established to work on the development of booklets on course content. Also considered was the possibility of sending letters to senior men in high school who have received National Merit Scholarship Letters of Commendation.

The SA members passed a resolution calling for a two-day study period for second semester 1965-66. The resolution will be presented to the administration.

Chorus, Band Present Annual Outdoor Concert

The William and Mary Chorus and Band will present their 1965 outdoor concert on the rear porch of the Wren Building, Wednesday, May 12, at 7 p. m.

The program, under the direction of C. R. Varner, will open with the Band's rendition of "A Step Ahead," a march by Harry Alford. The next number will be "The Universal Judgement" by Camille De Nardis.

The Chorus will present a medley of songs from Peter Pan and also a negro spiritual, "Didn't Ma Lawd Deliver Daniel."

James Collins will be the featured baritone soloist in the number entitled "Charms" by Mantia. Final numbers by the Band will include hit selections from Gershwin's Porgy and Bess, and a Salute March by Kenneth Williams to the American School Band Directors Association.

Committee Appoints Jefferson Counselors

New Jefferson dormitory counselors are Lee Brown, Ann Clark, Sue Galvin, Barbara Peck, Roberta Ramsey, Dianne Rawl, Elaine Thornton and Rae Worley.

These girls will assume the duty of counseling the freshmen girls in Jefferson dormitory next year. They were appointed by a committee consisting of the dean of women, the assistant dean of women, the hostess of Jefferson dormitory and Jean Stern, outgoing president of the dorm.

Many Activities

Lee is an economics major from Washington, D. C. An English major, Ann is vice-president of her sorority, Alpha Chi Omega. She is a member of the Flat Hat staff and served as a freshman sponsor this year. Ann is from Portsmouth.

Sue, a French major from Charlottesville, will be treasurer of the French Club next year. She is also a member of the Newman Club

Leadership Positions

An Alpha Lambda Delta, Barbara is scholarship chairman of her sorority, Gamma Phi Beta. She is an intramural representative and has participated in intramurals, the choir and the band. Barbara, who is a French major from Arlington, was a freshman sponsor.

A psychology major from Newport News, Roberta is vice president-elect of the junior class. She will be corresponding secretary of Gamma Phi Beta.

A Means to Communicate

Students, faculty and administrators, by the very nature of their institutional positions, will at times come in conflict with each other regarding their individual goals and objectives. This can be a healthy experience only if there exists a means of communication that leads to mutual understanding among these protagonists.

Too frequently at William and Mary conflicts have been unnecessarily compounded because no such effective means of communication exists. Lasting antagonisms rather than fruitful solutions have too often been the bitter legacy of mutual misunderstanding.

The problem as we see it is a lack of opportunity for free and frank discussion among the students, faculty and administration at William and Mary. The means to the solution of this problem lie close at hand. In 1940 the existence of such a problem was recognized and the General Cooperative Committee was established.

This committee consisted of the president of the College, four administrative officials, four faculty members, the executive secretary of the Society of the Alumni, the Senate of the Student Association and the editor of the Flat Hat.

Under the provisions of Article VII, Section 2 of the Constitution of the student government (valid until 1963), it was to meet once a month during the regular college session. The committee was to provide a forum for the discussion of problems affecting the general welfare of the College.

After due consideration, the committee was authorized to recommend that appropriate action be taken by the administration, the faculty or the Student Assembly. Under the new constitution of the Student Association the representation of the committee was changed. It now consists of the President of the College, Dr. Paschall; four administrative officials: J. W. Lambert, dean of students; Carson Barnes, dean of men; Berdina Donaldson, dean of women; and Sandra Snidow, assistant dean of women; four faculty members: Carl Fehr, Virgil McKenna, Edward H. Rhyne and Howard Smith; Jim S. Kelly, executive secretary of the Society of the Alumni; and ten students: the president, vice president and the secretary of the Student Association, the president of Panhellenic Council, the president of the Interfraternity Council, the presidents of the senior, junior, sophomore and freshman classes and the editor of the Flat Hat.

This committee has met once this year even though its by-laws specifically require that it meet once a month. This record is totally inadequate and represents a flagrant breach of the committee's own by-laws.

At a time when a need for such a committee is particularly crucial, the General Cooperative Committee has failed to maintain even a minimal standard of competent performance. This lamentable record of inaction and apathy must be improved.

We urge the following changes be made in the functions and composition of the General Cooperative Committee:

1. That the Committee abide by its by-laws and meet at least once a month at a specified time and place. This is a minimum requirement for effective operation.

2. That the by-laws be published in the Student Handbook every year in order to increase student awareness of the committee's existence.

3. That the resolutions of the committee be published in the Flat Hat to stimulate student interest in and knowledge of the functions of the committee.

4. That the Executive Secretary of the Society of Alumni be removed in as much as he does not represent a group with an immediate interest in current campus problems. Indeed his presence tends to impair the effectiveness of the committee.

The alumni is a heterogeneous, essentially amorphous group. Under the best of circumstances, the consensus of alumni opinion is difficult to determine. When only issues of current campus interest are discussed, the idea that a single alumni officer resident in Williamsburg can accurately represent alumni opinion is patently absurd.

We are confident that the prompt and effective implementation of our recommendations will enable the General Cooperative Committee to serve the College community as it has failed to serve it in the past. As we earlier observed, conflict leads to progress only through communication.

The simple fact of the matter is that while the College has suffered from no shortage of controversies, we have failed to establish those lines of communication which make conflict creative.

The General Cooperative Committee has both a constitutional and a moral responsibility to serve as a vital communicative link among students, faculty and administration. It is imperative that the committee now begin to meet that responsibility.

'— Look Charlie — It's Spring Again'

SA Resolution

The Student Association questions the reasons and intent behind the removal of the Self-Study Reports from the College library by the Office of the President.

It is not understandable how this report, praised by President Paschall earlier this year in Convocation as a wonderfully detailed and exhaustive study of the College community, can suddenly be withdrawn from student accessibility.

Many hundreds of hours were put forth by some of our finest educators here to develop this constructively critical study of William and Mary, and many dollars were spent to print and edit this report for the benefit of students, faculty and administration.

It is necessary that all interested persons be able to read this Report, to understand the problems facing the College as seen by those directly involved in our education and to more fully understand the complexities and activities of our changing College.

We feel the students deserve an answer to the question: Where are our Self-Study Reports?

Name Withheld

To the Editor:

I would like to know why the name of the person who wrote the article, "A Dean Looks at Fraternities," which appeared in the April 30th issue of the Flat Hat was not published in the paper.

This article was well written and it seems that the Flat Hat should give recognition to their writers. If this is indicative of general Flat Hat policy, it would also appear that the practices regarding by-lines should be reconsidered by the editors of the paper.

Expresses Thanks

To the Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who helped in my campaign and election as secretary of the Student Association. Your encouragement in the primary and final elections was greatly appreciated and I'll do my very best to prove worthy of your support and trust. My opponent conducted a worthy and competitive campaign, spurring me on to do my best as a candidate and as an officer next year. Again, thank you for your help and your votes.

To the Student Body

To the Student Body:

I can now pause and reflect on all of the many activities which have unfolded before me these past several weeks. The primary elections seem far into the past as I search back and recapture all of my actions since then: the many speeches, undertaken with sheer fright and hesitancy, but evolving as a wonderful experience of meeting with people, talking with them, and discussing something of great interest to us all; those dark nights walking around the campus, tacking up signs and posters to greet the class-bound students; the many hours of lying awake, thinking of the past day, and the busy days ahead; the few classes that I attended and then only in body, not mind, and the tests which seemed to fall when time for study was exhausted; but as I sit and reflect, one constantly recurring thought enters into my head. It was a wonderful feeling, a truly marvelous feeling to be greeted, encouraged, helped, and inflated by the many students on campus as I pursued what I thought was my "lonely path." My sincere appreciation goes out to all of you for helping me in this election. Without your help, I could not be writing this letter today.

To those of you who actively supported Bill Lyons, I give thanks, thanks for participating, for acting, for standing up for what you feel and believe in. Elections are a necessary thing, a wholesome thing, for they quickly develop student interest and in turn develop student participation and activity. This is what we need more than anything right now, the entire student body participating, acting, interested, and concerned. Let's not let this interest die down now. Let's keep it going, expand it, and direct it toward gaining those things we all want and need. Without your help and support, the SA can accomplish nothing, for the SA is the Association of Students, ALL the students.

Thank you fellow students. Thank you for everything. Now you and I must get to work. The year ahead holds many problems and activities. Let's get to work on them right away.

The Lemon Tree

- The resolution passed by the Student Association concerning the removal of the Self-Study Reports from the Library is an indication of the interest of the entire student body in having access to the Report. We expect that the replacement of the Reports will be imminent.

- The visits of Vice President Hubert Humphrey and Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman to Jamestown and Williamsburg last Saturday must have been kept a secret. Or perhaps the College just was not interested in trying to attract such prominent speakers to the campus.

- Although surprise tappings by honorary societies provide drama and excitement for all, it hardly seems that the choice of orientation group leaders should fall into the category of an honorary tapping, or that such drama is necessary. The solicitation of applications from interested men would result in the selection of the most interested and dedicated students — as long as the electors are a group of randomly-selected, qualified and objective members of the College Community.

- Part of the essence of the William and Mary experience is attending the band and chorus concerts in the Wren Courtyard on May evenings. We have been deprived of this pleasure so far this year, and are looking forward to being replenished next Wednesday evening.

Speaking at Naturalization Ceremony

VP Highlights Law Day

BY JUDY BETH ENTLER
Flat Hat Associate Editor

Hubert Humphrey

"The success of our legal system has rested upon its ability to draw nourishment from common agreement upon the basic principles the law embraces," said Hubert H. Humphrey, vice president of the United States, who spoke at the naturalization ceremony on Jamestown Island last Saturday.

Highlighting Law Day, which is sponsored annually by the lawyers of America, is the naturalization ceremony. Having petitioned and met the requirements, over 100 people pledged allegiance to and became citizens of the United States during the Jamestown ceremony.

Addressing the people prior to their taking the oath of citizenship, Humphrey used as a basic premise the advice given 350 years ago by the English historian William Camden, "Agree, for the law is costly." Humphrey explained that America's legal system, which Law Day seeks to honor, is founded upon agreement.

Vice President Humphrey dealt with the relationship of society and law, saying, "For law is meaningless if there is no public will to observe it. And this public will, in turn, can exist only when the law is just and deserving of honor."

Expanding the concept of Law Day to international law, Humphrey stressed that success will result in this realm only if matters can be found upon which to agree. "Perhaps most basic, there can come to be a common recognition that nuclear war has no place as an 'instrument of national policy.'"

"Total war as fought in our modern world has become too terrifying and wasteful to permit the recurrence of periodic blood-lettings. Today, few countries deny the need for subjecting national force to rational controls," Humphrey said.

After shaking hands with each of the newly naturalized citizens, Humphrey spoke at a luncheon given by the Virginia State Bar and Virginia State Bar Association at the Williamsburg Lodge. Lieutenant Governor Mills E. Godwin introduced the Vice President.

French Fraternity

Pi Delta Phi Inducts Ten New Members

Pi Delta Phi, national French honorary fraternity, initiated ten new members in ceremonies held Sunday afternoon in the Wren Great Hall.

Membership in the Beta Epsilon chapter of Pi Delta Phi is a recognition of outstanding scholarship both in French and in the initiates' other academic subjects. Qualifications for membership are a 2.0 average in French and an overall 1.8 average.

Spring Initiates

The spring initiates are Lavaille Robinson, who is a history major from Arlington and a member of Delta Delta Delta social sorority; Elizabeth Brady, a French major from Milwaukee, Wis.; Kathleen Carr, a Gamma Phi Beta from Falls Church.

Pat Coss, from Arlington, works on the Flat Hat and plans to major in history. Susan Hackney, a French major, will go to France this summer on the Experiment in International Living. Ralph Hancewicz, a member of the cricket team, is a spring initiate from West Groton, Mass.

Other Inductees

Charles Nichelson is a French major from Norfolk. Blair Riepma from Chevy Chase, Md., will major in English.

Anne Sutherland, a Norfolk resident, and Bonnie Burnett, a Phi Beta Kappa and member of Kappa Alpha Theta, complete the list on new Pi Delta Phi members.

The purpose of Pi Delta Phi is to encourage studies of the French language and French civilization. Helping to carry out these objectives are the fraternity's officers, Elizabeth Gebhart, president; Chuck Lachenmeyer, vice president; Susan Howard, treasurer; and Ursula Riddick, secretary.

Debate Team To End Season With Picnic

Celebrating the end of the debate season, the William and Mary Debate team will hold a picnic at Lake Matoaka, May 16.

Election of next year's officers of the debate team will be held at the picnic. Members are reminded to pay their $1 to Susan Reynolds by May 13.

In the Debate team's last scheduled event of the season, freshmen Skip Rawl and Chuck Hucksaw represented the College in the New York University Forensics Tournament, April 23-24, at Washington Square.

Rawl and Hucksaw debated the national debate topic, "Resolved: That the Federal Government Should Establish a National Program of Public Work for the Unemployed."

With a 2-2 win-loss record, William and Mary had wins over Worcester Polytechnical Institute and Fairleigh-Dickinson.

Besides the debates, Rawl entered an after-dinner speaking contest, while Hucksaw participated in a persuasive speaking contest.

Richmond Today

Varsity, Frosh Sweep; Nine Records Smashed

BY PAT BUTLER

Last Saturday, William and Mary's varsity outdoor track squad copped its fourth straight Virginia intercollegiate track championship.

Joining the varsity in victory, the Papooses won the third state freshman title in state competition.

William and Mary's victory in the varsity events was made sweeter by the fact that the school had no freshman track squad in the 1963-64 campaign.

Coach Harry Groves said of the victory, "We were fortunate. We capitalized on everybody else's mistakes and all of our guys made a tremendous team effort."

VMI Second

Led by a sparkling performance by Jimmy Johnson, who won two victories, and broke records in both of them, the Indians scored 56 points, followed by VMI with 49½, Richmond with 35½, Virginia with 32, Virginia Tech totaled 26 points, Old Dominion, 19; Roanoke 9; Frederick and Washington and Lee, 6; Bridge-water and Randolph-Macon, 5; and RPI and Lynchburg, 3 each.

Although the Spiders turned in three record shattering performances and the Keydets showed their usual depth, the Tribe combined the two qualities to successfully defend the Indian title.

Johnson clipped eight-tenths of a second off of his old mile record of 4:14.7 to win in a time of 4:13.9. He continued his domination of state distance events by knocking 3.4 seconds off his previous time to win the two mile in 9:27.1.

Joining Johnson in the record breaking column were Roger Bates and Gene Griffin. Bates broke the old record of 51'3½" in the shotput with a toss of 51'6¾".

Griffin cleared fourteen feet in the pole vault for the fourth time this year to win the event and top the old record by seven inches.

The Indians latched on to victory in the two mile run, with Johnson taking first, followed by Joe Philpott in third and Steve Jackson in fourth, for a combined total of ten points.

Bill Hurley, a senior in his last State Championship, rounded out the William and Mary victories by taking first in the 440 with a time of 49.8.

Freshmen Win

The Papooses, who have won state titles in both cross country and indoor track, wound up the track season by sweeping the outdoor meet with a score of 76 to Virginia's and VPI's 52.

Led by Fred Anspach and Terry Donnelly, who each won two events and were on two winning relay teams, the Papooses took nine events, breaking five records in the process.

Anspach set two marks, winning the 100 in 9.8 and the 220 in 21.8. His teammate Donnelly set a new record in the 330 with a time of 1:56.8.

The two boys combined with Phil Dillard and Larry Koch to set a new record in the mile relay with a time of 3:22.7.

Anspach, Dillard, Dee Craig, and Koch also broke another record as they won the 440 relay with a time of 42.8.

Donnelly Exce!s

Donnelly also notched a win in the mile, winning with a time of 4:21.7.

Dick Widell continued the Papoose domination of the distance events with a win in the two mile, covering the distance in 9:40.8.

In field events, Marshall Stone cleared 13 feet to win the pole vault, and Ron Pan-neton tossed the discus 133 feet 11 inches to win that event.

Today's track action sees the Tribe in Richmond for the last dual meet of the season for the varsity and the last meet of the Frosh season.

Taylor Calls Diamond Campaign a Success

BY BOB BLAND

"It has been a good year for William and Mary by virtue of the fact Coach Weber has given the team something I haven't seen before — desire to play ball and desire to win. In this way the year has been a success."

This rather consoling statement for William and Mary baseball fans was issued by the baseball team's ace pitcher, Keith Taylor.

Taylor presently holds a 2-4 record for the season. This is outstandingly good, considering the fact the Indians have compiled only three wins this spring. Taylor's victories have come against Davidson, 12-2, and the Citadel 2-0.

Hurling in a total of 45 innings the right-hander has held down the mound more innings than any other pitcher for the Tribe.

McIntyre Praised

Taylor attributes much of his success to pitching coach Sam McIntyre. "I've learned a lot from Sam as far as trying to out-think batters and setting them up for certain pitches," he commented.

Despite the Indians' poor win-loss record, Taylor maintains that the team as a whole is sound.

The losses come as a result of the Tribe's inability to combine good play in all three aspects of the game — pitching, hitting and fielding."

"It's hard to put the three together," says Taylor. He claims the best game was with the Citadel, when William and Mary finally got its hits and runs across, while stymying the Bulldogs from the mound.

Taylor cited the last Tech game as a typical example of one department failing, modestly using himself as the goat.

"In the seventh inning we were leading 4-0; I pitched to six batters who hit me for three home runs and at the end, we were losing 5-4. The hitting and fielding were good in that game, and I messed up," Taylor explained.

Large Schedule

William and Mary has played its largest schedule in several years. When asked if this had hurt the team, Taylor replied, "It's not too many games.

"The only way to build a baseball team is through game experience. It can't be simulated. The only way to get it is to play."

For Taylor this has been a building year at the Reservation. Only one player will not return next season; that is senior Jeff Nickel. All the players will have a year of experience under a great coach—Mo Weber.

In addition to the present mound staff, which is averaging 2.00 in earned runs, there will be three or four freshmen hurlers coming up.

Other members from an unusually strong freshman team will also help next year. According to Taylor, "Next year is the year for baseball."

Six Games Left

Turning back to the present season, six games remain on the schedule, two double headers against West Virginia and George Washington respectively, one game with Navy and another with Richmond.

Taylor hopes William and Mary will finish in a blaze of glory for departing coach Weber.

Stewart Shines as Indian Golfers Lose

Despite a brilliant medalist performance by William and Mary's ace golfer Dave Stewart, the Indian linksmen lost their fourth match of the season to a strong Navy club this past Wednesday.

Stewart's win was the only one of the match for the Tribe as the final score registered 6-1.

William and Mary's next best score was turned in by Lee Dixon who lost his match 76-74, 4-2 to Bill Cobb.

The summary of the remaining meet is: Gene O'Keefe (W&M) 78, Bob Jones (Navy) 74; Bill Mattox (Navy) 78, Cooper Pearce (W&M) 85; Jack Dassing (Navy) 77, Bill Binns (W&M) 82; Tom Berry (Navy) 79, Ron Chambers (W&M) 83.

The Indians were hindered by the loss of their number three man, John Kyle, who had to miss the trip because of illness. However, Kyle will be expected back in action today.

Old Dominion Today

The loss to Navy makes the Indians record up to today

3-4. This afternoon the Tribe will try to even its record for the season with a home match against Old Dominion.

This is only the second home match for the linksmen this year. According to Coach Joe Agee this has definitely been a bad break Agee felt that if there had been more home matches, William and Mary might have lost only one encounter.

Next week the Indians will compete in the Southern Conference meet. Virginia Tech will be the favorite as they have been all year in the Conference.

However, since Tech has dropped out of the Conference, next season's league race could tighten up with William and Mary having a solid crack at the title.

In spite of the fact that the Tribe will lose their star Dave Stewart, they have an experienced group of sophomores and juniors coming up this year. Also, more of their matches will be played at home.

Groves, Track Team, William & Mary Host Visiting Spanish Olympic Coach

The College of William and Mary, in cooperation with the Sports International program, and Track Coach, Harry Groves, are hosting the Assistant Spanish Olympic Coach, Carlos Alvarez del Villar.

The 34 year-old native of Madrid, Spain, has come to the United States to learn and observe; he will stay at William and Mary through June 1 before going on a tour of New England.

The visiting olympic coach will be helping Groves prepare for the final weeks of the campaign. Groves feels that del Villar will contribute as much on his visit here as he will receive from his stay on the Reservation.

Law Degree

Carlos Alvarez del Villar has a law degree and has coached at the SAFA school in Madrid, obtaining the National Junior Championship in 1953.

In 1960 he participated in the first course of the National Training and Coaching School of which he is now an assistant professor. He still serves on the coaching staff of the Blume Residence in Madrid to which he was appointed in 1961.

At the moment he is the athletic coach of the Royal Spanish Athletic Federation. His specialties are the long jump and the triple jump in which he still competes.

The Sports International program, located in Washington, D. C. is headed by David Dichter, who is the executive secretary. On the advisory council are such outstanding track names as Jesse Owens, Harold Connolly, Clair Bee, Bill Easton and Fred Wilt.

Groves Happy

Since Groves was a member of the State Department and AAU group that went to the Near East in 1963, the Tribe mentor is pleased to have the foreign visitor come to the College. Groves said, "We are happy to have Carlos at William and Mary. I hope that he learns much about American track and also the American 'way of life.'"

AN INDIAN LEGEND

Despite the William and Mary's poor record this past season, much credit is due to head coach Mo Weber. (above). Indians fans will never forget the happy-go-lucky mentor who will be leaving the reservation at the end of the year.

Upset-Minded Tribe On Final Road Trip

BY GREG GAEBE

Unearned runs and untimely hitting again tell the story for the William and Mary baseball nine in this past week's action.

The proposed comeback was thwarted in the second game of a double header with the Citadel last Friday, after the Tribe won the opener 2-0. On Monday, the Indians fell victims again to their own mistakes in a 9-8 defeat to Old Dominion.

Against Old Dominion, William and Mary scored 5 runs in the top of the eighth to deadlock the game at 7-7. Randy Glesenkamp and Joe Plumeri accounted for three of the five Indian runs with back-to-back singles. The score remained tied until Rick Newman, the Indian catcher, walked, forcing in a run in the 11th inning.

In the bottom half of the 11th the Monarchs overcame the Indian deficit, as Don Striekland doubled to secure the Dominion victory.

Good Performance

Tom Trautman turned in an excellent performance for the Indians in allowing the Monarchs only three earned runs in 9½ innings play.

Bob Bradenham and Glesenkamp each had three hits for William and Mary.

The double-header against the Citadel was high-lighted by Keith Taylor's brilliant pitching performance. Taylor scattered four Citadel hits and allowed no walks.

George Pearce and Taylor scored the two William and Mary runs on a single by Glesenkamp and a sacrifice fly by Plumeri.

Most Challenging Test

A Saturday double header against league-leading West Virginia at Morgantown commences the most challenging test for the Indians. The Indians will then meet George Washington in a twin bill and will wind up the road trip against Navy on Tuesday.

In regard to these five games within the four-day span, Coach Weber commented, "Needless to say West Virginia is one of the toughest teams in the conference. The team is led by All-American second baseman Bill Marorric, who is having another fine year.

"They had ten seniors returning from a team that over the past two years has compiled an impressive 54-8 record."

George Washington, Monday's opponent, finished fifth in the conference last year and possesses a 7-5 record this year.

They are led by All-Conference center fielder Mike Holloran and third baseman Tim Hill. The Colonials recently defeated Citadel and Georgetown in consecutive double headers.

Intra-Squad Contest Ends Spring Practice

BY STEVE ROW

The finale to 20 hard days of spring football takes place tomorrow at 2 p. m. on Cary Field. Replacing the usual varsity-alumni football game will be an intra-squad scrimmage, pitting the Green squad against the Gold.

A squad of over 40 will be divided into defensive and offensive units for this game of four 12-minute quarters.

Southern Conference Coach-of-the-Year, Marv Levy, aired his views on this spring finale a few days prior to the game. "First of all," he said, "little thought will be given to this as a game. We're looking on it as the last work day of 20 work days.

"Everybody will see some action in the game. For the most part of the spring, we have been working with two separate units. Most of the boys will see action on one unit, though I will switch a few back and forth."

Injuries Slight

Coach Levy sees the team in relatively good physical shape, noting that there will be no major injuries to worry about at game time.

Spring practice has progressed, but Levy cites inexperience as a major factor in this fall's picture. Thirty-three rising sophomores are listed, and some of them may land key positions on the Indian gridiron.

Levy was reluctant to talk about the Indians' chances for this fall. "It's not because I don't think we'll do well, but these boys have played only against themselves. There's no telling what they'll do against strangers.

"A football coach is actually in no position to predict his team's finish. If he says 'we'll win this many,' and doesn't, then he's over-estimating himself.

If he says 'we'll lose this many,' then he's selling himself down the river on those games before they're played. We will be tough next year, though."

Levy did give an insight into the next season as far as his style of football and the Indians' competition. "We may platoon exclusively next year."

"With the new substitution rule in effect now, a team can put in 11 men at any time out, instead of last year's two men. We may play with two units next year.

"Again, passing will not be stressed. We have worked on kick coverage and goal-line stands perhaps more than any other specific phase of the game; nevertheless, much time has been devoted to all aspects. Actually, the line-ups in this fall's program will be the defensive and kick-off coverage teams."

Levy continued his interview with an explanation of "Levy-brand" football. "We weren't a razzle-dazzle ball club last year; we aren't going to be this year; we never will be.

"We concentrate on the fundamentals and play ultra-conservative ball. We work on phases of the game which we know will be used often in the season."

Some of those phases are goal-line stands, both offensive and defensive (averaging 15-20 minutes per practice session), and all aspects of the kicking game — punt return and coverage, and kickoff return and coverage. The field goal is also a weapon on the Indian gridiron.

Future Competition

Looking to next year's competition in the Southern Conference, Levy singles out 1964's champ West Virginia as "the team to be reckoned with most. A lion's share of their starters are back this fall."

He also points to VMI as an improved ball club. George Washington will be strong and VPI, though no longer a conference member, "must be considered dangerous because of their depth of personnel."

In closing, Levy observed that "the sophomores have worked hard. Though we have been getting ready, the progress in the fall will have to be marked.

"That's when we can tell what progress we've made and how good we are. We have a long way to go before our first game with VMI," he concluded.

Sportscaster Schenkel To Speak at Banquet

Chris Schenkel, television sportscaster for the New York Giants, will be the guest speaker at the annual sports banquet next Wednesday at 6:30 p. m.

Awards will be given to the outstanding senior athletes in each sport. Each player will be presented with a one hundred dollar watch.

There will also be awards given for All-Southern Conference football selections George Pearce, Jeff Craig and Scott Swan.

Martin Morris will be given an award from the Virginia sportswriters for being the top basketball player in the state.

Bob Pedigo will then introduce the new look for the William and Mary Indian. Next year Indian fans can expect to see a uniquely costumed Indian whose attire will be the official costume of the Indians.

Sig Ep, Faculty Clash In Softball Thursday

BY BILL BARNETT

The intramural softball league finally began to jell as three big games took place this week.

The net effect was to see previously unbeaten Sig Ep lose 4-0 to PiKA, thus tying the faculty at 8-1, while PiKA's victory kept them only one half game off pace at 8-2.

Sigma Pi stumbled twice: 12-3 to Theta Delt, and in a real pincher, 8-7 to Sig Ep.

The faculty recovered from last week's defeat from the Phi Tau Upshots and swamped KA 6-3 and Sigma Nu 15-6.

Sigma Phi Epsilon turned off a strong drive by Sigma Pi to win on a tremendous double play performance by Art Brown and Mike Coleman.

The Pimen came to bat, down 8-6 in the top of the seventh. "Jersey" Forte made it to second on an error, Dave McDougal collected a single and Bill Westbrook flied out. "Fish" Armentrout hit Forte in as McDougal moved to third. The score stood 8-7, one away.

Brown Shines

Jack Allison flied out to Epper Art Brown who made a none less than perfect throw to catcher Mike Coleman — who tagged McDougal out at the plate ending the ball game.

Sig Ep collected all of its runs on seven hits in the first inning. Thereafter, they got only three hits off the Pimen's new pitcher, McDougal.

By winning this game Sig Ep is virtually assured of a first place among the fraternity teams, having only SAE (4-6) and Phi Tau (5-4) left to play. However, they will meet the faculty next Thursday at 4 p. m., which could determine the school championship.

The faculty must first meet PiKA who have lost two by one run, 10-9 to Sigma Pi and Pi Lamb 9-8.

PiKA Hits

PiKA's Gordon Kelly continued his excellent pitching, holding Sig Ep to only two hits as his teammates collected ten.

With two away, the Eppers were able to load the bases in the bottom of the seventh but Tom Ford flied out to left field leaving the score 0-0.

However, the eighth inning saw PiKA score its four runs on hits by Tom Connor, Al

White, Bill Roundtree and Tom Yerkes.

Sigma Pi's other loss (13-2) was created behind the two hit pitching of Theta Delt's Dave Maytnier.

Collecting ten hits including Bobby Wilner's home run, Theta Delt made the third their big inning with four runs.

Phi Kappa Tau picked up wins over Lambda Chi 6-1, and Kappa Sig 15-13, but lost to Theta Delta Chi 3-1. Theta Delt won on a two run single by Max Magee.

Abhardt Impressive

Brown Dorm broke a drought, squeezing by Sigma Nu 20-19 for their first win. Despite their cellar position, they have a very bright spot in George "Andy" Abhardt, who collected three hits to run his batting average to a celestial .714.

Brown also lost another 12-11 against the Yates Highballers, who themselves were stopped by Kappa Sig 7-1.

Other game results include SAE splitting its encounters, 15-1 over Pi Lamb and 10-6 under KA. Sig Ep won their other game, from Lambda Chi 15-7.

PiKA has all but received the intramural trophy, as they have run up 200+ points over Sigma Pi in second. However, the next four positions are packed close with Sig Ep right on the heels of the Pimen.

Sig Ep should draw closer with their success in softball but Sigma Pi will also pick up points from the coming track meet.

Intramural Point Standing Thru the cross country meet

PiKA	867
Sigma Pi	633
Theta Delt	617
Sig Ep	604
Lambda Chi	590
Sigma Nu	510.5
Kappa Sig	459

A limited number of active students are needed during orientation week for the purpose of better acquainting freshmen with the Honor System.

Group leaders and sponsors are also eligible. All applications should be turned in within one week.

SMOKE SIGNALS

WITH JOE LENZI
SPORTS EDITOR

Gridiron Preview

"Our main objectives were fundamentals and evaluation of personnel. We used the barest elements of offense and defense."

This statement came from William and Mary's head football coach Marv Levy as he summed up in a few words what his objectives were this spring. Tomorrow at 2 p. m. we will be able to see for ourselves what we can expect in Tribe football next season.

Although progress has been slow, Levy did not seem too upset about the overall football picture here on the reservation.

"We never try to set up an expectation of what we'd like to do," commented last year's Southern Conference Coach of the Year. "I can't imagine any coach saying he's satisfied with his team. If this were true, then they have reached the peak of their success and there's no room for improvement."

Levy pointed out that next year's squad will not be as physically strong as last season's, but that it will make up the difference in speed. But there is also a much greater difference in comparing the two gridiron elevens. The '64 Indian edition was a veteran team; this year's contingent is headed by an array of sophomores.

Strong Squad

With the great differences in this year's team from that of last year, William and Mary fans can expect to see a change in offensive tactics next season. According to Levy we will see a little quicker hitting offense with less reverses and delays. Also look for a more balanced passing attack.

Levy expects his charges will be very close to platooning, although there will be some boys who may go both ways. As it looks now Dennis Haglan may be a two-way performer, operating at both defensive safety and offensive halfback.

The two units will be split up into a red unit (defense) and a green team (offense). This will give each player "a sense of pride" in his particular job.

Veterans Standout

Thus far Levy has been particularly pleased with the consistently good job done by veterans Tom Feola, Jim Dick, Mike Weaver, Jim Lofrese, Mike Mihalis and Haglan.

Feola will play mostly as a middle linebacker, and chances are his vacated center position will be filled by the improving Dick.

The big question mark in everyone's mind is the quarterback slot. Right now a battle is going on between five sophomores. Two of these, Mike Madden and Dan Darragh, have looked particularly impressive.

"There's no way to make an evaluation of the quarterbacks until an actual game," said Levy. "One day one will do well, the next day the other will. Saturday's game should tell a lot about who should start in fall practice."

ROUND THE RESERVATION: Future basketball hopes at William and Mary have been brightened recently with the signing of 6'-7" Dave Daugherty. Daugherty is a two-time All-American who averaged 24 points and 14 rebounds a game.

Cricketers End Successful Season; Tudor, Gebo Standouts In Finale

The William and Mary cricket team closed out its 1965 campaign with two resounding wins last weekend.

On Saturday, the Colonials faced BCCC from Washington and avenged their previous week's loss to them. The visitors batted first and scored 120 runs before William and Mary could retire them. However, the Colonials come on strong as they scored 124 runs while using only three of their allotted ten outs.

John Tudor and Jerry Gebo were the individual stars, scoring over 90 runs between them.

Tudor teamed up with Guy Temple on Sunday to overcome the Maryland Cricket Club of Baltimore.

The Maryland club scored 124 runs for their ten outs, but the Colonials overtook that score again while requiring only three outs.

Thus, the Colonials, who will play again next fall, closed out the 1965 campaign with a winning 4-2 record.

Unique Artifacts to Further African Ethnological Studies

BY BRUCE SYLVESTER

The William and Mary department of anthropology will use a recently acquired collection of ethnological artifacts from West Africa to expand their offerings in anthropology dealing with African ethnology.

There are 270 artifacts, including masks, jewelry, textiles, ceramics and weapons. They were collected by Dr. George W. Harley, an anthropologist from Merry Point who spent 35 years in Liberia as a medical missionary.

Harley participated in co-operative ventures among missions of various denominations and in many medical and scientific organizations working in Liberia.

He has worked with the Liberian government in such areas as the improvement of village water supplies, vaccination campaigns and other public health movements.

Highest Decoration

During his stay in Liberia, Harley was a member of President Tubman's Advisory Council on Health, and received from Tubman the highest decoration given to foreigners.

The collection will remain intact and will be known as the George Way Harley Collection. It is hoped that items from Africa and other parts of the world will be added to the general ethnological collections.

Gratitude Expressed

Dr. Altshuler, director of the anthropology lab at William and Mary, has expressed the College's gratitude to Harley and to Dr. John T. Baldwin Jr., professor of biology at the College.

Baldwin worked with the Harleys on a scientific expedition to Liberia in 1916. It was at Baldwin's suggestion that the College was able to acquire the artifacts.

ARTIFACT COLLECTION

Dr. George W. Harley examines one of the 270 ethnological artifacts which he collected during his 35 year stay in Liberia as a medical missionary. The collection is being donated to the William and Mary department of Anthropology and will be named the George Way Harley Collection. Harley's collection will remain intact and consists of masks, jewelry, textiles, ceramics and weapons.

Senator Bush to Speak At Jamestown Program

Annual Jamestown Day ceremonies, commemorating the 358th anniversary of the establishment of America's first permanent English settlement, will take place in Jamestown, Sunday, May 9.

The program, sponsored by the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities, will begin at 3 p. m.

As part of the celebration, the APVA grounds and the Colonial National Historical Park facilities at Jamestown Island will open to the public free of charge after 2 p. m.

Historical Observance

Jamestown Day observances have been held by the APVA almost continuously since 1896. Traditionally, the commemorative ceremony is held on a Sunday near May 13, since the actual landing of the English settlers at Jamestown was May 13, 1607.

Former U. S. Senator Prescott Bush (R.-Conn.) will deliver the principal address at the ceremonies.

National Recognition

Senator Bush was elected to the Senate in 1952 serving until his retirement in 1953. While in the Senate, Bush received national recognition as an authority on government finance.

Throughout his Senate career, Bush was a member of the Senate Committee on Banking and Currency, and in the 87th Congress he was the top-ranking Republican member of the Congressional Joint Economic Committee.

A partner since 1931 in the private banking firm of Brown Brothers Harriman & Co.,

Bush now devotes most of his time to this firm.

The Jamestown ceremonies offer area residents a chance to regain a historical perspective of the Virginia Peninsula. Local organizations assisting with the planning and execution of the event are the College of William and Mary, the Colonial National Historical Park, Colonial Williamsburg and the Jamestown Foundation.

Coed Wins Honorable Mention In College Fashion Contest

Senior Katherine Roach is the recipient of an honorable mention in the Fashion Fellowship awards presented annually by the Tobe-Coburn School for Fashion Careers. Annual fellowship awards have been given by the Tobe-Coburn School for the past 27 years. This year, in the entire country, four college coeds were awarded Fashion Fellowships and five coeds, including Kathy, received honorable mention.

Kathy was chosen for recognition because her college record and the excellence of her presentation indicate strong potentiality for the fashion field.

Majoring in fine arts, Kathy is from Dillwyn. Her interest in fashion stemmed from 4-H work. She was a national fashion review winner in the 4-H fashion project in 1963 and has been a member of the national teen board for Farm Journal.

In August Kathy will assume a position with Simplicity Pattern Company as a fashion consultant for the east coast.

Recipients of the Fashion Fellowship awards, valued at $1750 each, for the year 1965-66 were Linda Compton, University of Kentucky; Suzanne Culbertson, Louisiana State University; Edith Claire Hudson, Purdue University; Janice Patterson, Chatham College.

Honorable mention went also to Gwynne Deanovic, Iowa State University; Mary Johnson, University of Iowa; Katherine Nazarro, Saint Mary's College; and Judith Olson, Vassar College.

Jones Hails Skerrett Exeter Prize Winner

Lynn Skerrett has been named recipient of William and Mary's annual Exeter exchange scholarship. This grant will enable her to spend the next school year at the University of Exeter in Exeter, England.

A sophomore psychology major from Clementon, N. J., Lynn is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma social sorority, Alpha Lambda Delta women's scholastic honorary group and Chi Delta Phi honorary literary fraternity.

Lynn has played junior varsity hockey and basketball, is a Panhellenic Council delegate, treasurer of the Psychology Club and newly appointed Flat Hat sorority columnist. She will have to vacate her position on the Women's Honor Council.

Having earned straight A's last semester, Lynn has a 2.83 overall scholastic average.

Selection of the Exeter Scholar was made by an administrative committee under the leadership of Dr. William Guy of the chemistry department. Criteria for selection included scholarship, participation in campus activities and general fitness to represent the United States in another country.

The University of Exeter will send the college representatives of their student body in a parallel aspect of the exchange program.

Another part of the College's transfer plan with England is the Draper's Company program, which will enable two seniors to do graduate work at the British university of their choice. Skip Baman and Craig Carlson are recipients of these grants for next year.

Looking In...

by Nick Glakas and Rich Newlon

Paradise Examined

Recently, while flipping through the current College Catalogue, we stumbled across a little out-of-the-way section entitled "Student Life." It presented in adjectives and six-syllable words a Utopian picture of life at the College of William and Mary. Although we realized the need for a standard, the ideal situation should neither be presented nor confused with the real. Several particular statements therein have come to our attention.

Questionable Superlatives

We read, "The College seeks to foster intellectual interests, cultural appreciation and a democratic spirit among its students." If this is really the case, the College should seek to foster a concern for: inspiring commencement speakers, first-rate guest lecturers to complement the existing cultural contributions afforded by the concerts and plays, and increased student government in terms of additional Student Association influence.

Newlon

Glakas

"As the College is chiefly a resident college, students and faculty comprise a closely knit (?) community in which extracurricular (?) and social activities (?) play a considerable role (?) in the cultural (?) and intellectual (?) development of the individual (?)."

"Naturally and imperceptibly the student becomes a part of the democratic life of William and Mary, which encourages the exchange of friendly greetings with other students, members of the faculty, and visitors to the College." Most students are probably thoroughly amazed that the exchange of friendly greetings with friends, teachers and tourists is due to their natural and imperceptible assimilation into the democratic life here at William and Mary. The verbal entanglement of such a statement can only create confusion. It presents the image that we are all one happy family. It confuses the ideal situation with the real — the desired with the actual.

Social Outlet Myth

"While these organizations (fraternities and sororities) make a prominent contribution to the life of the College, an adequate social life is available to non-members in many functions and activities sponsored at the College." This statement jumps from the contributions of the fraternities and sororities to the social life of the non-Greek.

First, the prominent contributions of the Greeks to the College are social — they provide this segment with a place to go and something to do. Christmas seal drives and cancer funds are the exception and not the rule. Second, the non-Greek social life is inadequate. Take away the six concerts, four plays, three planned dances and ninety movies a year and there are still roughly fifteen imagination-straining weekends.

"The use of leisure is provided for the Residence Halls by recreation rooms, study rooms, and lounges, which contain easy chairs, books, magazines, newspapers, radios, pianos, card tables and games." Tyler, Taliaferro, Camm, Brvan, Stith and Dawson lack all of these facilities. Brown, OD, Monroe, Ludwell and Madison have the space but not the facilities. Jefferson, Barrett, Landrum and Chandler have space but limited facilities. duPont, our newest model dorm, rivals Yates in bringing some reality to this proposed ideal situation.

In conclusion, we strongly feel that an accurate representation of existing conditions is necessary. The prospective student and his family should not be presented with a way of life that does not exist.

Appropriate Revision

If one takes idealism and replaces the d with an r, turns it backwards, inserts an s for a t, a y for an m, drops the first i, leaves the ae but reverses the order again, brings the l across and loses the idea: one ends up with reality.

CHEERLEADERS

New cheerleaders Terre Latsios and Kay Atkins practice for the 1965-66 season.

Two Sophomores Join '66 Cheerleading Squad

Rising sophomores Kay Atkins and Terre Latsios will join William and Mary's 1965-66 varsity cheerleading squad.

Kay, a Pi Beta Phi pledge from Staunton, was a freshman cheerleader this year. Terre, from Arlington, was also a freshman cheerleader this year. She is a member of Chi Omega and was recently chosen as a member of Orchestis.

Returning to the squad are Marie Fridenstine, Babs Lewis, Patty Heath and Dee Ford. Marie and Babs will serve as co-heads of the group.

Marie, president of Pi Beta Phi, is a junior sociology major from Alexandria. Babs is a junior fine arts major from Richmond and a member of Delta Delta Delta.

Patty Heath, a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma, is a junior education major from Arlington. Dee Ford, from Alexandria, is a member of Delta Delta and will serve as secretary of the junior class.

Next year, the cheerleaders plan to hold pep rallies in a variety of locations, present skits at the games and at pep rallies and attend more away games.

ODK's Leadership Forum Presents Brookings' Calkins

BY VIV RUBIN

In the interest of promoting responsible leadership on campus, the Eta Circle of Omicron Delta Kappa, national men's honorary leadership fraternity, will present its annual leadership forum on Monday, May 10.

The forum will begin at 2:30 p. m. in the Campus Center ballroom and is open to all men students.

The College's special guest for the forum will be Dr. Robert D. Calkins, a member of the Class of '25 and president of the Brookings Institute, a national organization for the promotion of leadership.

Calkins will deliver an address entitled, "The Scholar's Responsibility for Leadership on the College Campus."

Distinguished Guest

Holding six honorary degrees from national colleges and universities, being a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Omicron Delta Kappa and past dean of Columbia University's School of Business attest to Calkins' qualifications for speaking on leadership.

In the field of government, the stamp of approval by the Brookings Institute on a piece of legislation or their endorsement of a man is one of the most sought after and respected commendations.

Panel Discussion

Following Calkins' speech, Michael Sopchak, outgoing chairman of the Men's Honor Council, will lead a panel discussion on "Opportunities for Leadership on the William and Mary Campus."

Other members of the panel are Craig Carlson, outgoing president of the Student Association; James Breeden, incoming president of the Interfraternity Council and Harold K. Fowler, dean of the faculty.

The evening session of the forum will be a black tie banquet at 6:30 p. m. in the Wren Great Hall. This session is by invitation only.

Speaking for the members of ODK, Gary Chocklett stated, "We feel the topics presented and the problems discussed at this forum will be of tremendous help both to the leaders and the organizations on this campus."

Varsity Majorettes Choose Two New Twirlers for '66

Louise Saulnier and Carol Smith have twirled their way into membership with the William and Mary majorettes.

Louise, a math major from Silver Spring, Md., is a Dean's List student and a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, the freshman women's honorary scholastic fraternity.

Carol is a government major from Alexandria and a member of Delta Delta Delta social sorority. Both she and Louise were high school majorettes.

The new majorettes were chosen on the basis of personality, appearance, strutting and twirling.

Pat Ann Patterson will be head majorette next year. Other majorettes are Marty Miller and Karen Williams, rising seniors; Margie Gove, rising junior; Norma Jarrett and Kathy Kincaid, rising sophomores.

MAJORETTES

New majorettes Louise Saulnier and Carol Smith try out twirling routines.

New Women's Dorm Counselors To Aid Freshmen
