

Dear Sir,

I think your client ought to be informed of any error in the proceeding which he may take advantage of; nor do I see how you are restrained from giving that information by an agreement to which you were not a party, and prudently have resolved not to accede. The general court, regardless of such agreements, have reversed the judgments, in all cases where the declarations have not been filed. I am

Dear Sir

sincerely your well wisher

22 Apr. 1774

J. Wajthe.