Martin Luther King Scholarships

The class of '76 includes ten students who are recipients of the Martin Luther King Scholarship award. The Scholarship is awarded to outstanding entering freshmen and has served as a method of communicating joint desires for a larger black enrollment. The Fund was originally established in the spring of 1968 by concerned faculty and students.

The winners:

Faye Hawkins, a graduate of Brunswick High School, Lawrenceville. She placed in chemistry, geometry, and algebra competition and participated in several organizations among which was the National Honor Gloria Key hails from Albemarle High School, Charlottesville. Her activities centered around Spanish and journalism. In addition, she placed as a semi-finalist on the National Achievement Test for Outstanding Negro Students (a National Merit Student Qualifying Test participant).

Doris Lewis of Portsmouth, a graduate of I. C. Norcum High School and a semi-finalist on the National Achievement Test for Outstanding Negro Students. She was a member of the National Honor Society, band, and newspaper staff and was awarded a book of the Vassar College

Reginald Moore, a graduate of Armstrong High School in Richmond, comes with a varied background of interests. He served as vice president of the audio-visual and history clubs and ran track. He also received the Harvard Book Award.

Nelson S. Amis, Kellam High School, Virginia Beach, participated in public speaking and debate activities. Much of his energy was devoted to service club projects.

Willie Webb graduated from Greensville County High School, Emporia. He was active in government, service and honor organizations. He has been the recipient of numerous awards and was president of his senior

International Pumpkin Sale

If you haven't already bought a jack o' lantern for Halloween, visit the International Circle's pumpkin sale, October 27 and 28 in Ewell Circle.

Members of the Circle will be holding their annual sale again this year to add funds to the organization's treasury. The pumpkins are supplied by the Ruritans and the Circle gets half the funds from the sale.

W&M Theatre Presents 'Antony and Cleopatra'

Neil Lerch will play Octavius Caesar and Barbara McCulloh will play Octavia in the William and Mary Theatre production of Shakespeare's famous tragedy, "Antony and Cleopatra," in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall four nights, Wednesday - Saturday, Oct. 18-21.

Crystal Mason, a graduate of Southampton High School in Courtland, was a member of the National Honor Society, band, and yearbook staff. She did independent study, was a delegate to Girls' State, was chosen Homecoming Queen and received several science awards.

Cassandra Stancil, a graduate of Kempsville High School in Virginia Beach, was a Girls' State delegate, and a member of the National Honor Society, Drill Team, and Color Guard. She was voted 1 of 10 "Outstanding Seniors," received awards in public speaking, and placed as a semi-finalist on the National Achievement Test.

There are approximately 30 foreign students on campus this year from Taiwan, England, Belgium, Iran, India, Korea, Hong Kong, Vietnam, Malaysia

President of the International Circle for the 1972-73 year is Miss Susan Diduk of Williamsburg.

Roslyn Rice, admitted under Early Decision, was graduated from Brunswick High School in Emporia. Her activities included the National Honor Society, S.C.S., band, newspaper, math and science clubs. On the NDSQT, she placed as a semi-finalist.

Valerie Strong, a Williamsburg resident and graduate of James Blair High School, received the DAR Good Citizens Award, SGA Service Award, and American Legion Award. In addition, she participated in the National Honor Society, AFS, Keyettes, and Spanish Honor Society.

President's Reception

President and Mrs. Thomas A. Graves, Jr. cordially invite all seniors to a reception at the President's House on Sunday, October 22, from four to six p.m.

Homecoming Shines Beneath Sunny Skies

Thousands of alumni came back to the College last weekend for Homecoming 1972.

M. Carl Andrews of Roanoke, retired editorial page editor of the Roanoke World News, was elected first president of the "Order of the White Jacket," an organization formed to honor former waiters at the College. Their membership includes former Governor Mills E. Godwin and President Emeritus Dr. Davis Y.

Sue Berryman, an attractive brunette from Norfolk, was named Homecoming Queen and was presented at the half-time festivities at the William and Mary-Vanderbilt football game.

Delta Delta Delta sorority's float featuring a "Jolly Green Giant" theme and Sigma Nu's "Blow Off the Commode-doors" entry won top honors in the parade Saturday morning. Other awards in the sorority division went to Pi Beta Phi and Gamma Phi Beta. In the fraternity division winners included Sigma Pi and Sigma Chi.

Despite the fact that the Indians were unable to carry through the theme of one float, "Sink the boat that Vander-Bilt," on the football field, Coach Jim Root's players had the crowds on their feet cheering the touchdowns engineered by Bill Deery and David Knight.

John Randolph's harriers gave homecoming crowds something else to cheer about with a perfect 15-50 romp over what was supposed to be a tough Georgetown group. The Junior varsity football team defeated previously unbeaten U.S. Military Prep, 20-14, Friday.

President and Mrs. Thomas A. Graves, Jr., entertained alumni at breakfast at The President's House Saturday morning. Earlier President and Mrs. Graves had spoken briefly at the banquet and annual meeting of the Society of the Alumni held in the Virginia Room of the Williamsburg Lodge.

Colin R. Davis, Suffolk, president of the Society of the Alumni; Mrs. Jean Canoles Bruce, Norfolk; Fred L. Frechette, Richmond; J. W. Hornsby, Mayor of Newport News; and Mrs. Harriet Nachman Storm, Hampton, were elected to the Board of the Alumni Society.

Geology

Three geologic maps entitled "Geologic Maps of the Fort Wayne (1° x 2°) Quadrangle, Indiana, Michigan and Ohio," were published by the Indiana Geological Survey in September. Gerald H. Johnson mapped the glacial deposits in the 100 by 70 mile area and Stanley Keller of Indiana Geological Survey mapped the bedrock geology. The maps are the last in a series of eight that cover Indiana and adjacent states.

This summer the Virginia Division of Mineral Resources published "Report of Investigation 30, the Geology of the Yorktown, Poquoson West and Poquoson East Quadrangles," by Mr. Johnson.

This report explores the physiographic and geological features of part of the lower York-James Peninsula and elaborates upon the economic resources and historical development of the Peninsula.

A paper entitled "Late Quaternary Stratigraphy of the Inner Virginia Continental Shelf: A Proposed Standard Section," was co-authored by Mr. Johnson. The paper appeared in the June issue of the Bulletin of the Geological Society of America.

History

Richard Maxwell Brown, professor, addressed a National War College seminar in Washington, D.C., October 5, on the history of American violence. The other speaker at the session was police commissioner Patrick V. Murphy of New York City who spoke on contemporary crime.

Home Economics

Mrs. Thelma M. Miller, chairman, attended the annual national conference and workshop co-sponsored by the Consumer Union and the Virginia Citizens Consumer Council, October 6-7 in Alexandria.

Mathematics

S. Stuart Flanagan has been selected by the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics to serve as one of the referees for the editor of The Mathematics Teacher, thereby reviewing and evaluating articles to be published in the Council's journal.

On Oct. 7, Mr. Flanagan spoke to the members of District B, Virginia Education Association mathematics section, on Curricular Trends and Development in Mathematics for Grades K-12.

Staff Notes Swem Library

On Sunday afternoon, Oct. 15, the staff of Swem Library were hosts at a reception honoring fifty members of the British Library Association, who are touring the United States.

Admissions

The Admissions Office is happy to have Mrs. Menette Coleman back after a week in the hospital.

Mrs. Mary Mann and Mrs. Bonnie Sechrest are both proud grandmothers who are comparing notes on the latest additions to their families.

Mrs. Mann's second grandchild,
Michael George, was born Sept. 22 in De Paul Hospital, Norfolk. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Battenfield and brother of John, age 2 years 8 months. Mr.
Battenfield is director of information services for Old Dominion University.

Timothy David, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Billups of Waycross Ga., was born in Waycross, August 4. Timothy David is Mr. and Mrs. Billup's first child and Mrs. Sechrest's eighth grandchild.

Reading Program Fall Retreat

The College-Wide Reading Program would like to remind those planning to attend the Program's fall retreat, Oct. 21 and 22 at Camp Hanover that today is the deadline for reservations.

Application forms are available at the Campus Center desk.

The fee is $6 per person and includes meals and sleeping accommodations. Transportation will be provided if needed.

The retreat is open to faculty, administrators and students. It is not necessary to have read the Program's books to attend.

Staff Profile / Mrs. Ruth G. Humphreys

Mrs. Ruth Gilbert Humphreys, secretary in the Department of Chemistry, is entering her sixth year of employment on campus. Before coming to William and Mary, Mrs. Humphreys was secretary to the Superintendent of Schools and to her husband, the General Supervisor of Instruction, Williamsburg-James City County. Mr. Humphreys has since retired.

Mrs. Humphreys attended
Virginia Commercial College in Lynchburg and Bridgewater
College in Bridgewater, Va. Mr. and Mrs. Humphreys have five children - four daughters and one son, thirteen grandchildren, and one great grandchild. They are members of the Christian Church in West Point. Mrs.
Humphreys lists as her hobbies piano, sewing, and reading.

With plans to retire next year, Mrs. Humphreys said, "I have enjoyed working here. It keeps me busy. There are a lot of things my husband and I plan to do when I retire."

Recently Mrs. Humphreys, along with 60 relatives, helped her mother, Mrs. Bessie Gilbert of Buena Vista, celebrate her 90th birthday. "My mother is one of the oldest citizens in Buena Vista," she beamed. "She knew the town when it was Green Forest." All six of Mrs. Gilbert's children were present at the party.

Mrs. Humphrey's mother-in-law, Mrs. Annie Austin of Raleigh, N.C., will celebrate her 90th birthday in February.

The Humphreys anticipate many enjoyable trips to Buena Vista and Raleigh visiting their parents.

Forum to Feature 'Women In Politics'

"Women in Politics" will be the focus of a forum open to the entire College community, Saturday, Oct. 21, sponsored by Mortar Board.

Four women who have made major contributions in the field of politics, will serve on a panel for the program. They include Ms. Flora Crater, former Chairwoman of the Virginia Women's Political Caucus, lobbyist for the Equal Rights Amendment and organizer of a chapter of the National Organization of Women; Ms. Virginia Crickford, former chairwoman of the Richmond School Board during the busing controversy; Mrs. Phyllis Galanti, POW wife who

Circle K Says 'Thanks'

Through the generosity of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, many culturally disadvantaged children were able to see The Citadel vs. W&M game here last weekend. The Shipbuilders bought out a section of Cary Stadium which they offered to the College, which turned the tickets over to Circle K. Circle K greatly appreciates the support both of the Shipbuilders and the College. . . . The kids say thanks too!

has actively encouraged public concern about the POW's and MIA's; and Ms. Zelda Nordlinger, Third District Representative to the Policy Council of the Women's Political Caucus and women's rights advocate.

Additional speakers may participate in Saturday's program which will be held in the Campus Center Little Theatre beginning at 2 p.m.

Colloquims

The Applied Science Program is sponsoring a talk by Anthony C. Hearn, Department of Physics, University of Utah, on "The Computer Solution of Algebraic Problems in the Applied Sciences." The colloquium will be on Thursday at 8 p.m. in Room 113 of the William Small Physics Laboratory. The public is invited to attend.

A Gal, Hebrew University, Jerusalem, will speak on "The A-N Interaction and Structure of Light Hypernuclei," at the physics department colloquium, Wednesday, Oct. 18 at 4:30 p.m. in room 109 of William Small Laboratory. Coffee will be served at 4 p.m. in the conference room.

Calendar Study Committee

There is nothing more important to an educational effort than its basic temporal structure. The academic calendar influences to a large degree the curriculum and, through it, the entire educational posture of an institution. It is thus imperative that our calendar serve our educational goals in the very best way possible, and important that it be periodically and thoroughly studied to determine whether it is doing this, and if not, what other calendar arrangement might be better.

Our present academic calendar is a slight modification of a semester system generally characteristic of American higher education for many years. It, or a further slight adjustment of it, may prove on examination best suited to our purposes. But I believe that such a conclusion, if it is made, should be based on a careful study of all reasonable alternatives, many of them now in effective use at other colleges and universities throughout the country.

Another important consideration is the question, increasingly asked by those in position to influence decisions on the funding of higher education, of whether collegiate institutions are utilizing their resources in the most efficient way. Such a question inevitably leads to suggestions that colleges and universities study the possibility of full year-round operation, with, of course, options provided to the faculty for variance of their schedule of resident instruction, and to the students for acceleration of their academic program, "stop-outs", and workstudy programs, and the like. This is a much more complex and difficult problem than most people, including those who most pointedly ask the question, realize. It is nonetheless a reasonable question to ask, and whatever our answer may be, it should be based upon careful analysis of contemporary need and capabilities, not customary procedures.

Accordingly, I would like to appoint an ad hoc committee, representative of all faculties and schools, to study alternative academic calendars and to make recommendations to me on possible changes in the William and Mary calendar, which report could then be sent to the faculties, schools, and the Board of Visitors for full discussion and, if approved, action and implementation.

Such a study, if it is to be as complete as should be, will take some time to complete; the matter does have some urgency, however, so I would request the committee to plan on submission of its report preferably in the spring of the present academic year, and in no case later than early fall 1973.

I have asked Vice President Healy to act as chairman of this committee, and the following members of the faculty and student body have agreed to serve as members:

Fred L. Adair, Associate Professor of Education Ellen Bauer, Associate Professor of Psychology Lawrence Beckhouse, Associate Professor of Sociology Ronald C. Brown, Associate Professor of Law Douglas Pinter, Class of '74 John S. Quinn, Professor of Business Administration Linda Collins Reilly, Assistant Professor of Classical Studies Ann Sullivan, Class of '75

Flat Hat Breaks Winning Skein

(Special to the News) --

The administration put to rest all rumors that there had been a de-emphasis on football with a smashing 21-6 victory over the Flat Hat Sunday, Oct. 15 in Phi Beta Kappa field.

The Flat Hat scored first just before the half ended on a 25-yard pass completion. But the administration roared back in the second half with a touchdown aerial from Smith to Mike Schemering. Then Warren Heemann, vice president for development, added what proved to be the eventual margin of victory by flattening the Flat Hat quarterback for a two-point safety.

This handsome fox is one subject of the Audubon Wildlife Film "West Side Story - Mexico to Alaska," which will be presented by Walter Berlet in the Campus Center tomorrow at 7:45 p.m. Tickets will be available at the door.

President's Calendar

President Graves will meet with alumni in Norfolk, Thursday and Monday he will attend the open hearing of the Virginia Commission of Higher Education.
