MR. STRONG AND MISS SQUIRES

Kim Strong is young Will Shakespeare and Anne Squires is his daughter in this week's William and Mary Theatre production of William Gibson's new comic drama, "A Cry of Players," which will be presented in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall at 8:15 p.m. tomorrow through Saturday (Dec. 6-9). Strong is a senior concentrating in theatre and Miss Squires is a fifth grader at Bruton Heights Elementary School. Tickets for the comic modern drama, directed by Louis E. Catron, are available at The Theatre's box office in the foyer of PBK weekdays between 3 and 5:30 p.m. and also between 7 and 8:15 p.m. the four nights of production.

Fund Office Named for Nunn

The Fund Office in the new Alumni House will be named for Vernon L. Nunn, treasurer-auditor of the College for many years, according to an announcement made recently by W. Brooks George, general chairman of the New Era campaign of the William and Mary Fund. Mr. Nunn is a 1925 graduate of the College.

Frank Pierce Pulley III, a Roanoke attorney, whose gift made the designation possible, had worked for Mr. Nunn during his academic tenure at the College and wished to "commemorate Nunn's dedicated service to the College and his influence on the lives of many students and friends of the College." Speaking of Mr. Nunn's years of service to the College, Mr. George stated, "I know of no one who is more devoted and loyal to William and Mary than Vernon Nunn. All of his many friends will certainly appreciate this excellent, sincere and meaningful contribution."

To date, the Society of the Alumni, according to a progress report of the Fund by Mr. George, has received $151,273.16 towards its 1972 goal of $300,000.

Christmas Greetings

Mrs. Graves and I want to take this early opportunity to wish each of you a joyous holiday season and a relaxing vacation over Christmas and New Year's.

We regret that our attendance out of state at the annual meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools on December 9 - 13 will not allow us to enjoy the Yule Log Ceremony and so much of the beautiful Christmas caroling before you go on vacation. We recall with great pleasure having many of you drop by the President's House for caroling and to share in our Christmas decorations last year, and this year the decorations will not be in place until December 14.

A Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to each and every one of you.

Thomas A. Graves, Jr. President

Graves and Vliet Honored at Reception

President Graves and Gordon C. Vliet, executive secretary of the Society of the Alumni, were special guests at a cocktail party given by the Society of the Alumni at the James River Country Club, Newport News, last Tuesday.

The event served as a kickoff for the Major Gifts Division of the Peninsula William and Mary Fund Campaign. The Hampton-Newport News phase of the national campaign is being spearheaded by William F. Mirguet. Funds are being raised for the renovation of the Bright House, official home on campus for William and Mary alumni, and to enable the Society to sustain its current programs.

Welcoming guests Tuesday were Major Gifts Chairmen Aubrey H. Fitzgerald and Harriet N. Storm. Also on hand to greet alumni were C. Ray Johnson, Newport News chairman, and John E. Sim, Hampton chairman.

Biology Dept. 'Bio-Bureau'

Members of the faculty and graduate students in the Biology Department have initiated a "bio-bureau" to present information on current biological problems to students in the Williamsburg-James City County public school system.

Directed by Martin Mathes, the program is designed to enrich instruction in the biological sciences and is available to all levels of public school students. Lectures will be provided on a variety of topics.

Lecturers include Carl Vermeulen, Bruce Grant, Martin Mathes, Lawrence Wiseman, Ruth Beck, and Henry Aceto, Jr. Graduate students participating in the program are James Beier, Jerry Via, and James Cheshier.

The last issue of the News before Christmas will be printed December 19. The next issue will be published January 9, 1973.

Fraser Neiman has been asked to participate in a seminar at the MLA meetings in December on the future directions of Arnold scholarship.

Mr. Neiman has also been asked to contribute "A Reader's Guide to Matthew Arnold" for Kenneth Allott's volume, Matthew Arnold: his Intellectual and Poetic Background in the British series Writers and Their Background.

Government

Donald J. Baxter, assistant professor, presented a paper entitled "The Notion of Institutionalization in Political Development," at the November 2-4 meeting of the Southern Political Science Association in Atlanta, Ga. Other members of the Department who also attended the meeting were Richard Damon, Jan DeWeydenthal, Jack D. Edwards, Margaret Hamilton, Warner Moss and Alan Ward.

Law

Richard A. Walck, assistant professor, is directing a project for the Supreme Court of Virginia, comparing the Standards of Criminal Justice as drafted by the American Bar Association with relevant local statutes, rules of court and professional practice. Similar comparative studies are being conducted in a large number of states. The Virginia study is being financed in part by the American Bar Association and the Virginia Council on Criminal Justice.

William F. Swindler, professor, is the author of an article, "Fifty-one Chief Justices," which appears in a current symposium on judicial administration in the Kentucky Law Journal. The article is based on a lecture delivered by Mr. Swindler last March at the Institute of Advanced Legal Studies of the University of London.

Mathematics

William G. Poole, Jr., has been appointed to the arrangements committee for the 1973 annual meeting of the Society for Industrial and Applied Mathematics. The meeting will be held at the Sheraton Inn-Coliseum in Hampton, June 18-21, 1973.

P. V. O'Neil and J. C. Sanwal, associate professors, attended a meeting of the American Mathematical Society at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill November 24. Mr. O'Neil presented a paper, "A Short Proof of MacLane's Planarity Theorem," at the session on topology.

William C. Turner, professor, attended the fall meeting of the Mathematical Association of America at the U.S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., on November 18.

Physics

F. R. Crownfield, professor, and H. W. Bloomberg, assistant professor, attended the 1972 annual meeting of the Division of Plasma Physics of the American Physical Society held in Monterey, Calif., Nov. 13 - 16. Mr. Crownfield presented a paper entitled "Large Amplitude Monochromatic Equilibria in a Vlasov Plasma" [Bull. Am. Phys. Soc. 17, 996 (1972)].

Mr. Bloomberg presented a paper entitled "Sideband Instability in the Water Bag Approximation" [Bull. Am. Phys. Soc. 17, 1036 (1972)].

Mr. Bloomberg also presented a paper by S. P. Gary and F. Hohl entitled "Ion Kinematics in a Plasma Focus" [Bull. Am. Phys. Soc. 17, 1022 (1972)].

Soc. 17, 1022 (1972)]. S. P. Gary gave a colloquium at the Department of Physics, University of South Florida, Tampa, November 20, entitled "Ion Kinematics in a Plasma Focus."

Sarah Brittingham Ayres, 25, of Virginia Beach, 1969 graduate of the College, who was employed as a secretary in the office of the Dean of the School of Education, died Saturday in Riverside hospital as the result of injuries received in an accident late Friday night in Newport News.

According to the Newport News Police, the accident occurred about 11:50 p.m. Friday at the intersection of Hemlock and Jefferson Avenue when the car in which Mr. and Mrs. William H. Ayres were riding appeared to have slamed into the back of another car. William (Tom) Ayres, of Williamsburg, was taken to Riverside Hospital where he is a patient with head and chest injuries.

Funeral services for Mrs. Ayres were held Sunday.

Mrs. Ayres was a fine arts major at the College. She was an editor of the William and Mary Review, a member of Phi Beta Kappa and listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

After graduation she went to New York where she worked for the New Yorker magazine, and the New York Review of Books. She returned to Williamsburg several months ago and began work at the College in September.

Bourde Speaks

Tomorrow Night

Andre Bourde, a member of the faculty of letters of the University of Provence at Aix-en-Provence, France, who holds the James Pinckney Harrison chair of history at William and Mary, will give the second of two Harrison Chair lectures, tomorrow. Mr. Bourde will take as his topic, "The Indomitable City: Marsailles from Baroque to Classicism."

Mr. Bourde, who is an authority on the social and economic history of the 18th century is visiting professor in the history department for the current semester. He is teaching a course on 19th century France.

CAMPUS PROFILE/Primrose Stone

Primrose relaxes with roommate, Rhonda Macklin of Pensacola, Fla.

Primrose Stone, a graduate student from the University of Manchester in England, is the resident Lady Astor Scholar at William and Mary this year. Appropriately, she is a strong supporter of women's rights, as was Lady Astor, the former Nancy Langhorne of Virginia, who became the first woman member of Parliament.

The Lady Astor Scholarship fund was set up in memory of Nancy Astor, who received an honorary LLD degree from the College in 1928. A scholarship is awarded each year to a woman resident of Plymouth, England, who holds a university degree and wishes to undertake graduate work at a Virginia college or university. sors, in small groups or indi ually. There is mo day-to-day pressure for stude at William and Mary, she adde whereas students at Britis university. suully a core of political

The first Lady Astor Scholar attended the College from 1965-66. She apparently established a precedent. Since then, four other students from Plymouth have attended William and Mary. Miss Stone is the sixth.

Miss Stone, who resides in Landrum Hall, says that she enjoys college and dormitory life. She is auditing four American history courses at the College--The Rise of Urban America, The History of the Old South, American Social History, and American History from 1877-1920. Courses taken at American universities do not count toward a British degree. Miss Stone plans to acquire a further degree in England.

Art Display in PBK

Paintings by a young Richmond artist are now on display in the lobbies of Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall in conjunction with The William and Mary Theatre production of "A Cry of Players."

The one-man show represents the work of Robert W. Hatcher. According to Louis E. Catron, who arranged the exhibit with the artist, "Bob Hatcher is an exciting artist with bold techniques we think will prove exciting to those who come into Phi Beta Kappa. His exhibit will be on display until Dec. 15 and it ought to be placed on the 'mustsee' list of faculty, students, and staff."

The artist prefers not to describe his work or style but instead wants to let viewers come to their own decisions.

Miss Stone believes that the amount of work required of British and American students is generally the same. "In Britain, students must take a final examination only. However, more papers are required of British students during the term. I particularly like the British tutorial system, where students meet each week with their professors, in small groups or individually. It better enables one to discuss problems and to become acquainted with the professors," said Miss Stone. There is more day-to-day pressure for students at William and Mary, she added.

Whereas students at British universities are politically apathetic in general, there is usually a core of political activists, which is lacking on American campuses, Miss Stone notes. She defines herself as a Socialist who remains critical of some of the policies of the Labor party.

OFFICIAL MEMORANDA

Director of Special Programs Appointed

November 28, 1972

To: The College Community

I am pleased to inform you of further progress in the implementation of the decision by the Board of Visitors this past September to establish a new Office of Special Programs and to create a new post of Director of Special Programs.

Based on the recommendations of a special ad hoc committee chaired by Professor Clyde Haulman appointed to study the role of VARC as an integral part of the College, the Office of Special Programs will be located at VARC. This decision takes into account the ready availability of office space and supporting services at VARC, the desirability of enhancing and augmenting the College's presence and activities on the Peninsula, and the view that most of those who will be serviced through the Office of Special Programs are concentrated in the areas of Newport News and Hampton. Offerings through the Office of Special Programs will, of course, be available at the College as well.

At my recommendation, the Board of Visitors, through its Executive Committee, has approved the appointment of Mr. Carson H. Barnes as the first Director of Special Programs. Although his office will be located at VARC, Mr. Barnes will work closely with faculty members and faculty departments and schools throughout the College in the initiation and offering of an expanded program of innovative non-credit courses and seminars of particular interest and appeal to the adult population of the Tidewater area of Virginia.

In his new responsibilities, Mr. Barnes, who currently is Dean of Students at the College, will be responsible directly to Vice President for Academic Affairs George R. Healy. He brings to the position fourteen years of administrative experience at the College, academic qualifications that include a master's degree in education, a wide acquaintanceship among the residents of the Tidewater area and a keen interest in education for adults. Following also the recommendations of the ad hoc college-wide committee, there will be established shortly a Faculty Advisory Committee to work closely with Mr. Barnes in support of the Office of Special Programs, to aid in establishing policies and developing programs, and to advise the Director on the types, location and faculty of special programs.

Mr. Barnes will undertake his new responsibilities as soon as feasible, possibly starting early in the new calendar year, in order that the College may move strongly and swiftly toward developing further its educational services to the adult residents of the Tidewater area. At that time, he will be succeeded as Dean of Students by Mr. W. Samuel Sadler, whose appointment to his new position was approved by the Board of Visitors earlier this month.

The appointment of Mr. Barnes is in accordance with the understanding reached with him last spring that I would make every effort to identify another appropriate administrative position for him at the College.

WCWM Temporarily Off Air

WCWM will be off the air through the month of December. Unforeseen difficulties with the transmitter power boost to 50 watts is the reason for the delay.

WCWM will be on the air six to eight hours daily in January during reading period and exams.

Fausz Wins Grad Student Paper Prize

John F. Fausz, third year graduate student in history, won the 1972 graduate student paper prize of $50. The competition was sponsored by the Southern Conference on British Studies. Mr. Fausz's paper, written for Bruce T. McCully's British Empire seminar, is entitled: "The Lure of Virginia: Religious Impulse, English Patriotism, and the Popular Imagination, 1580-1641."

Thad W. Tate, director of the Institute of Early American History and Culture, was presented the check for Mr. Fausz at the recent Southern Historical Association convention in Hollywood, Florida.

Merry Christmas from

Campus Center

On December 12 and 13 the Campus Center will present to the College community the classic Christmas film, "Scrooge," starring Albert Finney and Alec Guinness. Showings will be at 8 p.m. both evenings in the Campus Center Ballroom with a 4 p.m. matinee on Wednesday the 13th. There will be no admission charge.

Wigwam/Campus Center Holiday Schedule

The Campus Center and Wigwam will close for the Christmas recess on Friday, December 15, at 7 p.m. and open on Wednesday, January 3, 7 a.m.

Job Openings

The following positions are open at the College. For information about these positions, apply at the Personnel Office in person, Room 201, James Blair Hall:

Switchboard Operator A

Clerk-Typist B

Individuals who are currently employed by the College will be considered for these positions provided that they have first advised their immediate supervisors in writing of their interest in being considered for other positions. A copy of this correspondence and an acknowledgement by the employee's supervisor must be received in the Personnel Office before the applicant will be considered.

Christmas Holidays

The administrative offices, the plant department (except for those employees required to maintain essential services), and the mail room of the College of William and Mary will be closed on the following dates to allow employees a seasonal holiday:

> From noon on Friday, December 22 through Monday, December 25, 1972

> > and

All day Saturday, December 30 through Monday, January 1, 1973

Regular hours will be observed on Saturday, December 23 and 30, and on Sunday, December 24 and 31, 1972, for those personnel who normally work on Saturday and/or Sunday.

The names of permanent classified employees who are required to work on either December 25 or January 1 should be reported in writing to the Personnel Office in order that they may be credited with compensatory leave. Permanent classified employees who are required to work on any of these days should take compensatory leave earned as soon thereafter as possible in order to avoid excessive leave accumulation. Hourly employees who work on any of these days will be paid at their regular hourly rates.

Student Government

Conference Held on Campus

The student body presidents from five state college and universities served as sponsors for the Virginia Students Government Conference which was held on campus last Saturday.

Bruce Bishop, Old Dominion University; Cornell Christianson, William and Mary; Lee Hancock, Mary Baldwin College; Chuck Lacy, VPI and SU; and Jim Rinaca, University of Virginia, served as sponsors for the conference which was held in the Campus Center.

Post Office Opening Delayed

Construction delays have postponed the opening of the campus post office, scheduled December 1.

In an announcement to the College community recently, Dennis K. Cogle, assistant to the vice president for business affairs, said that the earlier announcement that the postal facility would be open was based on the assurance by the contractors that certain work would be performed by that date.

"As of this date it does not appear to be feasible for us to predict a definite time when the Campus Post Office will be open," Mr. Cogle stated.

Mr. Cogle said that the Williamsburg Post Office has agreed to extend general delivery services to students until the new facility on campus is in operation.

Collegians Entertain

Head Starters

The Oral Interpretation class (Speech 203) taught by Marion Brown will present a story-telling time to the children of Head Start, who meet at the Williamsburg Baptist Church, on Thursday, December 14 at 1 p.m. in the Little Theatre of the Campus Center. Sixteen men students will be presenting the story-telling to the 36 children enrolled in Head Start.

President's Calendar

Tomorrow President Graves will attend the luncheon for Education Writers at the National Press Club in Washington, D.C. His travels take him to New Orleans December 9-13, where he will attend the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools meeting. While in New Orleans, Mr. Graves will meet with alumni of the College.

Graduate Study

Open Hearing

The Graduate Study Sub-Committee of the Institutional Self-Study will hold an open hearing for the discussion of graduate study at William and Mary in Room 101, Andrews Hall, Monday, Dec. 11, 8-10 p.m. For the purposes of the Self-Study, graduate education is construed to mean study beyond the baccalaureate level in the fields of Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Education, Law, and Marine Science. All members of the William and Mary community are invited to attend this open hearing and are urged to state their views or ask questions.
