'Pat and Agnes Paschall Library'

A permanent tribute to the retired former president of the College, Davis Y. Paschall, will be established in the new Alumni House on campus.

A gift from Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Zollinger '27, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., will be used at their request to construct an Alumni House library in the building. The facility will be known as the "Pat and Agnes Paschall Library."

Mr. Paschall retired in 1971 after eleven years as William and Mary's president. He was succeeded by Thomas A. Graves, Jr. Mr. Paschall now holds the honorary title of President Emeritus.

Announcement of the gift of $10,000 from the Zollingers was made by W. Brooks George of Richmond, chairman of the "New Era" fundraising effort being conducted by the Society of the Alumni.

The fund effort has a goal of $300,000, much of which will be used to renovate a 19th century former apartment building on campus for use as an alumni headquarters. The Zollinger gift, largest single contribution so far to the program, brings total receipts and pledges to $220,000.

Mr. George, who is chairman of the board of the House of Edgeworth tobacco manufacturing firm, said the Zollinger gift is "greatly appreciated by his many friends at the College of William and Mary. We are very grateful for the many fine things he has done for the College and especially for this pledge for the Library in the Alumni House."

In acknowledging the tribute, Mr. Paschall said, "This gift by Zollinger is another instance of his long and significant support of the College. The recognition accorded Agnes and me is, indeed, a high honor and we feel a deep sense of humility. We have hoped for so long to see a distinctive Alumni House for our Alma Mater, and this gift will help so much in its realization. May others be inspired to emulate Ed Zollinger's example."

Mr. Graves said that "Mr. Zollinger has been a devoted alumnus of the College for many years, as well as a tremendously effective member of the Board of Visitors. The gift of $10,000 which he and Mrs. Zollinger have now made to the 'New Era' campaign of the Society of the Alumni, in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Paschall, for the new Alumni House is a wonderfully generous gesture. I hope that it will be a beacon and inspiration for alumni and friends of the College everywhere, as the Society moves toward its $300,000 goal."

Mr. Zollinger, a native of Wylliesburg, Va., is retired assistant to the president of IBM Corp. He has been a member of the William and Mary Board on two occasions, and is active in numerous support efforts at the College. His gifts have established the Museum in the Earl Gregg Swem Library, special library collections, several scholarships and programs for the athletic program. He is also past national president of his college social fraternity, Sigma Phi Epsilon.

John Pagan is Scholarship Finalist

John Pagan, senior concentrator in history, resident associate in Project PLUS, reached the final round of competition for the Rhodes Scholarship at interviews in New Orleans on December 16. The one nominee of the College this year for the Rhodes competition, he distinguished himself by being selected by the Arkansas State Committee of Selection as one of the two students to be passed on from that state into the final competition and interviews in New Orleans. Although he was eventually not selected as one of the 32 students in the country to receive the scholarship, he was one of the 100 finalists across the nation from whom the 32 winners were chosen.

President Graves reviews architect's plans for an Alumni House library with Davis Y. Paschall, President Emeritus of the College (center) and Gordon C. Vliet '54, Executive Secretary of the Society of the Alumni. The library will be named for Dr. and Mrs. Paschall as the result of a large gift from J. Edward Zollinger '27.

MacArthur Scholarships

The MacArthur Memorial Foundation in Norfolk has announced that it will offer to students of the College two scholarships honoring General Douglas MacArthur.

The scholarships are among six announced by the Foundation for students at William and Mary, Old Dominion University, Virginia Wesleyan College and Norfolk State College.

According to retired Marine Maj. Gen. Norman Anderson, executive director of the Foundation, a $1,000 undergraduate scholarship and a $1,500 graduate scholarship at the College will be known as the Inchon Scholarship and the Douglas MacArthur Statesman Scholarship, respectively.

The undergraduate scholarships will be for the study of some particular campaign of MacArthur's or for the study of subjects closely related to his campaigns. Mr. Anderson said that for the first year the subject will be the Inchon campaign.

The graduate scholarships will be for the study of the general's "contribution to the determination of U.S. policy with respect to a significant international problem," Mr. Anderson said.

Mr. Anderson hopes that the scholarships will be expanded to other schools and areas, but that will require additional funds. Recipients of the present scholarships will most likely do much of their research in the archives at the MacArthur Memorial. He noted that the deadline for applications is March 1, and that they should be made at the schools themselves.

STAFF NOTES

Swem Library

Henry Grunder, curator, was a guest Tuesday afternoon on WAVY-TV Magazine. He was interviewed about his work with the Peter Chapin Collection in the library.

Effective January 1, Miss Mildred Arthur assumed duties as secretary to the associate librarian. Miss Arthur has completed three years of undergraduate study at William and Mary. She replaces Mrs. Mary Crooks, who resigned to accept a position in the School of Education at the College.

CAMPUS PROFILE/Martha Muntean

Mrs. Muntean

Martha Muntean recalls fondly her tenure as a member of the Women's Army Corps from 1958-60. Joining the Armed Forces can provide a great opportunity for young men and women whose parents are unable to afford them an education beyond high school, she feels. "Joining the WAC afforded me opportunity that I would not have had otherwise. In addition to the training I received, I was afforded an opportunity to travel extensively and meet many exciting, wonderful people," she stated.

Mrs. Muntean, who did her basic training at Fort McClellan, Ala., received hospital training at Fort Sam Houston, Texas. She was discharged from the WAC as a specialist 4 at Fort Eustis, where she had been a member of the eye clinic staff in the men's ward of the hospital.

Faculty Club Cocktail Party

The William and Mary Faculty Club will present its third cocktail party of the year on Friday, January 26. Guests for this party will be the officers of the United Virginia Bank of Williamsburg. These are the people who sponsor the traditional and very popular "Bank Party" each September for the college community.

The event will be held in the Sit 'n Bull room of the Campus Center from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Tickets may be obtained from Richard Prosl at the customary fare: Members $1.50 per person; non-drinking members $.50 per person; and non-members $3.00 per person.

Recently staff members responded to an appeal for aid from the librarian of Wilkes College in Wilkes-Barre, Pa. This response took the form of several cartons of duplicate books and periodicals which were mailed to the Wilkes College Library to replace materials which were irreparably damaged by Hurricane Agnes in June, 1972. Flood waters rendered useless approximately 30,000 volumes and the entire periodicals collection of Wilkes College, a private, liberal arts college with an enrollment of approximately 3400.

Mrs. Muntean, formerly a clerk-typist in the Payroll Office, was promoted to payroll clerk in July, 1972, upon the retirement of Mrs. Bernice Sykes. She has been a member of the staff since March, 1966.

A 1958 graduate of Grundy High School, Grundy, Va., Mrs. Muntean is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Melton of that city.

Her husband, David, whom she met while in service, is employed at the U.S. Post Office in Williamsburg. Mr. and Mrs. Muntean are the parents of two sons, David, Jr., 11, and Richard, 8.

Mrs. Muntean enjoys playing chess and tennis with her husband.

BULLETIN

Holiday Schedule for 1973

The 1970 General Assembly approved the following schedule of legal holidays to be observed in the Commonwealth of Virginia.

The holidays to be observed in 1973 are listed below:

New Year's Day	Jan. 1
Lee-Jackson Day	Jan. 15
George Washington's Day	Feb. 19
Confederate Memorial Day	May 28
Independence Day	July 4
Labor Day	Sept. 3
Columbus Day	Oct. 8
Veterans Day	Oct. 22
Election Day	Nov. 6
Thanksgiving Day	Nov. 22
Christmas Day	Dec. 25

Any other day so appointed by the Governor of Virginia or the President of the United States.

This revised holiday schedule is furnished for information only. Holiday notices will be promulgated during the calendar year as appropriate.

Lee-Jackson Day

In accordance with the holiday schedule as revised by the 1970 General Assembly, Lee-Jackson Day falls on Monday, Jan. 15, 1973.

This holiday should be given, as far as practicable, to members of each department. It is recognized that certain services must be maintained in the various departments, but these services should be furnished on the holiday by a minimum number of employees. The responsibility for determining the number of employees rests with the department head. It is not a decision to be made by the employees of the department.

A leave slip should be submitted to the Personnel Office for any permanent classified employee who takes leave on this holiday. Permanent classified employees who are required to work on this holiday should take the compensatory leave earned as soon thereafter as possible in order to avoid leave accumulation. Hourly employees who work on this holiday will be paid at their regular hourly rates.

New Admission Policy Initiated by CW

With the implementation of a new General Admission Ticket policy by Colonial Williamsburg, the policy for area residents visiting Colonial Williamsburg will be altered. All residents of Williamsburg, James City County and the Bruton District of York County are eligible for a resident pass. This entitles them to admission to all the exhibition buildings, Palace, Capitol, gardens, buses, and Carter's Grove. To receive these passes residents must apply at the Information Center or write to the Office of Special Events. All students at the College may use their college ID card in lieu of a resident pass.

In addition, a $10 annual ticket is available to residents of the Virginia Peninsula area.

Under the new plan, tickets will be needed for admission to many areas not formerly included under the ticket plan. A ticket is now required to ride the bus that tours the restored area, to visit craft shops and to attend evening lectures and film programs sponsored by Colonial Williamsburg. These areas have been added to the exhibition buildings included under the previous plan.

According to George F. Wright, Director of Travel Development, in a "Town Host Letter," the new plan is the first step in a plan that will enhance the tranquility of the Historic Area by reducing automobile traffic, adding "life on the scene" and presenting Colonial Williamsburg as a "total experience."

"The new plan also is an effort to encourage all visitors to Colonial Williamsburg to share in the cost of their visit. Last year nearly 40 percent or approximately 400,000 people did not purchase tickets or otherwise share in the cost of presenting the Historic Area. Thus, this new General Admission Ticket plan is an effort to protect and preserve the very things which visitors have come here to see and experience."

Further information on the new ticket program may be obtained by calling Mr. Wright's office at 229-1000.

OFFICIAL MEMORANDA

From: Carter O. Lowance
To: All Members of the Student Body, Faculties and Administration
Subject: Statement of Rights and Responsibilities:

The Board of Student Affairs submitted to President Graves on November 28 the final draft of the Statement of Rights and Responsibilities, which represents months of painstaking study, consultation, and review. The document now incorporates amendments resulting from discussions among students, faculties and administration, and is ready for consideration of these constituencies in the ratification process.

The President previously has advised the Board of Student Affairs that it would be designated as the steering committee for ratification, and this memorandum confirms that advice and requests the BSA to proceed as promptly as feasible in establishing the ratification guidelines. It will be the responsibility of the BSA that all parties to the ratification be fully informed on the procedures, and that they have access to all other appropriate information pertaining to the question.

The Statement of Rights and Responsibilities, as finally approved by the BSA, is appended to this memorandum. It is the document on which members of the student body, faculties and administration will vote in their ratification referenda. If adopted, the Statement will be subject to approval of the President and the Board of Visitors.

Carter O. Lowance
 Executive Vice President

Statement of Rights and Responsibilities The College of William and Mary in Virginia

The unique nature of the college community suggests that its members be united in a common purpose. Because the work of each member of the institution contributes to the fulfillment of the educational mission of the College, the various constituent groups--students, faculty and administrators--are dependent upon one another for the ultimate achievement of the College's goals. Accordingly, all should enjoy the same rights and privileges and be willing to accept the same responsibilities, except in those rare cases where such would be in conflict with existing law or with the goals and purposes of the College as an institution of higher education.

The members of the college community, therefore, including students, faculty and administrators, shall enjoy all rights, privileges and immunities guaranteed to every citizen of the United States and the Commonwealth of Virginia. In addition, these members of the college community shall enjoy all of the fundamental rights recognized as essential to fulfillment of the special mission of an institution of higher education. The full enjoyment of these rights, however, cannot be achieved unless certain concurrent responsibilities are accepted. Members of the college community have an obligation, therefore, to fulfill the responsibilities incumbent on all citizens as well as the responsibilities inherent in their particular roles within the academic community.

The institution and those who administer its affairs have a special responsibility to insure that in pursuance of its functions, the rights of all members of the college community are preserved. The institution also has a right to expect, and a responsibility to insure within the scope of its legitimate functions as an institution of higher education, that individual members of the college community fulfill their responsibilities to others as well as their responsibilities to the institution.

The following Statement of Rights and Responsibilities is based upon the aforesaid principles and, when adopted, shall become the standard by which all rules, regulations, policies and procedures of the College, except as otherwise prescribed by local, State or Federal law, shall be measured. No rule, regulation, policy or procedure which is incompatible with or which contradicts this document may be enacted and any such rules, regulations, policies or procedures which are in effect at the time of the enactment of this document shall be reviewed as soon as reasonably practicable to conform with this document.

I

The members of the college community, as defined above, shall enjoy all rights, privileges and immunities guaranteed every citizen of the United States and the Commonwealth of Virginia.

- A. Among the basic rights are freedom of expression and belief, freedom of association and peaceful assembly and freedom from personal force and violence, threats of violence and personal abuse.
- B. Each member of the college community has a right in his or her dealings with the institution, institutionally recognized organizations and members of the college community to non-discriminatory treatment without regard to race, creed, sex, religion, national origin, or political belief.
- C. Each member of the college community has the right to organize his or her own personal life and behavior in so far as it does not violate the law or agreements voluntarily entered into, and does not interfere with the rights of others. Members of the college community shall not attempt to use the institution as a sanctuary from the general law. The following specific rights apply:
 1. Right to associate with any legally established group or to create such groups, professional or other, as serve legitimate interests.
 - a. The membership, policies, and actions of an organization will be determined by vote of those who hold membership in said organization.
 - b. Affiliation with an extramural organization shall not disqualify an organization from institutional recognition.
 - c. An organization will be officially recognized after its constitution and by-laws have been approved by the appropriate body as designated by the President or his delegated representative and when consistent with the By-Laws of the Board of Visitors. A current list of officers may be required as a condition of recognition but under no circumstances shall an organization be required to submit a membership list.
 - d. Officially recognized organizations, including those affiliated with an extramural organization, shall be open to all on a non-discriminatory basis without regard to race, religion, creed, national origin, sex or political belief.
 2. Right to hold public meetings, to invite speakers to campus of their own choosing, to post notices and to engage in peaceful, orderly demonstrations within reasonably and impartially applied rules designed to reflect the educational purposes of the College and to protect the safety of others. The College may establish rules, therefore, regulating time, place, and manner of such activities and allocating the use of facilities but these regulations may not be used as a means of censorship. It should be made clear that sponsorship of guest speakers does not necessarily imply approval or endorsement of the views expressed, either by the sponsoring group or the institution.
 3. Right, when charged or convicted of violation of general law, to be free of College sanction for the same conduct unless exclusion from the College Community is determined to be essential to the protection of other members of the College Community or the safeguarding of the educational process.
- D. Each member of the college community has a right to fair and equitable procedures which shall determine the validity of charges of violation of non-academic college regulations and the sanctions or penalties to be imposed, including the following specific rights:

1. Right to have advance written notice of all institutional rules and regulations including the ranges of penalties for violation of such rules and regulations.
 2. Right, in the case of charges of infractions of regulations which may lead to serious penalties, to formal procedures with fundamental aspects of due process, including the right to be informed in writing of the charges and given a reasonable time to prepare a defense, to be represented by counsel of choice, to present and cross-examine witnesses, to have written findings and to appeal to a higher authority. Minor infractions may be handled more informally by the appropriate individual or committee with the consent of the individual charged. In such instances the right of appeal is still preserved.
 3. Right to be present on campus, participate in classes, and generally exercise all those rights and privileges associated with membership in the college community until found guilty of the charges, except in those instances when continued presence on the campus would constitute a threat to the health, safety or well-being of the individual, other members of the community, or to the educational process. Such determination shall be made by the appropriate college authority as designated by the President.
- E. Each member of the college community has a right to privacy in his or her dealings with the institution, including:
1. The right to be free of searches and seizures except in accordance with law. Routine inspections, however, may be held periodically for the purpose of assuring fire protection, sanitation, safety and proper maintenance of the College's buildings.
 2. The right to expect that all records of his or her association with the institution are treated as confidential.
 - a. The institution may not release information about any aspect of an individual's official association with the institution (other than that information which is a matter of public record) without the prior written consent of the individual concerned or under the compulsion of law. The institution does, however, reserve the right to announce the bestowal of honors on its members. Within the institution, access to such records shall be restricted to authorized personnel for authorized reasons and such others as are agreed to in writing by the subject.
 - b. Each member of the college community shall have the right to inspect the contents of his or her own records kept by the institution and may request the destruction of any information not relevant to a proper evaluation of his or her performance within the institution or unsupported allegations constituting hearsay. Individuals shall also have the right to challenge the accuracy of any information contained in the records, in which case, the institution shall undertake to verify the accuracy of such information to the satisfaction of the subject or make a permanent notation in the record that the accuracy of such information has been challenged by the subject. Subsequent authorized disclosure of the contents of the record shall indicate such challenge.
 - c. Records of the political activities or beliefs of members of the college community may not be maintained except for purposes of official recognition.
 - d. To minimize the risk of improper disclosure from student records, the academic record shall be maintained separately from other necessary student records. Transcripts of academic records shall contain only information about academic performance and status. All withdrawals prior to graduation, whether voluntary or involuntary, shall be recorded on the transcript.
- A. Each member of the college community has a responsibility based upon the special mission of an institution of higher education to respect the rights of others to function in an atmosphere where freedom to teach, to learn and to conduct research and publish findings are preserved and respected, an atmosphere which includes without limitation the following specific rights:
1. Right of the instructor to determine the specific content of his or her course within established course definitions. Concurrently, the instructor has the responsibility not to depart significantly from his or her area of competence or to divert significant time to materials extraneous to the subject of the course.
 2. Right of the student to be evaluated entirely on the basis of academic performance and to freely discuss, inquire and express opinions inside the classroom. The student has a responsibility to maintain standards of academic performance as set by his or her professors provided, however, that the student shall have means for redress against arbitrary, unreasonable or prejudicial standards or evaluation.
 3. Right to pursue normal academic and administrative activities, including freedom of movement.
 4. Right to privacy in offices, laboratories and dormitory rooms and in the keeping of personal papers and effects.
 5. Right to hear and study unpopular and controversial views on intellectual and public issues.
 6. Right of the student to expect that information about his or her views, beliefs, and political associations which an instructor acquires in the course of his work as a teacher, advisor or counselor of the student be held in confidence.
- B. Since student publications are a valuable aid in establishing and maintaining an atmosphere of free and responsible discussion and intellectual exploration on the campus, it is essential that they enjoy the following rights and responsibilities:
1. Right to be free from prior censorship or advance approval of copy.
 2. Right to develop editorial policies and news coverage.
 3. Right to be protected from arbitrary punishment or suspension, or removal from his or her position because of student, faculty, administrative, or public disapproval of editorial policy or content. Only for proper and stated causes, as defined by the Publications Council of the College, shall editors and managers be subject to punishment or suspension or removal. The academic status of a student editor or manager shall not be affected under any circumstances.
 4. Responsibility to adhere to the canons of responsible journalism as defined by the Publications Council.
 5. Responsibility to make clear in writings or broadcasts that editorial opinions are not necessarily those of the institution or its members.
- C. Members of the faculty and staff of the College have a responsibility to maintain the highest standards in the performance of their duties.

III

The College and those who administer its affairs have a special responsibility to insure that in pursuance of its functions, the rights of all members of the college community are preserved, including, without limitation the rights of such persons heretofore specifically enumerated.

II

The members of the college community, as defined above, have a responsibility to fulfill the obligations incumbent on all citizens as well as the responsibilities of their particular role within the academic community.

The College has a right to expect, and a responsibility to insure, within the scope of its legitimate functions as an institution of higher education, that all members of the college community fulfill their responsibilities to others as well as their responsibilities to the College.

- A. The College has the right and responsibility to set and enforce reasonable standards of academic performance and personal conduct in order to facilitate and safeguard the educational process and to provide for the safety of the person and property of members of the campus community, the College's physical property, and the person and property of others to the extent that they are affected by College sponsored activities or are engaged in legitimate activities on College property.
- B. The College has the right and responsibility to provide procedures for determining the validity of charges that a member of the college community is negligent or irresponsible in performance of his or her duties.
- C. The College has the responsibility to insure that the members of the college community have an opportunity to be heard at appropriate levels of the decision making process about basic policy matters of direct concern. Clearly defined means should be available to insure such participation.
- D. The College has the responsibility to provide and maintain leadership and administrative procedures responsive to the needs and desires of the college community, consistent with high standards of academic excellence and to the changing goals and responsibilities of institutions of higher education, including the responsibility:
 1. To make, from time to time, a clear statement of its purpose and goals.
 2. To disseminate information relating to the activities of the College, financial or otherwise.
 3. To define the reasons and justification for institutional decisions affecting the college community or individual members thereof.

E. The College has the responsibility to protect its integrity from external and internal attacks unrelated to the performance of academic activities and to prevent its political or financial exploitation by an individual or group.

1. The College has a right to prohibit individuals and groups who are not members of the college community from using its name, its finances, or its physical facilities.
2. The College has the right to prohibit members of the college community from using its name, its finances or its physical facilities for activities not principally for the benefit of the College.
3. The College has the responsibility to provide for members of the college community the use of meeting rooms, including use for political purposes, provided that such is not undertaken on a regular basis and used as free headquarters for political campaigns, and the responsibility to prohibit use of its name, its finances or office equipment for any political purpose at any time.

IV

This document shall be adopted and may be amended when:

Looking Back—1972

Major changes in several areas of campus life during 1972 reflected new directions for the College under the administration of President Graves.

Mr. Graves was installed as the College's 24th President at Charter Day Ceremonies in February.

The College initiated a highly successful academic-residential program for sophomores entitled Project PLUS.

James C. Livingston, chairman of the department of religion, was appointed to the new post of Dean of the Undergraduate Program. According to President Graves, the purpose in creating the new administrative office was to "bring about a closer and more effective working relationship between student affairs and academic affairs by the placement of responsibility in one office for the integration and coordination of all aspects of the undergraduate educational program."

Dr. Richard D. Cilley, a physician on the University of New Hampshire's student health service staff, was appointed Director of Student Health Services following a reorganization of the student health program.

Retirement age for administrative, faculty and staff members was lowered from 70 to 65 by the Board of Visitors at its April meeting.

The College consolidated continuing studies courses. It was announced that undergraduate Evening College classes would be offered on campus and at Christopher Newport College, but not elsewhere, and graduate courses in Williamsburg and at the Virginia Associated Research Campus in Newport News. The School of Continuing Studies was abolished.

The Office of Institutional Research was established and is expected to play a vital role in the decision-making processes in the future by supplying vital data to administrators. Named to head this office was D. J. Herrmann.

In another direction, the College sought to expand its services to the residents of the Peninsula with the appointment of Carson Barnes, now Dean of Students, to the new post of Director of Special Programs with offices at the Virginia Associated Research Campus. The appointment came after Mr. Barnes threatened legal action following announcement that he would not be reappointed Dean of Students next fall.

A multi-million fund drive was being planned by the new Office of College Development. In response to President Graves' desire for a unified fund raising effort by the college, the Board of the Society of the Alumni at its December meeting endorsed "the examination of the concept" of centralized fund raising while maintaining the Society as "an independent and autonomous organization."

A Parents' Association was formed.

A college-wide self study was begun in 1972.

At year's end, the concept of a College-wide Assembly composed of students, administrators and faculty had been accepted by the faculties of the Schools of Education, Business Administration, Law and Sciences. A student referendum has been set for Feb. 22.

A $2 million, 5-year renovation program has been proposed to enable the College to continue modernizing residence halls on an adequate working schedule.

Renovations were made at the President's House, built in 1732, and air conditioning installed.

In order to improve internal communications at the College, a new weekly newspaper The William and Mary News, consolidated previous official internal publications. President Graves established a policy of using the new publication for campus-wide announcements to staff, students and faculty and every effort was made to keep the campus community apprised of news concerning the College. Mrs. Eleanor R. Anderson was appointed editor of the newspaper. This policy was challenged by members of the local press in connection with announcements by the Board of Visitors.

In the area of students rights, dormitories voted on visiting hours for members of the opposite sex. A new card key system was established.

The College's first full-time black professor was hired to teach African cultural anthropology. Louis J. Noisin, formerly a member of the Hampton Institute faculty has been a career diplomat in Haiti.

Work was started at the end of October on a new $100,000 eight-lane track at Cary Field.

Research on campus during 1972 covered a wide spectrum of academic fields.

Preliminary archaeological work by members of the Anthropology Department at Flowerdew Hundred, site of one of the earliest plantations in America, indicated a find of great magnitude.

Several retirements and new appointments were noted during the year. Robert T. English retired as vice president for Business Affairs, and was replaced by William J. Carter, who held a similar position at Hollins College.

W. Warner Moss, a member of the Department of Government and Director of the Marshall-Wythe Institute retired after 25 years with the College.

J. Wilfred Lambert, vice president for student affairs, announced that he would retire in September, 1973.

Samuel Sadler, Dean of Men, was appointed Dean of Students, effective next year.

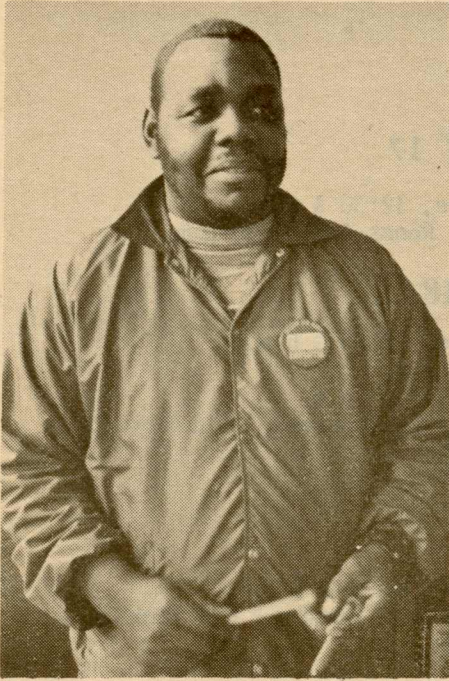

Thaddeus W. Tate was appointed Director of the Institute of Early American History and Culture, replacing Stephen G. Kurtz who left to become Dean of Hamilton College.

William T. Allen became Director of the Office of Purchases and Stores, replacing retiring Charles E. Chandler.

James M. Carson, chief executive at Richard Bland College since its establishment in 1960, announced he would retire in 1973.

Other new faces on campus included Head Football Coach Jim Root, Bernard L. Carnevale, Director of Athletics, and Edward Ashnault, new head basketball coach.
