Nancy Williams in Voice Recital Sunday

The Department of Music will present Nancy Lee Williams, soprano, in a senior recital Sunday at 4 p.m. at Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium. Miss Williams' recital is in partial fulfillment for the B.A. degree in Music. She will be accompanied at the piano by Kathleen Moriarty. The public is cordially invited.

She has the distinction of having been awarded the first full tuition scholarship given by the College. Known as the Frances Van Der Meid Scholarship, the award is made possible through the generosity of Mrs. Arthur A. Smith of La Jolla, California.

Miss Moriarty is also a music concentrator. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority, the William and Mary Choir, and Delta Delta Chapter of Delta Omicron, international music fraternity.

An Invitation

Faculty, staff and students are invited to attend the Charter Day Convocation on Saturday, February 10, at 11 A.M. in Phi Beta Kappa Hall. The 280th Anniversary of the grant of the College's Royal Charter is to be commemorated. The principal address will be delivered by the Hon. Colgate W. Darden, Jr., distinguished statesman and educator. Thomas Jefferson Awards will be presented to two outstanding members of the College community.

Housekeeping Unit Reorganized

Mr. Boyce, and Mr. Judkins

A reorganization of the housekeeping portion of the Buildings and Grounds Department has just recently been completed and adopted. The designated executive housekeeper, Henry E. Kipps, feels this new organization will allow more flexibility in custodial worker assignments, permit supervisors to react more quickly to unexpected requirements and situations and make definite strides toward improving conditions in the custodial field on campus. Basically, the new organization is broken down into five sections with each section being headed by a qualified supervisor who has the knowledge and authority to make "on the spot" decisions and adjustments.

The decentralization of supervision to the field was made possible over the past five months during which time Mr. Kipps has been successful in obtaining three top level supervisors who head up the three main sections of campus buildings, namely, the academic buildings, women's residences and the men's residences. These sections are headed respectively by Ernest Boyce, Evelyn Ripley and Jack Journey. The two other sections include a night shift headed by Clyde Judkins and an administrative, supply and special assignments section headed by Shirley Baker.

A series of meetings was held last week during which time Mr. Kipps covered new procedures and instructions with each custodian. He stressed the need for a definite upgrading of conditions throughout the campus buildings and indicated that new systems and methods would be tested and instituted as appropriate. He urged all employees to put forth a sincere effort and to strive for perfection so that the goal of being second to none may become a reality.

Bookstore Adds Trade Book Manager

Bruce Locke, bookstore manager, has announced that he will add a trade book manager to his staff as part of an expansion program over the next several months.

John S. Freeman will become the bookstore's first trade book manager on February 1. Mr. Freeman is a 1970 graduate of Brown University where he received the B.A. degree in honors classics and ancient Greek history. Since April, 1971, he has been with Scribner's Bookstore in Williamsburg. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Z. Freeman, are both members of the faculty.

Trade books are those books which are neither required nor suggested reading for a particular academic course. Mr. Locke would like to see the bookstore become more "trade book conscious" and a greater concentration of college oriented reading material put into effect.

Mr. Freeman will be initially responsible for the recataloguing of all the existing trade books in the bookstore. This will involve rearranging these books by subject matter rather than the present system of classifying them by the publisher. He will also be responsible for implementing a better inventory control system so that the bookstore can reorder those books which are selling and discontinue those which are not. In this manner the bookstore can respond to what the faculty and students are buying.

Another duty of the trade manager will be to contact faculty members in order to discern those books which the faculty would most like to have made available to them in the bookstore.

The bookstore will also be altering its physical appearance in the near future. Within approximately five months the bookstore hopes to begin accommodating its increased number of books as well as providing more office space for its employees. Mr. Locke emphasized that the new developments will come about in stages.

Memorial Service

A memorial service will be held today in Wren Chapel at 7:30 p.m. for Dennis Petocz, a senior who died in Garfield, N.J., on January 27. Father Plageman, Catholic chaplain, will officiate at the service.

CAMPUS PROFILE/Kenneth E. Smith, Jr.

Mr. Smith

"Always the unexpected" is Kenneth E. Smith, Jr.'s version of life at the Campus Center.

Mr. Smith, recently appointed associate director of the Campus Center and director of student activities, refers to himself as "all-around overseer" at the Center where he has been employed since October 1969. In addition to generally being in charge of all the physical arrangements in the building, he supervises the student employees, the main desk, the game room, and the art exhibits displayed throughout the year. In his new position he will also be responsible for providing special services and advising the College's student organizations, advising the College's social fraternities and sororities, and maintaining the College's activities calendar.

A native of Richmond, Mr. Smith graduated from William and Mary in February 1969 with a degree in psychology. As an undergraduate he was president of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity, a member of the Colonial Echo staff, and an office assistant in the Dean of Men's office. Following graduation he served six months active duty in the Air Force before returning to William and Mary.

Mr. Smith feels that his close contact with students is beneficial to him in determining the kinds of things students would like to have available to them. "The most challenging part of the

Films Tomorrow Night at Bruton Parish House

The Drug Action Center's upcoming monthly Community Awareness Session will feature two critically acclaimed drug education films tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Bruton Parish House.

Following the films, an open discussion group will be conducted by the D.A.C. staff. The public is invited.

Community Awareness Sessions are presented monthly by the Drug Action Center as a public service intended to keep the community informed of the problems of drug abuse and the sources of help.

To enable students to call the "Hotline" more easily, the Center has been granted the use of Ext. 554 on campus.

job is stimulating student interest in the Campus Center and being able to come up with things that the majority of the students want and need." Although with the addition of new College buildings the Campus Center is now on the fringes of the main campus, business is not slack. "Now that we are no longer in the center of things, students have to make a special effort to come here, and they are. We are especially concerned with making the day students, who don't have a dormitory to go to between classes, feel that this is their 'home away from home.'"

In addition to other duties, Mr. Smith represents the College every year at The Association of College Unions International, a professional organization designed to help persons in the student union field develop professionally. He is also a member of the Concert Committee and works at the Phi Beta Kappa Hall box office for the Concert Series.

Mr. Smith and his wife, Martha, a 1970 graduate of William and Mary, are residents of Newport News.
