Students Reject College Assembly Proposal

The College Assembly Proposal was defeated Thursday in a student referendum by 1,080 to 685. Some 1,765, or 46.5% of the total student body voted.

Voting distribution was as follows:

Day students: 71 no; 27 yes
Freshman men: 169 no; 147 yes
Freshman women: 153 no;
192 yes
Remaining dorm students:
678 no; 319 yes

Job Opportunity

Project PLUS, the College's academic and residential program, continuing its second year with the fall of 1973, will have a vacancy on its staff for a Resident Administrator as of September 1.

Essential to the success of Project PLUS is a married couple resident in the building. One of the two spouses will be employed full time to counsel students in both social and organizational matters as well as to carry general administrative responsibilities for the residence. It would be expected that the person occupying this position would have strong intellectual interests and would hopefully have a college degree (or at least academic progress close to that of a degree).

For further details please contact Carl Beyer, Director of Honors & Experimental Programs, at Ext. 417 or 549.

The current Resident Administrator, Mrs. Sue Carron, who with her husband, has had six months of experience in the position, will be available to talk with anyone interested.

Airline Executive to Speak March 1

A. Scott Crossfield, a vice president with Eastern Airlines, will speak March 1 at 7:30 p.m. in the Moot Court Room of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law, on "New Initiatives in Abating Aircraft Noise."

A test pilot and aviation systems analyst, Mr. Crossfield was the first man to fly a piloted aircraft in space, the X-15. In his present position he is engaged in designing aircraft operations to minimize noise and other environmental problems.

Mr. Crossfield's lecture is one in the current Visiting Lecture Series in Environmental Law and Policy, sponsored by the Marshall-Wythe School of Law.

Alpha Phi Omega Observes 10th Anniversary

Donald Rice, president of the Nu Rho Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, recently accepted an award from the national office of the fraternity commemorating Nu Rho's 10th anniversary. This certificate of recognition was presented by Michael Cannaday, sectional vice-chairman for Virginia. Alpha Phi Omega is a national service fraternity, the largest Greek letter service organization in the country, founded in 1925 at Lafayette College in Easton, Pa. Membership in the fraternity is open to all undergraduate students at the College. Those interested are cordially invited to attend meetings on Wednesdays at 7 p.m. in James Blair 205.

Requirement Change in Junior Year at Exeter Program

There has been a change in the requirements for the Junior Year at Exeter Program which was not included in last week's announcement in The William and Mary News.

According to Cecil McCulley, chairman, committee A, National Scholarships and Foreign Exchange Scholarships, this program is not limited to future English concentrators but is open to students who wish to take three English courses and two courses in one or more of the following departments: government, history, philosophy, psychology, sociology and theology.

Students interested in the Junior Year at Exeter Program or the St. Andrews and Exeter Exchange Scholarships should contact Mr. McCulley at Ext. 439. Applications must be submitted by March 9.

Norfolk Symphony Concert

The Norfolk Symphony, under the direction of Russell Stanger, will give a concert in Phi Beta Kappa Hall, March 4 at 8:30 p.m.

The program will include "Roman Carnival," by Berlioz; two nocturnes, "Clouds," and "Festivals," by Debussy; Lalo's Symphony Espagnole for violin and orchestra, featuring Pierre d'Archambeau; and Dvorak's Symphony No. 4 in G major, opus 88.

Tickets are $4 for adults and $2 for children

John R. Pagan is Marshall Scholarship Recipient

The British Consulate General has announced that John R. Pagan, an honors history concentrator, has been awarded a Marshall Scholarship for the years 1973-75.

The first William and Mary student ever to receive this award, he plans to use the scholarship at Merton College, Oxford University, beginning next September.

The Marshall Scholarship program was established in 1953 by the United Kingdom Government as an expression of British gratitude for the European Recovery Program instituted by General George C. Marshall in 1947 under which generous economic assistance was provided by the United States of America for the recovery of Britain and other European countries after World War II.

Mr. Pagan, a senior, is a 1969 graduate of Hall High School in Little Rock, Ark. He is currently resident associate in Project PLUS, the sophomore academic and residential program on campus; a member of Phi Beta Kappa; Omicron Delta Kappa, the honorary leadership fraternity; and the Educational Policy Committee.

Pagan spent his junior year abroad at the University of Exeter and during his freshman and sophomore years was a speaker for the Student Association Senate.

Two Chemists Awarded Grants

David E. Kranbuehl and Melvyn D. Schiavelli have been awarded grants by the American Chemical Society's Petroleum Research Foundation.

The PRF provides support for fundamental research in the area of petroleum chemistry to selected staff members of undergraduate departments particularly to stimulate student interest in graduate study and to improve the qualifications of the faculty members.

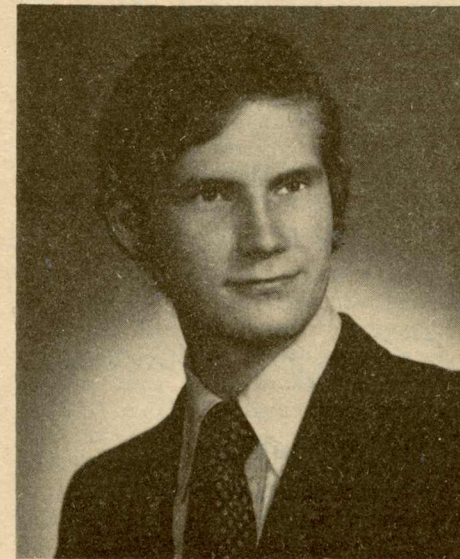

Funds are also used to provide support for research by undergraduate students during the summer months and are used to purchase equipment and chemicals.

Mr. Schiavelli's grant for $4,000 supplements a current grant in the amount of $7,000 awarded by the PRF in June '72 and which is in effect until August '74.

The funds will be used to support research on the chemistry of Halollenes, a new class of organic compounds whose reactivity is of theoretical interest. These Allenes have counterparts that occur in nature but whose function is currently unknown.

Mr. Kranbuehl's grant of $9,800 will be used to examine the dynamic behavior of polymer molecules using Monte Carlo techniques. The object of this research is to simulate the mobility and the flexibility of large polymer molecules when they are in solution and when they are in the glassy-plastic state.

The primary emphasis will be on increasing understanding of materials in the glassy-plastic state; however, the properties of flexibility and mobility relate to such diverse topics as elasticity in automobile tires, microwave heating, frequency characteristics of electrical insulators and the uncoiling of the DNA helix.

Faculty News

Biology

C. Richard Terman, professor, attended the meeting of the American Association for Advancement of Science in Washington, D.C., recently. He presented a paper entitled "Studies of Population Growth Regulation in Deermice: Mechanisms of Regulation are Reflected by Histological and Weight Characteristics of the Reproductive Organs." Also program officer of the Animal Behavior Society, he was responsible for the organization of the Society's program at those meetings.

Donna M. E. Ware, curator of the Department's herbarium, recently contributed a taxonomic treatment of the plant genus Valerianella, the lamb's lettuce or corn salads, to the Manual of the Vascular Flora of the Southeastern United States. This forthcoming Manual will be the first floristic treatment of the entire Southeast in 40 years.

Lawrence L. Wiseman, assistant professor, presented a William and Mary visiting biologists seminar on January 22 at Maryland Hall at the University of Richmond. The title of the seminar was "Movement and Adhesion of Normal and Cancer Cells: Experimental Modulation." It was attended by the faculty, graduate and undergraduate students.

Martin C. Mathes, associate professor, attended the regional meeting of the American Society of Plant Physiologists held in Atlanta from February 5 to 7.

Business Administration

James F. Smith, assistant professor, has an article, "Evaluating the Disc Election," in the winter (1973) issue of The Louisiana Certified Public Accountant.

Government

Richard E. Damon, assistant professor, spoke to a group of NATO officers at the Armed Forces Staff College in Norfolk on American government and politics, February 9.

Law

John E. Donaldson, professor, delivered a paper on "Policy Aspects of Individual Income Tax Returns" at the Carolina chapter of the Tax Executives Institute in Winston-Salem, February 17.

Dominik Lasok, visiting exchange professor at the College in 1966-67, is co-author with John R. Bridge of the University of Exeter law faculty of a new textbook, Introduction to the Law and Institutions of the European Economic Community. The book will be used in one of the seminars in common market law to be offered in the seventh annual William and Mary Summer School of Law in England this July and August.

Staff Notes

Dean of Students

Carson H. Barnes is recuperating at home from injuries received in an automobile accident, February 23.

Swem Library

C. Diane Terry, circulation librarian, has returned to her duties after an absence of several weeks caused by an eye infection.

Alva W. Stewart, associate librarian, and Nolan Yelich, head of public services, visited libraries at Georgetown University and American University in Washington, D.C., recently.

Copier Available

The Department of Mathematics has a 3M copier, with an automatic feeding unit attached, available for transfer to another department of the College, on or about March 1. Supplies for the machine are also available.

Such transfer may be effected by an IDT and anyone interested should contact Thomas L. Reynolds, Department of Mathematics, Ext. 481.

At College 1922-29

Pollard Manuscripts

Exhibited in Swem

Selected manuscripts from Swem Library's collection of the papers of John Garland Pollard (1871-1937) are currently exhibited in the Botetourt Museum of Swem Library. A professor of government at the College from 1922 to 1929, Pollard served as governor of Virginia during the period 1930 to 1934.

The collection of his family and professional papers was given to the Library in 1970 by his widow and three children: John Pollard, class of 1923; Charles Pollard, class of 1925; and Mrs. H. Lee Boatwright. The exhibit marks the first time any of his manuscripts have been displayed.

Pollard, a Virginia progressive, was also a delegate to the Virginia Constitutional Convention of 1901, attorney general of Virginia, 1913 to 1917, member of the Federal Trade Commission, founder of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, and chairman of the national Board of Veterans' Appeals. During his stay in Williamsburg as a member of the College faculty, he served as mayor of the city and chairman of the local Democratic committee. He was an active lay leader in the Williamsburg Baptist Church and developed the real estate areas of Pollard Park and Chandler Court. The exhibit will remain in the museum until April 15.

VARC Writing Course

Writing for Fun and Profit, a basic writing course designed for anyone who wants to put spare time into a different and profitable hobby, will be offered at VARC beginning March 27-May 29.

Eric Arthur, a professional writer and one of the originators of "The Shadow" radio program, is instructor for the course which will be taught Tuesday each week 7:30-9:30 p.m.

There is an enrollment fee of $20, and the deadline for registration for this program is March 20. For further information, contact Mrs. Jean C. Keating, Office of Special Programs, 12070 Jefferson Avenue, Newport News, Va. 23606 or telephone 877-9231.

CAMPUS PROFILE

The Parachute Club on campus provides plenty of excitement for those interested in air sports.

Among the students currently jumping regularly at the West Point Airport are Kelly Richard, a senior from Ridgewood, N.J., who is vice-president of the Club and Cheryl Yarnoff, a senior from Alexandria who is secretary-treasurer. They are roommates who transferred to William and Mary during the second semester of their sophomore year. Miss Yarnoff transferred from Old Dominion University in Norfolk, and Miss Richard, from Lake Erie College, in Painesville, Ohio.

Miss Yarnoff describes parachute jumping as "exhilarating." For her it is an experience which closely approximates flying. "During the first parachute jump, one is overcome by sensations, especially the quietness and the beauty of the countryside. On later jumps, one becomes more aware of little things and more conscious of air and body movements," she said.

Evening Tennis

Lights on the Adair tennis courts will be on for evening play Thursday through Sunday from dusk until 9 p.m.

In case of inclement weather or temperatures 35° or below, the lights will not be turned on.

Watch Found in Pittsburgh

Found in Pittsburgh, Pa., gold pocket watch with W&M insignia on attached pocket knife. Watch is inscribed: CFB; To Father from his family, 12/25/72. Hamilton Watch Company, Lancaster, Pa., 118202. For further details contact the News Office, Ext. 331 or 371.

Slated for April 7

Business Admissions Test

The Admission Test for Graduate Study in Business (ATGSB), required of applicants to most graduate business programs throughout the country, will be administered on April 7.

Applicants for admission to the Master of Business Administration (M.B.A.) degree program at William and Mary are required to take this test.

Registration forms may be obtained locally at the office of the secretary of the graduate division of the School of Business Administration in Room 320 of Hugh Jones Hall.

The registration deadline for the April 7 test is March 16.

In general, parachute jumping incidents are rare and malfunctions unheard of. "For one thing," notes Cheryl Yarnoff, "the chance of a parachute failing to open is about one in a thousand. With the reserve chute, which all parachutists are required to carry, the chance becomes about one in a million."

William and Mary Club members are beginners who jump from an altitude of 2800 feet. They have confined themselves so far to static line jumps and "dummy ripcord pulls" where the parachute opens immediately after the exit from the plane. Several jumpers will soon progress to free falls, where the parachutist pulls his own ripcord after a set number of seconds pass. After their initial jumps, beginners can begin to concentrate on the basics of accuracy jumps and body maneuverability.

Students have the opportunity to jump each weekend throughout the year at the West Point Airport. President of the William and Mary Parachute Club is John Gresham, a senior from Portsmouth. Faculty advisor is Captain Arthur Isham, of the ROTC Department.

Weekend Health Service Arrangements

The College had hoped to have available by this time a second full-time physician in the Student Health Service. A number of prospects have been contacted and some have been interviewed, but we have been unable as yet to locate an individual who meets our criteria and is willing to come. The active search is continuing but, unfortunately, we have no assurance how quickly an appointment can be made.

Meanwhile, the Director of the Student Health Service, Dr. Cilley, is working regularly 12 hours a day, as well as being on call for the rest of the 24 hours, in an effort to provide prompt service to those in need of medical attention. Obviously, such a schedule without some weekend relief is impossible to maintain on a long-term basis; in fact, it would be unfair for us to permit the Director to jeopardize his own health by continuing the present 7-day week that has been his custom since arriving in early January.

Therefore, until another physician can be employed, the following weekend arrangement will be followed:

Those reporting to the Health Center (infirmary) between 5 p.m. on Fridays and 9 a.m. on Mondays, and who require the service of a physician, will be referred by the nurse in charge to a physician of their choice or to the emergency room of the Williamsburg Community Hospital for appropriate medical attention.

The nurse in charge at the College Health Center will see that all services short of a doctor's care will be dispensed as usual. Upon her determination that a doctor is required, a certificate to that effect will be issued to accompany the student-patient to the hospital emergency room, or to the physician of the student's choice.

The College will assume responsibility for the basic emergency room fee or the physician visit; any other charges will be the responsibility of the individual. The facilities of the Student Health Center, including bed care, will be available to the patient, as needed, after the emergency room visit. It is to be emphasized that a considerable increase in types of pharmaceuticals is now available at the Health Center, and some prescriptions can be filled there at a substantial saving.

This arrangement is designed to assure prompt professional attention for students during the weekend periods.

We are confident that, conscious of the problem, all students will understand and cooperate in order that Dr. Cilley may be afforded this minimal relief.

Carter O. Lowance
Executive Vice President

On the Sports Scene . . .

John Randolph has been selected 1972 Indoor Track Coach of the Year for District 3, one of 11 coaches across the country to be so honored by the United States Track Coaches Association.

Harry Groves, formerly at William and Mary and now track coach at Penn State, was tapped in the outdoor track division, District 2.

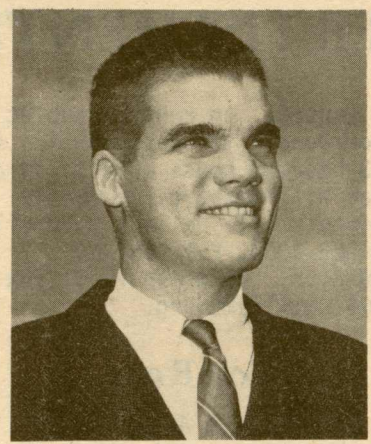

The fencing team defeated VMI, Feb. 17, 21-6, and UVA, Feb. 24, 18-9. They will fence Georgetown U. on Saturday at 10 a.m. in Adair gym.

The gymnastics team lost to VPI at the Tri-Meet held here Saturday with Montgomery College and VPI. They will meet with ODU, March 3.

Mike Arizin, a freshman from Springfield, Pa., was named Southern Conference basketball player of the week last week. Saturday, in Richmond, W&M won over U. of Richmond, 66-64, in the final game of the season. The Southern Conference tournament begins March 1 in Richmond City Coliseum; W&M enters the tournament with a S-C standing of 5th place.

The wrestling team ended its season Feb. 17, winning over VPI, 40-3. W&M, with an overall record of 11 wins and 2 losses, came in 2nd at the Southern Conference tournament meet here Friday and Saturday.

W&M won their eighth consecutive Southern Conference indoor track championship Feb. 17 at VMI. Members of the team will participate in the Virginia Intercollegiate meet to be held Feb. 28 in Lexington and the ICAAAA meet to be held in Princeton, N.J., March 3-4.

Job Openings

The following positions are open at the College. For information about these positions, apply at the Personnel Office in person, Room 201, James Blair Hall:

- Clerk-Typist D
- Clerk D with postal experience
- Clerk-Typist B
- Lab-Aide B

Individuals who are currently employed by the College will be considered for these positions provided that they have first advised their immediate supervisors in writing of their interest in being considered for other positions. A copy of this correspondence and an acknowledgement by the employee's supervisor must be received in the Personnel Office before the applicant will be considered.

In 'Brigadoon'

Thespians Bring Springtime Magic

The mysterious idyll of a Scottish town that comes to life only one day in a century will be brought to life for four nights on Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall's stage with The William and Mary Theatre's production of "Brigadoon," the musical-fantasy by Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe (known also for "My Fair Lady").

"Brigadoon" will be presented at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday. Director is Howard Scammon, of the Theatre Department's faculty, with choreography by Donna Metz, a senior concentrating in philosophy, and musical direction by William Bonner, a second year graduate student in education.

Part of the romantic charm of "Brigadoon" derives from its music. Many of the sensitive ballads became popular outside of the story-line proper: "There But for You Go I," "Almost Like Being in Love," "The Heather on the Hill," "I'll Go Home With Bonnie Jean," and the magical "Come to Me, Bend to Me."

The ballet, too, contains excitement: there is the sword dance, the funeral dance, the wedding dance, and other choreographed moments which blend with the fantasy elements.

The William and Mary Theatre suggests "Brigadoon" as theatrical fare for the entire family. The Theatre's box office, in the foyer of Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall, will be open today through Friday from 3 to 5:30 p.m. and from 7 to 8:15 p.m. During these box office hours, telephone reservations will be accepted at 229-3000, Ext. 272 or 496. All seats are reserved at $3.

SA to Charter Flights to Europe

The Student Association, working in conjunction with Vacations International, has arranged for two charter flights to Europe this summer for students, faculty, staff and their immediate families. Both flights depart from Dulles to Brussels, Belgium, June 10 on Sabena Airlines and return from Paris on Air France.

For persons desiring to stay one month in Europe, the return date is July 12 and the flight cost is $210 plus $3 departure tax. For those who wish to stay two months, the return date is August 12 and the cost is $211 plus $3 departure tax. Each flight is limited to 180 passengers and a $50 deposit per passenger should be paid by April 6, with the final payment due on May 4.

Persons desiring further information should contact Jim Kaywell, SA flight coordinator, in the SA Office Monday through Thursday from 8-9 p.m. (Ext. 350) or at 229-6302.

Boys' State Moved to Lynchburg

The American Legion Boys' State, which has been held on campus for the past nine years, is moving this summer to Lynchburg College.

W. Glen Rardin, of Roanoke, Boys' State director, said it will be the first time the program has been held at a private college. It has previously been held either here in Williamsburg or at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University in Blacksburg.

Mr. Rardin said that Lynchburg College was selected in an effort to move the program around the State.

Historian to Speak on Copernicus

Edward Rosen, professor of history of science, City University of New York, will speak on "In Defense of Copernicus" at a joint meeting of the Physics Colloquium and the Botetourt Bibliographical Society, Friday, March 2, in William Small Physical Laboratory, Room 109 at 4:30 p.m. Coffee will be served at 4 p.m. in the Conference Room prior to the lecture.

Mr. Rosen, who received his Ph.D. from Columbia University, specializes in ancient medieval and renaissance science, astronomy, Copernicus, Kepler, and Galileo. One of the top English speaking Copernican scholars, he is also one of the most prolific. His most recent publication on Copernicus was Three Copernican Treatises, published in 1971.
