'The Advocates' Videotaped on Campus by PBS

The Great Hall of the Wren Building is the setting for "The Advocates" hour-long telecast Thursday at 8 p.m. over Channels 15 and 23.

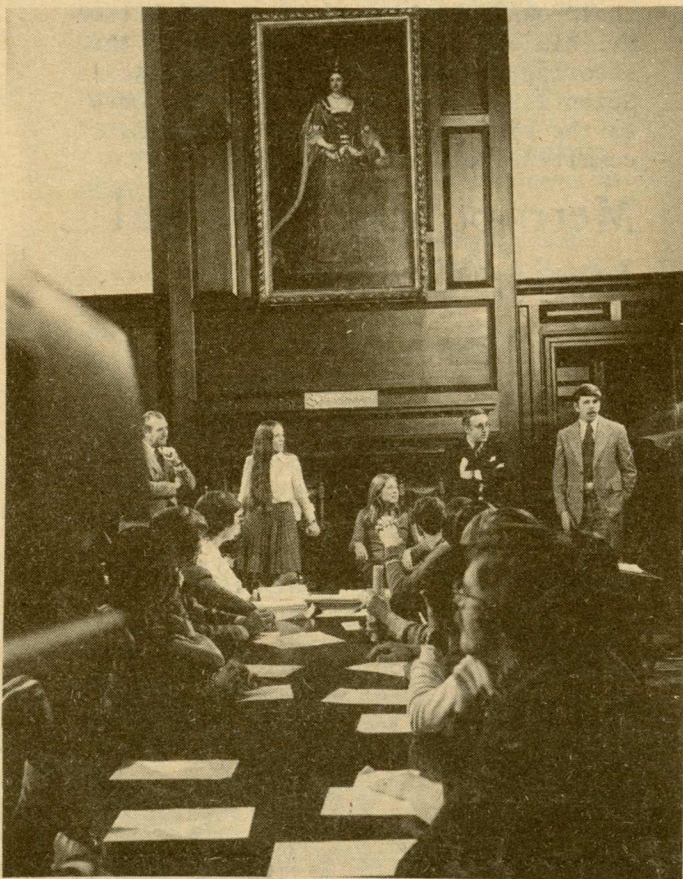

The program was videotaped April 9 in the Great Hall, with an audience primarily of William and Mary law students.

"The Advocates" is shown over 200 television stations associated with the Public Broadcasting System. It is produced by WGBH Educational Foundation, Inc., of Boston. Technical support was provided by staff and equipment of WCVE-TV, Richmond, and Colonial Williamsburg.

The program Thursday deals with the question of whether a newspaper should be obligated to print replies by political candidates it attacks editorially.

A second program, videotaped April 10 in the Great Hall, dealt with whether the office of Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski should be made permanent. It was broadcast last Thursday.

Special Education Conference Planned

The Division of Special Education is planning a regional conference on the subject "Litigation, Legislation, and Special Education" which will be held in Williamsburg May 3-4.

The conference is being designed for public school administrators and supervisory personnel and for state education agency personnel in the southern region of the United States. The central objective is to acquaint participants with various aspects of the nationwide movement toward providing legal protection and adequate educational opportunities for handicapped children.

Papers to be read and discussed at the conference include: "Legislation and Litigation in Special Education: Impressions Concerning Some Compelling Problems" by Burton Blatt, director of the division of special education and rehabilitation, Syracuse University; "Alternatives to Current Educational Problems" by Maynard Reynolds, Department of Special Education, University of Minnesota; "Special Education: Illegal and Immoral Uses" by Jane Mercer, associate professor, Department of Sociology, University of California, Riverside.

Also "The Legal Rights of Handicapped Children: The Problems of No-Service and Misservices" by Paul Dimond, attorney, formerly of the Center for Law and Education, Harvard University; "The Pennsylvania Experience" by Joseph Lantzer, director, Right to Education Programs, Pennsylvania State Department of Education; and "Legislation, Litigation, and Public Attitude: Recent Cases and Litigation" by Alan Abeson, director, State-Federal Information Clearinghouse, Council for Exceptional Children.

In addition, State Senator Hunter Andrews will meet with Virginia educators to speak about financial and other legislative problems connected with special education in Virginia. Mr. Abeson will discuss similar issues with out-of-state participants.

Conference participants will have the opportunity to meet in small group, informal seminars with the speakers and Robert Bloom, assistant professor, and Louis Messier and Douglas Prillaman, associate professors, of the Division of Special Education. This conference is a first for this area.

National Library Week, April 22-26

National Library Week will be observed on campus April 22-26.

Theme for the observance is "Something for Everyone," with astrology as the emphasized subject and as the focus of Swem Library's observance of the week.

"Our objective is to show the students and faculty that the library has facets other than the traditional use of the library as a research tool," said Alva W. Stewart, associate librarian.

Hans von Baeyer, chairman of the Physics Department, will speak on "Astrology, The Whore of Babylon" Tuesday, April 23, at 3:15 p.m. in the Botetourt Theatre.

During the week classical and semi-classical music, furnished by Swem's Audio-Visual Department, will be piped into the lobby. Exhibits in the lobby will include: periodical articles pertaining to astrology; a 35-slide-sound presentation, depicting the history and development of libraries from ancient to present times; posters with each of the 12 zodiac signs; 50 books, selected by staff librarians, on a variety of subjects relating to the signs of the zodiac. Copies of the list of books will be available in the lobby.

Movies, courtesy of the Audio-Visual Department, Williamsburg Public Library, and Colonial Williamsburg, to be shown in the Botetourt Theatre include: Monday, April 22, 10-11 a.m., "Great Train Robbery," "Slapstick," "Trip to the Moon," "Fatal Glass of Beer"; Tuesday, 10-11 a.m., "Cabinet of Dr. Caligari"; Wednesday, 10-11 a.m., "The Music of Williamsburg" and 3-4 p.m., "Colonial Naturalist"; Thursday, 2:30-4:30 p.m., "Citizen Kane"; and Friday, 10-11 a.m., "Potemkin" and 2-3:45 p.m., "Mabel's Married Life," "Hustlin' Hank," "Will Rogers," "When the Clouds Roll," and "The New York Hat."

Members of the Planning Committee include chairperson Patricia Parks, library assistant, reference; Sharon Stauffer, library assistant, reference; Barbara Lebeau, reserve room librarian; and Margaret Cook, curator of manuscripts.

Hibbard Band Concert

William and Mary's Concert Band will present the 1974 Carl Hibbard Memorial Concert, Friday, April 26, at 8:15 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

Admission to the concert is $1. Children will be admitted free of charge.

Proceeds from the concert will go towards the Carl Hibbard Band Scholarship Fund, established in 1958 by Capt. and Mrs. R. C. Hibbard of Triangle, in memory of their son, a former member of the William and Mary Concert Band. The scholarship is awarded annually to a student on the basis of musical ability, interest, character, need, and academic achievement.

Directed by Charles R. Varner, professor of music, the program will include seven musical selections representing the work of classical, romantic, and contemporary composers.

Nancy Smith, a senior music major from Dix Hills, L.I., New York, will be featured playing the horn in a selection by Richard Strauss entitled, "Horn Concerto No. 1 in E Flat, Op. 11."

Campus Exhibits

"In Spite of Conditions," student art show. Andrews Hall Gallery, Wednesday through Sunday, 1-5 p.m., ending April 28.

Exhibit of costumes and scenery designs by students in the Department of Theatre and Speech and members of the W&M Theatre, Phi Beta Kappa Hall, April 17-30

Economics

Martin A. Garrett, Jr., associate professor, attended the Southern Regional Science Association meetings in Washington, D.C., on April 4-5 and was chairman of a session entitled "Regional Impact of Public Policy." For the past three years, Mr. Garrett has been a member of the Executive Council of the Southern Regional Science Association.

Leonard Schifrin, head of the Department, attended the annual meeting of the Midwest Economics Association in Chicago on April 4-6. He was the discussant for the paper "The 1962 Drug Amendments and the Dilemma of Public Policy."

His article "Thalidomide and Beyond: Some Recommendations Regarding Public Policy Toward the Ethical Drug Industry" appears in the Winter, 1974 issue of the International Journal of Health Services.

Fine Arts

Four works of sculpture of Carl A. Roseberg, professor, are being shown at the Tidewater '74 Exhibition at the Columbia Museum of Art in Columbia, S.C. The works include: "Classical Figure," cast bronze; "Bather," cast bronze and cast aluminum; "Spiral Form," welded steel rods; and "Flame," paldao wood.

Tidewater '74 features works of 24 artists from the Norfolk-Hampton Roads-Virginia Beach area. The show will run through May 5.

A native of Vinton, Iowa, Mr. Roseberg earned B.F.A. and M.F.A. degrees at Iowa State University. He is a life fellow of the International Institute of Arts and Letters.

Geology

Bruce K. Goodwin, professor; Stephen C. Clement and Gerald Johnson, associate professors; and John B. Thomas, assistant professor, attended the meeting of the Northeastern Section of the Geological Society of America in Baltimore, Md., March 20-23. Mr. Johnson presented a paper entitled "The Late Quaternary Evolution of the Lower York-James Peninsula, Virginia." Mr. Thomas was a speaker in a short course on "Application of Cathodoluminescence in Petrographic Examination of Rock Samples." Mr. Clement and Mr. Goodwin, with Neil Bockoven, '74, Russell Ellison, '75, and Stephen Snyder, '73, presented a paper entitled "A Possible Domal Structure in the Outer Piedmont of Virginia."

Mr. Goodwin and Mr. Thomas were co-authors of a recently published paper entitled "Shelf Sediments Off Chesapeake Bay; Part III, Heavy Minerals." This paper was published as Special Scientific Report 68 by The Virginia Institute of Marine Science.

Correction

The title of Michael Faia's book, to be published later this year, is The Professors, rather than The Professionals, as reported in the April 9 issue of the News. The book is co-authored by Satoshi Ito, associate professor of sociology.

Government

Chonghan Kim, professor, attended the 26th annual meeting of the Association for Asian Studies held April 1-3 in Boston. Mr. Kim was one of the participants in a panel entitled "Two Koreas in Comparative Perspective," where he presented a paper on "Two Koreas and the United Nations." During the AAS meeting, Korean political scientists in the United States held their own annual meeting, at which time Mr. Kim was elected as a member of the steering committee of Korean Political Scientists Association. He will serve as the vice-chairman of the steering committee for the coming year.

Metropolitan Criminal Justice Center

Staff members who participated in the recent Alpha Kappa Delta Sociological Research Symposium that was hosted by the Department of Sociology of Virginia Commonwealth University included Charles W. Thomas, research director and adjunct associate professor of sociology; Ineke Haen, research associate; and Robin Cage, research assistant. Mr. Thomas served as the chairperson for a topical section devoted to the sociology of corrections, and Ms. Haen was the co-author of a paper entitled "On the Origins of Alienation in Prison Society."

Mr. Thomas also attended the annual conference of the Pacific Sociological Association which was held in San Jose, Calif., March 26-28, where he presented a paper entitled "The Consequences of Incompatible Goal Structures in Correctional Settings."

The following papers authored by members of the Center's staff have been accepted for publication:

"Social Sanctions and Social Control," co-authored by Charles W. Thomas and David M. Petersen, to appear as Chapter 8 of Marcello Truzzi's Social Deviance: Integrative and Analytic Perspectives, Lexington, Mass.: D. C. Heath & Company, scheduled for publication this summer.

"Juvenile Court Intake: An Analysis of Discretionary Decision-Making," Criminology: An Interdisciplinary Journal, scheduled for publication in August, by Charles W. Thomas and Christopher M. Sieverdes.

The Center has also issued a research bulletin entitled Deterrence of Crime: A Reformulation of Chambliss' Typology of Deterrence, by Charles W. Thomas and J. Sherwood Williams. Copies of all research bulletins are available from the Center without charge.

Modern Languages

Ron Hallett, assistant professor, attended the Northeast Modern Language Association conference at Penn State on April 4-6. He read a paper entitled "The Analytical Dizains of Sceve in the Delie."

Merrit Cox, associate professor, has published a review of John H. R. Polt's Gaspar Melchor de Jovellanos (New York: Twayne, 1971) in the winter issue of the Hispanic Review. Mr. Cox's own book, The Rev. John Bowle: The Genesis of Cervantean Criticism, was reviewed in the same issue of the Hispanic Review.

Luke Martel, associate professor; Elsa Diduk and Ann Tyler Netick, assistant professors; and Joanne Basso, instructor, attended the spring meetings of the Modern Foreign Language Association of Virginia (MFLAV) and the Virginia Chapter of the American Association of Teachers held at Washington and Lee in Lexington April 5-6.

Mr. Martel is vice-president of the American Association of Teachers of French.

Mrs. Netick was elected treasurer of the Virginia Chapter of the American Association of Teachers of Slavic and Eastern European Languages for 1974-75.

Ms. Basso, president of the Virginia Chapter of the American Association of Teachers of Italian, chaired the annual meeting and was reelected president for the 1974-76 term. Ms. Basso is on the board of directors of the MFLAV and attended the annual meeting of the board.

Mrs. Diduk attended the meeting of the Virginia Chapter of the American Association of Teachers of German and, along with Luke Martel, attended the meeting of the Virginia Council for Study Abroad. Mrs. Diduk, College representative to the Council, was elected vice chairman for 1974-75.

Physics Colloquia

Michael Tinkham of Harvard University will speak on "Superconductivity and its Applications" Thursday, April 18, at 8 p.m. in S113.

Mr. Tinkham's talk is being co-sponsored by the Physics Department and the Sigma Xi Club. The perfect conductivity and perfect diamagnetism of superconductors will be discussed in terms of electron pairs in a macroscopic quantum state. Applications to powerful superconducting magnets and to sensitive superconducting magnetometers and voltmeters will also be discussed. Refreshments will be served following the talk.

J. Primack of the University of California at Santa Cruz will speak on "Experimental Tests of Weak Interaction Gauge Theories" Friday, April 19, at 4:30 p.m. in S109. Coffee will be served at 4 p.m. in the conference room.

School of Education

Armand Galfo, professor, has been named as the outstanding reservist in the Tactical Air Command of the Air Force for the year 1973. Mr. Galfo was cited for research and consultative work which he carried out while filling a reserve mobilization assignment at Langley Air Force Base.

In a ceremony conducted recently at the Pentagon, Major General Oliver W. Lewis, director of personnel affairs, Headquarters U.S.A.F., presented Mr. Galfo with an award plaque from the Air Reserve Center, Denver.

Currently, Mr. Galfo holds the rank of Colonel in the reserves with an assignment at Headquarters, U.S.A.F., the Pentagon.

Two members of the Division of Special Education are participating in the national convention of the Council for Exceptional Children being held in New York City this week.

Douglas Prillaman, associate professor, will be a panelist in a seminar on Diagnostic-Prescriptive Teaching. Robert B. Bloom, assistant professor, will be a resource person for a workshop on "Open Education for Emotionally Disturbed Children." Mr. Prillaman is one of the co-creators of the Diagnostic-Prescriptive Teacher model for educationally handicapped children. Mr. Bloom has been actively involved with the "open education movement" throughout his educational career.

Sociology

Wayne Kernodle, professor, was an invited participant in the National Conference on Evaluation in Alcohol, Drug Abuse, and Mental Health Programs held in Washington, D.C., April 1-4. The Conference was sponsored by the Alcohol, Drug Abuse, and Mental Health Administration of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. It was organized by the Division of Community Psychiatry, State University of New York at Buffalo.

'74-75 Visiting Scholars

Applications are now being accepted from faculty members who wish to invite a speaker to visit the campus, through the 1974-75 Visiting Scholars program of the University Center in Virginia, Inc.

Forms are available in the offices of departmental chairmen. A separate form must be completed for each scholar requested and sent to Carlyle Beyer, director of Project PLUS, Room 310, Morton Hall, by Friday, April 26.

Personnel Bulletin

Job Openings

The following positions at the College are or will be vacant. Qualified employees who wish to be transferred to these positions may receive additional information at the College Personnel Office. The College of William and Mary is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Accordingly, women and minority employees are encouraged to apply for those positions for which they feel they are qualified.

Clerk-Stenographer C - 2 positions open
Clerk-Typist B - one-half day
Clerk-Typist A
Institutional Policeman

Student employees look forward to payday on the tenth of each month--and Edith Marsh does, too. It means she has prepared another payroll, sent the figures to Richmond and that the finished product has come back.

Mrs. Marsh has been a secretary in the Student Aid Office since 1972. Before that she had worked for the same man for several years--E. Leon Looney, former director of the Extension Division and Evening College and now director of Student Aid. Mrs. Marsh says she enjoys her work very much, especially the contact with students and preparing State and Federal reports.

In addition to tallying student "time sheets" for the payroll, Mrs. Marsh helps to process applications for financial aid--from incoming freshmen, upperclassmen and graduate students at the College.

A native of Akron, Michigan, she graduated from Bay City (Mich.) Business College and worked for the Dow Chemical Company, Midland, Mich., for several years. The mother of four, she was a homemaker for a number of years before moving to Williamsburg in 1964. Very active as a PTA member and Sunday School teacher while her children were growing up, she is now able to spend more time around her house and garden.

She says she owes a debt of gratitude to her neighbors on Holly Road for their help with her gardening and yardwork. Since moving into a new house 10 years ago, she has continued to plant many kinds of bushes, flowers and vegetables, to read landscape columns and to keep her yard in the shape she feels it should be in--through constant maintenance work. Mrs. Marsh enjoys the outdoors in general and has hiked

Truesdell to Perform

F. Donald Truesdell, professor of music, will perform in a faculty piano recital sponsored by the Department of Music, Sunday, April 21, at 4 p.m. in the Campus Center Ballroom. His program will include works by Beethoven, Franck, Dello Joio and, as a special feature in commemoration of the centennial anniversary of his year of birth, Charles Ives' "Concord" Sonata, the third movement, "The Alcotts." The recital is open to the public.

Mr. Truesdell earned degrees in composition and piano at the University of Michigan, during which time he was twice selected to represent the University at a symposium which included six mid-western universities. The works performed on these occasions were "Three Piano Preludes" (1949) and "Concerto for Piano and Orchestra" (1951). He earned his doctorate in performance and pedagogy from the Eastman School of Music of the University of Rochester.

through Glacier and Rocky Mountain National Parks.

At home, Mrs. Marsh says, she devotes a great deal of time to Bible study, including a study of the archaeology of the Holy Land. She has refinished some of her furniture and has now undertaken a new project--upholstering an antique sofa and chair. She also enjoys crewel embroidery, knitting and sewing--everything from draperies and clothes to stuffed animals for her three young grandchildren.

Fulbright Recipients

Peter D. Wiggins, assistant professor of English, has been named the recipient of a nine-month Fulbright-Hays research grant for study in Italy.

Vinson H. Sutlive, Jr., associate professor of anthropology, has also been awarded a three-month summer Fulbright research grant.

Mr. Wiggins plans to pursue research on the life and works of Ludovico Ariosto, an early 16th century Italian poet.

Mr. Sutlive will study the emigration habits of the Ibans, a once-primitive group in Malaysia. He said the grant was one of a series awarded for "urgent" research in the area of population and urban studies.

Staff Notes

President's Office

Jerry Van Voorhis, assistant to the president, attended the National Conference for Training in Affirmative Action held in Washington, D.C., recently.

Mr. Van Voorhis was awarded a certificate of university standing in executing Affirmative Action by the Project for Academic Affirmative Action Training, sponsored by the American Association of Colleges and International Association of Official Human Rights Agencies.

Swem Library

Harry Krauss, library assistant in the Periodicals Department, recently attended a meeting of the Board of Directors, U. S. Victorian Society, in Philadelphia. He also attended the annual conference of the Society of Architectural Historians in New Orleans.

Suzanne Foley, head, Reference Department, was married to Garland Brown of Newport News at her home in Norfolk on April 13.

Bernadette Freeman assumed duties April 2 as a part-time check-point assistant in the Circulation Department. A native of Australia, Mrs. Freeman attended the Whitehall Academy of Dramatic Art in that country.

Fine Arts Lecture

The Department of Fine Arts is sponsoring a lecture by Marco Chiarini, director of the well-known Pitti Gallery in Florence, Italy. Mr. Chiarini will speak on the "Medici as Collectors of Art" on Wednesday, April 17, at 8 p.m. in Andrews 101. The lecture is open to the public.

The history of the formation and the growth of the world famous collection of paintings and sculpture in the Uffizi and Pitti Galleries is the history of the tastes of a small group of individuals in the Medici family, who range from fifteenth-century businessmen to seventeenth-century princes and grand dukes.

Mr. Chiarini's research has focused on many aspects of Renaissance and Baroque art, ranging from Medici patronage to studies in articles and exhibition catalogues of developments in landscape painting in the seventeenth-century. He recently has published books on the drawings of Claude Lorraine and on seventeenth-century landscape drawing.

Mr. Chiarini is visiting briefly in Williamsburg, after having lectured widely and after having opened an exhibition organized and prepared by American and European scholars at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Chemistry Speakers

The Virginia and Hampton Roads Sections of the American Chemical Society will hold a joint meeting on Saturday, April 27, in the Campus Center.

Henry W. Morgan, senior physicist in the Physics Division at Oak Ridge National Laboratory, will speak at 4 p.m. on "Coherent Light and Holography." Gerald A. Soffen, a project scientist in space biology for Project Viking '75 at NASA's Langley Research Center, will speak at 8 p.m. on "Project Viking--Mission to Mars." Both lectures will be given in the Campus Center Theatre and are open to the public.

Mr. Morgan will present a brief history of the theory and experiments on stimulated emission of radiation, followed by a description of the He-Ne electrical excitation and the mechanisms of population inversion. He will discuss temporal and spatial coherence of radiation, illustrated by experiments with the laser beam. He will discuss interference phenomena in general, leading to the specific case of the hologram and then show different holograms illuminated by a laser and by conventional light sources.

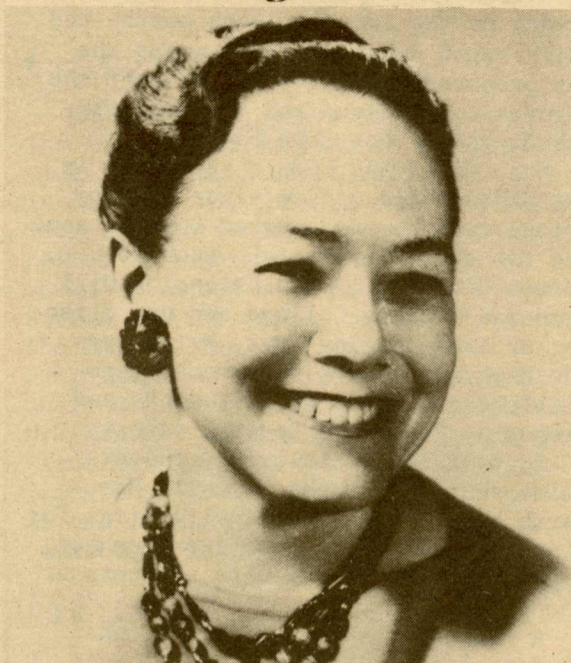

Mr. Soffen will discuss the search for life on Mars. He has developed experiments in exobiology to be sent to Mars and an automated vidicon microscope which may be used in a future planetary mission. His automated urine sampling and analysis device was flown in 1970 on Biosatellite D, and he provided bio-experiments for a record 130,000-foot balloon mission.

Health Center Report

The Student Health Center report for the month of March shows 1,785 persons were treated as outpatients (855 men students, 891 women students, 39 employees) while 79 (40 men, 39 women) were hospitalized for a total of 200 days.

Figures from the March, 1973, report show 1,015 persons were treated as outpatients and 39 persons were admitted for a total of 77 days.

Visiting Scholar

Catherine L. Allen

Catherine L. Allen, dean of Boston-Bouve College, Northeastern University, will speak at the College on Wednesday, April 24, at 8 p.m. in the Campus Center Theatre.

Ms. Allen will speak on "Physical Education, Health, Recreation--Challenge and Promise." Her visit to campus is part of the current Visiting Scholars Series arranged in cooperation with the University Center in Virginia, Inc.

The recipient of numerous honors, awards, and fellowships, she has served as president of the American Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation and the National Association for Physical Education of College Women.

Ms. Allen has been both a delegate and participant to the International Congress, sponsored by the International Association of Physical Education and Sports for Girls and Women, on three separate occasions: to Washington, D.C., in 1961; to Cologne, Germany, in 1965; and to Tokyo, Japan, in 1969. She also spoke before the International Congress held in Teheran, Iran, in 1973.

She is the author of a book entitled Fun for FHA (Future Homemakers of America), and the co-author of Tennessee Recreation Handbook for Group Leaders.

YD's Honored

The William and Mary Young Democrats attended the Virginia Young Democrats State Convention in Richmond recently and returned with a number of honors.

The Club was selected this year as the outstanding collegiate Club in the State, and was commended for its efforts to elect Democrats to office and its aid to the Democratic party. The Club was also cited as a unit in the outstanding region of the State.

Club president Jim Almand, a law student, was elected state executive vice president. Linda Kite, '75, treasurer, won election as chairperson of the College Federation, an organization of Young Democrats clubs on college campuses in Virginia.

College Republicans

Greg Wolbers, '76, of Lake Forest, Ill., was recently elected president of the William and Mary College Republican Club.

Also elected were Andy Vanderhoof, '77, Springfield, vice president; Kathy Chudoba, '77, Prince George, secretary; Mary Langford, '77, Vienna, treasurer; and Chris Jackson, '77, Virginia Beach, liaison officer.

Lady Mander to Speak

Rosalie, Lady Mander, of Wightwick Manor, near Wolverhampton, England, will give an illustrated lecture on "Rossetti and Victorian Painting" in the Botetourt Theatre of Swem Library at 11 a.m. on Monday, April 22. The lecture, arranged by the Committee on Lectures and the Departments of English and Fine Arts, is open to the public.

Lady Mander is an eminent authority on the nineteenth-century English artistic and literary movement, the Pre-Raphaelite Brotherhood. She received her M.A. from Oxford University and, under the name R. Glynn-Grylls, she has published many articles and books on English literature and art, the most recent of which is Portrait of Rossetti (1965).

Wightwick Manor, Lady Mander's home, has been described as a "Pre-Raphaelite Memorial," with William Morris wallpaper or silk and damask hangings in each room. Much of the furniture in the manor house was bought from Morris and the art collection there is rich in works by Millais, Rossetti, Burne-Jones, Madox Brown, Holman Hunt and others associated with the "P.R.B."

Lady Mander is currently making a brief lecture tour of colleges and universities in Virginia and North Carolina under sponsorship of the Anglo-American Society.

Election Results

Sharon Pandak, a junior from Staunton, was elected president of the Student Association in elections held Tuesday, April 9. Former student ombudsman and vice-president of the SA, she is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. She won over Dave Ryan, a junior from Schenectady, N.Y.

New SA vice-president is Bob Ott, '76, of Point Pleasant, N.J., who won over Marcia Carl, '75, of Norfolk and Joseph Marren, '76, of White Plains, N.Y. SA secretary and treasurer will be announced later. Forty-two percent of William and Mary students voted in the elections.

Senior class president for 1974-75 is Van Black, of Marlton, N.J. He won over Bruce Pflaum, Geneva, Ill.; Dave Fedeles, Ambler, Pa.; Jay Burgomaster, Burlington, Mass.; and write-in candidate, Terry Regan of Denville, N.J.

Senior class vice president is Bill Smyth, Charleston, S.C., and secretary-treasurer is Nancy Burgess, Norfolk.

New Honor Council members for 1974-75 are -- Class of 1975: Dave Russo, Closter, N.J.; Lynne Shackelford, Raleigh, N.C.; Cindi Lewis, Columbia, Md.; and Mary Beth Leibowitz, Knoxville, Tenn. Members from the class of 1976 are: Gayle Yamada, Arlington; Nancy Turrentine, Nashville, Tenn.; Maureen Lucey, McLean; and Martha Lufkin, Bon Air. Elected from the class of 1977 were: Lisa Bolanovich, Pittsburgh, Pa.; George Tsahakis, Roanoke; Kathy Eason, Richmond; and Peter Garland, Scotia, N.Y.

Senior Piano Recital

Karla Hoffman will present her senior recital in piano on Thursday, April 25, in Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium at 8:15 p.m. The recital was originally scheduled for April 28.

The public is invited to attend.

Official Memoranda

To: The College Community
Subject: Public Relations Policy

In recent years, the College, along with other public agencies, has moved into a more "open" environment in terms of fuller disclosure of its discussions, decisions and operations. Last year, for the first time, State-supported institutions of higher learning were placed under the purview of the Freedom of Information Act insofar as the Act pertains to public access to certain records and to prompt disclosure of applicable actions by the Board of Visitors.

Consistent with sound administrative policies, and in the light of the above, the College has evolved a pattern in its dealings with the public which constitutes a clear, although unwritten policy. At my request, the Administrative Council has reviewed a written summary of existing policies and, at its April 3, 1974 meeting, concurred in the following statement which is published as the official College policy:

The College of William and Mary believes that its right to operate is conferred, in the last analysis, by the people and, therefore, public knowledge about and understanding of its activities, operations, goals and objectives, and general mission are worthwhile goals to achieve in the College's relationships with the public.

The College desires to be open and candid about its operations, and in doing so it has the obligation to take all necessary steps to insure that its activities, operations and mission are understood by the public at large.

It has the further obligation to take steps to correct inaccurate understandings and impressions about the College. Its obligation extends not only to the general public, but especially the internal community, in recognition that students and employees are a most important segment of the public. The goodwill of all of the College's constituencies, and the general public, is a valuable asset.

To implement this policy, the College shall honor requests for information in the spirit of the Freedom of Information Act and appropriate legal interpretations of this law. Prompt disclosure will be made of College decisions, except those exempted by law, with special regard for fully informing the internal community as promptly as possible.

Each Vice President shall be held responsible for insuring that the College's policy and guidelines as outlined above are upheld in his particular area of responsibility. Each shall take the appropriate steps to insure that subordinates are aware of the policy and legal requirements, and make provision for procedures of implementation. Administrative officials who respond to requests for information, from the press or the public, will make efforts to share their responses in writing with the Vice Presidents and Office of Information Services to assist them in dealing with similar questions which they may receive.

The Office of Information Services will have the mission of evaluating public attitudes, identifying the policies and procedures of the College with the public interest, and executing a program of action to earn and sustain public understanding of and acceptance for the College's unique mission and status, consistent with public relations commitments and policies.

Debaters Tapped

William and Mary debaters have been selected to participate in the National Collegiate Debate Tournament to be held April 18-21 at the Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs.

The national Debate Tournament Committee of the American Forensic Association has tapped the team of Steven Snoke, Heidelberg, Germany, and Gary Keane, Dallas, Tex., on the strength of their debating record for an at-large berth. Teams from William and Mary have participated in the national tournament on three previous occasions, selected on the basis of district elimination--this year is the first time a team from the College has been selected at-large.

Tournament competition will involve 64 teams from colleges and universities throughout the nation. All have been invited to compete either by district elimination or on an at-large basis. In addition to William and Mary eight teams across the country have been selected for an at-large berth. Teams will compete for top honors in eight preliminary rounds and four elimination rounds of debate.

The team of Keane and Snoke have amassed an impressive record in stiff competition this year, participating in 13 debate tournaments and winning 64 rounds of debate in 95. In three top national tournaments, where qualifying for the elimination rounds is considered an honor, they reached the quarter-finals in debates held at the University of Houston, Northwestern University, and Butler University. Both have won individual top speaker awards: Snoke at tournaments held at Texas Christian University, Butler University, and the Marshall-Wythe Debate Tournament, held annually at William and Mary; and Keane in tournaments at Washington and Jefferson College, St. Vincent's College, and Marshall-Wythe.

Current Affairs Panel

The Current Affairs Panel of the United States Army War College, Carlisle Barracks, Pa., will hold a discussion on Wednesday, April 17, at 7:30 p.m. in Millington Auditorium. The event is being co-sponsored by Project PLUS and the Department of Military Science.

Business Talks

William Blunt, assistant secretary of commerce, will speak at 2 p.m. in Jones Hall Monday, April 22. He will speak on "Should the Government be in Contest with Market Forces?"

Blair Smith, vice president for corporate affairs, American Can Company, will speak on "Corporate Social Responsibility and Credibility," Wed., April 24, at 7 p.m. in the Campus Center.

The lectures are being sponsored by the M.B.A. Association.

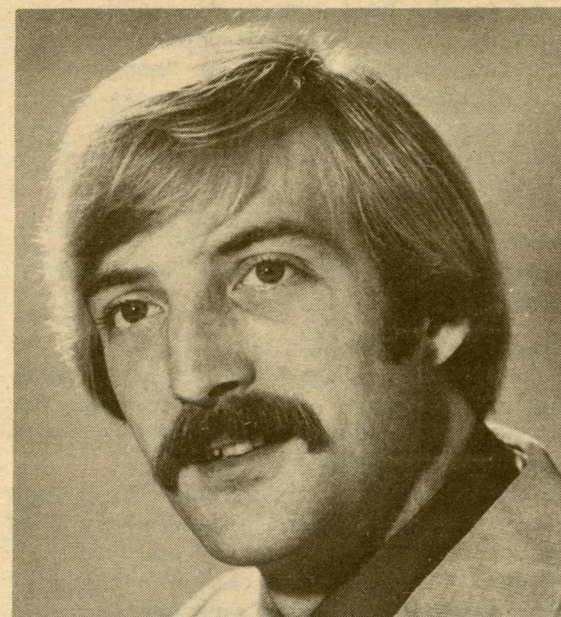

Audubon Wildlife Film

The coral reefs and lagoons that fringe the Bahama Islands and the colorful marine life they support will be featured in the Audubon Wildlife film Thurs., April 18 at 7:45 p.m. in the Campus Center Ballroom.

Entitled "Four Fathom World," the film will be personally narrated by Harry Pederson, a nationally recognized expert on underwater photography.

Single admission tickets will be available at the door before the performance.

PDE Banquet Set

David Harvey

National Geographic magazine photographer David A. Harvey will be guest speaker Wednesday, April 17, at the annual Publications Banquet, scheduled for 6 p.m. in the Campus Center Ballroom and sponsored by Pi Delta Epsilon journalism fraternity.

He will present a special multimedia show entitled "Impressions of Tidewater," which was prepared last year through a grant from the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts.

New PDE members will be honored and publications editors and the WCWM station manager will present merit commendations to individuals who have contributed special efforts during the past year.

The program is open to all members of the College's three publications and WCWM, and their guests.

1974 Summer Sessions

Over 230 courses will be offered in summer sessions at the College beginning June 18, according to Paul Clem, director of Summer Sessions and the Evening College.

Catalogues are currently available at the Summer Sessions Office and switchboard in James Blair Hall, Campus Center, Swem Library, and several classroom buildings on campus.

In order to receive acceptance and room assignments prior to registration, completed applications must be received in the Summer Sessions Office by June 1. Application forms are in the back of the current catalogue. General registration will be held June 17.

Two five-week sessions will be held--the first from June 18 through July 19 and the second, July 22 through August 23. Commencement will be held August 24.

This summer a greater number of upper level courses in the arts and sciences will be available, particularly in the fields of anthropology, psychology, and sociology.

Course offerings in the arts and sciences will include: applied sciences, biology, chemistry, classical studies, economics, English, fine arts, geology, government, history, mathematics, modern languages, music, philosophy, physical education, physics, psychology, religion, sociology, and theatre and speech.

A number of visiting professors will be on campus for the summer sessions. Vishwanath S. Naravane of India will teach Religion 211-212, The History of Religion in South Asia and the History of Religion in East Asia during the first five-week session. Patrick Scott of the University of Edinburgh, United Kingdom, will instruct a class in English Literary Traditions: The Eighteenth and Nineteenth Centuries, during the second summer session.

Allan R. Sullivan of the University of Minnesota will teach two courses in the School of Education on Children with Learning Disabilities and The Culturally Disadvantaged Child during the first five-week session, and Stewart Wheeler, professor of classical studies at the University of Richmond, will teach Latin 500, a Seminar in Latin Literature, during a short session to run from July 3 through July 19.

Raft Debate on Monday

The Philosophy Club will sponsor its annual Raft Debate, Monday, April 22, at 8 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Hall Auditorium.

The debate is open to the public free of charge.

The audience is asked to imagine a shipwreck situation and a raft big enough for one man. Three faculty members will debate the merits of their particular discipline for a place on the raft.

The audience will be given an opportunity to ask questions of the debaters before making its decision on which "survivor" shall get a place on the raft.

Alan J. Ward, associate professor of government, will serve as moderator. John F. Lavach, associate professor of education, will serve as the Devil's Advocate. Debaters will include Richard K. Newman, Jr., professor of fine arts, representing the humanities; George W. Grayson, Jr., associate professor of government, for the social sciences; and Herbert Friedman, professor of psychology, for the natural sciences.

Putting It Together

Mono and the College Student

By Franklin A. Munsey, M.D.

One of the most common diseases affecting the college age population is infectious mononucleosis, or "mono" as it is often called. The diagnosis of infectious mononucleosis is usually considered in any college student who is seen by a physician because of illness. There is no longer any seasonal predominance--it occurs at any time during the year. The infectious agent is thought to be viral.

The incubation period is variable but it averages about eleven days. It takes about eleven days from the time one is exposed to the time that one comes down with the disease. The symptoms, appearing gradually or acutely, may be tiredness, weakness, headache, sore throat, fever and swollen glands in the neck. The throat may be severely inflamed, resembling a strep throat. A skin rash may appear between the 6th and 10th day of the disease.

There is no specific treatment. The judicious use of cortisone is often helpful in relieving the symptoms. Antibiotics are not helpful. There is no vaccine to prevent the disease. Rest is the only treatment that is helpful.

Commonly asked questions about infectious mononucleosis:

1. When can a physician diagnose the disease?

The disease has to be thought of firstly but cannot usually be diagnosed before the 4th-10th day of symptoms. The symptoms which present themselves are very similar to other virus infections and even to strep throat, for which reason, during the first few days of the illness, a physician may have extreme difficulty in making a precise diagnosis.

2. How many times can I get the disease?

A person usually gets the disease only once.

3. How infectious is the disease?

Very close contact appears to be necessary and that is why it has been called the kissing disease. Even in a family unit it is unusual for more than one member to get the disease.

4. If I get run down and tired from lack of sleep, am I more likely to get the disease?

While tiredness is the prominent symptom of the disease, tiredness does not make you any more eligible for the disease than any other disease. Being tired or weak would possibly make you more likely to catch any disease if you were exposed.

5. Do I have to worry about complications from the disease?

Just as you can get a complication from a cold or athlete's foot, a complication may appear in infectious mononucleosis. But with reasonably good care of yourself, you should not have to be unduly concerned about complications.

6. Is dizziness a common symptom with mono?

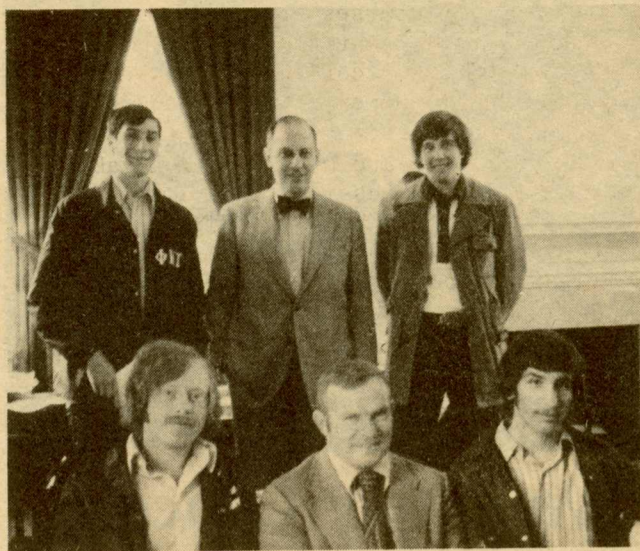

Dizziness occurs usually when one changes position abruptly from a lying down to a sitting or a standing position or from turning one's head quickly. Some people notice this symptom more than others. It is very commonly noticed with any illness, but not specifically with mono.

Lottery Postponed

The room lottery has been postponed until the first week of May, according to Dean W. Samuel Sadler. The exact schedule will be announced at a later date.

Room deposit refunds will be made until the lottery begins. Students who do not plan to live on campus next year and who do not plan to go through the lottery are encouraged to apply for refunds in the Office of Residence Hall Life, 206-B James Blair Hall.

'Run for Your Life' Program Established

Seven students at the College were recently awarded "Run for Your Life" certificates for their participation in a program designed to improve physical fitness and general health through running.

Steve Huebner and Bob Claude received both 50 and 100 mile certificates.

Those receiving 50 mile certificates include Robert Benson; Albert Buchanan; Roger Ellmore, '77, Blacksburg; Toni Hoke, '74, Mt. Holly, N.J.; and Edward Thompson, '75, New Castle, Pa.

The "Run for Your Life" program at the College was initiated this winter by the Departments of Physical Education for Men and Military Science. Members of the College community are urged to participate in order to insure a minimum level of physical fitness.

At present over 700 students and faculty members are running a minimum of seven miles per week under the "sustaining" phase of the program, which requires that they run a mile in 8-1/2 minutes or less.

The College "Run for Your Life" program is patterned on progressive distance running based on the aerobics theory.

Queen's Guard Drill

The Queen's Guard, in its last on-campus performance for the academic year, will present a short drill demonstration in the Courtyard of the Wren Building Sunday, April 21, at 3 p.m. The general public is invited.

At W&M Hall

The St. Louis Jazz Quartet will appear in concert at William and Mary Hall on Sunday, April 21, at 8 p.m. The comedy team of Edmonds and Curley will also be featured.

Tickets are on sale at W&M Hall and all Ticketron locations at $3 general admission and $2 for students.

Course on Churches

Registrations are now being accepted for a "Study of Colonial Virginia Churches," a non-credit course offered through the Office of Special Programs, beginning April 20.

The five-week course will meet Saturday mornings at the Virginia Associated Research Campus in Newport News. Instructors will be David L. Holmes, associate professor of religion, an American church historian; and his wife, Carolyn Holmes, who will lecture on the architecture of colonial churches.

For additional information and registration, contact the Office of Special Programs, at VARC, 12070 Jefferson Ave., Newport News, 877-9231, Ext. 200, 201.

Biology Open House

The Biology Department is having an open house in Millington Hall on Sat., April 20, from 2-4 p.m.

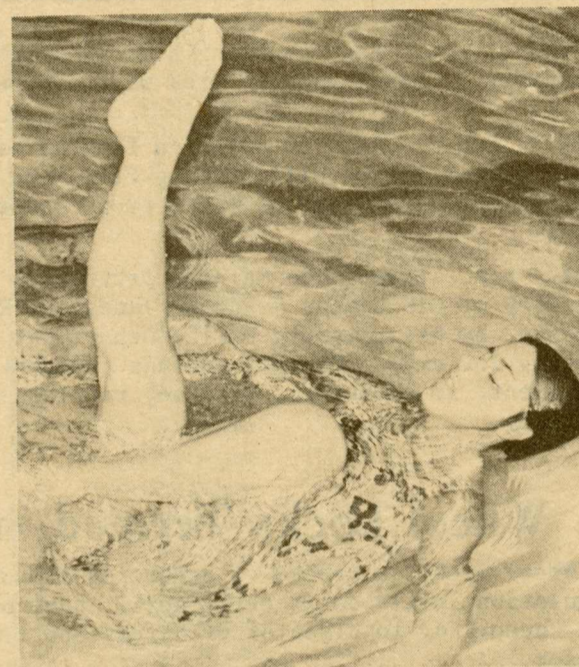

Lab and greenhouse tours will be given. All members of the College community are invited.

'Music Man' Planned

Several children in the College community will appear in "Music Man," which will be presented at Lafayette High School, Wed.-Sat., April 17-20, at 8 p.m. Mrs. Thomas K. Hearn, Jr., is musical director of the show.

Appearing in the musical are Chris (Richard Kiefer, chemistry), Cynthia (Cecil McCully, history), Debbie (Dennis Cogle, business affairs), Dee (Lynn Doverspike, physics), Bernice (Donald Herrmann, institutional research), Holly (John Selby, graduate arts and sciences), Sarah (Charles Varner, music), Tracey (Martin Mathes, biology), Rebecca (Edwin H. Rhyne, sociology), and Sherrie (Ray Adams, treasurer's office).

Mermettes' Show

Karen Larson

Karen Larson performs in "Etude," a solo number at the Mermettes annual aquatic art show.

"Collage" is the theme of the show this year, which will be given Wed.-Fri., April 17-19, at 8:15 p.m. in Adair Pool. The show is open to the public with no admission charge.

Faculty advisor is Jan Tomlinson, assistant professor of Physical Education for Women.

Wheel Locks Termed Successful

Wheel locks, a method of enforcing campus motor vehicle regulation initiated in early April, have been very successful, according to director of safety and security Harvey P. Gunson.

Forced settlement of tickets given to scofflaws has been made with a minimum of inconvenience and no additional financial penalty. The Transportation Control Board will recommend use of wheel locks on a permanent basis, Mr. Gunson stated.

The first week, seven cars were wheel locked. In each instance the results were very successful, Mr. Gunson said.

College Bus Schedules Revised

The Vice President for Business Affairs has announced revised bus schedules which will become effective 7 a.m. April 29. The revision was recommended by the Board of Student Affairs in view of the energy crisis, the need for increased security measures and the emphasis on reduced operating costs. Both the Ludwell Apartments and the James Blair Terrace routes are affected.

Mr. Carter cited the thoroughness and sincerity with which the BSA conducted their survey that led to their resolutions. Excerpts of the resolutions that provided the impetus for the revised schedules are:

"Whereas the current energy crisis resulting in a twenty-five percent cutback in the College's fuel allotment, the rising cost of fuel, and a probable cutback in the College budget necessitate a cutback in the bus schedule.

"Whereas the Student Association Senate and Interhall have endorsed two new schedules which should resolve these problems.

"Whereas there is a security problem presently at the College, The Board of Student Affairs recommends to the Vice President for Business Affairs and to the Office of Buildings and Grounds that the Ludwell bus add a stop at the Library parking lot for all runs after dark.

"Whereas every bus stop adds to the wear and tear of the buses The Board of Student Affairs recommends to the Vice President for Business Affairs and the Office of Buildings and Grounds that the stop at Fraternity field and the stop at Old Dominion be deleted from the schedule."

Mr. Carter notes that the resolution has been incorporated in the new schedules in its entirety with the one exception of the deletion of the stop at Old Dominion. This stop is being retained to provide service mainly to the Old Lodge classroom areas and the Post Office. He also requests full cooperation in utilizing designated bus stops only, as this is a definite factor in attaining the anticipated savings. The new bus schedules and routes which will become effective at 7 a.m. on April 29, are reproduced on the following pages). Please note that the JBT Saturday and Sunday schedules differ from the JBT weekday schedules.
