Vice-President Carter Lowance Returns to Richmond

After a five-year absence from the State Government, Carter O. Lowance returns to the Capitol in September to assume his new duties as special assistant to Governor Mills E. Godwin, Jr.

Described by the Governor as "one of a very few men who combine a vast knowledge of Virginia government with supreme integrity and a rare judgment," Mr. Lowance will work "specifically in the field of educational matters." He will serve as a consultant not only to Governor Godwin, in whose 1966-70 administration he was commissioner of administration, but also to other high government officials.

Acknowledging with regret the resignation of the Executive Vice President, whose appointment in January 1970, was the first step in a major top-level reorganization of the College, President Graves expressed to the campus community the appreciation of the Board of Visitors for Mr. Lowance's "exceptional service to William and Mary."

Dr. Graves also stated, "His departure will be a great loss for me personally and

Summer Session Announcements

The second term of the 1974 Summer Session opens today.

Students registered for the second term who have not paid their fees should report to the Auditor's Office, 102 James Blair Hall, this week between 8:30 a.m.-3

Reminders

Students who plan to graduate in August are reminded to declare their "intent to graduate" in the Registrar's Office, 116 James Blair Hall, prior to Friday, August 9. Persons failing to meet this requirement will not be eligible to receive their degrees during the summer commencement exercises.

Without formal cancellation, students registered for the second term who are not in attendance will be held responsible for payment of tuition and fees as well as College housing.

All students enrolled at William and Mary for the first time this summer must secure a Certificate of Good Standing from the college, university, or high school they attended before credit earned at the College will be released.

Evening Program Bulletins

For those planning to take courses this fall, the Evening College Catalog will be available in 111 James Blair Hall after August 1.

Donors Sought

The Bloodmobile will be at the Williamsburg United Methodist Church, Friday, August 16, from 10 a.m.-4 p.m.

for the College. His abilities are well known to the College community and his successes of the last four and a half years leave their permanent imprint here. His abilities are well known throughout the Commonwealth, and his return to the Capitol is a move in response to the compelling and important needs of the State Government.'

A search will begin soon to explore how best to fill the void created by Mr.

Lowance's departure, Mr. Graves said. A 1931 honor graduate of Roanoke College, Mr. Lowance served for six years as a reporter for the Roanoke Times and was a reporter-editor for the Richmond Associated Press from 1936-42 and from 1945-47. He became Executive Secretary to Governor William M. Tuck in 1947 and served in the same capacity under Governors John S. Battle, Thomas B. Stanley, J. Lindsay Almond and Albertis S. Harrison, Jr. For three years he was assistant president of the Medical College of Virginia, later becoming commissioner under Gov. Godwin.

The College honored Mr. Lowance in 1972 when it presented him the coveted Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award for possession of such characteristics of heart, mind, and conduct as evince a spirit of love for and helpfulness to other men and women." Mr. Lowance also received the 1967 Roanoke College alumni award for distinguished achievement and the 1968 Virginia Distinguished Service Medal.

Mr. Lowance and his wife, the former Elizabeth Auston of Roanoke, plan to relocate in Richmond.

Isotope Missing

The following information was prepared for this issue of the William and Mary News by Han Von Baeyer, chairman of the Department of Physics:

A small amount of radioactive material, used in the sophomore physics course for the last 16 years, has disappeared from the William Small Physical Laboratory. It is contained in a lead cylinder, 5" in diameter and 4" high and weighing 32 pounds, with a small hole in the top. A lead brick usually covers the hole. A yellow decal warns of the radioactive contents.

The source does not pose a serious threat to the public, but the Physics Department would like to recover it. Anyone who sees it should leave it alone and contact the department or the campus police. The Atomic Energy Commission and the Virginia health authorities have been notified.

With the brick in place the radiation from the cylinder is negligible. If the brick is removed, a person continuously exposed to the narrow pencil of radiation emanating from the hole at a distance of three feet would receive a radiation dose below the maximum allowed for people who work with radiation.

Tikonya Teaches Summer Skills to Campers

Camp Tikonya, the summer project sponsored by the Division of Special Education in cooperation with the School of Education, opened yesterday for 34 children from the Williamsburg-James

Scheduled to continue until August 23, the day camp for 9-to-12 year olds is conducted Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Through the cooperation of the Williamsburg Recreation Department, campers spend their mornings at Waller Mill Pond learning outdoor sporting and nature skills. After lunch at the Commons, the campers participate in a choice of activities here on campus.

Based on the success of last year's pilot program, this year's summer camp is being funded by the Public Welfare Foundation of Washington, D.C. As a result, the camp has been able to increase its enrollment by 14 over last year's enrollment.

Camp Tikonya is directed by Sandy Carroll who received her master's degree in special education from the College in 1973. It is staffed by 23 counselors, 13 of whom are graduate students from the Special Education Division of the School of Education participating in the camp as part of their master's thesis project. Other counselors come from Eastern State Hospital and a neighboring school district.

"The rationale of the camp," explained Mrs. Carroll, "is based on the idea that certain children can receive personal and social growth in well-planned and coordinated summer program which provides an educational and therapeutic milieu which may not otherwise be available."

Mrs. Carroll emphasized that community support received by the camp from local organizations has been tremendous. In addition to providing consultation services, these organizations have also been helpful with materials and facilities.

Campus Exhibit

"Treasures from the Library's Manuscript Collections," Botetourt Museum, Swem Library, ending July 29. Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m., Saturday, 9 a.m.-1 p.m.

Arson School Scheduled

Approximately 150 fire department personnel from Virginia and neighboring states are expected to participate in a three-day arson school which will be held on campus July 29-August 1.

Robert Weatherington, chief arson investigator for the State, is director of the program. He is being assisted by Williamsburg chief fire marshall Alvin

Trainers Workshop Set

A student trainer workshop will be conducted at William and Mary, August 5-8, to educate interested high school students in the proper methods of prevention, recognition and basic treatment of athletic injuries.

Staffed by certified head athletic trainers from area universities, the workshop is approved and sanctioned by the National Athletic Trainers Association. Staff members include Joe Gieck from the University of Virginia, Steve Yates from the Virginia Military Institute and Fern Hitchcock from Western Maryland University who will be hosted by Ed Christman, head athletic trainer at the College of William and Mary. All four staff members have had previous experience at workshops, clinics and medicine conferences around the nation.

In addition to class lectures and demonstrations, the workshop will include laboratory periods in which the students can learn and practice their taping skills under the direction of the certified trainers. Mr. Christman emphasized that trained help is badly needed on smaller high school athletic staffs to treat players who are less developed physically than college players.

Law School

Timothy J. Sullivan, assistant professor, was among nearly 200 college and university officials visiting the 1974 Fort Bragg, N.C., ROTC Advanced Camp, July 9-12. The officials were from 103 eastern colleges and universities which host the Army ROTC program in the First

Dr. James C. Windsor of Christopher Newport College was among the 19 college and university presidents attending the meeting.

Physics

The following paper has been published:

Anomalous Viscosity Due to Electrostatic Turbulence.

S. P. Gary and M. J. Schmidt Physics Letters 48A, 23 (1974).

Two seminars were held in the department during the month of July. Professor J. Alster from the University of Tel-Aviv gave a seminar on "Pion Charge Exchange on Nuclei" on July 10, and Professor F. Calaprice from Princeton University lectured on "Second Class Currents in Weak Interactions" on July 18.

Charles Bailey Spence, Jr., passed the final oral for the Ph.D. degree on July 18. His dissertation is entitled "Measurement of Total Cross Sections on <sup>3</sup>He, <sup>9</sup>Be and <sup>12</sup>C over the 3/2, 3/2 Resonance Region".

Breckenridge Defends Dissertation

Roger A. Breckenridge, a doctoral candidate in the Physics Department, will defend his dissertation entitled "Improved Calculations of the Complex Dielectric Constant of Semiconductors," Wednesday, July 24, at 2 p.m. in the Conference Room of Small Physical Laboratory

The examination is open to the public.

William & Mary Hall

H. Lester Hooker, Jr., is serving as chairperson of the "College-University Facilities Forum" at the annual meeting of the International Association of Auditorium Managers in San Antonio, Texas, July 20-25. Over 600 members from the 50 States and Canada will be represented. Mr. Hooker is also on the IAAM Professional Development Committee.

Bettie Adams, assistant director of William and Mary Hall, is also attending the various meetings and a trade show.

Staff Notes

Swem Library

Members of the staff attending the annual conference of the American Library Association in New York, July 7-13, included Sandra Peterson, documents librarian; Berna Heyman, assistant catalogue librarian; Mary Louise Cobb, catalog librarian; and Robert L. Burr, circulation librarian. Mrs. Cobb is an outgoing member of the ALA Council, governing body for the national association.

Mrs. Cobb also attended a meeting of the Advisory Council of the Potomac Technical Processing Librarians in Rockville, Md., recently. She is one of two Virginia librarians serving on the Council.

Henry D. Grunder, curator of rare books, recently attended a conference sponsored by the Rare Books and Manuscripts Division of the Association of College and Research Libraries of the American Library Association in Charlottesville.

Any interested girl or boy between grade nine and grade twelve is eligible to attend the workshop. No previous experience is necessary, and workshop participation provides a way to become experienced in an area that could help finance a college education on an athletic training scholarship.

More information about the workshop may be obtained from Ed Christman, head athletic trainer, Trainers Office, William and Mary Hall, Ext. 320/267.

Having trouble with your telephone?

Telephone extension numbers in some departments are in the process of being changed. If you have trouble reaching your desired party, check with the switchboard operator to find out if that extension is one of the changed numbers. A new telephone directory will be published this fall listing all the correct extension numbers.

Faculty of Arts and Sciences Office Changes Announced.

Several changes have been made in the Office of the Dean of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences, according to a recent announcement by Jack D. Edwards.

David Kranbuehl, associate professor of chemistry, replaces Robert Johnston who completes his tenure as associate dean at the end of this month. Mr. Johnston will be teaching full-time in the Department of Psychology.

Letty Cash, former secretary in the Department of Mathematics, replaces Margherite Smith as secretary to the dean. Mrs. Smith retired in June.

Secretaries Betty Sandy and Janie Morgan remain with the staff. Mrs. Sandy is responsible for several major functions such as class scheduling, while Mrs. Morgan performs a variety of functions in support of the dean and associate dean.

Calls to Mr. Edwards and Mrs. Cash should be placed on Ext. 243 or 681; calls to Mr. Kranbuehl, Mrs. Sandy and Mrs. Morgan should be placed on Ext. 681.

STUDENT ACHIEVEMENTS

Pam Byam, a junior from Williamsburg, has been awarded a scholarship from the University of Muenster, Muenster, Germany, for a year of academic study, beginning this fall.

The scholarship, which pays full room and board and university fees, is the first such award given to a William and Mary student by the University of Muenster.

Miss Byam, a 1972 graduate of James Blair High School, carries a double major in German and French.

Three William and Mary cadets attending the 1974 Fort Bragg ROTC Advanced Camp have been selected to participate in the Army Orientation Training (ACT) Program.

William Vehrs of Manassas, John S. Stewart of Arlington, and Gary Harvey of Newport News have been selected to participate in the ACT.

Participants, selected on the basis of their academic records and individual performance in all ROTC training, are chosen by the professor of military science.

Appointments Announced

James Pinckney Harrison Chair

An authority of American political thought and ancient Greek political thought will hold the James Pinckney Harrison Chair of History for the academic year 1974-75.

Cecelia Marie Kenyon, who has been Charles N. Clark Professor of Government at Smith College, Northampton, Mass., since 1969, will offer an undergraduate course in problems in modern history in the fall, dealing specifically with "The Anglo-American Background of the Political Thought of the American Revolution." Her spring semester course will be open to graduate history students only.

Prior to joining the Smith College faculty in 1948, Ms. Kenyon was a teaching fellow at Radcliffe College where she received her A.M. and PhD. degrees. Her undergraduate degree was obtained at Oberlin College.

A Visiting Fellow at the Newberry Library in Chicago in 1968, she is a member of the Council of the Institute of Early American History and Culture, a center for historical publication and study, sponsored jointly by the College and the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation.

Ms. Kenyon is co-author of Graduate Education for Women: The Radcliffe Ph.D, published in 1956; and editor of The Anti-Federalists, published in 1966. She has written scholarly articles for the Political Science Quarterly, the Encyclopedia Britannica, and the Centennial Review. Her reviews and articles have also appeared in the William and Mary Quarterly and the American Political Science Review.

The James Pinckney Harrison Chair of History was established at William and Mary in 1969 as a memorial to the late chairman of the board of the Universal Leaf Tobacco Co., of Richmond. A native of Danville, Harrison had been known throughout the State for his civic and philanthropic activities and in 1946 was awarded the Legion of Merit.

History

Denys Jacobs a member of the history faculty at the University of Exeter in England, has accepted a year's appointment as visiting professor in the Department of History on Campus.

Jacobs, who taught at William and Mary last summer, will offer the undergraduate level history course on England under the Tudors and Stuarts which for years was regularly taught by Harold L. Fowler, recently retired dean of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences.

Educated in England, he received both his bachelor's and master's degrees at Emmanuel College, Cambridge University. Prior to his appointment at Exeter in 1949, Jacobs was assistant master at Aylesford House School, St. Albans, England, and at Clifton School, Durban, South Africa. He served a one-year appointment during 1948-49 as a lecturer in adult education at the University of Nottingham.

In 1971 he published a Catalogue of the Harrowby - Tiverton Mss. at the University of Exeter.

Law, Economics, Government

Mark Stanley Dray has been hired as lecturer in law, Marshall-Wythe School of Law; Gary Garofalo, assistant professor of economics; and John J. McGlennon, assistant professor of government.

Dray received his undergraduate degree from Mount Union College in 1965 and obtained his J.D. in 1968 and M.L.T. in 1969 from the Marshall-Wythe School of Law. He was employed by Price Waterhouse & Co. in Washington, D.C. during 1969-70 and was an instructor in taxation for a semester at the University of Richmond. Since 1970, he has been with the law firm of Hunton, Williams, Gay & Gibson in Richmond. He is a member of the American and Virginia Bar Associations and is currently co-authoring an article on "The Employee Benefits Security Act of 1974."

McGlennon is a 1971 graduate of Fordham University who received his master's degree this year from The Johns Hopkins University and is currently a Ph.D. candidate there.

He has several scholastic honors including the New York State Regents Scholarship, 1967-71; Johns Hopkins University Fellowship, 1971-74; National Science Foundation Fellowship, 1972; and a Social Sciences & The Mass Media Internship from the Russell Sage Foundation in 1972. His major field of study lies in public administration, with a special interest in American government and politics and urban government and politics.

A 1969 graduate of Saint Vincent College, Garofalo received both his master's and doctor of philosophy degrees from the University of Pittsburgh in 1972 and 1974, respectively. His specialties include urban and regional economics, econometrics, monetary economics, and economic theory.

CBS Slates Four Ben Franklin Specials for the Fall

A mini-series consisting of four 90-minute drama specials based on the life of Benjamin Franklin will be broadcast on CBS during the 1974-75 season.

Mr. Franklin received the first honorary degree awarded by William and Mary.

The first special depicts the early struggles of Franklin, from the time of his apprenticeship to a printer through the period when he beseeches the colonies to unify. The second segment characterizes Franklin in London making a valient effort to the Crown for concessions to the colonies in order to prevent a revolution.

An older Franklin, who maneuvers to secure French military and financial aid in America's struggle for independence, is portrayed in the third drama. In the final program in the series, Mr. Franklin is shown in the last years of his life, striving to ratify the Constitution.
