President Graves Publishes Annual Report

The new academic year at William and Mary will focus on seventeen major areas of special attention, with a tight budget and continued inflation tending to override all of them.

This is the forecast in the 1973-74 annual report of President Thomas A. Graves, which has now been issued. The report will be available in printed form within several weeks.

Dr. Graves outlined in his report the key accomplishments and concerns of the past academic year, repeatedly noting that tight money affected almost every decision that was made. In addition, he noted, the State Council of Higher Education and the General Assembly took on new responsibilities for governance, coordination and control of higher education.

He expressed pleasure, however, that the State Council of Higher Education had approved William and Mary's continued role as a 'highly selective, coeducational, full-time residential university, with primary emphasis on a liberal education in depth and breadth at the undergraduate level' and appropriate graduate and professional offerings. Further study, he suggested, is necessary in order to improve graduate offerings despite limited funds.

Forum Features Noted Historian

Henry Steele Commager, the distinguished American historian, will deliver the opening lecture of the 1974-75 Project Plus Forum, Monday, September 23, in Phi Beta Kappa Hall at 7:30 p.m.

The public is invited to attend.

The theme of this year's forum is 'The State of the American Dream.'

Mr. Commager has been professor of history at Amherst College since 1956 and has held numerous appointments at institutions around the world, including Oxford, Cambridge, Harvard, Columbia and the Universities of Copenhagen, Jerusalem and London.

His many books include: The Growth of the American Republic; America: Story of a Free People; Majority Rule and Minority Rights; The American Mind; The Blue and the Gray; Living Ideas in America; Freedom, Loyalty, and Dissent; Crusaders for Freedom: History, Nature and Purpose; Search for a Usable Past; Was America a Mistake; The American Character and America and Enlightenment.

Mr. Commager was educated at the University of Chicago, where he earned his A.B., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees. He is also the recipient of numerous honorary degrees.

The visit of Mr. Commager is supported by funds from the Institute of Early American History and Culture and from the Marshall-Wythe Institute for Research in the Social Sciences.

The seventeen areas of major concern for the coming year, he suggests, are these:

--Long-range planning, related to the implementation of the Self-Study Report completed last year, to include the establishment of institutional priorities and a systematic effort to move the goals and mission of the College forward within consistent educational values.

--Issues relating to governing roles of the Board of Visitors, the State Council of Higher Education and the General Assembly, and how decisions are made at the State level including the use of controls and formulae.

--Inflation, cost control, budget control, and choices of expenditures which must be made.

--Use of resources, including space, time, people and money.

--Determination on the best use of automated data processing resources and facilities, development of a College data base, and cost control over this activity.

--Efforts to improve the financial picture through outside giving.

--The need for more funds for faculty salaries, faculty research and student aid, while trying to avoid future tuition increases.

--Reorganization of the administration, as the result of the resignation September 1 of the Executive Vice President.

--A Faculty Senate to provide improved communications and consideration of important issues.

--Faculty tenure questions, and procedures on evaluation, retention and promotion of faculty.

--Review and delineation of the role and purpose of graduate studies in arts and sciences.

--Athletic policy review, relating it to educational policy and the financial commitments involved.

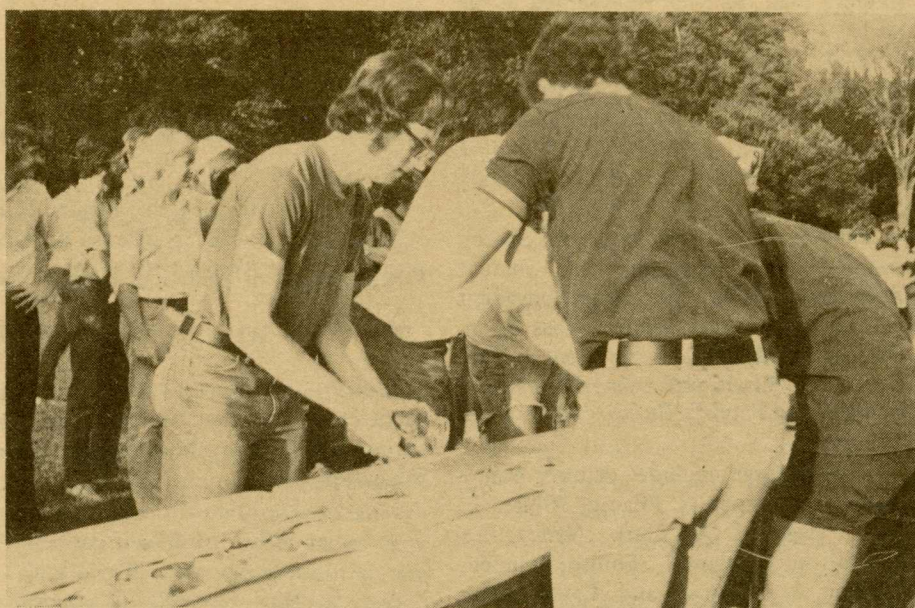

--Review of Summer Session and Evening College in their relationship to other educational programs and resources.

--Review of problems and issues involving the Swem Library.

--Increased effort to seek opportunities for the College to be of public service to citizens of the Tidewater area.

--Affirmative Action, with special attention to questions of possible discrimination.

--A resolution of the future role of Richard Bland College, Petersburg.

DESSERT, ANYONE? The Student Association and the Society of the Alumni were co-hosts at a banana split party for some 1,500 members of the College community Monday in the Sunken Gardens. FEATURED DISH—a 450' banana split consisting of 1,696 ice cream bars, 220 lbs. of bananas, 3 gals. of pineapple, 1 1/2 gals. of walnuts, 3 gals. of strawberries, 1 1/2 gals. of cherries, 3 gals. of chocolate sauce, and 24 quarts of whipped topping. Crotty Brothers also assisted in the preparation of the party.

Two Alumni To Be Honored During Homecoming

The Society of the Alumni will honor a distinguished member of the Mayo Clinic and the Lieutenant Governor of Virginia during homecoming weekend, October 18-19.

Dr. Guy W. Daugherty '34, professor of medicine, Mayo Medical School, and the Honorable John N. Dalton '53, will receive the prestigious Alumni Medallion, the Society's highest award, for their service and loyalty to that organization.

A specialist in internal medicine with a particular interest in cardiovascular diseases, Dr. Daugherty served for 12 years as head of the section of cardiovascular disease at the Mayo Clinic. He was recently appointed the Hill Family Foundation Professor of Community Medicine.

In recent years, Dr. Daugherty has turned his attention increasingly to the problems that attend the delivery of primary medical care. He has been instrumental in the development of certain satellite facilities and outreach activities of Mayo.

Dr. Daugherty served as a member of the board of directors of the Society of the Alumni for six years. He was fund chairman during the New Era Drive that included raising money for the Alumni House. A younger sister and three of his children are alumni of the College.

A former member of the House of Delegates and the State Senate, Dalton was elected Lieutenant Governor of Virginia last November at the youthful age of 41. He was recently listed by Time Magazine as one of the nation's outstanding emerging young leaders.

Dalton showed early signs of leadership at William and Mary. He served as president of both the Student Association and his junior class. He was also a member of Omicron Delta Kappa leadership fraternity and was a member of the Board of Directors of the Society of the Alumni from 1960-66 and vice president in 1966.

Dalton served as a lieutenant in the Army from 1954-56. He received his law degree from the University of Virginia in 1957.

AN INVITATION

President and Mrs. Thomas A. Graves, Jr.

cordially invite

new undergraduate students to a reception in their honor on Sunday, the twenty-second of September from four until six o'clock

at the President's House

President and Mrs. Thomas A. Graves, Jr., were hosts to over 800 members of the faculty and administration at a brunch held in the College Yard of the Sir Christopher Wren Building Sunday. An added treat for the guests was a tour of the President's House.

PARENTS' WEEKEND SET FOR OCTOBER 4-5

Educational adventures are promised to parents of William and Mary students along the 'autumn trails' in Williamsburg during their traditional recognition weekend, October 4-6.

Various activities for Parents' Weekend have been planned by the Association of Parents in conjunction with the Student Association around the theme of 'Autumn Trails. . .' Highlights of the program include remarks to be delivered at a buffet luncheon on Saturday by President Thomas A. Graves, Jr.; Cherie Doverspike, president of the Parents' Association; and Sharon Pandak, president of the Student Association.

According to Carolyn Moseley, associate dean of students for administration and administrative coordinator of the program, the entire campus community will be involved in the activities of Parents' Weekend. Special plans should allow parents to meet informally with members of the faculty and administration as well as with students. These include 'open door' office hours on Friday from 3-5 p.m.

Friday evening the Backdrop Club will present a student talent show in Phi Beta Kappa Auditorium. Lectures on the humanities, the natural sciences and the social sciences will be given Saturday morning by selected faculty members in various locations. Other Saturday events include morning panel discussions, an afternoon football game on Cary field, and 'Big Band Night' at the Hoi Polloi.

President and Mrs. Graves will host a continental breakfast for the parents Sunday, 9:30-11:00 a.m. During the afternoon, parents may attend a piano concert by James Mathis as part of the Sunday concert series.

PERSONNEL DIRECTORS MEET

The Virginia College and University Personnel Directors will hold its quarterly seminar on campus Thursday and Friday, September 19-20.

More than 14 State Colleges and Universities will be represented at the seminar, according to Irving H. Robitshek, director of personnel and coordinator of the program.

Vice President for Business Affairs William J. Carter will welcome the group convening for the first time at William and Mary. William H. Warren, associate professor of business administration, will speak on 'Principles of Personnel Management,' Thursday.

Among the principal speakers are John W. Garber, director of the Division of Personnel, Commonwealth of Virginia, and Glen D. Pond, director of the Virginia Supplemental Retirement System.

PRESIDENT'S AIDES ANNOUNCED

Sixteen upperclassmen have accepted President Graves' invitation to serve as President's Aides during the academic year 1974-75.

The aides discuss issues of mutual interest with the President in monthly meetings and participate in formal academic processions. This year invitations were extended to students who together will comprise a more representative cross-section of campus interest than has been represented in the past.

While the number of aides has been increased from thirteen to sixteen, the number chosen ex officio by virtue of the positions they hold in student organizations has been reduced from six to five.

Ex officio aides include seniors Sharon Pandak, president of the Student Association; James Van Black, president of the senior class; David Coons Ryan, chairman of the Board of Student Affairs; Cynthia A. Lewis, chairman of the Honor Council; and Peter D. Surko, editor of the Flat Hat.

BUSINESS STUDENTS CONTINUE TELEPHONE INTERVIEWS

Sen. Herbert H. Bateman (with microphone); to his left, J. Elmore Eubank, Jr.

The theme of the course in Business Policy (Business 416) during 1974-75 will be "International Business, the Key to World Peace and Prosperity", as the classes interview business leaders by telephone.

The Summer school session of the policy class got a head start on the program in August when they interviewed Hays T. Watkins of the Chessie System on how the business school and Peninsula businessmen could work with the railroad to stimulate the export business out of the Newport News Port.

In the class "live" were Senator Herb

An Appeal for the United Fund

To All Members of the College Community:

This week marks the beginning of the 1974 Williamsburg-James City United Fund campaign. I have been asked to serve as chairman for William and Mary this year.

Later this week each of you should receive a pledge card and an explanatory brochure. I hope very much that you will take time enough to consider the many vital community activities which your gift to the United Fund will help support. A generous contribution to the United Fund is truly wise investment in our community's welfare.

The goal for William and Mary this year is $9,100. In order to meet that objective, a high level of participation is essential.

May we count on you?

Sincerely,
Jim Sullivan

OFFICE OF DEVELOPMENT

National Endowment for Humanities

Research Grants November 17 has been set by the National Endowment for the Humanities as the next postmark deadline for its Research Grants program. Grant assistance is provided for support of original thought, basic research, and editing projects in the humanities, including the social sciences that have humanistic content or employ humanistic methods. Special interest is given to projects that bear on major issues of contemporary public concern. Priority is also given to projects that may contribute to the Bicentennial of the American Revolution by reflecting major themes of the revolutionary era and contributing to a better understanding of the founding and development of the nation and its institutions. Applications from educational institutions must provide a minimum 10% cost-sharing. Projects submitted for this deadline should be scheduled to begin before August 1, 1975. For further information and application forms contact: Director, Division of Research Grants, National Endowment for the Humanities, Washington, D.C. 20506 (202) 382-5857.

Research Fellowships

For faculty interested in a fellowship to conduct independent study and research in the humanities. The purpose of the fellowship program is to help humanists make important contributions to knowledge, or develop their abilities to do so, by providing support for uninterrupted study and research. The work undertaken with a fellowship may lie within the applicant's special interest or it may work in some other field that will help him understand his own field better, enlarge his competence and become a more broadly informed humanist. Stipends up to $10,000 are provided with a matching amount provided by the applicant's institution. Project tenure is from 6 to 8 months. FOR FURTHER INFORMATION WRITE: DIVISION OF FELLOWSHIPS, NATIONAL ENDOWMENT FOR THE HUMANITIES, 806 15TH STREET, N.W., WASHINGTON, D.C. DEADLINE FOR RECEIPT OF APPLICATION PROPOSALS: 10/15/74.

The program offers year-long fellowships to provide gifted U.S. citizens between 23 and 35 years of age in the Federal governmental and legislative process at the executive level. Fellows are assigned as aides to White House staff members, Cabinet members, the Office of the Vice-President, the Director of OMB, and other high-ranking officials. The 12 month stipend can go as high as $27,282, depending upon background and experience. Write: Chairman, Commission on White House Fellows, The White House, Washington, D.C. 20005.

American Antiquarian Society

Due date of March 1, 1975, the deadline for submitting Visiting Fellowship Applications for the period June 1, 1975 - July 1, 1976.

Competition for the awards is open to individuals engaged in scholarly research and writing including those working on doctoral dissertations. Fellowships will be awarded on the basis of the applicants scholarly qualifications, general interest of the project, and appropriations of the inquiry to the Antiquarian Society's holdings. Recipients will be expected to be in regular residence at the Society's library during the period of the grant. The Fellowship may vary in duration from one to three months, with the maximum stipend being $2,500.
