W&M/NASA Host Series

"Our Future in the Cosmos," the current lecture program being co-sponsored by the College and NASA is living up to its name as an "everyman series."

Alvin Toffler, author of "Future Shock," drew some 2,200 persons from the Tidewater area to the Hampton High School earlier this month. A week after the initial announcement of his lecture was made in early September, the supply of tickets for the program was exhausted. Arrangements for wide screen closed circuit TV in the gymnasium of the high school were made to accommodate the more than 1,000 persons who requested tickets after the auditorium space had been filled.

President Thomas A. Graves introduced Mr. Toffler and presided at the question and answer session following his talk.

As an added bonus for those who came to the lecture, Toffler offered to "rap" with all who would like to stay beyond the regular question and answer period. About 200 people, including Mr. and Mrs. Graves, and Edgar M. Cortright, director, and John E. Duberg, associate director, NASA Langley Research Center, adjourned to the school library with the speaker and were still there when security personnel came to close the building for the night at 11:30 p.m.

Arrangements for the lecture series are being handled through the Office of Special Programs at the Virginia Associated Research Campus (VARC) in Newport News. Carson Barnes, director, is extremely pleased with the response the series has been receiving.

Dennis Meadows

"The enthusiasm with which speakers have been received and the informal atmosphere which has allowed for audience participation at each program is proof I think that people are interested in hearing about global issues when they are presented in a format that is not too overwhelming," said Barnes.

"The response has passed my expectations and the willingness of the speakers to talk informally with members of the audience following their formal presentations has really made this series live up to its name as an "everyman series."

Barnes added that his office is already receiving requests for tickets to the last two lectures in the series, January 13, Dennis Meadows, associate professor of engineering and business, Dartmouth College, author of The Limits to Growth: Toward Global Equilibrium, and April 14, Gerard Piel, president-publisher, Scientific American. Author of The Acceleration of History and Science in the Cause of Man.

Mr. Meadows has expressed his willingness to meet informally with classes or other groups of students and faculty members on the campus during his Tidewater visit.

The series was opened in July by John Platt, associate director of the Mental Health Research Institute, University of Michigan.

Reflecting on the success of the series, Barnes noted that a large measure of its success was the result of team work between the College and NASA. Edward Long and Joseph Heyman and other members of NASA's Colloquium Committee as well as many students and faculty members at the College have worked closely with the Office of Special Programs on the series.

Members of Circle K served as ticket takers and directed people to their seats. Members of Delta Delta Delta sorority were ushers and handled the microphones during the question and answer sessions after the Toffler lecture.

According to Barnes, discussions are already underway with NASA officials for supporting grants to continue the series and all members of the College community who wish to contribute assistance or any ideas may do so by contacting the Office of Special Programs. If the series is continued, it is anticipated that some lectures will be held on the William and Mary campus and others at various locations in the Tidewater area.

Author on Campus

Robert William Fogel, co-author of "Time on the Cross," a major new study on American slavery, will speak Thursday evening, October 17, at 8 p.m. in Millington Auditorium under the sponsorship of the Marshall-Wythe Institute for Research in the Social Sciences.

Fogel will speak on "From the Marxists to the Mormons: Notes on the Cliometric Network."

Thursday afternoon Fogel will speak at a meeting of the Williamsburg Seminar, co-sponsored by the Marshall-Wythe Institute and the Institute of Early American History and Culture in the Kellock Library of the Institute. He will discuss informally the preparation of his major new study on American slavery.

Faculty News

Chemistry

Randolph Coleman, assistant professor, and David Thompson, associate professor, recently published a paper entitled "Transition Metal Promoted Alkylations of Alkenols" in the Journal of Organometallic Chemistry, 69, C27 (1974).

Economics

Professors Martin A. Garrett, Jr. and Leonard G. Schifrin recently completed a study on "The Economic Effects of Tropical Storm 'Agnes' on Virginia." This study is part of a larger study by the Virginia Institute of Marine Science on the total effects - ecological, environmental, biological, and economic - in Virginia of the 1972 storm. The VIMS study, in turn, is a major part of a larger study by the Chesapeake Research Consortium on the impact of hurricane Agnes throughout the Chesapeake Bay estuarine system. The project was financed by a grant from the Army Corps of Engineers. Garrett and Schifrin presented their findings in a paper given at a symposium at the University of Maryland on May 7.

Schifrin has been invited to attend the Congress on Health Manpower sponsored by the American Medical Association in Chicago, October 31 - November 2. His paper presented at the Second Seminar on the Economics of Innovation in the Pharmaceutical Industry in November, 1963, is being published by the American University as part of the proceedings of that seminar.

Fine Arts

Patricia M. Winter, lecturer, and Henry Coleman, associate professor, judged the Monticello Shopping Center Art Show which was held on September 14.

A paper by assistant professor Miles Chappell, "Lodovico Cigoli's Resurrection for the Pitti Palace," concerning a painting discovered in 1973 while doing work in Italy with a Summer Research Grant, was published in the August issue of The Burlington Magazine.

Government

Associate professor Roger W. Smith's essay, "The Economy of Guilt," has been accepted for publication in Political Theory.

History

Edward Crapol, associate professor, will be a commentator for a symposium on "The Trauma of Algeria" which will be held as part of the eighth annual Duquesne University History Forum, October 30-Nov. 1. The conference will be held at Chatham Center, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Marshall-Wythe School of Law

Professor Thomas H. Jolls attended a meeting of the American Bar Association Committee on Stock Certificates in New York City recently.

Jolls also delivered a lecture in Detroit at a symposium of the Institute of Continuing Legal Education sponsored by the Law Schools of the University of Michigan and Wayne State University. His topic was "Investment Securities under the Uniform Commercial Code."

In August Mr. Jolls lectured on "Corporate Trust Administration" at the Graduate School of Banking of the University of Wisconsin at Madison.

Modern Languages

Anne Tyler Netick, associate professor, attended a meeting of the American Association of Teachers of Slavic and East Asian Languages held in Roanoke, October 4-5, as part of the Virginia foreign language conference. Professor Netick serves as treasurer of the Virginia chapter of the Association.

She has published reviews of three recent books in Choice: Feodor Mikhailovich Dostoevsky, The Unpublished Dostoevsky, Vol. I, Diaries and Notebooks (1860-81), ed. Carl R.

Proffer; Mikahil Mikhailovich Bakhtin, Problems of Dostoevsky's Poetics, rev. ed., trans. R. W. Rotsel; A. Boyce Gibson, The Religion of Dostoevsky.

Religion

The following members of the Department will be attending the upcoming meeting of the American Academy of Religion in Washington, October 24-27: associate professor and chairman Thomas Finn; professor and dean of the Undergraduate Program James Livingston; associate professor David Holmes; assistant professor Jack D. Van Horn; and lecturer Marc Kellner. Dean Livingston will participate in the 19th century theology group and Kellner will preside at a session on the History of Judaism. Kellner will also attend the meeting of the Association for Jewish Studies in Boston, October 27-28.

School of Education

Dean James M. Yankovich will give the keynote address at the first joint conference of the State Board of Education and the State Council on Higher Education which will be held in Blacksburg October 28. He will speak on "Innovations in Education."

Dean Yankovich also spoke to the Rotary Club of Williamsburg last Thursday.

Assistant professor Robert B. Bloom of the Division of Special Education was the featured speaker at the Virginia Hospital Teachers Convention, October 9-11 at Eastern State Hospital. Bloom conducted a workshop in communication and problem solving skills for the reduction of Agency conflicts.

Sociology

R. Wayne Kernodle, professor, has been appointed by the State Mental Health and Mental Retardation Professional Advisory Board to a Select Committee to make a study and report upon the need and feasibility of programs directed toward the prevention of medical causes of mental retardation. The Professional Advisory Board was directed to make this study by the General Assembly.

Mr. Kernodle's "Commentary on Falling In and Out of Love Romantically" has been reprinted in Leonard Gross, Sexual Behavior: Current Issues, An Interdisciplinary Perspective, Spectrum Publications, John Wiley, 1974.

The Metropolitan Criminal

Justice Center

Recent professional activities and publications of the staff include the following:

Juvenile Delinquency and the School: An Application of Control Theory, a 184-page monograph by Donna M. Colombano, research associate, has been published by the Center.

The Viability of the Volunteers in Courts Programs, a 121-page monograph by Margaret Baker, research associate, has been published by the Center.

Corrections: Problems and Prospects, an edited text for courses in the sociology of corrections, has been published by Prentice-Hall, Inc. The volume is co-edited by Charles W. Thomas, research director and adjunct associate professor of sociology, and David M. Petersen, Department of Sociology, Georgia State University.

"The Consequences of Incompatible Goal Structures in Correctional Settings," a paper by Professor Thomas, has been accepted for publication in the International Journal of Criminology and Penology.

"The Construction of Likert-Type Attitude Scales: An Examination of Alternative Techniques of Item Selection," by Professor Thomas, J. Sherwood Williams and Lynn D. Nelson, both of whom are research associates with the Survey Research Center at Virginia Commonwealth University, was presented to the Rural Sociological Society convention that was held recently in Montreal.

Professor Thomas has been asked to serve as a reviewer of new works in criminology and deviance by the Georgia Journal of Corrections and as an editorial referee by the American Sociological Review.

Virginia Institute of Marine Science
Joseph G. Loesch, associate marine scientist, published an article entitled "A Sequential Sampling Plan for Hard Clams in Lower Chesapeake Bay," in Chesapeake Science 15 (3): 134-139.

Staff Notes

New Swem Library staff members are as follows: Jane Strohm, Clerk-Typist C, Cataloging Department; Delores Lee, Clerk-Typist B, Cataloging Department; and Brenda Allen, Clerk C, Circulation Department. Mrs. Strohm is a 1973 graduate of Christopher Newport College, Miss Lee a 1971 graduate of New Kent High School, and Miss Allen a 1974 graduate of William and Mary.

Patricia Parks assumed duties as stack supervisor in the Circulation Department of Swem Library September 30; formerly she was a library assistant in the Reference Department.

Appointments

New officers in the Security Office are Sandra Cote, Richard Cumbee, Peter R. Demallie, and Douglas Ratcliffe.

Miss Cote, who resides in Hampton, was a member of the U.S. Women's Army Corps from 1967-70.

Cumbee, a recently discharged Army sergeant, resides in Williamsburg with his wife, Lynn, and two-year old daughter, Leigh.

Demallie was a trooper first class with the Delaware State Police Department before coming to William and Mary. He and his wife, Gloria, reside in Hampton with their four children.

Ratcliffe, formerly a lieutenant with the Williamsburg Police Department, is the first officer on campus to be appointed lieutenant.

Promotions

Barbara Crump, from library assistant A to library assistant B in the Marshall-Wythe School of Law.

Roger Higgs, computer systems analyst B to computer systems development supervisor.

Doris Lee, custodial worker to clerk-messenger in the Mailroom.

Professor Galfo Undertakes Study

Armand Galfo's study, "An Analysis of the 1973 Department of Defense Personnel Survey Data Related to the Air Force Education Services Function," will be published by the Directorate of Personnel, Education Services, Headquarters USAF, the Pentagon.

A major finding of the study is that the strongest motivation for younger and lower grade officers and airmen in the Air Force to follow a service career is brought about by in-service education opportunities.

More than 13,000 Air Force officers and enlisted persons, selected at random from all over the world, provided the information for the survey.

On October 4, Mr. Galfo took part in a briefing of staff members from the House of Representatives Appropriations Committee who are looking into Pentagon budgeting for education activities in the armed services.

Faculty Club Affairs

The Faculty Club has planned a series of five cocktail parties to be held throughout the coming academic year. The first event, welcoming new faculty members, will be held on Friday, October 25, from 5:30 - 7:30 p.m. at the Alumni House. Following the cocktail party, Sal's Italian Restaurant will feature a 25% discount for Faculty Club members who attend the Cocktail Party. Additional parties with special discount dinners at local restaurants are planned for November 22, February 7, March 7, and May 2.

Membership dues and ticket orders for the October cocktail party are now being received by Richard Prosl and may be sent to him at his James Blair box.

College Women's Club

A trip to Charlottesville has been planned for members of the College Women's Club. The group will tour Monticello, followed by lunch at Michie Tavern. Before returning home, the group will visit the University of Virginia campus.

Departure for the Friday, October 25 trip is from Phi Beta Kappa Hall at 8:30 a.m. Reservations should be in by October 19 and will be limited to the capacity of the chartered bus.

Mrs. Gary Smith at 229-8005 should be called for more information.

New Security Regulation

Effective immediately, traffic fines will no longer be accepted at the Treasurer's Office. They can be paid at the Campus Police Office. Payment hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Religion Colloquia

Four colloquia have been scheduled by the Department of Religion during the Fall semester.

The first of the four took place September 25.

Three colloquia remain on the schedule as follows: Marc Kellner, religion lecturer, "Faith vs. Reason: The Case of Gersonide," October 16; Julian Hart, professor of religious studies at the University of Virginia, "The Analogy of Experience," November 20; Jack D. Van Horn, assistant professor of religion, "The Religious Practices of Maharashtra's New Buddhists," December 18.

All colloquia meet in Morton 240 at 3:30 p.m. They are open to members of the faculty, religion concentrators and other interested students.

William and Mary News

Volume III, Number 6
October 15, 1974

Published weekly through the Office of Information Services by the College of William and Mary for faculty, staff and students. Produced by the College News Office, 125 Richmond Road. Mrs. Eleanor R. Anderson, Editor. Mailed to addresses of employees as on record at the Personnel Office, James Blair Hall, to which office address changes should be directed.

Information Services Personnel Changes Announced

The administrator who has edited and developed the William and Mary News from its inception two years ago has been appointed to new responsibilities in the College's publications program.

Eleanor R. Anderson, information officer, will assist the director of publications, S. Dean Olson, in the development, production and dissemination of all William and Mary publications which are within the responsibility of the Office of Information Services.

Effective with the October 22 issue of the William and Mary News, editorial responsibilities will be shifted to Marjorie W. N. Healy, also an information officer. She has worked for a year in a variety of assignments within the Office of Information Services. Mrs. Healy will also assist in the development of news and information materials which are disseminated through the public media by the College News Office.

The change is part of a realignment of responsibilities within the Office of Information Services. Earlier, Fred Wallace was named supervisor of the College Printing Office and that office's responsibilities were redefined to concentrate on growing duplicating requirements.

Mrs. Anderson, an alumna of Virginia Union University with an M.Ed. degree from Florida A&M University, was formerly employed in the public relations office at Florida A&M and the financial aid office at Hampton Institute. She joined the William and Mary staff in 1972.

Mrs. Healy is an alumna of Lawrence University with an M.A. degree from The Johns Hopkins University, conferred earlier this year. She joined the College staff last October.

RECENT VISITORS TO W&M were television and motion picture star Fred MacMurray and his wife, former actress June Haver. MacMurray was on campus and throughout CW taping Greyhound commercials.

OD Offers Dental Services to W&M Students

Old Dominion University, formerly a branch of the College, has offered through the agency of Dorothy M. Jones, associate professor, to make arrangements for complete oral examinations with X-rays and complete cleaning of the teeth, all for $3, to any William and Mary student who wishes to participate.

"This invitation obviously is not extended in the hopes of making money, as this is a token fee in relation to the value received. They have close to 60 students in the Dental Hygiene Clinic and could arrange for as many William and Mary students to be seen at the same time as the College would like, so that transportation costs and considerations would be minimal," noted Dr. R. D.

Cilley, director of the student health services.

The technicians would see the patients 9 a.m., 10:30 a.m., 1 p.m. and 2:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. Appointments can be made by calling 489-8000, Ext. 414, 415, or 464.

"Dr. James Hirschfield, director of the Dental Hygiene Clinic, extends his warm welcome to William and Mary students and if there are arrangements that can be made specially for groups of them, he will cooperate to his fullest extent," Dr. Cilley stated.

Questions concerning the program should be directed to Dr. Cilley at Ext. 386.

Office of Development

National Research Council - Postdoctoral Research Opportunities

These programs provide opportunities for research for postdoctoral scientists in participating federal research laboratories. The following fields are included: Chemical, Mathematical, and Physical Sciences; Biological and Behavioral Sciences; Atmospheric, Earth, and Space Sciences.

Announcements of specific laboratories are available in the appropriate departments and in Mrs. Neiman's office.

Deadline: January 10, 1975 except for NASA which also has May 15 and September 15 deadlines.

Fulbright-Hays Awards

Applications are still being accepted for senior appointments and for research awards in some countries. Call Mrs. Neiman for specifics.

A newly announced Silver Opportunity Research Fellowship (established on the occasion of the 25th anniversary of the Fulbright-Hays program) will support a recent PhD or advanced PhD candidate whose project relates to the history of U.S.-Netherlands relations or to developments and trends in European-American relations. Applications will be received until November 1, 1974.

National Science Foundation

Information is available concerning the U.S. - Australia Cooperative Science Program which includes seminars/workshops; scientific visits; cooperative research projects.

National Endowment for the Humanities - Youthgrants in the Humanities - The Youthgrants in the Humanities Program was established in 1972 to support humanities projects developed and conducted by students and other young people. To be considered for a Youthgrant award, a proposed project must meet three basic conditions:

- *it must relate in a clear way to the humanities;
- *it must have a specific purpose, a carefully designed scope, an identifiable end product, and a high promise of helping individuals to develop their critical faculties;
- *although adults may be involved (and are encouraged to serve) as advisors or consultants, young people must carry the major responsibility for its initiation, development, and execution.

The Youthgrants Program is expressly designed to encourage ventures similar to those conducted by more experienced professionals within the Endowment's other programs. Proposed projects may, therefore, concern the design or execution of an education program (of either a formal and institutional or informal and public nature); humanistic research or study of a specific problem (including historical, philosophical, or literary analysis designed to place a current problem or issue into a wider perspective); or other activities (either traditional or experimental) aimed at applying humanistic knowledge or disseminating it through film, exhibitions, public presentations, and other media.

As the Bicentennial of the nation's founding approaches, projects relating either to the American Revolution or to the continuing philosophical ideas and issues associated with it are especially encouraged. The Endowment is also interested in historical research proposals which seek to trace the development of local communities and local institutions during the 200 years since the nation's birth.

Youthgrants awards for individual projects average under $2,500, but grants for group projects may range up to $10,000.

Deadline for applications concerning projects for the summer of 1975 is November 15, 1974.

Further information is available in Mrs. Neiman's office.

SSRC Research Training Fellowships - Individuals requesting application forms must provide SSRC with certain preliminary information when making their request, as follows: (1) brief statement of the proposed research or training; (2) geographic area or areas of interest; (3) proposed site of research or training; (4) age, occupation or current activity, and university or other affiliation; (5) citizenship and/or country of permanent residence; (6) academic degrees held, specifying disciplines or fields of study; (7) if a doctoral candidate, completion date of all requirements except the dissertation; (8) proposed date for beginning of award and requested duration; (9) for postdoctoral grants, approximate amount of support needed; (10) if a collaborative project is proposed, the academic qualifications of the collaborator. Preliminary inquiries should be made as early as possible before November 1, 1974, and formal applications must be submitted by December 2, 1974.

These fellowships are offered to social scientists who wish to obtain training in research beyond that normally required in doctoral programs, to prepare them for innovative research in the social sciences. Applications from mature scholars are particularly encouraged.

Poet to Speak in Swem Thursday

William Meredith, one of America's leading poets of today, will read from his works Thursday, October 17, at 8:30 p.m. in the Botetourt Theatre of Swem Library under the sponsorship of the Department of English.

A professor of English at Connecticut College since 1955, Meredith is the author of six volumes of poetry in addition to several works of biography and translation. He is a frequent contributor of verse to leading national magazines.

Meredith has been the recipient of numerous prizes and awards for his poetry and, in 1963, he was elected Chancellor of the Academy of American Poets. He has served on the faculty of the famed Bread Loaf School of English in past summers and he was Phi Beta Kappa Poet at William and Mary in 1971. His most recent collection of poetry is entitled "Earth Walk: New and Selected Poems."
