Madrigal Singers Perform

The Williamsburg Madrigal Singers will perform in the Campus Center Ballroom on December 8.

The concert, the third in the William and Mary Sunday Series, begins at 4 p.m.

Though the name implies music of 17th and 18th century America, the Williamsburg Madrigal Singers have a virtually unlimited repertoire. Sunday's concert program features music ranging from William Byrd's "I will Not Leave You Comfortless," to Claude Debussy's "Dieu Qu'il La Fait Bon Regarder," to Duke Ellington's "Mood Indigo." Christmas music will also be included in the program.

The group is composed of Mary Deppe and Marion Wilson, sopranos, Beverly Kelly, alto, Robin Roark, tenor, and Herbert Deppe, bass.

Audiences from the world over have acclaimed the Williamsburg Madrigal Singers as versatile and articulate entertainers. Their recordings demonstrate the consummate artistry which places them in the fore-front of vocal music interpreters. Their music was featured in a Christmas CBS special and they have produced recordings for Colonial Williamsburg and recorded background music for the Virginia Bicentennial film.

Although there is no admission charge, a silver collection will be taken at the door.

Baldwin Memorial Friday, 11 a.m.

A service honoring the memory of Dr. J. T. Baldwin, Jr., of the Class of '32 and Professor of Biology at the College for thirty years, will be held in Wren Chapel at 11 a.m. on Friday, December 6.

A J.T. Baldwin memorial fund has been established by alumni and friends.

News Schedule

The December 10 issue of the W&M News will be the last before the Christmas recess. Publication will resume on January 7, 1975.

PBK Ceremonies To Honor Three

Associate Professor of Anthropology Vinson H. Sutlive, Jr. will be awarded the Phi Beta Kappa Faculty Award for the Advancement of Scholarship at the annual public meeting of Alpha of Virginia Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa Thursday night.

Bernard C. Mikula, a Professor in the Natural Systems Department at Defiance College in Ohio, and Thomas Dunaway Willett, Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Treasury for International Affairs, will be honored with alumni memberships in the nation's first chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

The 198th anniversary meeting, which begins at 8:15 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa

Hall, will feature speaker John Ratté, Professor of History at Amherst College, and Stanley Kunitz, Consultant in Poetry to the Library of Congress. Parents and friends of the new members are invited to the initiation ceremonies in the Dodge Room at 4:30 p.m., followed by a sherry party at the Alumni House and a dinner for both new and old members at the Hospitality House.

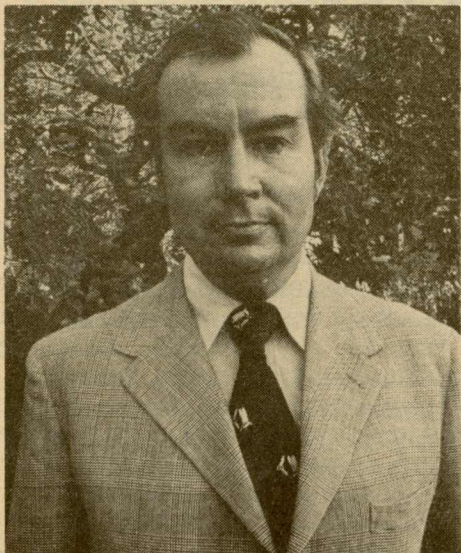

The public is invited to attend a reception for new members in the Dodge Room immediately following the evening meeting.

Award Recipient

Dr. Sutlive came to the College from the anthropology department at the University of Pittsburgh where he received his doctorate degree in 1972.

During his two years of teaching and research at William and Mary, he has edited two issues of Studies in Third World Societies, an international anthropology journal, and written The Iban of Sarawak, a book currently in publication.

A recognized expert in the study of the language, culture and social organization of the Iban tribe of Southeast Asia, Dr. Sutlive will receive the faculty award in recognition of his achievements as both a distinguished scholar and dedicated teacher.

GAY'S 'BEGGAR'S OPERA' OPENS NEXT WEEK

Two doxies worried about the fate of Macheath who has just been jailed, Susan Blakeslee (left), a freshman from Falls Church, is Lucy Lockit, and Barbara McCulloh (seated), a senior Theatre concentrator from Laurel, Md., is Polly Peachum, in the W&M Theatre production of John Gay's ballad opera, "The Beggar's Opera." Photo by Philip D. Egert

Faculty members from three departments are combining talents to produce "The Beggar's Opera," the next William and Mary Theatre production which will be presented Dec. 11-14, in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

Curtain time is 8:15 for the John Gay musical satire known as the world's first ballad opera.

Directing "The Beggar's Opera" is Jerry Bledsoe, associate professor of theatre and designer for the William and Mary Theatre. Musical director is J. S. Darling, lecturer in music, and organist and choirmaster at Bruton Parish Church.

The choreographer is Shirley Roby, associate professor of dance. Albert Haak, professor of theatre, is technical director. Arthur Roach, a William and Mary alumnus who now teaches at Tabb High School, is assistant vocal director and harpsichordist.

"The Beggar's Opera" was first produced in 1728 by John Rich of the Theatre Royal in Lincoln's Inn Fields, at the request of John Gay's patroness, the Duchess of Queensbury. One humorist observed that the ballad opera "made Rich gay and Gay rich" because the work was performed an unprecedented 62 times during the first season alone, and became a staple of the English theatre.

Director Bledsoe describes the appeal of "The Beggar's Opera" this way: "It evokes the warm sensation and high spirit of eighteenth century London and is the world's best-loved musical play."

The box office, in the foyer of Phi Beta Kappa, will be open 3 to 5:30, Dec. 9-13, and 7 to 8:15, Dec. 11-14. During those hours only telephone reservations will be accepted at 229-3000, ext. 272 or 469. As always, the first day of box office operations (Monday, Dec. 9) is reserved for Season Ticket Patrons only. General admission for "The Beggar's Opera" is $3.00. All seats are reserved.

"The Beggar's Opera" is the second William and Mary Theatre production this season. "Angel Street (Gaslight)" will be presented Feb. 26-March 1, and "Much Ado About Nothing" is scheduled for production April 16-19.

Board Seeks Nominations For President Of Bland

The Board of Visitors of the College is seeking nominations and applications for a President of Richard Bland College.

Richard Bland is a State-supported college of the liberal arts and sciences, a branch college of the College of William and Mary, and under the control of the same Board of Visitors. It is located on a spacious rural campus near Petersburg, Virginia, and currently enrolls about 1,000 commuting students, most of them in academic programs leading to the associate degree and transfer to baccalaureate institutions.

Applicants should present appropriate academic credentials, including an earned doctorate; a commitment to excellence in education; a record of successful experience in college teaching and administration; an ability to relate effectively to faculty, students, and alumni, and to the wider public community of which the College is a part.

Nominations and applications (with current resumé) should be sent prior to December 21, 1974, to Dr. Paul N. Clem, Secretary, Presidential Search Committee, College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Virginia 23185.

(An equal opportunity/affirmative action employer)

W&M Search Committee Requests Suggestions For New College VP

In late September, the College's Board of Visitors created the new administrative position of Vice President for Planning and Administrative Services. In early October the President appointed a search committee. This committee has met several times to formulate procedures for the nomination of candidates on a nationwide basis. Conscious of the concerns of affirmative action, the committee is advertising this position in selected professional journals and is seeking nominations from the heads of a broad range of academic institutions. We hope to complete our search and make a final recommendation to the President on three to five candidates in the spring.

The committee urges members of the College community to submit the names of individuals whom they feel would be qualified for the position. Suggestions should be sent to David Kranbuehl, Chairman, Vice Presidential Search Committee, at the earliest possible date.

Personnel Bulletin

VSRS Handbooks Amount Taxed For Soc. Security

Additional copies of the latest edition of the Virginia Supplemental Retirement System (VSRS) Handbook are now available. Those VSRS participants who did not receive a copy with the distribution of employee paychecks on Nov. 15, may pick them up at the Personnel Office, Room 201, James Blair Hall.

Effective January 1, 1975, employees will contribute 5.85% on the first $14,100 of their gross annual salary to the Social Security Administration, instead of on the first $13,200, as was done in 1974. This change will be noted beginning with employee paychecks distributed on and after January 16, 1975.

Insurance

Because of some confusion about Blue Cross/Blue Shield benefits available to employees through "Employees Only" coverage, John W. Garber, state director of personnel, reminds employees that no maternity benefits are available through "Employees Only" coverage.

New Minimum For Hourly Rate

Effective January 1, 1975, the minimum wage for hourly employees is $2 per hour. Payrolls submitted to the College Payroll Office showing a lower rate for work performed on or after January 1 will be changed to reflect the new minimum wage.

Job Opening

The following positions at the College are or will be vacant. Qualified employees who wish to be transferred to these positions may receive additional information at the Personnel Office. The College is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Accordingly, women and minority employees are encouraged to apply for those positions for which they feel they are qualified.

NDEA VI International Studies Program

The undergraduate program, entitled Strengthening International Dimensions of Undergraduate Education, provides up to $30,000 for a one-year program to develop new courses, revise courses, faculty retooling, library purchases, and some administrative expenses. Grants will cover the academic year 1975-76 with the probability of a one year extension.

Deadline: December 27.

National Science Foundation-Ethical and Human Value Implications of Science and Technology Programs

A detailed announcement concerning this program has been sent to the Sponsored Programs representatives in departments. Information is also available in the Sponsored Programs office. Proposals may be submitted at any time.

National Science Foundation - Research Program Solicitation

NSF is inviting academic institutions and state and local governments to submit research proposals for a program to "evaluate the effects of regulation on economic productivity and other aspects of performance, and to provide an analysis that will enable legislators and regulatory bodies to increase their overall effectiveness and equity of regulation." Copies of the solicitation are available from NSF, Contract Processing Section, Room 223, 1800 G St., N.W., Washington D.C. 20550. Proposals must be submitted by February 19.

National Research Council - Postdoctoral Research Associateships

Deadline reminder: January 15.

National Science Foundation Faculty Fellowships

Deadline has been postponed until February 7. Applications will be here about Christmas.

Metropolitan Life Insurance Company Educational Grants

This newly announced program will award grants to colleges and universities which "develop programs for improving cooperation and understanding between businessmen, educators, and students." Approximately 10 individual grants will be awarded annually ranging from a minimum of $2500 to a maximum of $15,000. The 1975 competition will be limited to schools in the Middle States plus accredited institutions in the State of Virginia. Deadline: January 31. Information concerning the program is available in the office of Stan Brown, Director for Corporate Relations.

National Humanities Institute

The first of several humanities institutes was established in New Haven, Conn., in May 1974, by the National Endowment for the Humanities. The purpose of these institutes is to "encourage excellence in teaching and to promote serious interdisciplinary attention to central issues in the humanities by bringing into residence a year at a time a number of distinguished senior Fellows and promising junior Fellows for intensive discussion and curriculum planning."

The Institute at Yale, directed by Maynard Mack, will make appointments of Senior Fellows and accept nominations for Junior Fellows for the academic year 1976-1977 during the period January 1-February 15, 1975. Nominations for the latter are made by the Dean of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences.

Detailed description of the Yale Institute program is being sent to each humanities department. Information is also available in the Sponsored Programs office.

Project PLUS Needs Administrator

A resident administrator is needed for Project PLUS, beginning Jan. 5, 1975.

Essential to the success of the program is a married couple resident in the building. One of the two spouses will be employed full time to counsel students in both social and organizational matters as well as to carry general administrative responsibilities for the residence.

Applicants should have a college degree or at least academic progress close to that of a degree.

Applications are available in the College Personnel Office, Room 201 James Blair Hall, and must be turned in to that office by December 13.

Minority applicants are encouraged to apply.

Surplus Property Sale

Bids will open at 2 p.m. December 13 on a State Department of Purchases and Supply surplus property sale.

Items to be sold consist of 160 motor vehicles.

Sale items are located at various state properties and will be sold "as is and where is" without warranty.

The "Conflict of Interest Act" of 1970 prohibits any employee, spouse or relatives residing in the employee's household, from purchasing property belonging to the agency by which the person is employed.

A complete list of the sale items is available at the Purchasing Office and at the News Office.

Course Offered

Riding will be offered as a part of the physical education program next semester.

It will be held at Edgewood Farm, Bethel Road, Tabb, which is approximately a 25 minute drive from the campus. Transportation will be provided.

Three sections will be offered:

Riding I: For the beginner student. The basics of horsemanship.

Riding II: Work at the walk, trot and canter, with and without stirrups, and basics of jumping.

Riding III: From work over one fence to complete courses.

The cost of the program for one semester is $150.

Miss Susie Zemo will instruct.

A physics colloquium will be held on December 6 at 4:30 p.m. in room S-109. Phillip Miller of Oak Ridge National Laboratory will speak on "The Electric Dipole Moment of the Neutron."

Coffee will be served in the Conference Room at 4 p.m.

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

Kevin Geoffroy associate professor, recently served as a group discussion leader at the University of Virginia's 18th annual guidance conference.

STAFF NOTES

COLLEGE BOOKSTORE

Three staff members of the College Bookstore attended the Virginia College Stores Association meeting held in Charlottesville, Nov. 20-21. Those attending were John Freeman, tradebook manager; Jane M. Gilliam, textbook manager; and Elizabeth M. Padgett, secretary. They participated in group discussions on records management, acquisition problems, and censorship.

COLLEGE DEVELOPMENT

Leonard A. Meyer, director of annual giving, was an invited participant in the American Alumni Council and American College Public Relations Association conference on annual giving held in Chicago, Nov. 29-Dec.1. In addition to conducting workshops and participating in panel discussions, Mr. Meyer presented a step by step documentation of William and Mary's new annual fund program, reviewing the six fund programs he is responsible for at the College.

PBK TO HONOR THREE

Researcher Honored

Dr. Willett, who is currently conducting research for the Secretary of the Treasury for International Affairs, graduated with high honors from the College in 1964. He later received his doctorate in economics at the University of Virginia, graduating with a perfect 4.0 grade point average.

He also taught at Virginia, Harvard, Cornell, Kennedy School of Government, and Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy.

Dr. Willett currently serves as an editor for The Quarterly Journal of Economics, The Review of Economics and Statistics, The Journal of Economics and Business, and Public Policy.

He formerly served as a member of the Earhart Foundation Faculty Association and the American Society of International Law.

Fruitman To Exhibit At Festival

Mrs. Sandra Fruitman in the Office of Career Counseling will be among staff members displaying and selling works at the college-wide Festival of Arts, December 7.

Sponsored by the Student Association, the day-long festival will be held in the Campus Center beginning at 11 a.m.

Mrs. Fruitman has made many "just for fun" items for sale Saturday including patchwork pillows, bread dough ornaments and jewelry. The jewelry, primarily necklaces, is fashioned from African trading beads, shells, seeds and metal.

Mrs. Fruitman will also include silk screened gift cards in her display.

Besides being skilled in crafts, Mrs. Fruitman is an artist of considerable talent. She is especially interested in collage work. Recently she has been creating unusual texture prints by combining the techniques of embossing and silk screening. Embossing, she explained, gives the work dimension, while silk screening adds color interest.

Address Given

James M. Yankovich, Dean of the School of Education, was guest speaker at the dedication of Lafayette High School Sunday.

Thad W. Tate, Professor of History and Director of the Institute of Early American History and Culture, also spoke, outlining for the audience of about 350 the stories of the two Lafayettes for whom the school is named.

Lafayette opened last year as a comprehensive high school to serve both Williamsburg and James City County.

Lunch Club Open

The Faculty Luncheon Club opened yesterday in the old Wig.

The new facility offers a soup du jour, selection of sandwiches, salad bar, desserts and beverages.

It is open to faculty and administrators from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Officer Promoted

Harry M. Frizzell has been promoted from Institutional Policeman to Institutional Police Chief A.

Kranbuehl Awarded NASA Grant

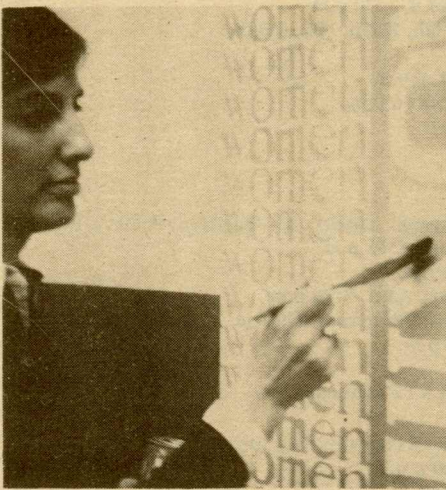

David E. Kranbuehl, associate professor of chemistry, has been awarded a grant of $15,000 by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The grant will provide funds for research on maximizing the potential uses of polyimide materials as structural composites, adhesives, elastomers and protection coating. Polyimide materials, high performance plastics, have been synthesized by NASA at Langley Research Center during the past several years.

The grant is part of a joint interest in the development of synthetic high performance materials by Mr. Kranbuehl, by Associate Professors of Chemistry Robert A. Orwoll and David W. Thompson, and by Dr. Norman Johnston, head of the Polymer Division, Materials Division, at the NASA Langley Research Center.

A native of Lancaster, Pa., Mrs. Fruitman attended Millersville State College in Pennsylvania and has also studied art in New York. Mr. and Mrs. Fruitman and their two daughters moved to Williamsburg three years ago when Mr. Fruitman entered law school.

Mrs. Fruitman has exhibited locally in James River juried shows, has had two one-womanshows in New York, and her works are exhibited regularly in a New York gallery. An exhibit of her work at the 20th Century Gallery is planned for next year.

Sandra Fruitman puts finishing touches on a painting calling attention to women and minorities in the Office of Career Counseling, where she is employed.

Lab Science Careers

Topic Of Panel

"Careers in Laboratory Science" is the subject of a panel discussion to be held tomorrow evening in Millington 211, at 7:30 p.m. sponsored by Phi Sigma honorary society and the Biology Club.

The five member panel will be chaired by Mr. Joel Whitley, M. T. (ASCP) chief technologist at the Williamsburg Community Hospital. Other panel members are Dr. W. B. Helwig, pathologist at Riverside Memorial Hospital; Mrs. Tomeka Smith, M. T. (ASCP), and Mr. John "Dusty" Rhodes, M. T., both medical technologists at Eastern State Hospital; and Mr. Randy Gould, a graduate student in biology at the College.

Brief presentations will be made concerning opportunities in the careers of both medical technology and pathology.

Safety Slogan Contest Winners

Winners of the College's Safety Slogan Contest, together with their winning slogans, have been announced by Harvey Gunson, director of safety and security, who judged the entries:

Andrew D. Parker, Jr.--Development Office--"Plans for Tomorrow Depend Upon Safety Today."

B.A. Podstepny--Buildings and Grounds--"Safety Second! It only takes an extra second to find a safer way."

Peggy J. Bogle--English Department--"Safety is contagious. What you do is noticed by others."

Martin C. Mathes--Biology Department--"An Accident is No Safety--Safety is No Accident."

Each winner was awarded a season basketball ticket.

These slogans and others entered will be used on campus to promote safety consciousness.

Forum Lecture

Scott Donaldson, Professor of English at the College, will speak on "Hemingway's Idea of Success" on December 4 in Millington Auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

Wednesday's lecture is part of the Project PLUS Forum, "The State of the American Dream."

A newspaper reporter and editor prior to his appointment at William and Mary in 1966, Donaldson was educated at Yale and the University of Minnesota. He has taught in Finland and England and has written extensively on modern American writers. He is the author of The Suburban Myth (1969) and Poet in America: Winfield Townley Scott (1972). He is currently at work on another book, The Mind and Art of Ernest Hemingway.

Arab-Jewish Conflict Subject Of Lecture

Dr. Avshalom Shmuely professor of geography at Tel Aviv University, will lecture on "The Arab-Jewish Conflict: A Geo-Historical Perspective," December 10 at 8 p.m. in the Campus Center, Rooms A&B.

The International Law Society and Hillel are sponsoring Dr. Shmuely's lecture. Dr. Shmuely is the author of numerous books and articles dealing with the people of the Middle East.

Yoga Program Thursday

Ms. Barbara Buck will present a lecture and a demonstration on yoga at Asia House Dec. 5 at 7:30 p.m.

Ms. Buck is currently director of the Yoga Studio of Hampton Association for the Arts and Humanities and teaches a course on Hatha yoga. She is also the author of Bamboo Autumn, a book of Haiku poetry.

Application Procedures

An informal program on application procedures for employment and graduate school admission will be held in the Campus Center Little Theatre, December 9 at 4 p.m.

Speakers will include: Pat Radcliffe, of the Virginia Employment Commission; Stanley Brown, director of corporate relations and placement; Frank Field, director of career counseling; Gerry Garner, a graduate student in Education; John Selby, graduate dean, Arts and Sciences; John Sykes, director of educational placement; and Timothy Sullivan, associate dean of the School of Law.

English-Irish Lecture Set

Baron Terrence O'Neill, former Prime Minister of Northern Ireland, will lecture on "The English and the Irish in the 1970's" at 8 p.m. December 6.

Sponsored by the history and government departments at the College, the lecture will be held in the Botetourt Theatre of Swem Library. The public is invited to attend.

Baron O'Neill, who is the guest in Williamsburg of City Councilwoman Mrs. Shirley Low, is currently a member of the House of Lords.

During a 25-year stint in Northern Ireland's Parliament, he held the positions of parliamentary secretary, minister of home affairs and minister of finance. He is a graduate of Eton College and a former member of the Irish Guards.
