Alumni Board Elects Officers

C. Randolph Davis has been elected to his fourth term as president of the Society of the Alumni.

Davis, a member of the Class of 1950, is a Suffolk business executive who is completing his second three-year term on the Society's Board of Directors. He will be president for one year.

His re-election took place at the Society's annual Board meeting held over the weekend in the Alumni House.

John F. Morton '58 of Metairie, Louisiana, an architect, was elected vice president to succeed Glen E. McCaskey '63 of Hilton Head Island, S. C. Morton, also in his second term on the Society's Board, was the architect responsible for renovation of the College's former Bright House into the Alumni House headquarters. Mrs. Jean Canoles Bruce '49, of Norfolk, was elected to a second term as secretary-treasurer.

In other business, the Board agreed to dedicate the Alumni House during a ceremony scheduled for Homecoming on October 11. The House was opened in 1973 after a $125,000 renovation project underwritten by alumni gifts.

The Board also agreed to contribute financial support to a college-related film to be produced by the Athletic Educational Foundation, Inc. to help raise funds for the athletic program. In addition, the Board adopted a career-counseling project for students to cover a number of pilot cities where alumni representation is strong.

Members of the Board also voted their appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Hanson of Potomac, Md., who presented to the Alumni House a reproduction of the Indian figurehead which graced the U.S.S. Chesapeake during the War of 1812. Hanson purchased the copy after it was used in a motion picture film in which the ship was featured.

State Approves Degree Program

The School of Education's Learning Disabilities Program has become the first program of its type in Virginia to receive official approval from the State Board of Education.

The graduate program in learning disabilities, which was approved by the Virginia State Council of Higher Education nearly two years ago, currently enrolls approximately 65 students. Council spokesmen described the program as "different from anything in the nation," marked by "a broad new approach" in teaching the handicapped.

With the approval of the State Board of Education, all graduates from the program now receive full certification in the area of learning disabilities.

The goal of the program is to prepare, at the masters degree level, school-based specialists in education with particular skills in educational diagnosis and prescription. Working primarily in public elementary schools, the diagnostic-prescriptive teacher attempts to assist all children viewed as posing problems in learning or behavior.

Associate Professor Douglas Prillaman is coordinator of the William and Mary program.

Sterling Takes Over As College Controller

Vice President for Business Affairs William J. Carter has announced the appointment of the College's internal auditor to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of the controller in the Treasurer's Office.

W. Clifton Sterling, Jr., who has served as internal auditor since December, 1969, will assume his new duties on Feb. 1.

He replaces Raymond A. Adams, who has resigned to become director of finance for the City of Williamsburg.

Students Receive Theatre Award

Carmella Maurizi and Mark Martino, two senior theatre majors at the College of William and Mary, have been awarded the Prentice Hill Dramatic Scholarship for the 1974-75 term.

Established by Mrs. Anna Belle Koenig Nimmo, an alumna of the College, the Scholarship is awarded annually for devotion and talent in connection with the activities of the William and Mary Theatre. The scholarship was established in memory of Prentice Hill, who came to the College in 1941 as an instructor in fine arts and quickly became one of the most accomplished designers in the history of the William and Mary Theatre.

The winners of the cash award are determined by a selection panel

Brewster, President of Yale, To Speak at Commencement

Kingman Brewster, Jr., president of Yale University, will be Commencement speaker at exercises June 1 in the Wren Yard.

He and four others will receive honorary degrees, which have been voted upon by the Board of Visitors. The four are Roy R. Charles '32, a Norfolk business executive; artist and naturalist Guy Coheleach of Huntington, N. Y.; Congressman Thomas N. Downing of Newport News, dean of Virginia's Congressional delegation; and T. Edward Temple '37 of Richmond, educator and former state official.

Commencement is scheduled at 3 p.m. June 1. The previous day, President and Mrs. Thomas A. Graves, Jr., will entertain the 750 graduating students and their guests at a reception in the Wren Yard. A private dinner has been scheduled on Commencement eve for the honorary degree recipients and their guests, student leaders and college officials.

Mr. Brewster was the choice of the president of the senior class and the president of the Student Association.

Mr. Brewster, who will receive a Doctor of Laws degree, has been president of his undergraduate alma mater since 1963. He served as a professor of law at Harvard for 10 years and as provost of Yale for three years before his appointment to the presidency.

A Navy veteran of World War II, Mr. Brewster has served in numerous government consultant positions.

A graduate of Harvard Law School, Mr. Brewster is the author of two books, "Anti-trust and American Business Abroad" and "Law of International Transactions and Relations."

The Board of Visitors will also confer a Doctor of Laws degree upon Mr. Charles, a Norfolk business executive for Smith-Douglass Fertilizer Company who served for many years as Secretary to the Board of Visitors and as a member of the Endowment Association. A recipient of the Alumni Medallion for "service and loyalty" to the College, Mr. Charles has been instrumental in the success of several college programs, including the History of the College project, the Alumni House and Operation Backtrack.

He is also a member of the Advisory Committee for the new Eastern Virginia Medical School in Norfolk and a past president of the Navy League and the American Red Cross.

The Board of Visitors will present Mr. Coheleach with an honorary Doctor of Arts degree. A wildlife artist and conservationist, Mr. Coheleach is nationally known for his creative works of wild birds and animals.

His work has been displayed in the Natural Wildlife Gallery in Washington, the American Museum of Natural History, and the National Collection in the White House.

Rep. Downing, a Newport News native and graduate of Virginia Military Institute and the University of Virginia Law School, will be the recipient of an honorary Doctor of Laws degree.

The dean of Virginia's congressional delegation was elected to the House in 1958 and presently serves as a ranking member of the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries.

Mr. Temple, who will receive a Doctor of Laws degree, is currently chairman of Virginia Commonwealth University's Interim Administrative Committee, which is managing University affairs as the search continues for a new VCU president. Mr. Temple also holds the office of vice president of development and university relations, and is a professor of urban affairs.

Board Honors Jay W. Johns

On December 23, 1974, one of Virginia's outstanding adopted sons died at the age of 86. During his 34 years as a citizen of the Commonwealth, Jay Winston Johns was known for his love for Virginia's history and his philanthropic support of many historical preservation programs.

One of his most well-known efforts was the purchase, restoration and public interpretation of Ash Lawn, regarded as the home of James Monroe, a William and Mary alumnus and fifth President of the United States.

Mr. Johns also developed a close association with the College, both for its rich and important history, and for its modern commitment to quality. As a legacy to this affinity and respect, he bequeathed to the College the bulk of his estate including the Ash Lawn property and other historical possessions.

RESOLVED, That the Board of Visitors expresses its respect for the long and productive life of Jay W. Johns, and its sense of deep appreciation for the final honor he bestowed on the College, encourages exploration of the best means to carry out his desire that Ash Lawn remain an historical shrine for the educational benefit of the public, and authorizes the Executive Committee of the Board to take such action toward this end as seems appropriate.

Grayson Granted Leave of Absence

George W. Grayson, Associate Professor of Government, is an elected member of the House of Delegates of the Commonwealth of Virginia. It is mutually agreed between Professor Grayson and the College that it would be inappropriate for him to hold an active appointment as a faculty member during the time that the General Assembly is in session and properly demanding his full attention.

RESOLVED, That the Board of Visitors approves a leave of absence without pay for Associate Professor George W. Grayson from 8 January 1975 (the opening date of the General Assembly) to a subsequent date to be determined by the adjournment of the General Assembly.

Academic Tenure Appointments

The Faculty Handbook (page 58) defines an appointment with academic tenure as follows:

The College of William and Mary is a State institution and under the laws of the Commonwealth is not permitted to grant a contract of unlimited duration. The College, however, accepts the principle of tenure and adheres to it as a moral and professional obligation. An appointment with tenure is defined as an appointment which may be terminated by the College only for adequate cause, or by retirement.

Permanent tenure will be granted to a full-time faculty member, who has attained the rank of assistant professor or higher, upon the member's continuation beyond seven years (including authorized leaves of absence) as a full-time faculty member of any accredited institution of higher learning or in a professional position relevant to his academic appointment at the College; provided that if part of the seven years is represented by service other than at the College, he may be required to serve a probationary period of as much as four years at the College immediately before tenure is granted, even if the total full-time service thereby exceeds seven years.

The Handbook elsewhere (pages 71-73) stipulates the procedures which must be followed at the departmental, Faculty, and central administrative levels in the development of recommendations for the confirmation of a status of understood permanent academic tenure. Recommendations so developed are submitted to the President, whose "decisions are final, subject to approval of the Board of Visitors."

Through these procedures the following individual members of the faculties of the College are recommended to the Board of Visitors for confirmation of a status of understood permanent academic tenure, effective September 1976.

RESOLVED, That the Board of Visitors confirms the President's recommendation of the following members of the Faculty for appointment in a status of understood permanent academic tenure, effective September 1976; within however, the statutory requirement of the Commonwealth of Virginia that a legal contract of unlimited duration cannot be given:

Major Fund-Raising Effort Considered To Increase College's Endowment

In May of 1974 the Board of Visitors authorized the administration to hire independent fund-raising counsel to investigate the feasibility of the College's initiating the first major capital campaign in its modern history. In August, following interviews with several such companies, during which representatives of the Board of Visitors, the Endowment Association, the Society of the Alumni, and the Law School Association were present, the firm of Brakeley, John Price Jones, Inc. was retained.

There is every indication that the Brakeley firm pursued its study in a thoroughly professional manner. In developing its recommendations it conducted confidential interviews with over one hundred respondents, including members of the Board of Visitors and all the College's constituent organizations, members of the administration, faculty, and student body, and alumni, parents and other knowledgeable individuals throughout Virginia and across the nation. The opinions so obtained were considered along with the results of research on the institution and measured against the company's considerable experience in educational fund-raising. The eighty-six page report of its findings has now been received and distributed to the Board.

In brief, the Brakeley report states that the fund-raising case for William and Mary is quite strong. The extraordinary history of the College, the high academic reputation it presently enjoys, its exceptional student body, its location in world-renowned Williamsburg, and its fine record of community concern and public service are considered significant positive elements. Weaknesses in the case which were identified during the course of the study include the limited organizational relationship among William and Mary's alumni affairs, public information, and development programs and the possibility that some individuals and organizations will use the college's status as a tax-supported institution as a reason not to give.

Regarding potential capital campaign leadership, the Brakeley firm found the alumni of William and Mary to be "extremely loyal" and "spirited" and the general public possessed of considerable good will toward the College. The strength of the Board of Visitors, the administrative abilities of the President, the high quality of the faculty, and the comprehensive, well-rounded development program which has been initiated recently are also considered strong leadership assets. The negatives identified are related generally to the inexperience of the College with capital campaigns and the current economic climate. The latter, it is noted, may make it difficult to obtain advanced "leadership" gifts of the size required to generate campaign momentum and even to form a strong volunteer organization.

The programs for which the College needs substantially more funds--scholarships for needy undergraduates, fellowships for graduate students, endowed professorships, and funds for faculty research and professional development-- were well received by those interviewed. An estimated need of as much as $23,800,000 in new endowment in addition to substantial increases in expendable annual giving was acknowledged by the respondents as "real" and "urgent."

In view of these findings, Brakeley, John Price Jones, Inc. has concluded that the College of William and Mary can feel "cautiously optimistic" about its potential for substantially increasing its endowment during the years immediately ahead, and can move forward with a "reasonable degree of assurance." The timing of a major fund-raising effort, however, is considered to be very important for two reasons. The first is the state of the nation's economy. The second is that substantial discussions, preparation and further planning are required before an effort of the magnitude being considered can be decided on and initiated.

Therefore, it is the sense of the Board of Visitors that the administration of the College should undertake further discussions with and seek the active support of the entire College community, especially the Board of Directors of the Society of the Alumni and the Board of Trustees of the Endowment Association, in considering moving toward the preparation of the further planning of the major development effort focusing on capital needs.

Memo from the Vice President for Academic Affairs

Faculty Salary Review Completed

The review of all salaries of women holding full-time faculty or faculty-equivalent rank at the College, which was announced in the William and Mary News on 7 October 1974, has been completed. Notices of salary adjustments, which will be effective retroactive to 1 September 1974, have been sent to all individuals affected.

The salary study was made within the commitment to the merit system, which has been and remains the basic policy governing salary recommendations. Within that policy, the study had as its principle aim the elimination of any possible sex-based salary differentials.

Resignation of Registrar Announced

After ten years of service as College Registrar, Dudley Jensen has submitted his resignation to return to full-time teaching in the Men's Physical Education Department, effective 1 September 1975. The College is much indebted to Mr. Jensen for his long and dedicated service in this important administrative position.

A search committee for the new Registrar will be appointed and announced within the next two weeks. The committee--to be composed of representatives of the faculty, the student body, and the administration--will initially focus its search within the College community.

W&M Composer First In New Job

Sylvia Holmes' reallocation in the information services office from Clerk Typist C to Cold Type Composer represents a first in the State, according to Personnel Supervisor Irving Robitshek.

The classification was only recently established in the State, and William and Mary was instrumental in bringing it about.

Last August the College requested the State Personnel Office to study Mrs. Holmes' responsibilities and duties and to consider creating a new job classification to cover her activities. The College felt strongly that the need existed and that it merited the establishment of a new classification. In mid-December, Mr. Robitshek received final notice from the State Personnel Office that the Governor had approved the new classification.

Mrs. Holmes' position involves operating a magnetic tape composer and allied equipment in producing camera-ready copy for College pamphlets and brochures. The operation eliminates setting up types by hand.

Promotions Given

Ernest Boyce, formerly Housekeeping Supervisor C in the buildings and grounds department, has been promoted to Executive Housekeeper B.

Anna Forbes' position as Clerk D in the law school has been reallocated to Statistician B.

Fredi E. Jackson transferred from the history department to take the position of departmental secretary in the sociology department.

The personnel office reports two personnel changes. Teresa Lemons' position has been reallocated from Clerk Typist B to Clerk Stenographer C, and Bridget Phipps, who was a Clerk Typist C in the school of education, has been promoted to Clerk Stenographer D in the personnel office.

Sylvia Holmes

Mr. Robitshek anticipates that people in similar positions at other State agencies will soon be reallocated into the new position.

COMMENCEMENT PROGRAM SET

Continued from First Page

He was a member of the College's Board of Visitors from 1956-64 and state commissioner of the administration under former Gov. Linwood Holton. He was city manager of Danville from 1950-66 and received a Master of Education degree from the College in 1965. Recently, Gov. Godwin selected Mr. Temple to be Virginia's representative on the prestigious Commission on the Future of the South.

The program of Commencement events will include the commissioning of ROTC cadets in Phi Beta Kappa Hall on Saturday, May 31. Brigadier General Wilfrid K. G. Smith, deputy chief of staff for ROTC at the U.S. Training and Doctrine Command at Fort Monroe, will be the guest speaker.
