Lester Cappon, Former Professor, Will Publish Historical Atlas

A project which began in 1960 at William and Mary is fast becoming a dream-come-true for Lester J. Cappon.

Mr. Cappon, former director of the Institute of Early American History and Culture, and William and Mary faculty member, is bringing to publication the Atlas of American History, working from the Newberry Library in Chicago since his retirement.

The million-dollar project covers the years 1760 to 1790. The first of three volumes is due to be published in the fall by the Princeton University Press.

Mr. Cappon retired in 1969 from the Institute and faculty. It was in 1960 that he and Lawrence W. Towner conceived the idea, and continued to collaborate after Towner became director and librarian at Newberry, in 1962, one of the nation's outstanding rare book and rare map institutions.

The project consists of producing brand new maps according to the most modern cartographic techniques, maps of important sites of American history as they were then. It is as if a team of present-day cartographers were on hand in Boston in 1775 to employ the most modern techniques in making a map of the city instead of the crude techniques then extant, according to Cappon.

Intensive research is required to produce each map, including poring over not only old maps, but also letters, memoirs, books, and every available scrap of information. This is why the team working with Cappon includes six historians as well as two cartographers.

The first funding came from a New Jersey family trust fund. Then the National Endowment for the Humanities took an interest, making several grants which were matched by the Field and Bush Foundations. Most recently, the project was put over the top by a commitment of $90,000 from the Bicentennial Council of the 13 Original States.

The research is done at the Newberry and preliminary drawings are made there under the supervision of Barbara Petchenik, the cartographic editor. Then fine cartographic work is done by the Donnelly Company at its Lancaster, Pa., plant. The proofs are approved back at the Newberry. The six-color printing work will be done by Polychrome of Princeton, and actual publication by the Princeton Press.

The book will be oversize (13 x 18 inches) with a maximum of 80 pages of maps, meaning about 250 maps in all. There will be captions for each map, plus double-column text of an historical and expository nature. The final paragraphs will contain the research references for materials used in creating the maps.

The opening page will present "The Space of American History" showing the world political situation in 1763. There will be 15 city maps and regional reference maps, circa 1775. These will show Canada, the colonies, the West Indies, and the Spanish southwest, with a 1785 map showing settlements in the Ohio valley. There will be eight maps on the West Indies and several showing European activity tied in with the Revolution.

Affirmative Action Conference Thursday; Agenda Includes National, Local Leaders

The Danforth Associates Program at William and Mary will hold a conference on Affirmative Action in the Campus Center from 1:30 to 6 p.m., Thursday, Feb. 6.

The conference will begin at 1:30 p.m. in the Campus Center Little Theatre with opening remarks by Cynthia Fuchs Epstein, women's rights advocate and sociologist at Columbia University and the Graduate Center of City University of New York, and by Mary M. Lepper, director, Higher Education Division, Office for Civil Rights, Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Eight workshops on specific aspects of affirmative action will begin at 3 p.m. In addition to a number of members of the College community, discussants will include Flora Crater, founder of the Virginia Women's Political Caucus and candidate for Lieutenant Governor in 1973; Pat Dyson, Blacksburg

Black Culture Week Features Dee, Davis

Actress Ruby Dee and her Emmy award-winning husband Ossie Davis will be the special guests at Black Culture Week, beginning Sunday Feb. 2 at the College of William and Mary.

"An Evening with Ruby Dee and Ossie Davis" will be presented at 8 p.m. Monday, Feb. 3, in Phi Beta Kappa Hall. The Program is open to the public, and there is no admission charge.

The week-long schedule, sponsored by the Black Student Organization (BSO), will also include two plays, "Rosalee Pritchell" and "Growing Into Blackness," performed by BSO members at 8:15 Sunday, Feb. 2, in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

The Virginia State College Gospel Ensemble will present a concert Tuesday, Feb. 4, at 8 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

On Wednesday, the motion picture "Warm December," with Sidney Poitier and Esther Anderson, will be shown at 7:30 p.m. in Millington Auditorium. The film deals with the effects of sickle cell anemia on a young couple in love.

Black Culture Week will conclude with a formal ball at 9 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 8, in the Campus Center ballroom, featuring the music of "Standing Room Only" of Richmond. Tickets can be purchased in advance for $5 per couple from chairman of Black Culture Week Willie Webb, BSO treasurer Valerie Thompson or by calling BSO headquarters at Ext. 606. Couples may attend a breakfast immediately following the dance for an additional $2.

Miss Dee and Mr. Davis, the husband-and-wife headliners for the week of cultural events, have made personal appearances across the nation and recently received the Frederick Douglas Award of the New York Urban League for "bringing a sense of fervor and pride to countless millions."

Miss Dee is best known for her critically acclaimed performances in the stage and film versions of "A Raisin in the Sun." She has also starred in the stage productions of "Purlie Victorious," "Wedding Band," and "Boesman and Lena," as well as countless motion pictures, including "The Jackie Robinson Story" and "To Be Young, Gifted and Black."

She also makes limited television appearances and most recently starred on the new series "Policewoman." Miss Dee has written "Glowchild," a collection of poetry, and has received the annual Martin Luther King Award.

Mr. Davis also appeared in the stage production of "A Raisin in the Sun," as well as "The Wisteria Trees," "No Time for Sergeants," and countless others. His film credits include "No Way Out," "The Joe Louis Story," "The Cardinal" and "The Scalphunters."

One of the most versatile personalities in the field of entertainment, Mr. Davis wrote the original book of the smash Broadway musical "Purlie" and directed the films "Cotton Comes to Harlem" and "Kongi's Harvest." In 1969, he received

John Dean III To Lecture Here

Former White House counsel John W. Dean III will speak at the College on Tuesday, Feb. 4.

Sponsored by the Student Association, Mr. Dean's address is scheduled for 8 p.m. in William and Mary Hall. Admission is $1, with reduced prices available for groups. Organizations interested in obtaining tickets at reduced prices may contact the Student Association office at 229-6302.

John Dean was a major witness during the hearings conducted by the Senate's Select Watergate Committee and the recent trial of top Nixon aides. Mr. Dean testified in both instances that he had warned then President Richard M. Nixon that there was a "cancer on the presidency," and his testimony led to a chain of reactions resulting in the first resignation of a President in the history of the United States.

Disclosure Forms To Be Filed

All officers or employees of State agencies are required to file with the Attorney General a disclosure of material financial interests which they have and which they have reason to believe may be "substantially affected" by actions of the agency of which they are officers or employees.

Disclosure forms are available from the office of Attorney General Andrew P. Miller. The statements must be filed, by law, during January each year.

Campus Exhibits

Selections from the Alice Aberdein Collection of Oriental Craftwork and Art - Botetourt Museum, Swem Library; Monday-Friday, 8 a.m. - 5 p.m.; Saturday, 9 a.m. - 1 p.m.; ends February 28.

Student Showing of Ceramics, Drawings and Paintings - Andrews Gallery and Foyer; gallery open Monday-Friday, 9 a.m. - 4 p.m.; ends February 9.

Campus Wrap-Up

Scholarship Has Feb. 15 Deadline

The Feb. 15 deadline is fast approaching for those students who would apply for the College Scholarship Assistance Program. Virginians who will be freshmen, sophomores and juniors during 1975-76 are eligible to apply and are encouraged to do so.

Required application materials are available in the Student Aid Office, Blair Hall 310.

Forum Lectures To Be Taped, Shown

Taped showings of the lectures and slide programs presented at the 27th annual Williamsburg Antiques Forum will be given at the Information Center on the mornings following the actual presentations.

This year's Forum theme is "The Arts in America on the Eve of the Revolution."

Members of the community are invited to attend the Information Center programs. Showings are scheduled for Jan. 28-31 for the first session and for Feb. 4-7 for the second session of the Forum.

Consult the Information Center, the College News Office or local papers for a schedule of topics and speakers.

Phys. Ed. Program Needs 600 Patrons

At least 600 advance patrons from the College are needed before February 8 to make the proposed Physical Education Night a reality.

The program, which is proposed for Wednesday, Feb. 26, would feature the internationally famous Philadelphia Atoms Indoor Soccer Team, led by World Cup goalkeeper Bobby Rigby and national team coach Al Miller. The team will play against a select amateur team in a five a side regulation indoor match at 8:30 p.m.

An exhibition by the 15 member gymnastic troupe, the Mar-Va-Teens, is scheduled to precede the soccer match at 7:30. These Olympic hopeful teens are coached by Mrs. Ruth Anne McBride, who was on the national coaching staff for the Pan American Games of 1971 and the Olympic Games in Munich in 1972.

Advance sponsor tickets are now available for $1 at the Campus Center and from all students majoring in physical education. Proceeds above expenses will be used to sponsor scholarships to the annual summer high school athletic trainer's clinic.

Busch Gardens Auditions Students

Anheuser Busch is looking for performers and technicians for the Live Entertainment Department of the Old Country at Busch Gardens.

They need many forms of talent, including singers, dancers, musicians and jugglers. Generally, any European style of performer will be considered.

An audition for William and Mary students will be held in the Campus Center Ballroom on Feb. 12 from 2 - 6 p.m.

Contact the Placement Office, 104 Morton Hall or Ext. 605, for additional information.

Desert Featured In Audubon Film Wed.

The vast expanse of publicly owned desert lands, once virtually ignored, will be featured in an Audubon Wildlife Film to be presented tomorrow. Entitled "The Land No One Wanted," the film will be narrated personally by Lyle K. "Buzz" Moss of the National Audubon Society staff.

Sponsored by the Biology Club at the College, the film deals with the great expanses of arid dessert in the western United States. Mr. Moss, a professional photographer, emphasizes the need to protect these public lands from abuse in order to help them survive as a wilderness.

The program begins at 7:45 p.m. in the Campus Center Ballroom. Tickets will be available at the door.

Memo from the Assistant to the Vice President for Business Affairs

Cogle Requests Assistance To Cut Communication Cost

Our most recent budget printout indicates that the College currently is averaging $25,000 per month for telephone and postage costs. (This total does not include salaries and/or wages). Quite simply, in our present financial condition, we cannot afford such costs! Therefore, I must request that you please direct members of your department to limit their long-distance and SCATS calls to a minimum. Further, I must request that you reduce your departmental mailings also to the level of essential need. I particularly address this request to departments with large, bulk-mailing schedules. Finally, I should note that in the future, requests for additional or reworked phone service (moving phones, adding buttons and buzzers, etc.) will have to be subject to closer review. With the minimum cost of simply connecting a new phone line being $25, I do not feel that I can conscientiously continue to approve all phone requests.

I am fully aware, of course, that some telephone and mail usage is essential to the operation of your department. Therefore, this memo should not be construed as a heavy-handed restriction upon mailing and telephone usage. It is, rather, my hope that with your constant attention to this matter, we can voluntarily reduce our currently staggering communications costs to a more affordable level.

Thank you for your cooperation in this effort.

Applications Due

Applications for the William Cross Ferguson '16 Graduate Scholarship in Publishing are due Feb. 17.

Forms are available in the office of the Dean of the Undergraduate Program, 217 James Blair Hall.

Hindu Dance Recital Scheduled

Classical Indian dancer Ritha Devi will present a Hindu dance recital at 8 p.m. in the Campus Center Little Theatre on Jan. 30.

Ritha Devi, who has toured throughout Europe and the United States, is currently teaching dance at New York University.

Orchesis and Asia House are sponsoring Thursday's recital, which is open to the public free of charge.

College Postponing Decision On

Buckley Amendment

Dean of the Undergraduate Program James C. Livingston has issued the following statement.

The latest information on the Buckley Amendment indicates that institutions will have 60 additional days to study and make comments on the new amendments and guidelines as set down by HEW. Since it appears that changes in the regulations might still occur, the College will defer making a definitive statement about our policy and procedures with regard to the new law until this spring at the end of the 60-day period.

Memo from the President

W&M/IBM Begin Study Of College's Information Systems

In light of the recent decision to terminate the search for a Vice President for Planning and Administrative Services, it has become important to consider alternative ways in which the College can meet its continuing and increasing needs in planning, use of computer resources, and information systems, in order to maximize our scarce resources for educational purposes.

As you know, the area of long-range planning has been reorganized, with the broadening of the Long-Range Planning Committee and the designation of Dean of the Faculty Jack D. Edwards as the chairman of that committee.

In another important area I am now pleased to inform you that the College has entered into an arrangement with International Business Machines Corporation, at no cost to the College, for the purpose of conducting an analysis of our needs in information systems and computer resources. On February 3, we will begin a thorough and comprehensive institution-wide study to improve our information systems support in making administrative and educational decisions at the College.

The study, conducted as a joint William and Mary/IBM venture, will last three weeks in all, and a report will be submitted to me on or about March 7, 1975. There are three major objectives behind the study: to define what information we need and in what form; to define a management system that will "optimize" the use of our information resources at the College; and to move toward the development of an information systems plan that is designed to be supportive of the College's overall educational needs.

The Project will be directed by my assistant, Jerry Van Voorhis. Mr. Van Voorhis and also Mrs. Nell R. Jones, formerly Administrative Assistant to Executive Vice President Carter O. Lowance and now to Vice President Healy, will be engaged with the study full-time on behalf of the College. In addition to Mrs. Jones and Mr. Van Voorhis, four representatives from IBM will assist us.

I am sure that those of you who may have some contact with the study will extend every courtesy and cooperation to the visiting IBM team. We are hopeful that the study will prove of substantial value as we work together to determine some of the anticipated information systems needs of the College in the years ahead, and to develop a program and plan that is supportive of the College's goals and the needs of the educational process.

Memo from the Vice President for Business Affairs

Service To Be Reduced For Cashing Of Personal Checks

This is to advise that, effective February 3, 1975, personal checks will be cashed at the Cashier's window in the Treasurer's Office between the hours of 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. only, Monday through Friday.

This new restriction in the office schedule is necessary because of the large volume of personal checks which are being cashed here in this office daily. For example, the record for a typical 28-day period shows that an average of 560 checks per day were cashed during that time! This type of service places such a great demand on the time of the office staff that it will not be possible for them to perform their most essential duties, collecting fees, without additional staff and space. The present and projected budget constrictions do not make that additional expense feasible.

We feel that this restricted schedule will not represent a hardship upon students and other members of the College community, particularly when we consider the convenient locations of several banks near the campus.

We appreciate your understanding cooperation in helping us to lessen this burden on the staff in the Cashier's Office and to do all that we can to control the incessantly mounting costs of operating the College.

Aerobics Authority Next Visiting Scholar

Monday, Feb. 17, is a date to reserve on your calendar. Kenneth Cooper, an authority on aerobics and director of the Institute of Aerobic Research in Dallas, will speak on "Life Insurance at No Cost" in Millington Hall at 8 p.m. His visit is part of the Visiting Scholars program.

Located in the old Wig, the Club is open Monday through Friday from 11:30 a.m. - 1:30 p.m. It offers a soup du jour, selection of sandwiches with potato chips, salad bar, and assorted desserts and beverages. A luncheon of soup, sandwich, salad and coffee is also available at $1.60.

Today's Religious Ethics Are Subject Of Lecture Series

Issues in contemporary religious ethics is the subject of a lecture series to be given in the Campus Center at 8 p.m. on the first three Monday evenings in February.

Sponsored by the religion department, the lecture series begins on Feb. 10 in the Little Theatre when James Childress will speak on "Ethics and the Rights to Life and Health." Mr. Childress, associate professor and chairman of the department of religious studies at the University of Virginia, has written Civil Disobedience and Political Obligation and coedited Secularization and the Protestant Prospect, as well as numerous essays on contemporary moral issues.

The second lecture will be held Feb. 17 in Rooms A & B of the Campus Center. David Little, associate professor of sociology and religious studies at the University of Virginia, will deliver an address entitled "Ethics and American Foreign Policy: The Middle East." Mr. Little is the author of Religion, Order, and Law: A Study in Pre-Revolutionary England and American Foreign Policy and Moral Rhetoric: The Example of Vietnam.

Off-Broadway Theatre Is Lecture Topic

Ellen Stewart, executive director of La Mama Experimental Theatre Club in New York, will speak on the identity of off-Broadway theatre at the College on Tuesday, Feb. 4.

Opportunities For Education Majors

On Monday, Feb. 3, The Culpeper County Public Schools will hold an orientation for all interested juniors and seniors in education. The orientation is scheduled for the Campus Center Little Theatre from 7-10 p.m. All interested students should sign up in the Educational Placement Office, Washington Hall, Room 213.

A representative of the New South Wales Department of Education, Australia, will be visiting the campus Feb. 24-25 to interview prospective teachers. On Monday from 9-10 a.m.

Mr. Byrne is recruiting in the following areas only: Elementary, Special Education, English, Math, Science, Art, Music and P.E.

Several William and Mary graduates accepted jobs in Australia this fall. Mr. Byrne stated that they were doing so well, that he has come back to hire more.

Miss Stewart, who has produced some 500 new plays, will speak on "Off of Broadway: National and International Identity" at 11 a.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Hall. Her visit is part of the current Visiting Scholars lectures program.

A member of the Board of Directors of the International Theatre Institute, Miss Stewart has been the leader of the experimental theatre club since 1961. She is also the artistic consultant for the Third World Committee of the International Theatre Institute—UNESCO; on the Board of Advisors of the International Institute of Education; on the Board of Advisors of Annenberg Center at the University of Pennsylvania; and on the Advisory Board for the Center of American Women in Politics.

She recently received the New York State Council of Arts Award and the La Guardia Award from the City of New York.

Miss Stewart's lecture will also include discussion of the trends of experimental theatres throughout the world.

Mrs. Ball Dies, Former Music Instructor Here

Mrs. Annie Merrill Proctor Ball, 94, died Jan. 17 following a long illness.

Mrs. Ball, a Williamsburg resident for 64 years, taught music at the College from 1919-29. She was a member of the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities and the National Library of Ireland Society of Dublin, Ireland.

She was responsible for purchasing, in 1919, the Peyton Randolph House and for restoring it after plans had been made to destroy it.

Sunday Series Features Baritone, Feb. 2

Young American baritone William Parker will be guest artist in the next Sunday Series performance. His recital will be given Feb. 2 at 4 p.m. in the Campus Center ballroom.

Mr. Parker's recital, the fourth in William and Mary's Sunday Series, is open free to the public. Mr. Parker will perform in lieu of Oscar McCullough, whose recital has been cancelled.

Termed "a major new lieder singer whose baritone is a remarkable instrument," William Parker has proved his talent as a vocalist. He has won such laurels as top prize in the Munich Competition, the Premier Grand Prix of the Toulouse

International Singing Competition, first place in the Baltimore Opera auditions, and

Ellen Stewart

Theatre Seeks Original Plays

Richmond's Stage Center theatre is looking for an original script by a Virginia playwright to produce as a full-length play late this spring.

The premiere production, scheduled for a four-week run in June, is funded by a grant from the State Art Commission. The playwright will receive financial compensation for the work.

Prospective playwrights may write Stage Center at 1414 Park Avenue, Richmond, Va. 23220 or call 358-8576.

Stage Center is an educational theatre that offers Richmond area audiences productions they rarely have an opportunity to see and that gives area directors an opportunity to stage shows of their choice without regard to box office success.

In addition, the theatre provides a season of classic and near-classic productions by playwrights such as Tennessee Williams, Tom Stoppard, Harold Pinter and Samuel Beckett. Opening Feb. 14 is a production of the tremendously successful British stage play, "Butley."

two separate awards at the Paris International Singing Competition—the Premier Prix and a Special Poulenc Prize.

German lieder by Franz Schubert and Robert Schumann will be featured in the recital, as well as Gabriel Fauré's "L'Horizon chimérique." Also included on the program are Ralph Vaughan Williams' "Five Songs of Travel," based on poems of Robert Louis Stevenson, and "Five Gambling Songs" by John Jacob Niles.

Mr. Parker has studied and coached with some of the foremost names in music today, among them Frederick Wilkerson, Rosa Ponselle, Pierre Bernac and Erik Werba.

the Emmy Award for his role in the touching television drama "Teacher, Teacher."

Mr. Davis also served as master of ceremonies for the March on Washington in 1963 and for the Solidarity Poor People's Campaign in 1968.

Miss Dee and Mr. Davis have been married for 26 years and have three children.

All events on the program with the exception of the dance and the breakfast are open to the general public without charge. Donations to the Black Student Organization will be accepted.

Cappon Publishes Atlas

The book will also contain a variety of thematic maps on such subjects as population, cultural development, location of the British Army, and so on. There will be a new approach to military maps, with 24-maps showing seven areas of conflict and relating the spatial and temporal dimensions by different shadings, thus showing simultaneous events and development over time.

NEWS Deadline

The deadline for submitting copy to be published in the W&M News is Wednesday at 5 p.m.
