

Ballet Film Stars Nureyev

In line with the Concert Series emphasis on dance this spring (Nikolais Dance Theatre and Dances We Dance, Inc.), the College will present the Peninsula Motion Picture Premier of Rudolph Nureyev's "Don Quixote."

The dance film, which features Nureyev with the Australian ballet company, will be shown in Phi Beta Kappa Hall on March 4 and 5 at 8:15 p.m., and at 1 p.m. on March 5 in a matinee for school groups.

Tickets will be available at the main desk of the Campus Center beginning Monday, Feb. 24, and they will also be sold on the evenings of the performances at the Phi Beta Kappa box office. The cost is $1.25 for students and all College personnel, $2.50 for non-College general admission, and $1.25 for senior citizens (65 and older). A special group rate is also available for school groups by calling Ken Smith, 229-3000. Ext. 235.

This is the first showing of the film in Tidewater. Since the film is being released first to colleges and universities, it will probably be the only time the film is shown in this area for some time.

Critics have been unanimous in their praise of the film—costumes and sets are outstanding. It is not a film of a ballet, but rather a ballet film. One reviewer said, "Don Quixote makes it feel good to get back to the movies."

Stone Film Treats Govt., Press Relations

"Every government is run by liars and nothing they say should be believed."

That is the first assumption journalist I. F. Stone makes, as well as the first statement he asserts in "I. F. Stone's Weekly," a documentary film about the dean of American muckrakers and his small but widely read newsletter.

The film will be shown as part of the Project PLUS Forum, "The State of the American Dream," in Millington Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Feb. 19. The public is invited to attend.

The highly praised film captures both the character of the man ("a combination of maniacal zest and idiot zeal," according to Stone himself) and the nature of his work ("passionately exposing the fallacies, doubletalk, and ignorance of the various rascals in government," according to Vincent Canby of the New York Times.)

Following the film Tom A. Collins, an attorney specializing in communications law, Jack Edwards, chairman of the James City County board of supervisors, Virginia Gabriele, reporter for the Daily Press, and George Grayson, member of the Virginia House of Delegates, will respond to questions about the relationship of the press and government. Collins, Edwards and Grayson are also members of the William and Mary faculty.

Speakers Series To Focus On Energy, Resources, Pollution

Rodney E. Hanneman, General Electric Co. scientist, will lead off a series of seven guest speakers who will discuss worldwide problems of energy resources and pollution at the College.

Hanneman, who has worked at General Electric Co. since 1958, is manager of the Inorganic Materials and Reactions branch of Corporate Research and Development. He will speak on "Man-Made Diamonds" at 8 p.m. tonight in Room 113 of the William Small Physical Laboratory.

The lecture series, aimed at bringing to the College the knowledge and experience of professionals outside the academic realm, is sponsored by the chemistry department as part of a seminar in applied chemistry. Each of the seven speakers will deliver two lectures. The Monday night lecture will usually be of a technical, specific or scientific nature, while the Tuesday night lecture will be geared toward the general public.

Hanneman, who holds a doctorate in metallurgy from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, has authored or co-authored more than 40 papers and patents in fields that range from new conversion energy systems to high temperature thermodynamics. He currently manages a staff of 24 researchers involved in numerous fields including corrosion technology and theoretical chemistry.

Other speakers in the seminar series include John D. Costlow, director of the marine laboratory at Duke University, who will speak on problems in estuarine pollution and maintaining a coastal

Medieval Man To Be Project PLUS Focus

Taking a giant step away from the modern and futuristic themes it has explored in the past three years, Project PLUS in September will begin a study of Medieval and Renaissance Man.

The academic-residential program is open to 84 students in the freshman, sophomore and junior classes. Application forms are available at the Project PLUS unit located in the housing complex between duPont Hall and the Commons, and from the Director of Honors and Experimental Programs, Mr. Carlyle Beyer, Room 310, Morton Hall. All applications are due Feb. 24.

Mr. Beyer and Mr. Hans vonBaeyer, chairman of the committee on Honors and Experimental Programs, share a great enthusiasm for the new program and hope prospective students will be equally as excited about the Middle Ages and the interesting parallels that can be drawn with contemporary society.

"The Middle Ages saw the development of such things as parliamentary government and the jury system, the formation of the university and the arrangement of our present day religious institutions," says Beyer.

As far as parallels with today's world, both men found

Dial-a-Job Service Initiated

Interested in being promoted or transferring jobs at the College? By the end of this week you can dial a job.

William and Mary is installing a 24-hour service enabling all College employees, plus any other interested persons in this area, to simply dial 229-JOBS to find out about non-academic job openings on campus.

The service, modeled after the University of South Carolina's Dial-A-Job project, is convenient for both the College and job applicants. The tape recorded message, updated as necessary, provides complete details about individual jobs—job title, minimum qualifications, salary range, location on campus—as well as the location and interviewing hours of the personnel office. An individual knows immediately if he or she is sufficiently interested in pursuing the position, and the personnel department saves time and labor by not having to screen applicants unsuited for jobs.

The personnel office anticipates that the new recruitment system will pull in a greater number and a wider variety of job applicants, from the community as well as the campus, than other forms of advertising previously did.

It should also save advertising costs and assure that the College has a fair, nondiscriminatory transfer and promotion policy.

New Storm Drainage System To Be Installed Here Soon

Work will soon begin on installing a new storm drainage system on the old campus, that will stop erosion from heavy rain runoff and restore Crim Dell to its former beauty.

Dudley Waltrip Company of Williamsburg was recently contracted by the College to connect roof drains on old campus buildings to an underground storm sewer collection system that will be installed around the outside of the Sunken Gardens and Blair Drive. The underground system will lead to Crim Dell where a sediment basin and aeration system will be constructed to settle the solids and to maintain a sufficient level of dissolved oxygen for aquatic life.

Problems caused by heavy rain runoff across the walks and grassed areas of the College have existed since the College disconnected its roof drains from the city's storm sewer collection system in 1962. Crim Dell has been plagued by heavy sedimentation, resulting in the demise of most of its plant and animal life.

The installation of the new storm sewer system, made possible by the Commonwealth's appropriating the funds this year, will take six to seven months. During that time traffic will be temporarily blocked on some sections of New Campus Road.

Campus Wrap-Up

Crime of Rape Talk Scheduled Feb. 27

"Social and Psychological Aspects of the Crime of Rape" is the topic of a talk to be given by Carol Masser, executive director of CONTACT, at 1 p.m. on Feb. 27 in the Moot Court room of the law school.

Sponsored by the Mary and William Law Society, the program is open to the public.

Ethics Lecture Set

The final lecture in a series concerning issues in contemporary religious ethics will be given in the Campus Center on Monday, Feb. 24.

Mr. Don Self, assistant professor in the department of psychiatry and behavioral sciences at the Eastern Virginia Medical School and also assistant professor of philosophy at Old Dominion University, will speak on "Ethical Decision Making" in the Little Theatre at 8 p.m. Mr. Self has combined a career of graduate training in moral philosophy with extensive laboratory work in bio-chemistry. His lecture is sponsored by the College's religion department.

English Silver Talk Is On Club Program

Mr. Oliver F. Ramsey will discuss "English Silver and Old Sheffield Plate" at the next meeting of the College Women's Club, to be held Tuesday, Feb. 25, at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Thomas Graves.

Mr. Ramsey will show examples from his private collection and will also identify pieces brought by guests.

Grow We Must Is Topic of Talk

Harvey W. Wood, C.S.B., a Christian Science lecturer from Chicago, will speak next week on "Grow We Must."

Mr. Wood's lecture, which is sponsored by the Christian Science Organization on campus, will be given at 4 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 25, in Botetourt Theatre.

A native of Texas, Mr. Wood is a graduate of Tulane University. Prior to entering the public practice of Christian Science in 1951, he was a manufacturer's representative for a steel products company. From 1951 to 1955, he served as Christian Science Minister for the armed services in Annapolis, Md. He became a teacher of Christian Science in 1961.

A member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, Mr. Wood is currently on an extensive speaking tour of colleges and universities.

Audubon Film Features Panama Jungle Life

A lush tropical rain forest in the Panama Canal Zone and the incredible variety of wildlife it sustains will be featured in an Audubon Wildlife Film being shown in the Campus Center ballroom on Wednesday, Feb. 19. Entitled "The Living Jungle," the film begins at 7:45 p.m. and will be narrated personally by Mr. Greg McMillan of the National Audubon staff.

The film concentrates on the wildlife of Barro Colorado Island on Lake Gatun in the Panama Canal Zone. The Island is a

Study In England

Applications are now being accepted from seniors and sophomores for study in Great Britain in 1975-76. Seniors may apply for the Exeter Exchange Scholarship at Exeter University, offering study in a number of fields. Sophomores may apply for four different programs:

--the Exeter Exchange Scholarship.

--the St. Andrews University Exchange Scholarship.

--seven places in the Junior Year at Exeter Program: the student may be a concentrator in any field, but while at Exeter is expected to take three courses in English and two in other departments.

--a place in St. Mary's College, the divinity school of the University of St. Andrews: this is limited to concentrators in religion, who would take two-thirds of their work in that field and one-third outside.

Further information may be obtained from Professor Cecil McCulley in Lodge 12.

Applications are due by Tuesday, Feb. 25.

Class Needs Toys

Psychology 403 would like to borrow some children's Etch-A-Sketch toys for an experiment they are conducting. Toys will be returned after March 12. If you would like to loan an Etch-A-Sketch, please contact either John DeFrances, Ext. 595, or Mary Sue Peeler, 229-2991. Loaners are asked to please be sure each toy is marked with the name and address to insure safe return.

Career Seminar Set

Mr. Alan B. Blair, Hatchery Manager, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, U.S. Department of the Interior, will be guest speaker at a career seminar on the Department of the Interior, Tuesday, March 4. His talk will begin at 4 p.m. in Morton Hall, Room 20.

Interested students and faculty are invited to attend. Reservations may be made by calling the placement office, Ext. 605.

sanctuary protected from destruction by being a research center of the Smithsonian Institution.

Life forms inhabiting the dense jungle range from the black howlers and spider monkeys to the basilisk lizard that runs on water and the complementary horde of insects.

Tickets for the showing will be sold at the door at $1.50 for general admission and $1 for students. The National Audubon Society and the Biology Club at the College are sponsoring the film.

Asia House Forms Due February 28

Application forms for living in Asia House during the 1975-76 academic year are due Friday, Feb. 28, at 5 p.m.

Admission is open to all undergraduates, sophomores or above, regardless of concentration. Applicants must demonstrate an interest in Asia.

Forms are available from Bruce Fenner, Asia House; Jack Van Horn, 225 Morton Hall; and from the main desk at the campus center.

Moorhead Exhibition Opens On Campus

An exhibition of prints by Dwight Moorhead (1895-1964) and of works from the Moorhead Collection opened Monday, Feb. 17, in the Andrews Hall Gallery.

"Dwight Moorhead—Prints and Collections" is being presented through March 3 by the fine arts department. The Gallery is open from 9 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. weekdays, and from 2 to 5 p.m. on weekends.

To celebrate the opening of the exhibition, the fine arts department will hold a reception Thursday, Feb. 20, in Andrews

Hall, 4:30-7 p.m. All members of the College community are cordially invited to attend the reception and view the exhibit.

The Moorhead works on exhibit are all line etchings, many of which depict local and Virginia scenes.

An expert on hydraulic turbines, Mr. Moorhead had no formal training in art. The Ohio native received the B.S. degree in Mechanical Engineering from the University of Michigan in 1918. From 1923, when he first came to Newport News, until 1961, when he retired as Vice President and Sales Manager of Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company, Mr. Moorhead served in a variety of consulting capacities.

The collection is on exhibit at the College courtesy of Mrs. Winifred Moorhead.

Personnel Bulletin

The following positions at the College are or will be vacant. Qualified employees who wish to be transferred to these positions may receive additional information at the Personnel Office. The College is an Equal Opportunity Employer. Accordingly, women and minority employees are encouraged to apply for those positions for which they feel they are qualified.

(Note: The Personnel Office has begun a new policy of stating locations and salary ranges for job openings. Inquiries should be directed to the Personnel Office and not to the department where the opening exists.)

Internal Auditor: B.S. degree in business administration with accounting major or certificate of higher accounting, plus 3 years experience in commercial or government accounting or auditing; Treasurer's Office; $11,472-15,675.

Accountant B: College degree with accounting, bookkeeping or business administration major, plus 2 years accounting or auditing experience; Business Office; $9,600-13,128.

Registered Head Nurse B: Student Health Center; $9,600-11,472.

Clerk Typist B: Swem Library; $4,920-6,432.

Clerk Typist B: English Department; $4,920-6,432.

Part-time Checker: Swem Library; $2/hour.

Clerk Stenographer C: Residence Hall Life, $5,880-7,680.

Job Vacancies

College employees interested in applying for the jobs listed in the "Personnel Bulletin" should contact Linda Teller, Placement Interviewer.

Mrs. Teller explained that employees seeking transfer or promotion to the job vacancies should send her a memo. She asks that the memo state the person's name, present office, telephone extension and the job or jobs he or she is interested in.

Mrs. Teller keeps a confidential list of the names of all employees who have contacted her in this way. When an office notifies her of an opening, she then sends the employee's application (on file in the Personnel Office) along with those of other applicants to the office with the vacancy.

Employees who have been at the College for a number of years should stop in the Personnel Office to update their original applications, Mrs. Teller suggests, so that their additional experience will show on the application forms.

Campus Security Log

W&M News

VOLUME III, No. 21
FEBRUARY 18, 1975

Published weekly through the Office of Information Services by the College of William and Mary for faculty, staff and students. Produced by the College News Office, 125 Richmond Road. Inquiries should be directed to Marjorie N. Healy, Information Officer. Mailed to addresses of employees as on record at the Personnel Office, James Blair Hall, to which office address changes should be directed.

Harvey Gunson (left), director of security, issues first W&M identification card to Teresa Lemons of the personnel office, as Irving Robitshek, personnel supervisor, looks on.

Employees Soon To Receive Official College ID Cards

The Campus Security office began last week issuing official identification cards to William and Mary employees.

"The cards," said Security Chief Harvey Gunson, "are meant both as a protective measure and as a help to employees in their personal business dealings."

The cards will allow College personnel employed in the student residence halls to identify themselves if questioned by a student, and "they will eliminate those people who don't belong there," said Gunson.

Employees also will now be able to identify themselves as such when applying for credit and when attending events where W&M employees are entitled to a discount on tickets, added Gunson.

Photographs for the I.D.s will be taken with equipment located in the security office.

Mr. Gunson noted that the security office will be contacting supervisors and department heads during the next month to arrange for employees to have photos taken and to receive their identification cards.

Reeder Is First In New State Position

With the reallocation earlier this month of Charles W. Reeder from the position of Information Technician to the newly established one of Audio-Visual Technician, William and Mary can claim another State "first."

The College requested last fall that the State create the new position because it was felt that it was needed to cover the actual duties and responsibilities Mr. Reeder had as head of the audio-visual department.

Mr. Reeder joined the College staff in 1965.

Group Plans Seminar

Thirty special services students from J. Sargeant Reynolds Community College in Richmond will visit the College Feb. 21, 22, 23.

According to LeRoy Moore, director of minority affairs, who is coordinating plans for the three-day visit, the "field trip" is part of a Human Potential Seminar the students are undertaking at their school.

The purpose of the visit and seminar sessions on campus is to provide an enriching experience for students who have probably not had the opportunity of visiting Colonial Williamsburg or a four-year college campus.

Members of the college administration including Leon Looney, director of student aid; Frank Field, associate dean of students for career planning; John D. Morgan, associate dean of students for residence hall life; and W. Samuel Sadler, dean of students, will participate in the opening session of the program, Friday morning.

Poetry Reading

Hugo Williams, one of Great Britain's leading younger poets, will give a reading from his works with comments on the contemporary scene in British poetry, on Wednesday, Feb. 26, at 8:30 p.m. in the Botetourt Theatre of Swem Library.

Sponsored by the English department, Williams's reading and talk is open to the public free of charge.

Born at Windsor in 1942 and educated at Eaton College and the Sorbonne, Williams is at present editor of the magazine, Circus, and a free-lance writer in London on pop music. He has previously been an assistant editor of The London Magazine.

Memo from the President

Housing Plans Detailed

After consultation with, and on the recommendation of the Office of Student Affairs, the Board of Student Affairs Housing Committee, the Student Association Senate, and members of the College administration whose responsibility extends to housing policies, I have approved a change in housing policy, effective 1975-76, to permit second-year undergraduate students to live off campus if they choose.

The following memorandum from the Office of Residence Hall Life explains the procedure for applying for on-campus housing next year, and for the lottery which will determine, on a randomly equitable basis, the assignment of residence hall space next year.

Random removal of some applicants from the lottery will presumably be necessary, since the total residence hall space at the College may be less than the demand for it. As the following memorandum explains, some second-year students may be randomly removed from the lottery. However, in this year of transition to a new residence policy, special provision has been made to place all second-year students removed from the lottery at the top of the waiting list for residential space. Past experience indicates that almost all undergraduate students eventually are housed on campus if they wish. The priority position of second-year students on the waiting list, therefore, should effectively guarantee that no second-year student will be forced to live off campus next year.

1. All students who would like to reside in College housing during the 1975-76 session must pay a $50 room reservation deposit on or before March 7, 1975. No permission for deferred payments will be granted. Due to an anticipated demand for housing in excess of the available residential space, students must pay the deposit by March 7 in order to be eligible for special interest housing (Project Plus, Asia House, Language houses) or for fraternity or sorority housing. Students who pay deposits after March 7 will be housed only after all students who paid by the deadline, former students and new transfers have been accommodated.
2. Because the number of students desiring housing is potentially greater than the number of available spaces, the College can no longer guarantee residence hall space to every student who pays the $50 deposit.
3. Because of the number of residence hall spaces available to upperclass students, it may be necessary to cut some students out of participation in the lottery (students whose names appear on the 1975-76 housing rosters of fraternities and sororities - because of their organizations' leases with the College - and the special interest houses mentioned above will be excluded from the random elimination process). This means that if we had 2300 undergraduate spaces and 2500 undergraduate students who paid deposits, the Office of Residence Hall Life would - through the process of random elimination - cut 200 students, randomly distributed among the rising sophomore, junior and senior classes.
  - a. Those students who are cut will be notified by letter on March 17, 1975.
  - b. Students who are cut have two options:
    - 1) They may request that their deposits be refunded.
    - 2) Because of the commitment implied in the College catalog to provide housing for sophomores as well as for freshman students, during this transitional year those rising second year students who are randomly eliminated will be the first group to be reinstated if they do not request a refund. Students may remain on a waiting list with their priority determined by the order in which they were randomly eliminated, with the exception that rising sophomores will be reinstated first in the order in which they were eliminated (for all other students, the first person cut in the elimination process would be the first person on the waiting list, if he or she had not requested a refund). Should the Office of Residence Hall Life be able to move students from the waiting list back to the active group prior to the end of the lottery, those students would immediately re-assume their class priority. Students from the waiting list may request refunds at any time unless they participate in the lottery. Refunds will automatically be authorized for any remaining waiting list students at the conclusion of the lottery process unless the student specifically asks the Office of Residence Hall Life - in writing - to assign him/her to any opening that may develop over the summer.
4. Any student may request a refund of the room deposit in the Office of Residence Hall Life until 5 p.m. on April 2, 1975 - the day the lottery will begin. No refunds will be authorized after that time.
5. Except for students who graduate, withdraw from the College, or marry, the lease requires all residents to remain in the residence halls for the entire period of their lease (September through May). This means that a student who leaves during October will not only receive a bill for the entire fall semester but will receive a bill for the spring semester as well, unless the provisions of the lease are complied with in full. Likewise, a student who moves out of campus housing between semesters will receive a bill for the second semester unless the conditions described above are met.
6. Special interest housing rosters will be announced no later than March 14, 1975.

Ash Lawn Undergoes Repairs, Restoration

Public visitation to Ash Lawn, the Charlottesville estate once owned by President James Monroe, has been suspended until March 31 to allow the College to make a number of repairs and undertake a limited program of refurbishment.

The closing, effective Feb. 11, was announced by Warren Heemann, vice president for development. William and Mary inherited Ash Lawn as part of the estate of Jay W. Johns of Charlottesville, who died December 23.

Heemann said the schedule would enable the College to reopen the home well in advance of Historic Garden Week. The program of improvements will include the house, the grounds, and the gardens which are a special Garden Week attraction. No cost estimate has been made for the improvement program. Heemann said, but the costs will be borne by private funds known to be forthcoming from Johns' estate.

Mrs. Carolyn Holmes of Smithfield, who has restored a number of ante-bellum homes there and elsewhere in Virginia and North Carolina, will become resident manager of Ash Lawn. She will oversee the refurbishment program during the next seven weeks and arrange for security for the estate. Mrs. Holmes will also direct the interpretation program when public visitation resumes after March 31.

IEAHC to study estate

Heemann also announced that the College has commissioned the Institute of Early American History and Culture to coordinate a study of the house and grounds, and the history of the estate. The study, supported by private funds, will focus on planning for preservation of the house, restoration of the gardens, reconstruction of earlier dependencies, and a scholarly and imaginative presentation of the estate.

Antiques and works of art at Ash Lawn have been moved to William and Mary for repairs and restoration, in preparation for Ash Lawn's reopening.

Mrs. Holmes

The newly appointed resident manager, Mrs. Holmes, is an alumna of Wake Forest University with the master's degree from Duke. She has an additional study at the University of North Carolina and the Sorbonne.

She and her husband, David L. Holmes, associate professor of religion at William and Mary, purchased in 1972 the 18-room Mallory Todd House (1752-86) in Smithfield, and undertook its restoration. She has also been involved in restoring other older homes in Smithfield.

8. Students who plan to live off campus during the coming session should so inform the Office of the Associate Dean of Students for Administration (James Blair 208) by March 7. (Local addresses of all off-campus students will be required as a part of registration validation next fall.)

It is the sole responsibility of the student to pay the room reservation deposit. (This notice is not being mailed home nor will a bill be issued for this charge.) If you are to receive the full benefit of the room assignment process, it is imperative that you pay the deposit by the deadline and establish your eligibility to participate in the lottery.

many. The acoustical world of the Middle Ages with its church bells and town criers compares with today's stereos, television, radio. Today there is an interest in natural food and handcrafts; then there was the small, self-contained community. The computer has and still is changing our lives; the invention of the printing press then created a similar communications explosion—the sudden multiplicity of books, the importance of literacy.

Mr. vonBaeyer described his idea of next year's program as an attempt to get beyond the "gee whiz" reaction to the great highs and lows of the period. As an example he cited the possibility of tracing an idea such as motion from its birth and following its struggle for development.
