School Plans Conferences On Computer Science For High School Math Courses

The School of Education has scheduled three state-wide conferences for teachers as part of a program to incorporate the computer in high school mathematics courses.

The conferences, which will be held in locations throughout the state, will be the second phase in a 20-month program designed to introduce computer science to students in second-year algebra and trigonometry courses. The first conference is scheduled for Sept. 25 in Chesterfield County.

The 35 participating teachers from 22 high schools in Fairfax, Richmond, Henrico and Chesterfield school systems will then take their new teaching skills into the classroom. More than 1,000 students will participate in the implementation of the program.

Directed by Associate Professor of Education Stuart Flanagan, the computer science development program is one of the first of its kind in the nation and has received a $22,614 grant from the National Science Foundation. The four participating school systems have also committed nearly $100,000 to the program for textbooks, computer facilities and teachers' salaries.

The first phase of the program was an 11-day session held at the College in late June. Lectures, group discussions and laboratories trained teachers in the basics of computer modeling processes and how computer science can provide students with a powerful tool for gaining mathematical insights.

The summer training session introduced teachers to the philosophy behind incorporating computer science in high school courses as well as to the actual programming techniques. State Supervisor of Mathematics Edgar Edwards and Mrs. Mary Dodd from the Mathematics and Science Center in Richmond were among the guest lecturers.

Lake Matoaka Declared Unsafe For Swimming

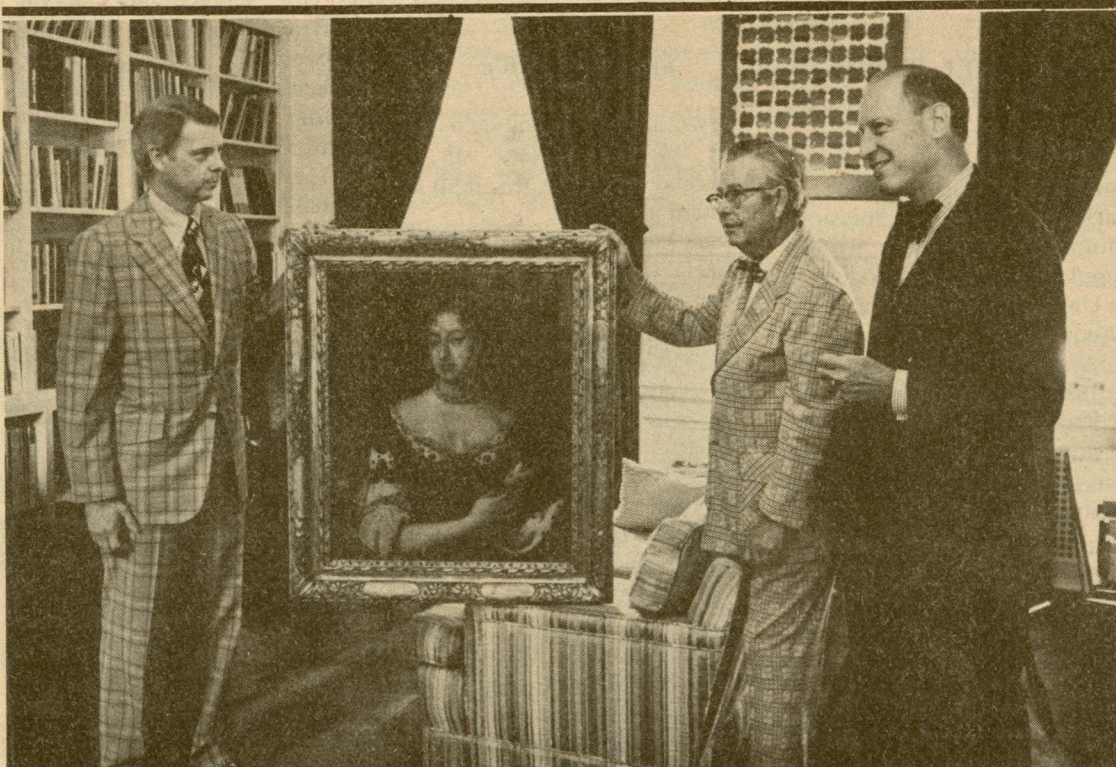

To the members of the College Community:

Last week we were informed by the Williamsburg-James City County Health Department that, because the water does not meet the criteria as established by the State Health Department, Lake Matoaka is unsafe for either swimming or fishing. On the recommendation of the Health Department swimming and fishing in the Lake have been prohibited until further notice.

Lake Matoaka is an important natural resource for the College and we regret that its use must be restricted to this degree; but health and safety considerations demand it. Boating, in accordance with the rules posted at the College boathouse, will continue.

I have asked the Health Department to conduct further tests in the Lake in order that we may have a better understanding of the extent of its pollution. In the meantime, for the protection of the members of the College Community, the College Police will enforce the swimming and fishing ban. Your co-operation is very much appreciated.

Coordinator, Private College Services and Special Projects

Salary Range: $15,675-18,700.

The 1974 session of the General Assembly directed the Council to provide advisory services to private institutions of higher education and to establish a Private College Advisory Committee composed of private college and university representatives. The 1975 session of the Assembly passed legislation permitting private colleges to enter into contract arrangements to provide educational services to public institutions of higher education, state agencies, and other political subdivisions. The Council was given the responsibility for approving the private college contracts with public institutions and agencies and for monitoring the remaining contracts.

The Coordinator, Private College Services and Special Projects, will coordinate the activities indicated above and serve as the full-time liaison between the private institutions and the Council. In addition to these responsibilities, however, the person in this position will also be responsible for undertaking the administration of several special project activities within the Council.

The Coordinator must be a self-motivated person, capable of functioning with limited supervision. At the same time, he/she must be a team member, able to work productively in groups. In addition, the person must be able to analyze and synthesize information and to express conceptually his/her thoughts in writing.

Research Associate: Health Manpower Study (Restricted)

Salary Range: $12,000-$14,328.

Supported by a federal grant, the Council of Higher Education is conducting a study of Virginia's needs for health manpower. The study will assist the Commonwealth and its institutions of higher education to plan educational programs which respond to employment opportunities and needs for services. The project will be concluded by June 30, 1976, at which time funding will be terminated.

The Research Associate reports to the Director of the Health Manpower Study and to the Council's Coordinator of Health Professions and Occupations. He or she will be responsible for assisting in the development and maintenance of an on-going inventory of educational programs in colleges, universities, and health facilities. He or she will also do background research, evaluate potential sources of data, serve as staff to committees put together for the purposes of the study, and assist in the preparation and publication of reports.

The person holding this position should be a competent researcher, and should also be able to work well with people. A master's degree or equivalent experience is required.

Summer Sessions Announcements

August graduates should file an intent to graduate form, which can be secured at the Registrar's Office, James Blair 116.

A limited number of graduation invitations have been ordered by the College Bookstore. Interested persons should check with the bookstore.

Canoe Rentals

College employees and students may rent canoes from 12 noon to 6 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays at a rate of $1 per hour or $2 per afternoon at the Matoaka Boathouse. Twelve canoes are available.

August 21 is the last day that recreation equipment will be available at Blow Gymnasium. That is also the last day on which Adair Pool will be open during the summer session.

Special Courses

Short courses, institutes, and workshops being offered during the remainder of the summer session include:

A short course on conservation of Virginia's natural resources, conducted by Ed Mundie, of the VPI&SU extension service, July 23-Aug. 12.

A colonial American history course, Aug. 10-19, for students from Queens College, N.Y., under the direction of Saul Lutnick of Queens College. The 35 participants will attend lectures by professors and staff members of William and Mary, Colonial Williamsburg and the Institute of Early American History and Culture.

Graduation Rehearsal

Graduation rehearsal will be held Aug. 23 at 11 a.m. in the Laboratory Theatre of PBK. Academic regalia, available through the Registrar's Office, can be secured in the Lab Theatre from 8:30-10:30 a.m. on Aug. 23.

A reception for August graduates and their families will be held immediately following commencement exercises, which will be held Saturday, Aug. 23, at 1:30 p.m. in PBK.

The reception will be held in the Dodge Room of Phi Beta Kappa. No tickets will be necessary for either the commencement exercises or the reception.

Faculty, staff and students are reminded that they have priority in the use of Adair tennis courts. A sign-up sheet is posted on the courts each morning for members of the College community to reserve courts.

Because the courts are in such high demand, townspeople may not reserve them. They may, however, use the courts as they become available.

There is a one hour limit on playing time for each court, when others are waiting to use them.

A supervisor is on duty Monday through Friday from 3-11 p.m., and weekends from 12 noon - 11 p.m. to insure proper use of the courts.

Graveside services will be held at Williamsburg Memorial Park at 11 a.m. Wednesday, August 6.

Funeral arrangements are being handled by Garrison Funeral Home.

The Registrar's office staff got together recently to say goodbye to their boss, Dudley Jensen, who is leaving the Registrar's post to return to full-time teaching in the men's physical education department. At a luncheon party at the Hospitality House, the staff presented him with an engraved pewter mug and a specially decorated cake. Dorothy Bryant, assistant registrar, designed the cake which had a whimsical aquatic theme--a reminder of Jensen's interest in swimming as coach of the men's team and one of the organizers of the community swim meet which each year honors Glenn Mann, a William and Mary swimming captain who was killed in Vietnam. The staff also presented Jensen with a special PRC (permanent record card). "Grades" recorded on the card were not available for publication. Jensen is shown admiring his cake with (l-r) Alta Vrooman, Mrs. Kathryn Furey (retired assistant registrar) and Mrs. Bryant.

Simmons Heads Nursing Staff, Bracey Retires, at Health Center

Director of student health services Richard D. Cilley has announced the appointment of Catherine Simmons as head nurse in the student health center. Mrs. Simmons replaces Betty Bracey, who retired Aug. 1 after a 27 year association with the College.

A native of Culpeper, Va., Mrs. Simmons and her husband have done a good deal of traveling in the six years since her graduation from the University of Virginia. She joined the Army Nurse Corps and her husband joined the Army Transportation Corps in 1969. "With the exception of basic training," she says, "the army was very cooperative about assigning us to the same area."

Mrs. Simmons was stationed at the Pentagon dispensary for a year before she and her husband were reassigned to the army post in Heidelberg, West Germany, for four years. Personnel at the Pentagon dispensary regularly handled prescriptions and routine medical treatments for the Pentagon and White House staffs, so Mrs. Simmons frequently had the opportunity to meet White House personnel.

Her tour of duty in Germany gave Mrs. Simmons a chance to combine two of her prime interests--traveling and antiquing. The Simmons traveled whenever they could, frequently visiting antique stores. Collecting antiques in Europe, Mrs. Simmons explained, is a much safer venture than it is in the United States. In Europe an item that is sold as an "antique" must be accompanied by a statement verifying its authenticity; in the U.S. such a statement is not mandatory.

Among the purchases the Simmons made in Germany was an antique spinning wheel, which Mrs. Simmons hopes to learn to operate.

She also enjoys making ceramics and cooking.

Her husband, Robert, is a captain in the transportation corps stationed at Fort Eustis.

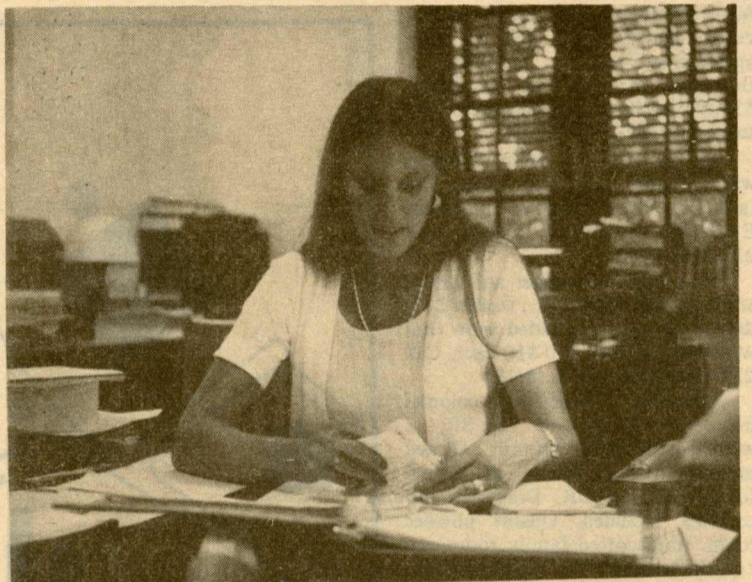

As head nurse, Mrs. Simmons assists the director in administrative duties at the Center. She supervises the Center's eight nurses and hospital attendants and generally "aids in the smooth flow of patients to different areas of diagnosis and therapy," according to Mrs. Bracey.

Mrs. Bracey

At present Mrs. Bracey has made no special retirement plans. She has worked or studied almost continuously since her late teens, she says, and is looking forward to having some free time.

Eventually Mrs. Bracey intends to travel. Although she is especially interested in seeing more of the United States, she does not rule out the possibility of a trip to Europe as well. Her son has been living and working abroad, and she may visit him.

She will be devoting more time to her interests in cooking, reading and handwork, she says, and may continue her association with medicine by doing volunteer work in that field.

Frances Meadows Is Named Student Accounts Supervisor

Frances Meadows has been appointed supervisor of student accounts in the treasurer's office, replacing Evelyn Kidd, who retired July 15.

Mrs. Meadows graduated from East Carolina University in Greenville in 1972 with a B.S. degree in business education.

She worked in the office of the vice president for business affairs for several months before assuming her new position.

As supervisor of student accounts she is responsible for the billing and collecting of all student fees, which involves both graduate and undergraduate students in the regular session, evening college and summer session. She reports to Kenneth Greene, assistant treasurer.

The Henderson, N.C., native taught high school business courses before marrying and moving to Korea with her husband, who was then in the army. During her five months in Seoul Mrs. Meadows substitute taught at Department of Defense elementary and high schools. She and her husband, Kirt, also traveled whenever they had the opportunity.

From May 1974 until last winter, when Mr. Meadows completed his military service, they were stationed at Fort Bragg, N.C. There, Mrs. Meadows was in charge of Veterans Administration benefits that were being applied to flying lessons at the post flying club.

She describes both herself and her husband as "outdoors people." They especially enjoy tennis and snow skiing. Mrs. Meadows also likes all water sports and has recently become interested in gardening. Several weeks ago they moved into an old farmhouse in Toano, which they are renovating with the assistance of his parents.

On the recommendation of the Transportation Control Board, President Graves has approved a number of changes in campus traffic routes, effective Sept. 1:

- Yates Drive will become a one-way road.
- Gooch Drive will be one-way in areas. It will remain two-way in the vicinity of the old fraternity lodges to allow easy access to the Student Health Center.
- Old Campus Road in the Crim Dell area will be permanently closed to traffic.

Security Chief Harvey Gunson, who made the announcement, noted that the new traffic patterns were necessary as a result of the decision to close the Crim Dell area. "It was felt that the Gooch Drive area would not be able to take the increased traffic load, and therefore it was necessary to change the pattern," said Gunson.
