Board Names Reid Career Counseling Head

Harriet E. Reid, associate dean of admissions, has been named Director of Career Counseling effective Sept. 1.

Her appointment was approved Aug. 5 by the Board of Visitors executive committee at its monthly meeting in Richmond. Ms. Reid replaces Frank Field, who resigned Aug. 1.

The Board was advised by President Graves that the appointment had been given clearance by the Governor's Office, despite the newly-imposed State-wide freeze on hiring. The clearance was attributed to the fact that Ms. Reid's appointment represented a transfer of an existing employee, not the employment of a new person.

A search is under way to fill Ms. Reid's post in the Admissions Office. The deadline for applications was Aug. 18. The Board was advised that the College will determine later this month whether or not the admissions vacancy will qualify for Governor's Office clearance and can be filled.

Ms. Reid, who holds a B.A. degree in history from Agnes Scott College and a master's from the University of Michigan, joined the College staff in 1964. She was formerly director of guidance for a Fairfax County school.

She will be responsible for personal and group counseling in the areas of goal assessment and career planning for undergraduates, reporting to James C. Livingston, dean of the undergraduate program. She will also work closely with related services such as academic advising and placement. Ms. Reid will be responsible for initiating career-oriented programs, for administering

Biennial Budget Request Now Available for Review

Copies of the College's 1976-78 biennial budget request are available for inspection by any member of the College community in the President's Office, the offices of either the Vice President for Academic Affairs or Business Affairs as well as in the Information Services Office. The document, which was submitted August 15 to the State Budget Office in Richmond, carries a record request of $52,167,475 for total operating expenses in the 1976-78 biennium and was approved by the Executive Committee of the Board of Visitors at its meeting on August 5.

Of this total, $39,497,965 has been requested for Educational and General Activities alone. The College's business office estimates that of that total $13 million will come from Special Funds (tuition and fees) while the remaining $26 million is being requested from general fund appropriations of the legislature.

The budget request will be reviewed by the State Council of Higher Education and the Division of the Budget in Richmond before being presented for approval to the General Assembly in January, 1976.

Summer Commencement Exercises Are Saturday

Commencement exercises will be held for 254 degree candidates in Phi Beta Kappa Hall on Saturday, Aug. 23, at 1:30 p.m.

A breakdown of the candidates is as follows: B.B.A., 11; B.S., 14; B.A., 63; M.B.A., 12; M.Ed., 74; Certificates of Advanced Study in Education, 11; M.S., 4; M.A. in Education, 37; M.A. 24; Ed.D., 4; Ph.D., 4.

Degrees will be conferred by President Graves.

John A. Mapp, dean of the Evening College and Summer Sessions at Virginia Commonwealth University and a William and Mary alumnus, is the commencement speaker. Invocation and benediction will be given by the Reverend Dana Hunt, associate minister of the Williamsburg United Methodist Church. Ann Rowe of Williamsburg will sing the national anthem, accompanied by organist H. Edwin Godshall.

Curtis H. O'Shell, associate professor of education, is chief marshal in charge of the procession. Marshals are Lewis A. Foster, Jr., associate professor of philosophy; Gerald H. Johnson, associate professor of geology; and Cecil M. McCulley, professor of English.

A reception for August graduates and their families will be held in the Dodge Room of Phi Beta Kappa immediately following the exercises.

No tickets are required for the exercises or reception.

Registration Deadline Nears

William and Mary Evening College classes for the fall semester will begin Sept. 4 and will run through Dec. 18.

The deadline for registration by mail is Aug. 29. Those who do not register for courses by mail must register in person in James Blair Hall on the William and Mary campus on Tuesday, Sept. 2, from 6:30 to 8 p.m.

Courses on the undergraduate level will be offered in anthropology, english, geology, government, history, mathematics, modern languages, speech and psychology.

Over 60 graduate courses in education and a graduate course in computer science will also be offered.

Catalogues are now available in the Evening College office, 112 James Blair Hall, College of William and Mary. Detailed information and application forms may be obtained by contacting Paul N. Clem, director of the Evening Program, 229-3000, Ext. 238 or 338.

Governor Orders Spending Cuts, Hiring Freeze

On Aug. 1 Governor Mills E. Godwin, Jr. announced that, due to a decrease in anticipated State income, appropriate reductions in State expenditures would be necessary. He ordered a freeze on new hiring, with the hope that normal attrition and unfilled authorized positions would make it possible to avoid an actual layoff of State employees. He stated in part that an alternative would have been to retract the July 1, 1975 regrade, but that inflation had already more than wiped out that increase.

Godwin also ordered an additional 2 per cent spending cutback to go with the 3 percent reduction already in effect. He said the added cutback, in addition to the hiring freeze and a close look at other state expenditures, was needed to avert a projected $60.3 million deficit for the current biennium.

Secretary of Administration Maurice B. Rowe has given Virginia's agency heads some guidelines for conforming with the directives.

Rowe, in a letter to President Graves and other State agency heads, indicated that the agencies would be given some discretion in rearranging their appropriations to effect an over-all saving of 5 per cent.

He suggested that, in cutting spending, each agency give special attention to such things as consultant fees, travel, equipment and supplies.

Consultations with members of Godwin's cabinet will be necessary, however, before any downgrading of existing programs takes place.

In an Aug. 13 memorandum to the College's deans, department heads and supervisors, I. H. Robitshek, personnel director, outlined the State's procedures which will be followed in the area of personnel actions:

1. Commitments previously made for future employment by responsible officials will be honored.
2. No further commitments will be made, regardless of the existence of vacant positions, except under certain conditions.
3. Requests to appoint new employees must be personally signed by the appointing authority. (At the College of William and Mary, the "appointing authority" is President Graves.)
4. Employment of individuals on a temporary or emergency hourly basis is to be on an essential needs basis only.
5. Merit increases, reallocations, and intra-agency promotions and transfers will continue.

A supplement to the State guidelines states in part that "No requests to fill positions shall be submitted if filling them will impair the institution's ability to comply with directives relating to the reduction of expenditures in 1975-76."

In view of the State guidelines, Mr. Robitshek outlined the priority for filling current classified position vacancies at William and Mary.

1. When individuals who have already been selected for appointment to a classified position, but who were initially employed on an hourly probationary basis, successfully complete the probationary period, they may be appointed to a permanent classified status.
2. Vacant positions not filled as noted in Paragraph One above may be filled (after the position is advertised for 10 calendar days) by personnel presently employed on a permanent basis in some other capacity at the College of William and Mary.
3. Permanent classified positions which cannot be filled by the procedures outlined in Paragraphs One or Two above may be filled by recruitment outside of the permanent campus work force. However, full justification as to why the work involved cannot be accomplished by existing employees, or by the employment of an individual on a temporary basis, must be submitted in writing to the College Personnel Office. Such requests will be reviewed and acted on affirmatively only on an essential needs basis.
4. The policies and procedures of Equal Employment will be utilized to the maximum extent possible in the implementation of the foregoing.

Personnel Bulletin

The following positions at the College are or will be vacant. Current permanent classified employees or faculty who wish to be transferred to these positions should apply at the Personnel Office, James Blair Hall. The College of William and Mary is an equal opportunity employer. Accordingly, women and minority employees are encouraged to apply for those positions for which they feel they are qualified.

Inquiries about vacancies should be directed to the Personnel Office and not to the department where the opening exists.

Call 229-JOBS (229-5627) for an updated listing of job vacancies and 24-hour service.

CLERK TYPIST C: Treasurers Office, $5880 per year; deadline 8-22-75.

CLERK B: Security Office (11 p.m.-7 a.m. shift), $4920 per year; deadline 8-23-75.

Change Instituted in Job Application Period

The Personnel Office has instituted a change in the advertisement of application for non-faculty vacancies.

Effective Aug. 15, 1975, the application period for employment opportunities at the College of William and Mary will be for ten calendar days. The ten-day period will begin the day that a written request from a dean or department head is received in the Personnel Office.

This supersedes that portion of the item published in the William and Mary News on May 13, 1975, that pertains to the ten-day application period.

Labor Day Holiday

The College will observe Labor Day on Monday, Sept. 1, as an official holiday.

This holiday should be given, as far as practicable, to members of each department. It is recognized that certain services must be maintained in the various departments, but these services should be furnished on the holiday by a minimum number of employees. The responsibility for determining the number of employees rests with the department head. It is not a decision to be made by the employees of the department.

The names of permanent classified employees who are required to work on Sept. 1 should be reported in writing to the Personnel Office in order that they may be credited with Compensatory Leave. Permanent classified employees who are required to work on this day should take compensatory leave earned as soon thereafter as possible in order to avoid excessive leave accumulation. Hourly employees who work on this day will be paid their regular hourly rates.

W&M Photo ID Cards

William and Mary photo identification cards are available to all College employees through the Campus Security Office. To obtain a card:

1. Call the Security Office, Ext. 596 or 597; request a blank identification card; and make arrangements to have a photo taken there.
2. Type all pertinent information on the card.
3. Take the card to the Security Office, so the photo may be attached and the card laminated.

Because of the type of photo processing being used, a least two people must come in at a time, and the office prefers more.

To date, cards have been issued to the entire grounds staff, as well as to library and health center personnel and to a number of administrative offices.

Placement Examinations

The Office of Corporate Relations and Placement has scheduled the following examinations for the coming months. The examinations will be administered in Millington Auditorium. Those who have questions concerning these tests should call Ext. 604 for information. The Placement Office is located in Morton Hall, Room 104.

Col. Hockaday, LTC Mills

Hockaday, Niles To Retire From Military

The military science department will contain several new faces this fall.

Colonel Spencer T. Hockaday, professor of military science at William and Mary since 1972, is retiring at the end of the month, as is Sergeant Major W. B. Niles, instructor.

On campus to assume new duties are Lieutenant Colonel Lawrence L. Mills, Sergeant Major John Cato, and Captain Curtis C. Graham.

Hockaday retirement

Col. Hockaday will mark his retirement in a special ceremony at Ft. Eutis Aug. 26 when he will receive the Legion of Merit (third award).

His military career, which began 33 years ago at Ft. Monroe, has included three tours in Europe, two in Korea and one in Vietnam. Among his military honors are two Silver Stars for gallantry awarded in Germany in 1945 and the Legion of Merit.

Col. Hockaday's "retirement", however, will be short-lived. He has enrolled in the College's Master of Business Administration program and

Portuguese Course Is Offered

William and Mary, the first American college to have a School of Modern Languages, will offer a course in Modern Portuguese this fall for the first time in its history. Portuguese, the language of Portugal, Brazil, Angola, Mozambique, Goa, Timor, and Macau is one of the most populous languages in the world, with over 100 million speakers. The course will meet during the evening and will be taught by Howard Fraser, assistant professor of modern languages. For more details, write or call Paul N. Clem, director of Evening Programs, Ext. 238 or 338.

begins classes as a full time student on Sept. 3. He and his wife, Clara, will continue to reside in Williamsburg.

Mills, new PMS

LTC Mills, who is taking Col. Hockaday's place as professor of military science (PMS), is himself a product of the ROTC program. He was commissioned at Oklahoma State in 1956. LTC Mills has served three tours abroad, with one in Korea and two in Vietnam. He has served as assistant PMS at Arkansas State and was most recently Chief of Concepts Division at the U.S. Army Logistics Center at Ft. Lee in Hopewell. His research there focused on the development of new logistics concepts and doctrines for the army.

Mills will deal primarily with administrative matters for the department's 90 ROTC students, but will teach some classes as well.

He and his wife, Shirley, have two children, a daughter who is a sophomore at William and Mary and a son who is a junior at Lafayette High School.

Retirement of Niles

Sergeant Major Niles, who will retire from military service Aug. 31, has been an instructor in the department since 1970.

He entered the service in 1942, participating in five campaigns during World War II in the European theater. After his discharge in 1945, he attended Ohio University, studying business administration. When the Korean War began, he was called into active service from the reserves. From 1954 to 1970 he served with various airborne units, including two tours in Vietnam.

SGM Niles' military honors include the Bronze Star with two Oak Leaf Clusters, Commendation Medal, Purple Heart, the Combat Infantry Badge, Master Parachutist Badge, Vietnamese Master Parachutist Badge, the Meritorious Service

New Guide To Swem Is Issued

A revised edition of the Guide to the Earl Gregg Swem Library, the official Swem Library handbook, has been issued and is available at the circulation and reference desks in the Library.

Copies of the 28-page handbook, which describes library policies, services, materials and facilities, will be distributed to freshmen during registration.

The handbook was revised during the summer by a committee chaired by Beth Bliler, assistant reference librarian. Other members of the committee were Sandra Peterson, documents librarian; Pamela Boll, library assistant, Special Collections Division; and Linda Friend, library assistant, Reserve Room.

SGM Niles

Medal, and the Vietnamese Cross of Gallantry with Palm.

A native of Rockwood, Tenn., SGM Niles and his wife have three daughters, a son, and a granddaughter.

After his retirement, Niles plans to "look around" before deciding on future employment. Meanwhile, he plans to relax and pursue his hobbies of hunting, fishing and woodworking.

SGM Niles' replacement is SGM John Cato from the Infantry School, Ft. Benning, Ga.

Captain Curtis C. Graham, commissioned in the Regular Army Infantry, recently arrived from the Headquarters SETAF, Vicenza, Italy, to join the department. He is a 1967 graduate of Clemson University.

'Whole Student' Considered In Orientation Program

Orientation will begin August 30 for the 1200 freshman and transfer students who are expected for the 1975-76 session.

Louis E. Catron, of the theatre and speech department is chairman of the orientation committee and has been assisted by Jane Barrett, student orientation director in assembling a program for the newcomers which will hopefully provide them with a smooth introduction to campus life at William and Mary.

Academic concerns are first on the list of orientation priorities. Catron explained that the committee felt that the entire process of the student selecting courses is fundamental to College life, and consequently advising, too, plays an important role.

The committee also sees the honor council as performing a major function within the College, and a portion of the orientation program will emphasize that concern.

The third priority deals with students' non-academic life. According to Catron, "We orient students to their new physical environs in the College and the community and to their classes. But we also want to orient them to themselves. We are concerned with the whole student."

The Student Affairs office has primary responsibility in this area. Susan Albert, associate dean for student development, has developed a series of orientation workshops, exercises and training sessions that "could mean a great deal to the adjustment of new students," says Sam Sadler, dean of students.

Through the student development program Dean Albert hopes "to develop a sense of community, belonging and caring" among incoming freshmen. Some of the exercises in the program are simply getting acquainted sessions. Others are "value clarification" sessions, designed to increase students' awareness of what has meaning for them, she explained.

The Student Affairs office plans to continue the special emphasis given to student development during orientation, with follow-up workshops, discussions and other sessions with freshmen during the first few weeks of the fall semester. According to Dean Albert, the student development activities are designed "to anticipate the concerns most students encounter during their years at college, to help them develop the skills to cope with problem situations when they do arise."

Focus on Day Students

Special attention this year is also being given to the day students. "We are doing everything we can," says Carolyn Moseley, associate dean of students who is serving as a liaison between day students and the campus, "to make it possible for off campus students to participate fully in the orientation program and in all aspects of the campus life."

During orientation there will be a special information desk in the Campus Center lobby for off campus students, and the green room has been set aside so new commuting students can meet one another, arrange for car pools and have questions answered regarding both the academic and co-curricular life of the College.

The emphasis on involvement of off campus students will continue throughout the year, according to Dean Moseley. She is anxious to strengthen the Day Student Council, so that "day students will have a more effective means of communicating, of bringing pressure to bear on the points that concern them."

Minority Students

Plan are underway, too, to strengthen the minority student affairs programs. Leroy Moore, director of minority student affairs, and the Black Student Organization have been working to expand the limited Black Culture Week into a Minority Cultural Series program for the entire year. They hope to begin involving new students during orientation and early in the year.

Three New Area Coordinators Join Residence Hall Life Staff

Van Black, Thomas Nanzig and Steve Dewey are the new area coordinators for student residence halls.

Van Black, of Marlton, N.J., graduated from William and Mary last June with a B.A. in government and will head the Bryan complex and other halls in the Richmond Road area. Last year Black was senior class president and also served as a resident advisor in one of the upper class residence halls. He received the 1975 Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award.

Thomas Nanzig comes to William and Mary from Michigan State University, where he received his B.A. in communication arts in 1973 and his Master's in college student personnel this year. At Michigan, Nanzig served as a graduate advisor. A native of Grand Rapids, Mich., he is the area coordinator for DuPont and Yates Halls.

Steve Dewey, Troy, Mich., received his B.S. in psychology/sociology in 1974 and his Master's in guidance and counseling this year, both from Central Michigan University. He also served as a resident advisor while at the university. Here, he will head the James Blair Terrace residences.

Jack Morgan, associate dean of students for residence hall life, said he is extremely pleased with the new people. "We have been fortunate to attract new people with significant residence hall backgrounds," he added.

Morgan is looking forward to the second year of the area coordinator program and is especially excited about the three new housing options available to students this year. Upper class students may choose to live in "high privacy" areas offering limited visitation; "quiet housing" areas offering an environment insuring quiet; and coeducational housing not limited to traditional academic programming.

Continuing as area coordinators are Rixey Canfield, south area, which includes Landrum, Chandler and Jefferson; Allen Gilbert, Botetourt complex; Arthur Terzakis, fraternity complex; Mary Elizabeth Jackson, Jamestown Road area, which includes Hunt, Tyler, Taliaferro and Barrett; Irene Slagle, Brown

Hall and the sorority houses; and Virginia Hughes, Ludwell apartments.

The residence hall area coordinators this year should be better prepared than ever to deal effectively with the issues that will arise in the student residence halls, according to Morgan.

By the time students arrive on campus, the area coordinators will have completed a month-long training program given by the Residence Hall Life Office.

In addition to training the area coordinators to foster and enhance students' personal growth, which is the major concern of the program, the session covers the multitude of "nitty gritty" details that area coordinators face, says Morgan.

Assisted by Lori Cornette, assistant dean of students for residence hall life, Morgan has arranged for seminars and workshops each afternoon where the area coordinators meet with student leaders and administrators with whom they will come into contact during the school year.

Official Memorandum

From: Dr. Thomas A. Graves, Jr., President
To: Members of the Teaching and Research Faculties
Members of Administration in Faculty-Equivalent Positions
Subject: Meeting of the Faculties to open the 1975-76 Academic Session on Wednesday, Sept. 3, 1975

As announced on July 8, this is to remind you that there will be a meeting of members of the teaching and research faculties and members of administration in faculty-equivalent positions on Wednesday, Sept. 3, 1975 from 4 to 5 p.m. in Millington Auditorium. The purpose of the meeting will be to provide an introduction to the 1975-76 academic session.

New members of the faculties and administration will be introduced by Dr. Healy, the Academic Deans, and the Dean of the Undergraduate Program.

I shall make brief and general remarks about the major issues and questions facing the College as a whole in the coming academic year.

Dr. Healy, on behalf of the Academic Deans and the Dean of the Undergraduate Program, will present an overview of academic affairs for 1975-76.

I anticipate that the September 3 meeting will be the first of two or three college-wide faculty meetings that we shall schedule for the 1975-76 year, with the later ones having specific agenda items of interest to the faculties. I hope that you can plan your schedule on what will be the first day of classes for many, so that you may be with us as a faculty community on September 3.
