Figures Show Bright, Active Freshman Class

The freshman class of 1979 was chosen from 4942 applications from both in-state and out-of-state students, according to an analysis by the Admissions Office.

The profile of the class of 1979 indicates that 65 percent of its members ranked in the top ten percent of their high school graduating classes; 129 were either valedictorians or salutatorians.

Aptitude test scores show 51 percent of the freshmen admitted had total scholastic aptitude test scores of 1200 or above; four percent had scores of 1400 or better.

There are 712 Virginians and 347 out-of-state students in the freshman class, reflecting the College's policy to maintain undergraduate enrollment at approximately 70 percent in-state students. There are 498 men and 561 women in the class.

A total of 227 transfer students were enrolled in September. These students had a mean grade average of 3.0 or better on a scale of 4.0.

Of Virginians enrolled in the freshman class, 250 are from the northern Virginia area including Alexandria, Arlington, Falls Church and Fairfax County. Students from the Peninsula, including Newport News, Hampton, York County and Williamsburg, account for 18 percent and the next largest group, 114 students or 13 percent, come from the Richmond area, including Hopewell, Petersburg, Henrico and Chesterfield counties.

Applications for early decision were received from 753 students and of that number, 256 were accepted. An additional 54 from the group were accepted under regular decision.

The freshman class includes 287 students who were National Merit Winners, finalists or recipients of commendations. Participation in band, orchestra and choral groups, public speaking, debate and dramatics, and journalism also score high on the list of secondary school activities. There are also 169 high school varsity team captains in the freshman class.

All transfer students and seven percent of the enrolled freshman class were admitted as day students. Twelve percent of the class receive grants or loans

Lecture Set On Crisis In Ireland

One of the nation's leading scholars of Ireland will give a public lecture Thursday on campus on the "Northern Ireland Crisis and the Rewriting of Irish History."

Professor Lawrence McCaffrey of Loyola University, Chicago, will speak Nov. 13 at 4 p.m. in 220 Morton Hall.

His talk is sponsored by the government department.

McCaffrey's lecture will deal with the present crisis in Northern Ireland and the effects it has had on the study of Irish history.

President of the American Committee for Irish Studies, McCaffrey has written several books on Ireland, including "Irish Federalism in the 1870's" (1962), "Daniel O'Connell and the Repeal Year" (1966), and "The Irish Question, 1800-1922" (1968). He is presently completing a book on the Irish in America and another, a collection of essays, on Irish-American nationalism.

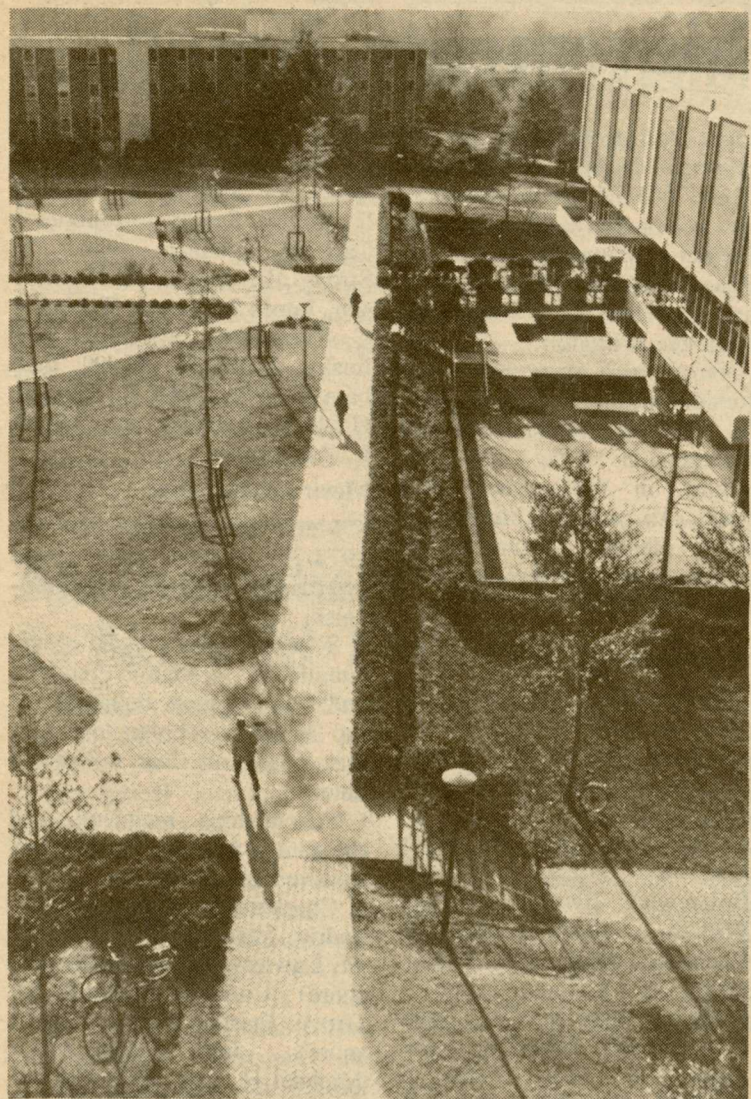

His articles have been published in a number of journals in the United States and Europe.

McCaffrey's host on campus is Associate Professor Alan Ward.

Nettels Wins Book Award

English Professor Elsa Nettels was awarded the 1975 SAMLA Studies Award for her book "Henry James and Joseph Conrad: A Comparative Study" at the annual meeting of the South Atlantic Modern Language Association in Atlanta on Nov. 7.

The award consists of a cash prize for the best book manuscript written in the South Atlantic Association during the year, and it carries with it a commitment of publication by the University of Georgia press. Her book is scheduled to appear in 1976.

Comedy Billed On W&M Theatre Slate

A prize-winning play will have its Peninsula premiere next week when the William and Mary Theatre presents Lanford Wilson's "The Hot L Baltimore," Nov. 19-22 at 8:15 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

The Theatre's box office will be open for reservations to "The Hot L" between 3-5:30 p.m., Nov. 17-22, and again between 7-8:15 p.m. the four nights of production. All seats are reserved at $2.

Under the direction of theatre professor Louis E. Catron, the cast of 15 students will portray residents of a once grand hotel which soon will go under the wrecker's ball. In the Hotel live a number of eccentric and fascinating characters, including a pair of health food freaks who dream about a ranch out West, an old man who exercises in the Hotel's lobby to keep alive his dreams, and three prostitutes who each have their own individualized dreams.

Employees at the decaying hotel are played by Robert McBride, a sophomore transfer student from Alexandria; Granville Scott, a freshman from Richmond, and Debra Harris, a senior from Martinsville.

Residents in the hotel are Susan Scher '77, Baltimore; Julie Opel '79, Chappaqua, N.Y.; Rebecca Riley '76, Danville; Kathi Wood '77, Wytheville; Robert Justis '77, Parkersley; Libby Forrest '76, Poquoson; Ree Stone, a graduate student from Charlottesville; Hutton Cobb '78, Roncoveverte, W.Va.; and Kent Thompson '76, Richmond.

Other cast members are Robert Reeves '78, Valley Cottage, N.Y., and Margaret Vincent '79, Richmond.

Senior Ted Hogan Jr., of Lynch Station, Va., is scene designer, costumes are by Associate Professor Jerry Bledsoe and by Leslee Richards '77, Chester, and lighting by Professor Roger Sherman. Technical direction is being given by Professor Albert E. Haak.

For Ferguson Seminar

Howe To Give Keynote Address

Irving Howe, author, distinguished literary and social critic and editor, will give a public lecture at the College on Thursday, Nov. 13, in conjunction with the biennial Ferguson Seminar in Publishing.

Based on the broad theme of the relationship between books and intellectual culture, Howe's lecture will concern "The Book in the Immigrant Culture" and will be given at 8:15 p.m. in the Campus Center Ballroom. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Mr. Howe is currently distinguished professor of English at City University of New York and editor of Dissent Magazine.

Among the books he has authored or co-authored are "The U.A.W. and Walter Reuther," "Sherwood Anderson: A Critical Biography," "William Faulkner: A Critical Study," "Politics and the Novel," "Modern Literary Criticism, an Anthology," and "A World More Attractive."

The College's Ferguson Seminar is designed to introduce upper-level college students from across Virginia to the general nature of book publishing and to the prospects for a career in book editing, design and production, and sales and marketing.

It was established in 1968 by Dr. Walter F. C. Ferguson in memory of his brother, William Cross Ferguson. A 1916 graduate of William and Mary, William Cross Ferguson had a long career in American book publishing. He served as editor-in-chief, secretary, and later president of the World Book Company, and also as director and treasurer of the American Textbook Publishers Institute.

Speakers participating in the Seminar, in addition to Mr. Howe, include Barbara A. Bannon, senior editor of Publishers Weekly; Marcia Magill, executive editor of G.P. Putnam's Sons; John B. Putnam, executive director, the Association of American University Presses; Richard P. Zeldin, president of Xerox College Publishing; Philip Grushkin, book designer from Englewood, N.J.; Joy Dickinson Barnes, associate editor at the Institute of Early American History and Culture; Peter Mollman, vice president in charge of production at Random House; Dorothy B. Sutherland, promotion consultant in New York; and Mrs. Diggory Venn, director of the Radcliffe College Publishing Procedures Course.

All members of the College community are cordially invited to attend a reception for the opening of an exhibition by
Henry E. Coleman
Friday, November 14
4:30-6:30 p.m.

To: The College Community

Subject: C&P Representatives on campus

We have been informed that representatives from the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company will be on the campus at some time during the next few weeks. They will be verifying the exact location of telephone instruments and other equipment in all areas, in an effort to update the company records and to facilitate proper billing.

All members of the College community are urged to extend full cooperation to these C.&P. representatives in answering questions, pointing out specific locations which might not be obvious, and being generally helpful in furnishing pertinent telephone information. If questions arise which require further clarification, the representatives should be referred to Dennis K. Cogle at Ext. 203.

Beresford To Be Featured In Botetourt Program

Maurice W. Beresford, Visiting Harrison Professor of History, will present a public lecture concerning "The Oldest Map in the British Public Record Office and its Implications" on Tuesday, Nov. 18.

Part of the Botetourt Bibliographical Society's fall program, Beresford's lecture begins at 8:15 p.m. in Botetourt Theatre of Swem Library and will be illustrated with slides.

Beresford recently completed a manuscript for Oxford University Press on the map he will discuss next Tuesday.

The first professor of economic history at the University of Leeds and subsequently chairman of its School of Economic Studies, Beresford has been dean and chairman of the Arts and Social Sciences faculties. He is an elected member of the Council of the Economic History Society, has just finished a term of membership on the British Social Science Research Council, and was appointed by the President of the Board of Trade as a member of the Consumer Council from 1966-71.

He has published widely in both economic and archaeological subjects.

Ohno Works Presented

Mrs. Gertrude Perrin of New York City recently donated two works of art by contemporary Japanese artist Hidetaka Ohno to the College's collection.

The works are a smoked burlap collage on canvas and an abstract watercolor, both signed and dated 1959.

To complement the two works, Mrs. Perrin also gave the College a limited and autographed edition of a book of poems entitled "Clocked Stone" by Cid Corman. The book is illustrated with reproductions of paintings by Ohno.

The Ohno works have been hung in the entrance to Andrews Gallery and will remain on display through the end of the month.

From: I.H. Robitshek, Personnel Director
To: College Community
Subject: Observance of Thanksgiving Holiday

The College will observe the Thanksgiving Holiday on Nov. 27 and 28, 1975.

The administrative offices, the plant department (except for those employees required to maintain essential services), and the mail room of the College of William and Mary will be closed on Nov. 27 and 28, 1975. The Campus Police Department and the College Switchboard will maintain regular hours.

The names of permanent classified employees who are required to work on Nov. 27 and 28 should be reported in writing to the Personnel Office in order that they may be credited with Compensatory Leave. Permanent classified employees who are required to work on either of these days should take compensatory leave earned as soon thereafter as possible in order to avoid excessive leave accumulation. Hourly employees who work on either of these days will be paid at their regular hourly rates.
