Poetry Reading and Lecture Open to Public

Poet And Historian To Address Language Professors Meeting

A reading by poet John Tagliabue and a bicentennial view of America from abroad by Yale University history professor Robin W. Winks will highlight the joint meeting of the Virginia American Association of Teachers (AAT) Chapters and the Foreign Language Association of Virginia (FLAVA) in Williamsburg. William and Mary will host the two day meeting, April 23-24, on campus.

On Friday afternoon Tagliabue, professor of English at Bates College, Maine, will present "A Bicentennial Poetical Garland: Tagliabue Reads Tagliabue" in a session for teachers of Italian. The poetry reading is open to the public and begins at 2:30 p.m. 342 Morton Hall.

A native of Italy, Tagliabue completed his B.A., M.A. and other graduate work at Columbia University, where his teachers included Mark Van Doren, Raymond Weaver and Lionel Trilling, among others. He is the author of "Poems" (1959), "A Japanese Journal" (1966), "The Buddha Uproar" (1967) and "The Doorless Door" (1970).

Tagliabue studied under a Fulbright grant at the University of Florence and was a Fulbright Lecturer at Tsuda and Tokyo Joshi Daigaku and Tokyo University. The poet has read from his works on many occasions in New York and New England, as well as abroad. His campus visit is being co-sponsored by the English Department and the College Committee on Lectures.

Yale Professor

Professor Winks will address a joint AAT meeting Saturday morning in Phi Beta Kappa Hall on the topic "America Viewed from Abroad: 200 Years Later." The public is invited to attend. A leading authority on imperialism, Canada, the Pacific and on British Empire and Commonwealth history, Winks has taught extensively abroad. From 1969 to 1971 he was on leave from Yale to serve as U.S. Cultural Attache to the American Embassy in London.

He received his B.A. degree magna cum laude at the University of Colorado, where he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa; studied anthropology and Maori at the University of New Zealand for an M.A. degree; received a second M.A. at Colorado in 1953, and won his Ph.D. degree with distinction at The Johns Hopkins University in 1957.

He is the author of numerous books and articles for scholarly journals.

Teachers of French, German, Spanish, Italian and South Eastern European languages from across the state will participate in the talks, panel discussions and workshops during the two day meeting. Many of the programs scheduled have a bicentennial theme.

Board Hikes Tuition, Fees

At its meeting April 6 in Richmond, the Executive Committee of the Board of Visitors approved increases in the tuition and general fee schedule for 1976-77 as well as increases in the room and board rates. (See Official Memorandum, Page 2.)

The Committee also approved the promotion of Alan J. Ward

Other talks will cover women writers, comparative literature programs in Virginia, and literary contributions by various foreign authors.

In addition to workshops on foreign language teaching strategies, programs will consider the problems of adjustment for those involved in foreign study programs and will view professional careers in the field of modern languages.

The languages houses on campus will be open for visitors to tour, and the Institute of Early American History and Culture has arranged for a display in Swem Library of documents pertinent to the American Revolution in the Institute collection.

Fulbright Scholars Visit Campus

Two eminent foreign scholars will serve as guest lecturers-in-residence, April 20-25, as part of the 30th anniversary and American Bicentennial observance of the Fulbright-Hays program for international study.

The scholars, alumni of the Fulbright-Hays program, are Professor Mihai Pop, ethnographer and folklorist, Romania, and Secretary Tsegaye Gabre-Medhin of the Ministry of Culture,

Robin W. Winks, Professor of History at Yale University

Sports and Youth, Addis Ababa, Ethiopia.

Professor Pop taught in the department of Romanian language and literature at the University of Bucharest from 1936 to 1974 and was director of the Romania Institute of Ethnography and Folklore. He was a visiting professor of anthropology at the University of California at Berkeley in 1974 and at the University of Michigan a year later.

A playwright, Secretary Gabre-Medhin directed the Ethiopian National Theatre in Addis Ababa from 1961-71 and also served as general manager. His latest play, "Collision of Alters," set in fourth century Axumite Ethiopia, is soon to be published. In 1959 he received a UNESCO Fellowship and graduated from the Blackstone School of Law, Chicago, with a Bachelor of Law degree.

Both men will be featured speakers in a regional conference on international education held in the William and Mary Campus Center, April 23, one of two ten being held across the county. The conference is sponsored jointly by the presidentially-appointed Board of Foreign Scholarships (BSF)--which administers the program with the Department of State - and William and Mary. James C. Livingston, dean of the undergraduate program at the College, is chairman of the planning committee for the regional conference.

The conference will precede an international convocation of Fulbright-Hays alumni and prominent world figures, May 18-20, at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C., to formulate recommendations for enriching and improving educational exchange.

Perrin, New York Artist, Exhibits In Andrews Hall

The Fine Arts Department will present an exhibition of collages and monotypes by artist Gertrude Perrin of New York, April 21 to May 16.

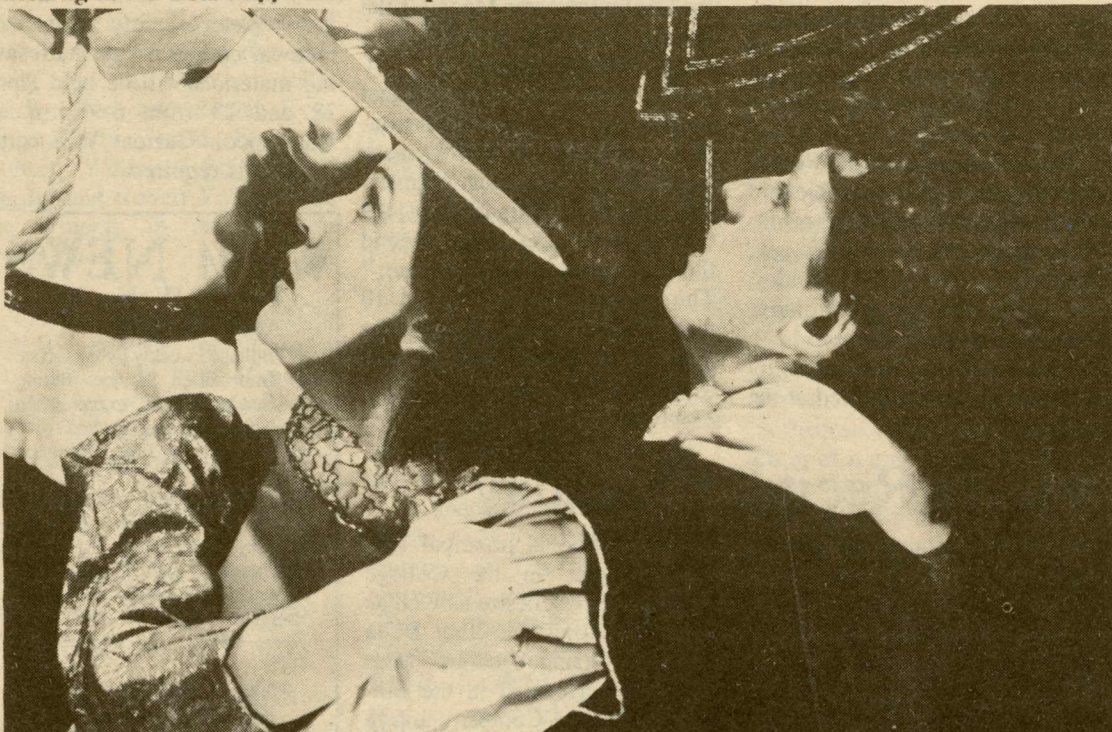

The exhibition will be displayed in the gallery of Andrews Hall and will be open to the public Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Sundays, 1-4 p.m.

A native New Yorker and former school teacher, Gertrude Perrin studied art history for many years with Edith Abbot at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York. She began painting in 1945 with Morris Davidson in New York and Provincetown. She subsequently worked with painters Lee Manso in 1950 and Genichire Inokuma in 1960. Beginning in 1964, she exhibited at the Rose Fried Gallery in New York in her own shows and in group shows.

Mrs. Perrin's works are included in numerous collections, among them New York University, the Andrew Johnson Cornell Museum at Cornell University, the Lowe Gallery at the University of Miami, the Kay Hillman Collection, and the collection of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Starrels. She recently created a large collage of materials relating to the College, which will be exhibited in Andrews Gallery.

In addition to having formed a fine collection of contemporary art herself, Mrs. Perrin has been active in the organization of several exhibits and is a consultant to art dealers and collectors.

"We are betrayed!"

Bel-Imperia and Horatio (Irene Maher and Peter Holloway), meeting at night in a romantic garden, are attacked by murderers in the W&M theatre production of Thomas Kyd's The Spanish Tragedy.

The famous revenge tragedy of the English Renaissance will be performed April 14-17, in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall, at 8:15 p.m.

Choir Sings In Nation's Capital

The College Choir is in Washington today to sing at a ceremony commemorating the 233rd birthday of one of the College's most famous alumni--Thomas Jefferson.

The 50-voice choir will join President Thomas A. Graves Jr. at the annual wreath-laying ceremony scheduled for noon at the Jefferson Memorial.

Graves will present President Ford with a copy of the recently published book "Their Majesties' Royall Colledge." Author Jack Morpurgo refers to Jefferson, who attended William and Mary from 1760-62, as a "uniquely talented" student and an "amazingly energetic" alumnus.

President Ford is scheduled to give the keynote address after wreaths are placed at the memorial by officers representing President Gerald Ford, Virginia Governor Mills E. Godwin, and the District of Columbia. The observance is sponsored by the Sons of the American Revolution, the National Park Service and the Military District of Washington.

Following a prelude by the United States Marine Band, the College choir will lead the singing of the national anthem. Later in the program, the choir will sing "Chester," a colonial song by William Billings, and Ralph Vaughan Williams' arrangement of Psalm 100.

The choir, under the direction of Frank Lendrim, recently returned from a spring tour of the northeast, with stops in Maryland, New York and Connecticut. Last Christmas, the choir produced a Bicentennial television special that was shown over 35 stations in the United States and Canada.

Flute Recital

Mary Hoffman will present her senior flute recital, on Monday, April 19, at 8:15 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

Her program will include works by Bach, Tomasi, Mozart, and Georges-Hue. She will be accompanied by Clayton Sanders Jr. Hoffman has played on numerous occasions for organizations on campus and in the community, including Sinfonicon Opera Company and area churches. She plays in the William and Mary College-Community Orchestra, and is a member of Delta Omicron Music Fraternity. Ms. Hoffman is a student of Burton Kester.

Clayton Sanders is a sophomore majoring in anthropology. He is a member of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia music fraternity.

Museum Careers

Susan M. Stitt, director of The Museums at Stony Brook, Stony Brook, New York, will discuss "Careers in the Museum Field" on Monday, April 19, at 4 p.m. in Morton 340.

Stitt is the author of "The Museum Labor Market," a study conducted under the auspices of the National Endowment for the Humanities and Old Sturbridge Village, and has published an article on "Women in Museums" in Museum News. She has been a fellow, a critic, and a faculty member of the Seminar for Historical Administrators, held each summer in Williamsburg.

An alumna of the College, Stitt holds an M.A. degree from the University of Pennsylvania.

Wren Forum

"Ethics, the Law and Justice" will be the topic discussed at the second Wren Forum at 8 p.m. tonight in the Great Hall of the Wren Building. The public is invited to attend.

Faculty members Alan Fuchs, philosophy; Irma Lang, Richard Walck and Richard Williamson, Marshall-Wythe School of Law; Frederick Harris, economics; and Kelly Shaver, psychology, will lead the discussion.

The forum is sponsored by Campus Ministries United at the College.

Violin Recital Thursday

Beulah Cox will present her junior violin recital on Thursday, April 15, at 8:15 p.m. in the Campus Center Ballroom.

Her program will include works by Corelli, Mozart, Haydn, Creston and Beethoven, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

A native of Hampton, Miss Cox is a student of Ronald Famed pianist Lili Kraus will headline the Norfolk Symphony Orchestra concert on Tuesday, April 27, at 8:30 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Hall. Madame Kraus will perform the Mozart Piano Concerto No. 18 in B Flat, K456. The concert is sponsored by the Wednesday Morning Music Club.

Tickets and information about the concert may be obtained by phoning Mrs. Frank MacDonald, 229-8587. Tickets are $5 for adults and $3 for students.

College Given 1849 Letter

The College of William and Mary has received for its archives a letter written in 1849 by Bishop John Johns to Benjamin Ewell, then president of the College. The letter was presented to the College by Williamsburg author Parke Rouse, Jr., director of the Virginia Independence Bicentennial Commission, a gift from Mrs. Charles Davison of Charlottesville, granddaughter of President Lyon Tyler.

Written from Baltimore, the main body of the letter concerns improvements, apparently to the President's House. Bishop Johns writes that mantles "one each for the parlors and one for the dining room," will cost $50, 35, 29, in all $105. The letter also suggests the exchange of two old grates for one new one as part of the house refurbishing.

DISSERTATION DEFENSES

Michael J. Schmidt will have his final oral examination for the Ph.D. degree in physics on Wednesday, April 14, at 3 p.m. in the conference room of William Small Physical Laboratory. His dissertation is entitled "Pressure Anisotropy Effects in the Guiding Center Model of the Bumpy Theta Pinch." The public is invited to attend.

On April 23, E. Michael Stanley will defend his dissertation, entitled "A Two-Dimensional Time-Dependent Numerical Model Investigation of the Coastal Sea Circulation Around the Chesapeake Bay Entrance." The session will be held at 10 a.m. in the Small Conference Room of Byrd Hall at the Virginia Institute of Marine Science.

WSI RENEWAL

A Water Safety Instructor renewal course for new lifesaving materials will be held April 22 and 23 from 6-9 p.m. in Adair pool. Current WSI certification is required.

Official Memorandum

From: William J. Carter
Vice President for Business Affairs
To: All Undergraduate and Graduate
Students of the College

Subject: Tuition and General Fee, Room, Board and Other Fees for 1976-77

At its special meeting on April 6, 1976, the Board of Visitors approved several changes in the Tuition and General Fee and in Room and Board fees for 1976-77 as follows:

1. Tuition and General Fee

For Virginia students:

For full-time students, an increase of $7 per semester, from $472 to $479. For part-time students, a pro rata amount of $32 per semester hour, both undergraduate and graduate.

For out-of-State students:

For full-time students, an increase of $7 per semester, from $1,121 to $1,128. For part-time students, pro rata amount of $75 per semester hour, both undergraduate and graduate.

2. Room Rent

An increase of an average of 8.1% from the present range of $245 to $375 per semester to a range of $295 to $395 per semester. This increases the average rent per semester from $330 to $357.

3. Board Fee

An increase of $35 per semester, from $348 to $383, or approximately 10%.

4. Applied Music Fee

A decrease from $100 to $90 per semester for one half-hour lesson per week.

These fee increases are a reflection of the unprecedented continuing inflationary pressures on operating costs which require adjustments to enable the College to maintain the calibre and scope of present programs.

Increased operating costs of the Men's and the Women's Non-Revenue Sports Programs require a total increase of $6 per semester in allocations from the Tuition and General Fee. All proceeds of the increased allocations will be used exclusively for the Men's and the Women's Non-Revenue Sports Programs.

Student Activities Program costs require an increase of $1 per semester in allocation from the Tuition and General Fee in order to meet operating increases in that area.

Present room rentals are not sufficient to cover increased operating costs and essential improvements. The sharp rise in food and labor costs necessitates the increase in the board fee.

While these increases are regrettable, they are nevertheless essential. The fees for next year have been established after considerable study and consultation with the student representatives whose positions have been carefully taken into account by the Administration and the Board of Visitors.

This memorandum is being circulated to inform all members of the College Community so that students and, where appropriate, parents and guardians may be informed of these changes in fees for 1976-77.

It's time for an Easter Egg Hunt

We cordially invite the children of all College Faculty and Staff, from the age of two to six years, to an Easter Egg Hunt at the President's House, on Sunday, April 18, at 3 o'clock. Baskets for the Hunt will be provided.

Parents and other family members are invited to watch the festivities and join us for punch and cookies. In case of rain, the Easter Egg Hunt will be cancelled - if in doubt, please telephone 229-3030.

HAPPY HUNTING!

President and Mrs. Graves

Reynolds Metal President Elected New Chairman Of Business Sponsors Board

George M. Walters, president of Reynolds Metal Company of Richmond, has been named chairman of the Sponsors Board of the School of Business Administration.

The Business School Sponsors, Inc., was established in 1970 through the joint efforts of the School and several leading businessmen as a means of expanding and strengthening the relationship of the School with the business community. It is a chartered non-stock Virginia corporation.

Since it was organized, the Sponsors organization has expanded its role to include providing financial support to the School for needs for which the State funds are not allocated, or for which limited allocations are made. These needs include faculty research, financial assistance to graduate students, attraction of faculty, and increased faculty and student participation in special seminars and conferences.

The new chairman joined Reynolds in 1965 as controller, was elected financial vice president and member of the board of directors in 1971 and in 1973 was elected executive vice president and a member of the executive committee of the board of directors. He was elected president in 1975.

A native of Cleveland, Ohio, Walters is a graduate of Western

George M. Walters

Reserve University. Following World War II service in the U.S. Air Force, he joined the accounting firm of Ernst & Ernst at its international headquarters in Cleveland. He became a partner in 1960 and was in charge of services to more than 20 companies, primarily in the steel, mining, metal fabricating and construction industries.

In addition to serving as president and member of the executive committee of the board of directors for Reynolds Metals Company, he is president of Reynolds Aluminum Credit Corp., and a member of the board of directors of Robertshaw Controls Company, and a number of other Reynolds subsidiaries.

Walters is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, the Virginia and Ohio Societies of Certified Public Accountants, and the Financial Executives Institute. He is also a member of the boards of directors of First and Merchants Corporation and First and Merchants National Bank, Richmond.

International Circle Holds Spring Dinner

The traditional spring international dinner sponsored by the International Circle will be held Sunday, April 25, at 7 p.m. in the Campus Center Ballroom.

About 200 guests, administrators, faculty and students are expected to attend. Special dishes from several countries will be served.

During the dinner, folk dancers of the Bicentennial Ensemble of Williamsburg and a dance group from India will perform. Several service awards will be presented.

The International Circle has sponsored during 1975-76 seminars on world affairs, free language classes, and social activities. Mrs. Graves is honorary advisor of the club that counts a membership of about 60 foreign students and 40 American students. For information about the program and the dinner, call Nathaniel Folarin at 229-7468.

Patrice Bare and Beulah Cox, Violin Soloists

Spring Orchestra Concert Set for Easter Sunday

The College Community Orchestra will present its Spring Concert on Easter Sunday, April 18, at 8:15 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

The concert will feature five William and Mary students as soloists, two of whom are winners of the concerto competition held this winter. The five students are Ann Altman, cello; Patrice Bare and Beulah Cox, violin; Judy Gerald, flute and Robert Yahley, piano. Judy Gerald and Robert Yahley were the winners in the concerto competition.

Patrice Bare and Beulah Cox will be soloists for the Bach Concerto in D minor for Two Violins. Ann Altman will play the Vivaldi Largo as arranged by Frantisek Smetana. Judy Gerald will perform the first movement of the Flute Concerto in G Major by Mozart, while Robert Yahley will play the first movement of the Schumann Piano Concerto in A minor.

The Orchestra will play Music For Strings by Quincy Porter and From the Canebrake by Samuel Gardner as arranged by Ronald Marshall.

Dora Short is the conductor of the orchestra.

Tickets are available at $1.50 for adults, $1 for students, in the Music Department Office, Ext. 230, and also at the PBK box office the night of the concert.

Project Plus Forum Concludes

The William and Mary Theatre performance of "The Spanish Tragedy" and a review of the play will conclude the 1975-76 Project Plus Forum.

"The Spanish Tragedy" will be performed April 14-17 at 8:15 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

Associate Professor of Theatre and Speech Jerry Bledsoe, who is directing the play, will conduct a "Post-Mortem Critique" the following week, April 21, at 7:30 p.m. in the Project Plus Lounge, Botetourt Units 7 and 8.

A specialist in the area of scenic design and theatre architecture, he has designed and costumed most of the productions of the William and Mary Theatre since joining the College faculty in 1971. In addition to professional work at the Colorado Shakespeare Festival and the Kennebunkport Playhouse, Maine, Bledsoe has taught at the University of Saskatchewan, State University of New York at Geneseo and Purdue University.

'Juvenile Court' Shown Tonight

The College's ACLU chapter will present a two and a half hour color film documentary "Juvenile Court," tonight at 7 p.m. in Botetourt Theatre of Swem Library.

In the technique of cinema verite, "Juvenile Court," has no narration, no explanation, no identification of individuals. The film depicts the problems facing a Memphis juvenile court and its personnel.

Further details concerning the film and the meeting may be obtained from Debra Wolin, Ext. 464.

Recent Gifts Are Reminder Of College's Background

Two recent gifts to the College give graphic expression to the original connection between the Brafferton building on campus and the Brafferton estate for which the building is named in north Yorkshire, England.

The original Brafferton estate was purchased by the trustees of the Honorable Robert Boyle in the late 1690's and its revenue applied to the education of American Indians at an Indian School at William and Mary.

After American independence from Great Britain, the English courts ruled that the trust had lapsed, and the funds were reapplied to the education of natives in the West Indies.

Following his March 30 Harrison lecture, Maurice Beresford, James Pinckney Harrison Visiting Professor of History, presented framed aerial views of the Brafferton village and fields to President Graves. Professor Beresford's Harrison lectures were based on the theme "English Landscapes and Townscapes." His collaborator, Professor St. Joseph of Cambridge University, had taken the two photographs last fall to illustrate the lectures. They will be permanently displayed in the Brafferton Building.

Professor Beresford has also given the College a photographic copy of a map of the Brafferton estate in 1796. The map and other estate papers were discovered by Professor Jack Morpurgo, author of the College's history "Their Majesties Royall Colledge," and the Bishop of London a few years ago. The two were examining the records of the recently defunct Christian Faith Society, the beneficiary of the Boyle monies after American independence. The original documents are now stored in the archives of the archbishops of York at the Borthwick Institute, York. Professor Beresford used the map to illustrate his final Harrison lecture.

After learning of the York map, College archivist Kay Domine searched the uncatalogued College archives, where she found an even older map of the Brafferton estate, made in 1771. It is not known how the map survived the fires and rebuilding of the College since 1771. The two maps will be deposited in the College archives.

ANTHROPOLOGY

Mario D. Zamora attended the annual meeting of the Virginia Social Science Association at Christopher Newport College, April 3, where he read a paper entitled "Themes and Trends in Philippine Social Change: The Anthropology of Higher Education."

Zamora also took his classes recently to Washington, D.C., where they visited the Smithsonian Institution and the Embassy of Nigeria. Deputy Chief Minister Obe lectured and showed films on Africa.

CHEMISTRY

The following paper has been published: Melvyn D. Schiavelli, Ted C. Germroth, and Joseph W. Stubbs, "Solvolysis of Haloallenes. The Question of Nucleophilic Solvent Assistance," Journal of Organic Chemistry, 41, 681 (1976).

ECONOMICS

Four members of the department participated at the annual meeting of the Virginia Association of Economists, held in Richmond March 26-27. Clyde Haulman presented a paper entitled "Changes in Wealth Holdings in Richmond, Virginia, 1860-1870." Frederick Harris and Martin Garrett discussed papers entitled "The Expenditure of Congestion Toll Revenues" and "Interstate Wage Rate Differentials Once Again", respectively. David Finifter was chairperson for the Labor Economics session.

Allen Sanderson has been invited to participate in the annual Cliometrics Conference for economic historians at the University of Wisconsin, April 22-24. Mr. Sanderson's review of George Stigler's The Citizen and the State will appear in the September issue of the Journal of Economic History.

ENGLISH

Margaret W. Freeman gave a paper entitled "Do We Neglect the Advantaged Student?" at the Conference on College Composition and Communication, March 25-27, in Philadelphia.

Terry Meyers has published an article, "Two Swinburne Letters," in the February 1976 issue of Notes and Queries.

FINE ARTS

Miles Chappell has been named a fellow of the Southeastern Institute of Medieval and Renaissance Studies at Duke University and will participate in a seminar devoted to early 16th century Netherlandish painting this summer.

GEOLOGY

Bruce K. Goodwin served on an evaluation panel for the National Science Foundation program of Faculty Science Fellowships in Washington, D.C., March 11-14. The panel evaluated proposals which had been submitted to the Foundation by science faculty members from institutions across the country.

Stephen C. Clement and Goodwin attended the joint meeting of the Northeastern and the Southeastern Sections of the Geological Society of America in Washington, D.C., on March 25-27. Prior to the meetings, Clement attended a 3-day short course on Spindle Stage Techniques. At the meetings Goodwin was co-author of a paper and also participated in a planning session of the Eastern Margin Working Group of the United States Appalachian-Caledonian Project. This project is part of the International Geological Correlation Program which is a joint undertaking of UNESCO and the International Union of Geological Sciences.

INSTITUTE OF EARLY AMERICAN HISTORY AND CULTURE

Thad Tate, director, was in St. Louis, Mo., April 7-9 to present the 1976 Douglass Adair Memorial Award for outstanding scholarship in American history, sponsored by the IEAHC and Claremont Graduate School. The award, made every four years to the author of the best article accepted by the William and Mary Quarterly, was given to Pauline Maier, associate professor of history at the University of Massachusetts.

The award was established in 1971 by friends of Douglass Adair, a member of the College's history department from 1943-55 and editor of the Quarterly from 1947-55.

MARSHALL-WYTHE SCHOOL OF LAW

Doug Rendleman was presented with a pen and pencil set by the editorial staff of the William and Mary Law Review, in appreciation of his extended assistance to the publication this academic year. The presentation was part of the annual awards ceremony held last week in the Great Hall.

Under the directorship of Walter Williams, enrollment in the 1976 Summer School of Law in England has reached a record high of more than 140 law students. Local faculty members who will teach in the program at the University of Exeter this summer include Scott C. Whitney and Harvey Frank.

William F. Swindler has been named "Professor of the Year" by the Phi Alpha Delta legal fraternity. The award of a walnut plaque citing Swindler's teaching, scholarship and services to the Law School was made at the chapter's spring dinner meeting.

The Student Bar Association has scheduled its annual awards ceremony for April 19 in the Great Hall of the Wren Building.

Faculty Club Party

The Faculty Club will hold its fifth and final cocktail party of the year on Friday, April 23. The event will take place from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the Alumni House, and guests will be the officers of the United Virginia Bank of Williamsburg.

All members of the faculty and administration are invited to attend and may pay at the door or obtain tickets from Lewis Foster at the usual rates: members: $2 per person ($1 non-drinker); non-members: $3.50 per person ($2 non-drinker). Set aside April 23 on your calendar and plan to attend.

A special feature of this year's program will be a tribute to Emeric Fischer for his services as acting dean of the Law School during the current academic year.

MATHEMATICS

W.L. Bynum's paper, "Weak Parallelogram Laws for Banach Spaces," has been accepted for publication in the Canadian Mathematical Bulletin.

"Finitely Generated Projective Modules and TTF Classes," by Robert W. Miller, has been accepted for publication in the Pacific Journal of Mathematics. The research for the paper was supported by a William and Mary faculty research grant.

Richard H. Prosl attended a meeting of the committee on placement testing of the Mathematical Association of America, March 26-28, in Houston.

MODERN LANGUAGES

Elisabeth E. Backhaus and Alexander Kallos attended the fifth annual convention of the Virginia-District of Columbia chapter of the National Federation of Students of German at Hampton High School. Backhaus led a workshop on "German Civilization" and Kallos on "Modern Literature".

PHILOSOPHY

Alan E. Fuchs was a discussion leader at a conference on Ethics and Journalism held at the Peaks of Otter Lodge, March 18-19. Other discussion leaders at the meeting, which was conducted for journalists from all areas of Virginia, included Tom Hearn, former W&M professor of philosophy and now dean of the School of Humanities at the University of Alabama; Reg Murphy, editor and publisher of the San Francisco Examiner; Joe Dunn, editor of the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot; and Walter Wadlington, professor of law at the University of Virginia.

Fuchs appeared on the television program, The Technology Connection, April 1, on Channel 15. He participated in a discussion of the topic: "Computers, Data-Banks, and Privacy."

PHYSICS

The following papers have been published:

"Temperature anisotropy instabilities in a plasma of two ion components," by Don S. Lemons and S. Peter Gary in J. Plasma Physics 15, 83 (1976).

"Use of the Wigner Representation in Scattering Problems," by E.A. Remler in Annals of Physics (N.Y.) 95, 455 (1975).

Several members of the physics department attended the American Physical Society Meeting in Atlanta, March 29-April 1. The following papers were presented:

"Muonium States in p-silicon," by M. Leventhal, D.E. Murnick (Bell Labs), and W.J. Kossler (W&M) in Bull. Am. Phys. Soc. 21, 234 (1976).

41," and published in 1973, is currently revising the manuscript of a second book, "American Cities at War: The Challenge to Urban Liberalism" on the federal-urban relationship during World War II, which is being reviewed for publication by the University of Tennessee press. Part of the research for his first book was undertaken under a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities in 1968. He has also been awarded a faculty semester grant for research by the College.

A member of the faculty of the College since 1966, Funigiello is a graduate of Hunter College, the University of California at Berkeley and New York University. He has contributed articles to a number of scholarly journals and is a member of honorary fraternities in both history and education. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and while at the University of California was Herbert Bolton Fellow in the History of the Americas. He held a predoctoral fellowship at New York University, 1964-65.

Joanne Basso Funigiello, assistant professor of modern languages at the College, will be on leave for the spring semester next year to accompany her husband to Genoa, where she will undertake research in her field of Italian.

Study Considers Effect Of Industrial Island

If off-shore unloading of oil tankers were initiated from an industrial island to help eliminate the hazards of oil spills, how would the oil get to the mainland?

If supersonic jets, now being allowed trial flights in this country, were forced off landstrips and onto island runways off-shore, who would have jurisdiction over revenues, the state nearest the island or the federal government?

These are some of the questions an investigative team made up of individuals from a variety of fields from sociology to engineering will tackle this summer in assessing the impact of an industrial island on its mainland neighbor.

Lawrence S. Beckhouse, associate professor and chairman of the department of sociology at the College, will be part of the team, which has been awarded faculty fellowships by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) and the American Society for Engineering Education (ASEE) to undertake a problem in the relatively new field of "social impact assessment."

The team, said Beckhouse, will undertake the study utilizing the engineering system design concept, approaching the problem in its entirety rather than from the initially unconnected viewpoints of many single disciplines.

Members of the team will include individuals who are specialists in the fields of political science, business, economics, law, sociology, psychology, geology and international relations as well as individuals from all disciplines of engineering. It is anticipated that the team will consider as its model an island off the Virginia-Carolinas coast.

While the idea of studying the economic, ecological and psychological effects of industrial development is not new, explained Beckhouse, the concept of bringing the investigators of these areas together with the engineers planning the expansion, under the umbrella of "social impact assessment," is new.

He points to the work of the Environmental Protection Agency as one of the prime movers in getting this cooperative venture started. It has only been within the last two years, said Beckhouse, that the idea of social impact assessment has established a legitimate foothold.

Beckhouse, who joined the William and Mary faculty in 1968, has been working on a similar project recently involving the oil refinery at Yorktown. The refinery is seeking an overall social impact assessment of its plans for development and expansion rather than relying on the vocal reaction of groups within the community which may or may not be representative of the whole. He is a graduate of Knox College, Ill., and Vanderbilt University.

Because of the newness of the field, "even the experts claim there are no experts," says Beckhouse. Time will be spent this summer in determining the methods researchers will use in their investigations.

Work done during the 11-week period of the project will provide NASA with a useful study but will also provide an opportunity for each participant to enrich his competence and will encourage communication and collaboration between engineering and other disciplines.

Fellowships, Scholarships Awarded Outstanding Students

Klagge Named Danforth Fellow

James C. Klagge of Brecksville, Ohio, a senior, has received a Danforth Graduate Fellowship for graduate study at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Klagge is one of 61 successful applicants for the awards. Over 2,000 applied.

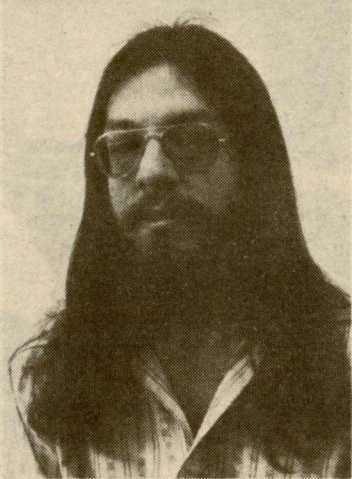

Supported by the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, Mo., the fellowship award is made for one year and is renewable for a maximum of four years of graduate study. Klagge will be working toward a Ph.D. in philosophy for a career in college teaching.

Applicants for the Danforth Fellowships do not make direct application for the award but must be nominated by their undergraduate institutions. William S. Cobb, associate professor of philosophy, serves as liaison officer for the program on campus.

An outstanding varsity debater during his first two years at William and Mary, Klagge is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa leadership honorary. He is a candidate for honors in philosophy. He has served on the curriculum committee of the philosophy department and as a member of the college-wide long range planning committee.

Klagge has been elected to Phi Beta Kappa and will be initiated into Alpha of Virginia Chapter April 27 in ceremonies to be held in the Dodge Room of Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

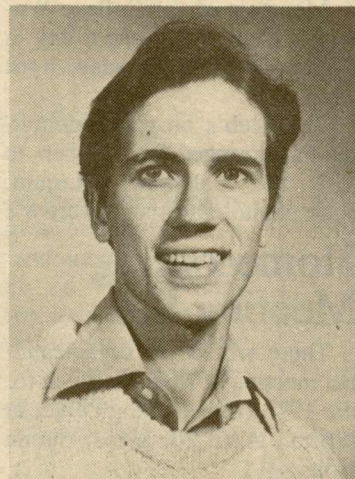

For the past two years Klagge has been active in the Appalachia Service Project, sponsored by the United Methodist Church. Volunteers spend their summers making needed improvements on housing in poverty areas of many states, including Kentucky, Tennessee, North Dakota, Texas and Colorado. Klagge has worked in Kentucky and hopes this summer to be working in the program in North Dakota to improve Indian housing.

Three Receive Drapers' Awards

The Foreign Studies Committee has announced the award of the Drapers' Company exchange scholarships for study in England during 1976-78 to three seniors.

Award recipients are Myra L. Stephenson of Manassas and Luther Kent Thompson and Michal Joan Blake, both of Richmond.

Miss Stephenson is a concentrator in both comparative literature and English. A member of Alpha Lambda Delta and Phi Beta Kappa national honor societies, she has been accepted at the Shakespeare Institute of the University of Birmingham and plans to study Shakespeare and Renaissance drama. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Stephenson.

A theatre and speech major, Kent Thompson will study at the Guildhall School of Music and Theatre in London. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and has been an actor in nine William and Mary Theatre productions. Thompson will play the role of Thomas Jefferson in "The Common Glory," Virginia's official bicentennial outdoor drama, for the second year this summer. He is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Luther J. Thompson.

Miss Blake, also a Phi Beta Kappa student, is a classics major. She hopes to study Medieval Latin at either Reading or Queen Mary's College at the University of London under the Drapers' exchange. She is currently working, with her father, on a translation of a previously untranslated Medieval Latin work by Peter Abelard. She hopes to complete the translation of the work, a dialogue between a philosopher, a Christian and a Jew, this summer. Miss Blake is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William E. Blake, Jr.

The Drapers' Company scholarships, exclusively awarded at the College, were inaugurated in 1959 by arrangement with the Drapers' Company of London, an ancient trade guild and philanthropic foundation. The recipient may study for two years at an English university of his or her choice. In return, the Drapers' Company sends British students to the College. The first winner of the scholarship from the College in 1959 was Richard Prosl, now associate professor of mathematics at the College.

Joyce Receives Ferguson Award

Patricia Anne Joyce of Carrollton, Md., a senior and editor-in-chief of the William and Mary Review, has been awarded the 1976 William Cross Ferguson Graduate Scholarship in Publishing.

The scholarship grant will cover the tuition and other costs for Joyce to attend the prestigious Publishing Procedures Course held at Radcliffe College every summer.

Miss Joyce has been a member of the William and Mary Review staff since 1972 and, before becoming editor-in-chief, served on the fiction and poetry editorial boards and as associate editor. She has been a member of the College Publications Council since 1974 and is a member of the journalism honorary society. Joyce is a French concentrator, and she intends to pursue a career in publishing after graduation.

The scholarship grant is an outgrowth of a gift of money to the College from Walter F.C.

Ferguson in honor of his brother, William Cross Ferguson, who died in 1967.

William Cross Ferguson, a William and Mary graduate in the class of 1916, had a long career in publishing, ultimately becoming president of the World Book Company. Prior to his death, he expressed an interest in establishing at his alma mater various programs that would stimulate interest in publishing as a career.

The biennial Ferguson Seminar in Publishing brings together on campus outstanding figures from the publishing field, who lecture and meet informally with students from colleges around the state. Irving Howe, author, critic and editor, was principal speaker at the 1975 seminar.

W. Lane Chambers, president, introduced new members of the F.H.C. Society.

Senior members are: Richard Stanley Bader, William Lane Chambers, George Wesley Duke, Glenn Arnold Gundersen, Richard Henry Rhyne, Jr. and Donald Louis Zuckerman.

Faculty members include: Miles L. Chappell, Frank A. MacDonald, Richard H. Prosl and John H. Willis, Jr.

Careers Group

Any students who are interested in joining a new Career Development Group, sponsored by the Office of Career Counseling, are invited to call for further information at Ext. 427.

Student Job Opportunity

Two representatives of Readak Educational Services of Acton, Mass., will be on campus April 20-21 to interview students for a job with the firm.

A group session will be held Tuesday evening, April 20, in the Campus Center, and individual interviews will be conducted Wednesday, April 21. Interested students may make appointments and obtain further information in the Office of Educational Placement, Jones 215.

Summer Internships

Over 100 summer internships in human service are available to undergraduate and graduate students through the Virginia Internship Program.

Each position involves tasks normally done by professionals and should prove challenging and educational. Information is available in the Placement Office, Ext. 604, Morton 104.

A background in education is not required. The job does require that the teacher live in several different places during the school year, so the applicant should be willing to travel and should have a car. Travel expenses are paid in addition to a salary and other benefits.

Readak is a small, professional group of people that serves independent schools in- and outside the U.S. with a complete developmental reading and study skills program.

Teachers' Scholarships Offered

The Office of Educational Placement now has applications for the Virginia State Teachers' Scholarships for the summer 1976 and the academic year, 1976-77. Only rising seniors who are currently participating in the program are eligible to reapply.

Phi Sigma Officers Chosen

The Phi Sigma biology honorary society recently elected new officers for 1976-1977. They are: President Gail Borgatti; Vice-President Lisa Williams; Secretary Judy Sirota; and Treasurer Steve Halenda.

The society's activities this year have included sponsoring the Biology Open House on Parent's Day in October; sponsoring field trips to VARC and VIMS; sending a letter, "The Biology Bugle," about the Biology Department out to all past Biology alumni at William and Mary; and lining up speakers for next year.

At a recent meeting, current Honors/Problems/Graduate students gave short talks on their research. Final events this year will include sponsoring the second annual Biology Night

Easter Service

The Williamsburg Community Easter Sunrise Service will be held at Jamestown Island, 6:30 Easter morning, on April 18. The Reverend Samuel P. Hart, minister of Jamestown and Trinity Presbyterian Churches, will lead the service. H. Braxton Allport, Jr., United Methodist Campus Minister at the College, will speak on "A Collage of Easter Themes". A Bell Choir from the William and Mary Baptist Student Union will provide special music.

All interested persons are cordially invited to attend.

For the benefit of William and Mary students attending this service, buses will leave from Commons at 6 a.m. and return to the circle in front of Bryan Complex, after the service.

Business Careers

Washington & Lee University is sponsoring a Summer Institute for Careers in Business for college juniors and graduating seniors. The purpose of the Institute is to provide basic business principles and to focus on career interests in the business world. This program is particularly suitable for students of the liberal arts and sciences and previous business courses are not required. Information and applications are available at the Office of Career Counseling, James Blair Hall, Room 209, and also in the Placement Office.

Development Office Grant Opportunities

Women in Graduate Engineering Programs

The Business and Professional Women's Foundation, in cooperation with the Exxon Education Foundation, has established a revolving loan fund to assist women in obtaining graduate engineering degrees. Amounts up to $2,000 per year will be lent. The loans are for master's level study at accredited universities. Application forms may be requested from the BPW Foundation, 2012 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036. Deadline: April 20, 1976.

Andrew W. Mellon Faculty Fellowship in the Humanities

Harvard University has received a grant for a five-year program to support experienced young scholars and teachers in the humanities. Applications for appointments (5) in the first year's competition are due April 23, 1976, for academic year 1976-77. For academic year 1977-78, applications are due November 15, 1976. Applicants must have the Ph.D. and two years experience as teachers. Details as to application procedures are available in each humanities department and in Mrs. Neiman's office. Annual salary: $12,500 plus fringe benefits.

City University of New York will inaugurate a similar program for 1976-77, with applications due May 1, 1976.

Oak Ridge National Laboratory Postdoctoral Fellowship Program

Established in honor of Eugene P. Wigner, this program will offer five two-year appointments each year, providing an opportunity for physical, social and life scientists no more than three years past the doctorate to gain experience in areas related to national energy problems and needs. Salaries fully competitive plus travel and relocation expenses. Candidates should write to: Office of Professional and University Relations, Oak Ridge National Laboratory, P.O. Box X, Oak Ridge, Tennessee 37830.

U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare Fellows Program

This program will allow ten individuals to work for a year as special assistants to key officials in the Office of the Secretary of HEW, the Office of Education, Public Health Service, Social Security Administration. Applicants must be at least 25 years old, have had five years work experience, and be eligible for GS 11-15 rating. Women and minorities are especially encouraged to apply. For more information, contact Marguerite Mazique, Director of HEW Fellows Program, 330 Independence Ave., S.W., Washington, D.C. 20201; (202) 245-6087. Deadline: April 30, 1976.
