VOLUME V, NO. 7
TUESDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1976

In the News

UNDERGRADUATE

Registration for the spring semester begins Thursday, Oct. 21. Students may pick up registration materials then at Andrews Hall between 8:30 and 4:30 p.m.

MEMBERS OF THE College community are reminded that pledge cards for the Greater Williamsburg United Fund are due and should be returned to Gerald H. Johnson, Department of Geology, William Small Hall 230.

Contributions to the United Fund support programs for the health and welfare of many citizens in Williamsburg, James City County and the Bruton District of York County, including the young, the elderly and the disadvantaged.

PARKING IN PBK CIRCLE is being restricted this week, due to the volume of traffic in connection with the Presidential Debates, Oct. 22. Parking in the Morton Hall lot is expected to be limited to authorized vehicles only, beginning Thursday.

Faculty, staff and students may park in the W&M Hall lot. Buses will provide transportation to the Morton and PBK lots.

THE BRYAN RESIDENCE Hall Complex will welcome President Gerald Ford and Democratic challenger Jimmy Carter at a ceremony on Thursday, Oct. 22, at 12 noon in front of Bryan Hall.

Members of the national news media, aides to both candidates and others from the College are expected to participate. In honor of the third presidential Candidates Debate, a 30 by 60 foot sign will be unveiled at the end of the ceremony.

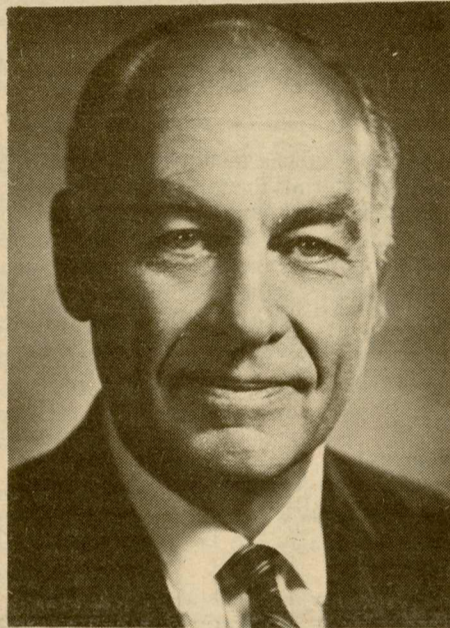

Everyone in the College community and all presidential debate well-wishers are cordially invited to attend the festivities.

PHI SIGMA biological sciences honor society will sponsor an open house and tours of Millington Hall during Parents' Weekend, Saturday, Oct. 23, from 4-6 p.m. Biology students will serve as guides and provide information concerning the programs associated with individual laboratory facilities.

Tours of the penthouse greenhouse and the new display area in the greenhouse entry will also be given. Displays feature live specimens and a collection of native aquatic species.

The public is invited to attend and share in light refreshments.

Gallup Assesses Nation's Election Mood

George H. Gallup

George H. Gallup, public opinion statistician and founder of the Gallup Poll, will talk about "The Mood of the Nation," October 26 at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Hampton High School.

Gallup is the second speaker in the current William and Mary-NASA sponsored lecture series, "Our Future in the Cosmos."

Gallup's address is open to the public without charge, but because of the limited seating capacity of the auditorium, tickets are necessary. Tickets may be obtained from the College's Office of Special Programs, either by writing to 12070 Jefferson Avenue, Newport News, Va. 23606, or by calling 877-9231.

As the November elections approach, Gallup will present his non-partisan view on the issues and problems that appear uppermost in the minds of the electorate.

He will explain how public opinion polls operate, their strengths and weaknesses and how polls can serve as useful instruments of society.

Basically, Gallup finds the public nearly always ahead of its legislative leaders in identifying issues and problems. He also finds that the public would change almost every aspect of the present electoral process. He believes that the low voter turnout expected in the November election is evidence of the public's current lack of confidence in politics and politicians.

Gallup earned his Ph.D. degree from the University of Iowa in 1928, and has been awarded honorary degrees from many colleges and universities. He has taught courses in journalism and psychology at several universities. Since 1937 public opinion affiliates of the Gallup Poll have been originated in 32 foreign countries.

Gallup is the author of several books, including "The Pulse of Democracy," "The Miracle Ahead," and his latest, "The Sophisticated Poll Watcher's Guide," published this year.

Goldwin To Keynote Parents' Weekend

Robert A. Goldwin, special consultant to the President of the United States and one of the nation's leading proponents of a liberal arts education, will deliver the keynote address Saturday morning during the Parents' Weekend program.

He'll speak to approximately 1,200 parents of William and Mary students just hours after his boss, President Gerald Ford, departs from Williamsburg following his final debate against Jimmy Carter on Friday night.

Goldwin's address will be just one part of a busy program that includes panel discussions, a potpourri of the performing arts, a greenhouse tour, a choir concert and a coffee house.

The theme of the weekend — "The Value of a Liberal Arts Education" — is a favorite topic for Goldwin, who was formerly the dean of St. John's College in Annapolis, Md. He has long supported a liberal arts program as one that offers "flexibility, and an ability to change and learn new things."

Goldwin, who received his doctorate and masters degrees from the University of Chicago, has often said that a liberal arts school can offer students salable and valuable skills, "the liberal skills of analyzing, experimenting, discussing, reading, and writing."

In his current position, Goldwin is responsible for maintaining a liaison between the White House and the academic community, the arts and the humanities. He is also serving as a member of the Board of Trustees of the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars in the Smithsonian Institution.

During the early seventies, Goldwin served as a special advisor to the ambassador for the U.S. mission to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. He was formerly an associate professor of political science at Kenyon College in Gambier, Ohio, and director of research for the American Foundation for Political Education in Chicago.

Parents will register for the weekend's events Thursday and Friday and attend regularly scheduled academic classes. Following a reception hosted by the steering committee of the Parents Association on Friday night, parents will watch a closed-circuit screening of the Presidential Debate in William and Mary Hall.

On Saturday, they will be greeted by President Thomas A. Graves, Jr., Parents' Association President Dan Restuccia, and Student Association

President Laurie Bond before Goldwin's 9:30 a.m. address in William and Mary Hall. Parents will then adjourn to small-group discussions of a liberal arts education centering around various academic disciplines.

The sessions and their chairmen are Business and Economics, Steven A. Kohlhagen; Communications, Mary Edwards, Bill and Mary Kay Sizemore; Education, Lynn Schultz; Government Service, Carter Lowance; Health, June Henderson; Law, Wayne O'Bryan; Music, Ann McCartney; Science and Research, Herndon Jenkins; Theatre and Art, Lynn Ellenson; and Career Planning, Stan Brown and Harriet Reid.

TV Commentators To Lead Pre-Debate Panel At W&M Hall

William and Mary Hall is likely to be the scene of as much excitement the evening of the third Presidential Candidates Debate, Oct. 22, as Phi Beta Kappa Hall, where the event is being held.

A closed circuit television showing of the debate will be broadcast in full color on a large motion picture screen at 9:30 p.m. in W&M Hall.

The candidates are expected to first visit PBK Hall briefly for an audio-visual check about 2:30 p.m. Friday. William and Mary's band will welcome them to the campus, and the College community is invited to join in the welcome.

Both candidates may appear at W&M Hall during the evening, and possibly their families, according to early indications. In addition, at least one network plans to have television crews and commentators on hand to obtain audience reaction for its post-debate network analysis. The commentators, whose names will be announced later, will also lead a pre-debate discussion with the audience, beginning at 9 p.m. in the Hall.

Reserved seating has been established for students, faculty, staff and special guests of the College. Those with reserved seating are asked to arrive at the hall well before 9 p.m., when all remaining seats will be open to the general public.

The William and Mary Hall event is being sponsored by the Office of Student Affairs as part of the plans for Parents' Weekend. A reception for all parents is being given in the Commons, next to W&M Hall, at 7:30 p.m.

Notices

INFORMATION ABOUT THE Root-Tilden Scholarship Program of the New York University School of Law is available in the Office of the Dean of Students and the Office of Career Counseling. Deadline for applying is December 31.

THE PLACEMENT OFFICE, 104 Morton Hall, is presenting two lectures for students interested in securing jobs upon graduation. The first, Tuesday, Oct. 19, at 3:30 p.m. in Morton 20, is entitled "Job Searching Techniques." The second, Monday, Oct. 25, at 4 p.m. in Morton 20, concerns "Resume Writing." All students are encouraged to attend these two sessions.

THE TRIBAL EYE, a Time-Life film series interpreting tribal cultures through the eyes of their artists, begins this week on Oct. 21. Seven films will be shown during the coming months, of the Northwest Indians, the Dogon, Incas and Aztecs, the New Hebrides and Solomons, the Quashqa'i and Iran, and the Benin. Sponsored by the anthropology and fine arts departments, the films will be shown in Millington Auditorium at 4:30 and 7:30 p.m. There is no admission charge. Films are scheduled for Nov. 4, Dec. 2, Feb. 10, Feb. 24, March 24, and April 14.

INTERNATIONAL CIRCLE Cottage, 206 S. Boundary Street, will be open this Sunday, Oct. 24, and each Sunday from 1-8 p.m. for coffee and conversation. International students and other members of the College community are invited to attend any time.

RED CROSS BLOODMOBILE will visit here on Nov. 16, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Williamsburg United Methodist Church, 514 Jamestown Road. At the last bloodmobile visit, Sept. 29, William and Mary donors gave 16 pints. Emeric Fischer of the law school reached the 6 gallon mark in donations, and Donald Ball, English, reached the 2 gallon mark. Individuals who donated at the last visit are reminded that they are ineligible for the next visit, since only seven weeks will have elapsed.

FREE LANGUAGE CLASSES, sponsored by International Circle, will be held weekly, beginning today. Classes are: French, 3-4 p.m. Fridays, French House Lobby, Botetourt Unit 6; Spanish, 7-8 p.m. Thursdays, International Circle Cottage, 206 S. Boundary St.; Chinese, 5-6 p.m. Tuesdays, International Circle Cottage; Yoruba, 7-8 p.m. Tuesdays, International Circle; English, 8-9 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 20, and Mondays thereafter, International Circle Cottage. Tentative plans also call for classes in Japanese, German and Portuguese. All interested persons are invited to attend.

SURPLUS PROPERTY SALE — Over 150 miscellaneous equipment items are listed on the latest surplus property sale notice from the State Department of Purchases and Supply. The sale is "as is and where is" without warranty. Bids will be opened Oct. 22, at 2 p.m. Successful bidders will be required to remit within 10 calendar days and remove property within 20 calendar days from the day of notice of award. The 1970 Virginia Conflict of Interest Act prohibits any employee, spouse or relatives residing in the employee's household, to purchase property belonging to the agency by which that person is employed. A schedule of items on sale, including several from William and Mary, is available in the Purchasing Office, the College News Office and the Plant Office.

Development Office

NATIONAL SCIENCE FOUNDATION

Student Originated Studies Program. Provides experience in independent, self-directed study for teams of college students. Each project is problem-oriented and seeks an understanding of and possible solutions to a local problem that is of immediate relevance to society. Proposals may be submitted in any combination of the natural, applied and social sciences (including the history and philosophy of science) but must present an interdisciplinary approach to problem-solving. Brochure SE 77-22 may be examined in the Grants Office. Deadline: December 1.

Research Equipment in Environmental Biology. Grants for the purchase of specialized equipment are available to undergraduate institutions. Applications must include a detailed description of the equipment, of research projects for which the equipment will be used, and of the purpose and significance of the projects. Consultation with NSF prior to submitting a formal application is recommended. Contact: Division of Environmental Biology, NSF, 202-632-4338. Deadline: December 1.

INSTITUTE OF CHILD HEALTH AND HUMAN DEVELOPMENT, N.I.H.

Research on consequences of adolescent pregnancy and childbearing, utilizing data that is already available. Proposals may address the consequences of teenage childbearing from the standpoint of the parents or others responsible for the care of the child; studies may also deal with societal consequences of childbearing. Proposals sought from sociology, demography, psychology, anthropology and any other discipline concerned with human development, family and social welfare. Refer to NICHD-BS-76-12. Contact: Behavioral Sciences Branch, Center for Population Research, NICHD, Landow Bldg., Room C-725 Bethesda, Md 20014. Deadline: January 14.

Asia House Presents Sitar Concert

Allyn Miner and Sri Raj Bhan Singh will present a sitar concert, Thursday, Oct. 21, at 7:30 p.m. in the Campus Center Ballroom.

Sponsored by Asia House, the concert is open to the public free of charge.

A doctoral candidate in sitar from Banaras Hindu University, Miner has spent the past four years in India, partially under a Fulbright Foundation grant. She holds a master's degree in Indian studies from the University of Wisconsin.

Singh has taught sitar at the music college at Banaras Hindu University since 1958. Born in 1931 in a village near the city of Allahabad in north central India, Singh began his training in sitar at the age of seven with his father, a renowned sitar player of the area. At 19 he became a staff artist for the All India Radio and later composed for and directed the radio orchestra.

Shortly after joining the radio staff, he was accepted as a student of renowned sitar player Pandit Shivareem Ramachandra Mavalankar.

Singh's performances are characterized by continuous improvisations within a strict traditional framework.

News, photographs and advertisements should be sent to the News Office, 308 Old Rogers Hall.

The deadline for all submissions is Wednesday at 5 p.m. for publication the following Tuesday.

Douglas Barton, Laura Carman, Sharon Peake and Chris Hux are soloists in the choir's performance of Stravinsky's Mass. Not pictured is soloist Wayne Meyer.

Choir, Chorus Fall Concert Features Stravinsky's Mass

Stravinsky's Mass will be among the works featured in the Fall Concert by the Choir and Chorus at the College of William and Mary, Oct. 23 and 24, at 8:15 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

The performance has been moved up a week from its originally scheduled dates. Tickets may be purchased for $1.50 at the switchboard in James Blair Hall, or at the front desk of the Campus Center on Jamestown Road in advance. They may also be purchased preceding the performances at the PBK box office.

The Mass, written in 1948, is Stravinsky's only work in this form and includes unusual vocal and instrumental combinations, typical of Stravinsky of this period.

Soloists for the Mass are soprano Laura Carman '79, Farmingdale, N.Y.; alto Sharon Peake '77, Rochester, N.Y.; tenors Chris Hux '79 and Wayne Meyer '78, both of Fairfax, Va.; and bass Douglas Barton '78, Springfield, Va.

Special instrumentation for the Mass will include oboes, and English horn, bassoons, trumpets and trombones.

Other works on the choir program include "Two Seasonal Madrigals" by Arnold Freed; an English folksong, "Turtle Dove," with baritone soloist James Keena '78, Whippany, N.J.; Bach's Sixth Motet, "Lobet den Herrn"; and two choruses from Benjamin Britten's opera, "Peter Grimes."

The Chorus will sing Brahms' opus 17, "Four Songs for Women's Voices," assisted by Jackie Pates, harpist for the Richmond Symphony. The Chorus will also sing the Miserere by Johann Hasse, accompanied by a string ensemble.

New Library Exhibit Dedicated To Pug Dog

Items from the collection of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe J. Dusek of Norfolk, Conn., and William D. Eppes of New York will be featured in an exhibit entitled "Pugs, People and the Peter Chapin Collection," which opens in the Zollinger Museum of Swem Library, October 20.

The Duchess of Windsor is honorary chairman of the exhibit.

The Peter Chapin Collection, which will also be represented in the exhibit, is a collection which was established at the College in 1937 by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chapin of Providence, R.I., and now includes at least one book about every breed of dog recognized by the American Kennel Club. It is the archive for the official breed magazine "Pug Talk." The collection of over 2,500 titles carries a distinctive bookplate with an engaging picture of a black cocker spaniel named Peter Chapin.

The oldest and one of the most valuable pieces listed in the exhibition catalogue is a Meissen ornament, circa 1780, of a pug reclining on a pedestal. The smallest piece in the exhibit is a nineteenth century Viennese bronze of a pug, one fourth of an inch high.

One of the most unusual items in the show is a Meerschaum pipe made in Bremen, Germany around 1875, with two pug figures carved on the stem.

Pug figures in English bisque, Italian terra cotta and Staffordshire china will also be included in the exhibit, all on loan from the Dusek and Eppes collections.

Prints in the exhibit will include a Hogarth print, "The Painter and the Pug," a Thomas Nast cartoon and a George Lance print, "The Decadent Pugs."

The pug dog, to whom the exhibit is dedicated, is of Chinese origin and dates back to the pre-Christian era. Dutch traders brought the pug from the East to Holland and on to England. The American Kennel Club first recognized the breed in 1885. The pug's popularity grew rapidly, but then dwindled around the turn of the century. A few dedicated breeders kept the breed going, however, and slowly the pug reappeared on the American scene.

"Pugs, People and the Peter Chapin Collection" will be open to the public daily, Monday through Friday through December 1, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., and on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Student Opera Company Stages 'The Sorcerer,' October 27-30

Gilbert and Sullivan's operetta "The Sorcerer" will be produced by the Sinfonicon Opera Company, Wednesday through Saturday, Oct. 27-30, at 8:15 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Hall.

Originally scheduled for Oct. 20-23, the show has been postponed a week to accommodate the Oct. 22 Presidential Candidates Debate in PBK.

Tickets are on sale this week and next at the PBK box office, Ext. 463, from 3-5 p.m. weekdays. Admission is $2 for

Visiting Scholar Lectures Set

Two public lectures will be given at the College next week as part of the Visiting Scholar Lecture program.

Juan Lopez-Morillas, the William R. Kenan Jr. University Professor of Hispanic Studies and Comparative Literature at Brown University will speak Monday, Oct. 25, at 8 p.m. in Andrews Hall, Room 101, on "Unamuno and World War I: A Portrait of the Thinker as a Propagandist."

Paul Edwin Potter, professor of geology at the University of Cincinnati, will speak Friday, Oct. 29, at 8 p.m. in William Small Hall, Room 113, on "New Developments in Paleocurrents."

Prior to joining the faculty at Brown, Lopez-Morillas taught at the University of Iowa. He has received numerous honors and awards, including two Guggenheim fellowships and grants from the American Philosophical Society and the American Council of Learned Societies.

Paul Edwin Potter was a geologist with the Illinois Geological Survey and taught at Indiana University and the Universidade de Sao Paulo before joining the University of Cincinnati faculty. He has served as consultant to the Shell Oil Company, the Cie Francaise des Petroles, Newmont Oil Company, and the Texas Gas Transmission Corporation.

British Historian Is Bibliographical Society Speaker

David B. Quinn, professor of modern history at the University of Liverpool, England, will be guest speaker at the second program of the Botetourt Bibliographical Society, Friday, Oct. 22, at 3:30 p.m. in the Rare Books Room of Swem Library.

Quinn will speak on "Early Printing in Ireland." This is a return visit to the campus for Quinn, who was the College's first James Pinckney Harrison Professor of History during the 1969-70 academic year. He is currently in residence at St. Mary's College, Maryland.

Quinn is the author of many works on English exploration during the reign of Elizabeth I, among them studies of Sir Humphrey Gilbert and Sir Walter Raleigh and the Roanoke Colony. He is a native of Belfast, Ireland, and a graduate of the University of London.

Computer Artist Slates Lecture, Exhibit, Oct. 21

Computer artist Lloyd Sumner will lecture on "Computer Art: The Painting of Ideas" and exhibit a collection of his prints on Thursday, Oct. 21, at 8 p.m. in the Botetourt Theatre of Swem Library.

His lecture is sponsored by the fine arts department, and the public is invited to attend.

Sumner received a bachelor's degree in computer science from the University of Virginia in 1967. As a student he developed a technique of using computers to produce abstract art. His book on the subject, "Computer Art and Human Response," was published in 1968.

He has exhibited throughout the world in galleries and museums of contemporary art, including Montreal; London; Zagreb, Yugoslavia; and the museum of science in Israel.

Personnel Bulletin

The following dates have been designated as "Employees' Days" for football games at William and Mary:

November 6, 1976 — Appalachian State

November 13, 1976 — The Citadel

A total of 100 complimentary tickets for each game will be issued to permanent College employees who have an annual salary that does not exceed $5880 as of October 1, 1976. College employees with long service and retirees who fall within the stated salary limitation will be given preference. Eligible individuals may obtain the complimentary tickets by applying in person at the Personnel Office.

Employees are advised that they may purchase additional tickets at reduced rates through the William and Mary box office.

students and $3 for adults; group rates are also available.

A magic show by senior Dan Davis will precede "The Sorcerer." Davis performed with the gypsy caravan this summer at Busch Gardens.

The operetta is "a Victorian version of Shakespeare's 'Midsummer Night's Dream,'" said a Sinfonicon member. Set in the English village of Ploverleigh, the operetta opens with the villagers celebrating the marriage of Alexis (David Rock '77) and Aline (Beth Fischer '78). So that everyone may share his happiness, Alexis buys a love potion from sorcerer John Wellington Wells (Richard Giles of Williamsburg). Confusion results when the villagers drink the potion and fall in love with the wrong persons, including Aline.

The student production is a joint effort of Delta Omicron and Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia honorary music fraternities.

Senior Tom David is director of "The Sorcerer," while Donna Forbes serves as musical director, Arthur Roach as orchestra director, and Mark Stanley and Laurie Smith as technical directors.
