BOND ISSUE EXPLAINED

The Student Association and the Student Bar Association will sponsor information booths on campus this week to clarify the issues involved in the $125 million bond referendum on which Virginians will vote, Nov. 8. William and Mary's new law school is among the projects that would receive funding if the bond issue is passed.

Booths will be set up at the Commons, Swem Library and the Campus Center on Sept. 28 and 29, from 11 a.m.-2 p.m. both days.

STUDY ABROAD QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Three programs have been scheduled to answer students' questions about various opportunities to study abroad.

On Tuesday, Sept. 27, Professor Carlyle Beyer, director of Honors and Experimental Programs, and Joseph Healey, associate dean for Extramural Programs, will discuss the Rhodes and Marshall Scholarships for study in Great Britain at 7:30 p.m. in the Project Plus lounge.

On Wednesday, Oct. 5, Modern Languages Professors Maria Palmaz and Robert Welch will answer questions about William and Mary's Junior Year in France and the Montpellier summer program, at 7 p.m. in the French House lounge.

The following Wednesday, Oct. 12, Dean Healey will discuss how to apply to British universities, covering general questions on studying in England. The meeting will be held at 4 p.m. in the Campus Center, Room C.

PRESIDENT'S RECEPTION FOR PARENTS

President and Mrs. Graves will host a Parents' Weekend reception on Friday, Sept. 30 from 4-6 p.m. in the Wren Courtyard. Parents and students, as well as members of the faculty and administration, are invited to attend. In the event of rain, the reception will be held in the lobby of Andrews Hall.

"Inside Look" In Store For Parents

More than 1100 parents are expected on campus Sept. 30-Oct. 2 for the annual Parents' Weekend activities, according to program coordinators Kristine Aulenbach, assistant dean of admissions, and Brooke Trible, a junior from Dunnsville, Va.

A wide variety of events have been planned for parents, ranging from small group discussions with university officials to a show by students and a big band dance.

In keeping with the theme "Getting to Know William and Mary: An Inside Look" parents have been invited to attend regular class sessions with their sons and daughters on Friday. A question and answer forum designed especially for parents of new students will be held that afternoon. Panelists responding to parent's questions will include David Kranbuehl, associate professor of chemistry and associate dean of the faculty of arts and sciences; James Thompson, associate professor of history; and seniors Meg Regan of Fairfax, and Paul Palmer of Denton, Md. James Livingston, dean of the undergraduate program, is moderator for the discussion.

Later in the day, President and Mrs. Thomas A. Graves Jr. will be hosts for a reception for parents in the Wren Courtyard.

On Friday evening students will entertain parents with a variety show. The "Performing Progeny," as the show has been billed, will include performances by the Botetourt Chamber singers, directed by Music Department Chairman Frank Lendrim; the Karate Club; Ebony Expressions, a singing group; and a juggling act by Tom Pearce, a senior from Grove City, Pa.

Other acts will feature folksinger Patty Dunn, a senior from Manassas; magic show by Dan Davis, a recent graduate who is now resident advisor for Project Plus; "Fit Your Fancy," a music program by members of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority; and a gymnastics performance under the direction of women's physical education instructor Sylvia Shirley.

On Saturday morning, parents will be officially welcomed to the College by President Graves and by Dan Restuccia of Lynchburg, president of the Parents' Association. Afterwards they will have an opportunity to meet in smaller group sessions with College administrators, who will explain how their respective offices serve students.

Participants and the sessions they will conduct include: "Educational Options and Special Programs," Joseph P. Healey, associate dean for Extramural Programs; "Faculty Advising," Dean Kranbuehl; "Financial Aid," Edith Marsh of the student financial aid office; "Health Service," by director Dr. Richard Cilley; "The Placement Office," Stan Brown, director; "Career Counseling," by Harriet Reid, director; "Center for Psychological Services," by Professor Jay Chambers; "House-mothers, 1977 Style," by Barbara Nanzig, director of housing assignments; and "Security" by Campus Police Chief Harvey Gunson.

THE CAMPUS HAS CHANGED considerably since parents of many of the students now at William and Mary were undergraduates at the College in the 1940's and 1950's. At that time the campus had changed little from the way it was in 1935, when this photograph was taken. James Blair Hall (then known as Marshall-Wythe) was opened as an office and classroom building in 1935. Later that same year, Cary Field was opened as the athletic stadium and park area, and the Sunken Garden was laid out on the mall directly west of the Wren Building. The College then numbered about 1300 students.

Additional dormitories changed the complexion of the campus in 1953, when Bryan, Dawson, and Stith Halls were opened. Six years later, Camm and Madison Halls were opened.

It was not until 1957 that the campus expanded beyond the bounds pictured above. In that year Phi Beta Kappa Hall became the first building opened on the new campus.

WELCOME PARENTS!

Newsmakers

The professional appointments, lectures, achievements and publications of William and Mary faculty and staff are featured regularly in this column.

Faculty members in all schools and departments and professional staff in all offices are invited to submit written notices of appropriate professional activities to the News Office, 308 Old Chemistry Building.

It is the policy of the William and Mary News to include only activities of a professional capacity to an audience directly related to the speaker's field of expertise. Attendance at conferences will be included only if a faculty member or administrator has contributed to the program in a significant way, such as delivering a paper or address, or chairing a session.

BOWLING LEAGUE--The College faculty and staff bowling league needs three complete teams to bowl on Monday nights at 6:30 p.m. Those interested in participating are asked to contact Eloise Jacobs at Adair Gymnasium, Ext. 4360, or John Holden at Colony Lanes, 229-2695.

CHINESE LANDSCAPE PAINTING--On Thursday, Sept. 29, the weekly program at Asia House will feature Professor Ju-i Hsiung, Lexington, Va., who will give a lecture-demonstration on Chinese landscape painting. The program will be held in the Asia House lobby in Unit B of the fraternity complex at 7:30 p.m. All interested persons are welcome to attend. A reception will follow the program.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED--The Williamsburg Area Day Care Center is looking for student volunteers to work with two to five-year old children, reading to them, playing the piano for singing games, and teaching the older children simple handicrafts. Volunteers are also needed to provide transportation to the library and on field trips, and to work as kitchen helpers during lunch time. Those interested are asked to call Mrs. Martha Armstrong at 229-1811, or Mrs. Olivia Crump at 229-2703.

Personnel Bulletin

Annual Service Ratings for 1977

Each year, all permanent classified employees at William and Mary who have been employed on or before September 1, receive a service rating. This rating is prepared annually by an appropriate supervisor. Each employee is rated on habits of work, amount of work, quality of work, cooperation, intelligence, and initiative. Adjectival ratings are poor, fair, good, very good, and excellent. When an employee's service rating includes more than two appraisals of "fair" or any appraisals of "poor," the employee may not receive a merit increase. The service rating must be discussed with the employee by the supervisor. This is not a decision to be made by the rating official. Each employee is required to sign his or her name at the top of the completed service rating form to indicate that they have seen and discussed the rating with the supervisor.

The entire rating system depends on the proper administration by supervisory personnel, and the cooperation of all employees. Employees performing their duties well should be commended, and, at the same time, employees should be informed immediately when their performance contains certain weaknesses. In the latter case supervisors are encouraged to advise employees of their performance deficiencies in writing and a copy of such notice should be sent to the Personnel Office for the employee's file.

Instructions for preparation of the annual service ratings for this year will be forwarded to rating officials during the month of October.

Film Series Views Art and Artists

The Department of Fine Arts is sponsoring a film series this year on art and artists. The series is open to the public at no admission charge.

Upcoming shows include "Expressionism" on Sept. 28 and "Jasper Johns" on Oct. 5. Each film will be shown twice, at 4 p.m. and 7 p.m., in Andrews Hall of Fine Arts, Room 201.

Future films are expected to focus on Robert Rauschenburg, the New York School of Art, American Art in the Sixties, Andy Warhol and Roy Lichtenstein, and others. (See weekly Calendar of Events for subsequent listings.)

Research Grants Applications

Application forms and policy statements for Summer Faculty Research Grants, Semester Faculty Research Assignments and Minor Grants for Research are now available in the office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs, Brafferton, room 6.

The deadline for the summer grants is midnight on October 24. Sixteen copies of the application should be sent directly to Franz Gross, chairman, Committee on Faculty Research, in care of the physics department.

The deadline for semester assignments is midnight on November 15. All semester assignments carry a stipend equal to half of the applicant's normal salary for the academic year. The semester assignment may be taken during any semester over the two-year period after the award. Worthy proposals will be funded on the basis of seniority of service to the College, as described in the policy statement. Sixteen copies of the application should be sent directly to Franz Gross at the physics department.

The deadline for minor grants applications is midnight, September 30.

At Meeting of Endowment Association Board

New Investment Policy Adopted

The board of trustees of the College's Endowment Association, meeting Friday, adopted a new investment policy intended to assure that the endowment of the university will continue to grow.

The board also named six new members, five of them alumni, including Robert C. Walker of Williamsburg, chairman of the board and president of the United Virginia Bank, a member of City Council and Vice Mayor of Williamsburg. Other members are A. Marshall Acuff, Jr., '62, Riverside, Conn.; Thomas F. Daly, '25, Rumson, N.J.; Mark H. McCormack, '51, Cleveland, Ohio; G. Elliott Schaubach, Jr., '59, Norfolk; and Hillsman V. Wilson, '51, Baltimore, Md.

In a report on finances it was noted that since 1970 the assets of the Endowment Association corpus have double to $6,919,337.

For Conference on High School Graduation Requirements

Virginia Educators Meet Here Oct. 3

Representatives from most of the school divisions across the state will be represented at a conference Oct. 3 on the minimum requirements for high school graduation in Virginia, being hosted by the School of Education at the College.

Over 200 educators have responded to the invitation to hear leading authorities in the field and discuss with them some of the aspects of the State Board of Education's directive that beginning with the class of 1981, Virginia graduates must pass certain minimum requirements before they can receive their diplomas.

Frank Womer of the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, past president of the National Council of Measurement in Education, will talk on the subject "Requirements for Graduation--Who's Done What." He will bring educators an update on the national scene in competency testing and discuss some of the educational

Sunday Series Features Violinist

Violinist Hiroko Yajima will perform in the Sunday Series, Oct. 11, at 3 p.m. in the Campus Center Ballroom.

The public is invited to attend. Although there is no admission charge, a silver collection is taken at the end of each performance.

A native of Tokyo, Yajima won a national competition to appear as soloist with the Japan Philharmonic Orchestra at age 18. She studied at the Juilliard School with Dorothy Delay and Ivan Galamian, and has served as artist-in-residence with various Michigan orchestras. Her nationwide engagements include an appearance with the Boston Pops Symphony and a solo recital at the New York Metropolitan Museum of Art.

political and practical considerations involved.

Thomas H. Fisher, director, Florida Statewide Assessment Program, will address the question "Establishing Minimum Requirements--How Can I Proceed?"

Minimal competencies can be developed and adopted quite readily, asserts Fisher, but adds that vigorous leadership must be exerted to overcome general resistance to the concept by many educators.

James C. Impara of the Division of Administrative and Education Services, Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, will discuss teacher training for effective educational measurement, administrative details and the role of alternative educational programs.

Numan Bradner, director of secondary education for the State Department of Education, will open the conference. He will give his department's view of the subject.

George W. Elford of the Educational Testing Service will talk about what's available in the way of programs and materials for basic skills assessment.

Dean James M. Yankovich of the

International Circle Seminars Planned

The International Circle's Seminar Series for fall has begun.

Four seminars have been planned for October. President Thomas A. Graves Jr. will discuss special problems facing William and Mary, in the context of the future of higher education in Virginia, at the Oct. 2 seminar.

Subsequent programs will feature Modern Languages Professor Alex Kallos on life in Holland, Oct. 9; Dean of the Undergraduate Program James Livingston on "The Future of the World Religion: Conflict, Merger or What?," Oct. 16; and Fine Arts Professor Richard Newman on "Artists and International Language," Oct. 23.

In November, Anthropology Professor Vinson Sutlive will discuss "The Sky Is Falling," Nov. 6. Government Professor Alan Abramowitz will discuss "Human Rights as a Political Issue: Implications for U.S. Foreign Policy," Nov. 13. Dean of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences Jack Edwards will conclude the fall seminars, Nov. 20, with a discussion of American courts and policymaking.

All seminars are held in the International Circle Cottage on South Boundary Street from 7 to 8 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

School of Education will welcome participants to the conference, which will be held in the Campus Center.

Presiders for the various sessions will include Gene Carter, director of secondary education, Norfolk Public Schools; Claude Sandy, supervisor of testing, Virginia State Department of Education; E.E. Brickell, superintendent of Virginia Beach Public Schools; Roger Ries, College of William and Mary; and Mrs. Elizabeth S. Morie, general supervisor, King William-West Point Public Schools.

S. Stuart Flanagan of the School of Education, who has been a member of the State Testing Committee, is conference coordinator.

AAUP Speaker Discusses Tenure

William Van Alstyne, professor of law at Duke University and currently visiting professor of law at William and Mary, will address the first meeting this semester of the William and Mary Chapter of the American Association of University Professors. Van Alstyne, who is also a past president of the national AAUP, will discuss "Tenure in a Changing University Environment."

All members of the College community, including those who are not AAUP members, are cordially invited to attend the meeting which will be held at 8 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 3, in the Dodge Room of Phi Beta Kappa Hall. Sherry will be served at 7:30 p.m.

Officers of the William and Mary Chapter for the 1977-78 academic year are Morton Eckhouse, president; Satoshi Ito, vice president; Sandra Peterson, secretary; and Doug Rendleman, treasurer.

Wednesday Forum Topic Is Genetics

"Gene Engineer," a documentary film, will be shown at the College of William and Mary Project Plus Forum, Wednesday, Oct. 12, at 7:30 p.m. in Millington Hall auditorium. The public is invited to attend.

The film, which will be shown in color, deals with the revolution that has occurred in recent years in genetics and makes clear the social and political implications of genetic engineering.

William and Mary professors Brad Coursen, biology, and Hans Tiefel, religion, will comment on the film and lead the discussion.

Botetourt Society Program Set

The Botetourt Bibliographical Society will hold its first meeting of the current academic year Monday, October 3, at 8 p.m. in Morton Hall, room 340. The public is invited to attend.

John Hemphill, visiting associate professor of history, will take a look at how the historian can solve the riddle of whether a well-known 18th century "novel" is fact or fiction in his talk, "Serendipity and the Historian as Detective."

At William and Mary, Hemphill is teaching courses this year in Colonial American history. He has held previous teaching positions at a number of universities, including the Universities of Tennessee and California, Marshall University and Northwestern University.

From 1952-1958, Hemphill was employed by the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation as a research associate. He is co-author of "Bookbinding in Colonial Virginia," published for the Foundation in 1965.

Classifieds

All members of the College community may place personal advertisements in the William and Mary News.

The deadline for submitting advertisements is 4 p.m. on the Wednesday preceding publication. For a $2 fee, each ad is run in three consecutive issues. Payment must be received before the ad can be printed.

Individual advertisements should be limited to not more than 40 words.

Advertisements for non-commercial announcements of goods, rentals and real estate, either offered or sought, and for lost and found items will be accepted.

Advertisements for profit-making business ventures, such as guitar lessons and babysitting services, can not be accepted.

There is no charge for listing found items.
