Response to Virginia Plan

Board meets, Ash Lawn is dedicated

The Board of Visitors Friday announced that the College will participate in the recent agreement between Virginia and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, regarding an integration formula for the state's colleges, with the understanding that certain interpretations are consistent with the plan's applicability to William and Mary. (See complete text of statement on p. 6.)

Friday's meeting in Swem Library was the beginning of a busy schedule for the board which included visits to two locations, important in the lives of two alumni.

"The board of visitors of Thomas Jefferson's alma mater made a visit yesterday to Mr. Jefferson's University," said the Richmond Times Dispatch in its Sunday edition.

In a rare trip the College board held a 90 minute meeting in the Rotunda at the University of Virginia, at the invitation of Frank Hereford, President of UVA, before dedication ceremonies at Ash Lawn, the Charlottesville home of alumnus James Monroe, the nation's fifth president.

The Board's visit to UVA was significant in that it was believed to be the first time a governing body of another college or university has held a session at the university.

A precedent was set in the 1930's with the board of overseers of Harvard University went to Williamsburg to meet in the Wren Building.

President Graves made his formal report on the affairs of the college and reports were made by standing committees but no formal action was taken.

After a luncheon at the Boar's Head Inn, the Board joined about 140 persons for dedication ceremonies at Ash Lawn.

The dedication marks the end of a three-phase project at Ash Lawn which included archaeological research, reconstruction and restoration.

The report on Ash Lawn to the board noted that the estate has proven itself to be a financially viable entity with a profit of more than $32,000 from revenues of $145,000 in the 1976-77 Bicentennial Year and anticipated profits in excess of $20,000 for the current fiscal year. The report said that not only can the College be assured of a stable financial operation, but can expect visitation to increase with the completion of the major new facilities which include new restrooms, gift shop, guest reception area and expanded parking facilities.

Since the opening of Ash Lawn, the Charlottesville-Highland alumni chapter has held its meetings at the home. Chapter President Charles F. Huxsaw praised the work of many people in the restoration of Ash Lawn but in particular the work of alumni John and Barbara Seidler in establishing the chapter.

Huxsaw presented to Ash Lawn, in the name of Mr. and Mrs. Seidler, a 19th century steel engraving of Monroe. Another similar engraving was presented for the house to honor the work of Mrs. Carolyn Holmes as resident manager for the past three years.

Edward E. Brickell, rector of the Board of Visitors, announced the establishment of a $2,000 Ash Lawn Historical Fellowship to be awarded annually from operating revenues of Ash Lawn. He said the award should go to a William and Mary graduate student whose major concentration is the study of American history before 1825, and when possible, to one whose interest is in the administration of historical sites.

Board Commends Parents' Stewardship

A reception was held on the front lawn of the home following the dedication. In the house for the dedication was a large portrait of Monroe, on special loan to Ash Lawn from Fort Monroe, Hampton.

In other action this weekend the board approved three faculty promotions, Elsa Diduk, modern languages and Norman Barka, anthropology to the rank of full professor and Frank Triolo, modern languages, to associate professor.

A 1978-79 Education and General Maintenance and Operating budget of $20,818,285 was approved and the board also gave approval to an increase in expenditures of 7.9 percent of 1977-78 for Auxiliary Enterprises.

The Board commended the Association of Parents for its "notable achievements" to date "and expressed its gratitude to the members of the Steering Committee, both past and present, for their "admirable stewardship."

A feasibility study requested by the board is due this month on ways of providing additional and effective art gallery space as part of the Andrews Hall-Phi Beta Kappa complex. This was included in a list of campus improvement and capital outlay projects presented to the board. The list is printed on page 5.

The board approved a budget of $1,308,807 for the Men's Athletic Association and $274,662 for the Women's Athletic Association. Budgets are detailed on page 5.

The renovation of Cary Field Stadium at an estimated cost of $943,000 based on current construction costs was discussed and the board was told that the President and Vice President for Development are exploring the possibility of obtaining a gift for the renovation and even expansion. But in the meantime the board was told, "it is prudent" to contemplate borrowing the funds for the renovation phase through a Commonwealth of Virginia tax exempt bond loan with a 20-25 year repayment schedule. The board directed preparation of a financial feasibility study as prerequisite to the submission of a capital outlay request to the Governor and the 1979 session of the General Assembly, in the event that a gift for this project does not materialize. The President was also asked to prepare a report which represents the alternatives to funding the repayment of such a loan over a 20-25 year period. (See full report page 4.)

The Board agreed on a change in the by-laws of its organization changing the number of meetings during the year from four to five.

Several citations were read into the minutes of the board including those citing retiring members of the faculty and a former member of the board, Mrs. Duncan who died earlier this year.

The Board of Visitors has approved for submission to the State Council for Higher Education a master's program in anthropology with a specialization in historical archaeology.

The Master of Arts program, which was endorsed earlier by the Faculty of Arts and Sciences, will be the second master's degree program in anthropology in Virginia and the first with a specialization in historical archaeology.

If approved, the program would begin September 1979.

RENOVATION OF CARY FIELD STADIUM

Cary Field Stadium, which was built in 1935, has been very useful to the College's football, baseball and track programs over the past forty-three years. A recent architectural and engineering study of the stadium has shown that the stadium is in need of major renovations if it is to continue to be used safely and effectively in the future. Such a renovation is estimated to cost about $943,000, based on current construction costs, and would accommodate expansion at a later date, should that prove desirable and financially feasible, especially considering the lack of parking available for expansion.

The President and the Vice President for Development are exploring the possibility of obtaining a gift for the renovation phase and perhaps even the expansion phase. In the meantime, it is prudent to contemplate borrowing the funds for the renovation phase through a Commonwealth of Virginia tax exempt bond loan. Such financing would require pledging endowment fund assets of an amount matching the principal and interest of the loan over the 20-25 year repayment schedule. It would also be necessary to submit a capital outlay request to the Governor and the General Assembly at the 1979 Session. A financial feasibility study attesting to the income-generating capacity related to the stadium facility and the athletic program would also be required.

RESOLVED, That the Board of Visitors of the College of William and Mary in Virginia hereby recognizes the necessity of renovating Cary Field Stadium and directs the President to seek a donor for the renovation of this facility; and

RESOLVED FURTHER, That the Board directs the President and his administrative officers to prepare a financial feasibility study attesting to the income-generating capacity related to the stadium facility as a prerequisite to the submission of a capital outlay request to the Governor and the 1979 Session of the General Assembly, both actions being necessary to qualify for a Commonwealth of Virginia tax exempt bond loan, in the event that a gift for this project does not materialize; and

RESOLVED FURTHER, That the President and his administrative officers prepare a report which presents the alternatives to funding the repayment of such a loan over a 20-25 year period and which includes the relative feasibility of such alternatives.

GENERAL CONDITION OF EXISTING FACILITIES:

The Stands

1. The east and west stands are constructed of reinforced concrete which has deteriorated on the surface and at expansion joints. This condition has caused spalling of the concrete along the edge of the risers and to some extent generally over the surface. Expansion joints have deteriorated to the point of allowing water to flow through, causing heavy damage to areas below the east stands.
2. Fiberglass seat covers and backs have lost their surface glaze, exposing glass fibers on the surface. This constitutes a hazard in that particles of fiberglass damage clothing, irritate the skin and give cause for numerous complaints. The cast iron seat supports have rusted and need cleaning, painting and general repair.
3. The north and south end zone bleachers are generally sound and suitable for continued use; however, seating and floor boards on the south bleachers require continuing replacement and painting. The north bleachers are supported on stacks of wood blocking to adjust for field elevation differences. These require frequent inspection to assure the stability of the stands.
4. The brick masonry enclosure walls have weathered mortar joints which have cracked and some bricks are loose and are subject to vandalism.

Team Locker Rooms

Concrete ceiling areas throughout the locker and storage areas has deteriorated from water seepage and at expansion joints there is some spalling of medium size pieces of concrete. Damage from water seepage is also prevalent in doors, door frames, locker equipment, carpet and generally throughout the interior. Plumbing fixtures in toilets and showers are original and have been in use for more than forty years. Deterioration, leakage and stoppage problems are prevalent. The existing washers and dryers are inadequate to handle the amount of laundry required for the teams. Generally the locker room facilities, including showers, toilets and laundry, are inadequate and outdated.

Heating

Heating for the area below the east stands is provided by a direct steam cast iron radiator system. This system, having been in operation for more than forty years, is outdated and without proper controls. Many radiator units are inoperative.

Ventilation

No mechanical ventilating systems exist for locker rooms, toilets, showers or storage areas.

Electrical

The existing system, having served more than forty years, is inadequate to meet the present requirements for power and lighting throughout the stadium.

Public Restrooms

Restrooms are located under the east stands and in the west side of the covered arcade. Those in the east stands contain the original fixtures and are in a condition requiring continuing maintenance. Restrooms in the arcade are inadequate and also require constant maintenance. Generally public restroom facilities are inadequate for the present stadium capacity.

Playing Field

Drainage of the present playing field is inadequate and water stands in many areas to the extent requiring pumping following a heavy rainfall. This is due to settlement over the years, resulting in an improperly crowned field without the benefit of an underground drainage system.

Running Track

The track is in a fair state of repair and is adequate for continued use. Heavy grading and repair work required for the playing field may cause some surface damage requiring re-conditioning of the track.

Scoreboard

The scoreboard is generally in good operating condition; however, some electrical lines on the board have deteriorated coverings. The paint condition is such that refinishing is desirable.

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR RENOVATIONS

The following pages list recommendations in two phases for renovations to bring the stadium facilities up to an acceptable level of operation. Phases are divided to cover the work necessary to correct deficiencies in the exterior facilities and interior facilities.

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR NEW CONSTRUCTION

Recommendations are listed on the following pages for new construction to bring the total seating capacity of the stadium up to 20,000, including a new press box, club room, camera deck, additional public toilets and concession facilities. Alternates are listed which may be considered to further improve the use of the facilities.

THE VIRGINIA PLAN

RESOLVED, by the Board of Visitors of the College of William and Mary that the College of William and Mary will participate in the Virginia Plan for Equal Opportunity in State-Supported Institutions of Higher Education (Revised 1978) with the understanding that the following interpretations are consistent with the Plan's applicability to the College of William and Mary.

1. The College is committed to the principle that equal opportunity in education shall be afforded those seeking admission to and those attending the College, without regard to race, color, religion, national origin, political affiliation, sex, handicap, or age. The College is also committed to the principle of equal opportunity in the employment of faculty, administrators and non-academic personnel.

2. The Plan does not require and the Board will not approve any compromise of the College's academic requirements for admission or for satisfactory academic performance subsequent to admission in any of the Schools comprising the College. The College is committed to excellence in teaching and learning.

3. Subject to the understandings in 1 and 2 above, the College is committed to make a good faith effort to achieve the objectives of the Plan for the entering undergraduate classes at the College with the understanding that when these objectives are subsequently reviewed and possibly modified as provided in the Plan, they will again be analyzed by the College administration and considered for action by the Board.

4. With reference to faculty and administrators, the College is committed to make a good faith effort to achieve the interim objective "that the proportion of blacks hired to fill faculty and administrative vacancies shall not be less than the proportion of black individuals with the credentials required for such positions in the relevant labor market area." In the course of this effort, the College will maintain its requirements of excellence in faculty and administrative personnel. The Board notes that further "objectives will be reviewed periodically to reflect changes and availability." Revisions resulting from any such review will be analyzed by the College administration and considered for action by the Board.

5. In participating in the Plan, the College through its Board of Visitors shall retain sole authority and responsibility for the admission and academic performance requirements and employment policies of the College, subject to the limitations of applicable law.

PIERRE C. OUSTINOFF

After receiving his Ph.D. from Columbia University in 1953, Pierre C. Oustinoff came to William and Mary that same year as an Assistant Professor of Modern Languages. He was promoted to Professor of Modern Languages in 1958, served as Chairman of the Department from 1959 to 1968, and was coordinator of the French-Italian area from 1973 to 1976.

In a world where more and more specialization is the rule, Mr. Oustinoff maintained teaching and scholarly competence in both French and Russian. This versatility has added greatly to the ability of his department to adjust to student interests; he has taught both language and literature courses in French from the freshman to the senior level. A specialist in eighteenth century French literature, he has maintained scholarly interest in the works of Diderot, particularly those relating to Russia. As Chairman and senior member of the Department, he has given valuable counsel to many younger scholars coming to the College.

BE IT RESOLVED, That the Board of Visitors acknowledge with deep regret the retirement of Pierre C. Oustinoff and gratefully approves a change of his status from Professor of Modern Languages and Literatures to Professor of Modern Languages and Literatures, Emeritus.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be spread on the Minutes of this Board and a copy be transmitted to Professor Oustinoff.

STANLEY B. WILLIAMS

Stanley B. Williams received his B.A. and M.A. at the University of California at Los Angeles, and his Ph.D. at Yale University. Between 1940 and 1948, he taught at the University of Maine, Brown University and Johns Hopkins University, as well as serving in the United States Navy. He became Professor of Psychology and Chairman of the Department of Psychology at William and Mary in 1948.

Before coming to the College as Chairman of the Department, Mr. Williams was told "that the policies of the Department are to be shaped by you. . ." During his chairmanship, the undergraduate program in psychology grew from a small one to one of the largest at the College, an excellent M.A. program was developed, and the faculty tripled in size. Since he served as Chairman from 1948 to 1976, the quality of the Department throughout this period is primarily the result of his leadership. In addition to his role within the Department of Psychology, he has been a leader in faculty and College governance, culminating in his receiving the Thomas Jefferson Award in 1978.

BE IT RESOLVED, That the Board of Visitors acknowledges with deep regret the retirement of Stanley B. Williams and gratefully approves a change of his status from Professor of Psychology to Professor of Psychology, Emeritus.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That a copy of this resolution be spread on the Minutes of this Board and a copy be transmitted to Professor Williams.

In Memoriam

Marion Moncure Duncan, a devoted daughter of the College of William and Mary in Virginia and a former Member of this Board of Visitors, died April 15, 1978 in Alexandria following an illness. Her legacy is the example she set of love and devotion to family, leadership she provided in public matters which were close to her heart, and the personal charm and warmth which she carried with her always.

Mrs. Duncan was appointed to the Board of Visitors of the College in 1966 and again in 1970. She accepted appointment to the Trustees of the Endowment Association of the College of William and Mary, and to the National Council for the Campaign for the College. In 1977, she was awarded the Alumni Medallion of the College's Society of the Alumni for her service and devotion to her Alma Mater. That same year, she took a leadership role in the program to furnish the President's House at the College.

A lifelong resident of Alexandria, she was active in the city's Bicentennial Commission and a variety of other civic programs. She managed the insurance department of her husband's business and was active in the insurance profession in Virginia.

From 1962 until 1965, Mrs. Duncan was President-General of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She also was active in the Colonial Dames of America and the Order of First Families of Virginia; a member of the Board of Directors of the Jamestown Corporation; and author of a major genealogical study of her family, published in 1968. She received awards from the Boy Scouts of America, the Sons of the American Revolution, Soroptomists International, and the Freedoms Foundation.

BE IT RESOLVED, That the Board of Visitors of the College of William and Mary in Virginia expresses its sorrow at the loss to the College and her friends of Marion Moncure Duncan, and its pride in her outstanding life of accomplishment and service, so much of which was shared with the College; and that

RESOLVED, a copy of this Resolution be appropriately prepared and presented to her husband, Robert V. H. Duncan, as a token of the Board's affection for Mrs. Duncan and members of her family.

Brooke Trible, a junior, has won a $1,300 scholarship from the Richmond branch of the English Speaking Union for summer study at a British university.

Brooke has been accepted at Oxford University. She is not sure yet what her program will be but it will be in the area of political and constitutional history or foreign policy. Classes begin July 3 and run through August 11.

She plans to leave the middle of June and is currently trying to make contact with another student who would like to do some traveling in England and on the Continent during the last two weeks of June.

A President's Aide this year, Brooke will be chairperson of the Honor Council next year. She has been a junior representative to the Honor Council this year and an R.A. in Yates basement. She is a member of Mortar Board and the Library Committee.

Scientists Awarded $150,000 in Grants

Scientists at the College have received grants totalling more than $150,000 to support extensive research on topics ranging from the ozone problems to the population patterns of birds.

The National Science Foundation has awarded a $60,000 grant to John B. Delos, associate professor of physics, to support a three-year program of research on molecular interactions. The purpose of the research is to learn how chemical reactions take place by studying in detail the simplest binary collisions between molecules.

Delos and his students, together with Canadian collaborator Walter R. Thorson, have been developing a new formulation of the molecular collision theory which should lead to improved predictions of chemical reaction rates.

The largest share of the grant will go directly to the College in the form of overhead and tuition for graduate students. The remainder will be used for salaries, student stipends and other costs of the research.

Jae H. Park, another member of the physics department, has received a grant for $36,375 from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The funds will support Park's ongoing investigation of measuring techniques used to analyze gases associated with the ozone layer of the atmosphere.

The Department of Energy has given a grant of $34,342 to Denis J. Brion of the Marshall-Wythe School of Law. Brion is currently conducting a detailed investigation of water allocation laws in 26 states east of the Mississippi River. The final goal of the project is to determine whether these laws are providing sufficient opportunities for energy conservation and development.

Trevor B. Hill, professor of chemistry, has received $18,000 from E. I. DuPont De Nemours and Company to develop experimental monomers for acrylic emulsions.

The National Audubon Society has awarded a $1,500 grant to Mitchell A. Byrd, professor of biology, to support a study of the population patterns of the osprey in Virginia.

ASP PROGRAM WORKS FOR STUDENTS, TUTORS

Thirty-eight certificates, representing over 2,000 hours of participation in the Adult Skills Program, were presented at an end of year program Thursday in Morton Hall.

Mrs. Rita Welsh and Donald Lashinger, co-directors of the program, were on hand with President Graves, Deans Yankovich and Emans of the School of Education, Vice President Healy and Personnel Directors from the State Office, Colonial Williamsburg and Camp Peary to make the presentations to students.

Mrs. Welsh said the program was a success because of the support it had received from the College and the enthusiasm and interest of students and tutors.

President Graves cited the importance of the ASP program and "the opportunity it presented the College to make a contribution to the community. If the College, through ASP, has been successful in adding in some small way to the quality of your life I am very happy," Graves told ASP students.

The first to receive a certificate for "steadfast effort shown toward self improvement" was Marion Christian who passed the GED test in March and plans to continue her education at secretarial school in Richmond.

Two other GED graduates, Benny Newman and Edward Smith, also received certificates. The roster of certificate recipients included Leonard Ashby, Calvin Atkins, Delores Bly, Leslie Allen, Maria Chang, James Crump, Virginia Dobie, Tony Fautleroy, Raleigh Harris, Bernice Holmes and Christine Jimmison.

Also Eleanor Johnson, Clarice Jones, Doris Lee, Albert Lucas, Shirley Moore, Juock Namkung, Tuyet Neuyen, Jude Parmele, Earl Randall, Esther Robinson, Herman Rosser, Gloria Sanderson, Mary Ann Smith, Thomas Smith, Rosetta Tabb, Clifford Tillman, Juan Torregrosa, Elizabeth Turner, George Wallace, Inez White, Ethel Williams, Odell Wilson, Andrew Woodson and Sarah Wynn.

The ASP has presented to the United Fund Board a proposal requesting operating funds for the continuation of the program. The following people have agreed to serve on the ASP board: Robert J. Armstrong, director, Virginia Employment Commission; Gilbert A. Bartlett, attorney; James W. Beer, assistant professor of education; Edith Edwards, volunteer artist; Clara Harris, former ASP student; Clifford B. Howlette, supervisor of adult education, Williamsburg-James City County; Donald R. Lashinger, associate professor of education; Nathan Lewis, representing the Williamsburg Lions Club; Augustus L. ## Richmond Senior Sets Sights on Ambassadorship

American foreign service officers actually need to be in two places at one time--in the foreign country where they're stationed and in the United States keeping abreast of current events.

That's one of the most exciting challenges facing Mary Jean Kelly, a senior from Richmond. Kelly recently passed one of the nation's most difficult entrance examinations to become eligible for the foreign service corps. Out of the 15,000 people who took the exam, only 600 passed both the written and oral segments.

Having passed the examination, Kelly is now undergoing an extensive security check. In December, her name will appear on a register which ranks all prospective candidates for foreign service and she will be assigned to one of four functional fields--economics, public administration, consulate activities, or politics.

Then Kelly will have to wait for an appointment. "From the time my name comes up, I'm eligible for two-and-a-half years," she explained. "Any longer and I'd have to take the whole test over." Until she is called, Kelly plans to attend graduate school in international relations or comparative government.

If Kelly receives an appointment, she would probably be assigned to a foreign embassy for at least two years. "As a political officer, I would be mainly responsible for preparing briefings and keeping abreast of the political developments," she added.

"This is one of the most exciting options I could have," concluded Kelly. "There's a lot of unknown involved in it, yet at the same time you're learning all the while. You work with people, political systems, economic systems--they're all alive, in a state of flux."
