Personnel Bulletin

Requests for Personnel Actions Submitted to the Personnel Office

In order to facilitate changes in employment status, separation, leaves of absence, and other personnel actions for non-faculty employees, the Personnel Office reminds supervisors of the following procedures:

Employment: In order for an employee to be paid, the completed "College of William and Mary Employment Form" (Revised 8/1/79) must be submitted in duplicate to the Personnel Office. This applies to all personnel (except students paid from student funds), regardless of the nature of employment (hourly, weekly, monthly, annually, etc.) Only the form revised 8/1/79 will be acceptable.

Requests to Appoint Individuals to Classified Status: Such requests must be received in writing in the Personnel Office at least five working days prior to the first or sixteenth of the month. Permanent classified appointments are normally effective at the beginning of a semi-monthly pay period (1st and 16th of the month), and processing must be completed before an employee may be placed on the payroll.

Application for Leave of Absence: Permanent classified employees must submit to their supervisor a request for leave for absence due to illness on the day following their return to work. For all other types of leave (annual, compensatory, military, etc.) the request must be submitted by the employee to his/her supervisor before the leave is taken. Approved requests must be forwarded to the Personnel Office without delay.

If an employee does not have enough leave time accumulated to cover his absence, waiting until the employee's return to duty to submit a leave slip will cause a delay in issuing the pay check on the normal pay day. To avoid this situation, the Personnel Office requests department heads and supervisors to notify them on the first day that an employee is absent, if such absence is not explained by an approved request for leave on file in the Personnel Office.

In case of bad weather, if an employee reports less than an hour late on a morning when road conditions are hazardous, the employee should have no charge made against his leave balance. If the employee does not report at all, however, a leave slip should be submitted for the entire day.

College of William and Mary Separation Forms (Revised 8/75) should be submitted for each person leaving College employment (except students paid from student funds). Supervisors should submit the completed form with a copy of the employee's letter of resignation (if applicable) to the Personnel Office at least two weeks prior to an employee's final pay check. Forms should indicate that an "exit" interview will be conducted by someone on a level above the immediate supervisor on or before employee's last workday.

The cooperation of all concerned is important in order that the leave and employment accounting for employees be accurate and up-to-date. Failure to follow the above guidance may result in a financial hardship to an employee.

Employment Forms, Separation Forms, and Leave Slips are obtained by ordering from the College Warehouse.

Official Memoranda

Cancellation of Current Price Agreements for Supplies and Equipment

We are advised that Governor Dalton has mandated the implementation of a competitive bid contract program, whereby many price agreements currently in existence with the Commonwealth of Virginia for procuring equipment and supplies will not be renewed on a negotiated basis.

We are in receipt of information from International Business Machines Corporation in which we are advised that the current price agreements on IBM supplies and equipment which expire September 30, thus will not be renewed. Further, the prices of many IBM items will increase as of October 1.

This information is brought to your attention so that you might place your requisitions under existing IBM price agreements before October 1, if you are planning purchases of IBM items during the year. My staff and I are prepared to work with you on the details of such purchases before the deadline date.

Your understanding and cooperation in this matter will be appreciated.

Energy Problem Vexing

Because of their huge appetites for energy, Americans may already be committed to the use of nuclear power for some time to come, in spite of the concerns raised by the accident at the Three Mile Island nuclear plant in Pennsylvania. Herbert O. Funsten, professor of physics, says that a "prudent" mixture of coal and nuclear fuel could be America's only energy future, as oil supplies continue to dry up.

"I don't want to offend anyone who is against the use of nuclear power, but I'm just saying that we may be in worse shape than we think in this country, as far as energy is concerned," said Funsten.

"The fusion process, which is safer and more efficient than nuclear fission which we now use, is still in the theoretical stages. No one has yet created a workable, ongoing fusion reaction. So we may not have any choice, for the time being at least," said Funsten.

Solar power has received much attention in recent years, but harnessing solar energy for personal use is still too expensive for many people to take advantage of it. That leaves the conventional energy systems to which Americans have become accustomed: coal, oil and nuclear.

"What happened at the Pennsylvania generating plant was severe, but to the best of my understanding only a couple of workers received radiation doses above the levels they would normally receive in day to day living, so in that sense the catastrophe was averted," said Funsten.

One real problem, according to Funsten, will be decontamination of the plant reactor area.

"Decontamination usually involves flushing out the affected area with cleaning agents or bleaches. Sometimes it means removal of the building or hardware that has become radioactive," says Funsten.

Classified Employee Performance Evaluation System

Effective May 14, 1979, the State's performance evaluation system for classified employees was revised. The new system now provides for two performance evaluation forms. One form for those classified (non-faculty) employees in managerial and professional positions, as defined by Federal guidelines, and another form for all other classified employees. These forms will be completed on employees throughout the year based on their merit or service date. The objective of this new system is to provide a more effective means of evaluating the work performance of State classified employees, to provide more efficiency in support of State governmental operations, and to provide effective communication to employees regarding such performance.

Since the new policy will affect many individuals with faculty status as rating officials, and all classified employees of the College, the Personnel Office of the College will conduct four training sessions in which to outline this new system. At those sessions, the evaluation procedure will be delineated and any questions will be answered. The sessions are scheduled for September 11 from 9 to 10 a.m., September 12 from 2 to 3 p.m., September 18 from 10 to 11 a.m., and again on September 19 from 3 to 4 p.m., all in the theatre of the Campus Center. Please make note of these dates on your calendar and plan to attend the session which is most convenient for your schedule. It is imperative that all members of the College community be familiar with the new performance evaluation policy, since it will be implemented Oct. 1, 1979.

Bloom Plans Anxiety Workshops

• Does it take you too long to write essays, reports, term papers, or theses?

• Do you put off writing until you feel excessively rushed or pressured?

• Are you easily interrupted or distracted while writing?

• Do you dislike writing because you don't know where to start, or how to gather materials, how to proceed, or when to stop?

• Is it difficult for you to concentrate on your writing?

• Does writing seem unnecessarily difficult for you?

• Do you lack a good place or time in which to write?

If you've answered "yes" to one or more of the above questions, then a workshop on "Helping Anxious Writers" may be just what you need.

The workshop will be conducted by Dr. Lynn Bloom of the English Department; she has done extensive research and writing on the subject. The series of three workshop sessions, open to interested students, faculty, and townspeople, will be held on three Monday evenings, September 10, September 24, and October 22, from 7-9 p.m. in the Campus Center, Room D. Dr. Bloom will design individual programs tailored to alleviate each participant's particular problems, and will work with participants individually and in groups to help them write efficiently and effectively. Students will be asked to keep records of their progress through journals and attitude questionnaires.

Because of the large amount of individual attention, these sessions will be limited to fifteen participants. If you wish to register (at no cost), phone Dr. Bloom at ext. 4436, or 229-2816.

Ken Smith is Project PLUS RA

Ken Smith, a doctoral student in history, is resident administrator at Project Plus this year.

Smith is currently working on his dissertation under Professor Ludwell Johnson and is writing on Duff Green, who was editor of the U.S. Telegraph, a Washington newspaper, from 1826-36. Smith did his undergraduate work at the University of Georgia. He hopes to teach at the college level and coach rugby.

Ken Smith

Previously Smith was a teaching fellow in the history department for two years. He received a master's degree from the College in 1972 and left to work for the Delaware Historical Society before beginning work on his doctorate.

As resident administrator, Smith will be doing some counseling, taking care of day to day administrative duties and assisting with Forum programs. Last year he initiated the "Ken Smith Presents" film series and hopes to line up some movies for Project Plus this year.

Goodman Show Up In Andrews Hall

The first show of the year in Andrews Gallery is an exhibit of the work of Sidney Goodman.

The exhibit, which will be up until September 21, is a show of figurative drawings, a collection of recent water-colors, charcoal and pencil drawings by Goodman.

Goodman received his training at the Philadelphia Museum College of Art and currently teaches at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts.

Largely known as a painter, drawings by Goodman are often studies for his paintings, but as this show demonstrates, they are also self sufficient works.

Goodman is highly regarded as an artist. He has won awards from the National Academy of Design, Butler Institute of American Art, and was a Guggenheim Fellow. His work is represented in several collections including those at the Chicago Art Institute, the Museum of Modern Art, the Hirschhorn Museum, the National Gallery and the Library of Congress.

The addition of movable walls in the foyer of Andrews Hall has created another gallery area for shows and currently paintings, drawings, and sculptures by faculty from the University of Virginia are exhibited there.

The foyer gallery will be especially suited to large exhibits and will be the setting for the senior show in the spring. Student art during the year will be exhibited on the second floor gallery.

Smith is enthusiastic about the concept of Project Plus, thinks students should assume responsibility for their own education and he hopes to recreate some of the excitement of the first years of Project Plus.

"Man and Woman," the theme for this year's Project Plus Forum, will be woven into the topic of each speaker at the weekly program which is open to the public.

The first program on the series will be held September 12 at 7:30 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. The speaker will be Martin Duberman, historian, author, playwright and educator. Other Forums will be held in Millington Hall.

R. Carlyle Beyer, professor of history, is Director of Project Plus. RAs at Project Plus are Cheryl Ravelle and Jeff Lucas. Secretarial support for Project Plus is provided by Mrs. Beverly Panbehchi.

Planning for orientation was undertaken by Brad Sexton, Bill McCulla, Mike Fitzgerald, Bruce Cyrus, Mike Duffy and Peggy Stephens.

Parade Planners Meet Tomorrow

There will be a Homecoming Parade meeting held at the Alumni House on Wednesday, September 5, at 4 p.m.

It is VERY IMPORTANT that your organization be aware of this information.

Float description forms will be distributed at the meeting and all participating organizations are expected to return these forms as soon as possible as float ideas will be accepted on a first come, first served basis. The theme of this year's parade is "The Way We Were." William and Mary will be hosting the Scarlet Knights of Rutgers University for the football game and all float entries must be compatible with one of the three approaches to this year's theme discussed at the April 11th parade planning meeting.

For further information, please contact John Phillips at the Alumni House by calling 229-7545, or extension 4302.

Dr. Kottas joined the William and Mary faculty this fall. His current research interests include risk analysis production line design, competitive bidding, and design of theaters and stadiums. Besides numerous papers he has co-authored a McGraw-Hill text entitled Production/Operations Managements: Contemporary Policy for Managing Operating Systems.

Articles by Carl Dolmetsch, professor of English, reviewing performances during the 1978-79 season in Norfolk (Virginia Opera) and Washington (Kennedy Center) have recently appeared in the Spring 1979 issue of Opera Canada (Toronto), the June-July issue of Orpheus: Zeitschrift fuer Oper Und Konzerte (Berlin) and the July issue of Opera Magazine (London). Dolmetsch is a staff contributor to all three journals.

Since the recognition of the People's Republic of China in January, Craig Canning, assistant professor of history, has given talks on U.S. - China relations to the following groups: Williamsburg Rotary Club, Rappahanock Community College Library Society, History Students Organization, Yorktown Rotary Club, Asia House, James York Exchange Club and the Richard Henry Lee Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution. He also discussed the subject on a short public affairs spot on WWBT, Channel 12, Richmond.

Much of the work was supported by a Society of the Alumni Summer Research Grant.

Gregory M. Capelli, assistant professor of biology, received funds totalling $7,800 from the National Science Foundation, under that agency's special program to support small-college faculty engaged in research at larger institutions.

The funding was in support of a proposal entitled "Hybridization and Mating Interference as Species Displacement Mechanisms among Crayfish." The work dealt with some of the mechanisms that allow an introduced species to displace native ones, and was conducted during the past summer at a field station operated by the University of Wisconsin.

During August, Capelli presented a paper titled "Aggressive Interactions, Resource Competition, and Species Displacements among Crayfish: Two Studies" at the annual meeting of the Ecological Society of America in Stillwater, OK. The paper was co-authored by Barbara L. Munjal and William E. Rorer, Jr., former William and Mary students.

Maria R. Palmaz will be in Montpellier, France, during the fall semester as Resident Director of the Junior Year Abroad program.

Lawrence L. Wiseman, associate professor of biology, was a participant in the Gordon Research Conference on Cell Contact and Movement, July 2-6, Proctor Academy, Andover, N.H.

Funsten on Energy Situation

"There are firms which specialize in decontamination. For example, a company which has done work for Newport News Shipbuilding and for a pharmaceutical company in Tennessee would have experience in this area," Funsten adds.

But an even greater problem will be public opinion. There is no way to "decontaminate" that.

"Without complex mathematics, it's difficult really to explain what nuclear radiation is, much less how it works in a nuclear reactor. Everyone knows uranium is mined much like any other mineral, except with more safeguards against radiation," says Funsten.

After that, Funsten admits it's pretty much a mystery to most people. Following the refining process, the uranium emerges as a clay-like substance called "yellowcake." It is this which is then converted into the
