Summing Up

Graves

An Invitation

President Graves will be in his office Monday afternoon, Oct. 8, from 2-3 p.m. and will meet with students. No appointment is necessary for these informal visits which President Graves will include in his schedule throughout the year.

Prints Missing

Saturday evening between 8 and 8:45 p.m., four prints were removed from the Virginia Museum collection of Olympic posters, on display in the Campus Center.

Anyone with information regarding the prints is asked to contact either Ken Smith, Associate Dean of Students for Activities and Associations or Ken Bradshaw, director of the Campus Center.

Loss of the prints, said Smith, could jeopardize chances of any future art loans from the Virginia Museum.

Copies for Students

Copies of the report of the Ad Hoc Committee to Review the Undergraduate Curriculum are available to interested students in the office of Dean Jack Edwards, James Blair room 112.

Hi Mom, Hi Dad

Campus Welcomes Parents

The Parents Weekend program at the College has been designed to give moms and dads an exciting and entertaining look at campus life through "Focus '79, the Undergraduate Experience."

Planned by a committee of administrators, faculty and students, the program includes a series of lecture-discussion sessions with members of the faculty, a concert by the choir and the College/Community orchestra, an opportunity to meet with a visiting novelist, a Saturday afternoon football game, "An Evening With Dick Cavett," and an ecumenical worship service.

Pam Snidow, a senior from northern Virginia, is student chairman for the event which is being coordinated by the office of W. Samuel Sadler, Dean of Students.

Parents will register Friday morning at the Alumni House and be invited to visit classes in session in several departments.

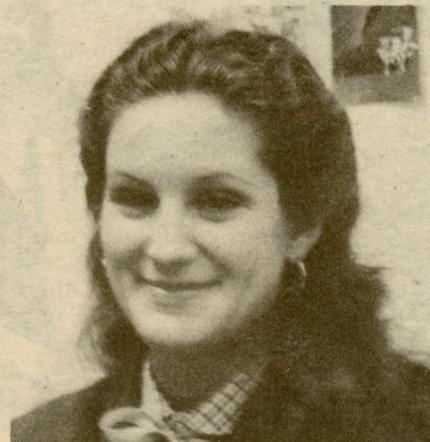

An afternoon meeting for freshman parents will be chaired by Linda Collins

Reilly, Assistant Vice President for Academic Affairs and Dean of the Undergraduate Program. A panel of faculty and administrators will discuss issues that are of particular concern to students during their first year at school.

The panel will include Amy Worthington, Associate Dean of Students for Student Development; Ginger Nobles, Director of Room Assignments; David E. Kranbuehl, associate professor of chemistry and Director of Grants and Contracts; John J. McGlennon, assistant professor of government; and Terry L. Meyers, associate professor of English.

President and Mrs. Thomas A. Graves, Jr., will host a reception for parents on the front lawn of the Wren Building. In case of rain the reception will be moved to the second floor gallery of the Wren Building.

The William and Mary Choir, under the direction of Frank Lendrim, and the College/Community Orchestra, conducted by Dora Short, will share the program at an evening concert,

Snidow

Friday at 8:45 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. This concert is also open to the public. There is no admission charge.

After a coffee hour Saturday morning, parents will be invited to participate in a number of panel discussions and programs focusing on different aspects of undergraduate life.

John Lavach of the School of Education faculty will recreate a classroom lecture and has entitled his presentation "Human Growth and Development Revisited."

On behalf of the faculty, staff and employees of William and Mary Peter Derks, 1978 College Campaign Chairman, accepted a United Fund plaque of appreciation from David Kranbuehl, Fund Drive Chairman, and Mary Gonzales, Vice Chairman. Mel Schiavelli, 1979 College Fund Drive Chairman, looks on.

Schiavelli Heads Fund Drive

William and Mary's United Fund campaign began Monday when all faculty, staff and employees received a letter soliciting funds and a pledge card.

The College's campaign goal this year is $10,980, a nine percent raise over last year, reflecting the growth in Williamsburg's needs and the affects of inflation.

Melvin Schiavelli, associate professor of chemistry is heading up this year's drive on campus.

Art Buchwald '80 Speaker

Art Buchwald, one of the most successful humorists in the nation, has accepted the invitation to serve as commencement speaker.

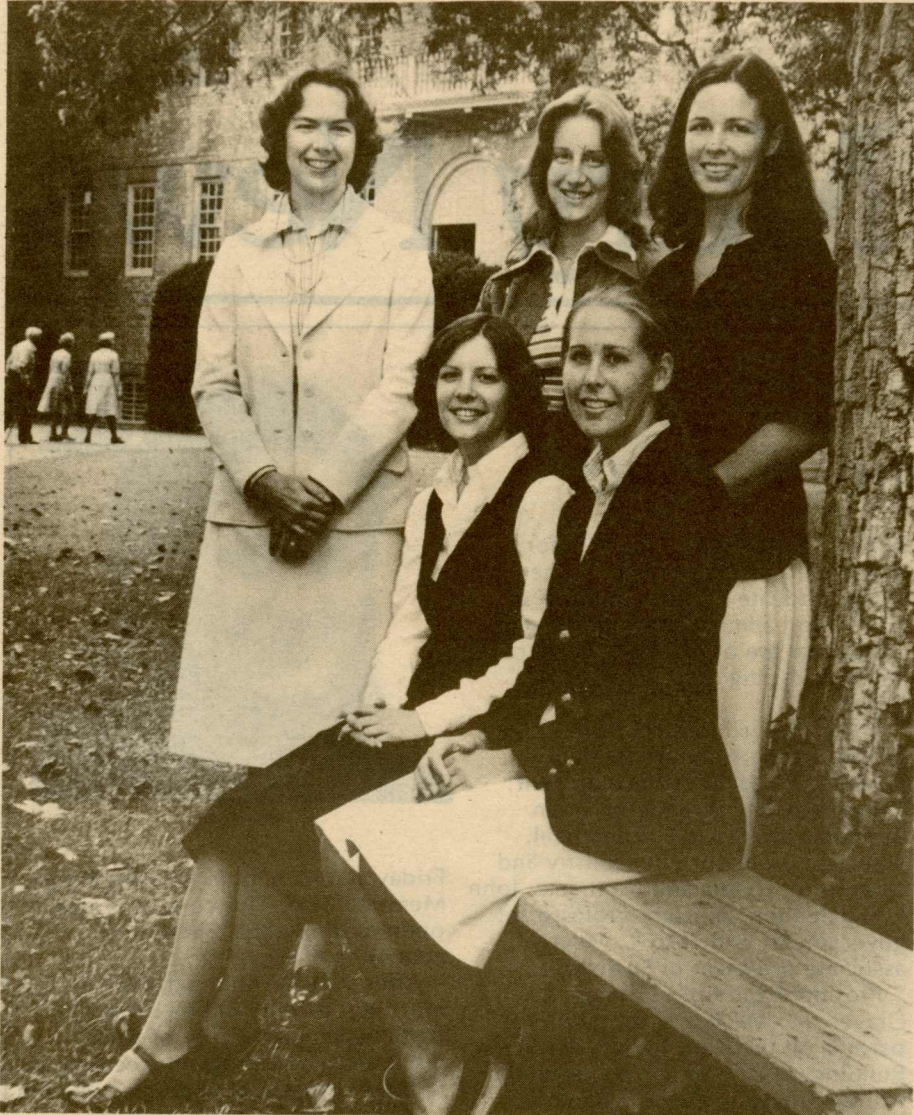

The announcement was made by President Graves and Suzanne Doggett of Charlottesville, president of the senior class. Ms. Doggett said that the popular columnist was the overwhelming first choice in a survey conducted among members of the class of 1980. She predicts that Buchwald's talk will be "lighthearted and humorous but with a serious message," which she describes as the ideal kind of commencement address.

Commencement exercises for some 1400 undergraduate and graduate students will take place Sunday, May 11, in William and Mary Hall.

In addition to his popularity as a syndicated columnist, Buchwald is also the author of many rib-tickling books, the latest being Washington Is Leaking (1976). Others were Irving's Delight (1975), I Am Not A Crook (1974), I Never Danced At The White House (1973), Getting High in Government Circles and The Establishment is Alive and Well in Washington, preceded by Have I Ever Lied To You? (1968), Son of The Great Society (1966) and . . . And Then I Told The President (1965).

During 1969 he tried his hand at playwriting, and in January of 1970 his play Sheep on the Runway opened on Broadway to very fine reviews from some of the country's leading critics. In the spring of the same year, it opened in Washington.

Business Scholarships

Four scholarships were awarded this year to MBA candidates in the Women in Business Program. The scholarships range in amount between $1,000 and $1,500. Funds for the awards were provided by grants from IBM and the International Paper Company Foundation. Pictured, are backrow, (l-r) Julia B. Leverenz, director of the Women in Business program; Sandra L. Fuller, Salem, Va., and Mary H. Chaplain, Virginia Beach. Front row (l-r) Helen M. McGuire, Glens Falls, N.Y., and Patricia J. Rother, Canandaigua, N.Y.

Feast of Saint Francis of Assisi To be Observed Thursday

The Feast of Saint Francis of Assisi will be observed on Thursday October 4 in a joint service sponsored annually by the Catholic and Episcopal students of the College.

Area children of all ages are invited to bring their pets (leashed or caged, please) to the Bruton Parish Churchyard in the Restored Area of Colonial Williamsburg at 4 p.m. for a special service of blessing.

A member of the Third Order of the Society of Saint Francis will be present to explain how persons desirous of espousing such a lifestyle may do so even in the midst of otherwise busy lives.

Following the blessing of the animals, the public is invited to a vegetarian covered-dish supper in the Sit 'n Bull Room of the Campus Center at 5 o'clock.

Varied Programs Planned For Weekend Visitors

"William and Mary Student After Hours," a look at extracurricular activities, will be presented by David Garland, president of the Student Association, with Susan Rappe, president of the Panhellenic Council, Kenneth E. Smith, Jr., Associate Dean of Students for Activities and Organizations; Karen Tolson, president of the student theatrical group, The Backdrop Club; Sam Portaro, Episcopal representative of the Campus Ministries United; and Ms. Joy Archer, head of the Women's P.E. Department.

Bruce D. Rigelman, assistant professor of government and advisor to pre-law students; Randolph A. Coleman, associate professor of chemistry and faculty advisor to pre-medical students; Harriet Reid, Director of the Office of Career Planning; and Stanley E. Brown, Acting Vice President for Development and Director of the Office of Corporate Relations and Placement, will discuss the options in careers and professions that are open to students after graduation in a program entitled "Is There Life After Graduation?"

George R. Healy, Vice President for Academic Affairs, Frank Lendrim, chairman of the music department, James J. Thompson, Jr., associate professor of history, and Hans vonBaeyer, professor of physics and director of the Virginia Associated Research Campus, will present their views of "Perspectives of a Liberal Arts Education."

Novelist Mary Carter, currently Writer in Residence at the College, will read excerpts from her work.

Each program will be given twice, at 9 a.m. and 10 a.m., to enable parents to have an opportunity to sample at least two.

At a meeting for all parents Saturday morning at 11 a.m., President Graves will bring welcoming remarks to the parents as will Pete Velde, of Arlington, who is co-chairman with Mrs. Velde of the Parents Association.

Luncheon on the lawn in front of Andrews Fine Arts Hall will begin at 12:15 p.m. preceding the football game with James Madison University in Cary Field Stadium at 1:30 p.m.

Several residence halls will hold open house for parents following the game and, at 8 p.m., the Speakers Forum, a coalition of student organizations, will present "An Evening With Dick Cavett" in William and Mary Hall. Members of the audience will be invited to submit questions they would like to have Cavett answer.

This program is also open to the public. Season tickets for the entire series are $6; individual admission is $2 for adults and $1.50 for non-William and Mary students.

The final event of the weekend is an ecumenical worship service to be held Sunday morning at 9:30 a.m. in the Wren Chapel.

Nancy Thompson of Dean Sadler's staff is acting as coordinator for the Parents Day program. The student committee includes Carl Meyer, lectures-discussion groups; Jeff Thaxton, publicity; and Jenny Wauford, volunteers.

Members of Delta Delta Delta sorority will act as guides during the weekend and will also staff the registration tables.

Career Spans Decades

As a performer, Buchwald is heard on records, on television, and before audiences all across the nation.

Born in Westchester and raised on Long Island, Buchwald left home in 1942 and enlisted in the Marines. There he gained his early journalist experience in the Pacific Theater, editing his company newspaper on Eniwetok, where he was stationed for three and a half years.

The University of Southern California welcomed his talents after his discharge from the service. He was managing editor of the college humor magazine, columnist for its paper and author of one of its variety shows. Buchwald then went to Paris as a student, and afterwards got a job on Variety.

Early in 1949, he took a trial column to the editorial offices of the European edition of The New York Herald Tribune. Entitled "Paris After Dark," it was filled with off-beat tidbits about Parisian night life. The editors liked it. He was hired.

By 1952, his column, by then called "Europe's Lighter Side," was syndicated in the American press. Ten years later, he moved his typewriter to Washington, where things have been getting livelier ever since. His column is now carried by The Los Angeles Times Syndicate in over 500 newspapers throughout the U.S. and the world.

Art Buchwald and his wife, the former Ann McGarry, have three children and live in the northwest section of Washington.

House Celebrates

The Italian House members will celebrate the anniversary of their House and Christopher Columbus Day with one occasion, a champagne reception for invited guests at the House, October 8

NOTICES

PRACTICAL TRAINING--Information and applications are available in the Office of Corporate Relations and Placement from the Coro Foundation, announcing a program of internships, seminars, and group and individual projects of practical training in public affairs. These activities lead to a Master's degree from Occidental College. There are a number of Fellows selected to participate in this program. For additional information ask for reference S-10-1.

DEADLINE OCT. 15--Applications and information are now available in the Office of Extramural Programs for the Marshall, Rhodes, Draper and Fulbright Scholarships. The deadline for application to the first three is October 2. The deadline for application to the Fulbright Scholarship is October 15.

GRAD SCHOOL VISITS--Several graduate schools will be conducting informational interviews on campus this fall including the following: Washington & Lee, Law, 9/24; Northwestern Graduate School of Management, Institute for Paralegal Training, U. of Georgia, Law, 10/3; George Washington, Law, Catholic University, Law, Colgate Darden, 10/8.

Students interested in meeting with any of these school representatives must first register with the Office of Corporate Relations and Placement.

VET EXAMS--On October 6, November 3, December 1, and January 5 the Veterinary Aptitude Test will be given for students interested in applying to colleges of veterinary medicine this fall. The test is designed to measure reading comprehension, quantitative ability, biology, chemistry and study reading. Applications are available in the Office of Career Planning.

PREMED HANDBOOK--Dr. Randy Coleman, Associate Professor of Chemistry and the Premedical Advisor for William and Mary, has prepared a handbook for Premedical and Pre dental students. The handbook is now available for reading in the Office of Career Planning.

At 6:30 p.m. the full-length feature film, "Brother Sun, Sister Moon" will be shown in the Campus Center Little Theatre. Directed by Franco Zeffirelli, the film portrays the life of Saint Francis of Assisi and the growth of his idealism into a model community for the Christian Church. Following the feature film, the documentary film, "Essene" will be shown at 9 p.m. This film follows the course of the average day in a 20th-century monastery.

While no admission is charged for either film, an offering will be taken.

Names Sought For Who's Who

For the first time this year, nominations for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities are being solicited from the campus community.

Ken Smith, Associate Dean of Students for Activities and Organizations, would like to have nominations turned in to his office by Oct. 15.

Nominees, he said, should be students, either undergraduate or graduate, who have excelled in a number of areas. Nominators are asked to include a short description of the activities of their nominee. Underclassmen, he said, will only be considered if there are not enough senior and graduate student nominations.

Final selection for the '79-'80 edition will be made by the committee of students, faculty and administrators.

Concert Set

The first Sunday Series concert will be held Oct. 7 at 3 p.m. in the Campus Center Ballroom and will feature the Richmond Brass Quintet.

The schedule for the rest of the year has yet to be announced.

New Program

The Japan-American Society of Washington has established a fund to provide partial support to an individual study program in Japan, emphasizing the Japanese language. The Society will provide up to $2,000 as a supplemental grant to a qualified candidate for a study program formulated by the applicant. The Society is also planning to continue this grant program for the next few years, if there is sufficient continuing interest and there are qualified candidates.

The deadline for submitting an application for the Society's study grant program is December 15. The final selection will be announced by the Society by January 31.

Applications should be sent to the Japan-America Society of Washington, Inc., 1302 18th Street, N.W. Suite 704, Washington, D.C. 20036.

Eley

ROTC Award

Eley To Get Heroism Medal

Last April, Joe Eley was the right man at the right place at the right time for a truck driver who ran off the road and was pinned in the cab of his vehicle which landed upside down in water.

Eley pried open the door, got the driver out, and applied first aid until the ambulance arrived.

For his efforts, Joe B. Eley III, a Cadet Major in the ROTC Unit, will receive the Medal for Heroism.

A student at Christopher Newport College majoring in business administration, Eley is self-conscious about receiving recognition for his action, claiming it is something anyone would have done in the same circumstances. The driver of the truck was treated for shock, cuts and abrasions at the hospital and released the next day.

When Eley gets his ROTC commission and begins his tour of duty, it will be his second time in Army green and an opportunity to see the service from a different angle.

His senior year in high school, Eley joined the Army and served three years as an enlisted man from 1971-74. After basic training at Fort Campbell, Ky., and duty at Ft. Monmouth, N.J., Eley went overseas and was stationed at Linderhof, Germany, 40 kilometers south of Hanover, from May '72 to November '74. During this time he was learning a trade as a radio repairman.

Now going to school under the G.I. Bill, Eley is looking forward to his second stint with the Army and feels his first hitch will make him a better officer. "I'll be sensitive to the kind of things enlisted men face, I will be more receptive to them and I think, in turn, they will serve me better."

Eley says he is keeping his options open as to whether he will make the Army a lifetime career. Right now, he says, for him it offers leadership and training opportunities not readily available elsewhere.

Eley was honored earlier for his life-saving action in saving the truckdriver. He received a good citizenship plaque from Mayor Charles Wornom at a meeting of the Hampton City Council.

Eley saved four other people the summer of '75. He was fishing off a pier in Middlesex county and noticed a boat going round in circles. The four passengers had been overcome by carbon monoxide fumes and were unconscious. Eley alerted the Coast Guard and averted a disaster.

Eley's parents live in Hampton and during the '60's his father was well known in the area as the owner of the popular Rebel Drive In. A successful restaurateur, he now has managers for the ones he owns. He has also worked in real estate and is an enthusiastic coin collector. His mother is a former Army nurse still active in private nursing. His parents met during World War II when both were stationed on the peninsula.

Eley has a twin sister who is manager of a McDonald's in Portsmouth, an older brother who is an Army Captain, and a younger brother who has successfully restored several Victorian houses in California.

General Adams to Give Awards

Brigadier General F. Cecil Adams, Jr., Commanding General of the First ROTC Region, which includes William and Mary, will visit the campus October 3 and will be present at the ROTC fall awards ceremony which will be held at Christopher Newport College in Newport News.

General Adams will meet with Dr. Graves and members of the administration while on campus and will tour the military science department before leaving for Newport News to meet with President Windsor and participate in the awards ceremony.

The top award of the day will be given to Cadet Major Joe B. Eley who will receive the ROTC medal for heroism for his part in saving the life of a truck driver who was pinned in the cab of his vehicle when it careened off the road and landed in water. Eley is a student at Christopher Newport College.

Listed as distinguished military students are the following: Matthew C. Ames, Lesley G. Brown, David W. Coker, Joseph Contarino, III, Joe B. Eley, III, Brett A. Giffin, Thomas J. Grasberger, Charles B. Handley, III, Francis N. Judy, Karl T. Olson, Lawrence L. Perecko, Clark B. Shuler, Michael P. Simone, Charles B. Swaim, Jill A. Willig and Duane Williams.

Recipients of four year scholarships are Robert J. Carpenter, Sandra A. Cockran, Anthony S. Durkin, Pamela J. Fritz, Heidi A. Haight, Stephen G. Johnson, Kathleen A. Keranen, Victor MacCagan, Jr., Sheila E. Muir, Katherine E. Powell, Robert L. Scott, Michael F. Shields, David A. Slayton, and Susanna Shelton.

Three-year scholarships have been awarded to William Harrod, Gregory Lesko, Joanne Less, Nancy Malone and Vernon Sevier. David H. Jenkins has received a two-year scholarship.

Airborne school awards will be presented to Joe Eley, Taesung Kim, Catherine A. Marenick and Frank T. Stubbs, III; and for Air Assault School, Brett A. Giffin, Lawrence L. Perecko, Clark B. Shuler, Frank H. Stubbs, III, and Jill A. Willig.

Advanced camp honors, recondo qualified, will go to Matthew C. Ames, Paul F. Carrazzone, David W. Coker, Joseph Contarino, III, Brian J. Denny, Lauren B. Downs, Joe B. Eley, III, Gregory J. Fronczak, Brett A. Giffin, Thomas J. Grasberger, Charles B. Handley, III, Richard L. Jones, Karl T. Olson, Lawrence M. Perecko, Mark N. Reed, Thomas W. Shuler, Michael P. Simone, Thomas W. Spoehr, Frank H. Stubbs, III, Thomas A. Walsh, Jill A. Willig and Alexander P. H. Wyrrough.

Fashion Show

The Panhellenic Council will sponsor its annual fall fashion show, Monday, October 8, at 8 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

There is no admission charge. Fashions will be from Binns Fashion Shop and models will be from the campus sororities. Beth Scott of Pi Beta Phi sorority, Council social chairman, is in charge of planning for the show.

Registration for door prizes is currently underway at Binns. Winners must be present at the show Monday night in order to win.

United Fund Helps Community

Agencies supported by the drive include the following:

THE ADULT SKILLS PROGRAM - "It's never too late to learn" is their motto. In Room 216 of Chancellors Hall 45 volunteers tutor 100 students in such basic skills as reading, writing and learning English as a second language. The agency welcomes visitors who are interested in the services it provides.

WILLIAMSBURG AREA DAY CARE CENTER - Seventy percent of parents with children in the Day Care Center could not work if the Day Care Center did not exist. The Center provides preschool experiences in socialization and motor skills along with nutritious meals and plenty of the tender loving care so essential for young children of working parents. Tuition is based on family income, the average family paying only $7.50 per week.

BACON STREET - a substance abuse prevention and counseling center which offers individual, group and family counseling. They operate a hot line and are available for public speaking and other educational programs.

Last year, of 360 people seeking counseling, 325 were adolescents.

AMERICAN RED CROSS - Last year in addition to collecting blood, providing disaster relief and giving swimming and life saving instruction, the local chapter began to make plans for evacuation in event of a nuclear incident.

THE ASSOCIATION FOR RETARDED CITIZENS - pairs a volunteer with a retarded citizen to provide opportunities for out-reach -- to go shopping, bowling, and make friends.

MEALS ON WHEELS - 30 volunteers deliver hot, nutritious, low-cost meals from the Williamsburg Community Hospital to people who need them, regardless of age or income.

This year the United Fund is asking the community to be aware of the great strain inflation puts on the agencies. Operating costs rise higher as inflation rises. Members of the campus community are being asked to increase their pledges by an amount equal to the percentage of their salary increase.

The strength of the United Fund is the total commitment of each of us in the Williamsburg community. PLEASE GIVE.

Moscow Symphony Cancels

The Moscow State Symphony Orchestra has cancelled its U.S. tours and its visit to Williamsburg, Oct. 29.

Ken Smith, director of the Concert Series, said a major symphony will be booked for the slot left vacant by the Moscow orchestra, but the dates of performance may be changed.

Smith is getting a letter out to all series subscribers apprising them of the change, and assuring them that information on the replacement concert and its dates will be announced as soon as they are received from Columbia Artists.
