Theatre Opens 'Measure for Measure' Wednesday

"The play deals with the same sort of problems I try to deal with in the classroom as a professor in everyday life," says Professor Louis E. Catron of William Shakespeare's Measure for Measure, which will be presented by the William and Mary Theatre, Feb. 20-23 in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

Tickets are available through the William and Mary box office in the foyer of Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. The box office will be open from 3-5:30 p.m., Feb. 18-22, and from 7-8:15 p.m., Feb. 20-23. Telephone reservations are taken at 253-4469 and 253-4272 during box office hours only. All seats are reserved.

"The play looks at the problem of condemning what a person does without necessarily condemning a person for doing it," explains Catron, who will direct the play. "We can keep our moral outrage focused on the act and condemn it heartily without negating the person's worth as a human, but it isn't easy. There has to be some separation between the two."

Catron disagrees with the play's usual label of "dark comedy." "It is very much a treatise on morality, a serious look at justice. It has its comic moments, but the focus is on the corruption of purity and the abuse of power," he says. "It's a very timely play."

Measure for Measure is the tale of what happens when Duke Vincentio of Vienna disguises himself as a friar to get a more honest look at his city. Angelo, the man he leaves in charge, sentences young Claudio to death for adultery, then gives Isabella, Claudio's sister, the opportunity to save Claudio by committing adultery herself.

"It is the old problem of power corrupting people who aren't prepared to deal with it," Catron explains. "Shakespeare looks at the contradictions we still have to live with today, the lines we have to draw, the rules we have to make."

Catron says he is glad to see more and more attention being paid to Measure for Measure, which has long been one of his favorite Shakespearean scripts. In recent years, the play has been produced by such groups as Joseph Papp's Shakespeare in the Park and the Yale Repertory Theatre.

Catron suggests that another reason for the revival of interest in Measure for Measure may be its choice role for an actress. Catron feels Isabella is Shakespeare's best-written female role.

"A lot of people seem to think of her as prissy, prim and proper, but that's certainly not the way we're presenting her. She's not going to become a nun because she's bloodless and cold, but because it is the well-thought-out decision she's come to about where her true dedication in life lies," he says.

"The play teaches us to learn to view ourselves and our world with a spirit of moderation; we learn we are to condemn faults but not those who commit them. It is, simply, Shakespeare," asserts Catron.

Pompey (Richard Leahy) exchanges a bawdy joke with Mistress Overdone (Kristen Everly) as her bawd (Patricia Raymond) looks on. It's one of the light moments in Shakespeare's drama, "Measure for Measure," to be presented by the William and Mary Theatre Wednesday-Saturday, February 20-23, at 8:15 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

Houtmann Conducting

Richmond Symphony To Play Here Feb. 26

The Richmond Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of conductor Jacques Houtmann, will perform Tuesday, Feb. 26, at 8:15 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall as part of the current Concert Series.

The program will feature Dale Clevenger, French horn soloist, in the Strauss Horn Concerto No. 2, E flat Major. Other selections on the program will include Honegger's Symphony No. 1 and Mozart's Symphony No. 40, K. 550, G minor.

Individual tickets for non-patrons are $3 for college community; $4 for the general public; and are on sale at the office of Ken Smith, Campus Center.

Festival Sets Dates For Auditions

Kent Thompson, artistic director for the Virginia Shakespeare Festival in Williamsburg, has announced auditions for actors needed for the 1980 summer season.

Positions are available for 15 actors in the summer repertory theatre, which has scheduled performances from July 10-August 17 of The Merchant of Venice, As You Like It, and The Comedy of Errors.

Thompson said auditions will take place by appointment only in Williamsburg, Friday-Sunday, February 29-March 2. The term of employment is from May 31-August 18, and the salary for actors is $1100. Appointments for auditions can be made by calling (804) 253-4395, from 9 a.m.-4 p.m., Monday-Friday.

The Virginia Shakespeare Festival is a not-for-profit, non-Equity summer repertory theatre located at the College. Created in 1978, the Festival has attracted professional actors, as well as an appreciative audience, from throughout the United States.

Thompson said the productions require 11 male and four female performers. Classes in voice and stage movement-combat will be offered periodically throughout the summer for interested company members.

The productions of the Festival are staged in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall on campus, the site of the Third Ford-Carter Presidential Debate in 1976.

In addition, Thompson said there are still openings available for production, design and technical staff.

Williamsburg has a rich tradition of professional Shakespeare, and most theatre historians agree that the first professional performance of Shakespeare staged in America was in Williamsburg in 1752. Lewis Hallam led a company of actors from London to Williamsburg, where they staged The Merchant of Venice for an excited group of culture-starved colonists.

Tickets For Show Now On Sale

A limited number of tickets are available for the one performance of "Ain't Misbehavin'," a bonus show for both theatre and concert series patrons, which will be presented by a visiting company Monday, Feb. 25, at 8:15 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. Tickets are $7.50 for non-patrons, $6 for patrons and are on sale at Ken Smith's office in the Campus Center.

Work, Fun and Magic = Success

by Karen Smith
Women's Sports Information Director

The women's gymnastics team is headed for the Division II Nationals again this year and, while this indicates a great deal of expertise on the part of the gymnasts, each will tell you one big reason the team is doing so well is the coach.

Sylvia Shirley is a fun-loving Englishwoman who has her own particular brand of coaching philosophy. She has imbued a traditionally individualistic sport with a vigorous and infectious style of team spirit.

"I expect the gymnasts to strive for their best within the framework of the William and Mary academic environment," says Shirley. "I stress team spirit as the most important aspect of the team. If the gymnasts finish with a feeling of team spirit, then that to me is success."

The idea of team unity is new for many gymnasts. "Real team spirit is something you don't find on a lot of teams," says sophomore Debby Heim. "A lot of gymnasts come from private clubs where there is a lot of competition within the team."

Shirley isn't swayed by the traditional individualistic attitudes of gymnasts. One of her favorite sayings, according to junior Jan Roltsch, is "if we get an attitude we don't like we change it."

Roltsch, a gymnast since eight years of age, is a veteran of AAU competition which she terms "blood and guts." "Sylvia considers that everybody has something to contribute to the team," says Roltsch. "She takes the competition out from between team members. I really think she makes better people."

At gymnastics meets, Shirley dresses in a green and gold warm-up outfit which makes it hard to distinguish her as the coach. That doesn't bother Shirley who says, "They don't work for me in a meet, we all work together."

Shirley's philosophy is to let each team member know that they have her full confidence in their performance. She says that personal feelings about gymnastics can really affect an individual's performance and she doesn't want them to be working for her approval.

"Sylvia doesn't get upset if we lose or miss a part of our program," says Heim. "She only gets mad when we get upset with ourselves."

The nine-member squad does a choreographed warm-up to the rock group Styx's song "Fooling Yourself" before each meet and when they go into a huddle Shirley reminds them that they are in the competition as a team.

"This team wins a lot of close meets on team spirit," says freshman Ellen Gianukakis. One such win was an upset over Division I Towson State 126.3 to 125.65 this spring.

Shirley achieves this feeling of team spirit by giving generously of her talents and herself. One way Shirley develops team cohesion is by inviting the squad over for dinners which include "massive salads." "Sylvia lets us see her as she is outside of coaching," says sophomore Cathy Dechiara.

That "outside self" is connected to Shirley's background in adventure games and backpacking. She received her B.A. in Physical Education and Geography from Birmingham University in England and originally came to the States to teach outdoor activities at the State University of New York at Cortland. While at SUNY she received a Certificate of Education and M.S.C. in Recreation and Education.

Although never a gymnast herself, Shirley has taught gymnastics both at Edinborough University in Scotland and at SUNY-Cortland. She is in her fifth year of coaching at William and Mary. What makes her so special to the team is that her trademark is fun.

"One thing that really helps us get to know each other is playing games," says Dechiara.

The sandy-haired, blue-eyed Shirley just wants the whole experience to be very positive. "I like to show them that I believe in fun, that I'm having fun. I love magic, I love tricks and I love games."

Shirley's enthusiasm and fun-loving spirit has developed a team which is headed for the Division II Nationals again this year. The reason?

"Sylvia is one of the best coaches I've ever come across and I've been around the country in AAU programs," says Roltsch.

Championship Meet

The Virginia Intercollegiate Gymnastic Championship for both men and women will be held at William and Mary Hall on Sunday, Feb. 24, beginning at 1 p.m. Admission is $3 for adults, $2 for children, and William and Mary students with ID will be admitted free.

The William and Mary men's team will be seeking its sixth consecutive State title while the women will be defending their title for the first time. Three men's events and two women's events will be run simultaneously.

Coach Sylvia Shirley and her team cheer for some good marks from the judges.

Alumni Contribute to Library; Support Washington Program

John H. (Jack) Garrett Jr. '40, Irvington, Va., was elected president of the Board of Directors of the Society of the Alumni at the semi-annual meeting in February at which the Board pledged $7,500 to Swem Library for the purchase of books and periodicals in the humanities.

The Board contribution will count toward the National Endowment for the Humanities Challenge Grant which will enable the College to receive $1 from NEH for every $3 it raises from other sources. The College has a goal of $1.5 million over the next three years.

Garrett, who is beginning his second three-year term on the Board of Directors, succeeds Denys Grant '58, Richmond, who was elected treasurer. Dr. Henry D. Wilde Jr. '53, Houston, Texas, was elected vice president, and Mrs. Marilyn Miller Entwisle '44, Meadowbrook, Pa., was elected secretary. Grant replaced Patricia King Sell '58, La Jolla, Calif., as treasurer, and Dr. Wilde succeeded Garrett as vice president. Mrs. Entwisle replaced Elaine Elias Kappel '55 as secretary. Mrs. Kappel retired from the Board after completing her second term.

The Board welcomed its lone new member, Stewart Gamage '72, Alexandria, who is associate deputy for government affairs in the office of presidential inflation adviser Dr. Alfred E. Cohn.

In addition to the $7,500 to Swem

Library, the Board contributed $1,000 to the Alumni Scholarship Endowment Fund for undergraduates and $750 to the Washington Program which takes a group of undergraduates to the nation's capital each year to visit with media and government representatives. All of the appropriated funds came from the Merchandising Program of the Society. The gift to the Washington Program is dependent upon a matching gift from the College. In addition, the Board pledged financial support of up to $1,000 to the Senior Class for a graduation dance in the Sunken Garden, if the class is able to finance the rest of the project.

Ticket Sales

General admission tickets for the talk by the Rev. Jesse Jackson, Feb. 27, in William and Mary Hall, under the sponsorship of the William and Mary Speakers Forum are $1.50 for faculty, staff and students and $2 for the general public. They are on sale at the Campus Center desk and will be on sale at William and Mary Hall, Feb. 25.

Next speaker on the Forum series will be Washington Post reporter Robert Woodward of Watergate fame, co-author of the controversial new book about the Supreme Court, The Brethren, who will speak here March 18.

Attorney General Outlines Financial Disclosure Requirements

To: All College Employees

I am writing to inform you of the disclosure requirements imposed on officers and employees of State agencies by S. 2.1-353 of the Virginia Conflict of Interests Act. This section requires that officers and employees complete the attached disclosure form and return it to this office during January.

This duty is in addition to the disclosure requirement found in S. 2.1-353.2 of the Conflict of Interests Act. That provision, added to the Act in 1978, required those employees specifically designated by the Governor to complete a disclosure form and return it to this Office during December, 1978. Approximately 12,000 employees were designated, and the forms received under S. 2.1-353.2 are now on file in this Office.

The additional requirement of S. 2.1-353.2 does not, however, eliminate the requirement imposed by S. 2.1-353. Rather, the two disclosure requirements supplement one another. The requirement with which this letter is concerned is somewhat different than that which required disclosure during December.

For example, the attached form is to be completed by those State officers and employees who believe, or have reason to believe, that they have material financial interests which may be substantially affected by actions of the agency of which they are officers or employees. In addition, there is no list of employees who are specifically designated as being required to complete this form; it is a matter of discretion on the part of an individual whether he or she is subject to this requirement.

I anticipate that there are many State officers and some employees who were not designated by the Governor to fill out a Conflict of Interest form in December who may, nonetheless, have a material financial interest which may be substantially affected by the actions of their agency. Those individuals should complete the attached form.

NOTE: None of those persons who were designated by the Governor to complete the December form need file the attached disclosure statement. It is not necessary that the same individual complete more than one disclosure form.

The following statutory definitions are pertinent with respect to this requirement:

"S. 2.1-348. Definitions.--As used in this chapter:

"(d) 'Officer' shall include any person appointed or elected to any governmental or advisory agency, and who shall be deemed an officer of such agency, whether or not such person receives compensation or other emolument of office, but as to SS. 2.1-351, 2.1-352 and 2.1-353 shall not include any member of the General Assembly of Virginia.

"(e) 'Employee' shall include all persons employed by any governmental or advisory agency."

In light of the penalties for noncompliance provided by S. 2.1-354, it would be appreciated if you would bring this matter to the attention of appropriate personnel within your agency. A disclosure form is enclosed. Copies for those officers and employees subject to this requirement should be made by your agency.

Stone Is Speaker Sunday Evening

Dr. Sonja Stone, director of Afro-American Studies at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, will speak at 7:30 p.m., Sunday, Feb. 24, in the Project Plus Lounge on "Afro-American Studies on a Predominately White Campus."

Dr. Stone is the last speaker on the Black Heritage Month Celebration program which began Feb. 10 and has included several guest speakers, a film, dance and talent show.

The program has been coordinated by Esther H. Vassar, lecturer in English, working with the Office of Minority Affairs.

Dr. Stone

NSF Awards Physicists $220,000

The National Science Foundation has announced an award of $220,000 for 1980 to an experimental physics group.

This research, concentrating on interactions of muons, pions, anti-protons and sigma hyperons, is under the direction of principal investigators Morton Eckhause, John R. Kane, Robert T. Siegel and Robert E. Welsh of the physics department.

Besides the principal investigators, other members of the physics department involved in the research supported by the grant include Rolf G. Winter, electronics engineer William F. Vulcan, research associates Walter Dey, Rene Hartmann and William A. Orance; graduate students William Baxter, Kevin Giovanetti, David Hertzog, Joe Martinez and William Phillips, as well as several undergraduate physics majors.

The award for this calendar year brings the total funded for this research since January 1977 to approximately $800,000.

Experiments are planned and results analyzed at William and Mary. The experiments themselves are performed at high-energy accelerators, typically those located at Brookhaven National Laboratory on Long Island and those at the University of British Columbia in Vancouver, Canada, and the Swiss Institute for Nuclear Research near Zurich.

Notebook

Nominations Sought

Nominations are being sought for the Glenn D. Mann Memorial Scholarship at the College.

The annual scholarship recognizes a senior or junior whose involvement in community service extends beyond the William and Mary campus. It was established through funds raised by students, Williamsburg Fire Department and Rescue Squad members, and friends of Glenn D. Mann. Mann was an active member of the Williamsburg Fire Department and Rescue Squad and the American Red Cross. He was killed in South Vietnam in 1965 while serving as a helicopter pilot.

Letters of nomination should be submitted to E. Leon Looney, director of student financial aid at the College, by March 14.

The selection committee consists of Vernon M. Geddy, Jr., Williamsburg Mayor; W. Samuel Sadler, dean of students; David W. Garland, president of the Student Association; and Looney.

The recipient will be honored at the annual Spring Honors Convocation later this semester.

For Students

President Graves will be in his office Tuesday, Feb. 26, from 4-5 p.m. to chat informally with students about any topic of their choice. No appointment is necessary.

Project Plus Forums

Franco Triolo, associate professor of modern languages and literature, will serve as commentator for the film "A Brief Vacation," which will be shown at the Project Plus Forum at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 20, in Millington Auditorium.

The film, directed by Vittorio DeSica, who has won academy awards for "Shoeshine," "Bicycle Thief" and "Sunflower," explores the self-discovery that can result from relationships between men and women.

"Men and Women in the Military" will be the topic of the forum program at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 27, in Millington Auditorium.

Capt. Donald Pratt, assistant professor of military science at the College, and Lt. Stella Lee, a recent graduate of the William and Mary ROTC program currently stationed at Fort Story, Va., will be the principal speakers.

The first public forum after the spring break is scheduled March 19 and will be devoted to a discussion of "The Family: Civilization's Basic Unit," led by Emeric Fischer, professor of law at the Marshall-Wythe School of Law.

Junior Recital

The music department will present a junior recital by Kathy O'Kane, flute, and Kathy Gerald, piano, on Friday, Feb. 22, at 8:15 p.m. in the Campus Center Ballroom.

Featured on the program will be selections for flute, piano and guitar. Assisting on the program will be Gerald Kowalski, Guitar, and Kae Brown, double bass.

Hamada On Karate

Shihan Hiro Hamada, 7th degree Black Belt in Karate and a member of the Old Dominion University faculty, will present a lecture-demonstration, "Philosophy of Martial Arts and Zen," on Thursday, February 21, 7:30 p.m. at Asia House in the Fraternity Complex, Unit B. A reception will follow the program.

Fun Runs

Fun runs, sponsored by the Peninsula Track Club and the William and Mary Track Team, are scheduled as follows:

March 1, 10 a.m., 1/2, 1, 2 miles; March 15, 10 a.m., 1/2, 1, 3 miles; April 5, 9 a.m., 1/2, 1, 3 miles; April 19, 9 a.m., 1/2, 1, 2 miles; May 3, 9 a.m., 1/2, 1, 3 miles; and May 17, 9 a.m., 1/2, 1, 3 miles.

Time certificates will be awarded to all runners.

These are informal fun runs designed to promote running as a conditioning and social activity. They are not races. Participants may run as hard or as easy as they like. Runs begin in front of Cary Field. Children are welcomed.

Further information concerning the program may be obtained from Bob Miller, 220-0564 (evenings).

Painting Course

The College Women's Club will offer a mini-course in watercolor for beginners Thursday, Feb. 28, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., at the home of Edith Edwards, 114 Stanley Drive.

Registrations are being taken by Betty Mainor, 229-1444 (after 1:30 p.m.). Class limit is 12.

The course will introduce the beginner to watercolor, wet on wet, and will include instruction in methods of washes. No materials are needed; however, if you have the following, please bring them along: a 10 inch by 12 inch flat surface to attach paper to; and a large watercolor brush.

For further information concerning the program, please call Ida Finifter, 220-3684.

Careers In Art

The Office of Career Planning is sponsoring a program on "Careers in Commercial Art and Related Fields" with Marion Montgomery, a 1975 graduate of William and Mary, who is a successful self-employed illustrator fine artist.

This program will be presented Wednesday, Feb. 20, at 3:30 p.m. Students interested in attending should register in the Office of Career Planning, James Blair 208, or call ext. 4427.

Colloquium in Archaeology

A colloquium in historical archaeology will be held Thursday, Feb. 21, at 8 p.m., in Washington Hall, 111, with James Haskett, chief historian of the Colonial National Historical Park, as speaker.

Haskett will discuss "Interpretation of Historic Sites: Federal Style" and the problems of developing historical archaeological interpretation for the general public.

Summer Employment

Students interested in summer employment with VPISU Cooperative Extension Service in their camp are encouraged to contact the Placement Office, Morton Hall, prior to March 1, to arrange interviews here on campus. After that date, students interested in such employment should ask for Reference F-11-1 in the Placement Office for information.

S.C. Governor's School

Students wishing to work at the Governor's School of South Carolina during the coming summer can find information for applying by asking for Reference F-11-2 at the Placement Office, Morton Hall. Deadline for applications is April 1.

Gay Rights Politics

The Lambda Alliance will sponsor a forum on the future of gay rights politics. Steve Endean, Executive Director, Gay Rights National Lobby, and representatives from other national and state gay rights organizations will speak, Wednesday, Feb. 20, 8 p.m. in the Sit 'n Bull Room of the Campus Center. Refreshments will be served.

Writers Festival

The William and Mary Spring Writers Festival is once again sponsoring a Poetry Contest and a Fiction Contest, to be judged by guests of the Festival. The two winners in each category will be awarded $25 apiece. Typed, double-spaced submissions, accompanied by a cover sheet with name and phone number, should be submitted to David Porush, department of English, by Monday, March 10. Winners will also be asked to read their work at the Festival.

CPA's Score High

William and Mary accounting graduates achieved the highest percentage of parts passed among first-time candidates who sat for the CPA examination in Virginia in May, 1979, according to an analysis just released by the examiners. The William and Mary candidates' standing is compared to 18 other collegiate institutions in Virginia.

The 1979 results represent the fourth time in the past six years that William and Mary seniors have finished in first place among candidates taking the May examination for the first time.

Geology Lectures

Energy exploration and the development of energy resources is the focus of speakers on the geology department lecture series this semester at the College.

Frank Jacobeen, senior geologist with the Washington Gas and Light Company, discussed exploring for energy resources at 2 p.m. Friday, Feb. 15, in William Small Laboratory, Room 238. His program also included a short film on oil exploration.

Jacobeen gave a lecture of a more general nature at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 14, in Small, Room 113.

Dean Garrett Briggs of the University of Tennessee is scheduled to speak at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Feb. 20, in Small, Room 238. His topic will be "Ancient Deltaic Environments." Briggs, dean of liberal arts at Tennessee, is past chairman of the geology department at the University and has had extensive experience in the petroleum industry. Arthur C. Bailey of the Oak Ridge Associated Universities Traveling Lecture Program will speak on "Geology and the Energy Crisis" at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 27, in Small, Room 113.
