PM Magazine Turns Spotlight on Shakespeare

The stars of the 1980 Virginia Shakespeare Festival at the College will shine in an upcoming segment of WTAR-TV's "PM Magazine" to air Wednesday, August 13 at 7:30 p.m. on Channel 3. The popular evening show will feature interviews with actors John Cook and Mary Ewald, director Charles Maryan, and will include scenes from this season's production of "As You Like It."

This is the final week of the Festival which closes after the evening performance of "The Comedy of Errors," on Sunday, August 17.

"We're very pleased with the story on the Virginia Shakespeare Festival," says PM producer Bob Field. "It's an action-packed piece that I think everyone will enjoy."

"It's the kind of story that generates a sense of Shakespeare for every man," says Field of the Festival segment. "The actors are young and energetic with the ability to transmit Shakespeare to audiences in an exciting and action-packed fashion."

The PM crew spent several days at the College shooting footage for the story, including shots of the opening day Shakespearean Fair and some of the many hours of rehearsal for the plays. The final story should make up about six to seven minutes of the program.

"PM Magazine" is a syndicated show now being aired at about 90 stations throughout the country. Each local station, however, has its own local production crew and on-air hosts to give each PM show a local look and feel. Stations are required to produce their own local stories, and several local segments make up the "national reel" sent from PM headquarters in San Francisco to local PM stations.

WTAR's "PM Magazine" is among the area's most popular shows, capturing a number-one rating in its early evening time slot.

At right, Frank Hankey as Egeon in "The Comedy of Errors," tries to talk the Duke of Ephesus, played by John Luce, out of putting his head on the chopping block. At left, John Reese, as he appears as Pinch in the same play. This is the final week for the Festival and "The Comedy of Errors," will be the final show, Sunday evening, August 17. Reservations for the final performances of "The Merchant of Venice" and "As You Like It," may be made at the Phi Beta Kappa box office, ext. 4272.

War Letters Acquired by Swem Library

The Manuscript and Rare Books department of Swem Library announces the purchase of two Revolutionary War letters written from Williamsburg by well-known Virginians, Patrick Henry and St. George Tucker. Both letters were written in 1778, the year the French Alliance was signed.

Patrick Henry's letter is written to Richard Henry Lee, then a delegate to the Continental Congress. His letter, written while he was Governor, concerns military affairs and shows his attitude towards the French. He writes of a French military officer: "I revere his Nation & feel great regard for all its People." His early biographer William Writ Henry says "to no one in America was news of the French alliance more grateful than to Governor Henry." Henry.

Patrick Henry writes further in his letter that the English have departed with all their ships, the news of 100 drafts from the Eastern Shore going to the English is false, and asks Richard Henry Lee to acquire "6 or 8 cannon for a Fort to protect the ships of our allies."

This letter will be added to a small group of papers by and relating to Patrick Henry already in the department. It was purchased at Sotheby Parke Bernet auction, Sang Sale, June 3, with funds made available by Charles Warren and H. Lester Hooker.

St. George Tucker's letter also concerns the French. Written later than Henry's his is dated 19 July 1778. He writes to his best friend and later Governor of the Commonwealth John Page of the news that the French Fleet has reached New York in safety. He is referring to the dozen ships under the command of Count d'Estaing who arrived on July 11th off Sandy Hook, New York and then fearing the British too strong, proceeded to Newport, Rhode Island. His letter will be added to the voluminous Tucker-Coleman Papers given to the Library by the Coleman family of Williamsburg in 1966. It was bought with funds made available by John M. Presson, class of 1916, for the purchase of Virginiana manuscripts and rare books.

LABOR DAY HOLIDAY 1980

Labor Day, September 1, is a legal holiday for permanent classified employees. Since this date falls on Monday and classes will be in session on that day, normal service must be maintained. The responsibility for maintaining normal operating services rests with the Department Head.

A leave slip must be submitted to the Personnel Office for any permanent classified employee at the College of William and Mary who takes the holiday. Employees at the Virginia Institute of Marine Science who take the holiday will indicate eight hours in the space provided for holiday on their time and effort sheet. Permanent classified employees who are required to work are urged to take the compensatory leave earned for this holiday as soon thereafter as possible. Hourly employees who work on this holiday will be paid at their regular hourly rate.

Tidewater Consortium Gets Grant for EOC Program

The Virginia Tidewater Consortium for Continuing Higher Education of which William and Mary is a member, recently received official notification from the U.S. Department of Education that the Tidewater Educational Opportunity Centers' Program had been refunded for fiscal year 1980-81.

Lawrence G. Dotolo, Consortium Administrator, indicated that he was "pleased that the EOC could continue to provide educational services to Tidewater residents interested in post-secondary education." The EOC program will be funded with a $138,527 federal grant and $48,177 in institutional contributions. One of 34 EOC's throughout the country, the Tidewater EOC has been in operation since October 1979.

The primary emphasis of the EOC program is to recruit and identify individuals interested in pursuing post-secondary education. However, of equal importance is assisting individuals interested in short-term vocational training programs, adult basic education, and GED preparation.

The EOC serves as a central clearinghouse for information on all levels of educational opportunities. Services include referrals to local GED and adult basic education classes, and community agencies; information, catalogs and brochures on colleges and universities; admissions and financial aid information and assistance in completing forms; career planning, counseling, and interest testing; tutorial assistance and follow-up on each client. The center offers a wide variety of resources including extensive career resource materials.

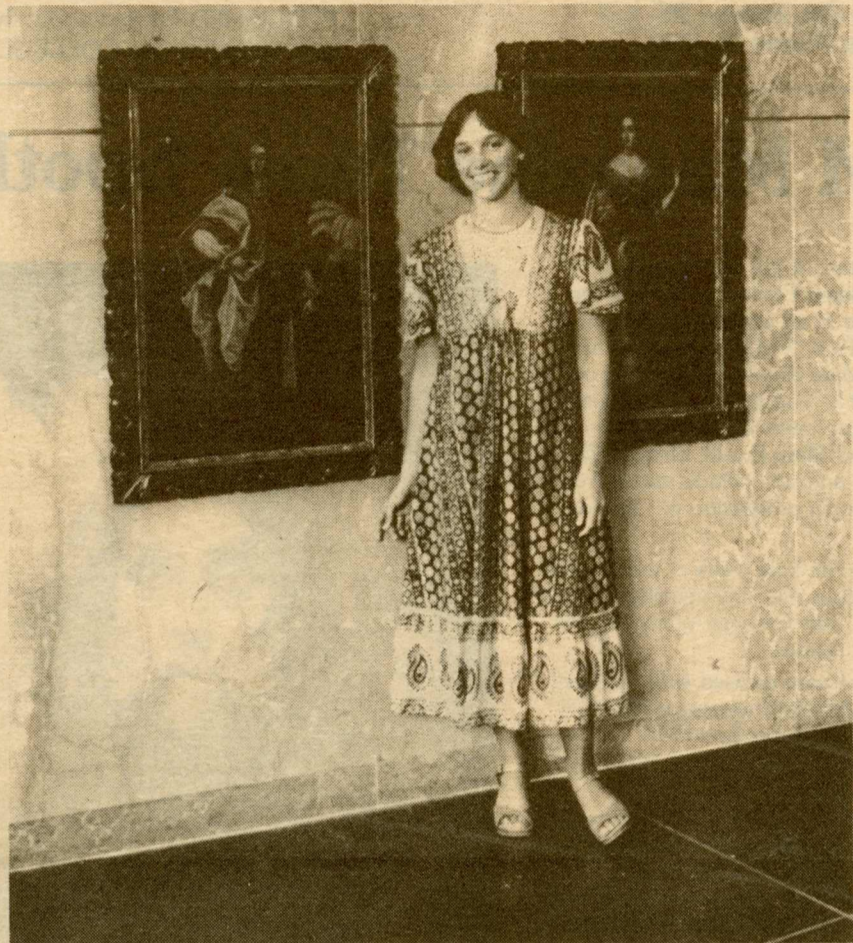

Currently four EOC's exist in the Tidewater area; however, these four centers will be consolidated into one facility in September at 3830 Virginia Beach Boulevard, Virginia Beach.

Host Families Sought to Assist Foreign Students

Each year the College welcomes students from all parts of the world. As a service to these students, Joseph P. Healey, associate dean of the undergraduate program, and his staff try to find families or individuals in the Williamsburg community who would be willing to serve as "host families" for these incoming students.

The host family program is primarily a social program, intended to promote contact between international students and Americans. It is an informal program geared to individual needs and interests.

Dean Healey is seeking a few new families or individuals to participate in the program this year. For more information contact Dean Healey or Thomas Wong at ext. 4354.

Scholar Poses With Portraits

Anne Langmead of Plymouth, England, Lady Astor Scholar has completed work for a master's degree in education and will be living in Virginia Beach next year, as the wife of another graduate student, John Mannarino of Long Island, who is also working toward a graduate degree in education.

A graduate of London University, Anne has a degree in environmental biology. She hopes to obtain a teaching position at the high school level next year. Anne will be married this month in Plymouth and will honeymoon in Cornwall, England before returning to the United States with her husband.

Selected for a year's study at William and Mary by a committee composed of the Lord Mayor of Plymouth, an Alderman and trustee of the Lady Astor

Fund. Anne earned her scholarship because of her academic record and the fact that she is a native of Plymouth and has lived there for seven consecutive years, both requirements of the scholarship committee.

Lady Astor, the first woman to hold a seat in the British Parliament, was the former Nancy Langhorne of Richmond, Va.

For Anne this year in Williamsburg was her second visit to the United States. Two years ago she was a counselor at a YWCA summer camp in Wisconsin. She says she has enjoyed her year here but says she is sure many foreign students like her, have difficulty at first, adjusting to the more structured program of an American university.

Tickets Offered For Film Series

The William and Mary Film Series is offering 50 films for $8 - 16 cents per film.

This campus-wide service is open to the faculty and staff of the College. Individual admission to films is $2. Family and guests are welcome to attend but must purchase a $2 ticket at the door for each program.

Planners feel this year's series is one of the best college film series in the country. Out of seventeen Academy Awards for full-length motion pictures presented in 1980, fourteen are scheduled to be shown, as well as many other award winning films.

Cartoons will be shown with the double or triple feature films each weekend. The schedule has not yet been announced but anyone who would like to purchase a season pass should send a check for $8, payable to the William and Mary Film Series, c/o Student Association, Campus Center Basement.

The lineup of films includes the following: "Apocalypse Now," "Kramer vs Kramer," "Star Trek," "10," "The Deer Hunter," "The Jerk," "The Onion Field," "Halloween," "Manhattan," and "Murder by Decree." The series will also include a John Wayne night, a program of old horror films and two programs yet to be announced.

Seminar Offered by Office of Special Programs Will Give Fee Discount to Employees

The Office of Special Programs at the College of William and Mary, is sponsoring a three-day seminar, "Basics for Purchasing and Materials Managers," to be held August 18 - 20 at the Hospitality House on Richmond Road.

Instructors for the seminar will be members of the faculty of the William and Mary School of Business Administration. The seminar will focus on the potential of purchasing and materials management and its role in contributing to profitability. The objectives of the program are to enable purchasing and materials managers to contribute more effectively to company policy, while increasing their proficiency as administrators.

Faculty members who will participate include William J. Maddocks, William H. Hawthorne, James R. Haltiner and Henry H. Mallue, Jr. Fee for the program is $375. A discount will be offered to William and Mary employees. Detailed information on the classes to be offered and registration procedures may be obtained from Shirley E. Ellis, seminar administrator, at the Office of Special Programs, phone 877-9231.

The Housekeeping Employee of the Month for July, Mrs. Mary Stukes, (l) receives a congratulatory handshake from her supervisor Mrs. Josephine Strong. Mrs. Strong nominated Mrs. Stukes for the award.

Mrs. Stukes Wins Award

Mrs. Mary Stukes, an employee of the College since 1978, has been selected to receive the Housekeeping Employee Award for July.

A resident and native of Charles City, Mrs. Stukes was nominated by her supervisor, Mrs. Josephine Strong.

While Mrs. Stukes' main station has been Washington Hall, she has worked in seven other buildings on campus. Mrs. Strong says she has used Mrs. Stukes to fill-in on short assignments because she is an energetic and dependable worker.

The wife of John Stukes, assistant manager of the kitchen at the Motor House Cafeteria, Mrs. Stukes likes to sew and work in her yard. She also keeps chickens. She loves plants and keeps a large flower garden. The dry weather this summer, she says, has hurt her vegetable garden.

Mr. and Mrs. Stukes have one daughter, Ohaion, a rising senior at Ruthville High School. She is a cheerleader and a member of the school band and active in many school activities.

As recipient of a monthly award, Mrs. Stukes is a candidate for the Housekeeping Employee of the Year award which includes a Savings Bond.

Esler Chooses Old Babylon As Setting for Latest Book

Little remains of ancient Babylon but dust and mud. But that doesn't stop Anthony Esler from visiting the historic city through fiction.

Esler, professor of history says his latest novel entitled "Babylon" enabled him to "travel" to the once grand center of wealth and power and to explore not only what was, but also what might have been.

"I tend to write historical fiction when I can't travel," says Esler. "Since it's impossible to travel to ancient Babylon, I thought I'd visit it through fiction."

The novel is set against the Babylonian captivity of the Jews in 586 B.C.

Esler weaves together the threads of history and fiction to form a compelling saga about how the Jews eventually overcame their Babylonian captors and returned to rebuild the abandoned city of Jerusalem.

Because of its ancient time-frame, research for the novel was painstaking, Esler says. "There are bits and pieces of the story in the books of Ezekiel, Isaiah, and Daniel of the Old Testament. In addition, we do have a good deal of archaeological remains and the history built upon it," he explains. Esler even had to read old cuneiform scripts in translation to get the details of life in the ancient city.

Although the book's two main characters are fictional, both are surrounded by authentic historical and biblical figures of the period. "Some of the more colorful characters of the Old Testament appear in the book," says Esler, author of six historical novels.

Among those characters are Belshazzar, son of King

Nebuchadnezzar and the decadent prince of Babylon; Cyrus the Great, hardfighting founder of the Persian Empire; Isaiah, one of the most eloquent prophets of the Bible; and Daniel, Belshazzar's dream interpreter who faced his destiny in the famous lion's den.

The most enchanting characters of the novel, however, are Leah, the granddaughter of captured Hebrews, and Nabu, the son of a Babylonian high priest. The two become childhood friends and fall in love despite their conflicting backgrounds. Leah and Nabu are the star-crossed lovers of the tale, who, in Esler's words, "must travel a long, hard road until they finally come together."

Actually, the great cultural difference between Leah and Nabu is a religious one, observes Esler. "Leah and her people believe that their god, Yahweh, is the one true God. And it is Nabu's roots in the old religion, the cults of Babylon, which divide them."

As he wrote the novel, Esler says he found that religion seemed to be the touchstone that determined the place of all the major figures of the book.

"There were many cults flourishing at the time (sixth century, B.C.)," he says. "The Cult of Yahweh, the Hebrew god, was one of the smallest and least impressive of all the major religions in Babylon."

Although Esler was tempted to deal objectively with all the religions presented in the novel, he decided to take a different approach. "It would have been easier simply to take an objec-

Official Memos

Assignment of Vehicles on a Permanent Basis

On June 30, 1980 we informed the College Transportation Officer that, effective July 1, 1980, there should be NO State vehicle assigned on a permanent basis to ANY employee of the College.

This prohibition is in accordance with a memorandum of June 24 to all heads of State Agencies, Departments, and Institutions from Mr. Harold C. King, Chairman of the Central Garage Car Pool Committee, in which Mr. King refers to Section 4-9.07 of the 1980-82 Appropriation Act and states that the regulations in this section of the Act "shall be strictly enforced." It should be noted that the Appropriation Act includes Section 4-16.00 which states "All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act be, and the same are hereby, repealed." In other words, any statutes dealing with assignment of State vehicles, which might have been valid prior to July 1, 1980, no longer are valid if they are in conflict with Section 4-9.07.

Further advice on this matter for specific individuals will be forthcoming if and when waivers are granted for specific cases. Justification for a waiver should be submitted in writing to this office at the earliest possible date so that it might be reviewed by President Graves and myself, and submitted to Mr. King's Car Pool Committee for further consideration, if deemed appropriate.

Meanwhile, the College Transportation Officer will begin to set up departmental sub-trip pools in lieu of permanent assignments and oversee any necessary rotation of vehicles to insure compliance with the mileage minimum specified (12,800 business miles, exclusive of commuting miles).

We would appreciate your understanding cooperation in the matter.

William J. Carter
Vice President for Business Affairs

Rates of Pay for "Hourly" Employees

The College employs individuals on a part-time temporary hourly basis to accomplish a variety of work requirements. It is the policy of the College to increase the compensation of these employees in the same manner as classified employees.

When it is determined by the appropriate supervisor that an hourly employee is to receive an increase in their rate of pay, their department head must submit a written request to the College Director of Personnel. The new hourly rate, reason for change in pay (i.e. merit increase, regrade), and the proposed effective date for the new rate must be given. This request must be received in the College Personnel Office prior to the proposed effective date for the rate change so as not to delay this increase in pay. Any tardiness will cause the employee to receive the increase after the next regular pay date.

Time Sheets for Labor Day, September 1

Those individuals responsible for turning in time sheets for hourly employees are reminded that the College will be open on Labor Day, September 1. All time sheets for both hourly employees and students are still due in on the 1st by 10:30 a.m. in the Payroll Office. If the person responsible for turning them in is not going to be at work on the 1st of September, arrangements should be made to still get them in on time.

Recording Changes

It is the responsibility of each employee to advise the College Personnel Office whenever a change affecting their personnel records occurs.

Changes such as the beneficiary of a VSRS Life Insurance Policy; home address and/or telephone number; incorrect date of birth; attainment of an educational degree or certificate; (or any other evidence that may qualify the employee for promotion) should be reported in writing to the College Personnel Office. Changes in Federal State tax exemption status or any changes affecting Blue Cross Blue Shield coverage must be completed by the employee in the College Personnel Office. Please note that any changes you make will take approximately three weeks to become effective and be reflected on the white insert with your pay check.

Employees, by appointment, may review their personnel files in the Personnel Office to insure that the information contained in the file is current and correct.

Parking Along James Blair Drive

Shortly after August 21, when the Office for University Advancement has completed its move to James Blair Hall, both sides of Blair Drive adjacent to Chancellor's Hall will be closed to parking by College personnel during the Renovation of Chancellor's Hall. This is necessary to provide working and parking spaces for construction personnel in accordance with the terms of the renovation contract. It will also minimize the potential for accidents occurring with construction equipment in this area.

New Book by History Professor

tive stand and treat all the cults alike," he says. But in fact, I didn't do that."

"I decided to make this a 'what if' sort of book. What if the Jews were right and of all the gods and goddesses whose sacrificial fires burned across the length and breadth of Babylon, their god really was the one true God? What if they really were the chosen people? I took that point of view, and I think it made a much more interesting book."

"Babylon," Esler concludes, is "a book about the hand of God in human history." It succeeds in being much more interesting than most love stories precisely because it is also a book about religion and its impact on the lives of men and women whose lives and passions are no less real for having been lived and felt so long ago.
