PBK To Honor Stockmeyer, Bunting

The award-winning American poet, John Ashbery, has been selected as 1980 Phi Beta Kappa poet and will read from his work at the annual meeting of Alpha of Virginia chapter Friday, Dec. 5, at 8:15 p.m., in Millington auditorium.

Dec. 5 marks the 204th anniversary of the establishment of Phi Beta Kappa by a group of William and Mary students in 1776.

Friday evening's public program will climax a series of initiation ceremonies which will be held earlier in the day for members-elect and their families. It should be noted that this year's meeting is being held in Millington auditorium and not in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall as is the usual practice. The switch is due to a conflict with the concert schedule of the William and Mary choir and chorus, which will be performing one of their Christmas concerts that evening.

As well as the induction of members-in-course, Alpha chapter will also honor Paul K. Stockmeyer, associate professor of mathematics and computer science, as the recipient of its Phi Beta Kappa Award for the Advancement of Scholarship for his work both as a researcher and a classroom teacher.

Josiah Bunting, III, president of Hampden-Sydney College and a Rhodes Scholar will be honored as an honorary initiate of the Alpha Chapter.

John Ashbery has won the Pulitzer Prize, the National Book Award and the National Book Critics Circle Award for the 1975 collection, "Self-Portrait in a Convex Mirror." A prolific author and the recipient of numerous other awards prior to 1975, Ashbery has since published "Houseboat Days" (1977) and "As We Know" (1979). He is also a well-known art critic who served from 1966 to 1972 as executive editor of "Art News."

Ashbery holds an A.B. from Harvard and an M.A. from Columbia universities. At present, he is professor of English at Brooklyn College and poetry editor of "Partisan Review."

Stockmeyer, who joined the William and Mary faculty in 1971, holds degrees from Earlham College and the University of Michigan. He began his teaching career at Tuskegee Institute in 1965 and was on the faculty of the University of Michigan from 1965-71. His field of specialization is combinatorics and graph theory and the analysis of algorithms. He has published widely and has also been characterized as an accomplished mathematical expositor as well. In the past year, he has presented lectures at several schools and professional meetings.

President Bunting came to his present position from Briarcliff College, Briarcliff, N.Y., where he was president from 1973-77. A graduate of VMI, he was a Rhodes Scholar, Christ Church, Oxford University, from 1963-66 and was a John W. Burgess Fellow in history at Columbia University from 1970-72.

Meeting Planned on Water Pollution

The Marshall-Wythe School of Law will sponsor a conference on water pollution problems in Virginia and how best to solve them, Jan. 10, at the new Law School building.

The day-long meeting is the fourth and last in a special series of conferences funded by a grant to the law school from the multi-million dollar Virginia Environmental Endowment, created by order of Judge Robert R. Merhige, Jr., of the U.S. District Court for Eastern Virginia. The endowment was established as part of the Allied Chemical Company's settlement resulting from the complex Kepone litigation.

The deadline for registration has been extended from Dec. 1 to Dec. 12.

The registration fee is $25 and should be sent to "208 Conference," P.O. Box 718, Gloucester Point, Va., 23062. The conference will be limited to the first 150 registrants.

The day-long session begins at 9 a.m. with a panel discussion on the status and goals of Section 208 of the Federal Clean Water Act, as applied to Virginia problems. Panel speakers will be Dale F. Jones, director, Bureau of Water Control Management, State Water Control Board; and Robert J. Blanco, chief, Virginia/West Virginia branch, Water Division, Environmental Protection Agency. Commentators will be Paul E. Fisher, project director, Hampton Roads Water Quality Agency; and Frank X. Browne, consulting engineer, F. X. Browne and Associates, Lansdale, Pa.

David E. Evans of the law firm of McGuire, Woods and Battle in Richmond; and Frederick S. Fisher, assistant attorney general, environmental section, will be principal speakers for the second panel on local implementation of the 208 program. Commentators will be Mrs. Nancy O'Brien, former Mayor of Charlottesville; and R. Edward Duncan, executive director, Lord Fairfax Planning Commission.

The two afternoon sessions will concern implementation of alternatives

Holiday Reminder

All departments are reminded that student time sheets are due in the College payroll Office on December 19, no later than 9 a.m.

Please be sure to have appropriate signatures and departmental codes on all time sheets. Students cannot be paid if the time sheets are incomplete.

December Brings Music

Orchestra Tonight

The William and Mary College-Community Orchestra will present its Fall Concert on Tuesday, Dec. 2, at 8:15 p.m. in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. General admission is $1.50. Tickets are available at the box office or in advance through the Department of Music, ext. 4374.

The concert will feature the complete incidental music to Goethe's tragedy "EGMONT," by Ludwig van Beethoven with soprano soloist Mary L. Fletcher. The program will also include Charles Ives' "Unanswered Question," and Mozart's Symphony No. 26 and Aria: "Vorrei spiegarvi, oh Dio" with Ms. Fletcher as soloist.

The orchestra will be under the direction of conductor Edgar Warren Williams.

Choir and Chorus

Pergolesi's "Magnificat," sung by the Choir under the direction of Frank T. Lendrim and accompanied by a string ensemble, will be one of the highlights of the traditional choir and chorus Christmas concerts, Dec. 4, 5, and 6 at 8:15 p.m., in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

General admission tickets are $1.50 each and are available at the College switchboard in James Blair Hall, the Campus Center desk and from the music department in Ewell Hall, room 108.

The chorus will be featured in John Rutter's "Shepherd's Pipe Carol," and Daniel Pinkham's "Angelus Ad Pastores Ait." The Botetourt Chamber Singers, a groups comprised of singers from the choir, will participate in the holiday concerts along with the College's Brass Ensembles. The program music will include carols of many nations and compositions by Britten, Kidaly, Holst and Thea Musgrave.

Fisher and Geraldts

Valerie Kaye Fisher, soprano, and Kathryn Lynn Geraldts, piano accompanist, will present a recital at 4 p.m., Sunday, Dec. 7, in the Campus Center ballroom under the sponsorship of the department of music.

The program will include selection of Lieder by Robert Schumann, songs by Charles Ives (1894-1954), an aria from "The Telephone," by Menotti and a quartet of Spanish songs.

A reception following the program will be co-hosted by Mary M. Creel and Beth L. Miller.

Fisher, a junior music major from Roanoke, studies voice with Frances Palmer Breeze. She appeared last year in the Sinfonicron Opera Company's production of "Iolanthe," and will be appearing in this spring's production of "The Mikado." She is a member of Delta Omicron honorary music fraternity, and last spring she won first place in the Delta Omicron vocal competition.

Geraldts, a senior music major from Alexandria, is also a member of Delta Omicron and the Sinfonicron Opera Company and was one of last year's recipients of the Aurelia B. Walford music scholarships. She is a student of Vera Lendvay.

Superintendents to Hear Rohr

John Rohr, associate professor at the Center for Public Administration and Policy at Virginia Tech, will speak on "Ethical Considerations in the Formulation of Education Policy," at 2 p.m., Wednesday, December 10, in the Campus Center, room A.

Rohr will be speaking at the monthly meeting of the Tidewater School Division Superintendent's Association meeting. The meeting has been opened to the public because of the wide interest in Rohr's topic.

The superintendents meet monthly on campus to discuss common problems and participate in special workshops and seminars. Royce Chesser of the School of Education serves as local coordinator of the group.

Rohr has lectured and published extensively in questions of law and conscience in general and on the special question of ethics for the career civil servant in particular. While an associate director of the General Management Training Center of the U.S. Civil Service Commission, Rohr designed a training manual on ethics in public management. His most recent book is "Ethics for Bureaucrats; An Essay on Law and Values," published in 1978.

Rohr currently serves as managing editor of the scholarly journal, "Administration and Society." In 1975 he was selected as a Fellow by the National Association of Schools of Public Administration and since 1977 he has served as a member of the committee on standards and ethics of the American Society for Public Administration.

Irish Speaker Here Thursday

Maurice Manning, senior lecturer in politics at the National University of Ireland, University College, Dublin, and a candidate for election to the European Parliament, will fulfill two speaking engagements at the College of William and Mary on Thursday, Dec. 4.

Manning will speak to Alan J. Ward's government class in room 2 of Swem Library at 11 a.m., and at 4 p.m. will address a government department colloquium on developments in the European Community in Morton Hall.

room 4. Both meetings are open to interested students and the general public.

Manning, a specialist on Irish and European governments and the author of two books on Irish political parties, will be speaking on contemporary Irish government and politics. Manning is a frequent commentator on the political scene for Irish radio and television.

Further information concerning Manning's visit may be obtained from Professor Ward at ext. 4007.

Autograph Party Set for Bloom

Lynn Z. Bloom, associate professor of English and editor of "Forbidden Diary," the account of an American woman's life as a Japanese prisoner in the Philippines during World War II, will be hosted by the Williamsburg Area Women's Center on Jamestown Road at an autograph party at the Center at 8 p.m., Monday, Dec. 8.

The May issue of Ms. magazine singled out the book as "new and recommended." Newsweek described it as a "diary about the heroism of building an ordinary life under extraordinary hardship." CBS has bought the option for a TV movie.

"Forbidden Diary" sells for $14.95. Copies of the book will be available from the Women's Center for $8.95 through Dec. 8, with a donation of at least $6 to the Center.

Hall of Fame Taps Six

Constance Applebee, the grand dame of field hockey in the United States, and founder of the United States Field Hockey Association who helped Martha Barksdale found the hockey program at William and Mary, is one of six athletes who have been selected for induction into the William and Mary Athletic Hall of Fame on Dec. 6 at halftime of the basketball game with the University of Virginia. Miss Applebee, now 107, lives in the small village of Vurley in the south of England.

Other inductees include the following: Dan Henning '64, quarterback coach of the Miami Dolphins of the National Football League; Robert Hornsby '41, a former football and golf standout, now president of the Heritage Development and Realty Company in Williamsburg; Peggy L. Mann '41, a member of the physical education faculty at Teachers' College of Columbia University; Juris Luzins '70, track and cross country standout, presently an architect in Gainesville, Fla.; and Harry Light '30, basketball star, currently president and chief executive of Crestwood Fabrics, Inc. Garrison, N.Y.

Faculty Club Plans Party Friday

The Faculty Club will mark the end of classes by holding its second social event of the year on Friday, Dec. 5, from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m., in the greenhouse on the top floor of Millington Hall. The greenhouse contains many interesting species and varieties of plants which are labeled, as well as many which have a commentary concerning the species. The display area contains live snakes, turtles, rats, arthropods, and aquatic organisms in addition to permanent displays and photographs. Sample plants will be available and each couple may have one gratis.

The Faculty Club plans three other parties during the remainder of the academic year. Dates and locations will be announced. Faculty Club dues are $9.50 per year and entitle the member to purchase two tickets at the reduced rate of $3 per person for each of the parties. Non-members will be assessed $5 per person. Non-drinking members and their guests may purchase non-alcoholic tickets at $2 each and non-drinking non-members may purchase tickets at $3.50 each.

Membership dues may be sent to Roy Pearson, treasurer, Faculty Club, School of Business Administration, or they may be paid at the door on Dec. 5. Individuals who pay their dues between now and the day of the party or who pay at the door will be required to pay no additional fee for this party.

Bank Party

The First National Bank of Chicago is extending an invitation to any graduating senior to learn more about its FIRST SCHOLAR PROGRAM. The Bank is holding a reception on Dec. 29 for any interested student who will be in the Chicago area. The First Scholars Program is looking for people with excellent communications skills, leadership and ambition, as well as a commitment to the banking field. Students who wish to know more about the program should contact the Office of Placement and ask for Reference 0-31-1 in Morton 140; deadline is Dec. 8.

Summer Jobs

The Office of Placement has application forms for summer positions in Yellowstone National Park. There are a variety of jobs available. For additional information, ask to see the summer job file in Morton 140.

Careers in Nursing

Gretchen Crawford, assistant professor of community health at Case Western Reserve University School of Nursing, will hold seminars Monday, Dec. 8, at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., to talk about a new professional program leading to the degree of Doctor of Nursing. Graduates are prepared to practice in many traditional and nontraditional settings.

All students are invited to attend. For an appointment, contact the Office of Placement, Morton Hall 140, ext. 4604.

For Foreign Students

The Office of Placement has forms from the National Association for Foreign Student Affairs which may assist students in finding employment in their home countries. There is no charge for this service and individuals are eligible if they have no present employment commitment and are a junior, senior or graduate foreign student. For additional information, ask to see reference N-24-1 in Morton Hall 140.

The Washington Program

Applications are now available for the upcoming Washington Program on "Superpower in a Splintered World: U.S. Foreign Policy in Crisis" scheduled for Feb. 2-4.

Applications may be picked up from the Office of Extramural Programs on the 3rd floor of the Brafferton. The deadline for receipt of applications is Jan. 23. (This is an extension from the original deadline of Jan. 16).

Graduate Scholarship

The Scholarship Program of the Saint Andrew's Society of the State of New York offers graduate scholarships to promote cultural interchange between Scotland and the United States. Only one application will be considered from any individual college or university.

Each scholarship provides funds up to a total of $8,500, which may be used for tuition and related academic expenses, transportation and living expenses. For more information contact the Office of Extramural Programs, the Brafferton, 3rd floor, or call ext. 4354.

Brown Bag Lunch

Joan Sprigle and Kaye Levy will talk about "Choosing Toys for Children," Dec. 5, at the next brown bag lunch at the Williamsburg Area Women's Center on the lower level of St. Stephen's Lutheran Church on Jamestown Road. Child care during the program can be arranged by calling the Women's Center, 229-7944 at least one day in advance.

Biology Class Project

The microbiology class under the direction of Carl W. Vermeulen, has completed a project of assisting the sixth grade science class at Bruton Heights School under Don Ackert with a unit on health and disease. This class project was designed to acquaint William and Mary students with the problems of relating important, complicated subjects such as immunity, what bacteria are, and mechanisms of viral and bacterial infection to laymen.

Forum Speaker

Barbara Kniest, executive director of Child Development Resources, will be guest speaker at the Forum of Williamsburg luncheon at noon on Tuesday, December 9.

Cost is $4.50. Checks should be made payable to the Women in Business Program and sent via campus mail to Julie Leverenz in the School of Business Administration.

Wesley Wilson Honored

Wesley C. Wilson, Assistant to the President for Affirmative Action and Equal Employment Opportunities, was honored by Delta Sigma Theta sorority at a reception held Nov. 23 in the Dodge Room of Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. Wilson was presented with a plaque of appreciation by sorority members. The reception was part of the "Weekend With Us" program which provided a preview of campus life at William and Mary for high school seniors. The program was sponsored by the Office of Minority Affairs. Pictured left to right: Benidia Rice, Pamela Hairston, Wilson, LaVetta Bailey, Kathryn Turner, Connie Lucase, Angela Bowman and Gilda Washington.

Bunting has written for Harper's,
Atlantic, Playboy, and the New York Times and Esquire magazines and his book "The Lionheads," was listed by Time magazine as one of the ten best novels of 1972. "The Advent of Frederick Giles," 1974 was published by Little, Brown.

Hugh Sidey in Time, January 14, 1980, described Bunting as "an extraordinary man. He was a Marine, who went to Virginia Military Institute, became first a captain, then a Rhodes scholar, fought with the Mobile Riverine Force of the 9th Infantry Division in Viet Nam and as a major taught at West Point. . . His time is spent now with his students, and with Brahms, Carlyle, and a strong spirit still to be savored among those Virginia hills, Stonewall Jackson."

'208' Conference

to the 208 program and summary comments.

John P. Hartigan, Jr., director of regional resources division, Northern Virginia Planning District Commission;
and Waldon R. Kems, associate professor; Virginia Water Resources Research Center, will be afternoon panel speakers. Mrs. Gladys L. Harris, a consultant to the Environmental Protection Agency and Deputy Attorney General Ryan will be commentators.

Summary remarks will be made by William R. Walter, director, Virginia
Water Resources Research Center;
Alexander Hamilton, director of public affairs, Virginia Farm Bureau; Henry S.
Zygmunt water quality management coordinator, Virginia West Virginia Branch, Environmental Protection Agency; and Ms. Elizabeth Sutherland, environmental engineer, Northern Virginia Planning District Commission.

The first conference in this series was held in February 1979 and centered on toxic substances. The second conference in October 1979 was held with the Continuing Legal Education Division of the Virginia State Bar and the Virginia Bar Association. The third conference last December dealt specifically with the potential for Virginia fisheries and what was being done to protect the interests of pleasure fishermen in the state.
