Commencement Honors Announced

Four Honorary Degrees to be Awarded on May 17

The College will honor one of its own, along with three who have distinguished themselves in the field of arts and letters, at commencement exercises, May 17.

J. Wilfred Lambert, an alumnus who has dedicated his entire career as an educator and administrator to his alma mater; actress Helen Hayes; historian Edmund Sears Morgan; and columnist and author William F. Buckley, Jr., the commencement speaker, will receive honorary degrees from the College.

For Lambert, this is the latest in a series of honors and awards which have capped his long career with the College.

Lambert entered the College as a freshman in September 1924, and with but a few absences of relatively short duration, has been a member of the William and Mary community ever since.

He joined the faculty in 1931 as an instructor in psychology. He was appointed Dean of Freshmen in 1934 by President John Stewart Bryan. He was later appointed Dean of Men and subsequently, Dean of Students and Registrar of the College. In 1970 Lambert became Vice President for Student Affairs. Through his professional association with the College, he continued to teach psychology and earned the rank of professor in 1959.

In 1973 Lambert was awarded the coveted Thomas Jefferson Award and recognized as "A man for all seasons and a gentleman in the tradition of Jefferson." Earlier that year Omicron Delta Kappa fraternity renamed their leadership award the J. Wilfred Lambert Award in his honor.

There is a J. Wilfred Lambert Hall in the Alumni House at the College, the result of a special gift from New York City area alumni, attesting to his rapport with students and alumni as well as his effectiveness as an administrator and teacher.

In 1979 he was named honorary marshal of the homecoming parade for which he served as marshal for more than two decades. The Lambert Trophy is awarded to the best in show float in the parade.

After his official retirement in 1973, Lambert was called back to serve the College as a consultant to the development program and was instrumental in the successful completion of the Campaign for the College, a three-year drive to raise $19 million in private support.

Lambert will receive an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree.

Helen Hayes, who made her stage debut at the age of six, has delighted audiences of stage and screen with her kaleidoscopic repertoire of roles which have won her awards as a Broadway headliner and a motion picture star.

Honorary president of the American Theatre Wing and President of the American National Theatre and Academy, she is also chairman of women's activities for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. She is the author of several books including "A Gift of Joy," "On Reflection," with Anita Loos, "Twice Over Lightly," and "Star on Her Forehead."

Miss Hayes will receive a Doctor of Humane Letters degree from William and Mary.

Edmund S. Morgan, Sterling Professor of History at Yale University and a Research Fellow at the Huntington Library, is a leading Early American scholar and author of a major work in the field, "American Slavery, American Freedom," published in 1975. Morgan

Ambassador Slated On Rescheduled Project Plus Forum

Paul Bomani, Ambassador to the United States from Tanzania, originally scheduled to speak at the Project Plus Forum January 28, has rescheduled his visit for Wednesday, March 18.

Ambassador Bomani will speak on "Conquest of World Hunger and Poverty: The View from Within," at 7:30 p.m., in Millington auditorium.

The public is invited; there is no admission charge.

Bomani has been actively involved in the development of his country since its independence. He has served as Tanzanian Minister of Agriculture and Cooperative Development, Minister of Finance, and Minister of Economic Affairs and Development Planning.

He was a member of the delegation to independence settlement with the British government which negotiated independence for Tanganyika in 1961 and is co-author of the recently published book "Conquest of World Hunger and Poverty."

The next regularly scheduled Forum program will be Wednesday, March 25 when the speaker will be Robert Panoff, principal officer of MPR Associates Inc., of Washington, D.C., an engineering firm engaged in the high technology aspects of the energy field with special emphasis on both fossil and nuclear power generating stations.

Mr. and Mrs. Lambert ride in the 1979 Homecoming Parade.

The Royal Visit

The Prince of Wales' visit to the College on May 2 will include activities at several campus locations and will include a tour of Williamsburg's historic area.

Highlight of the visit, announced last week, will be a special convocation in William and Mary Hall at 2 p.m. There, he will address the College and Williamsburg-area community and accept an honorary Fellowship from the College.

Tickets for the convocation will be available at a later date to students, faculty and staff and their families, and to residents of the immediate Williamsburg area. The audience will include other guests of the College who will be invited to take part in this occasion. Admission to the Hall will be by ticket only, and no charge will be made for the tickets.

The Prince of Wales will arrive by helicopter at 12:15 p.m., and then motor to the President's House to be greeted by President and Mrs. Thomas A. Graves, Jr. A luncheon in his honor will take place in the historic Great Hall of the Wren Building at 12:30 p.m. Enroute to William and Mary Hall, he will visit the Wren Chapel briefly.

Following the convocation, the Prince of Wales will be taken to the Botetourt Gallery of the Earl Gregg Swem Library to view the famed statue of Lord Botetourt, the popular Royal Governor

Notebook

No. News Next Week

There will be no edition of the William and Mary News March 10 during the spring break. Next issue will be Tuesday, March 17. Deadline for the next issue is Thursday, March 12.

P. E. Test

The men's physical education department will give the written part of the proficiency test on Monday, March 16 in William and Mary Hall, room 221.

Students are asked to sign up with their instructors or call the departmental secretary, ext. 4744, no later than 4 p.m. March 16. The practical phase of the test will be administered on Tuesday and Wednesday, March 17-18.

Queries should be directed to Mrs. Johnson, ext. 4744.

Equipment Loan

A backpacking equipment loan service is now in operation for the spring semester for students and faculty members.

Equipment including packs, tents, stoves, pads and hammocks may be checked out Monday and Thursdays from 6:30 to 8 p.m., in Adair gymnasium, 301. There is a $10 deposit required.

Inquiries concerning the service should be directed to Sylvia Shirley, women's physical education department.

Careers in Museums

Francis Roche, a museum specialist at the Smithsonian Institute and a William and Mary graduate will present a seminar on "Careers in Museum Work." All persons interested in either the technical or administrative side of this field are encouraged to attend. The session will be held at 8 p.m., today, Tuesday, March 3 in Morton 220. For more information contact the Office of Career Planning, ext. 4427.

Spanish House Program

Richard Rastetter, of Williamsburg, will give a slide presentation entitled "Honduras," at the Spanish House at 8 p.m., Wednesday, March 4. Refreshments will be served.

Honor Council Elections

Those planning to file for a seat on the Honor Council must apply between Monday, March 2 and Tuesday, March 17.

Petitions may be picked up at the Honor Council office, James Blair 314, Monday-Thursday, 10 a.m. to noon and 1-3 p.m., and Fridays, 10 a.m. to 12 noon. Elections will be held March 25.

Questions concerning the elections should be directed to members of the Council or the Council Office at ext. 4034.

First Aid Course

The Williamsburg-James City County Chapter, American Red Cross, is planning to conduct the Advanced First Aid and Emergency Care Course if enough individuals are interested in enrolling.

The course consists of approximately 65 hours of instruction and would be conducted two evenings a week for about 2½ months, April through mid-June. Course materials will cost $10; no charge for instruction.

Interested individuals should call the Red Cross office at 253-0228 by March 13 to indicate desire to enroll.

President Changes Time

President Graves has changed the date of his next office hour for student from March 20 to March 18. He will be in his office from 4 - 5 p.m. that day to receive students who wish to stop by to talk informally about any topic of their choosing. No appointment is necessary. There will be no sessions slated for the rest of March; the next date will be April 1 from 3 - 4 p.m.

Live Broadcasts

The Concert of Concertos by the William and Mary orchestra which will be presented at 8:15 p.m. tonight, March 3, in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall, will be broadcast live on campus radio station WCWM-FM 89.1.

Deadline for Editors

The Publications Council has set Wednesday, March 18 as the deadline for receiving applications for editorships for 1981-82 for the Flat Hat, The Review, The Colonial Echo, The Advocate, The Colonial Lawyer and radio station WCWM.

Letters of applications should be directed to Ken Smith, Associate Dean of Students for Student Activities, at the Campus Center. Applicants should include samples of their work and letters of recommendation.

The Council will notify applicants of the interview schedule which will be followed on Tuesday, March 24 and Thursday, March 26. Friday, March 27 has been set for hearing from friends of applicants who wish to appear before the council in support of nominations.

Announcement of the names of the new editors will be made as soon as the positions have been voted upon by the council, probably the same day as the interview schedule concludes.

Shakespeare Auditions

Local auditions for actors and members of the technical and design crews of the 1981 Virginia Shakespeare Festival will be held Saturday and Sunday, March 14 and 15 in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

Audition appointments and detailed information may be obtained by calling the Festival office at ext. 4395 or by writing Linda Williams at the Festival office on campus.

Kent Thompson, artistic director for the Festival, is looking for 12 men and three women for the acting company. Company members will be employed May 30 through August 18. The salary is $1,000 for the season, plus housing.

Auditioning actors will be required to present two prepared pieces, at least one of which must be a Shakespeare selection. Actors will have no more than four minutes per audition.

Thompson will also interview for technical and design positions. Resumes and requests for information should be sent to the Festival office on campus.

In addition to the positions already listed, an assistant to the Artistic Director and assistant stage managers will be hired on a partial stipend.

SCJ Initiates

George R. Healy, vice president for academic affairs at the College, and Max Robinson, ABC News anchor and 1981 Journalist-in-Residence, were made honorary initiates of the William and Mary Society for Collegiate Journalists at the group's annual awards banquet Saturday, Feb. 28.

"We recognize Mr. Robinson for his journalistic endeavors and Mr. Healy for his strong support of collegiate journalism dating from his undergraduate days as associate editor of the Oberlin College student newspaper," said Cheryl Hogue, SCJ president, who announced the honorary memberships.

Robinson, who also received the William and Mary Heritage Award for Excellence in Journalism, was the principal speaker at the banquet. His talk took the form of an open letter to his children, three of whom were in the audience.

The concert is the third and final performance of the 1980-81 Guild year.

Orientation Aides Sought

Any student interested in being an Orientation Aide or an Orientation Assistant Director for Fall 1981 can pick up an application form in James Blair Hall, Room 210. Applications must be returned to Dean Worthington no later than 5 p.m. on Friday, March 27.

Career Day March 28

Students are reminded to sign up for CAREER EXPLORATION DAY, Saturday, March 28, which is being planned by the Office of Placement in cooperation with the Society of the Alumni and the Office of Career Planning.

Nearly 60 alumni are returning to offer guidance to students as they examine various career options.

Registration forms are available at the Office of Placement, Morton Hall 140.

Nominations Sought

Nominations are being sought for the Glenn D. Mann Memorial Scholarship.

The annual scholarship recognizes a senior or junior whose involvement in community service extends beyond the William and Mary campus. It was established through funds raised by students, Williamsburg Fire Department and Rescue Squad members and friends of Glenn D. Mann '62.

Mann was an active member of the Williamsburg Fire Department and Rescue Squad and the American Red Cross. He was killed in South Vietnam in 1965 while serving as a helicopter pilot.

Letters of nomination should be submitted to E. Leon Looney, director of student financial aid, by March 18.

The selection committee consists of Robert C. Walker, Williamsburg Mayor; W. Samuel Sadler, dean of students; Carla Shaffer, president of the student association; and Looney.

The recipient will receive $500 and will be honored at the annual Spring Honors luncheon in April.

Sports Laurels

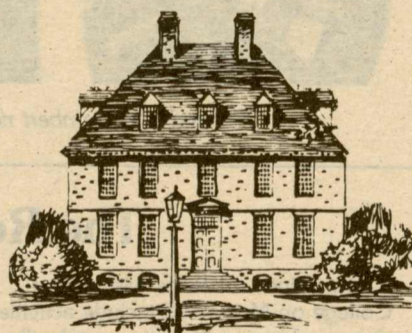

William and Mary swept every individual title, Tom Serena taking three and the all-around championship to give Coach Cliff Gauthier his seventh straight men's state collegiate gymnastics crown Sunday in Harrisonburg.

The William and Mary men's gymnasts had 243.15 points over 190.03 for James Madison and 158.35 for Virginia Tech. Serena set state records in the vaulting with a 9.55 score and in the parallel bars with 8.65.

The best the women could do was fourth, losing out to the new champions James Madison. Longwood was second and Radford third. William and Mary's Monica Jan Roltsch won the vault and made the all-championship team.

In AIAW swimming, freshman Erin Sheehy, who has already qualified for the nationals, set a new pool record to win the 200 breaststroke and held William and Mary to a second place finish in the Region 1 and 2, Division II invitational on campus Saturday.

TV Programs on President's House Set

Park Rouse, Williamsburg author-historian and national chairman of the President's House Friends, will be featured on three TV shows in March talking about the history and future of the historical building which has been home to all but one of the College's presidents.

Rouse, who retired last year as Executive Director of the Jamestown Foundation, is currently researching a book on the social history of the President's House, which will be 250 years old in 1982.

Rouse will be interviewed March 16 by Diana Pierce on "Morning Connection," which is aired over WTAR-TV, Channel 3, at 10 a.m. On March 18 he will be the guest of Ann Marie Hancock, host of the "Good Morning Show," seen over WWBT-TV, Channel 12 in Richmond at 10:45 a.m.

Rouse will also tape a program with Irene Maher of "Good Morning Tidewater," which will be shown over WVEC-TV, Channel 13, Wednesday, Thursday or Friday of that week at 10:30 a.m.

Appearing with Rouse will be Constance Stapleton, a writer for Americana Magazine, which featured the President's House and its current residents, the President and Mrs. Graves and family, in the March/April issue.

Mrs. Emanuel E. Falk of Newport News is Virginia vice chairman of the Friends organization, which has been formed to generate continued financial support for the effort to refurbish the President's House with authentic furniture and decorative objects.

College to Seek DOE Contract for Solar Project

The Board of Visitors has given its approval of plans for a solar energy experiment station for the Department of Energy to be established at VARC.

Approval was given at the Board meetings Feb. 27 and 28 for the project, which including construction, operation and removal, will take from six to nine years and cost between one half and one million dollars for construction and several hundred thousands dollars per year for operation.

In December 1980, the Department of Energy, acting through Lincoln Laboratory of M.I.T., issued a request for proposals for establishment of a Southeast Residential Experiment Station (SE RES) to test solar photovoltaic residential systems.

SE RES will be a laboratory which tests solar cells for residential use under realistic conditions of climate and installation. While the routine use of solar cells in homes is still some years off, DOE wants to test various complete systems at the same time as the cells themselves are being perfected. In this way it is hoped that a few years can be cut off from the long delay between the invention of a device and its distribution in the marketplace.

SE RES will require the use of existing laboratories and staff at VARC plus the construction of prototype systems. The prototypes, of which there are ten, will be small structures that include some of the features of real homes. Arrays of solar cells will be installed on their roofs.

Since an important requirement of the DOE is high visibility to the public, the site was chosen fronting on Jefferson Avenue in Newport News. The three-acre plot is next to the existing VARC building.

Hans von Baeyer, director of VARC, has secured the cooperation of VEPCO, of NASA Langley Research Center and of scientists and engineers from the College, Christopher Newport and Old Dominion in applying for the contract. A capital outlay request will be filed with the Division of Engineering and Buildings for SE RES construction.

The Department of Energy is expected to award a contract for the project May 1.

The Visitors did some rearranging of their priorities for capital outlay projects during the 1982-84 biennium from the list which was submitted to Richmond Feb. 1.

Asbestos hazard correction still heads the list of requests for both the 1982-84 biennium from the list which was Asbestos hazard correction still heads the list of requests for both the 1982-84 and 1984-86 periods. $787,295 is the estimated total cost of work to be done during 1982-84, and $740,270 is designated for the 1984-86 period.

A request for $78,000 for renovation of Hugh Jones Hall for the School of Education and mathematics and computer science departments will be used for fix-up, paint-up projects in the building once the School of Business Administration is moved into Chancellors Hall, said James F. Connolly, director of facilities planning and construction.

Renovation and enlargement of Ewell Hall, which shared the No. 3 priority with Trinkle Hall, was moved firmly into the No. 3 spot and Trinkle Hall moved down to No. 4.

The major work at Ewell Hall will be an expansion, toward Washington Hall, with a two-story addition of approximately 9,500 square feet. The new addition will be used primarily for the band and choir, said Connolly, freeing up space in the older section of the building for the creation of more practice rooms and the rearrangement of some office space.

Renovation of Ewell including utilities and site work will cost an estimated $1,035,210.

Renovation at Trinkle Hall will include turning the present large dining room into a multi-purpose area for movies and concerts, adding a kitchen and dishwashing equipment and providing offices for student groups now housed in white frame buildings on Boundary Street.

Renovation of Trinkle Hall at an estimated cost of $1,156,270 will be financed entirely from Auxiliary Enterprise Renewal and Replacement Funds.

In order to meet the financial requirements of renovating Trinkle Hall, three projects were moved from 1982-84 to the 1984-86 list. These include installation of additional recreational facilities, installation of 10 tennis courts and renovation of Bryan Complex heating system.

In a progress report on projects underway, the Board was told that the renovation of the physical plant is almost complete. The last phase will be the tearing down of remaining quonset huts and the paving of a 147-car parking lot for faculty, staff and students.

It was reported that the College experienced a $100,000 savings in phase one of the renovation of Sorority Court.

Chancellors Hall renovation is proceeding on schedule and within budget so far.

Architectural plans are due in two weeks for phase two of handicapped accessibility which includes Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall.

The museum of art, which was made possible by major gifts announced at Charter Day, has been named the Joseph and Margaret Muscarelle Museum of Art, honoring the gift of $600,000 by Mr. and Mrs. Muscarelle of Hackensack, N.J., for construction of the facility.

In other business, the Board authorized installation of additional fire alarm devices in student residences and approved a master site plan for the Virginia Institute of Marine Science at Gloucester Point.

Davidson Chorus Sets Concert

The Davidson College Male Chorus from North Carolina will present a concert at 8:15 p.m., Thursday, March 5 in the Great Hall of the Wren Building as part of its current Spring Tour.

The concert is open to the public, without charge, and is sponsored by the Williamsburg Presbyterian Church.

The Chorus will open its Williamsburg program with selections from Buxtehude, Byrd, Thomas Beveridge, John J. Davye and Randall Thompson. They will also sing four folk songs by Brahms.

The "Lamplighters," a group within the chorus, will open the second half of the program with a selection of songs which will be followed by the full Chorus singing works by Kodaly, Fast, Ralph Vaughan Williams and Hall.

The Chorus of 31 singers, will be under the direction of Mary Nell Saunders, visiting conductor. The accompanist will be Neal Biggers. Ms. Saunders holds a doctorate in choral conducting from Indiana University. Her many professional activities include a conductorship at the Brevard Music Center and at the National Music Camp in Interlochen, Mich. She has also been a member of the music faculty at Queens College. Along with her work at Davidson, she is concurrently Interim Director of the Oratorio Singers of Charlotte, N.C.

The Davidson Male Chorus was formed more than 75 years ago by student directors. It now publishes its own choral series for male voices and has made four recordings. In past seasons the Chorus has appeared in four opera and two symphony productions in North Carolina.

has divided his scholarship between Puritanism and the American Revolution and more recently, Virginia.

He was one of the principal speakers at the 1971 conference on the American Revolution, sponsored by the Institute of Early American History and Culture at the College. The Institute is co-sponsored by the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation. He has served four terms as a member of the Council of the Institute. Morgan is also the author of "Virginians at Home," published in 1953 for the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation.

Morgan will receive a Doctor of Literature degree from the College.

Buckley, who recently celebrated the 15th birthday of his television talk show, "Firing Line," and the 25th anniversary of the National Review magazine which he founded, will give the major commencement address. He will receive a Doctor of Humane Letters degree.

Buckley was recently a speaker on the "Our Future in the Cosmos," series which is a lecture program co-sponsored by the College and NASA Langley Research Center. In 1973 he debated Ramsey Clark, Attorney General during the Johnson administration, in William and Mary Hall on "America's System of Justice."

of the Colony of Virginia. Queen Elizabeth II viewed the statue during her visit in 1957, when it was located in the Wren Yard.

President and Mrs. Graves will host a tea at 3:30 p.m. in the President's House for invited guests.

At 4 p.m., the Prince of Wales will be escorted to the west end of Duke of Gloucester Street to begin a carriage ride through the city's historic area, returning by automobile after the tour to board his helicopter for its flight to Washington. The helicopter will use the College's Barksdale Field for arrival and departure.

Guild Concert

The music department will sponsor a concert by the Williamsburg Choral Guild at 8:15 p.m., Tuesday, March 17 in the Campus Center Ballroom. Admission is free.

The Guild will perform Brahms' "Liebeslieder Walzer," Op. 52 and Randall Thompson's "Frostiana: Seven Country Songs."

Piano accompanist for the Brahms for four vocal parts and piano duet will be Mrs. Mary Gonzales and Edwin H. Godshall. Godshall will also be accompanist for "Frostiana."

Profs to Debate For Survival

Vernon Edmunds, professor of sociology; Stanley Lourdeaux, visiting assistant professor of English; Hans von Baeyer, professor of physics and director of VARC; will represent their disciplines as shipwrecked souls seeking the one spot on "The Raft" and safety.

William Harpine, assistant professor of theatre and speech and adviser and debate coach, will be moderator and Clifford Currie, Librarian at Swem, will be the Devil's Advocate.

All will come together to debate the worth of their causes in the annual Raft Debate, sponsored by the Society of Collegiate Journalists which will be held at 8 p.m., Wednesday, March 4, in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall. Admission is $1 and proceeds will go to the Journalist in Residence program and the scholarship for CCJ. Tickets may be purchased and are now available at the Campus Center desk.

The winner of the debate will be chosen by audience applause at the end of the program.

Baird to Speak Wednesday

Bill Baird, who for the past 17 years has advocated non-restrictive birth control and abortion laws, will speak at 8 p.m., Wednesday, March 4 in the Campus Center ballroom as part of the new Issues Forum series.

Tickets are $1 at the door. Patrons of the Speakers Forum will be admitted with their passes.

The Issues Series is an outgrowth of the Speakers Forum which is sponsored jointly by the Student Association, the Black Student Organization, and the Student Legal Forum. The Issues Forum programs are being planned by a committee headed by Mary Jane Miller, vice president of the Student Association for cultural affairs. Miller has said that the aim of the new series is to bring speakers to campus who are willing to talk about current issues and discuss them with students.

Baird, a former clinical director for a national pharmaceutical firm, began his involvement with the abortion, birth control issue while on a call at a hospital. A woman fell into his arms and died of a self-induced abortion. Since then, he has been an active and outspoken advocate of non-restrictive birth control and abortion laws.

Baird successfully challenged a Massachusetts law which would have required both parents' consent for minors wanting abortions.
