Leakey Lecture Set for Monday

Dr. Mary D. Leakey, whose remarkable archaeological finds in Africa have pushed the boundaries of man's ancestry back hundreds and thousands of years, will give a slide lecture, "From Fossils to Footprints," at 8 p.m., Monday, April 13 in Hampton Coliseum.

Her lecture is the latest in the "Our Future in the Cosmos," series which is sponsored jointly by the College and NASA Langley Research Center.

The lecture is open free to the public but tickets are required. These tickets may be obtained from the Coliseum box office.

The five 3.5 million-year-old footprints discovered in Tanzania, East Africa by Dr. Leakey, have been described as "short and wide" by the world press.

These footprints, asserts Dr. Leakey, demonstrate once and for all that millions of years ago, man's direct ancestor walked upright with a free-striding gait. Second, the form of his foot was almost the same as ours.

Concert Tickets

Tickets for the Carl Hibbard Memorial Concert by the William and Mary Band at 8:15 p.m. Friday in Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall are $1.50 and are on sale at the Campus Center.

The band will be conducted by Charles R. Varner, professor of music and will feature two soloists, David McIntyre, soprano saxophone in "Fantasia," and David R. Turner who will play the Concerto for Trumpet by Haydn.

Pianist Here April 13

Christopher Frittelli to Play

Christopher Frittelli, an established pianist both here and abroad, will present a concert at 8:15 p.m., Monday, April 13, in the Campus Center ballroom under the sponsorship of the music department.

Frittelli will play Impromptus, Op. 90, No. 2 and 4 by Schubert; Sonata in F minor, Op. 57 by Beethoven; and "Pictures at an Exhibition," by Mussorgsky.

Frittelli now lives in Virginia Beach, but he launched his music career in South Africa at the age of nine when he was awarded the gold medal and trophy at the National Competition. He received high critical acclaim for his first concerto performances with the Johannesburg Symphony Orchestra in 1962 and in 1964 as winner of the Young Artists Concerto Competition.

Fritelli has studied in South Africa, Vienna and Brussels and came to the United States in 1974 to continue his studies at the School of Performing Arts at Brooklyn College with the American pianist Agustin Anievas.

In 1978 he was awarded first prize in the Marilyn Lee Freeman Jewish Arts Festival Competition in New York and the Klotzman Memorial Scholarship Fund at the Brooklyn College School of Performing Arts.

Christopher Frittelli

Fritelli recently completely a series of recitals in New York City sponsored by the American Landmark Festivals. He plans to continue his concert and teaching career from Virginia Beach.

College Tightens Belt Anticipating Shortfall

FROM:

George R. Healy and William J. Carter

DATE: April 6, 1981

SUBJECT: Possible Budgetary Shortfall, 1980-81 Fiscal Year

Unlike previous years in which funding has been available from central appropriations to cover unanticipated increases in the cost of fuel and utilities, we have just been informed that, in the current year, such full funding will not be made. As a result, in 1980-81 we face a possible shortfall of at least $300,000 in the Educational and General sector.

Since we are not permitted to operate at a deficit, we are forced to take some drastic action in an attempt to hold expenses to a minimum during the remainder of the 1980-81 fiscal year. Among the steps we have taken are the following:

- No purchase orders, of whatever amount, (except for emergency office supplies) will be processed until further notice.
- There will be no replacement of personnel, or the hiring of new, additional personnel, without prior written approval of the appropriate vice president. This applies to permanent as well as hourly employees. Further, overtime payments will not be processed without similar written approval.
- 3. No invoices will be processed, except for internal transfers, unless they are in payment of purchase orders in effect April 1, 1981. Even for such orders, delivery should be deferred, if at all possible, so that payment will not have to be made in the 1980-81 fiscal year.

(This restriction includes the processing of travel vouchers, also.)

These steps do not apply to local, private, grant, or Auxiliary Enterprise operations or funds.

We emphasize again that any 1980-81 budget overruns will be deducted in full, on a dollar-for-dollar basis, from 1981-82 budgets. This is in contrast to the partial deductions from 1980-81 budgets as a results of 1979-80 overruns.

We earnestly request each budget manager within the College to exercise extreme care in the authorization of any expenditures between now and June 30, 1981. Only with such dedicated cooperation will we be able to meet this unanticipated fiscal emergency in a manner that is reasonably equitable to the entire College community.

Ebony Expressions to Sing Friday in CC

The Ebony Expressions singing group at the College of William and Mary will present its spring concert at 7 p.m., Friday, April 10 in the Campus Center Little Theatre.

The concert is free to the public.
The student singers, directed by Mitzi Keyes, a senior sociology major from Virginia Beach, include a wide range of music in their repertoire, from soft and soulful to bright and glorious. They will include spirituals and gospel songs in their Friday evening program as well as the popular "Everybody Rejoice" from "The Whiz," and the new "Jesus is Love."

Following the concert, Joanne Braxton, instructor in English at William and Mary, will present a poetry reading. She will read from her own work and also from the work of prominent Black poets. Ms. Braxton has published two works of poetry and a documentary collection of Afro-American slave music. She will be joined by guest poet, Ken McLane.

International Dinner

Tickets for the International Circle's annual spring dinner at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, April 8, are available at the Campus Center desk or from Zane Majidulla, president of the Circle. Admission is $2. Guest speaker at the dinner will be John Tzounis, the Greek Ambassador to the United States.

Competitive Sessions

Aquatics

The public is invited to watch the competitive presentations for the 1981 National Institute for Creative Aquatics, which will be held in Adair pool, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 9-11

The Mermettes will have six compositions in competition and will present the grand finale to the program by finalists on Saturday. The Mermettes are coached by Marcia Milbrath of the women's physical education faculty.

Competitive sessions will be held at 1:15 and 7 p.m., on Thursday and Friday. These sessions will not be fully orchestrated with music and costumes but will be performances before judges looking for good aquatic techniques and creativity by the swimmers.

The final show at 8:15 p.m., Saturday, April 11 will be a colorful performance with music and costumes and will showcase the compositions judged the best in the two previous days of competition.

There is no admission charge.

The College will host the VAIAW Division I and II State Tennis Championships April 10-13 at the Busch Courts behind William and Mary Hall and the Adair gymnasium courts.

The Indians, defending Division II State Champions, will begin single competition Saturday at 9 a.m. at the Adair Courts. The singles finals will be played Sunday at 9 a.m. at Adair with the doubles finals beginning at 1 p.m.

Division I team play begins Friday at 8:30 a.m. at both Adair and Busch courts. Individual competition begins Saturday at 2 p.m. at Adair. Division I singles finals will be Monday at 9 a.m. at Adair with doubles finals at 11:30 a.m.

In Division II William and Mary will face its toughest competition against Richmond, with Radford and Virginia Commonwealth also contending for the team title. The Division I Championship should prove to be a battle between evenly matched Old Dominion, Virginia and Virginia Tech.

Sider Speaker for Project Plus Forum

Ronald J. Sider, associate professor of theology at Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary, Philadelphia, will be the final speaker at a Project Plus Public Forum at 7:30 p.m.,
Wednesday, April 8 in Millington auditorium.

Sider, who will take as his topic, "Rich Christians in Age of Hunger," will conclude the public portion of the Forum program for this year. A final in-house forum program for members

Offical Memo

FROM: William J. Carter

SUBJECT: Increased Mileage Rate for State-Owned and Personal Vehicle Use

We have been advised that, effective April 1, 1981, the user rate for State-owned pool vehicles will increase from seventeen (17¢) to twenty (20¢) cents per mile.

This increased rate for State-owned vehicles was directed by Mr. Harold C. King, Chairman of the Central Garage Car Pool Committee, in his letter dated March 25, 1981. Mr. King cited Executive Order Number Thirty-one (76), Regulations Governing Certain State-Owned Vehicles, to support his authorizing this increase. This change was necessary to recover fully the increasing costs of depreciation and replacement, operations and additions to the fleet of State-owned pool vehicles.

The new rate increase is proportioned as follows: $.13 per mile for operations cost, $.06 per mile for depreciation and replacement cost, and $.01 per mile for capital revenue cost.

Also effective April 1, 1981, the personal automobile mileage rate, for the use of personal automobiles in the discharge of official duties within the continental limits of the United States, will increase from $18\frac{1}{2}$ ¢ to 20¢ per mile for the first 15,000 miles. This authorization is contained in a memorandum of March 25, 1981 from Edward J. Mazur, Comptroller for the Commonwealth of Virginia.

Program for Handicapped

Modifications to be Made at Phi Beta Kappa Hall

Because Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall is the site of many of the cultural events which the College shares with the general public, efforts are being made to insure that handicapped and elderly persons have easy access to the building.

As part of a continuing program of campus-wide accessibility for the handicapped, a ramp is being constructed in front of Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall on Jamestown Road, by-passing the two tiers of steps in front of the main building.

According to James J. Connolly, Director of Facilities Planning and Construction, the ramp will be contained within the present landscaping scheme of the building.

Modifications are being made inside the hall, said Connolly, in addition to the outdoor ramp. Restrooms are being changed to accommodate wheelchairs and provisions made on the main floor of the auditorium for 16 wheelchair patrons.

The College has spent $198,000 on the first phase of its accessibility program says Connolly and in Phase II, which includes work at Phi Beta Kappa Hall, the College has received $166,550 in state funds for this project.

Work in the second phase will also include a ramp to be constructed for handicapped accessibility to Andrews Fine Arts Hall. This will provide disabled persons access to the many art exhibits mounted in the foyer and gallery of Andrews and will also provide access to the auditorium off the foyer. A ramp is also being built at the entrance to the sculpture workshops in the building.

At St. George Tucker Hall, former home of the Marshal-Wythe School of Law and now occupied by the English department, a ramp will be placed at the front of the building and changes made to the doorway:

At the Campus Center, the present

wooden ramp at the rear of the building will be replaced by a permanent masonry structure which has been designed as part of the overall renovation and changes being made to the Campus Center-Trinkle Hall complex.

With the goal of campus-wide accessibility for the handicapped, the College has already completed many projects aimed at helping handicapped students and visitors to the campus. Curb cuts throughout the campus provide access across the new and old sections of the College grounds. Ramps at strategic locations have also been added to increase accessibility.

Because Swem Library is one of the most visited buildings on campus, a ramp with handrails from the sidewalk at the rear of the building to the front has been installed.

The Randolph Residences, the new

Residence Staff Plans 'Roadstock'

The residence hall staff of the Jamestown Road area is planning "Roadstock," an afternoon of what they describe as "the wildest, weirdest, most bizarre games you've ever competed in, "from 3-6 p.m., Friday, April 10 in the Sunken Garden.

Registration will be held April 1 and 2 in the Campus Center and the Commons. Teams of 6 to 12 can enter.

Kenneth Smith Plans Defense

Kenneth L. Smith will make a defense of his dissertation on "Duff Green and 'United States Telegraph' " 1826-1837 at 3:30 p.m., Tuesday, April 21 in the Blue Room of the Wren Building. academic-residential complex completed last year, was, says Connolly, designed to provide accessibility for the handicapped and includes 33 spaces for handicapped residents.

Several years ago, the small fratemity lodges near Crim Dell were converted into student residences and modified for handicapped persons.

However access ramps and walkways have not yet been funded.

Accessibility through ramps has also been accomplished at William and Mary Hall and Small physical laboratory. In Small a chair lift has also been included to by-pass a short stairway from the lobby to the first floor.

Casa Bellini Sponsors Recital by Roberson

The Italian House will sponsor a piano recital of music by Italian composers, played by Ann Merick Roberson, a sophomore from Florissant, Mo., at 2 p.m., Sunday, April 12 in the Campus Center ballroom.

Miss Roberson is majoring in English and music and plays the oboe in the College Orchestra.

For her Sunday afternoon concert, Miss Roberson will play "Aria detta La Frescobalda," by Circolama Frescobaldi; two sonata, No. 34 in b minor and No. 42 in C. Major, by Domencio Scarlotti; Sonata Op. 47, No. 2 by Muzio Clementi and "Notturno," by Respighi.

She will also play "Ricercare and Toccata," on a theme from "The Old Maid and the Thief," by Gian Carlo Menotti, and "Pezzi Infantili" by Alfredo Casella.

Ann Roberson

Leakey Lecture Set Monday

While explaining the footprints and clarifying the past, Dr. Leakey will leave her audience with a new mystery, "Who made the five steps in the ashes at Laetoli in Tanzania? And where did he or she come from and where was that person going?

Dr. Leakey's lecture will trace evidence of man's evolution in East Africa, drawing on her years of experience and field work with her husband and sons.

Mathematics Meeting

Benjamin R. Cato, Jr., and Hugh B. Easler of the department of mathematics and computer science, are coordinators for the regional spring meeting of the Mathematics Association of America, April 11 in the Small Hall.
