Coleman, Robb Will Debate May 19 in PBK

The first joint appearance of the announced candidates for governor will be at Phi Beta Kappa Memorial Hall, Tuesday, May 19.

J. Marshall Coleman and Charles S. Robb will appear in a forum sponsored by the Virginia Retail Merchants Association, which is having its 75th anniversary meeting in Williamsburg May 17-19.

Gov. John N. Dalton will speak at a banquet May 18. At that event, the Virginia Retailer of the Year will be announced.

The Coleman-Robb forum will be from 9-10:30 a.m. Republican party chairman Dr. Alfred Cramer of Culpeper and Democratic party chairman De. Owen Pickett of Virginia Beach will introduce Coleman and Robb, respectively, and be panelists on the program, which is open to the public.

It will be moderated by George Bowles, capital correspondent for the Virginia Network.

At a May 18 morning session, Charles McDowell will speak on the Washington political scene. He is an author and award-winning journalist.

McDowell is recipient of the Heritage Journalism Award given by the Society of Collegiate Journalists on campus, and has been a Journalist-in-Residence at William and Mary.

President in Office Today for Students

Today from 4-5 p.m. is the last session President Graves will hold for students in his office in Ewell Hall. Students are invited to stop by and discuss topics of their choosing. No appointment is necessary. This will be the last of this series of office hours until the beginning of the new term in the fall.

Williams Given 1981 Medallion From Law School

Edward Bennett Williams, one of the most renowned and respected trial lawyers in the nation, is the 1981 recipient of the Marshall-Wythe Medallion given by the Marshall-Wythe School of Law.

Williams, senior partner in the Washington law firm, Williams & Connolly, received the award at the annual faculty dinner Saturday, May 9.

The Marshall-Wythe Medallion was commissioned in 1966 for presentation by the School of Law to selected leaders of the legal profession in the United States and abroad. The recipient is nominated by vote of the faculty and invited to campus for the presentation.

"Mr. Williams is a leading American trial lawyer who has made contributions of particular note not just to the profession but to society as a whole in his defense of civil liberties," said Timothy J. Sullivan, associate dean and professor of law at Marshall-Wythe. Williams has represented a number of prominent figures throughout his distinguished career, among them several persons under investigation by Sen. Joseph P. McCarthy in the 1950s. According to Sullivan, Williams also represented McCarthy in some fashion when the latter was being tried by a Senate committee.

"What that suggests is the important point that Mr. Williams is committed to the ideals of the adversary process and the belief that every person is entitled to a defense as part of the legal proceedings of this country," said Sullivan.

Williams received an A.B. summa cum laude degree from the College of Holy Cross in 1941. He served in the U.S. Air Force from 1941 to 1943 and received his law degree from Georgetown University Law School in 1945.

From 1946 to 1958, Williams taught criminal law and evidence at Georgetown University Law School and was guest professor at the University of Frankfurt, West Germany, in 1954. In 1971 he was visiting lecturer at Yale Law School where he taught constitutional litigation. He holds honorary degrees from 11 colleges and universities.

Williams' distinguished governmental service includes his membership by appointment of the Chief Justice of the United States on the U.S. Judicial Conference Advisory Committee on Federal Rules of Evidence from 1965-1974; on the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board from 1976-1977; and on the President's

Newsmakers

Bruce Neilson, associate professor, senior marine scientist and head of the department of estuarine processes at VIMS recently attended a Chautauqua short course on chemical oceanography in White Plains, N.Y., March 25-27. The course was sponsored by the National Science Foundation for college teachers.

Enroute home, Neilson gave a seminar to the Water Resources Program at Princeton University, March 31, on the topic "Nonpoint Source Pollution and its Impact on Estuaries."

He was also invited to speak at a conference on the Coastal Bays of Maryland and Virginia, April 4. His topic was "Nonpoint Source Pollution and Tidal Flushing."

Mario D. Zamora, professor of anthropology, has been named president of the Association for Anthropological Diplomacy, an organization founded in December, 1980, at the annual meeting of the American Anthropological Association in Washington, D.C. Members of the executive committee include Ousman Sallah, Ambassador of Gambia to the United States and the United Nations. Ambassador Sallah was on campus recently and spoke at the banquet in the Campus Center ballroom which climaxed a "Festival of World Cultures," which was sponsored by the Anthropology Club, the International Circle and several other student organizations.

David Reed, staff member at the Computer Center, attended the annual meeting of the American Educational Research Association, April 13-17 in Los Angeles. He co-authored a paper presented at the conference entitled "A Longitudinal Evaluation of Two Compensating Pre-School Programs on 8th Grade Students." Principal author was Joan Sprigle of Florida State University, formerly a member of the faculty of the School of Education.

A paper entitled "Modified Bohr Quantization of Charmonium" by Brian Sheehy and Hans C. von Baeyer, professor of physics and Director of VARC, has been published in the American Journal of Physics, 49, 429 (May 1981). The paper summarizes Brian Sheehy's Honors Thesis presented in June 1980.

A.Z. Freeman, professor of history reviewed Michael Prestwick's "The Three Edwards: War and State in England, 1272-1377," recently for the Review of New Books.

Anthropology professor Edwin Dethlefsen recently presented lectures to archaeological societies in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania with the sponsorship of the Archaeological Institute of America. He discussed his recent research on American cemetery markers, and on the historical archaeology of St. Eustatius, Netherlands Antilles.

The February 1981 issue of the American Journal of Political Science carried two articles by members of the Government Department, Ronald Rapoport's article, "The Sex Gap in Political Persuading: Where the Structuring Principle Works," and Alan Abramowitz's article, "Choices and Echoes in the 1978 U.S. Senate Elections: A Research Note," were both included.

Wafaa Marei, government department has won a Regional Endowment for the Humanities Summer Seminar Award for participation in a seminar on Middle Eastern affairs at Harvard University.

At its annual meeting in Pittsburgh on May 2, Professor Alan Ward, professor of government became President of the American Committee for Irish Studies. The ACIS was founded twenty years ago as an interdisciplinary organization of scholars with professional interests in Irish studies. It has grown from a few dozen members to one of the largest groups of its kind in the world, with seven hundred members in the U.S.A., Canada, Ireland, Australia, New Zealand, Germany and France. The organization holds a national meeting each spring and regional meetings in several locations each fall. The meeting in Pittsburgh was addressed by scholars from five countries. In addition to sponsoring meetings of its own and in association with the American Historical Association and the Modern Language Association, the ACIS maintains a research register, publishes a newsletter and guides to programs of Irish studies in the United States, and is presently engaged in the first comprehensive Dictionary of Irish Biography. Ward will serve a two year term as President.

TO: All Members of the Faculty and Administration

SUBJECT: College-wide Faculty Meeting

The Annual College-wide Faculty Meeting will be held on Tuesday, September 1, 1981, in Millington Auditorium, at 3:30 p.m.

On that occasion we shall be introducing new members of the faculty of the College to their colleagues. Deans and Department Chairmen are urged to extend special invitations to their new colleagues to attend this meeting.

A listing of new members of the faculty will be distributed in advance of the meeting, containing brief biographical and professional information about each individual, to reduce the time of introductions. Dr. George R. Healy, as Provost of the College, will introduce all new members of the faculty.

Dr. Edward E. Brickell, Rector of the College, and I will make brief remarks to introduce the new College year.

The meeting, which should be over by 4:30 p.m., will be followed by an informal reception in Andrews Hall Foyer, to which you are all invited.

A reminder notice will be in the William and Mary News at the end of August. But I hope you will reserve now your calendars for 3:30 p.m. on Tuesday, September 1.

Zoe and I look forward to welcoming you to the President's House for an informal brunch on Sunday, August 30.

Grants Given for Research In Physics, Chemistry, Geology

Grants from the National Science Foundation and the American Chemical Society totaling $44,624 for chemistry research to be directed by Gary C. DeFotis, assistant professor of chemistry, among the recent research grants which support work in physics and geology as well as a cultural program at Ash Lawn. Recent grant awards total $188,155.

DeFotis has received a grant of $34,624 from NSF to support research in the magnetism and critical behavior of lower dimensional and mixed crystal transition metal systems. The Petroleum Research Fund of the American Chemical Society has awarded him a grant of $10,000 for work over the next year which will also involve the behavior of lower dimension and mixed crystal transition metal systems.

Melvyn Schiavelli, professor of chemistry, has received a grant of $13,000 from the Petroleum Research Fund for a detailed study of the bimolecular substitution reactions of Haloallenes. Work by Schiavelli on secondary isotope effects research is being supported by a NSF grant of $20,230.

The Department of Energy has made a grant of $64,772 to continue the work of Roy Champion and Lynn Doverspike, professors of physics for continuation of their work on the measurement of a project which is entitled "The Measurement of Absolute Total Detachment Cross Sections of Negative Ions for Energies Near Threshold." To date, DOE has awarded $158,138 in grants for this work.

Charles Perdrisat, professor physics, will continue nuclear studies with protons and pions under a NSF grant of $38,348. To date, NSF has awarded $69,444 in grants for this work.

The U.S. Geological Survey has made an award of $4,400 to Gerald H. Johnson, professor of geology, for a quaternary geologic map of a certain area of Utah in the Grand Canyon. The map will represent the geology of the quaternary surficial and volcanic deposits, and faults that have moved in the last two million years. The work will be completed in three parts. The final product will be a compilation of the Grand Canyon 1: million quadrangle.

Educational programs which examine the social, political and cultural developments during the lifetime of President James Monroe, being held this year at Ash Lawn, his former home near Charlottesville, will be underwritten by a grant of $2,781 from the Virginia Foundation for the Humanities and Public Policy.

Mrs. Carolyn Holmes, resident manager and curator at Ash Lawn, will supervise the programs which will include a lecture series on various aspects of American life during the Monroe era.

Three Win Physics Awards

Michael Tankersley, Lynn Hamilton and Michael Buckley (l-r) check on an experiment on the TV monitor in the physics laboratory in Small Hall. All three are recipients of awards for outstanding work in physics. All are members of the junior class. Tankersley and Buckley received prizes funded by a grant from Eastman Kodak Company, a program intended to honor schools from which Kodak employees have graduated. The award to Lynn Hamilton was made possible by a gift from William Spicer, an alumnus of the college, now on the faculty at Stanford University. Professor Spicer received the 1979 Oliver Buckley Prize given for the outstanding development of the year in solid state physics. The physics department plans to make similar awards next year to two members of the junior class.

Mortar Board, ODK, Pick Sophomores

Mortar Board's outstanding woman this year is Carolyn Finocchio. ODK has selected David White as the outstanding man in the sophomore class.

Both are President's Aides. Carolyn is a member of the honor council and Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

White served as chairman for the Student Activities Council this year and has been elected to another terms for next year.

Vinson Sutlive, III, Named To New Post for Intramurals

Vinson H. Sutlive, III has been appointed to the new position of Director of Men's Intramurals and Campus Recreation.

Vinson H. Sutlive, III

Sutlive will report to Ken Smith, associate dean of students, and will work closely with the director of the women's intramural program to broaden and enhance participation campus-wide. It is planned that an advisory committee will be formed, to report to Smith, which will give a unified direction to intramurals and recreation activities on campus.

Sutlive has been acting Director of Men's Intramurals since November. He holds both a bachelor's and master's degree from the College and was a varsity soccer player 1973-76.

Co-Founder, member of the Board of Directors and Secretary of the Williamsburg Soccer Club, Inc., 1975-81, Sutlive was the varsity soccer coach at Lafayette High School in Williamsburg from 1975-77. He joined the staff of the men's physical education department in 1977 as a graduate assistant and was named assistant director of men's intramural sports in 1978.

The position that Sutlive has been appointed to is a new one. It was established following the recommendation of a study committee appointed by the President, which was formed to make recommendations concerning the intramural program on campus and campus recreation to Linda Collins Reilly, Dean of the Undergraduate Program and Assistant Vice President for Academic Affairs.

Laneva Carroll receives a check from Williamsburg Mayor Robert C. Walker as recipient of the 1981 Glenn D. Mann Memorial Scholarship Award.

Cadet Wins Mann Scholarship

Laneva F. Carroll, daughter of Louis E.A. Carroll, Sr., of Newport News, a junior, has been awarded the 1981 Glenn D. Mann Award.

A graduate of Pembroke High School, Miss Carroll is a third year ROTC student. She will undertake advanced training at Fort Bragg this summer and has been selected for the Cadet Leadership Training program at Ft. McClennan, Alabama.

A psychology and anthropology major, Miss Carroll is a member of Delta Sigma Theta sorority. She has been active with the Women's Center program and the Big Sister program.

The award Glenn D. Mann Memorial Scholarship is given annually and recognizes a senior or junior whose involvement in community service extends beyond the William and Mary campus. It was established through funds raised by students, Williamsburg Fire Department and Rescue Squad members and friends of Glenn D. Mann '62.

Mann was an active member of the Williamsburg Fire Department and Rescue Squad and the American Red Cross. He was killed in South Vietnam in 1965 while serving as a helicopter pilot.

The selection committee for the award includes Robert C. Walker, Williamsburg Mayor; W. Samuel Sadler, Dean of Students; Carla Shaffer Moreland, president of the Student Association and E. Leon Looney, director of student financial aid.

Layoff Policy Detailed

A new State layoff policy will be in effect May 1, 1981 for College employees. Individuals may review this policy by coming to the Personnel Office, James Blair Hall. A brief description of the policy is printed below and in the April, 1981 issue of the Personnel Communique which was distributed to departments earlier this week.

The Department of Personnel and Training has revised the Commonwealth's layoff policy to provide greater placement opportunities for employees affected by a reduction in the workforce.

The policy also provides other new features including recall rights, preferential hiring and benefits protection.

The policy awaited approval by the governor's office.

"Our objective is to protect our employees to the best of our ability," says Kenneth B. Yancey, director of personnel and training.

"This policy establishes consistent and fair procedures for agencies to follow when they are faced with the necessity of reducing their workforce," Yancey said.

Placement Opportunities

Under the policy, agencies will first reassign employees to vacant jobs at the same pay grade for which they are minimally qualified. Next, the agencies will allow employees to displace individuals with less seniority in the same pay grade if they are fully qualified to do the work. If no such opportunities are available, employees then will be considered for lower level openings or displacement to classifications at lower pay grades in their organizational unit or geographic area. Any employee displaced under the policy will have similar opportunities for reassignment within the agency.

Preferential Hiring

Employees who are laid off will be given preferential hiring certificates to help them find work in their job classification. When they present their certificate to another agency, they will be assured the job over other applicants from outside the agency, provided they are minimally qualified. If several laid off employees apply for the same job, the one with most seniority will be hired.

Recall Provisions

Employees who are laid off or assigned to jobs with lower pay grades will be recalled to the jobs in their former job classification in order of seniority as vacancies occur.

Laid-off employees will be subject to recall for a period of 12 months. Employees refusing to accept a recall will be terminated.

Benefits Protection

The Department of Personnel and Training has made changes in the benefits program to assist employees during a period of layoff. Employees will be able to continue their medical and life insurance coverage by making premium payments in advance. The Commonwealth will pay its share of the premiums during the layoff period. The coverage may be extended for up to 12 months during a layoff.

"These changes will enable employees to continue these important benefits for themselves and their families," Yancey said.

Monson Receives NEH Grant

Donald A. Monson, associate professor of modern languages and literatures at the College of William and Mary, has received a grant to attend a National Endowment for the Humanities seminar this summer at Princeton University.

This seminar will be conducted by Francois Rigolot, professor of Romance languages. Rigolot was on campus in March to give the first of two Bellini Lectures. The series was established this year and named for Charles Bellini of Florence who was named to the first American chair of modern languages at the College in 1779. The seminar will deal with modern critical theory and French poetry.

Monson also received an invitation to attend an NEH summer institute on the teaching of Medieval civilization at Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, Mass., as well as a summer research grant from the College, both of which he has declined.

Monson joined the College faculty in 1976. He received his doctorate from the University of Chicago, with honors, in 1974. He has taught French at the University of Utah and the University of Michigan and has spent time studying abroad in France, Italy and Germany.

Monson has received several honors during his academic career. He was a Ford Dissertation Fellow, 1969-70; William and Anna Weinberg Fellow, University of Chicago, 1968-69; Woodrow Wilson Fellow, 1966-67 and a Fulbright scholar, 1965-66. He was recently named to the National Accreditation Committee of the American Translators Association.

Gordineer to Take Summer Course

Brian Gordineer, a junior from Williamsburg, and president of the Fine Arts Society, has been awarded a full scholarship by Historic Deerfield, Mass., to participate in a two-month Fellowship Program in Decorative Arts and Preservation. Each year, eight students from across the country are selected to participate in this specialized program.

Gordineer is majoring in fine arts and history. On May 3 he attended the annual meeting of Preservation Action, a lobbying organization based in Washington, D. C. The program was entitled "Preservation in 1981: Boom or Bust?"

Gordineer is a member of the National Trust for Historic Preservation, the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities and last year was the recipient of a Walfour Scholarship for the study of architecture given by the fine arts department.

Workshops Set For Businesswomen

The Women in Business Program is planning two workshops in Williamsburg by Julie White, Director of the Institute for Management at Old Dominion University.

"How To Be Taken Seriously in Business," will be presented June 4 at the Quality Inn, Fort Magruder. "Moving Up: An Advanced Workshop for Women" will be held June 18-19 at the Bonhomme Richard Inn June 1 is the deadline for registrations for the June 4 workshop. The fee is $55.

June 15 is the deadline for the advanced workshop for which the fee is $125.
